Nutrition Award

ROYAL COLLEGE OF GENERAL PRACTITIONERS
RCGP

APPLICATIONS ARE INVITED FOR A PROJECT GRANT OF UP TO £3000

The provision of this Award is in recognition of the growing importance of the practice team in promoting better health through nutrition, the emphasis placed on nutrition and health by government, and the expressed need of patients for sound nutrition information.

Project proposals can address the needs of the practice population as a whole or a specific subsection but the judges are particularly interested in projects concerning women's health or child health.

ELIGIBILITY

The Award is open to all practising members of the RCGP working in the United Kingdom. Applicants must demonstrate an awareness of current official guidelines on nutrition and their practical application, and how other practice team members will be involved in the project.

The judges are aware that applicants will have varying amounts of experience in applying for grants. This will be taken into consideration but it is essential that research proposals address each of the items listed in the section overleaf 'Form of Application'.

Entries will be adjudicated by a panel nominated by the Royal College of General Practitioners and the National Dairy Council.

TIMETABLE

Project proposals should be received no later than 30th September 1995.

PRESENTATION OF THE AWARD

The winner(s) of the Award will be announced in London at the Annual General Meeting of the Royal College of General Practitioners in November 1995. In the event of a draw, the adjudicators may divide the Award among two or more practice teams.

In November, a preliminary grant of one half of the Award will be presented.

Further funding will be released during the course of the project, usually following submission of a satisfactory interim report.

The winners will also be expected to submit a final written report of their work, preferably in a form suitable for publication. It is anticipated that projects will be completed within approximately one year.

FORM OF APPLICATION

(please submit four copies)

NB. Applications must be made by the general practitioner responsible for the project.

1. Please give details, on a separate sheet, of:-
 - Full name
 - Home address and telephone number (if different)
 - Number of partners in practice
 - Name and positions of other members of practice team to be involved in the project
 - Where you heard about the Award.

2. Title of Project

(In this leaflet, details are given of previous winning projects but preference will be given to original ideas. In particular, the judges are interested in projects concerning women's health and projects concerning child health.

3. Anticipated starting date

4. Brief summary (1000-1500 words) of the purpose, aims and scope of the project including:

a) Background to the project and nutritional rationale, including review of relevant literature. Demonstration of knowledge and practical application of official nutrition guidelines.

b) Description of project with details of methods, including target group, how information will be gathered and how changes will be measured and evaluated.

c) Financial support required and details of planned expenditure.

Results of previous work, e.g. protocols, photographs, charts etc., may be submitted to support the application.

5. How you intend to disseminate the results of your project.

6. Brief description of how you think your project will benefit others.

Project proposals should be received no later than 30th September 1995.
