

A sailor with a bandaged eye consulting a mercenary medical practitioner.
Coloured etching by I. Cruikshank, 1807?, after G.M. Woodward.

Contributors

Woodward, G. M. approximately 1760-1809.
Cruikshank, Isaac, 1756?-1811?

Publication/Creation

[London] (111 Cheapside) : T. Tegg, [1807?]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/jd8pkbcp>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution license.

This licence permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

You must know Doctor I have got a bit of a Confusion on my larboard cheek from a chance Shot, and as I dont think it of consequence enough for our Ships surgeons, I bore down to you, after overhawling a long list of your cures - but I suppose from the mesmate in the Cabin there: you dont always make a return of the Filled and wounded?

Sir, my rule of practice is this,
there is pen, ink, and paper, -
sign a certificate of your cure, and I'll take you in hand immediately
on paying down
two Guineas!

Woodward Del

The SAILOR and the QUACK DOCTOR!!

Curryhank 2/11