HUNTINGDON LIFE SCIENCES

PURE EVIL!

WHO ARE THEY?

Huntingdon Life Sciences (HLS), near Cambridge is Europe's largest animal contract lab. Imprisoned behind the razor wire of their top secret lab are over 70,000 animals including dogs, cats, monkeys, rabbits, fish, birds and guinea pigs.

Huntingdon has been investigated three times. Channel Four filmed workers punching four month old beagle puppies who were so frightened they constantly wet themselves.

EVERY DAY 500 ANIMALS DIE AT HLS

HLS's main areas of research are pesticides, herbicides, food colourings and the dreaded genetically modified organisms (GMOs).

These experiments are mainly done by forcing a tube down the animals throat and simply pouring the chemicals directly into the stomach. ALL THE ANIMALS DIE.

SUFFERING

Here is an example of an everyday experiment. This took place at HLS: "The animals were being forced the drug through a stomach tube and were living in almost complete darkness. Reports recorded the animals as 'having fits after dosing for up to one minute...cages 85, 95 and 100 had large amounts of dark red blood on their trays'. It was also recorded that the animals were 'gross and ill, with greasy, wet fur standing on end'."

MAD SCIENCE

HLS themselves admit that animal research is "only reliable 5-25% of the time", obviously meaning it is useless 75-95% of the time.

HLS workers were shown on Channel Four blatantly falsifying doses during experiments. An HLS worker admitted on videotape "You can wipe your ass on that data."

When another worker was questioned whether an experimental procedure he was doing was legal he replied: "Nope. Not supposed to, never saw it, never did it, can't prove it".

Like something from the dark ages. This is vivisection.

"Vivisection is barbaric, useless and a hindrance to scientific progress."
