

An ostrich with its head in the ground representing a warning to people who ignore the facts about AIDS; advertisement for the AIDS hotline in Maine, U.S.A. Colour lithograph by Media Source.

Publication/Creation

Maine : Maine Office on AIDS : Maine Department of Human Services, [between 1900 and 1999] (U.S.A. : Media Source)

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/bxwt2zs8>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution, Non-commercial license.

Non-commercial use includes private study, academic research, teaching, and other activities that are not primarily intended for, or directed towards, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

THERE'S NO AIDS PROBLEM IN MAINE. RIGHT?

WRONG!

Sticking your head in the sand won't help.
Almost ⁷²⁵100 Maine people are ill with AIDS. And ³²⁵41 have already died.
Soon, each of us will be affected in some way by AIDS.

For information on what you can do,
call the AIDS HOTLINE 1-800-851-AIDS.