Dear Mr. Wellcome,

Dr. Sumbon came to see me in the early part of the week with respect to making arrangements to go to Venice to take delivery of the pharmacy vases and bottles from Malliani. He told me he was in desperate straits for money, which he must have at once, and he was therefore compelled to realise his books, which were part of his working library, and some treasures of historical medical interest that his father had/given to him. He said if I could not help him he would be bound to try and sell them elsewhere, as his need was imperative. He asked me if I would go and see them, and if possible purchase them from him to relieve him of the immediate pressure, before he went away. On his giving me proof that this was perfectly genuine and that he was really in a very tight worner, I went and examined what he had. I selected nearly one hundred old works on medicine and surgery and astrology, of most of which we have copies already, and also a complete set, well-bound, of the Lancet, beginning from the first number down to a few years ago. (The first five volumes of the bancet, as you know, are extremely rare, and generally sell for nearly One pound each). Also a complete set of the B itish Medical Journal, the Practitioner, and The Medical Society's Transactions. In many of these early periodicals I found many interesting pictures of medical historical interest. I bought these from him at the rate of sixpence per volume, bound in cloth and calf, and altogether purchased valuation. from him four hundred and twenty-two volumes, at a low

With regard to the objects of medical interest. I found he had a few exceedingly choice and rare items, several of which I recognised as those which I had to eliminate from his father's collection when I bought it in Milan, on account of the very high value the old man put upon tham. One of these is a large pair of Roman bronze/forceps, with exceptional patina, of which there are only three known, and which I remember old Mr. Sambon valued at Five hundred lire alone. Another is a fine bronze Greco-Roman cupping instrument. We have two, but this one is just as fine. He had also five very beautifully worked bronze Roman surgical instruments, spatulae and probes; a rare bronze ear, votive offering; an ancient Roman surgical instrument case, smaller than the one we have; an antique bronze Roman probe, partly cased with gold; a large stamped leather instrument case of the 14th century; a large fish-skin lancet case, fitted with silver lancets; a 14th century leather case of Arab surgical instruments, fully fitted, exceedingly interesting; a 15th century old iron composite veterinary instrument, with five or six curiously glad to get of the state is moderate shaped lancets; for these objects and the four hundred and twenty-two volumes I offered him Eighty-five pounds, which he accepted gratefully, and I brought them away the next morning.

He left for Venice on Wednesday night, and I have given him full and explicit instructions as to the collection of the vases, and the packing. for which he himself is going to be responsible. After seeing them sant off, he is returning to Milah via Bergamo, where he will call and see the members of the Hospital Committee, and see if they can come to a final decision respecting the sale of the old Library, and he will wire me from there if he can conclude the bargain on the matter.

I believe he will do his best and trust to be able to carry the matter through without any hitch.

I trust you are already feeling stronger and better for the change to a warmer and drier climate and that your health will soon be completely restored.

Faithfully yours.

Madaini Harrow. ENGLAND. 15th November 1910. Dear Sir, On September 20th I purchased some vases of pharmacy and red glass bottles from Signor Coriolano Malliani, of Farmacia Malliani Alle due Sirene, S. Geremia, Fonda. Pescheria, Venice, and paid him a deposit on the same. I have authorised my friend, Dr. L. Sambon, who will be in Venice on the 20th inst., to take possession of these vases, and to pay Signor Mallaani the balance of the money. In case of any difficulty arising, I am informing you of the transaction, and of my authorisation of Dr. Sambon to act for me, and to receive the vases on my behalf. I trust there will be no trouble about the matter at all, and thanking you in anticipation of your kind consideration, Faithfully yours, C.J. S.T.

Dear Sir,

I have now returned to England, and on thinking over the matter of the pharmacy vases of Davenport ware and the bottles of Bohemian glass you have in your pharmacy, I should be disposed to purchase the entire lot, viz. 94 (ninetyfour) vases and 27 (twentyseven) bottles at 10 frs.
