Auret-hayari. (B. des esclaves)

- Et bien! quelles nouvelles y a-t-il aujourd'hui?

- Le bruit courrait hier soir que le roi de Prusse venait de révoquer son Ambassadeur.

- D'où, de Londres?

- Oui, de Londres.

- Alors c'est qu'il s'est déclaré définitivement pour la Russie.

- On le croit, et pour ma part j'avais toujours pensé qu'il finirait par là.

- Et pourquoi cette prévision?

- C'est qu'il est beau frère de l'Empereur de Russie.

- Les intérêts de famille pèsent
donc plus dans la balance politique que ceux de la raison et de la justice.

- Malheureusement, il en est
presque toujours ainsi et particulièrement dans le cas actuel.

- Que savez-vous autre chose?

- On dit que les Turcs ont été battus à Salistrie.

- Si cela est, ~~oui~~ j'en serais véritablement fâché, et j'en accuserais la négligence des Français et des Anglais, dont l'inactivité qui me paraît se ~~être~~ prolonger beaucoup trop longtemps.

- Oui, mais ce ne sont que des ~~ouï-dits~~.

- La nouvelle que nous est venue par Vienne sans avoir encore ~~plus subie~~ pu subir de contrôle.

- Quelle est la première époque de l'histoire de Grèce?

- Celle qui va des premiers âges à la guerre de Troie et qui dure environ mille ans.

- Quelle était alors l'état des Grecs?

- Ils étaient sauvages, ne sachant ni lire, ni écrire, et vivants de plaisir.

- Par qui furent-ils polés?

- Par des colonies Égyptiennes et Phéniciennes.

- Les Premières?

- Argos en 1056, fut fondé par Inachus, Égyptien, et son fils Apis, qui donna son nom au pays qu'on appelle aujourd'hui Morée.

- Qui vint après?

- Danaüs, en 1474.

- D'où venait-il?

- La S' Egypte -

- Pourquoi fuyait-il?

- Tanque son frère Egyptus, (ou Sesostri) voulait le forger à marier ses cinquante filles à ses cinquante fils.

- Pourquoi Lanais, ^{lui} repartait-il
ne donner ses filles ?

L'aveugle l'oracle lui avait prédit que l'un de ses gendres le tuerait; et pour éviter ce malheur il était résolu à ne point marier
ses filles.

- Que fait Egyptus?

- Il assiege, prend Argos, et force son père à ~~de~~ donner ses cinquante filles.

En on résulte-t-il ?

- Les 44 des Danaïdes, pour obéir à leur père, assassinèrent leurs maris, la première nuit de leurs noces.

- A quoi furent-elles con-
-damnées ?

- A remplia un tonneau sans fond.

- Quel est le nom du maître ~~50~~^{ème} qui fut épargné par la 50^{ème} Danaïde?

~~Agathangèle~~ qui devint père d'Anclor^{us} ~~suinter~~ de vois; l'un d'eux appelé Persée, ayant tué son
grand-père Acrisius, et se réfugia à Mycène, où ses descendants régnèrent.

- Les savez-vous sur eux?

- Que l'on ~~l'~~ l'appelle
Amphitryon, ~~qu'il~~ était

Mari de la belle Alceonessa, qui et ayanta etc, par Jupiter,
en eut deux fils, appelés, Ariston et Hercule.

- La' ardoit le premier comme à son père?

- Les douze travaux - Sont ils?

- Le lion de la forêt Némée
le puy de l'herne, le char de l'air la biche aux pieds d'airan, les cent saugliers d'Hymanthe.

- Les étables d'Augetas,
Les pommes d'or des Hesperides. —

Light Division.¹⁰⁴ Copy of a letter of an Officer of the Light Division of the Army in the Crimea - Oct. 27/1854.

October 23^d. A cloudy night, followed by a hazy morning. Wind still from the South, and mild. L86/12

A well managed, though slight, affair, which occurred yesterday, deserves mention, Lieutenant Edward H. Webb, 80th Regiment, who was in command of a small party of thirty sharpshooters, had occasion in pointing out a certain position to an Engineer Officer, to expose himself and some of his men to the enemy's observation. He was at the time a little distance in advance of the ravine, which extends from near the First Brigade of the Light Division to an irregular valley near the foot of the Round Tower hill. Not long afterwards a body of the enemy, about 150 in number, were observed to be advancing in a direction toward the sharpshooters. Lt Webb detached a part of his little force, & ordered them to conceal themselves among the brushwood to the left of the ravine: so that, should the Russians make an attack, they might then be exposed to a fire-flanking. The Russians came forward, and appeared certain of securing the English Officer and few sharpshooters who were with him; but as soon as they were within convenient range, the party towards whom they were advancing fired into them. This fire they returned, but almost immediately afterwards the remainder of Lt Webb's party who had been concealed discharged their rifles among them with deadly effect. The Russians were seized with a panic and fled in disorder. Their Leader showed great courage. When his men began to fly, he seized one of their muskets, and, waving it in the air, tried to rally them. While holding it in this position he received a ball in the elbow, and at once took the weapon in the other hand. He was then vainly trying to restore courage to his men and urge them forward, when two of the sharpshooters took aim at him. One of the balls wounded him severely in the neck and face, breaking his lower jaw. He then tried to retreat, but was made prisoner, and brought, together with one of his men, into camp. Five others, who had been killed, were buried on the ground by the sharpshooters. Several wounded escaped back to their lines. The man of the 77th Regiment killed was the only casualty in Lt Webb's party. The Russians appeared to be volunteers from various corps, as by their uniform it was seen that they belonged to several different regiments.

No tidings of Lord Dunkellin, of the Coldstream Guards, have been met with, and no doubt remains as to his having been made prisoner by the Russian picket when he advanced from his men. This occurrence has brought out a General Order that for the future no party, whether on fatigue or armed, is to go to the front without a competent Staff Officer accompanying them to direct the way.

The fire in our batteries has continued at a slackened rate all day. The French are slowly advancing their batteries by regular approaches, which the comparatively level nature of the ground to the left enables them to do. Our principal batteries cannot be advanced as they are already on the brow of the two hills on which they are constructed, and are separated by very deep rocky ravines from those worked by the Russians. We must therefore wait till the French are more advanced, and the proper time for the assault arrives. The one-gun (Lancaster) battery has been removed from its position in rear of the 21-gun (Frenchman's Hill or Captain Gordon's) battery, and is now placed more near to it - on its right.

Among the casualties today was (Captain) J. C. Childs R.A. who was killed in the battery. One of the enemy's shells which burst directly over the muzzle of a gun in Captain Gordon's battery, killed two artillerymen on the spot, and severely wounded two others and a sailor. The Russians have now so completely the range of our guns that they are able to do much mischief in the batteries. Yesterday they made no less than nine holes with their shot in the Union Jack, which the sailors put up in their part of the 21-gun battery. Today a shot broke the flagstaff into two pieces.

The sailors managed to put it up again, fixing the broken part of the staff by means of four trucks placed around it. They had not done so long when another round shot came, and scattered the trucks, flagstaff, and Union Jack, about in all directions. The Tars were greatly enraged, and, as seems to be usual when their ire is excited, fired several broadsides in succession at the Russian battery opposite. Cases of Cholera are still occurring occasionally, though it has disappeared as a prevailing disease. Among the recent victims is Major A. Saltram Willett 1st ^{Regt} Lancers. The Senior Captain is now commanding this regiment. Lieutenant Young of the Royal Artillery, has also died from Cholera. He was brother to Sir William Young, of the 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, who was killed in the action at Alura. Sir William had been recently married, and, failing heirs from this marriage, Lieut^{nt} Young would have succeeded to the baronetcy. Several of the sailors have been attacked with Cholera, and there has been a good deal of sickness from bowel disorders in their camp.

This day has been remarkably close and warm, though the sun has scarcely shown itself. The wind, rather a strong breeze, has come from the South; and brought with it that peculiar unrefreshing, almost oppressive, sensation which is usually felt only in a tropical climate. This has been noticed by many persons today. In the course of the evening a report spread through the camp that the town was on fire in two places. One of these fires, at least, was not accidental: notwithstanding the wind was high, the flames did not spread, nor did the fire itself for a long time alter its general character or position. It must have been a rise on the part of the Russians, - either to divert our attention from what they were doing elsewhere, - or to attract our fire into that particular spot and thus saving other more important parts of the town. The fact is, Sebastopol is very safe from fire. All the principal buildings, and nearly all the second-rate houses are built of stone; and to this cause must be attributed the little success which has attended our efforts to fire any part of it.

Oct. 24: A dark, cloudy, night; followed toward daybreak by some smart showers. Rain continues at intervals all day, and falls heavily toward night.

The batteries continue their fire at much the same rate as yesterday.

Another attack was made this morning on our sharpshooters and picquets on the right, but the Russians were again driven back. One of their party, a Pole, escapes, and gives himself up as a Prisoner. He states that there are many other Poles who would gladly come over to us if they could, but each Pole is usually placed between two Russians, and is closely watched.

A Private of the 33^d Regiment - Duke of Wellington's - by name Mc Guire, has attracted the notice of the Commanding Chief by an act of daring. He was in advance as a sharpshooter and was made prisoner. He was being marched away between two Russian soldiers, a third being in rear, when, seeing his guard in a moment careless and looking in another direction, he suddenly seized a loaded musket from one of the two men at his side and discharged it at him. No sooner had he done this than he swung round the butt end, and with it struck the second man, on his other side, a blow on the head which felled him to the ground. The third Russian decamped, and Mc Guire effected his escape. He was at the time within a hundred yards of the Russian lines. His own rifle, which had been taken from him, was being carried by one of the two men by his side; but he knew this had been discharged, and therefore seized a musket from the other soldier which fortunately turned out to be loaded. The affair was witnessed by a Sergeant of the Rifle Brigade, and, in consequence of his report, Lord Raglan awarded Mc Guire a gratuity of £5. The strength of the party employed as sharpshooters is to be increased; it has hitherto consisted of ten men selected from each regiment, generally volunteers for the duty.

This afternoon the roof of the Round Tower fell in, carrying with it all the four guns on its summit. The tower is quite opened by a deep breach on the side which is most exposed to the guns of the 21-gun battery, and the whole structure is now a complete ruin. This fort is said to have been built at the voluntary expense of one man, who received the especial thanks of the Emperor for his enterprise and devotion: he would scarcely derive satisfaction from looking at his work now. Three guns still keep up their fire from the earth battery: two to the right, and one to the left, of the tower itself.

Oct. 25: Rain continued at intervals during the first part of the night, but toward morning the clouds broke, and it became starlight. The clouds are now dispersing, and the sun, appearing, promises a fine day. Wind still Southerly. Our batteries, and the Russian batteries opposed to them were silent all night.

The fire continued without cessation ⁴ in the direction of the French works - occasionally very heavy.

9. A.M. Cannonading heard in the rear. The First and Fourth Divisions are ordered from the front. The firing continues, and we soon learn that the Russians in strong force have attacked one position near Balaklava, and that they have captured two batteries - together containing 19 guns - which were defended by Turkish troops. These latter are said to have fired, until ordered to retire; but they omitted to spike the guns before abandoning them. Sad tidings also arrive of the fate of our Light Cavalry Brigade, who have suffered most terribly from the fire of the enemy while making a charge. It is added also that there was a serious mistake either in the understanding of the order with respect to the position of the battery to be charged, or else in the conveyance of it by the Aide-de-camp - Captain Nolan. Captain Nolan was shot dead just after giving the order to Lord Lucan. A French Officer who saw the charge from one of the heights above the plain informs me that scarcely a fourth part of the Cavalry appeared to come back. He also tells me that at one time, when he saw the Russian Cavalry in such immense force - he calculated them at 2000 strong - charge & take possession of the second redoubt, he had great apprehension for the fate of Balaklava itself; and it was only when our batteries opened from above the Balaklava road, and he saw the Russians waver, that he felt reassured. The Chasseurs d'Afrique and our Scots Greys are spoken of as having made splendid & effective charges against the enemy.

3 P.M. The Allied troops are seen occupying the whole line of hills which extend from the right of our position in front of Sebastopol to the base of operations at Balaklava. The enemy are occupying the plain, and also maintain their position on the conical hill, on the summit of which was the most advanced battery which they took from the Turks. Some guns on the side of the mountain flanking the entrance to the Balaklava gap are attempting to drive them from their position by throwing shell among them; but the guns are evidently not of sufficient range. At the foot of the hill, and on the side of it, looking away from Balaklava, several battalions of the enemy are posted. There is an irregular elongated rising ground which rests on the centre of the plain, and stretches along its longer diameter; on the summit of this eminence are posted numerous Russian sentries evidently in advance of a force which is lying in the valley on the other side, and is hidden from view. On the end of this eminence furthest from Balaklava some of the enemy's videttes are posted, and, when the plain opens beyond, is seen a large reserve body of infantry, artillery, and cavalry. Each hostile force seems determined to occupy, without offering opposition to the other, its respective position for the night.

Oct. 26. A starlight fine night, but cold. The morning opens sunny and bright. Wind South-east.

There was heavy cannonading during the night between the French and Russian batteries. Ours were silent, but, as usual, open soon after daylight, and continued.

with a black fire throughout the day. ⁵ Lieutenant and Adjutant Maule, of the 80th Regiment was struck by a round shot with a coming party of his regiment in the 21st gun battery, and in consequence lost his left arm.

The reports of the very serious loss in the Light Cavalry Brigade are fully confirmed and cause General regret: a mere skeleton remains. I will not attempt to relate the details of this calamity, as there are still many conflicting rumours respecting its cause in the front of the camp, and you will receive more full particulars from Balaklava. The Russians are to be allowed to retain ~~uncontested~~ possession of the advanced battery which they carried yesterday - it is almost valueless as a means of defence.

12th M. a sudden order to the 2^d Division, and to all men of the Light Division not employed in the batteries, to get under arms immediately. A large force is seen advancing against our right, from the direction of the valley along which the Tcherniaia river runs to fall into the head of the Sebastopol roadstead. Seven battalions are counted, together with a force of artillery, and some cavalry. They have apparently come out of Sebastopol, and are advancing to attack our right, no doubt, under the impression that all the British force has been called from the front, to act against their army in the rear, with the exception of the few troops in the batteries. The second Division, lying on the extreme right, is instantly under arms, and reinforcements shortly arrive from the Brigade of Guards, Light, and 4th Divisions. As the enemy advance, with their skirmishers thrown out, in ~~the~~ order of battle, a heavy fire is opened upon them of grape and shell, and some rockets, from a line of fourteen guns which have been quickly brought into position on the heights from the field batteries.

They at first attempt to push on in spite of the fire; but soon waver, are thrown into confusion, and retire in disorder. The infantry do not come into collision; the artillery have it all to themselves. The number of killed and wounded among the Russians must have been very great, for one shell burst in the midst of them with deadly effect: a compensation in a slight degree for our severe loss yesterday. This time, we occupied the heights, and the Russian force attempted to carry them: the difference in the result was soon marked. Judging from their dress, and the device of an anchor of their buttons, some of the sailors or marines from the Russian ships appeared to have been brought into the field. This, though short, was an effective affair. General Brown was in command.

27th: A hot sunny day, following a fine starlight night. The progress of the siege operations slowly advances. We are evidently reserving our fire, and accumulating ammunition in the batteries, until the time shall arrive for the decisive attack to be made.

Dr. Alexander told of the very affectionate he has had to endure us in getting up of medicines to the R. L. Division - from Brown as we were at Brown sent for him to tell him that if he continued to poison him so we regretted in different things he would have him removed from the R. L. Division. Dr.
Alexander would be as independent in position as from Brown - that he helped he to expect his husband further, when he remained from the Division & and of his home to England - in the distant place for some time after - On one occasion a message was sent to him to Brown to go to the army - but little of time - for as Dr. Alexander - 2 the message was sent 10 miles - He sent from Birmingham an urgent demand for medicines - that the R. L. Division were urgently demanded then that he thought the absolutely urgent - he did not get an answer for 10 days & the answer was that he was to send medicines in for them, as there was not a word except to send an order to them - in five weeks day -

Writing in tent. In afternoon L. D. Algonquin - he reads to Watt & me a letter he proposes to send to the Director Genl at the Depart.
- preparing office of a Field Engineer.

Watt reads a paper to me which he proposes to send to the Staff Mus.

A French soldier reports that 10000 French men have landed at the Katcha river, to the N. of the army in the rear -

When Genl. Lodwigher went to send Major his L. D. Algonquin report about the state of the men in respect to exposure, cooking etc. - he merely said Woodford took in a message that it was no use making such reports as he knew well about it already - what does this mean - that we are to be in still deeper shelter? -

Still no clearing - all the French coming - much literature
- etc -

Some proposals to be distributed tomorrow - but the probability that the trucks are to be put on one side - & to be sent to go to Belknap for protection for the horses - are too weak to be of any use & there are scarcely any more Starlight fine night - Send by Lt. Serjeant letters to Mr. Heppel, M. L., as confident letter to D. N. enclosed, & to J. L. Serjeant.

Still with later - write copy for D. N. -

Dec 30. Had McFadden write a letter to D. N. L. - brings back something, please, write - Heavy rain - then a look as if to be fine - then heavy snow rain - fearful - Daily till Dec 31. that no bright tomorrow - all the number of hairs broken down - the D.N. have been 2 days without anything but rain & circuit - See further on

The 20th lot 4 new today. The 1st lot came straight up ravine past the station, & into the road with a very large - 1st - brought one man, killed 2 others, whose head was covered in blanket.
5th lot end of their march - shot a 4th - were driven back then split up into 2 one 1st. The 5th lot had just returned to 5th
- the 1st lot - a column - got away to cover 1st - killed several unless a man had been down - swaddled the soldiers - the 5th returned, & the 5th drove the 1st lot back - the men passed out -

The 1st lot - 300 strong on the 4th Dec. now 100 very weak - did not know how to work - to do anything - dying fast - no more -

Col. R. says he has ever seen a plan of his position - he goes out as a F.D. sees the prisoners - but in a case of alarm could do nothing - not knowing the relative positions. The old imagine each D.N. will have its plan - evidence to show
- the Brig. give instructions to the 1st lot - no other thing - no 2nd lot?
but able to show it - no evidence

The 1st lot have able engineers & artillerymen - show energy & determination - all very well while courage united. Expellable material to work upon if good heads.
The 1st lot were unprotected. no works. long to begin the war. Gen. Lodge called upon a staff officer of each Brigade to give his opinion - Col. Van Dusen for a considerable time used to drive a horse and had made last night the 1st lot went out being challenged "so in case of trouble to think of"

Dec. 4th. Tremendous rain during night. Right Vent wld eye burn. Tropical showers just as V. whiffs come.

I go to the living Bugachie & tell Sherry to repeat our offer - he can't do anything for us - does not believe in them about the French landing at Ketchikan - They know nothing about it at the French Hill - Thanks we are waiting to see who will give up first - we are the "Reds" - They also very hardly repeat says.

Many fine from R. Kufm. letteres -

Col^d. Much says Gen^l. Pennington told him. that at Ft. Sherman battle longer we were asking - Gen^l. Buller did it knew when he 19th was - a 10 00th - found he 77th & left us there, nearly led them into our fire thus his blindness. The 00th were retreating for want of ammunition when Gen^l.
Canrobert rode up, stopped them, in appearance she added them to his division, with the 100th - told the 77th to come up & helped them. -

The Capt. of the night Co^y (200th Co^y, Crooke) got a bayonet wound in the thigh - he fell in the V. position - the bayonet stuck in the ground & as the Regt.^l felt the bayonet they had went round the limbs 2 men of the 1st Co^y stood on him, one loaded the other fired alternately - the others came & carried Crooke off - the 200th were retreating of the time. -

Genl Brown did go Lark Cove - Pennitapha who knew the "locus in quo", wh he had better do - Genl B. wth us his Division -

Gen^l Detachment came up w. hi^l Divⁿ & a Gen^l Dr. plucked h^{im} & suggested something. Gen^l C. said he knew what he was abt - I went w. a Detachment - a Co^y of the 10th Regt. to them & the Regt^l left! y^{ou} an army! he was sth on the gallery where he never had any business to be

Genl P. called Genl Brown a bullying fellow & he has nothing to show for it in the light of a general.

Col. Minnie, 21st Regt, old from R. reports of his wound a bullet back in R. hip - lodged near R. spine - at Santari?

Write an Official Ltr to R. General through Col. H. re R.
State of R. men - Send a copy to D. Alexander who approves of what I have written & done -

Call on [Lundin] an apt [son] [son] - Stickland, says train,
- huddled himself well & comfortably - got off, alt. transport of frags for R. artillery & food for R. men

Sat w/ (Lundin) in evening. Sent for to see Rooker who has had a fit.

I: old sold? L. R. youngest. "I've got many I wish I'd get some good w. it." "So you can, just follow R. road down then & you come to a street - R. R. shop a R. right is a good shop & you can get some there" "Can you indeed? well I'm off, wait you come too?"
"No thank you. I'll rather not" - The gangster wait & has it come back - I: old fellow thought he would only have a fight -

Major Shattar getting excited, at dusk, pulling his men in of in a bunch - Some fell at & he got irritated - at last he thought he'd secured a fellow in an unmistakable office - seeing a man out a pretense, he saw up, pitched him in - kick at back of shock him - He man cried we begin voice - wondering what it was all about - Please Shattar: you pretend you saved?
Please Sir Sir only a drummer boy -

Wrote a Ltr for Lytle to be sent back to the regt.

Oct 5th - Firing at intervals all night. Heavy rain & strong wind. The day becomes ^{unclouding} but clouds & it is not clearing as dry -

Now at the house, bringing loads of provisions -

33 guns in the batteries around the River town & 56 in the fort of the town near the Indian battery. They are trying to convert them to a line of abattis, etc. etc. - Turkish shells brought into use again - some say the Turkish special car. shells these shells have done no work & guns much damage in the latter of Oct 29th -

The day before yesterday the Russian only fired 2 guns - Dec 3rd - 13 shot the R.A. & killed up to down - seen the R. ambuscade - the R. fired. 1st shot disabled gun & carriage. took off the head of 1 R.A. - struck him in the face. One of his teeth driven into the cheek of the other man. One of the R. shot at the well. in front of Gordon's, within the advanced work - in the night a beautiful spring - within the advanced work all were frustrated.

Captain Stanger killed. looking over parapet - shot - saw the ball - balled - escaped - shoulder bruised & clothes torn by the earth etc.

Drawing in parapets in Gordon's battery - guns 1/2 buried - making holes etc.

(Astonishing) why the Russian do not fire at us

Saw D

Dec. 5th Cont'd. Write letter to - Calcutta D. Alexander - who reads to me several letters about medicine looking clothing for the troops back to the General & to D. Hake such stronger than mine has.

Write on to R. 4th Divⁿ. All mud. - So to R. 4th where the General are buried - long talk w. a French Officer - interesting. - He says understood how the Russian army is fed. - The Road to Smolensk not be almost impossible - the coming of French likely to be cut off supplies - Don't say I can get one ration - The land of the valley almost stopped - the steamer imperfect limited - The army in the Tchernaya plain up to their knees in water - the bridge just the only hops - the cavalry might have to pick their way - Artillery old & not more - Must be much disease among the troops - no tents still, but what they got from the Turks. - They have made holes in the river, if the allies & put up a sort of partition opposite heaps of stones in front. They can sleep - not eat. -

When the assault is made we will doubtless be as soon as the 20000 French are on their way arrive - depend upon troops not General - The troops confident - Russian not so - Their General much worse than we are in a field on the plain - Doubtful whether their ^{part} guns will be able to annoy us on entering -

- The Place d'Armes into which several streets open is strongly fortified, & guns round the approaches by the streets - houses are fortified - barricades & cross streets - embrasures in all directions. - Makes me shake in the skin before the 25th -

Go on & see in Borne R. B. A man brought in w. a rifle ball thro' his chest & lung - wounded in the advanced work taken from the Russian - a zigzag work. - close to the wall of the town - the Russian have very nice secure shelter. They seem fine this afternoon for the hour - fired at the houses who are carrying this would run on a stretcher - enough to expose themselves as

They came up the side of the hill. & sat safe till they got in near of Chapman's battery - no one hit - wind off - as the Kuffs suffered in muddy ground -

Then the true account of the affair of the 2^d & 3^d Regts.

The 50th occupied the advanced work - but just relieved shell before the 57th. The 57th had at 4 o'clock. 2 Co of the 50th in the 3rd Regt -

No sentries planted too near. The Kuffs came up a great force. 600 we opposed - & one the parapet bayoneted 7 men. The crew of the wreck and the others. Ship fired. The Kuffs drove the 50th out.
Too strong. The 57th heard the gun started & joined the 50th -

Some of the R. B. came just then - gave them to ground the work - Hundred they turned the Kuffs out & drove them back to their walls. Report of a man of the R. B. who was asked if the R. B. relieved the 50th? No. The Kuffs relieved the 50th - & we relieved the Kuffs.

The next day the 20th were holding the work. Several batteries were built for the Kuffs. In one of these 3 men of the 20th lay down in their blankets over their heads - a volley of shells was fired - some fell close up by a reserve - got to the hut & bayoneted the 3 men. Killed 1 man, wounded several 2 men. Probably the very Kuffs had occupied the hut & killed all who were in it.

Heavy fire constantly since. Although the R. B. have had 40 men killed & wounded - have been unable to take the battery. Today (5th) they fired of grape, shot & shell at it. So near that the grape tells - they have killed 3 men at the front work today a last night - one has been taken off there.

A battery of ships moved in 3rd bay from 7th (Caroline) on the side. -

Very heavy fire all day & night - grape shot & shrapnel apparently at the trench. Go up w/ lead to Perquet house - Sally on Perquet. Glynn, & Mademoiselle Jean & Marie both in line there.

Did not attend this war at the advanced work at Greenhills

6th March, mild day - Small rain - Frost at night -

Take a walk round on right from the trench battery & road to where the 2 gun battery was - (see notes) dreadful state of ground.

One last. Sudden change all letters to go off at 10 a.m. - tomorrow -

At 1/2 past battery - Hugh & Fuzet Stein & the Mademoiselle go out of trench - throw shells at our batteries in support - go round Cape Alexandre & half past 10 the ammunition battery & the trench this fire against the trench lines, exploding them
- English Steniers. (2) 1st Valorous apparently - & a French line of B. ship close here & drive her back - The Valorous was too close in - Guns of the (unlabeled) & our guns from the heights above were against her & also the fort at Cape Alexandre - Very fresh

July 1. Very quiet night. No rain. Slept soundly - some 90° in for a long time past - Write late last night letter to D.M. -

The morning like a summer day - bright & sunny - air cool & breeze - wind north - Very favorable day to try to find the -

Write till noon 12 M. for D.M. - Drove & ride to Belknap - met Col. Willbourn - & rode with him some way -

The road almost impassable - Day time a fog in. Rode to P.O.
- and Hamilton where I met at the office to put a letter in for me - The town crowded - See Sergt. Colgan - give him $1.00 to buy some tarpsaulin clothes for me - Write a letter to Mr. Lee.
Met Mr. Blomfield the Surgeon of the Victoria who tells me that he is not suited for it - That Mr. Lee has given a letter to Buchanan
- that he does not appear fit to return to camp -

Carry up some corn for Sergt. Colgan - find out what it looks like to myself & Chudleigh -

When near the French lines & a thick fog comes on, so that we cannot see our way - A Sergt. M. L. of R. 2^d Div. finds me & we push on together. Push the barrier, but get into the Turkish camp, & pass their sentry - Feel our way by asking questions in the French lines - get up by the Telegraph - & after a while from the enemy's camp - met Hamilton, Dr. Humphrey (a relative of Col. Sanders, & Lockwood) - all seek their way - Ride with them to the Div. - come first upon the 33^d - & so get home -

Done by
When going in to Belknap & on the higher ground above the valley rode up to a French picket - & saw 4 battalions of French infantry much of a reconnaissance - The village (Kamare?)
near to which the Russian were was burnt yesterday, its ruins alone remain - They could be seen plainly today for it was bright & clear - T. Ruffin & us supper had all off.

But in the examination being made ^{top} said the shroud thunder - & it was ascertained that their body had moved behind the hills - Truly right - Harker of Balklava crowded w. transcripts -

Dec 3rd sharp frost - white snow on mountains - good white - ice - frost hoar - Day became fine & sunny
- midday -

Put up tent. Go to Sale at 7th and buy a few things - after return & write replies to certain questions of Dr. Hall - after dinner go to Dr. Allen - & sit w. him for some time. He tells me that Dr. Dumbell was once foolish enough to tell him that Genl. Brown replied to one suggestion of his "Oh Dr. D. I don't like to say anything you say, you are not a practical man" - Dr. A. writes by post packet to Dr. Dumbell & Genl. & is opinion about Dr. D. & Dr. D. generally -

Much cheering in Sebastopol & Rimpresambur? or news?

Tark of R. advanced with Grenville letter to R. R. Dr. Allen had 2 large guns 60 lbs. but he will accept of 10 muzzles - men had time to get out of the way - gun crack - none hurt -

S. E. - Ride into Balklava w. (clouding) - buy some things for

R. Ruffin - See Dr. Zuberstein & Genl. Bullen - R. Ruffin. who is mixed up in the way we are ship in town - See Ruffin - who is better - tells me that Mr. G. is trying my hand to get into Sebastopol - but Dr. Dumbell won't let him go - Mr. G. now gets information - French troops my line makes necessary - R. cavalry is - new road Turks - Genl. R. S. house very extensive - quarters blue &

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

There are 4 Editions published on this principle, viz., that of appropriating an entire page to 1 day's Memoranda, and at the same time (being in separate months) occupying the least possible space in the Pocket, which, being an especial desideratum with Professional Men, has originated the above Title. The Editions are numbered 14, 17, 21, 23, (or corresponding in size with other Diaries of like Numbers) of dimensions and cost as under:

No.	MEASURE IN INCHES.		PRICES.

Letts's PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

Letts's PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 23.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 23.

1856 JANUARY 1
Letts's 2864

It must have been a Sept - Oct - Nov - & Dec
of 1956 that I had my terrible attacks of rheum.
I was at Aldershot
- no entries for these months -

Letts's L 86/4

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY, No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,
 No. 21.

PROFESSIONAL OR MONTHLY DIARY,

No. 21.

There are 4 Editions published on this principle, viz., that of appropriating an entire page to 1 day's Memoranda, and at the same time (being in separate months) occupying the least possible space in the Pocket, which, being an especial desideratum with Professional Men, has originated the above Title. The Editions are numbered 14, 17, 21, 23, (or corresponding in size with other Diaries of like Numbers) of dimensions and cost as under:
