Dear Sir

I will take the amount you name for the instruments, (as I wish to get rid of them) although a very inadequate one as you must know,
and think you ought considering this to allow me £10 for them.

Yours truly

Dear Sir,

I have not had an opportunity of examining the box of surgical instruments which you sent me approval.

I am sorry to find that a great number of them are rather useless owing to their being of inferior quality and are of no use to me. I have, however, retained a few of them for the entire lot of 100 pieces. If this be accepted by you I will pay for the lot at once and will return the box to you.

Yours truly,

H. I. Metcalfe, Esq., M.C.,

Dear Sir

I have packed
the articles & they will be sent by morning
train to-morrow to address you mention in your letter.

I think when you have seen them you will not think I have put a prohibitive price
upon them, when I

Induction £12. This is what I will take for them, & I hope you will agree to this.

Yours Truly

Dear Sir,

I refer to the letter of the 12th instant and the various notices to attend. I have now the first copies for you and a return for the 12th of each.

I have now the first copies for you and a return for the 12th of each.

you and a return for the 12th of
