Dear Sirs,

Three years ago we purchased from you an oil jar and some old druggists' bottles. We have written to you several times about the former which we have not yet received. In your last letter of November 2nd 1911 you stated that you were waiting for a barrel to send the jar in. We must please ask you to forward it at once, and if you have not got a suitable case or barrel and cannot get one in your neighbourhood, please let us know, and we will forward you an empty one to send the jar in. We really cannot let this matter stand any longer.

Faithfully yours,

I. & Co.

1st November 1911.

Dear Sirs,

Sometime ago we purchased from you a number of old chemists' jars, amongst which was one large redware oil jar. This letter we have never received, although we have several times written to you, asking you to send it. We should be therefore glad if you would forward it to us, at once, without delay, advising us when it is despatched.

Faithfully yours,

I. & Co.

15th May 1912.

Dear Sirs,

Some eighteen months have now elapsed since we purchased from you, and you promised to send, a large redware oil jar, and this has never yet been sent.

As we are requiring it within the next week or two, we shall be glad if you will forward it at once without further delay.

Trusting you will give this matter immediate attention, as it is now urgent.

We are,

Faithfully yours,

I. & Co.
