PRATT'S GRIPE MIXTURE.

This Mixture has proved itself in thousands of instances, the very best which can be given to a Horse suffering either from Gripes or Inflammation. All cases of shivering also, whether arising from exposure to cold, or from drinking too much cold water, (and which is generally the precursor of inflammation), are speedily relieved by it.

It will be found equally effectual in cattle, in Gripes, Inflammation, and Distention of the Stomach, also, as a preventative of Milk Fever and Straining, if given directly after calving.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

To an ordinary sized horse, give the whole mixture. A two-year old, two thirds. A year old, one-half. A foal at birth, two or three table-spoonfuls. A foal from one to six months, from one to four wineglassfuls. To a cow, give the whole mixture. The dose may be repeated in three hours, if not better.
