HUNTING SONG.

(Written expressly for "The Sportsman")

BY MRS. C. BARON WILSON.

Hark ! hark ! how the blithe hound and horn
Salute the first streaks of the morn,
Tantivy ! up ! up ! and away !
O'er hedge, dingle, brake,
Our course we must take,
To horse, boys ! hark forward ! away !

See ! Renard, sly Renard's in view !

Press onwards ! pursue him ! pursue !

Voicks ! hark forward ! away !

Now he's panting for breath,

Let's be in at the death,

And his brush, shall the foremost repay !

When the Chase is all over and done,

We'll home, to the warm chimney side ;

The Good-Wife to meet us will run,

And the sirlon and tankard provide !

And till night o'er the fire, and our cups of spiced ale,

With a song and cigar, we'll our senses regale !

A BACCHANALIAN ODE.

Fill the Cup, the ruby Cup,

With the vine-blood fill it up ;

Grape-blood by the gods was given

Mortals to uplift to Heaven.

Laughter, Mirth, and wreathed smile,

Be our jocund guests the while !

Call the blanch'd rose from the bush,

Let it glow true maiden's blush,

Launch it on the crimson river,

Love and Bacchus mingle ever.

Love and Bacchus ! glorious twain,

Spirits of the heart and brain !

We are sovereigns all this hour,

Bacchus' sceptre is our power ;

Wreath'd with tendrils of the vine,

Every heart holds blood divine.

Oh that ocean we could turn

Into vine-blood !.....gods ! we'd burn.

Some love arms, the dazzling shield,

Beam spear, and plumed field :

So do we.....we jocund fight

With the vine-spear sunny bright ;

Cased in grape we join the fray,

Bear the prize—the Cup away.

Honour to such honoured men ;

Who fight, fall, and fight again,

Cheering, whilst through heart and brain

Blood flows like enchanted rain :

Ours the banner'd host whose fame

Immortaliseth Bacchus' name.

H. C. D.

No. 1.

SEPTEMBER 2—FIRST DAY OF PARTRIDGE SHOOTING.

"London now is out of town"

Clerks are gone a shooting,

Beating covers up and down

From Islington to Tooting.

Waiting-street and dear Cheap-side

Threaten execution

To pig and goose on common wide :

Oh ! what a persecution !

Holborn-hill and Bishopsgate

Show half empty houses,

Husbands being all elate

To send some game to spouses.

Counter-coxcombs trim and gay,

Book'd by vans and coaches,

With dog and gun now pick their way :

Where hare or bird approaches

List while the murderous sound

Of gun fired in a hurry—

Frightning poultry all around—

In West-Kent and in Surrey.

Dangerous to friend or foe,

The publican and sinner,

Lets fly again ; but tis no go,

And so he goes to dinner.

Night comes on and gas-light burns,

When now from hills and valleys,

With game the wily Cit returns,

Which came from Dieppe or Calais.

Wives and daughters in amaze

Cry "law who'd have thought it?"

And both the skill and game they praise

Of him who just had bought it.

But one cross wife was heard to swear,

And 'gainst her lord to mutter,

"He ne'er shot bird, nor found a hare,....(har)

Unless 'twas in his butter."

AN EPIAPH ON MISS ANN RICHARDS, OF COMPTON BEAUCHAMP.

"Reader, if ever sport to thee was dear,

Drop on Ann Richards' tomb a tear,

Who, when alive, with piercing eye,

Did many a timid hare decry ;

Well-skill'd and practis'd in the art,

Sometime to find, and sometimes start :

All arts and sciences beside

This hare-brained heroine did deride :

An utter foe to wedlock's noose,

Where poaching men had stopt the mense ;

Tartie and tea ; she was above it,

And but for form appear'd to love it.

At books she laugh'd, at Pope and Clarke,

And all her joy was Ashdown Park.

But Ann at length, was spied by Death,

Who cour'd and ran her out of breath ;

No shifting, winding turn could save

Her active life from gaping grave :

As greyhound with superior force,

Seizes poor puss, and stops her course,

So stopp'd the Fates our Heroine's view,

And bade her take a long adieu

Of shrill so-ho ! and loud halloo !"
