END FACTORY FARMING!

NATIONAL MARCH AND RALLY

Saturday 13 July 2002

meet at noon at Kennington Park,
London SE11 (nearest tube: Oval)

Food for Life Festival

11am - 7pm: Camden Centre, Judd Street,
London WC1 (nearest tube: Kings Cross)

END FACTORY FARMING -

BEFORE IT ENDS US

Are you concerned about modern agribusiness - the crowded, intensive units where animals spend their short lives, the vast distances they are made to travel and the giant, industrialised slaughterhouses where their lives finally end?

Are you worried about the devastating impact which factory farming and its associated cocktail of pesticides and fertilisers are having on the environment?

Do you want to see an end to the spiralling toll of disease outbreaks associated with intensive farming - BSE, swine fever, foot-and-mouth and the creation of antibiotic-resistant strains of salmonella and E.coli?

Then make your voice heard in London on 13 July! Join a determined coalition of animal and green groups with a unanimous aim: End factory farming - before it ends us!

Rally at noon in Kennington Park,
London SE11 (nearest tube: Oval)

- speeches by celebrities, Viva! and other animal groups
- video screening • stalls and veggie food - move off at 1pm for a peaceful and colourful march to Trafalgar Square with bands and street theatre.

Food for Life Festival, Camden Centre, Judd St,
London WC1 (nearest tube: Kings Cross)

- open from 11am until 7pm • stalls from animal and environmental groups and ethical companies • delicious veggie food • licensed bar with vegetarian wine tasting
- children's activities • creative workshops for teenagers • vegetarian cookery demonstrations • programme of talks

This event is sponsored by Viva!, CIWF, FAWN, PETA and the Green Party and supported by Animal Aid, Advocates for Animals, Care for the Wild Defence Fund, the Jewish Vegetarian Society, the League Against Cruel Sports, the Vegan Society, Uncaged Campaigns and the Young Indian Vegetarians.
