

An Asian couple embrace by a window; advertisement for the new female condom by the Black HIV/AIDS Network. Brown lithograph.

Contributors

Black HIV/AIDS Network.

Publication/Creation

[Haringey, London] : Black HIV/AIDS Network, [between 1990 and 1999]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/ezm54gfc>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution, Non-commercial license.

Non-commercial use includes private study, academic research, teaching, and other activities that are not primarily intended for, or directed towards, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

Condoms...

be sensual, be sexual, be safe

In many relationships, women find it hard to insist on safer sex. Part of the difficulty is that women have to convince men to wear condoms, and many men will find a variety of reasons why they should not.

Femidom, the new female condom is now available. Women can now protect their bodies without relying on men.

TELEPHONE
081-749 2828

Design: Eugene Boud. Photograph: Parvinder Sekhon.
Thanks to the models used in this photograph.