What satisfied owners have said about Vitapet natural health supplements for dogs

Oil of Evening Primrose

Mrs Schwartz of Pitsea writes that her Bernese Mountain dog Beauty was in poor condition following her whelping 8 months previously. Beauty suffered from excessive dandruff, only curable by repeated shampooing which made her coat increasingly grey, brittle and sparse.

After one month's treatment of Vitapet's Oil of Evening Primrose, Mrs Schwartz claims that Beauty's coat is 100% better. "She has regained her lustrous black coat and in herself seems much more alert and keen. The capsules have been extremely effective. Beauty has been totally revitalised".

Greenherb with Nettle & Royal Jelly

Mrs Stubbington of Guiseley gives both products to her English Setters and writes: "Rafferty, my 11½ year old Setter, had always led a very active life until the onset of rheumatism and arthritis - which greatly restricted his daily galloping. I am convinced that the marked improvement in his condition is directly attributed to a regular dose of Vitapet oil combined with their Greenherb with Nettle tablets". Mrs Stubbington continues, "I have also been amazed at the effect on both body and movement of my younger showdogs from giving a regular dose of Royal Jelly capsules. I am sure this 'magic' substance has contributed to my dogs' success at Championship Show level".

Garlic & Parsley

Mrs Watson of Leeds has a young terrier bitch and writes: "She had always suffered from bad breath and flatulence - largely due to her anti-social eating habits! Since I have given her the Garlic & Parsley tablets, her breath and tummy problems have been much less offensive".

OIL OF EVENING
PRIMROSE

Evening Primrose has been renowned throughout history for maintaining healthy skin. Only now do we know why it is so effective. Rich in an unusual edible oil containing the polyunsaturate gamma linolenic acid, it can help balance essential fatty acid deficiency and delta six desaturase enzyme insufficiency.

ROYAL JELLY

Vitapet Royal Jelly Capsules combine all the health-giving secrets of the bees. Containing amino acids the body cannot synthesise for protein, plus valuable minerals, vitamins and trace elements, they are an ideal daily food supplement to help ensure your dog's long life, health and vitality.

ODOURLESS
GARLIC
& PARSLEY

The use of garlic as an antiseptic and treatment for flu and colds – relieving coughs and catarrh, has been well documented over the ages. Vitapet garlic capsules also contain parsley, valued by Bircher-Benner, the renowned Swiss nutritionist, as a digestive and blood purifier to neutralize the strong odour of the garlic.

GREENHERB WITH NETTLE

Dogs out for a walk will often search out and eat wild herbs. Recognising the wisdom of their instincts, Vitapet have combined the restorative power of nettle and the health-giving effects of celery and birch to help ensure your dogs receive all the nutrition they need.
