In the early evening of the 24th of June I went to a note
of a very old chemist's shop
Mr. E. H. Lawrence
Market Place
Thamesboro. This
chemist said he
some interesting
things for H. M. E.

Mr Weld.:

Attached you will find a cutting from the "Glasgow Herald" of the 9th inst., referring to the diary of Dr Pritchard, the poisoner. Mr Wellcome wishes Mr Taylor instructed to ascertain without delay if he can obtain the promise of the loan of the diary for the H.M.E. Will you please enclose the cutting to Mr Taylor, in which I have underlined the fact that the diary was stolen from the possession of Mr A. H. Arnott Commission Agent, of 101 West Regent Street, Glasgow, but he was not the real owner of it, but it belonged to Mr Threshie of the County Buildings since dead. Please instruct Mr Taylor to carefully follow the matter up for Mr Wellcome, to ascertain the real owner and see if we can get the loan of it for the exhibition, and report the result to us quickly.
