

A woman looks directly at the viewer with the words 'Qué tienes en contra de un condón?'; advertisement for safe sex to prevent AIDS by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Lithograph.

Contributors

United States. Department of Health and Human Services.

Publication/Creation

[Washington] : U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, [between 1990 and 1999]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/fezstc54>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution, Non-commercial license.

Non-commercial use includes private study, academic research, teaching, and other activities that are not primarily intended for, or directed towards, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

wellcome
collection

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

¿Qué tienes en contra de un condón?

Si lo usas apropiadamente y cada vez que haces el amor, el usar un condón puede ayudar a salvar tu vida. Para más información sobre el SIDA y los condones, llame al 1-800-344-SIDA.

AMERICA
RESPONDE
AL SIDA