Kerse, Johnstone, Lockerbie, N.B.

I have used your Cupiss' Constitution Balls for Horses, Cattle and Sheep, for upwards of 30 years, and was always highly pleased with the results. You are quite at liberty to use my name. ROBERT MCGREGOR.

Newtown.

For fifty years I have been a user of your Cupiss' Balls for my Cattle, Sheep and Horses and have always found them to benefit same when given as per directions; and have recommended them and have sent to a great many farmers from whom I have been buying wool, and they have been very pleased with the results.

You may use my recommendation if you wish.

The Wise Breeder's Axiom==

“Health Perfection Means more Nett Profit!”

The Care of Your Sheep

In these days of reduced incomes and increased costs of production with the resulting lower nett profit the Breeder of sheep must look to the efficiency of his flock. Unhealthy sheep mean inefficient flocks, for it is a well-known fact that to grow the brightest and heaviest fleece the animal needs to be kept in perfect health and condition. Not only does this apply to the sheep bred for its wool, but for those which produce fat lambs for market. A healthy sheep will fatten quicker when turned out on to good pastures, and this alone is a good reason why you should administer Cupiss' Constitution Balls and thus guard the health and build up the condition of your flocks. For Stud or Flock Rams the importance of good health cannot be under-estimated, as it means greater lambing and healthier progeny.

The following is the opinion of one satisfied user of our preparations and the name of F. W. Rose & Sons is sufficient guarantee of the efficacy of Cupiss' Constitution Balls.

BONGALONG, MUTTAMA, N.S.W.

Dear Sirs,

For your information and others benefit, we wish to give you our appreciation of the efficacy of Cupiss' Constitution Balls.

We used them on horses of all types, and sheep; but as our main line is Stud Sheep, of British breed, or mutton type (Dorset Horned), we can speak best of them

In preparing these mutton sheep for Show they have to be fed on a large ration of highly nitrogenous food, and therefore their blood often becomes overheated, and sometimes they even become irreparably foundered, but by regularly administering Cupiss' Balls to them we got over all this and found our sheep to keep in nice cool condition, with a healthy lustre in the wool, and no more cases of founder.

Yours faithfully,

(Sgd) F. W. ROSE & SONS,
per F. W. ROSE, Jr.

Scouring.—In Sheep or Lambs.—When troubled with Scouring, Sheep or Lambs should have a dose of the Constitution Balls in gruel made of wheat flour and milk, which will be found an almost certain cure. Feed as much as possible on dry food.

Warminster.

I very much approve of your Constitution Balls for getting Horses into fine condition. They are also good for Sheep, especially Lambs, when in a pining state. I make them into pills about the size of a nut and give two or three occasionally.

M. RAWLINGS.

Flock-masters will find this medicine specially adapted to the constitution of sheep, and in cases of Scouring a dose should be given in COLD gruel, which will be found an almost certain cure. It acts directly upon the Liver, cleansing and rendering it less liable to attacks of disease.

With intestinal parasites it is essential that the animal should have something which will alleviate anæmia. Cupiss' Constitution Balls always ensure a healthy blood stream and have proved their efficacy in this regard for 100 years.

Jamesford, Montgomery.

I have found Cupiss' Constitution Balls an excellent remedy for "wasting" cattle, also for sheep when they are scouring or debilitated, and I always like to have a box by me.

Yours faithfully, R. W. VENABLES.
