Henry James Mackenzie. The Retreat
York

Joseph Jenomberry
in 28th January 1899

He is demented. He can give no account of himself: does not know where he is nor who those around him are. His answers to questions are quite incoherent. He is occupied or wanders aimlessly about from Mania. He has hallucinations of hearing and sight. He thinks people are about to attack him & he becomes terrified & prepares to fight them. The excitement arrives if the back of his head be rubbed. Between the attacks he is quiet & well-behaved.

He is in very fair health but occasionally suffers from fainting attacks.

was bruised

on admission & could not walk owing to injury to the left hip. These arose from an accident in the course of his daily work. The bruises on the ribs are not serious but there is some obscure trouble in the hip. Whilst there is no evidence of fracture he cannot use the leg nor put his weight upon it. The condition would be accounted for by synovitis of the hip joint but no certain diagnosis can be made at present.

I send for your consideration some plans of an alteration to our Women's Fourth Gallery which the Committee propose to carry out this Summer - They consist in removing the two end windows off the corridor & replacing them with bays & at the same time raising the roof of the porch of the sixth gallery in order to give more light to that gallery.

It is proposed to re-decorate the whole of the fourth gallery - replace the windows on the North side by others with large panes, re-fit the wood-work & generally to alter the gallery on lines similar to the alterations in the Women's Ninth Gallery which the Visiting Commissioners saw at their last visit -

~~There is in the scheme no alteration~~

We have been in doubt as to whether it was necessary to trouble you with minor alterations of this kind which consist merely in replacing existing windows with others giving more light but we should be glad of any suggestions of the Commissioners as to the proposed scheme - I may say that it was is not proposed to carry the porch of the sixth gallery up to make an alcove in the fourth gallery above, because we found the expense of doing so was seemed out of all proportion to the additional comforts provided.

Dear Mr. Palmer,

Miss Walker appears to have given you a correct account of the fuss so far as she goes, but apparently she did not say that she had come into the front hall greatly annoying me with complaints & that I asked Dr. Mackenzie to see that she went away. She had been told before that she was not to come to the front hall & that we could only hear her complaints in her own apartments or in the ladies terrace.

Under great pressure, Miss Walker has been somewhat quicker with her dressing but I am expecting another "fuss" any day as I doubt whether she can keep within reasonable time in her toilet & then have to interfere.

You will have heard that her visit to Scarboro was cut short owing to her inability to get dressed, & her screaming & abusiveness.

He is suffering from mental enfeeblement following a prolonged attack of Mania. He often performs antics in public places which make him very noticeable. His talk is disjointed & rambling & he asks numerous foolish childish questions. His self control is much diminished he is irritable & soon becomes abusive if crossed. He does not appear properly to appreciate the gravity of his present illness & he talks of leaving here at once & going into practice again. While talking of his future prospects he will break off & laugh at some wholly irrelevant thing. He was much amused recently because his wife was prevented from visiting him by the serious illness of a relatives. He is not engaged in any useful occupation: he reads little but much of his time is unoccupied. He carries about with him a bundle of books all over which he writes or the margins amongst the printed matter. He also collects rubbish & treasures it.

I consider him insane & a proper subject for detention in an Asylum. I do not consider him at present fit for a trial at home.

Dear Sir

A patient on trial from the Retreat is residing near London and her certificates will lapse in ordinary course unless a special report is sent during the next 3 weeks –

I have just seen the patient & it is desirable that the leave should be extended but it is not convenient for me to go up to town again –

It is proposed to take the patient to see Dr Savage & the object of this letter is to ask whether Dr. Savage is could sign the special report required in the 38th sec. on my behalf.

The relatives of the patient would prefer that the certificates should remain in force as in times past there have been sudden relapses requiring instant removal to special care – I may say the patient in question is Mrs Rachel B. Smith.

I remain,

Yours faithfully

Bedford Pierce.

Chère Madame,

Je suis très heureux de vous annoncer que votre fils Jean-Pierre a été admis à l'École Normale Supérieure. Il a obtenu une excellente note à l'écrit et a brillamment réussi l'oral. Nous sommes très fiers de compter un élève de sa valeur parmi nos étudiants.

Veuillez agréer, Chère Madame, l'expression de mes sentiments les plus distingués.

Miss Mary Greenhalgh denies the existence of the delusions she had on admission but appears unconcerned as to their nature. Though she claimed to be the wife of Sir Gro. W. Pease M.P. & persistently annoyed him with letters she says in an off hand way that she does not think so now & that it was wrong to have said so.

She is very plausible and guarded in her replies to questions, and it is not easy to ascertain how far her statements correspond with her beliefs. At one time she complains of the injustice of her detention & at another she says she bears no grudge against those who sent her here.

She is orderly, and well behaved but she is very discontented, grumbles much, is interfering and makes silly & irritating remarks to those around her. I do not consider her thoroughly of sound mind: but she is neither suicidal or dangerous and I see no reason why she should not have a trial except for the possibility that her delusions may recurr.

Chronic Pulmonary Tuberculosis

Case 1. Male. Age 21.

Family History. Father died of tuberculosis when patient was 3 years old. Mother died of tuberculosis when patient was 10 years old. Two brothers died of tuberculosis in childhood. One sister died of tuberculosis at age 15. Patient has one living brother and one living sister, both apparently healthy.

Personal History. Patient was born in Russia and lived there until he was 14 years old. He then came to America and has lived in Chicago ever since. He has had the usual diseases of childhood. He has never had any serious illness. He has been a cigarette smoker since the age of 16. He has never used alcohol in any form. He has been married for 3 years. His wife is living and well. There are no children.

Present Illness. Patient's present illness began about two years ago with a cough which was at first dry and hacking in character. Soon afterward he began to raise a small amount of sputum which was occasionally streaked with blood. He lost weight and strength rapidly and was obliged to give up his work as a tailor. He consulted a physician who told him that he had tuberculosis of the lungs and advised him to go to a sanatorium. He refused to do this, but went to bed and remained there for about six months. During this time he was under the care of a physician who gave him medicine and treatment at home. He then got up and began to work again, but soon found that he was unable to do any work on account of his cough and shortness of breath. He has had a slight cough and expectoration of sputum ever since. He has had no hemoptysis for the past year. He has had no pain in the chest. He has had no night sweats. He has had no chills. There is no history of previous disease.

Dear Sir-

re. the late Mrs Mary Ann Morrill

This patient when she left the Retreat on trial was thought to be approaching convalescence & I did not think she was suicidal. Her husband reports that that she took the Ammonia before breakfast, not having exhibited before any sign that her recovery was not progressing satisfactorily. She says." she "repeatedly said to my wife that the change was doing her good & we all really thought so as Mrs M. was quite like her old self."

I may explain that I definitely warned Mr Morrill in writing that his wife had not recovered: but as we had allowed her parole at the Retreat which she had not abused, & as her general condition had so much improved, I thought there was little danger of suicide though the removal was in my judgment premature.

I shall be glad to furnish any further particulars if the Commissioners in Lunacy wish

Yours faithfully

Bedford Pierce.

P.S. I should add that an Inquest was held by Mr D. Whittingham on Tuesday & the Verdict was given that Mrs Morrill committed suicide whilst in a state of unsound mind.

The notes enclosed, relative to the case of Mr. J.B. Burtt only deal with his last admission in the Retreat.

On a previous occasion we discovered a cardiac murmur but this could not be heard this time. He had all along an abnormally slow pulse often not exceeding 20 per minute.

I may add that on the day before the night in which Mr. Burtt died I saw him twice & he appeared in his usual physical health. He had been staying in bed on account of an attack of excitement & I directed he should sit up in the garden ~~twice~~ morning & afternoon for one hour each time. This was done.

Dear Sir

Dr. Kemp has anticipated your request for a report. Miss Cumming had a quiet night but this morning is again excited.

With regard to correspondence we find it better not to attempt reports at stated intervals, but we are always glad to reply at once to letters of enquiry. We would of course let you know at once if there was any serious change. Please do not hesitate to write frequently to enquire, asking us for particulars respecting any points about which you are anxious.

On the whole Miss Cumming is not worse since you saw her though she is more excitable and has been very destructive.

Excited + there is reason to fear he is suffering from General Paralysis of the Insane. He says he was never better in his life - he makes fatuous remarks about his prospects - he says it is arranged that he shall be separated from his wife - he says he has found a sweet heart here instead.

In unfamed health -
His pupils are unequal but they react to light - + his speech is clear.

He expresses no regret at the large number of obscene letters he has written since admission to mere acquaintances.

Dear Sirs

re. Mr. J. R. Mant

This patient came over with two of his brothers to visit another brother who had recently been admitted here.

He stayed for a time playing billiards quite voluntarily during which time the Urgency order was obtained.

The petitioner when he signed the order had just left his brother in the billiard room –
