

A woman pushes a trolley down a dilapidated street in Lima, Peru representing poverty; with 4 smaller images depicting social issues associated with AIDS including packets of money in bank safes, drugs and male prostitutes; an AIDS prevention advertisement by Pecos, the Programa Especial de Control del SIDA. Colour lithograph by Juan L. Gargurevich, ca. 1995.

Publication/Creation

Lima [Peru] : Pecos (Programa Especial de Control del SIDA), [1995?]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/mkbvyyf9>

License and attribution

You have permission to make copies of this work under a Creative Commons, Attribution, Non-commercial license.

Non-commercial use includes private study, academic research, teaching, and other activities that are not primarily intended for, or directed towards, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation. See the Legal Code for further information.

Image source should be attributed as specified in the full catalogue record. If no source is given the image should be attributed to Wellcome Collection.

LIMA

la ciudad y el sida

Los jóvenes deberán asociar su sexualidad a la idea del sexo seguro.

La prostitución masculina eventual vinculada a los jóvenes fletes con su clientela principalmente bisexual.

El impacto de la epidemia también exige dar información clara sobre el SIDA en los centros de trabajo.

El comercio de sangre en los bancos, es una bomba de tiempo para la difusión del VIH/SIDA en el Perú.

MINISTERIO DE SALUD

© PROGRAMA ESPECIAL DE CONTROL DEL SIDA

AUSPICIADO POR: Comisión de Comunidades Europeas y The Pathfinder Fund

VTR (U-MATIC, Beta, VHS NTSC) , color / español, inglés

PECOS

PROGRAMA ESPECIAL DE CONTROL DEL SIDA