FOR COMMERCIAL PURPOSES, as Bills of Lading Foreign Bills of Exchange, Policies of Insurance, &c.

FOR LEGAL PURPOSES, on account of its resistance to the action of water, acids, or other chemical agents.

FOR ENGINEERS AND ARCHITECTS.—It combines the transparency of Tracing Paper with the strength required for working Drawings.

FOR COVERING PRESERVES.—It is well adapted, by its cleanliness, and non-liability to putrefaction.

In the above table, mean or local time at the place is always to be understood,—not Greenwich or railway time. The risings and settings as given for Portsmouth and Exeter will apply generally to the southern coast of England. Those in the Calendar for London will answer equally well for Reading, Bristol, Bath and the south of Ireland; and those for Liverpool and Dublin, for Sheffield, Manchester, Holyhead and the central part of Ireland.

The last column in the preceding table gives the average value of each foreign coin, in English money, to the nearest farthing; i.e. the actual worth of the pure gold or silver contained in each, without regard to the alloy necessarily employed to render the pure metal sufficiently hard and durable for a circulating medium. This will suffice for converting small sums of foreign money into equivalent British values, but for larger amounts greater accuracy will be obtained by making use of the middle column, "FINE WEIGHT" in the following manner—

To convert Seven United States Eagles into British Sterling.—The fine weight, i. e. the quantity of pure gold in the United States Eagle is 232.00 grains. The fine weight of the English Sovereign is 113.00 grains. We have then the proportion:—

Fine Weight of Sovereign, 113.00 grs. : Fine Weight of Seven Eagles, 232.00 grs. × 7 :: £1 : £14 : 7*s.* 5½*d.*

From Nov. 1st, 1858, the Austrian coinage was altered to bring it in harmony with that of Prussia and the Zollverein.

The Lira Austriaca is used in Lombardo-Veneto (Milan and Venice).

The IMPERIAL DUCAT and Florin of South West Germany are both used in Baden, Bavaria, Frankfort, Hesse Darmstadt, Nassau and Wurtemburg.

The IMPERIAL DUCAT is also current in Austria, Bohemia, Cologne, Hamburg, Hanover, Hungary, Prussia, Saxony and Transylvania.

The Lira of 100 centisimi used in Geneva, Genoa, Piedmont, Savoy and Sardinia, is of the same weight and value as the French franc.

The Prussian Thaler is used in Brunswick, Hanover and Saxony.

Peruvian coins are used in La Plata and Central America; the Piastre also in Chili, Quito and Mexico.

EXPLANATION OF ASTRONOMICAL TERMS.

CONJUNCTION.—Two celestial objects are said to be in conjunction with each other when, from having the same longitude, they are seen towards the same part of the heavens. An inferior planet, or one whose orbit lies within that of the earth, is thus seen under two conditions: at the inferior conjunction, when such planet is between the sun and the earth, and, if visible, apparently of greatest diameter; and at the superior conjunction, when the sun is between the earth and planet, and the latter, from being at its greatest distance, appears smaller and fainter than at any other time. Superior planets, or those whose orbits are exterior to the earth's, are only in conjunction with the sun under the latter circumstances.

TRANSIT OF MERCURY OR VENUS.—These planets are sometimes seen to pass across the sun's disc as round black spots, which can happen only when they are in their nodes, and when the earth is in the same longitude. This phenomena is called a transit, and the next instance of it in the case of Mercury will be in 1868, November 4th, and which will be visible in this country; and in the case of Venus the next instance will be in 1874, December 8th, but which will not be visible here; the next, following on December 6th, 1881, will be visible from this country.

OPPOSITION.—A planet is said to be in opposition when there is a difference of 180°, or six signs, between the longitudes of the sun and the planet, and they are seen in opposite parts of the heavens. When so situated, a planet souths about midnight, makes its nearest approach to our earth, and consequently appears larger and brighter than at any other time.

GREATEST ELONGATION.—As the planets Mercury and Venus move in orbits interior to that of the earth, they can never be seen in opposition, but appear to swing backwards and forwards on each side of the sun. When at their greatest apparent angular distance from that body, they are said to be at their greatest elongation. If the elongation be east, the planet sets after the sun, and is an evening star; if west, it rises before the sun, and is therefore a morning star.

OCCULTATION.—The moon, in her monthly course round the heavens, occasionally hides from view certain planets and fixed stars. These phenomena are called occultations. The disappearance always takes place on the eastern side of the moon, and the reappearance on the western side. The fixed stars being mere points of light, disappear and reappear instantaneously; whereas the planets, which have a visible disc, disappear and reappear gradually. A pocket telescope of an inch and a half in aperture will usually suffice for watching the occultations and other phenomena recorded in this Diary.

ECLIPSES.

In the year 1863 there will be two eclipses of the sun and two of the moon.

The first is a partial eclipse of the sun, visible in England, on the afternoon of May 17th.

		H. M.
At London.....	Begins	5 42 p.m.	Mean time at Greenwich.
	Middle	6 29 p.m.
	Ends	7 12 p.m.

And rather less than 3-10ths of the sun's surface will be obscured.

At Dublin....	Begins	5 13 p.m.	Mean time at Dublin.
	Middle	6 0 p.m.
	Ends	6 45 p.m.

And the eclipse will be about the same as at Greenw.

At Edinburgh	Begins	5 18 p.m.	Mean time at Edinburgh.
	Middle	6 9 p.m.
	Ends	6 57 p.m.

And more than 3-10ths of the sun's surface will be obscured.

At Cambridge	Begins	5 41 p.m.	Mean time at Cambridge.
	Middle	6 28 p.m.
	Ends	7 12 p.m.

A little more than 3-10ths of the sun will be eclipsed.

At Oxford....	Begins	5 37 p.m.	Mean time at Oxford.
	Middle	6 23 p.m.
	Ends	7 7 p.m.

A little less than 3-10ths of the sun will be obscured.

The second a total eclipse of the moon during the evening of June 1st, visible in England.

	H. M.
It begins at	9 46	After.
Beginning of total eclipse at.....	10 53	After.
Middle of the eclipse at.....	11 26	After.
End of total eclipse at	11 59	After.
End of the eclipse at 1h. 6m. morning of June 2.

The third is an annular eclipse of the sun on the morning of November 11th. It begins at 5h. 50m. morn. Greenwich mean time, in long. 9° 5′ W. of Greenwich, and lat. 23° S.

The fourth and last is a partial eclipse of the moon, on the morning of November 25th, partly visible in England. It begins at 7h. 16m. morn.; the middle or greatest phase occurs at 8h. 56m. morn. and ends at 10h. 36m. morn. The moon, however, sets on this day at 7h. 31m. morn. so that part only of the eclipse will be seen in England.

THE GREAT COMETS OF 1858 & 1861.

Within the last five years the cometary branch of Astronomical science has been brought into unusual prominence by the appearance, in 1858 and 1861, of two of the finest Comets which have been observed in modern times. Neither of them had been expected, nor so far as we know at present, recorded at any former visit to these parts of space.

The great Comet of 1858, or as it was generally called during its visibility, the Comet of Donati, was discovered by that astronomer on the 2nd of June, in the constellation Leo, while it was yet distant from the earth two hundred and forty millions of miles, and more than two hundred and ten millions from the sun. Towards the end of August it was visible to the naked eye, but there was nothing deserving of mention in its appearance until about September 15th, when it had arrived within one hundred and fifteen millions of miles from the earth, fifteen days prior to the perihelion passage. At this time commenced those indications of violent action upon the nucleus which afterwards rivetted the attention of observers with the telescope. The Comet was not generally seen in Europe after the 16th or 17th of October, but Donati followed it at Florence until the 25th, and perhaps was the last astronomer, as he had been the first, to perceive it in these latitudes. About a fortnight previous to this date it became favourably placed for observation in the southern hemisphere, and for several months was most assiduously observed by Sir Thomas Maclear, the astronomer royal at the Cape of Good Hope, and by Dr. Moesta, who so energetically conducts the observatory at Santiago de Chile. The last glimpse of the Comet was obtained at the Cape on the 4th of March, it was then situate in the constellation Toucan. So far as we are able to judge at present, it appears probable that the Comet at the time of its visibility was moving in an ellipse with a period of nearly 2,200 years.

In the last volume of the "Memoirs of the Royal Astronomical Society," will be found a series of engravings of the telescopic appearance of the Comet, from drawings made by Warren De La Rue, Esq. F.R.S. with his Newtonian reflector of 13 inches aperture, the same instrument with which his well known pictures of Saturn, Jupiter and Mars were drawn. The first figure shows the Comet's aspect on September 14th, when the tail was thrown off in one rather narrow stream, and, as usually is the case was brighter and better defined on the preceding side (or in the direction of motion) than on the other. A few days later the bifurcation of the tail commenced, a dark central space separating it into two branches for a considerable distance from the head. About the 25th, the first of a series of luminous envelopes rose or disengaged itself from the nucleus: it was seen in contact with it on the side towards the sun, as was also the case with others which followed it; thence gradually expanding, in a few days it became more diffused, and, as there seems reason to suppose, may ultimately have formed one of those faint parabolic envelopes which are exhibited in the engraving selected for a frontispiece to this year's Diary. The drawing was made on the night of October 2nd, at a time when the appearance of the Comet was the most remarkable as regards symmetry of the envelopes and the light and dark parts of the tail, in the vicinity of the nucleus. On the 5th of the same month, the day of the memorable passage of the tail over Arcturus, Mr. De La Rue's drawing indicates a marked departure from the regularity of outline so conspicuous on the 2nd, and is fully confirmed in its main features by others taken about the same time. It has been suggested, and with some appearance of probability, that the distortions so to speak of the luminous envelopes and other parts of the cometic nebulosity, may have been owing to the earth's attraction in the first few days they were remarked; and at a later period to the proximity of the Comet to the planet Venus, as it was descending to the south side of the ecliptic. Mr. De La Rue's last telescopic drawing was made on the evening of October 15th, shortly before the nearest approach of the two bodies. All symmetry of the luminous portions of the head was then destroyed, but the envelopes were most distinct on the preceding side, with an inclination in that direction; the nebulosity from this time became more diffused. The nucleus on the 23rd, as we learn from Sir Thomas Maclear, was situate at the apex of a sector of less intense light which was separated from two concentric luminous envelopes by well marked dark bands. A week later the Comet had resumed a more ordinary appearance, and excepting that the outline of the tail approached nearer to a parabolic form, had pretty much the same aspect as on September 14th; and thus the interest attaching to physical observations subsided. At Christmas it had become a faint nebulous object with a central condensation of light but no trace of a tail. Two months later it was visible with difficulty in the Cape refractor, as a feeble nebulosity of less than 1′ diameter.

Mr. De La Rue's micrometrical measures on the 2nd of October give the following real dimensions: diameter of the nucleus 970 miles; breadth of first sector 6470 miles, and its height from nucleus 4460; height of third sector 11,980 miles; breadth of narrow channel in the tail 3120 miles; at a distance of 255,850 miles from the outside bright head of coma the tail was 219,300 miles broad; the centre of the dark channel was 109,650 miles from either side of coma.

The great Comet of 1861 was discovered by Mr. Tebbutt, a young Australian farmer and self-taught astronomer, on the 13th of May, while it was yet a telescopic object in the constellation Eridanus. The first regular observation was taken by Mr. Scott, at the observatory of Sydney, N.S.W. on the 27th of the same month when it was just visible after sunset to the naked eye. About the end of the first week in June it was remarked as a conspicuous object at different places in south America, and from that time rapidly increased in brilliancy. On the 26th, its appearance, a few degrees above the snow-capped Cordillera is described by Dr. Moesta as truly magnificent; the nucleus shown with the lustre of Venus at her greatest brilliancy. The Comet was now pretty near the earth and approaching the ecliptic, which it crossed on the evening of the 28th, and on the following night it was dimly perceived through clouds and haze in several parts of Europe. Its visibility, however, was not generally known in these latitudes until the evening of June 30th, when its aspect in the north-west was grand in the extreme. The nucleus was hardly inferior in brilliancy to Venus, and certainly superior to Jupiter, while the tail was traced in this country fully 90°, and in the clear atmosphere of Rome no less than 118° from the head. The Comet had passed its nearest point of approach to the earth about noon on the same day, and was then separated from us rather less than thirteen millions of miles; its least distance from the sun was attained on the 11th of June, yet notwithstanding its recession in the early days of July from both the sun and the earth it maintained a most imposing appearance in our midnight sky, and afforded another opportunity (of which astronomers were not slow in availing themselves) of adding to our knowledge of the nature of the forces which operate upon the nuclei of Comets when near the sun. On July 3rd the tail was still 100° in length, but from that date contracted rather rapidly; on August 6th hardly a trace of it was perceptible. A few days later the nucleus became invisible to the naked eye, but was followed most assiduously with the telescope, the latest glimpse of it (so far as we are aware) having been obtained with one of the powerful instruments of the Observatory of Paris, on the 28th of December, when it was distant considerably more than three hundred millions of miles.

The telescopic phenomena which presented themselves in the head of this Comet, bore much resemblance to those which had been exhibited in 1858, by Donati. On the 30th of June the nucleus was elliptical with its major-axis at right angles to the axis of the tail. Jets of light emanated from it so as to form a fan-like sector on the side towards the sun, and several luminous envelopes were visible within the outline of the head, which was nearly parabolic. One of the jets in particular was well defined, and bore considerable magnifying powers. On the 2nd of July the Comet's appearance was as represented in the second figure of the frontispiece, which has been reduced from a drawing taken by Mr. De La Rue under favourable atmospheric circumstances. The most noticeable features on this evening were the presence of a bright streamer running directly from the nucleus into the dark interior portion of the tail, and the vividness of the luminous jets, which after starting out for some distance towards the sun, were abruptly turned backwards and lost in the general luminosity forming the commencement of the tail. There was not in the head of this Comet quite so much symmetry of figure as in that of Donati's at the end of September and beginning of October, which possibly is attributable to the effect of the earth's attraction during the time that the Comet was most advantageously situated for observations of its physical aspect.

We have remarked that on June 30th, and several following days, the length of the tail was 100° or upwards, apparent dimensions, which have not been exceeded by any Comet of recent times. Its extent, however, was much more striking in appearance than in reality, the nucleus being near the earth at the time, and so placed that there was very little foreshortening. In fact, if we compute from Professor Secchi's estimate at midnight on June 30, which assigns for the angular extent 118°, it will be found that the true length, assuming the principal tail to be a prolongation of the radius-vector, or line joining the sun and Comet, would be less than twenty millions of miles, which is by no means an unusual figure. We speak of the principal tail, or the long straight ray everywhere visible; but there existed, in addition to this, a secondary and much less conspicuous train of diffused light, emanating from the nucleus in an arched form, which was more particularly noticed between June 30 and July 4, though chiefly by practised observers; and this leads us to mention a very interesting circumstance in the history of the Comet. About the time of the nodal passage (June 28, evening) it was remarked that the earth was behind the Comet only 2° in longitude, as seen from the sun; and the latter body being the nearer to that luminary, it followed that the direction of the tail was such as to bring it either upon or very near to our globe. Accordingly it was conjectured that, with due allowance for curvature, it was quite possible the earth might have been involved in the tail on the evening of June 30, when she arrived at the Comet's nodal point of longitude. Observations subsequently published, which enable us to determine the true direction of the tail with more certainty, appear to indicate that the main branch was in advance of the earth on that evening, but that the secondary tail or the diffused nebulosity which separated from the principal ray, was actually directed upon us and was probably intermingled with our atmosphere. And it is a remarkable and significant fact that not only in various parts of England and Ireland, but also in Spain, Italy, Switzerland and other continental countries, a very peculiar phosphorescence or illumination of the sky was perceptible during the early hours of the night in question, which many persons supposed to be caused by the Aurora Borealis, unusual as the phenomenon is in the summer months, especially in the South of Europe; at the same time it was remarked that the luminosity of the sky did not resemble the usual effect of the Aurora, but was something quite exceptional. We incline to attribute the phenomenon to the presence of cometic matter (if matter it can be termed) in our atmosphere.

In concluding this brief summary of the more prominent points of interest afforded by the great Comets of 1858 and 1861, it may be observed that the physical phenomena they exhibited had been for the most part previously witnessed in certain conspicuous Comets, and particularly in the famous Comet of Halley at its last appearance, but had never been watched with such advantages of optical power and force of practised observers as in those years. Bessel's theory of opposite polarities is the only one which seems to explain them even in part, but it would be difficult to render his views intelligible to the general reader within the limits of this notice.

The most trustworthy symptoms of fine weather are: gradual rising of the barometer; when the wind in changing follows the sun's apparent daily course; a grey morning sky, especially when the first streaks of twilight appear in the horizon; a red sunset; a light blue mid-day sky; and dew at any time.

A steady fall of the barometric column; a pale yellow sunset; a red morning sky; soft-looking dingy clouds drifting rapidly by, at a low elevation; a change of wind contrary to the sun's apparent motion; unusual distinctness of the landscape; much twinkling of the stars, and low flight of birds, all presage rain.

A high dawn, or sunrise above a bank of dark clouds; a bright yellow sunset, with rosy tints in the east; rapidly driving scud; a deep blue sky and sudden changes of the barometer, all indicate approaching wind and stormy weather.

A mackarel sky, either after continued rain or settled fine weather, indicates an approaching change; the more complete and durable, the higher the clouds appear to be.

To find the true north by means of a magnetic needle, in or near London, the compass must be so placed that the north end of the needle points 20° 50′ W. The north and south points of the dial will then be near the true meridian.

At Yarmouth and Dover, the variation is about 40′ less than at London. At Hull and Southampton, about 20′ greater. At Newcastle and Swansea, about 1° 15′ greater. At Liverpool, about 1° 30′ greater. At Edinburgh, about 2° 5′ greater. At Glasgow and Dublin, about 2° 25′ greater.

The times in this Table are those of the first high water at London Bridge, on every day in the year 1863. The average interval of time between two consecutive high waters, is about 12h. 25m.. For all practical purposes, the time of afternoon or second high tide in the day, if any, may be found by either taking a mean between two successive numbers in the Table, as for the afternoon tide on January 2, would be found by adding—0h. 5m.

to 0h. 55m.

and dividing by 2) 1h. 0m.

gives 0h. 30m.

Therefore the time of high water at London Bridge would be 0h. 30m. p.m.

Or simply by increasing the time of morning tide by twenty-five minutes, as on January 2..... } 0h. 5m. morning tide

Add..... 0h. 25m.

Time of afternoon tide 0h. 30m. p.m.

And in all cases the times of high water in the afternoon will be sufficiently near the truth by increasing the time of high water in the morning by twenty-five minutes.

If we consider the duration of flood and ebb as six hours, which is near enough to the truth, the times of low water will be found by adding six hours to the time of preceding high water.

The rise at London Bridge of the tide at springs is 19¼ feet, and at neaps is 16¾ feet.

TABLE, showing the rise of the tide at springs in the second column, and of neaps in the third column, and tide intervals in the fourth column, to be applied to the times of high water at London Bridge, to find the times of high water at the several places mentioned in the first column.

To find the time of high water at the principal places along the British and adjacent continental coasts:—

RULE. To the time of high water at London Bridge, add or subtract as directed the tide intervals as shown in the above Table. When the letter S is affixed to the tide interval, the time of high water at that place precedes that at London Bridge, and the tide interval is to be subtracted.

When the letter A is affixed, the high water occurs later than at London Bridge, and the tide interval is to be added to the time of high water at London Bridge.

EXAMPLE I.

Required the time of high water at Aberdeen on Jan. 1, 1863:

Time of high water at London Bridge	11h. 28m. morn.
Subtract tide interval	1h. 7m.
Time of high water at Aberdeen	10h. 21m. morn.
Add	0h. 25m.
Time of high water at Aberdeen	10h. 46m. after.

EXAMPLE II.

Required the time of high water at Aberystwith, on January 2, 1863:

Time of high water at London Bridge	0h. 5m. morn.
Add tide interval	5h. 24m.
Time of high water at Aberystwith	5h. 29m. morn.
Add	0h. 25m.
Time of high water at Aberystwith	5h. 54m. after.

If the tide interval be subtractive, and greater in amount than the time of high water at London Bridge, increase the time at London Bridge by 12h. and the resulting difference will be the time of high water on the preceding day, and the next before midnight.

EXAMPLE III.

Required the time of high water at Aldborough, on January 4, 1863:

Time of high water at London, increased by 12 hours	13h. 40m.
Subtract tide interval	3h. 22m.
Time of high water on January 3	10h. 18m. aft.
Add	0h. 25m.
Time of high water at Aldborough, Jan. 4,	10h. 43m. m.

TRIENNIAL PARLIAMENTS were enacted in 1661 (16*mo. Car. II. cap.* i.), which appointed that Parliaments should not be intermitted or discontinued above Three Years at the most. This practice was established by another Statute in 1694.

The Duration of Parliaments was fixed at the present limit by an Act passed in 1715 (1*mo. Geo. I. stat.* 2. cap. xxxviii.), which ordered "That this present Parliament, and all Parliaments that shall at any time hereafter be called, assembled, or held, shall and may respectively have continuance for Seven Years and no longer."

The following are the dates of those Parliaments which sat the longest after the passing of the Septennial Act:—

Nov. 28, 1727—April 18, 1734 | June 25, 1741—June 18, 1747 | April 21, 1830—June 14, 1826
June 13, 1734—April 28, 1741 | Nov. 14, 1754—March 18, 1761 | Aug. 19, 1841—July 23, 1847

A SESSION OF PARLIAMENT is the period intervening between the Assembling of the House and the next Royal Prorogation; but neither the number nor length of the Adjournments comprised in it can destroy its continuity.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of Herself and Husband must be taken, unless the legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

HARWOOD'S

Illustrated Letter and Note Views.

One of the most pleasing and desirable objects which can be given to a correspondence between devoted or esteemed connections is to convey some idea of the locality or charms of the place of residence (especially if temporary); for then there is generally a freshness of feeling to appreciate the surrounding beauties in the most attractive and interesting subjects.

The late Publisher of these Letter and Note Views employed artists of great talent for this purpose, and at a very large expenditure produced beautiful Steel Engravings of above 1,000 different places at a very trifling cost to the public.

HARWOOD'S

Universal Manifold Writers,

FOR PRODUCING

Harwood's Steel Pen Letter & Note Paper

This Paper is manufactured expressly for the use of Metallic Pens, and will be highly appreciated for its agreeable qualities in facilitating writing, while it will be found entirely free from the numerous objections and impediments so often and justly the cause of complaint against paper generally used for this purpose.

Harwood's London Bank Pens.

These Pens are manufactured from the best tempered Steel, combined with the greatest care and skill in the workmanship. They possess the flexibility of the quill, with the preservation of the elasticity to a much greater degree; and are so remarkable for producing beauty and clearness in writing as to render them distinguished in numerous public offices, which is the greatest testimony to their excellence.

In order that the purchasers of these Pens may ensure the kind most particularly suited for their own writing, they are made to possess different characters, which are distinguished by the following letters, and each Pen is stamped, "Harwood's London Bank Pen."

F for Fine or Running Hand.
M Middling or Round Hand.
B Broad or Text Hand.

Harwood's Universal Pens.

These are very properly designated; for they possess all the advantages of modern improvements in Manufacture, combined with a cheapness as to render them universally adopted after being tried.—Price 6d. per Dozen.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of Herself and Husband must be taken, unless the legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their different bindings and prices,—

HARWOOD'S

Illustrated Letter and Note Views.

One of the most pleasing and desirable objects which can be given to a correspondence between devoted or esteemed connections is to convey some idea of the locality or charms of the place of residence (especially if temporary); for then there is generally a freshness of feeling to appreciate the surrounding beauties in the most attractive and interesting subjects.

The late Publisher of these Letter and Note Views employed artists of great talent for this purpose, and at a very large expenditure produced beautiful Steel Engravings of above 1,000 different places at a very trifling cost to the public.

HARWOOD'S

Universal Manifold Writers,

FOR PRODUCING

A Letter, &c., with Copies in Duplicate and Triplicate, at one operation;

Which, for their superiority, have gained the approbation of the Mercantile World. Accompanied with Directions. The Portfolio can be replenished with Carbonic and Copying Books at most of the respectable Stationers.

Harwood's Steel Pen Letter & Note Paper

This Paper is manufactured expressly for the use of Metallic Pens, and will be highly appreciated for its agreeable qualities in facilitating writing, while it will be found entirely free from the numerous objections and impediments so often and justly the cause of complaint against paper generally used for this purpose.

Harwood's London Bank Pens.

These Pens are manufactured from the best tempered Steel, combined with the greatest care and skill in the workmanship. They possess the flexibility of the quill, with the preservation of the elasticity to a much greater degree; and are so remarkable for producing beauty and clearness in writing as to render them distinguished in numerous public offices, which is the greatest testimony to their excellence.

In order that the purchasers of these Pens may ensure the kind most particularly suited for their own writing, they are made to possess different characters, which are distinguished by the following letters, and each Pen is stamped, "Harwood's London Bank Pen."

F for Fine or Running Hand.
M Middling or Round Hand.
B Broad or Text Hand.

Harwood's Universal Pens.

These are very properly designated; for they possess all the advantages of modern improvements in Manufacture, combined with a cheapness as to render them universally adopted after being tried.—Price 6*d. per Dozen.*

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example. or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of Herself and Husband must be taken, unless the legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

HARWOOD'S

Illustrated Letter and Note Views.

One of the most pleasing and desirable objects which can be given to a correspondence between devoted or esteemed connections is to convey some idea of the locality or charms of the place of residence (especially if temporary); for then there is generally a freshness of feeling to appreciate the surrounding beauties in the most attractive and interesting subjects.

The late Publisher of these Letter and Note Views employed artists of great talent for this purpose, and at a very large expenditure produced beautiful Steel Engravings of above 1,000 different places at a very trifling cost to the public.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of Herself and Husband must be taken, unless the legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their different binding and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of Herself and Husband must be taken, unless the legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their different bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will, to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you, with Certificate of it having been proved. You may then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shews the precedence required by law:—

1, Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2, Debts due to the Crown on record or specialty.—3, Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4, Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5, Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6, Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7, Book Debts.—8, and last, (usually about twelve months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all Creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves before that time) the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days,) and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Great care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

G. Routledge & Co

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will —2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman: in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat-pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S
Metallic Memorandum Books,
Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat-pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

D'S GENUINE
DELIBLE MARKING INK,
Established A.D. 1815.

Manufactured by JOHN MURPHY, Chemist, Contractor to Her Majesty's Government for Indelible Marking Ink.

J. M. informs the trade that he is the legal successor to the late Mr. HENRY BOND, Chemist, deceased, and the receipt of this valuable Ink is in J. M.'s sole possession.

The Trade Mark is the PHŒNIX—the only one ever used by Henry Bond, and without which it would be counterfeit.

J. M. is prepared to supply BOND'S MARKING INK, of unchanged quality, and in bottles of undiminished size, at the original prices, at the Manufactory, 11 NILE ST., EAST RD., HOXTON.

N.B.—No other address.

Sold in Bottles within Cases at 6*d.* and 1*s.*, also in Pedestals at 6*d.* and 1*s.* each, by all the principal Patent Medicine Houses in London; also by MORGAN & Co. Cannon Street.

AGENTS IN LONDON:

A. COWAN & SONS, 50 CANNON ST. E.C.

SCOTTISH PROVIDENT INSTITUTION,

6 ST. ANDREW SQUARE, EDINBURGH;
18 KING WILLIAM ST. LONDON, E.C.

ITS ADVANTAGES, as compared with other Offices, are:—

A greatly larger immediate Assurance for the same Premium, with the prospect to good lives (for whom exclusively the whole Profits are reserved) of eventually receiving very considerable additions.

Thus, a Policy of 1200*l.* or 1250*l.* can in most cases be had, from the first, for the Premium charged elsewhere for 1000*l.* only; while the effect of reserving the surplus has been that Policies for 1000*l.* which have shared at three Investigations, have already been increased to 1400*l.*, 1600*l.*, and some even to 1800*l.*

THE FUND, accumulated entirely from the Premiums, exceeds £2,000,000, and notwithstanding the lowness of the Premiums, is larger than that of any Office of the same age in the Kingdom. The increase durin the last three years was 400,000*l.*

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality —3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman: in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S
Metallic Memorandum Books,
Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. Cowan & Sons beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat-pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

SCOTTISH PROVIDENT INSTITUTION.

EDINBURGH,—6 ST. ANDREW SQUARE.

LONDON,—18 KING WILLIAM STREET, E.C.

THIS SOCIETY differs in its principles from any other Office. Instead of charging rates admittedly higher than are necessary, and afterwards returning the excess, in the shape of periodical Bonuses, it gives from the first as large an Assurance as the Premiums will with safety bear—reserving the Whole Surplus for those Members (who will form a majority of the whole) who have lived long enough to secure the Common Fund from loss.

A Policy for £1200 to £1250 may thus at most ages be had for the Premium usually charged for £1000 only; while, by reserving the surplus, large additions have been given—and may be expected in the future—on the Policies of those who live to participate.

ITS TERMS are thus well calculated to meet the requirements of intending Assurers. They are specially adapted to the case of Provisions under Family Settlements, or otherwise, where it is frequently of importance to secure, for the smallest present outlay, a competent provision, of definite amount, in the case of early death.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

THE FUNDS exceed £2,250,000—the increase on the year 1873 being £203,354. Notwithstanding its low rates, no office of the same age has so large a Fund, or shows so large an increase from year to year.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. COWAN & SONS beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

FLEXIBLE

MAGNETINE APPLIANCES.

For Gout and Rheumatism, Spinal, Liver, Kidney, Lung, Throat, and Chest Complaints, Epilepsy, Hernia, Indigestion, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, and other forms of Nervous and Rheumatic Affections.

After twenty years of experimental life, and the expenditure of many thousands of pounds, in perfecting a system of Curative Magnetism, Messrs. DARLOW & Co. were enabled to introduce to public notice their now universally-known and appreciated Flexible Magnetine Appliances, patented in 1873 as an improvement upon a previous invention, patented by them in 1866.

The Magnetine Appliances of DARLOW & Co. are used and recommended by many gentlemen of eminence in the medical profession, and the inventors are honoured by the patronage of the highest families in the kingdom.

EDINBURGH,—6 ST. ANDREW SQUARE.
LONDON,—18 KING WILLIAM STREET, E.C.

THIS SOCIETY differs in its principles from any other Office. Instead of charging rates admittedly higher than are necessary, and afterwards returning the excess, in the shape of periodical Bonuses, it gives from the first as large an Assurance as the Premiums will with safety bear—reserving the Whole Surplus for those Members (forming ultimately a majority of the whole) who live long enough to secure the Common Fund from loss in respect to their individual Assurances.

A Policy for £1200 to £1250 may thus at most ages be had for the Premium usually charged for £1000 only; while, by reserving the surplus, large additions have been given—and may be expected in the future—on the Policies of those who live to participate.

ITS TERMS are thus well calculated to meet therequirements of intending Assurers. They are specially adapted to the case of Provisions under Family Settlements, or otherwise, where it is frequently of importance to secure, for the smallest present outlay, a competent provision, of definite amount, in the case of early death.

Extract from 37th Annual Report for 1874.
NEW POLICIES issued in year, 2461, £1,120,572.
TOTAL RECEIPTS in year, £374,697. The SUBSISTING ASSURANCES, at 31st Dec. 1874, amounted to £9,885,753. The FUND, accumulated entirely from the Premiums, amounted at same date to £2.419,005.

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry of the Ecclesiastical Court, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. COWAN & SONS beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman: in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. COWAN & SONS beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing, are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. COWAN & SONS beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket, and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—

Brief Directions to Executors.

Having caused the Property to be described and valued, take the Inventory with the Will to your Proctor (this should not exceed six months after decease of Testator). In due course the Will is deposited in the Registry, and a copy (the Probate) delivered to you with a Certificate of it having been proved. Then collect the Debts and satisfy all Demands upon the Estate; the latter in conformity with the following order, which shows the precedence required by law:

1. Funeral, Testamentary, and all other expenses incurred in the due execution of the Will.—2. Debts due to the Crown on record or speciality.—3. Debts which by particular statutes are given precedence over others, as Poor-rates and the like.—4. Mortgages, Judgments, Decrees of Chancery, &c.—5. Special Contracts, as Leases, Bonds, and the like.—6. Bills of Exchange, and so forth.—7. Book Debts.—8, and last (usually about 12 months after decease, as the Executor is liable to the claims of all creditors, who seldom fail to declare themselves by that time), the Legacies; first deducting the amount of duty thereon (which must be paid to Government within 21 days), and taking a receipt provided for that purpose by the Stamp Office. Care should be taken not to pay them to parties unqualified to give a proper discharge, a Minor for example, or a Married Woman; in the latter case, the joint receipt of herself and Husband must be taken, unless the Legacy is left for her separate and especial use.

HARWOOD'S

Metallic Memorandum Books,

Of Prepared Paper, with Metallic Pencils.

MANUFACTURED BY A. COWAN AND SONS.

"Invaluable to all Persons engaged in Commercial or other important pursuits, where rapidity, CLEARNESS, and INDELIBILITY of writing, are of the utmost consequence."

The great celebrity obtained by these Books has called forth a number of spurious Imitations, which in many cases have been sold to the Public as HARWOOD'S BOOKS. Until the deception is discovered, the fraud is calculated to injure the genuine article, and produce serious disappointment to the purchaser.

A. COWAN & SONS beg to inform the Public that no book is genuine without the Signature, "J. HARWOOD," inside the cover.

Harwood's Metallic Memorandum Books are sold by every respectable Stationer in the United Kingdom.

Harwood's Diaries.

These Diaries are arranged on the most approved plans, in very convenient forms, and contain a variety of commercial information and useful tables, which have been this year thoroughly revised and considerably enlarged, and will now be found to be correct up to the date of publication. The Diamond Diary is particularly recommended for its compactness, being adapted for the waistcoat pocket; and for the use of Ladies.

The following is a list of the various descriptions published, their bindings and prices,—
