General Staff														The escort was attacked on its return from Fort Cox on the 4th in the wooded ground between that post and Fort White, but by a prompt and bold rush of the 73rd into the bush the Buffs were surprised and driven from their cover with considerable loss, and were driven back for more than a mile. It is stated in Lt. Mackenzie's Official Report that more than 100 Buffs were slain on this occasion, with a loss on our side of one man of the 73rd & two men of the Buffs killed, and two men of the Buffs wounded. The column met with no further resistance from the Buffs on its return to quarters at King William's Town. The bodies of the killed were buried at Fort White and the wounded were brought to King William's Town & treated on the 7th when the column returned to quarters.

Genl. Staff	3	-	10	15	-	20	20	32	30	12th March. The Sabot returned this evening, the division, under Col. Mackinnon, having captured eight cows and 4 calves; that under Genl. Sir Eyre of the 73rd Regt. 115 cows. 100 calves 80 goats; & 4 horses. Captain Bernal of the Queensdale Levy was accidentally shot by one of his own men. Four Haffers are said to have been shot by Sir Eyre's division but no casualty occurred from the enemy amongst the troops - altho' the destruction of the Sabot was left a secret up to the time this march, & since is said to have been sent to the Straals for the Haffers to drive off their cattle by means of prisoners Boik's people who harboured, and protected in King William's Town, and who, it is evident, act as spies for the enemy.

Returns of Jones on Patrol from King William's Town on the 25 Feb. 5: 5 March: 411 March with notes of their operations and success.

On the 21 the Column on its return from Fort Stone to Fort White via Fort Lox destroyed all the houses and damaged as much as possible, all the gardens along the Incewage valley near which the Skippers showed in force on the morning of the 19th. When the Troops were on the line of march from Fort Lox to Fort White, and near the place where the Column was attacked on the 8th the Some Skippers were observed on the spur of land which runs down from the Incewage range of hills to the plain, called the Skawah, and over which the road passes. These were immediately pursued by the advanced guard consisting of the C. M. Rifles, but the Enemy being found in force amongst the trees and gardens, Armstrongs irregular horse and a battalion of Genies were moved up to his assistance when a smart skirmish took place in which Mr Brown the Field Commissioner was wounded in the thigh by an arrow, and a sergeant of the Cape Rifles was wounded in the neck by another.
The Enemy lost 14 men killed at this point and about six more were shot in other parts of the Field. As the Column came up the Troops were pushed along the ridge and the 73. and a company of the 5th dashed gallantly thro' a wood nearly a mile in extent with only one Skipper for the wood and reached the open space at the top of the Incewage range overlooking the Deba plain without meeting with any opposition from the Skippers who had dispersed in all directions. Sir Harry & his Staff followed the 73, and finding that further pursuit was useless and almost impracticable from the nature of the ground he ordered the Troops to return to Fort White and they reached that post about two hours after night fall having been 14 hours under arms.

22 The men halted & refreshed at Fort White and on the 23 the Column marched into Skippers country at 3 o'clock, and reached old Fort Milledore about 10. in the afternoon head of which it captured and drove off a few horses and goats, and a fine herd of cattle amounting to nearly 800 head. The Skippers made a smart attack from the river surrounding park on the Column which was gallantly repulsed, but from their

Genl. Staff - - - -	2	-	-	7	The Patrol returned on the 19th having captured 230 head of Cattle & 15 horses. On the 16 the Troops came in collision with the Indians and a Party of Armstrongs horse, led by Captain Robertson, was surprised and lost their horses. A red dog ^{Indian} of the 73rd Co accompanied the party was killed - a snake as the 2nd rank sergeant - at sunset Sibley adjutant Archer had a very narrow escape having approached near some brush where a horse was tied & he on there often found out to graze. During the whole Patrol one officer, 4 Hitches, & 5 men were killed, and one officer & 11 men ^{men} of Armstrongs horse, & 18 horses - 15 of them horses & their appointments were captured by the Indians who pursued Lt. Gen. Colman back to the bivouac on the 12th inst. because the Indians, believing him disturbing the camp at night, he is presumed they were subdued! 150 are reported to have been killed, but about 20 are supposed to have fallen -
