THE V.A.D.

(To the Editor of "The Leicester Mail.")
Sir,—I write for enlightenment. I have for some time now been interested in the V.A.D., which is doing such excellent work at the moment, but I have quite lost my bearings as to its official status. Can you put me straight?

Before the war I was told that the V.A.D. was a unit of the Territorial Force. After it broke out Major Platt issued a circular statement regarding the composition of the Territorial Force, which showed that it was not.

"To the man in the street, so far as we in Leicestershire are concerned, the V.A.D. is a voluntary organisation of which Mr. A. W. Fair is the chief. However, the gentler sex of the V.A.D. in the district in which I reside, are now being informed that they are under "martial law," a term which sends a shudder down one's back, conjuring up, as it does, female courts martial, and other terrors.

And now, to make matters more obscure, still, I read in your paper of a meeting presided over by the Mayor of Leicester, at which a Ladies' Visiting Committee was appointed, with apparently some jurisdiction over the hospital work of the V.A.D. throughout the county.

The idea is, no doubt, an excellent one, and no objection can be taken to the names placed on this Committee, unless it be that some of the ladies are themselves "Commandants" of V.A.D. hospitals, but what is the V.A.D. over which an apparently fortuitous gathering of individuals can appoint a supervisory body?

Can we have a meeting in Leicester to appoint a Visiting Committee to pass into the secrets of the Admiralty and War Office? There are many of us who would be ready to serve on it.—Yours, etc.

MYSTIFIED.

(Our correspondent surely writes in humorous vein. If he is serious we may inform him that the V.A.D. are what is known as "the Technical Reserve," and are a unit of the War Office scheme for Territorial Forces (1908). Members of the V.A.D. are whenever they choose by sending an intimation to their Commandant, to be put under "martial law" and can resign from the list effect by sending an intimation. The V.A.D. hospitals are entirely under the control of Mr. A. W. Fair, who is the County Director for the Leicestershire Territorial Association, and no visitors can be appointed for the V.A.D. hospitals without the sanction and by courtesy of the County Director.—Ed., L.M.)
