Dear Sir. I thank you for your letter received this day.

I wish you had been able to acknowledge my first letter sooner. The delay has occasioned me some considerable expense, which I expect must be the loss of, if I accept your offer.

However, send me seven prints, and I will accept same. Please send for return to clear this up.
If you want more prints, would you please, as a matter of business, kindly give me references.

Yours very truly,
M B Walker

Dear Sir,

I much regret the delay in acknowledging receipt of your parcel of engravings, and also in giving you an answer respecting the same, as I was suddenly called abroad and was unable to deal with the matter until my return to-day.

I have now gone carefully through the collection, and am willing to offer you the sum of seven pounds for the lot, which I think is a very fair price. If you are open to accept this, please let me know, and I will at once forward cheque to that amount.

Faithfully yours,

(signed) T. BRETT.

Dear Sir,

I have now examined the list of the medical portraits and engravings which you have sent me, and find that I may be able to do with the majority of them, but it is impossible to judge without first seeing them. If you will therefore send me the whole lot on approval, I will examine them as early as possible, and either make you a bid for the whole lot, or make a selection from them.

I am,

Faithfully yours,
