

A man holding a girl in his arms representing a family man who has AIDS; advertisement for the support provided by the London Lighthouse centre. Lithograph.

Publication/Creation

[Ladbroke Grove, London] : London Lighthouse, between 1990 and 1999.

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/tm6ek5rj>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution, Non-commercial license.

Non-commercial use includes private study, academic research, teaching, and other activities that are not primarily intended for, or directed towards, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

Amy's dad couldn't bring himself to accept he had AIDS.

Now he can.

He just can't bring himself to tell her.

Could you?

Probably not. That's why he came to us. We didn't tell Amy for him though. We just helped him find the strength to tell her himself.

That's how we work. That's why London Lighthouse provides information, care and support for anyone affected by HIV and AIDS. Amy doesn't understand yet, but one day, she will.

Young or old. Him or her. Black or white. Straight or gay. AIDS doesn't care. We do. We need you to as well.

London Lighthouse
A CENTRE FOR PEOPLE FACING THE CHALLENGE OF AIDS