5th February 1911.

Dear Sirs,

In reply to your letter of the 6th inst., we note that you offer to supply us with the fifty books as per our list for the amount of Five pounds.

We note that you have forty-four ready for us, and that there are six yet to be obtained. As we cannot deliver a portion only of the order, please advise us as early as possible when the remaining volume are all ready, and we will let our van call and take delivery of the fifty books, and hand you cash for the same.

This matter is now very urgent, and we shall be glad to hear from you within a few days when the fifty books are ready for delivery.

15th February 1911.

Dear Sir,

We are surprised in opening the books received from you yesterday, to find that you only sent forty-nine instead of fifty, as you distinctly stated in your letter of the 11th inst.

We cannot understand your doing a thing of this kind, as we distinctly informed you that it would upset our order, as we cannot deliver until we have all the books.

The book you omitted to send us in "MS. in Red Box." Please send it per bearer without fail, or otherwise return the money for the same, and we must get it elsewhere.

Faithfully yours,
