My dearest Brother I am afraid you will think me unkind because I have not unter to your before; I hope you will not say you are forgotten by your switer Hannah, I amnot think of letting the hop go without uniting a few hires. He were very glad to hear that you had a son, and that sister fance was so well with it, it was good news to hear that little Benjamin was so healthy and good, I hope he will continue to he so; I trust my little darling Melhew may become pions and useful. I should so like to see him, I wish I could, but it is impossible. I hope you will be able to speak to the bliness about the Sarious, that they may henow about him, and become a finance holy and devoted freefile. I like to think of ferre more than any thing else; I do so love to read the Bille and love to fray, to ask God to feigure my sine and save my soul. I think it was sixter Elya'd conversation when we were at Sheffield that led me to come to the Saviour . On a Sunday weining when we did not go to blea. - feel I remember we weed to fray and talk logether. I am grieved that I should have such wandering thoughts, I wish that my heart was fixed. I feel anyious that our dear freefile may love feeres, that they may come to him and feel their need of him, who has done so much for them and for us. I trust that Dafia will be noefull in hus work, and that many will be converted, and brought to reprentance. Pilease give my very kind love to Sister and little Benjamin. I must now close my ter to my beloved Brother, and believe me to be your affectionate and loving Sister Hannah Furnis Holson

My very dear Buther I seawerly done to write to you, and letter from your dister Shrack no, I must have townerd with you although it awakens all those deep and lender sympathies which it is my habitual endeavour to which. Jim long weeks howe how hadded away, Since I hade you asiew my dearest brother; it appeals to me like so many mohhrs. I too often with that hime could be received that it would restore the happy happy home which ne spent together Il joy's departed never to return how painful the remembrance? would that I had enjoyed them less, their their loss would not be so deeply theenly feltigns it is, I feel that last will never again house the attentions of once prossequed, it's hight soloming is gone, its sweetest pleasured have fled; notil notes I was not aware that to much of my happiness new derved from any landity office, for I professed to deine it from a higher downeel if ever I indulged a spirit of toll womplaceners in the thought that I had above external influences, I am taught he that heart the humpating lesson, that I am wathlobren and others from little he Meally know of ourdenes, with our character is tested by municipation. Then we showed our nealines then we feel that if left to our own resources we could to nothing, withstand nothing endine Nothing , self to their laid prothate and he feel compelled to acknowledge that all one suffreener, is of god.

I now wish to look at life in the hight in which it is intended we should been it; as a seene of duty and not as a deene of pheading I were more a trighy dente the that to please ourselves, is not the object for which he are to live of it were you would be reposing aming the winforts of home and I should be enjoying the Sweets of your Souty but we have higher end Ph nevoraphish than the mere temporary gratifications one own wished fed dear Benjamin, you have felt this and are therefore, gone to occupy the frost while your home master thouse assigned to you, and I hope for bhist to desure nothing but to wind things hat to to as ferns bids me to And think as fetus thought But I must deare this ruly est fu I find that I am felling my theet with my own feelings, when you are necessants desired for facts ...
