Dear Sir,

On behalf of our Clients, (The United Chemists' Association Ltd., Priory Court, Cheltenham) we wish to secure the consent of your Management to reproduce in their Almanack for 1916 certain illustrations of the Ancient Chemists' Shops in your Museum.

These were published in one illustrated paper -- we believe "The Illustrated London News" -- some time ago and we take it that you have therefore no objection to publicity of this kind.

Although our Clients have previously issued an Almanack, the present intention is to arrange the next edition upon an entirely new plan, which will improve it out of all recognition. It would therefore serve no useful purpose for us to submit a specimen of last year's as it is quite commonplace. The ruling idea this time will be to have absolutely everything in the production essentially Pharmaceutical in character, and it appears to us that these illustrations possess this quality in a high degree.

In consenting to this application, we may point out that you will be serving the interests of some 1200 Retail Pharmacists engaged in the business in this country.

We shall, of course, be glad to give an undertaking not to use the illustrations for any other purpose, without your express consent.

Trusting you will give the matter favourable consideration and thanking you in anticipation.

We are,

Yours faithfully,
