Dear Sir:-

Please accept my appreciation for your favor of July 10, enclosing a few points on the early history of Artificial Organs. What I was particularly interested in was the history of Artificial Limb making, and not so much plastic work, and the smaller organs, like the ear and eye.

Again thanking you, I am,

Very truly yours,

Managing Editor.

MAC DONALD, DR. J. NEW YORK

July 10. 1905.

Dear Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 9th ult., which I regret owing to pressure of business I have been unable to reply to before, I enclose you a few notes which I have by me concerning the use of artificial limbs in ancient times.

I shall be glad to have a copy of your paper if printed when you can find time to send me one.

Trusting that this will not be too late for you,

I am,

Yours very truly,

Gentlemen:-

I wrote you some time ago soliciting information on the history of artificial limb making, but as yet I have not heard from you.

Can you give me any information in regard to the early history of making artificial limbs? I am requested by one of the large Surgical Associations to present this subject before them and I assure you any information you can give me will be duly credited.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:-

I am requested by one of the Railway Associations to present at their coming meeting a paper upon the "History of Artificial Limb Making." I understand that you have compiled a history on ancient surgical instruments, which leads me to believe that among your archives you may have some information bearing upon the artificial limbs that were worn and made early in our history, or for that matter B. C. Any information that you can give me in this respect will be greatly appreciated as well as due credit given for the same.

I have the honor to remain,

Very truly yours,

J. MacDonald, Jr.
Managing Editor.
