My dear Laymore

Will you kindly read over the enclosed.
Parkes, I think has put the thing in a nutshell, and I most gladly join his "limited liability Company." If your notions do not differ widely from Parkes, we might have a harmonious State:
presented to day before the Senate; and which I think w^d greatly facilitate the dispatch of business. I think we must give up the idea of engaging with Susan.

Your Rev
Mrs. Cuthbert

My dear Longmore

I have this enclosed this morning from Maclean, & he desires that you & de Chan mont should see it, although it is marked "private"

I have also ref. into & me
I know not what particulars you mentioned to Maclean as to the Com^e report; but this I know not where we are each & all of us in the position of Trustees as it were for the school I do not look upon it as right (or just to your Colleagues) to accept a reading of a report

on such an understanding as you mention -

I declined to see it
in an interview with L.
D. S. on such a condition.

Any information I became possessed of

27th Aug. 1878 ^{P. 2} regarding common ^{interests} however come by ^{LP 37/2} I sh^d regard as a duty to communicate the same
to my colleagues, as soon as possible.

I am sorry we are not likely to agree on this head - nevertheless with kindest regards
believe me yrs. truly
W. Attkin

I am off tonight &
glad to be away from place

LP. 37/3

Please tell Mr. Pitken
that I hope that
your cake
"fitments" will now
propose - the estimate (for £350) was, as usual, sticking in
the W.O. I have just (this afternoon)
been decided to take it off the "Barack
wall", in order that there may not be

Hand - of These important

another long
meandering
through the Treasury.
And I believe the
"Fitchments" will be authorized "at
once", i.e. today.
[As Dr. Pitkin
knows, "at once"
has been found
to mean "next
year."]

My "Statistical
forms" are, I understand, to be published in the Report of the Statistical Congress &
also separately. I shall send you a
copy, as soon as I get one.

I have sent you
a copy of the
"Form", by post, as
passed by the Section.
