FUR HURTS

This dog was caught "by mistake" in a steel-jaw leghold trap. Had she not escaped, the trapper would have considered her just another "trash" animal. The traps cripple and kill thousands of dogs, cats, and other animals who sometimes chew off their own feet to escape.

Fur-bearing animals suffer excruciating pain in steel-jaw leghold traps for hours or even days before having their chest stomped on or their necks broken by the trapper.

Animals raised on "ranches" spend their entire lives in tiny, filthy cages and are killed by electrocution, suffocation, or neck-breaking.

Fur hurts the environment, too, harsh chemicals are used to preserve and process skins.

Don't let the cold penetrate your heart. Help stop the suffering. Reject fur.
