At the SECOND ANNUAL MEETING of the Shareholders of the Philosophical and Literary Institution, held at the Sun Tavern, Chatham, on Tuesday, 6th October, 1829,

THE REV. R. S. JOYNES, D.D. PRESIDENT,
 IN THE CHAIR;

The SECRETARY read the following Report of the Committee for the past year.

GENTLEMEN,

The Committee have to report, that in the performance of their duties, they have experienced the most cordial co-operation from the Members of the Institution, and they are able to refer to the details of the Curator and Librarian as affording the best testimony to the utility and increasing property of the Society.

The Library at present consists of 800 volumes, two hundred of these have been added during the past year, nearly one half by purchase; the remainder by presentation. The Committee have directed that a catalogue be forthwith printed, and intend to adopt means by which every Member shall be informed of the names of such Books as may be added thereto in each quarter.

Your Committee have the satisfaction to state, that the progress of the Museum has been even more than commensurate to the accessions made to the Library,—very many valuable subjects in Natural History, Antiquities, &c. have been added; and your Committee feel it particularly incumbent on them to notice that the greater number of the Ornithological Specimens, Fossils, and Organic Remains, are the produce of the county of Kent, and they hope, that, at no very distant period these collections will be found to possess particular local interest. For the exertions of Mr. Dadd, in this department, the Committee beg to offer their cordial thanks.

Your Committee have further to report that during the last year, Lectures have been delivered by Members of the Institution on Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Dynamics, Political Economy, Geology, the Anatomy of the Horse, the remains of the Mammoth recently discovered at Luton, and on the Geology of this District—to these gentlemen, the Committee feel that the thanks of the Shareholders are particularly due. In an especial manner they are also due to Mr. Fincham for his dissertation on the Chlorides of Lime and Soda, and to Mr. Thomas Dowton for a course of lectures on Phrenology. Your Committee have the pleasure to add, that several interesting lectures will be delivered during the ensuing winter.

Your Committee have also to report that it has fallen to the lot of the following gentlemen to retire from the Committee; viz. Messrs. Hawkes, Whitmarsh, Bell, Payne, Mabbs, Whittle, and George.

For the state of the finances, as regards both the funded capital and the appropriation of the income, the Committee beg to refer to the subjoined statement by the Treasurer.

CHATHAM, JOHN KAINS, V.P.
28th September, 1829.

It was Resolved Unanimously that this Report be adopted and printed.

The Secretary then presented the Reports of the Curator and Librarian, and the Accounts of the Treasurer, which were unanimously approved and ordered to be printed.

The following RESOLUTIONS were then passed Unanimously.

2nd. That the Rev. R. S. Joynes, D.D. be President for the year ensuing.

3rd. That W. A. Davies, M.D. Capt. John Kains, R.N. and Charles Townson, Esq. be the Vice Presidents for the year ensuing.

4th. That Mr. Robertson be Secretary, and Mr. Atkinson, Treasurer, for the year ensuing.

5th. That the thanks of this meeting be given to the Committee, Secretary, Treasurer, and Curator, for their services during the past year.

6th. That a gratuity of £5. be presented to the Librarian for his attentive services during the past year.

Messrs. Naylor, Knewstubb, and Payne, having been appointed to scrutinize the list of votes to supply the vacancies in the Committee, reported, that Samuel Baker, Esq. Capt. Pudner, Messrs. Brock, (Brompton) Bentham, Naylor, Acworth, and B. Tribe, had the majority of votes. These Shareholders were accordingly declared duly elected into the Committee.

OF THE
SOCIETY
PROMOTING RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE AMONG THE POOR.

WHOEVER believes the Bible to be a revelation from GOD, and that the matter it contains is not only highly worthy of that infinitely great and blessed Being to deliver, but of the last importance both to the temporal and spiritual interests of mankind, will not want any farther arguments to convince him of the obligations he is under, first to receive it with the greatest reverence, affection, and gratitude, himself; and then to propagate the knowledge and belief of it among men. And, indeed, who, that hath tasted the sweetness, and felt the salutary refreshment, of the fountain of life, but must be willing to convey its living waters to others, that those who need the same sacred advantages may drink of the same heavenly streams, be quickened, purified, and comforted, by them, and live for ever!

Those, who have made any serious observations upon mankind, cannot be insensible of the deplorable ignorance, that, even in this land of light, is to be found among the poorer sort, especially in the country, for want of the proper means of information and knowledge: and that the number of those is great, who, notwithstanding the various afflictions that have, from time to time, been communicated for their instruction and improvement, yet very much want, in this instance, the farther aids of Christian piety and benevolence.

A 2 Animated,

Animated, they trust, in some degree, by these motives, and to remove, as far as they can, these unhappy disadvantages, which numbers of our poor labour under; many persons have entered into a Society and Subscription to distribute the sacred Scriptures, and other good books, amongst them, as one of the most effectual methods, in their apprehension, under the blessing of GOD, to bring them acquainted with the truth as it is in JESUS, and render them wise to salvation.

As from this source many necessitous families, who are unable to purchase these helps, will be supplied with them by the bounty of others; so it is no small advantage arising from such an Institution, that the rising generation among them will be furnished with such books as are best suited to their tender years: by means of which it is to be hoped, that, under the divine influence, the tendencies of corrupt nature may receive a timely check, and the powerful influence of vicious examples, in these sinful times, be more effectually guarded against; their future perversion from the principles of divine truth to the errors and corruptions of those who lie in wait to deceive, be happily prevented; and their precious souls be early initiated into the practice of piety and virtue. And if such are esteemed, and indeed with good reason, their generous benefactors, who kindly assist them in providing food and raiment for their bodies; that friendship surely cannot be less valuable, which relates to their immortal souls, and directs them in the way to everlasting blessedness and glory.

As these considerations will, without doubt, recommend the attempt of the ministers and gentlemen who have entered into this design to the approbation of all good men; so it is to be hoped, (especially as it is wholly void of party views,) that it will engage others of every Christian denomination among us, who truly fear GOD, love the Protestant religion and liberties, and with well to the best interests of mankind, to countenance, encourage, and promote, it.

OF THE

FOR PROMOTING RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE
AMONG THE POOR.

I. THE design of this Society being to promote Religious Knowledge among the Poor, by giving them Bibles, Testaments, and other good books, where most needed and likely to be improved; it is agreed, that the Society shall be supported by an annual subscription of the members, together with the donations and legacies of all who are disposed to contribute towards it.

II. That no member shall subscribe less than a guinea; that every subscriber pay (at least) one guinea at the time of his or her entrance as a present for the use of the Society; that the collector call for the first subscription within six months subsequent to the time the present at admission is received; that every subscriber of one guinea be entitled to a nomination of books, in his or her turn, of forty shillings value; that a subscriber of two guineas be entitled to a nomination of four pounds value; and that a subscriber of a larger sum be entitled to a nomination of such value as is in that proportion.

III. That the Society shall meet the first Wednesday in January, at six in the evening, and the first Wednesday in July, at seven in the evening, at Haberdashers Hall, in Maiden-lane, or such other place as shall be appointed; that the members be summoned to the meeting in January by letter, and in July by advertisement; that the number of seven be sufficient to proceed to business; that a Chairman be chosen at every meeting, that he be a minister and layman alternately; that every meeting be opened with prayer, and that when a minister be present he be desired to engage.

IV. That every person, making a present of twenty pounds to the Society, be, upon payment of the money, deemed a member for life, and entitled to a parcel of books of forty shillings value in rotation, and so in proportion for any larger sum.

V. That a Committee for conducting the affairs of the Society, consisting of the Treasurer and twenty members, (five of them to go out annually,) together with the Bookfeller, Secretary, and Collector, shall be chosen the first Wednesday in January, and that notice thereof be given in the summons for such meeting.

VI. That books shall be constantly provided wherein to insert the names of the subscribers, the sums subscribed, an account how the money is from time to time applied, the books purchased and disposed of, the letters received, and all other matters relating to the Society.

VII. That all moneys received by the Secretary, Collector, or any other Member, for the use of the Society, shall be immediately paid into the hands of the Treasurer; that the Secretary take minutes of all transactions at the several meetings, which minutes he shall read before the Chairman leave the chair.

VIII. That an annual sermon be preached for the benefit of this charity, at such time, in such place, and by such minister, as shall be thought proper; that the members dine together the day the said sermon is preached; that twelve or more stewards be annually appointed for that purpose; and that they audit the accounts for the current year.

IX. That no book shall be received as a gift, be purchased to be given away, or, being already approved of, be rejected, unless with the unanimous consent of the members at a special general meeting, after having been first proposed at a former; and that, in the printed summonses for such meeting, the proposal for the reception, purchase, or rejection, of the said book be expressly mentioned.

X. That ten or more nominations shall be distributed monthly to the several members in the order they stand on the list; that it is expected of every member, being in arrears the whole annual subscription, that he pays the same before he receives the nomination he may become entitled to in rotation; and and that a subscriber in the country or foreign parts may empower a member to receive his books as often as allotted without farther notice.

XI. That the usual paper, with the Society's title, shall be printed and pasted within the cover of all their bound books; that the Bookfeller do deliver the several nominations upon a proper warrant, under the Treasurer's hand, being produced: that the warrant shall be to — or bearer; and that a person having received notice, and not demanding the books within four months from the date thereof, do forfeit the nomination to the society. (This to be expressed in the notice.)

XII. That the carriage of the several nominations sent into the country from the Bookfeller shall be defrayed by the Society; and that an intimation be sent with them, that it is expected an acknowledgement of their having been received shall be transmitted to the Secretary.

XIII. That an account of the Society, containing a suitable preface, the rules, the names of the committee, a list of the subscribers, a state of its accounts, a proper form for donation by will, extracts of letters, and the names, numbers, and prices, of the books given away, shall be annually printed in octavo.

unto the Treasurer or Secretary for the Time being, of a voluntary Society commonly called or known by the Name of The Society for promoting Religious Knowledge among the very particular in expressing the SOCIETY FOR PRO-MOTING RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE, there being another Society of the same Nature, called the SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE; and, though a Donation to either Society may answer very valuable Purposes, yet it may not entirely comport with the Design

From Ministers and Others who have received Books from the Society.

Kendal. REV. THOMAS GRITTON. — I request you to inform the Society, that the parcel of books, sent me by order of Mr. N. Chater, came to hand yesterday.

I feel myself obliged to the Society, and particularly to my friend, for this present. In this part of the country, the means of Christian knowledge are much wanted among the poor. I shall endeavour to dispose of them so as may most tend to secure the ends of the Society, and hope they will prove useful to many souls.

It gives me peculiar pleasure to find that an Institution so benevolent receives such extensive encouragement. That its success may continue, and its usefulness increase, is the fervent prayer of, yours, &c.

Walsgrave. MR. ALEXANDER PAYNE. — According to the request of the printed letter, which I received with a parcel of books by favour of Mr. Saloway, I hereby acknowledge their reception. I return thanks to Mr. Saloway and the honoured Society for so acceptable a favour. I have sought proper objects in the disposal of some of them, which were gratefully received; and shall, as opportunity offers, seek out the most necessitous for the bestowment of the remainder. It is not in my power at present to say what success has attended the reading of them, but hope, through a divine blessing, that the seed thus sown may bring forth fruit to the glory of God.

Be not weary in well-doing, &c. affords encouragement to abound in every good work.

Aylbury Street, Clarkswood. MR. FRANCIS SHADD. —
I some time since received a letter from you with a parcel of books, desiring some account of their distribution, and of the effects they produced. I have endeavoured to dispose of them to answer the object of the Society; and, though I cannot inform you of any very striking effects they have produced, yet
I hope some good has been and will be done by them. A child, to whom I gave Dr. Watts's Songs, &c. got many of the songs by heart, and died about twelve years old in a most happy manner, and giving (I am well informed) convincing evidence of her being a partaker of grace. Her brother and sister, (then younger,) to whom I have given and lent the Society's books, now regularly attend at Spalding-chapel. The brother frequently leaves his friends, when going into the fields on the Sabbath, preferring to attend the chapel; and I am informed that he and his sister pray together in private.

THE END.

SHORT ACCOUNT, &c.

By the constitution of this society, the Assured are mutual Assurers one to the other.

A life may be assured from the age of eight to sixty-seven, for any certain time, or for the whole continuance of life, upon payment either of a gross sum, or of an annual premium, each proportionate to the age at which the life begins to be assured, and to the time the assurance is to continue,

Assurances may be made for any sum from 20l. to 5000l.

The following tables shew the rate of annual premiums for assurances made on a single life for one year, for the certain term of seven years, and for the whole continuance of life; whereby any person will be enabled nearly to estimate the premium to be paid for any term greater or less than seven years. But every policy becomes void, upon the party whose life is assured going beyond the limits of Europe, (unless licence shall have been specially obtained from the Court of Directors, and a proportionable premium paid) or dying upon the seas. The policies of persons assured on their own lives also become void, if the assured die by their own hands, or by the hands of justice.

An addition of twenty-two per cent. computed upon the premium, is charged upon military persons; and an addition of eleven per cent. on officers on half pay; officers in the militia, fencibles, and the like levies; also on persons not having had the small-pox.

The Court of Directors have a discretionary power of fixing the premium, when any peculiar hazard attends the life upon which the assurance is made.

Persons preferring the payment of a gross sum or single premium upon an assurance for any certain term, are chargeable in a due proportion to the annual premium for such term.

Every person making any assurance with the society pays five shillings in the name of entrance money; and, if the sum assured exceed one hundred pounds, the entrance money is charged after the rate of five shillings for every hundred pounds. But if the person, upon whose life an Assurance is proposed, does not appear before the Directors, the entrance money is charged after the rate of one pound for every hundred pounds.

Also every person proposing any assurance is required to make a deposit of five shillings, and in case the sum proposed to be assured shall exceed one hundred pounds, the deposit will be increased after the rate of two shillings and six-pence for every hundred, which deposit, if the party afterwards declines making the assurance, or neglect to complete the same for the space of one lunar month, is forfeited to the use of the society; but if the Court of Directors refuse or decline making such assurance, the money deposited is returned.

The following tables exhibit a specimen of the rates of annual premiums for assuring a gross sum, upon the contingency of one life surviving another, and also of a certain sum payable upon the extinction of either of the two joint lives.

N. B. From the above specimen of premiums, the reader will easily judge of the proportional premium for any intermediate age.

Every person desirous to make assurance with the society must sign a declaration by himself or agent, setting forth the age, state of health, profession, occupation, and other circumstances of the persons whose lives are proposed to be assured; and also, in case such assurance is made upon the life of another person, that the interest which he has in such life is equal to the sum assured. This declaration is the basis of the contract between the society and the person desirous to make such assurance; and if any artful, false, or fraudulent representation shall be used therein, all claim on account of any policy so obtained, shall cease, determine, and be void, and the monies which shall have been paid upon account of such assurance, shall be forfeited to the use of the society.

Every person making assurance with the society becomes a member, and enters into a covenant that he will conform to, observe, and keep the statutes, bye-laws, rules, orders, and ordinances of the society. But no member has a right to vote at a General Court who is not assured in the sum of 500*l.* or upwards, upon a life or lives for the whole continuance thereof.

The business of the society is conducted and carried on by fifteen Directors, annually chosen out of those members, who are assured with the society in the sum of 2000*l.* or upwards, upon a life or lives for the whole continuance thereof.

Of which fifteen, one is President, and two are Vice-Presidents of the society; and five Directors constitute a Court.

The Directors from time to time nominate five persons Trustees for the society, to execute policies and take securities in their names; and whenever the number is reduced to three, new Trustees are nominated.

A General

A General Court for the election of Directors is held annually upon the last Thursday in the month of March, or within forty days next after, at which Court ten of the then Directors are to be continued for the Year ensuing, and five other members of the society are to be chosen and admitted into the number of Directors, in the room of five who are annually to go out.

The Directors elect from among themselves one person to be President.

The President nominates two of the Directors Vice-Presidents, to act in his absence.

On the death of a President, another is elected, and if at any time five vacancies happen in the number of Directors, the same are filled up by a General Court.

Four General Courts are held in each year, (upon the first Thursday of the several months of March, June, September, and December) and as many more as the President, either of the Vice-presidents, any five of the Directors, or any nine members qualified to vote, shall think necessary.

At these Courts are exhibited Accounts of the state of the affairs of the society: and statutes, bye-laws, rules, orders, and ordinances, are made for the good government thereof; but such statutes, bye-laws, rules, orders, or ordinances, are not binding binding until they have received the approbation of two successive General Courts of the society, whether quarterly or extraordinary.

The premiums of assurance are from time to time vested in the public funds, or on real or other good or sufficient securities, at the discretion of the Directors.

If any premium remains unpaid thirty days after the time stipulated in the policy, such policy becomes void; but if the defaulter shall, within three calendar months after the time so stipulated, (the person on whose life the assurance was made being then alive and in good health) pay the said premium, together with the additional sum of ten shillings upon every 100l. assured by such policy, then such policy is revived and continues in force.

If at any time it shall appear to a General Court of the society, that the premiums received, and to be received, will not be sufficient to pay the claims, then the General Court are to direct a call to be made upon the several members of the society, in proportion to the sums then assured, for making good the deficiency, for which call credit is to be given, and the call afterwards to be repaid, with interest, at the rate of 3 per cent.

If a call should at any time be requisite, (which is highly improbable) the member assured for a single year will be rated towards such call in the proportion

By a GENERAL COURT holden on Thursday, the 7th Day of March, 1771.

THE Court of Directors are empowered to assure either a gross sum, or an annuity, to be paid to persons after they shall have attained an age assigned.

A Court of Directors is holden every Wednesday at the Society's house in New Bridge Street, near Black-friars Bridge, from Eleven to One o'clock.

No person is permitted to make an assurance unless he shall, at least eight days before, have signified his intention *, nor until he shall, by himself or agent, have signed the declaration prescribed by the deed of settlement and rules of the society.

Attendance is given at the office from Nine o'clock in the morning till Three o'clock in the afternoon.

LAWS, &c.

INTRODUCTION.

Several Gentlemen, residing in Plymouth or its vicinity, at a general meeting held at the Guildhall on the twentieth day of November 1810, formed themselves into a Society for founding and maintaining Public Library and News-Room, under the Name of "THE PUBLIC LIBRARY, PLYMOUTH": and, having subscribed thirty guineas each, as a capital for the establishment of the Institution, of which they thus became Proprietors, consented also, for the regulation thereof, to certain laws, which, after revision and amendment, having been confirmed as well by them as by the Proprietors subsequently associated, are hereby declared to be THE LAWS OF THE INSTITUTION, and of authority from the first day of January, 1814; and are as follows.

CHAPTER I.

OF THE OBLIGATION OF THE LAWS.

* No Member of this Institution shall have any right, interest, or property therein, or shall derive any benefit or privilege therefrom, who does not submit to the following laws, and to such other laws as may be made by the proprietors, in such manner as is hereinafter mentioned.

* This term, "Member of the Institution," is designed to include all persons, who shall be entitled by the laws to the use or enjoyment of the Institution, either in the capacity of proprietor, or annual subscriber, or visitor, or nominated lady, or reader, or by whatever other name such person may be designated.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE PROPERTY OF THE INSTITUTION.

1. The Land and the Building erected thereon, being vested in the ten Trustees hereafter named, shall be held by the same for the purposes of a Library and News-Room. And so soon as the number of ten shall be, by any means, reduced to five or less, then at either of the general meetings of the Proprietors in January or July next following, other Trustees, being Proprietors, shall be appointed, in addition to the then remaining number: and this rule shall be always observed, for the purpose of perpetuating the said trust.

The Trustees.

Edmund Lockyer, Junr. M. D. Jonathan Elford, Junr. Esq. William Woolcombe, M. D. John Harris, Junr. Esq. Henry Woolcombe, Esq. William Langmead, Esq. George Sottaus, Esq. John Nicolls Hawker, Esq. Robert Fuge, Junr. Esq. William Prance, Esq.

2. The Property of the Institution shall be held to be divided into EQUAL SHARES among the Proprietors, which shall be limited, at present, to TWO HUNDRED AND FOUR; subject to extension of the number at either of the general meetings of the proprietors.—See Chap. III. Law 3.

3. Such shares as are unappropriated, may be disposed of by the Committee, at such prices, as shall from time to time be deemed expedient.

4. There shall be kept a record of shares, of loans, and of other matters of the like nature, under the title of "THE REGISTER OF THE INSTITUTION," which, with other documents, shall be deposited in the library chest under the care of the President. It shall belong to the officer, stiled the Register, to make, or cause to be made, all entries in this register by order of the general Committee, or any meeting of proprietors, in conformity with the laws of the Institution.

5. A proprietor shall be at liberty to transfer or bequeath his share, as personal property, to any person; provided such person, on becoming a proprietor, submit to, and subscribe his name to, the Laws of the Institution.

6. The mode of transferring shares shall be regulated by the Committee; and no person shall be deemed the assignee of a proprietor, or the legatee or representative of a deceased proprietor, until his title, as such, be admitted by the Committee; and the transfer of, and nomination to, every share, and also the title of every such assignee, legatee or representative, shall immediately be entered in the register of the Institution; of which entry, a certificate shall be given by the Register, upon delivery of which to the new proprietor by the librarian, the latter shall be entitled to receive from the former a fee of two shillings and sixpence.

CHAPTER III.

OF MEETINGS OF THE PROPRIETORS.

1. Two general meetings of the proprietors shall be held at the library in every year, viz. one, on the second Friday in January; and the other, on the second Friday in July, at twelve o'clock at noon; to be summoned by a printed notice to be sent to every proprietor seven days before each meeting.

2. At the general meetings, all new laws shall be made for the government of the Institution; and all provisional regulations, which may have been formed by the Committee during the preceding half year, shall be confirmed, or annulled.

3. No alteration shall be made in the number of proprietors, in the amount of the annual subscriptions, or in the appropriation of the funds, without the consent of three fourths of the proprietors present, after a printed notice of such proposed alteration having been sent to every proprietor seven days before the meeting at which it is intended to make such proposition.

All other questions that may come before the general meetings, shall be determined by a majority of the proprietors present; no proprietor being allowed to vote by proxy.

4. The President, and, in his absence, the Vice President, at the request of three or more of the Committee, may call a special general meeting of the proprietors, whenever the interest of the Institution may seem to them to require it; of which not less than seven days notice shall be given, mentioning the special object of such meeting; at which, it shall not be competent to entertain any other question.

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE INSTITUTION, AND OF THE POWERS OF THE COMMITTEE, &c.

1. This Institution shall be under the direction of a President, Vice-president, Treasurer, Secretary, Register, and sixteen other proprietors, who shall constitute a General Committee.

LONDON-HOSPITAL

ANNIVERSARY,

THIS Hospital, from its Neighbourhood to the Shipping below Bridge, to the New West-India and London Docks, and to a large Body of People, such as Seamen, Watermen, Coal-heavers, Shipwrights, Rope-makers, Sail-makers, beside the numerous Manufacturers in Spitalfields and the eastern Part of the Metropolis, is of singular Service to a Description of industrious Poor, whose useful Skill and Labour are valuable to this commercial Metropolis, and through whose Exertions, the higher Orders of the Community receive back, in the Arts and Accommodations of Life, what they give to their Relief and Recovery, when they are wounded or sick; besides enjoying the Gratification of doing good, and the soothing Reflection of saving Life.

This Hospital admits Patients WITHOUT EXPENSE to them, a Practice peculiarly advantageous to them in these Times of Pressure. All ACCIDENTS are received by this Hospital without Recommendation or Security: and no Security is required for such Patients as are recommended.

There has been lately erected, contiguous to the Hospital, at the Cost of Individuals, a Theatre for Lectures in the various Branches of Medicine; so that every Part of Medical Science is encouraged and promoted for the common Good.

The present Anniversary affords an Occasion of calling upon the Generosity of good Minds; and the Facts set forth testify that this Hospital is deserving the Contributions of the Affluent, and the Continuance of the Exertions of its present Friends and Supporters.

In Point of Air, Situation, and Structure, there has not hitherto, it is apprehended, been erected in the Kingdom, any Asylum, for the Relief of the distressed and sick Poor, better calculated to answer that important End than the LONDON-HOSPITAL, the WARDS of which are large, and their Ceilings lofty. The Elevation of the Ground, on which it stands, appears to be no less than thirty Feet above the Level of the River at high Water.

Its Proximity to the River, together with its Situation on one of the most public Roads, render it liable to more Applications for the Reception of Accident-Patients, than any other Hospital in the Cities of London and Westminster. Of Patients in the House at one Time, the Average-Number is about 150. But, if the Finances would permit all the Wards to be opened, they would contain 400 and upwards, a Number not greater than Petitions for Admission require.

REPORTOF THE COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT.

THE Committee entrusted with the duty of carrying into execution the benevolent intentions of the Royal Patrons and others, to whom this Infirmary owes its existence, have the honor of submitting to the Public their Report of the State of that Charity.

It is quite unnecessary to enter into any discussion to prove that loss of sight is amongst the greatest calamities incident to man, or that this misfortune presses with peculiar severity upon those, whose lot it is to earn a livelihood by industry.

It would be equally superfluous to have recourse to any argument in order to shew, that a very considerable number of our fellow creatures in this metropolis, are deprived of the faculty of sight, in one or both Eyes; and that there are many more who labour under various Diseases of the Eye, notwithstanding the useful exertions of two infirmaries, exclusively appropriated to the treatment of those disorders; and the zeal of private practitioners, who humanely devote much of their time to the office of alleviating the miseries of the poor.

Every one at all acquainted with the condition of the lower orders in London, will recognize the truth of these positions. If, indeed, we consider that, in addition to the ordinary casualties to which all are liable, the occupations in which many are engaged, expose them peculiarly to injuries of the Eyes, we shall be at no loss in accounting for the numbers daily to be seen in our streets, whose vision is impaired, or whose eyes are affected with disease.

The political state of the world, during the last thirty years has also contributed materially to swell the list of those unfortunate persons; since many of our gallant countrymen have, in consequence of it, suffered the privations and hardships of war, in countries where disorders of the Eye are more prevalent than in Great Britain.

London is not more conspicuous for its magnitude and opulence, than for the number of charitable Institutions it contains. Hospitals are liberally endowed for the reception of the labouring class of the community, when afflicted with disease; and the spirit of active benevolence has kept pace with the exigencies of the times.

Mille mali species, mille salutis erunt.

Hospitals have been instituted expressly for the treatment of particular diseases; as for example, the Small-pox Hospital, (now providentially rendered nearly a dead-letter by the introduction of the Cow-Pock) and the Fever Hospital, which so effectually checks the dissemination of a disease formerly very fatal in the hovels of the poor.

In a well regulated hospital, the sick have the advantage of being under the care of the most experienced Physicians and Surgeons; and every thing necessary for their wants, is furnished, benefits of which they would have been destitute, in all probability, if left in sickness, to breathe the foul air of their own abodes.

By the establishment of Hospitals, a channel is opened to the humane and charitable, through which their bounty may flow, while they have the satisfaction to know, that their donations are strictly and economically applied to the purposes for which they destined them.

Let us only look into the history of our own country in former times, when its cities were depopulated by contagious or infectious diseases, from which we are happily free; and from the recurrence of which, no human means is so likely to preserve us, as the due administration of hospitals; even the affluent must feel, that they are not proof against the attacks of disease, and that our public Hospitals are the Schools where Professional Men acquire that skill to which they are to look for succour in the day of illness.

After a careful review of the Hospitals of this great city, it appeared that a wide field presented itself for the establishment of an INFIRMARY FOR THE RELIEF AND CURE OF DISEASES OF THE EYE, without, in any shape, interfering with those Institutions which already exist: and, on the principle of opening wide its doors to all who require aid, THE ROYAL WESTMINSTER INFIRMARY has been founded for the Relief and Cure of Diseases of the Eye, honored by the sanction of His Royal Highness The Prince Regent.

This Infirmary is always open to Professional Men, resident in London, who are desirous of obtaining information from the practice pursued, on their becoming supporters of the Charity; and it is at the same time, a school in which Medical Officers of the Navy and Army, as well as other students, may have good opportunities of acquiring a knowledge of the Medical and Surgical treatment of Diseases of the Eye; and, in order to render the course of Instruction complete, the Physician and Surgeon of the Institution, deliver two courses of Lectures on these subjects, annually.

The members of the committee acknowledge, with thankfulness, the liberal support already received from Donors and Subscribers, and they pledge themselves to do the greatest possible good with the means they are possessed of; knowing well that every individual restored to sight, is one redeemed from the Workhouse, and consequently a burthen removed from the country. In the way of prevention, they indulge the hope of doing much, as there are many disorders of the Eye, which terminate in the loss of one or both, if left to run their course, which might have been obviated by the seasonable and judicious application of Medical or Surgical aid.

Note.—The Committee have great pleasure in stating, that since the establishment of the Infirmary, 2000 persons have already been relieved, and that upwards of 60 attend daily at the Institution for advice.

REGULATIONS.

THIS Infirmary is governed by a Patron, Vice Patrons, President, Vice Presidents, Treasurer and Committee.

2. The Committee consists of the Patron, Vice Patrons, President, Vice Presidents, Treasurer, Physician and Surgeon, and of sixteen other members, chosen from the general body of Governors. Five constitute a quorum.

3. The Committee meet on the first Friday of every month, to regulate the affairs of the Institution, and to authorize the necessary current expenditure; but no extraordinary expence nor salary can be allowed, without the approbation of a general meeting. The Committee may make bye-laws, subject to the approbation of the next general meeting.

4. A general yearly meeting of the Governors will be held on the last Friday in January, to receive from the Committee the Report of the preceding year, and to elect a new Committee for the current year.

6. The appointment of the Medical and other Officers of the Institution rests with the general body of Governors. The qualifications of Medical Officers, Candidates for Vacancies, to be examined and approved by the Committee, previously to their being admitted as such. Each Candidate for the Office of Physician must be a Fellow, or Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians; no Physician, who practises Midwifery, can be admitted as a Candidate. Each candidate for the Office of Surgeon, must be a Member of the Royal College of Surgeons; no Surgeon who practices Pharmacy or Midwifery, can be admitted as a Candidate.

7. Every election for Physician or Surgeon, must take place at a general meeting, of which at least one calendar month's notice has been given in three morning newspapers. Gentlemen desirous of becoming candidates, must signify their intention by letter, addressed to the Committee at the Infirmary, accompanied by testimonials of their qualifications. The election shall take place by ballot, no Governor being entitled to vote, whose subscription is in arrear, or who has not been a Subscriber at least three months previously to the vacancy being announced. No proxies admitted, except those of the Royal Family.

8. The Infirmary is supported by Life Contributions, Annual Subscriptions, Donations, and Legacies. A Subscriber of Ten, or of Twenty Guineas, paid at once, or within the year, is a Life Governor; a Subscriber of One, or of Two Guineas annually, is an Annual Governor. Each Governor has the right of keeping constantly under the care of the Charity, Out-patients, and of recommending In-patients.

9. In regiments, from which a contribution is made by the Corps of Officers collectively, every Officer will be considered as an Annual Subscriber, and have the privilege of sending Patients accordingly.

10. All the Executors of any person who leaves a Legacy of Fifty Pounds to this Charity, shall be Governors for Life.

11. All Governors have a right to attend general Meetings.

12. Surplus monies are to be invested in the funds, or other government securities, in the names of three Trustees, of which the Treasurer shall be one.

13. The benefits of this Institution are to be extended to all poor, labouring under Diseases of the Eye, who may be recommended for relief.

14. The patients are divided into two classes.—

First.—Out-patients, to whom advice and medicines are supplied gratuitously.

Second.—In-patients, who will be selected by the Medical Officers of the Institution; none being received into the House, but those persons whose cases require an operation, or who labour under circumstances of peculiar distress, to be judged of by the Committee.

15. All persons who have belonged to the navy or army, their wives or children, will be admitted as patients on their own personal application.

16. The Physician or Surgeon will attend at the Infirmary on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at Half-past Ten o'Clock in the Morning.

Contributions and Subscriptions are received at the Banking Houses of Messrs. COUTTS and Co. and Messrs. DRUMMOND and Co.; by the Treasurer, at No. 4, Berkeley Street; and at the Infirmary in Mary-le-bone Street, Golden Square.

ADDRESS

TO THE PUBLIC.

WHEN we reflect on the numerous charities with which this metropolis abounds, it may appear at first view that means of relief for the poorer classes of society, and the opportunities for professional men to study and improve the treatment of diseases, are so abundant, that no necessity of adding to their number exists. It will most readily be granted, that when the support of the public is claimed for one new in its nature and objects, it is fairly entitled to a full explanation of the benefits expected to result from its establishment. The following statement will, it is hoped, prove satisfactory to those benevolent noblemen and gentlemen who have already come forward in its support, and also induce others to contribute to defray the expences which must necessarily be incurred.

Some months since, when the establishment of an Institution in this metropolis for the Treatment of Cutaneous Diseases was first contemplated, a prospectus containing a short view of the objects and the benefits expected to result from it, was submitted to the public. The countenance and support given to the undertaking by some of the first personages in the kingdom, and the approbation of many of the most distinguished members of the Profession, encouraged the gentlemen to whom the want of such an Institution had been suggested, to exert themselves among their friends to procure funds, in order to form an establishment similar in its object to the celebrated Hospital of St. Louis at Paris. The utility of Institutions for the exclusive treatment of particular diseases, has been experienced in so many instances, that it may be superfluous to point them out on the present occasion. The relief afforded to the poorer classes of society, which no industry or economy could enable them to procure, is evident; but it may not be thought irrelevant to mention the opportunity which such Institutions alone afford to Medical Men for improving the treatment, and to students for acquiring a knowledge of certain diseases by which all ranks of the community must ultimately benefit. Cutaneous Diseases, as they have been confessedly, till of late, more neglected than any other class, are perhaps those with respect to which the above advantages can be most effectually obtained by a public Institution.

It may appear extraordinary that Dublin should have preceded the capital of the United Kingdom in forming an Institution similar in its object to that for which the support of the public is now claimed; but such is the fact, for in the year 1817, an Institution was formed under the immediate care of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery, by whom Lectures on Cutaneous Diseases had indeed previously been given in Trinity College, and so much was the plan approved of by the profession and the public at large in that city, that the Governors of Sir P. Dunn's Hospital generously gave permission for patients to attend and receive treatment in that building till sufficient funds were collected to maintain a distinct establishment. It was in consideration of the above mentioned circumstances, that the gentlemen alluded to, supported by a number of friends and public spirited men, who had come forward to second their views, were induced in February last to call a meeting at the Thatched House Tavern, at which Lord John Russell presided.

At that meeting the subjoined resolutions were passed, (vide p. 3.) and donations and annual contributions subscribed for, which exceeded in amount the expectations of the most sanguine friends of the Establishment. If there was one circumstance more than another which promised to ensure success, it was the advantage likely to be derived from the able assistance of Dr. Bateman, whose attention to Cutaneous Diseases is well known.

At the meeting above alluded to, and a subsequent one on the 1st of March, the care of the Institution was entrusted to a Treasurer, two Physicians, two Surgeons and a Secretary, who were to act with and under a Committee of Management, selected from the subscribers, (vide p. 4.). Since the period above alluded to, the Committee have been anxiously employed in making known to their friends and the public, the objects of the Institution, in soliciting subscriptions, and in procuring suitable premises, in order to carry them into execution. It was not till after considerable difficulty they were enabled to accomplish the latter purpose, with respect to situation and the funds of the Institution, and they trust the premises which have been taken will meet with the approbation of every subscriber. The erection of baths of the various descriptions necessary for such an establishment, has occupied their attention; and, although they cannot expect at present to vie in the extent of their means of affording relief with the magnificent establishment in Paris, they trust, though on a limited scale, no means essentially necessary to the cure of Cutaneous Diseases will be found wanting; and the reflection that some of the most splendid charities of this metropolis have risen from very small beginnings, encourages them to hope for that support from a generous public the importance of this may seem to demand.

Were an estimate made of the misery produced in the world by the various diseases the human frame is subject to, it would be found that those of the Skin bear a very considerable proportion, for though they seldom affect life they often render it miserable in the extreme; yet, strange to say, that till Drs. Willan and Bateman took up the subject, there did not exist any classification or arrangement by which even medical men could comprehend the various terms and definitions made use of by authors; hence arose the greatest confusion and mistakes. But though much has been done in arrangement, and though the nomenclature has been considerably improved, little has been effected in the means of cure; nor could indeed these be expected to attain any great degree of perfection without an institution affording opportunity to professional men to make those observations, and acquire that experience, without which all practical improvement must be looked for in vain. In a city so well supplied with water as London the difficulties experienced by persons even in moderate circumstances, in procuring the means of ablution are to be lamented; to the poorer classes they are absolutely unattainable but through the medium of charitable institutions, and how necessary and various such means are for the proper treatment of Cutaneous Diseases, need not be pointed out. Considerable expence will necessarily attend the construction of the fumigating, vapour and other baths, which have been found serviceable in the cure of Cutaneous Diseases, and as the most economical mode has been resorted to in their erection, the Committee rely on such support as will enable them to ensure all the wished for benefits to those objects recommended to the Charity. It may be proper here to mention that in due time a regular system of instruction for students by means of lectures and the practice of the Institution, is contemplated, so that the benefits of it will be experienced it is hoped, by the higher ranks of society, for none are exempt from this tormenting class of diseases. To what cause the neglect of Cutaneous Diseases has been owing, we stop not to enquire, every part of medicine must be esteemed equally honorable to the professors of it, but till the time of Dr. Willan the pathology of the skin was confessedly much confused in this country, and the treatment of its diseases, from the extraordinary neglect of men of science, was generally in the hands of empirics, and in many instances still remains so; hence the most fatal prejudices and cruel practices—the administration of the most powerful internal remedies for diseases of the surface, little if at all connected with the constitution, and the application of equally active ones externally, for the cure of eruptions connected with and relieving diseases of perhaps vital parts. That the Diseases of the Skin (which by a late writer has justly been said to be as essential to the individual as the bark is to the tree, serving at once for the ornament and preservation of man) are of great importance will not be denied, whether we consider the sympathies which exist between the surface and the internal parts, or merely the appearance of those infirmities which render one human being disgusting to another. Whether we consider the health or comfort of mankind, we shall find the state of the surface intimately connected with them, and to this the ancients paid much greater attention than we do. That they were very subject to Cutaneous Diseases, however, we have the fullest evidence from their writings; but, certain it is that little information can be collected from them, for the accounts handed down to us are so confused, that it has been doubted whether Hippocrates himself has not described the small pox. Such being the state of our knowledge with regard to these diseases, an establishment for their exclusive treatment and investigation, cannot but be regarded as highly interesting, and if properly conducted, as useful to the public. We have seen that one of the largest and best supported hospitals of Paris, is dedicated to their treatment, where are to be found in perfection the expensive but necessary means of cure. Such till now was a desideratum in this metropolis; and to give some idea of the extent and utility of the Hospital of St. Louis at Paris, it may be stated from Chaussier's Report that from 1804 to 1813 no less than 56,934 persons had been admitted, and 700 beds are set apart for the treatment of one Cutaneous Disease alone in its different stages and combinations.

We are struck with astonishment when we reflect on the variety of diseases the skin is subject to; some affect the whole surface, others only particular organs; some are only to be dreaded once during life, while others never cease to torment us; some are attended with the most formidable derangement of the whole system, while others are developed without the least disturbance of the vital functions; some are totally unconnected with life and the circulation, have merely a borrowed existence, and destroy the body as parasite vegetables cause the strongest trees of the forest to decay. Common as the disease called the Itch is, it is astonishing how many Diseases of the Skin, which possess not a single characteristic except external resemblance, are confused with it, so that nothing is more common than a difference of opinion on so simple a malady; though the Itch is strictly a contagious disease; though the animal which causes it has been classed by naturalists, and the means of cure which are effectual in it only aggravate complaints which are mistaken for it. The relations between the morbid appearances of the surface, and the internal parts have been too much neglected. The causes of many Cutaneous Diseases are involved in great obscurity. Some kinds of food, as salmon, muscles or improper mixtures, in certain constitutions produce an instant eruption on the surface, which must at first be sympathetic—long continued these become confirmed. In short the diseases of some internal parts are so strikingly demonstrated by the morbid changes produced on the surface, that they could not escape observation; such as the association of the cutaneous vessels of the face with a diseased liver, &c.

The affection called a surfeit, often caused by cold fluid taken into the stomach when the body is heated, is of the same nature; it causes in this organ, indigestion and flatulency, which is relieved by the eruption on the face. Repellants incautiously made use of, are known to be attended with the most dangerous consequences, which is a corroborating proof of these connexions. As these associations are admitted, and palpable, it is extremely probable that future observations will discover similar ones, and that many diseases of the surface, which are now looked on as irremediable, will by being traced to their true source, yield to appropriate remedies. It would far exceed the bounds of an address of this nature to make use of all the arguments which might be brought forward in support of an establishment for the exclusive Treatment of Cutaneous Diseases; that they have been unjustly neglected till of late years is admitted, and that great room for improvement in the treatment still exists, will readily be confessed by those best entitled to give an opinion. The treatment indeed of some of the most troublesome and offensive diseases the surface is subject to, is in the hands of empirics, who not only use remedies unnecessarily cruel and painful, but often such as are productive of diseases, from which their unfortunate patients suffer for the remainder of their lives. To rescue these from the hands of ignorance and empiricism, will be one service rendered by this Institution; and by scientific arrangement and investigation to improve the treatment and extend the knowledge of diseases of the skin, will it is hoped soon appear to have been another.

P. S. The Physicians and Surgeons attend to examine and admit Patients, Tuesdays and Fridays from 9 o'clock till 10 in the morning.

VICE-ADMIRAL SIR JOSEPH SYDNEY YORKE, K.C.B., M.P., in the Chair.

The Report of the proceedings of the Committee for the last year being read, upon the motion of the Rev. JOSIAH ALLPORT, seconded by the Rev. HORATIO MONTAGU, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY;

That the Report now read be approved and printed under the direction of the Committee, and that the Gentlemen whose names precede these Resolutions be the Committee for the year ensuing.

Upon the motion of Mr. HARRISS, seconded by Mr. JOHN BROADLEY WILSON, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY;

That the most respectful thanks of this Meeting be given to His Royal Highness the DUKE OF YORK, the Patron of this Society, for the honour of his continued patronage of this Institution.

Upon the motion of Admiral MAITLAND, seconded by Mr. FREDERICK MARCH, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY ;

That this Meeting is highly encouraged by the information presented by the Committee, respecting the efficacy of the system of medical treatment, introduced by Mr. WHITLAW into this country : that on the experience of the great benefits derived from this Institution since its establishment, this Meeting is of opinion, the success has been such as to render the Asylum, and mode of treatment adopted for the cure of Scrofula and Glandular Diseases, well deserving of public support, as a permanent, charitable Institution :—

And that instead of the first article in the Rules, the following be inserted. " That an Asylum be established to provide Patients afflicted with Scrofula, and Glandular Affections with the means of relief, on the medical system introduced into this country by Mr. WHITLAW."

Upon the motion of Mr. MYERS, seconded by Mr. DOWSON, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY ;

That Sir JOSEPH SYDNEY YORKE, K.C.B., M.P., is entitled to the warmest thanks of this Meeting, for his kindness in Presiding on the present occasion, and for the constant attention he has paid to the interests of this Institution.

REPORT.

It is with feelings of peculiar satisfaction that the Committee for conducting the Asylum for the Cure of Scrofula, and Glandular Diseases, have convened the present Meeting of the Governors, Subscribers, and Friends of this Institution, to lay before them a Report of their proceedings since the last Anniversary Meeting, held at the Freemasons' Tavern on the 9th of March, 1824, when our present worthy Chairman, Sir Joseph Sydney Yorke, did us the honour to preside.

This satisfaction is heightened by the consideration, that the experience of another year has tended to establish, and confirm the confidence the Committee have heretofore expressed, in the efficacy of the remedies and mode of treatment, introduced by Mr. Whitlaw for the Cure of Scrofula.

The last Report contained a Letter, addressed to the Committee by Mr. Whitlaw, announcing his intention to revisit America, for the purpose of insuring an adequate supply of the medicinal herbs, which constitute his remedies, and to finish some practical experiments on the aphorisms of Linnaeus, in which he had for many years been engaged. In the month of October last he embarked for New York. Your Committee have had the pleasure to hear of his safe arrival in that city. The large importation of herbs, which have been received in the highest possible state of preservation, with the addition of several newly discovered plants, whose medicinal properties have been ascertained to be of great value in medical science, are evidences that the objects of his voyage will be fully answered. He is since gone to South Carolina, to complete those objects, and your Committee expect his return in the course of the present year.

The following is a brief but correct detail of the Cases of those patients who have been admitted into the Asylum.

Abstract of the Cases of Patients who had passed through the Asylum at the date of the last Report.

In reverting back to the list of Cases admitted into the Asylum, your Committee rejoice to state, that the Patient No. 1, who was dismissed convalescent, has gone on progressively improving in health, and that her wounds continue sound. From a state of extreme debility and emaciation she has grown very robust, and now supports herself by her own industry as a staymaker.

The six Patients noticed as having been dismissed cured, have remained well; and the rest, besides those Patients whose Cases were noticed incidentally, who have presented themselves to the attention of the Committee at the Institution, 87, Great Russell Street, have continued to improve.

So that your Committee can with confidence repeat, that they not only find no reason to retract any thing they have before advanced, but, on the contrary, they feel warranted in confirming the whole of the statements contained in their former Reports.

Scrofula & Glandular Diseases,

UPON THE

MEDICAL PRINCIPLES

AT

No. 13, BAYSWATER TERRACE.

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY 28th, 1822.

LONDON:

PRINTED BY F. WARR,
RED LION PASSAGE, RED LION SQUARE, HOLBORN.

1825.

In the last Report your Committee gave a statement of thirteen Cases of Scrofula, which had been submitted to Mr. Whitlaw's system of treatment, by the Directors and Guardians of one of the most populous parishes in the metropolis, in a ward of the Workhouse, set apart for the reception of the patients.

It is with considerable regret that your Committee have to state, that these Cases have been withdrawn, under circumstances most unsatisfactory to all parties.

The number of Patients originally placed under this plan of treatment, in the month of June, was eight: and in the month of October following, five other Patients, who had been at Margate during the whole season, but without deriving, as it was said, any benefit, were added to the list:—a convincing proof that the Directors and Guardians of the poor were satisfied with the advancement made by the former Patients towards recovery.

These Patients were frequently visited by several Members of your Committee. For many months their improvement was progressive, and a most satisfactory result was anticipated; for at the last Anniversary, four of the original eight Cases were reported to have been cured, and the other Cases belonging to this number, as well as the five subsequent Cases, to have been benefited.

There was reason to suspect about three months previously to the Cases being withdrawn, that the plan of diet had been disregarded, and that other dressings than those prescribed by Mr. Whitlaw had been improperly, and without his knowledge, applied to the ulcerations. By careful and attentive observation, these suspicions were confirmed, and this unfair proceeding detected. These facts satisfactorily account for the Patients not having continued to recover so rapidly as they had done heretofore; because, by a highly culpable inattention to their diet, and the improper interference in the treatment of the sores, the beneficial effects of Mr. Whitlaw's system were completely counteracted.

Although not immediately concerned in this transaction, your Committee felt, that so far as the credit of the system (in behalf of which they have ventured to solicit the contributions of the public) was implicated, it was their duty to inquire into the circumstances.

Accordingly at a special Meeting they passed a series of resolutions, which will appear with the correspondence in the appendix.* The purport of these resolutions was, to request the Guardians and Directors to institute an inquiry into the alleged charge of deviating from the prescribed regimen and mode of treating the Patients, and also that they would place in the Asylum at Bayswater a certain number of scrofulous Patients, open to the inspection of both parties, with the view of fairly exhibiting the efficacy of Mr. Whitlaw's system of treatment. To a proposition evidently so fair and so important to society, if the result had proved satisfactory, as your Committee have no reason to doubt would have been the case, they received an answer, saying, that the Directors and Guardians, having already afforded a twelvemonth's trial of Mr. Whitlaw's method of treating Scrofula, without experiencing a beneficial effect, were of opinion, that it was not necessary or expedient for them further to consider the subject.

A liberal and discerning public will form their own judgment upon the conduct of the respective parties, and will be enabled to discover, without much difficulty, which of these parties were sincere in the investigation of the truth and justice of the case.

The Committee have been induced, from the unpleasant circumstances which have arisen out of this particular Case, to recommend to Mr. Whitlaw and Dr. Pidduck in the strongest terms, never again to introduce the system into a public establishment, or become in any manner responsible for the cure of Patients, unless they are placed under their own exclusive control.

Accordingly, a proposal having since been made by the Directors and Guardians of another large parish in the metropolis, to submit a certain number of Patients afflicted with Scrofula to this system, two rooms in an adjoining wing of the Asylum have been fitted up for their accommodation.

It is not the intention of your Committee to call in question the actions, much less to impugn the motives of any body of men, and especially of men so respectable, honorable, and humane, as those who constitute the Medical Profession; but they cannot help expressing their regret that a greater number of that profession should not have investigated the claims of this Society to public confidence.

One gentleman, however, of the faculty, Dr. James Hamilton, of Artillery Place, whose age and experience as a Physician, whose maturity of judgment and integrity of principle as a man, entitle his opinion to the highest consideration, has voluntarily come forward and given a written testimony, "that he has visited some of the Patients, whom he saw four different times, many of them very ill of that destructive malady, (Scrofula), some of whom he found greatly relieved, and in a progressive state of amendment; and that he has also seen several Patients who had been a long time under cure, and were now well." This testimony, from so high and respectable authority, was received by your Committee with peculiar pleasure, inasmuch as it tends to increase that confidence with which they meet the Friends of this charitable Institution.

If your Committee have not more testimonials from the Medical Profession to bring forward in support of their appeal to the benevolent and humane, they have others to adduce, which, although of a private nature, are entitled to the utmost respect, and will not fail to excite a lively interest among those Friends and the Public who may read this Report.

Your Committee allude to Clergymen and private Gentlemen, who have, in compassion for the sufferings of their parishioners and fellow creatures, kindly undertaken the duty of administering to their relief, by adopting this mode of treatment in cases of Scrofula which have fallen under their observation. In making this statement your Committee more particularly allude to the practice of Mr. Howse, of Cirencester, and the Rev. Josiah Allport, of Chippenham.*

Other Gentlemen besides these have been actively engaged in this duty; and the success which has attended the administration of the medicines among the poor around them, has encouraged them to persevere; and the confidence they have gained in the efficacy of the system, has caused them to recommend a number of Patients, of other classes, to the attention of Dr. Pidduck.

By the first rule of the Institution it was enacted, "That it is expedient to raise a fund, in order to provide an Asylum, &c. for a term of three years."

The original object of the Institution having been answered, viz., to demonstrate the possibility of eradicating that direful malady from the constitution, your Committee are most anxious that its benefits should continue to be extended to the afflicted poor.

In adverting to this point, your Committee are concerned that the number of Patients received into the Asylum during the past year has not been greater; but they hope, that the success of the mode of treatment, which has been already exemplified, will be a sufficient inducement, with persons of humanity and benevolence, to recommend poor individuals in their respective neighbourhoods, labouring under this truly afflictive disease, for admission into an Asylum where so much relief has been afforded; and to aid by their contributions, the extension of a system among the poor, which has proved so successful in the removal of a malady, the cure of which by other means has, notwithstanding the various efforts which have been made at different periods, and by the most experienced practitioners, been finally pronounced hopeless.

APPENDIX,

No. 1.

At a Special Meeting of the Committee of the Asylum for the Cure of Scrofula and Glandular Diseases, at Bayswater, under the direction of Mr. Charles Whitlaw, held November 17th, 1824,

THE HON. AND REV. ANCHITEL GREY,
IN THE CHAIR.

The Secretary having reported to this Meeting, that the Governors and Guardians of the poor in the parish of Mary-le-bone, consider the application of Mr. Whitlaw's system to several of the paupers of that parish had failed of producing a beneficial result; but that Mr. Whitlaw alleged in some cases cures had taken place, and that in others the apparent failure had been occasioned by the improper and injudicious treatment of the Patients, by some of the persons to whose care they were intrusted:

Also, that Mr. Whitlaw had written a letter to the Board of Governors and Guardians, complaining of the before-mentioned interference with the Patients, to which letter the Secretary had not understood that any answer had been returned:

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY :

That the alleged failure, in respect of the Mary-le-bone Patients, is so utterly at variance with the observation of the Members of this Committee, as to the effects produced by Mr. Whitlaw's system, not only in the Asylum at Bayswater, but in several hundreds of Patients whose cases have passed under their own observation, they cannot but apprehend the alleged failure must have arisen from some extrinsic cause opposed to that system ; and that it is their imperative duty to the public, as the patrons and supporters of Mr. Whitlaw's system, to invite the Governors and Guardians of the Mary-le-bone poor to co-operate with this Committee in the most minute investigation of the causes and extent of the alleged failure.

That the Governors and Guardians of the Mary-le-bone poor be respectfully requested to furnish the Secretary of this Institution with a copy of the letter, written by Mr. Whitlaw to the Board of Governors and Guardians, upon the subject in question.

That the Governors and Guardians be requested to appoint a Sub-Committee, to be headed by a Physician of their own appointment ; to unite with a Sub-Committee of the Bayswater Asylum, to be headed by a Physician of acknowledged eminence and experience, to be nominated by them, but to be wholly unconnected with the Bayswater Asylum, or with Mr. Whitlaw, for the purpose of proceeding forthwith upon the solicited investigation.

That in order to prevent the suspicion of any unfair or indirect motive, by which the Committee is actuated, to probe Mr. Whitlaw's system to the bottom, and to exhibit their own unreserved and most perfect confidence in the effects of that system, they at once offer to the Board of Governors and Guardians of the Mary-le-bone poor, to receive into their own Asylum at Bayswater, an agreed number of Scrofulous Patients, to be indiscriminately selected from the Mary-le-bone paupers by medical men mutually appointed for that purpose, and to maintain them for six or twelve months, at the same weekly rate as is usually allowed for the maintenance of the parish poor ; the symptoms, however, of such cases to be previously ascertained and certified, so that there may be no dispute hereafter as to the characteristics of the disease, or the ravages it may have made.

Copy of the Letter addressed by the Committee to the Directors and Guardians of Mary-le-bone Workhouse.

87, Great Russell Street.

GENTLEMEN,

I am directed by the Committee of the Asylum for the Cure of Scrofula, &c., who have met this day for the express purpose of taking into consideration the circumstances connected with the late experiment of Mr. Whitlaw's system, for the treatment of Scrofula amongst some of the paupers in Mary-le-bone Workhouse, to inclose you a copy of the Resolutions they have passed upon the subject, and to request the favour of you to oblige them with an early reply.

The Committee are quite aware that there is no necessary relation between their Institution and the Governors of the Mary-le-bone poor, and that they have not any positive right to interfere, the introduction of Mr. Whitlaw's system being an affair exclusively confined to the Governors and Mr. Whitlaw individually. But inasmuch as the Committee of the Bayswater Asylum stand identified with that system before the public, and are in a measure responsible for the exercise of such influence as they may individually or collectively possess, it is impossible they can feel indifferent or unconcerned as to the result of any experiment which is made of a system to which they feel themselves justified, from long and accurate observation, in lending their unequivocal countenance and support; and they hope that the remarks which the inclosed Resolutions contain, will not be considered by the Governors of the Mary-le-bone poor as exceeding the bounds of that courtesy and liberal communication which public Institutions are in the habit of extending towards each other, for the attainment of a great public good.

As, however, it is indispensable that the subject should be brought before the public in some shape or other, and it is extremely desirable that the Governors and Committee should, if possible, concur in a mutual statement, the Resolutions submitted, and which have been passed in the spirit of candour and conciliation, will, it is hoped, be met by a corresponding disposition on the part of the Governors.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient Servant,
JAMES MILLAR, Secretary.

To the Directors and Governors of Mary-le-bone Workhouse.

In answer to which the Secretary received the following:—

St. Mary-le-bone Workhouse;
29th November, 1824.

SIR,
Your letter and copy of proceedings of the Committee of the Asylum for Scrofula, &c., were laid before the Board on Friday last. I am directed to say, that the Directors and Guardians, having already afforded a twelve-month's trial of Mr. Whitlaw's method of treating Scrofula, without experiencing a beneficial effect, were of opinion, that they would not be justified in longer continuing the expense, and that it was not necessary or expedient for them further to consider the subject.

I am, SIR,
Your most obedient Servant,
(Signed) S. WATTS,
Clerk to the Directors and Guardians.

To Mr. James Millar.

APPENDIX,

No. 2.

In the month of November last, the Committee were agreeably surprised by a statement of several striking cases which had come under the care of the Rev. Josiah Allport, of Chippenham; and the success with which Mr. Whitlaw's system of treatment in his hands was attended, induced him to consider it a public duty to make them known: he accordingly procured their insertion in the Courier, prefaced by a detail of the circumstances which led him to adopt Mr. Whitlaw's system, after endeavouring in vain, for upwards of two years, to benefit some of his poor parishioners suffering under the ravages of Scrofulous disease.

At the Anniversary Meeting, at which the preceding Report of the Committee was read, Mr. Allport attended and gave the following statement of the results of his efforts to alleviate the miseries of such sufferers around him during the last twelve months. In that period ninety-eight Patients, variously affected by Scrofulous ulcerations or Glandular enlargements, had come under his notice, and most of them under his immediate treatment, so as to enable him to speak more decidedly than before to the superior merits of Mr. Whitlaw's system. Of ninety-eight Patients who had come under this gentleman's care, he considered thirty-four Cases of Scrofulous ulceration as cured; and eleven Cases of Glandular enlargement, more or less in number and extent, as removed. Seventeen Patients had ceased to apply, either considering themselves well, or so satisfactorily benefited as to be unwilling to apply: but he did not think it right to speak decidedly of many of this last number, fearing lest the disease might reappear, as they had not submitted to the treatment prescribed a sufficient length of time to remove the disease constitutionally: nine Patients had ceased to apply, for reasons unknown; four were dead, and twenty-three remained as Patients.

In every instance the general health of the Patients had been benefited; nor had Mr. Allport, in any one instance, observed the least deleterious effect from the medicines, or the disease extended itself from the commencement of their administration,—a negative commendation, which he could not always bestow upon medicines of other kinds, recommended for this disorder.

A few days after bearing this public testimony, Mr. Allport furnished Dr. Pidduck with a few specimens from his Case-book in confirmation of the above statement, and in addition to those previously inserted in the Courier, with the disinterested motive of benefiting an afflicted community, and the Committee deem it right to attach them to their Report: they are as follow:—

care of the Rev. Josiah Allport.

No.	Age.	Description of the Disease.	Time Afflicted.	Previous Mode of Treatment.	Time under Mr. Whitlaw's system of treatment.	Result.
4	A married woman, aged 27.	Various tumours in the glands of the neck, and three or four small ulcers.	4 years.	Took various things recommended by her neighbours, and during the summer of 1823 1 administered medicines, prescribed by two Medical Gentlemen, but with no good effect on the disease.	About 3 months in the spring of 1824.	Cured and remains well.
22	A young woman, aged 19.	Large glandular tumours, and two ulcerations.	2 years.	Little else but poultices had been employed.	About 7 months during the summer and autumn of 1824.	Cured.
24	A man, aged 38.	A large scrofulous ulcer on the left temple.	Several months.	Various remedies had been tried, but the wound got worse.	In the months of May and June, 1824.	Cured and remains quite well.
28	A boy, aged 3 years.	Alarming mesenteric obstruction.	12 months.	Various means for removing it had been used.	In May and June, 1824, about 6 weeks.	Cured, and has ever since remained well.*
35	A man, aged 30.	Large tumour on the right breast, measuring 18 inches and $\frac{1}{2}$ in circumference, and 8 inches across.	About 5 years since it first began to appear.	Had been to various medical men, who told him to let it alone, and that it would probably go away; the last advice of the kind was from an eminent operative physician, about six months prior to his coming to me, but in that time it had risen and increased more rapidly than before.	Opened at my house by Dr. Pidduck, July 1824.	Perfectly cured.
42	A boy, 12 years old.	Severe case of ringworm, affecting the whole of the head.	3 years.	By various means, and by strong mercurial preparations and ointment.	Two months, viz. July and Aug. 1824.	Cured and remains well.
48	A married woman, aged 34.	Large knotty and hard glandular tumours under the left ear; had been afflicted with others which had broken, ulcerated, and healed again.	9 years.	Had received little medical assistance.	About 4 months.	Cured, & no indication of return of disease, though her mode of living is very unfavourable.
49	A young woman, aged 31.	Extensive cutaneous affection, with swelling in the absorbents of the inside of one thigh and leg.	4 years.	Had taken a large quantity of medicines, and worn tight bandages to prevent the increase of the tumours.	About 4 months.	Cured.
51	A lad, aged 13.	Extensive tumefaction of the right shoulder, which was highly inflamed, and other tumours in the glands under the arm.	Several weeks.		The month of August last.	Every appearance of the disease removed.
57	Married woman, aged 28.	Scrofulous ulceration deeply excoriated.	6 months from first breaking out.		4 months.	Cured.
62	Girl 9 yrs. of age.	Spreading and acrid eruption nearly covering the whole body.	Above 8 years.	Had been treated in various ways, but became worse and worse.	3 months last autumn.	Cured and remains well.
68	Girl, aged 3 yrs.	Films on the eyes, the glands of the neck enlarged, and the abdomen greatly swollen.	Some months.		2 months.	Cured.

*I have seen five children taken off by such affections, notwithstanding anxious medical efforts.
 †This tumour was of a large size, and discharged nearly a quart of purulent matter; and although about three weeks after, this poor man by loading hay rubbed off a considerable space of the surface, yet in about seven weeks it healed and remained well and sound.

MR. CHARLES WHITLAW,

Committee of the Asylum for the Cure of Scrofula and Glandular Diseases,

AT BAYSWATER,

ON THE SUBJECT OF A LECTURE ON SCROFULA

Delivered at St. Thomas's Hospital, 1824.

GENTLEMEN,

I FEEL it my duty to submit to your consideration and that of the public, some remarks suggested by the perusal of the following Letter, which was inserted in the Bath and Cheltenham Gazette of the 3rd instant.

To the Editor of the Bath and Cheltenham Gazette.

SIR,

In your paper of last week, as well as in some of your brother editors' of a late date, I perused, with feelings of a very mingled character, an article extracted from the Lancet, and said to be part of one of Sir Astley Cooper's last lectures. You will indulge me with the insertion of a few remarks on the subject to which it refers, which is, the prevalence and the cure of Scrofula.

It is matter of lamentable reflection that that disease should abound as it does, and it affords a confirmation of the truth of what Sir Astley says of its prevalence, that cases of Scrofula have lately come to my knowledge in this town and neighbourhood, till the number now amounts to upwards of fifty. It is still more lamentable to reflect, that, abounding as this disease appears to do, it is on the increase,— the plague is spreading;—but yet more lamentable would it be, if, as Sir Astley states, there were "no specific remedy for it." Can Sir

Astley believe that there are no remedies provided in nature for that malady by a merciful and gracious God, as well as for others? Doubtless there are; and such as would be found efficient, if called into use, and duly employed. If such remedies are not known to the medical world, I think it behoves those whose profession it is to seek, and those who, it is expected, should know and properly apply them, to commence examining what can be either discovered or effected, to save their fellow-creatures from the misery and disgust, and the community from the deplorable ravages of a malady, which otherwise is likely, ere many generations are past, to taint the whole mass. I well know that by the mode of professional treatment, which, like self-arrogated orthodoxy in divinity, has confined itself to one imbecile system; and contented itself chiefly with exclaiming against imaginary innovations, or in endeavouring to suppress the truth, till all were well nigh about to perish under their accumulated maladies; little good has been or can be effected. I well know that hydrargyrum, and antimony, and ablutions of salt water to stimulate the parts affected to action, enable them to throw off the viscid humours, and induce absorption or suppuration, have proved their inefficacy to produce any sanative result. I well know that alkalis, and muriates, and submuriates, and sarsaparilla, and the like, to correct the scrofulous diathesis, fail to do so in ninety cases out of one hundred. I well know that digitalis, and hyoscyamus, and such paralyzing narcotics, pushed in a worse than quack-like manner, to allay the morbid excitability peculiar to scrofulous subjects, have baffled the expectations of their originators and employers. All this has been better known to the profession for centuries, till their failures in this disease have constituted it the opprobrium medicorum. But I also know, that by simple and natural means, some hundreds, once wretched objects from scrofulous affections and ulcerations, have been delivered from the virus; the alarming tumours and enlargements have been dispersed; the joints, hampered with advancing contractions, have been released; the excoriations replenished with new flesh, and healed; and instead of puckers and seams, knots and scars, the surface has become sound and clear, and there is scarcely any mark of disease having ever existed. And I have it on the testimony of a regular medical gentleman, in corroboration of what I myself have seen, and who, having inspected the cases to which I allude, hesitates not to declare, that he believes them to be perfectly sound and good cures, that he never saw the like before, and that it is worth the while of any medical gentleman, or other persons interested in such a matter, to travel five hundred miles to see the subjects so cured. I have moreover, myself, a number of patients, on whom I have expended some scores of pounds in efforts of from three to eighteen months standing, by the usual means, who are now, by a different process, in less than three months, altered in a manner that is most gratifying, and that indicates a rapid approach to a state of recovery and curation; as the patients before alluded to have exhibited and maintained, for a length of time sufficient to satisfy the most incredulous mind that is not wholly blinded by prejudice, infatuated by party spirit, or enslaved by jealousy and bigotry. The means that have effected these cures and this change are such as assist those parts, which are the seat of the disease, to throw it off and recover their natural tone and purpose in the human frame; and of course by so doing, "regulate the secretions." These are the means discovered by Mr. Whitlaw, and employed in London under the superintendence of himself and Dr. Pidduck, and by several private individuals in different parts of the kingdom; from a conviction of their superiority and efficiency over every thing admitted into use by the faculty.

It is with extreme reluctance, Sir, that I obtrude myself in this way upon your columns, and upon the notice of the public; but when a gentleman, elevated as Sir Astley Cooper is, and in a lecture, ex cathedra, to those who will thereby be prejudiced to the public detriment, ventures to assert that there is no specific for Scrofula, and that whoever professes to have discovered one is only attempting to gull mankind; and when such assertions get abroad under the influence of such a name, it becomes, I think, the duty of those who know otherwise from trials which the profession will not make and set their faces against, to state what they do know, and have proved, for the benefit of suffering humanity.

I shall be happy, therefore, if the statement here given you, which I could not withhold on reading the article referred to from the Lancet, should arrest the attention, and prove of interest to any sufferer under Scrofula. It will also afford me real pleasure to give any further information or direction to any inquirers so interested, as I have had the privilege of such observation and experience as enable me to speak with some confidence, and of already satisfying several ladies and gentlemen who have done me the honour of inspecting my poor patients, and in particular the Hon. Capt. Waldgrave, of Harpree Court, and other gentlemen in the vicinity, that there is a specific for Scrofula, simple and easy in its use, of general and ready application, and perfectly safe, whilst effectual, in its operation.

I am, Sir, &c.

JOSIAH ALLPORT.

Chippenham Vicarage,
July 31st, 1824.

To the Reverend and respectable Author of the above Letter, I beg leave to offer my sincere thanks, for his honorable attempt to counteract the influence of prejudice and calumny; but the subject appears to require a few observations from myself, to prevent my opponents from availing themselves of what may be considered a technical inaccuracy in Mr. Allport's statement.

When I first read the above Letter, I confess I somewhat doubted whether the language and epithets ascribed to Sir Astley Cooper, in a publication called the Lancet, were justly attributable to that respectable practitioner. Upon reference, however, to the pages of that work, I find that in a lecture delivered at St. Thomas's Hospital, on the 17th of May last, the lecturer (who is there denominated the "Worthy Baronet," and must, therefore, I suppose be considered Sir Astley Cooper), is made to use the following expressions:—"As to any specifics for the cure of the complaint, (Scrofula) I need not tell you that such do not exist."—"Gentlemen, you may lay it down as an axiom, that there is no specific for the cure of Scrofula; and he who says there is, attempts to gull mankind by the assertion of what is not true."—Lancet, Vol. IV. No. 3. pp. 69, 74.

Whether Sir Astley Cooper intended to include me and my system in the above anathema I cannot tell; and if he meant to restrict the term "specific" to its strict technical import in medical phraseology, I shall not, perhaps, differ much from him; viz., that there is not any one separate and distinct medicine which is, in all cases and circumstances, to be relied upon, as a certain and never-failing remedy for the Scrofula. How many such specifics there may be in the whole circle of medical science, if limited within this narrow definition, the worthy Baronet will perhaps inform his admiring pupils in some future lecture!

But if Sir Astley intended to assert, that there is no mode of treatment, and no combination of medicines, which may be safely and securely relied upon as generally successful,—not merely for enabling a scrofulous patient to put on a summer appearance, or fair weather dress, but such as will justify the medical practitioner in holding out to the scrofulous patient, a rational, scientific and well-founded expectation, that his disease will be constitutionally eradicated, and that he will be restored to health and strength (in which accommodated sense I frequently assert that my remedies amount to a specific for this afflictive malady, and I believe medical men do the same in relation to other medicines and diseases), I presume to give to Sir Astley Cooper the most positive and unequivocal contradiction; and I venture to assert, that the statement attributed to the worthy Baronet could never have been made if he had taken the trouble to investigate the cases in your Asylum,—those referred to by Mr. Allport, in the vicinity of Chippenham,—or the still more numerous cases which are to be seen at my house every Wednesday.

Nor does it seem very consistent with that spirit of liberality for which the faculty so vehemently claim credit, or with that candour by which a learned and enlightened profession ought always to be actuated, dogmatically to assert that medicines, of the virtues and properties of which Sir Astley Cooper is wholly ignorant, may not be capable of producing a certain effect;—or that an individual must necessarily be an impostor, or propose to gull mankind, because he does not choose to communicate gratuitously to every apothecary in the kingdom, those discoveries which have been the result of his own labour and anxious perseverance; and the benefit and advantage of which he has, therefore, the most unquestionable right to reserve to himself as long as he may think proper. Surely it argues no common portion of vanity, and a total want of humility, for any practitioner, however exalted the eminence to which he may have attained, to assume, that it is impossible for any other individual to have acquired the knowledge of useful remedies, merely because they are unknown to himself. Sir Astley Cooper must be well aware, that the history of medicine furnishes a complete refutation of so absurd an idea; nor will it be matter of great surprise to those who are acquainted with Sir Astley Cooper's habit of life and line of practice, if he, in particular, should not have absolutely exhausted the whole arcana of the vegetable and mineral worlds.

It is not my intention to press this part of the subject further at present, and still less to say any thing offensive or disrespectful of Sir Astley Cooper, who justly occupies an eminent station in public opinion, as an operating surgeon; but it is my duty to state, that I entirely differ from him as to the mode of treating scrofulous patients, as laid down in the above and subsequent lectures; and that I consider it little less than a miracle if a patient, under such a mode of treatment as that ascribed to Sir Astley in these lectures, does not become much worse, rather than better.

I repeat, I wish to avoid every offensive intimation; but I should not be honest were I to conceal, that multitudes of cases pass under my eye every week, where the very treatment, and the very medicines, recommended by Sir Astley Cooper,* and others analogous to them, have been practised and administered for years without any effect decidedly beneficial, and, I wish I could say, without any effect decidedly deleterious, but which have yielded to my own system of treatment, and to the medicines which I am enabled to administer.

Sir Astley Cooper facetiously remarks, "I remember being once called on to subscribe to a charity, instituted for the cure of Scrofula, and I said that I had no objection to subscribe, if its benefits were to be extended throughout the year; because, if its operations were to be extended all the year round, the eyes of the subscribers would be opened to the inefficacy of any charity of the kind. The way also to try the value of nostra, blazoned forth as specifics for the cure of Scrofula, is to watch their effects during the whole year, for else you may be deceived."—Lancet, Vol. IV. No. 3. p. 68.

I do not know to what Institution this remark alludes, but if it were intended for any other purpose than to relieve the ennui frequently produced by an hospital lecture, I hesitate not to claim the worthy Baronet's benevolence on behalf of your Asylum, at Bayswater, "the benefits of which are extended throughout the year," and where he may himself, as a Subscriber, watch the effects of my system and medicines "all the year round;" and I beg to assure Sir Astley, I am not in the least apprehensive of the consequences, even from his discriminating science, provided he will lay aside his prejudices, and be candid.

* Regular entries, containing a scientific description of each case, and of the different practitioners who have been previously and successively consulted, are made in the books belonging to the Asylum.

I beg leave to add, that with many of the remarks of Sir Astley Cooper, and with some of his principles, I entirely agree; but as to the media through which the desired results are to be obtained, we differ as widely as from east to west; and surely we may do so, and yet both be honest men.

I should never think of suggesting that Sir Astley Cooper meant to gull mankind, or was struggling to support a tottering system by the weight of a great name, because he administered corrosive sublimate, calomel, hydrargyrum cum creta, bark, steel, caustic alkali, soda, wine, fermented liquors, &c., although I verily believe that such remedies are no less improper and injurious in this particular disorder than they are positively and necessarily destructive to the human frame in general. I have no doubt that Sir Astley prescribes these medicines because he believes them efficacious; but is that any reason why I am to abstain from administering other remedies, which I know, after many years experience, to be efficacious; and, what is of no small importance, if in those few instances where they may not produce a cure, so far from injuring, never fail essentially to benefit the general health?

I have, however, great confidence in the worthy Baronet's fineness of character and liberality of feeling; and have no doubt, that in a short time, he will readily acknowledge his error, and consider it a point of honour to approve and applaud a system, which it is neither in his power, nor, as I hope, within his inclination, effectually to impede.

I have to apologize for the length of these remarks, with which, probably, I should not have troubled you but that I am about shortly to proceed to America for the purpose of securing a more regular supply of the remedies, which, connected with my system of treatment, have already proved so decidedly beneficial; and aware that it is probable some malicious attempts might be made to injure that system, and to impede the efforts of the truly respectable practitioner, who will superintend it during my absence, I have deemed it right to make this public statement in reference to the above lectures on Scrofula and its cure.

I am, GENTLEMEN,

Your obedient Servant,

CHARLES WHITLAW.

OF THE
SURREY DISPENSARY.

INTRODUCTION.

THE Poor constitute an important part of every large community, and justly merit the attention and assistance of the Rich; especially in sickness, when they are rendered incapable of supporting themselves and their families. Hard labour, unwholesome food, want of proper clothing, exposure to the vicissitudes of air and weather, and subject them to many disorders unknown to the affluent, who can procure the conveniences of life.

In order to obviate and remedy these evils, many charitable institutions have been founded; and no city or country has been so highly distinguished for this truly laudable disposition, as this great metropolis. Hospitals have been erected in all quarters of it; yet these are only proper for the reception of a certain class of patients, and insufficient to accommodate one third part of those who stand in need of relief. Many, from a decent pride, do not choose to be found in those public places of charity; whilst the affairs of others might be ruined by quitting their habitations: some in acute diseases, are received too late, from the length of time necessary to gain admittance; and others, from the nature of their disorders, become worse, by being pent up in close wards and impure air; without mentioning the contagion incident to Hospitals, which frequently infect those who are confined therein. The inconvenience of a lying-in woman leaving her husband and family, at a time when their aid and consolation are most necessary, is apparent; and, above all, young children are seldom sent to hospitals, although in London near one half of them die before the age of two years.

There evidently existed a want of a charitable institution between the Hospital and the Poor House; for the former affords relief only to those who will become inhabitants, and those whose diseases admit of their personal attendance. The latter affords comfort to those who are destitute of any domestic accommodation. Under these views, it was natural for the humane mind to seek out some intermediate arrangement that would meet the defects of these two, where the poor and industrious workman and his family, might receive the aid of the Physician, Surgeon, and Midwife, in all diseases and accidents, at their own habitations. Hence the establishment of Dispensaries; an institution, in the constitution of which the sick, the hurt, and the lying-lying-in-woman can receive every assistance, without the evils which necessarily arise to a family when any one who is sick, is removed; where medicines, and other means of cure are regularly administered; and where, at stated hours, those capable of attending may receive advice and medicines with as little loss of time as possible. By this system, medical charity is widely diffused: it meets all descriptions of sickness to which the arrangements of Hospitals cannot extend.

The constitution of the Surrey Dispensary has adopted the humane and benevolent plan of delivering pregnant women at their own habitations; a plan calculated to alleviate the anxiety and lessen the hazards of that painful and interesting state of the female sex; and of all charitable institutions, there is none more worthy of the liberal and extensive application of benevolence.

The North, East, and West quarters being supplied, the South, or that great and populous part, the Borough, and places adjacent, still required the advantages of a Dispensary, as none of those already instituted extended so far. The great number of labouring poor, who live in this part, made it obvious how very useful such a charity must be, and from the former proofs of benevolence, that the inhabitants of this metropolis have given, it is not doubted but this useful establishment will meet with their general approbation and encouragement.

The subscription is fixed low, in order to make the Charity more extensive, and consequently, to render it easier for the poor to gain letters of recommendation from the Governors.

He shall on no account absent himself from the house, without leaving a note where he is to be met with on any emergency; he shall not absent himself one whole day or night, without leave first obtained from the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, Monthly Committee, or one of the House Visitors, in which case he shall provide another Apothecary to do the business for him, and that with the approbation of the person or persons who granted such leave of absence.

He shall examine the rights of the Letters of Recommendation, and keep regular books, with a register of the patients under cure, their time of admission, by whom recommended, and when discharged.

MIDWIVES.

Every patient must inform the Midwife of her expected time, as soon as she receives the ticket. When she is in labour, the ticket must be carried to the Midwife, to whom it is directed; or, if she be engaged, to that Midwife belonging to the Charity who lives nearest.

In difficult Labours, &c. requiring the aid of the Accoucheur, the Midwife attending shall send to him an account of the particulars in writing.

He shall deliver to the Committee, at every monthly Meeting, an alphabetical list of all persons of whom he shall have received Subscriptions to that time.

He shall also deliver to the first Meeting of the Committee, after each quarter day, an alphabetical list of Governors, whose Subscription shall then become due, in order that it may always appear what monies are in arrear.

He shall, at every monthly Committee, deliver a list of such Governors who are deceased, or have discontinued their Subscriptions, and of the names of all new Governors.

He shall summon Committees, and deliver recommendatory letters, when he receives any Subscriptions.

They shall keep their letters of recommendation under cover, in order to preserve them clean.

They shall furnish themselves with phials, &c. necessary to contain their medicines.

They shall behave themselves soberly and decently, and strictly conform to such rules as shall be given them, or be immediately dismissed.

When cured, they shall deliver up their letters of recommendation to the Dispensary, and return thanks to the Governor who recommended them: on neglect of which they shall not receive any further favour from this Charity.

Patients, whose disorders require only a repetition of their medicines, must send for them between the hours of eight and nine in the morning, and four and six in the afternoon.

If complaint be made by any patient of ill treatment, the Governor who recommended him or her, by applying to the House-Visitors, may have the same investigated.

To

To such as are inclined to become benefactors by Will, the following form of a Will is recommended.

Item, I give and bequeath unto A. B. and C. D. the Sum of to be raised and paid by, and out of, my personal estate and effects, which, by law, I may or can, charge with the payment thereof, upon trust, and to the intent that they, or either of them, do pay the same to the Treasurer for the time being, of a Charity, called, or known by the name of, THE SURREY DISPENSARY, FOR THE RELIEF OF THE POOR, instituted in the Borough of Southwark, in the Year 1777, which said Sum I desire may be applied towards carrying on the benevolent designs of the said Charity.

N.B. Giving Land, or Money, or Stock, by Will, to be laid out in the purchase of any estate for charitable uses, will be void, by the statute of Mortmain; but Money, or Stock, may be given by Will, without being directed to be laid out.

LAWS, ORDERS,

AND

GENERAL LYING-IN HOSPITAL.

EDINBURGH.

LAWS, ORDERS,
AND
GENERAL LYING-IN HOSPITAL.

EDINBURGH.

Laws, Orders, and Regulations, &c.

The History, Title, and Purpose of the Institution.

THE situation of PREGNANT WOMEN in indigent circumstances claims the attention of the benevolent in a peculiar manner. They are unable to procure proper assistance during child-bearing, and cannot enjoy that undisturbed repose after delivery which is often necessary to their recovery. Their offspring, therefore, is frequently lost, and their own health much impaired.

With the view of obviating these evils, Lying-in Hospitals have been established in almost every civilized country, and have been found extensively beneficial.

But although the poor of Edinburgh be not in a more comfortable situation than in other large cities, subscriptions for the erection of a Lying-in Hospital here were not begun till December 1791.

The proposals for an institution of this kind, drawn up by the Professor of Midwifery, having received the approbation of the Royal College of Physicians, &c. the Right Honourable the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town-Council, granted, on 26th December 1792, a seal of cause, erecting the subscribers into an incorporated body, under the name of "THE SOCIETY FOR RELIEVING INDIGENT PREGNANT WOMEN," intitling them to call the house or buildings to be appropriated by them for that purpose, "THE EDINBURGH GENERAL LYING-IN HOSPITAL," allowing them all the immunities and privileges enjoyed by other bodies-corporate, &c.

The

The Directors appointed by the Subscribers to carry forward this institution purchased, in May 1793, that house and area entering from Bristol-Street, commonly called Roff-house.

The principal object in the erection of this Hospital is to establish a proper provision during lying-in for the wives of the working poor, and to afford an asylum to the wives of soldiers and sailors, who, remote from their relations, and many of them from their country, are often, during pregnancy and child-bearing, in circumstances truly deplorable. In order to prevent the fatal consequences of despondency, or the unhappy effects of public infamy, the benefits of the institution are extended to those unmarried pregnant women who are in that state for the first time, and whose characters in other respects are unexceptionable.

Advice on the diseases peculiar to women and children shall also be given gratis by the Physicians of the Hospital on certain days of the week.

The advantages of this institution are not confined to the poor alone; for a Lying-in Hospital affords an excellent opportunity for the instruction of Practitioners of Midwifery. While, therefore, this establishment must accomplish the most benevolent views as a public charity, it must serve also the most useful purposes as an extensive school for important and necessary instruction.

The Hospital is founded and must be supported by voluntary subscriptions and donations.

Of the Subscribers and Benefactors.

THE Subscribers and Benefactors to this Hospital shall have the sole management of every thing relating to it, except in the choice of the ordinary Physician, as hereafter specified.

The immediate management of the Hospital shall be vested in in a President, four Vice-Presidents, eight Ordinary Directors, and a Treasurer, to be chosen annually by the subscribers, at a meeting held for that purpose.

The following Gentlemen in a public station are to be considered as Extraordinary Managers, to be requested, when necessary, to assist the Ordinary Directors with their advice, viz.

The Lord Provost,
The Lord President of the Court of Session,
The Lord Chief Baron,
The Lord Advocate,
The acting Sheriff,
The Convener of the Trades,
The Principal of the University,
The Professor of Divinity,
The President and Treasurer of the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons.

The Subscribers shall be intitled to vote by proxy, and the Ladies who subscribe shall enjoy the same privileges.

The nearest Heir of those who bequeath legacies to the Hospital shall be intitled to the privileges of a Subscriber.

Of the Presidents and Ordinary Directors.

The President, Vice-Presidents, and Ordinary Directors, shall be desired to meet every three months at least, to regulate the affairs of the Hospital.

The Presidents, or one Vice-President and four Ordinary Directors, or five, whether Presidents or Ordinary Directors, shall constitute a Quorum, possessing the full powers of the whole.

The Treasurer and Ordinary Physician shall attend each meeting officially; the former to lay before the Directors the state of the funds, &c. and the latter to report to them that of the patients, and to suggest any regulations respecting their management which he may find necessary.

Subscribers may attend these meetings, and assist with their advice, but shall not vote on any question.

An extra meeting of the Directors may be held at any time; but the regulations adopted at such meetings shall only continue in force till the next stated meeting, when, if they be not confirmed, they must be annulled.

Patients recommended by the President shall be admitted in preference to every other; and the Vice-Presidents and Ordinary Directors shall be intitled to recommend, annually, one preferable patient at least.

Of the Ordinary Physician.

THE Professor of Midwifery for the time being shall be the Ordinary Physician to the Hospital.

The charge of the patients shall be intrusted solely to him, with the power of calling in the aid of the Consulting, Extraordinary, or Assistant Physicians, when he sees fit.

He shall ex officio be a member of all committees, and be summoned to all meetings.

All the servants of the Hospital shall be under his direction; but the power of dismissing any of them in the event of improper conduct shall be vested in the Presidents and Ordinary Directors.

The Ordinary Physician, under the regulations after specified, shall alone have the power of admitting patients, so that none affected with contagious diseases may be received into the Hospital.

He shall, besides taking care of the house-patients, attend at the Hospital, at a particular hour, on certain days of the week, for the purpose of giving advice in the diseases of women and children. But he may request the Extraordinary nary or Assistant Physician to take charge of this necessary duty.

The Ordinary Physician shall be intitled, exclusively, to the privilege of granting Diplomas to the Pupils attending the Hospital.

Of the Consulting, Extraordinary, and Assistant Physician.

THE Presidents of the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons for the time being shall be considered as Consulting Physician and Surgeon, to be requested by the Ordinary Physician to attend on extraordinary occasions.

The Subscribers shall elect two Physicians practising Midwifery to attend the Hospital, the one as Extraordinary, the other as Assistant Physician, during the necessary absence of the Ordinary Physician.

The Extraordinary and Assistant Physicians shall continue in these offices for life, unless they choose at any time to resign. They shall never attend the Hospital but when called by the Ordinary Physician, or during his absence; and shall not interfere with the management of the patients, except on these occasions.

Of the Treasurer.

THE Treasurer shall be chosen annually by the Subscribers.

He shall have the charge of all the money belonging to the Hospital, and shall keep a regular account of the receipts and expenditure.

The Treasurer alone shall grant receipts to the Subscribers for their annual or total subscriptions, and also discharges to Trustees for any Legacies which may be bequeathed to the Hospital.

He shall also register the minutes of the Directors at all their their meetings; and he shall be a member of every committee, although not specially named.

○ All the meetings of the Directors shall be called by the Treasurer, in name of the President.

The Treasurer's accounts shall be annually examined and passed by the Presidents and Directors.

Of the Midwife.

AN experienced Midwife (unmarried) shall be chosen by the Subscribers. She shall receive an annual salary for her services, and shall always reside in the Hospital.

The Midwife shall have the charge of the internal affairs of the Hospital. She shall attend all the patients, and be ready at all times to report their cases to the Physician.

She shall be furnished with an inventory, signed by the Treasurer and Ordinary Physician, and confirmed by herself, of all the household-furniture, linen, &c. belonging to the Hospital; and she shall be accountable to the Directors for every article specified therein.

She shall provide all the necessaries with respect to food, &c. for the patients and servants of the Hospital. For this purpose, she shall receive a sum of money weekly from the Treasurer, and shall, at the end of each week, produce to him a regular account of the expenditure; and her vouchers and accounts shall at such times be examined by him, and, if regular, passed, attested, and registered.

The Midwife shall have the immediate superintendence of the inferior servants of the Hospital, and shall take care that they perform their respective duties properly, and shall report to the Ordinary Physician every circumstance to the contrary.

She shall be required to keep a regular register of all the patients, of the date of their admission, dismissal, of their delivery, &c.

Of

Of the Inferior Servants of the Hospital.

THE Inferior Servants of the Hospital shall consist of a cook, a number of nurses proportioned to that of the patients, and of a porter, who shall not reside in the house.

They shall be engaged for a short space of time only, that they may be removed, when necessary, by order of the Ordinary Directors.

Of the Patients.

NO Patients shall be admitted into the Hospital without the recommendation of a Subscriber; but such recommendation shall not be considered as subjecting the Subscriber to any expence in the event of the Patient's death, unless specially mentioned.

Every married Patient shall be required to produce an obligation from her husband, binding himself to take his wife and child, or children, out of the Hospital, when desired, and to pay the expence of his wife's or child's or childrens funeral, if she, it, or they should unfortunately die.

Every unmarried Patient shall be required to furnish a similar obligation, signed by one respectable householder of the city or county of Edinburgh, and shall be obliged to produce also an attestation of her general good character, signed by the session-clerk of the parish to which she belongs, or by the minister or two elders of such parish, or by two respectable householders of the county or city of Edinburgh, or by one regular clergyman of the said county or city.

A similar obligation and attestation shall be exacted from those married Patients whose husbands are dead, or at a distance.

The number of Patients to be maintained constantly at the expence of the Hospital shall at first be restricted to eighteen, viz. twelve married and six unmarried women.

The

The married women shall be lodged in a part of the house perfectly distinct from that appropriated to the unmarried, entering by a different door, and from a different street.

The married Patients are to be attended by the male pupils of the Hospital, under the direction of the Ordinary Physician; and the unmarried Patients, under his superintendence, are to be attended solely by the female pupils.

Every Patient admitted into the Hospital shall be required to conform herself to the following Regulations; and every one transgressing any of them shall be immediately dismissed from the Hospital, and never again received into it.

Regulations respecting Patients.

EVERY Patient shall bring with her, when admitted into the Hospital, proper cloathing for herself and child.

No Patient who shall have remained in the Hospital above six weeks from the date of her admission, unless by order of the Physician, shall be intitled to any sum of money on her dismissal.

No Patient shall be allowed to go out of the Hospital without permission of the Midwife.

No persons shall be admitted as visitors to Patients except on three days of the week, between the hours of one and two afternoon.

No such visitor shall enter any other part of the Hospital than the Hall appropriated to that purpose.

No visitors can be allowed to see any of the lying-in Patients, without permission from the Midwife, as they shall be lodged in a separate part of the house from that allotted to the undelivered women.

The Patients who are able are expected to assist the Nurses in attending the lying-in Patients, &c.

Every Patient shall yield an implicit obedience to the Midwife; wife; but at the same time shall have power, if aggrieved by any person in the Hospital, to apply for redress to the Ordinary Physician, or to any of the Ordinary Directors.

The diet of the Patients shall be regulated by the Ordinary Physician, and no other articles of food, except those prescribed by him, shall be allowed.

No person shall be permitted to bring any fermented or spirituous liquors into the Hospital, without an order from the Physician.

No Patient shall be allowed to leave the Hospital without her child or children, if it or they be alive.

The children born in the Hospital shall be baptized before they be taken away.

Every Patient shall, on her dismissal, if she shall have conformed to the above Regulations, and shall have behaved properly in every respect, receive the sum of Five Shillings Sterling, from which no deduction shall be made by the Nurse or Nurses, on any pretence whatever.

If any Patient shall unfortunately die, notice thereof shall be immediately sent to the person or persons who had signed the obligation required on the admission of Patients; and if such person or persons do not take charge of the funeral, the Midwife shall cause the body to be buried in the most decent economical manner; and the expence shall be defrayed by the person or persons who signed the obligation.

Of the Pupils of the Hospital.

Male Pupils.

THE Gentlemen who attend the lectures of the Professor of Midwifery are alone intitled to become Pupils of the Hospital.

Each Gentleman shall pay the sum of Ten Shillings and Sixpence

Sixpence Sterling for being permitted to attend the Hospital for three months, One Guinea for six months, and so in proportion.

Each Gentleman, on paying any of these sums, shall receive a ticket, containing the following words :

" is hereby intitled to attend the Edinburgh
" General Lying-in Hospital for the space of on " condition that he shall obey faithfully all the Regulations
" respecting Pupils."

The Professor of Midwifery shall issue these tickets, and shall be accountable to the Treasurer for the sums received for them.

Female Pupils.

THE Midwives who attend the Professor of Midwifery shall be allowed to attend the Hospital without any expence.

Each Midwife shall receive a ticket for that purpose, containing the following words.

" is hereby intitled to attend the General
" Lying-in Hospital of Edinburgh for the space of
" on condition that she shall carefully observe all the Regulations respecting Female Pupils."

Regulations respecting Male Pupils.

NO Gentlemen shall be permitted to attend the Hospital without having the ticket allotted for Male Pupils.

But any Gentleman may be allowed to visit the Hospital, by an order from the Physician, according to the Regulations respecting visitors.

No Male Pupil shall attempt to enter, under the penalty of forfeiting his ticket, any part of the Hospital, except the wards allotted for married patients, and the rooms appropriated to Male Pupils.

No

No Male Pupil (with the exception afterwards specified) shall have access to the Hospital, unless summoned by the porter, except between the hours of twelve and one forenoon and seven and eight in the evening, at which hours the Midwife shall attend in the wards.

Gentlemen shall be called to deliveries in the order in which their names are registered in the Class-book of the Professor of Midwifery.

They shall be divided into classes of twelve, to be called to deliveries in succession, and no more than that number shall ever, except when summoned particularly by the Physician, be present at a delivery.

No Gentleman shall be permitted to deliver any of the Patients, unless he have attended the Hospital for the space of three months, or have formerly attended the Lying-in Ward of the Royal Infirmary for the same period.

Gentlemen intitled to deliver shall deliver in the order in which their names are registered in the Class-book of the Professor of Midwifery. That this may be ascertained, a list of such Gentlemen, signed by the Professor, shall be lodged with the Midwife.

The Midwife shall be present at every delivery, and the Physician shall also attend when necessary.

The Physicians of the Hospital shall be required to draw up a few general precepts for the management of deliveries, in the Latin Language. These shall be painted on a board hung up in the delivery room, that those Gentlemen who do not take an active part in the delivery may understand the principles on which the others proceed.

The Gentleman who has charge of the delivery shall be furnished by the Midwife with a register, the form of which shall be settled by the Physicians, on which he shall mark the commencement of labour, the progress, and termination, the number, sex, and weight of the children, and also shall carefully note any particular circumstance which may attend the delivery.

The after-treatment of the Patient, under the direction of the Physician, shall be intrusted to the Gentleman who had charge of the delivery; and he shall be required to mark regularly, on the register in which he entered the delivery, the diurnal state of the patient, till she shall be dismissed from the Hospital.

The registers, when filled up, shall be consigned to the care of the Physician.

Every Gentleman who shall not carefully observe the Regulations respecting the registers, shall forfeit, for the benefit of the Hospital, the sum of One Guinea for the first offence, and if afterwards again guilty of the same neglect, shall be expelled for ever from the Hospital, and shall not be intitled to a diploma.

Every Gentleman who has had charge of a delivery shall be permitted to enter the Hospital at any time from seven in the morning to eleven at night, till the patient be dismissed.

If his attendance be necessary at any other time, he shall be called by the Physician.

Those pupils whom the Professor of Midwifery receives under the title of Annual Pupils, shall pay to the Hospital the sum of Two Guineas.

The annual pupils alone shall attend the Hospital during the hours appropriated for giving advice in the diseases incident to women and children.

Two annual pupils, in rotation, shall attend the Physician at such hours.

They shall be required to register the case of each patient, and the prescription of the Physician. These registers shall be lodged with the Midwife, and shall be open for the inspection of every Male Pupil of the Hospital.

It is expected, that no Gentleman will injure, destroy, or take away any of the registers; and if any pupil shall be guilty guilty of such offences, he shall be expelled from the Hospital, and his expulsion publicly notified in the room appropriated for Male Pupils.

It is hoped, that the Pupils will make no noise in entering or going out of the Hospital at any time, or during their attendance there, that the recovery of the patients may not be interrupted.

Regulations respecting Female Pupils.

NO Midwife shall attend the Hospital without having the ticket allotted for Female Pupils.

No Female Pupil shall enter the Hospital at any hour, (with the exception afterwards specified), except between the hours of eleven and twelve forenoon and six and seven in the evening, unless summoned by the porter.

At these hours, the Female Pupils shall have access to every part of the Hospital appropriated for patients, except those set apart for the reception of boarders.

They shall deliver no patients but unmarried ones.

But they shall be allowed to assist in dressing all the children in the Hospital, and also in dressing, &c. the lying-in patients.

The Midwife of the Hospital shall superintend them on those occasions.

The Female Pupils shall be called to deliveries in the order in which their names are entered in the Class-book of the Professor of Midwifery.

But four only shall be present at each delivery.

The Pupil who delivers shall be provided with a register similar to that given to the Male Pupils, on which she shall take care to mark, or cause to be marked, all the circumstances of the delivery; she shall then give the register to the Physician, that he may add the history of the after-treatment.

The

The Female Pupil who shall have had charge of the delivery shall have access to the Hospital at all times from seven in the morning till eleven at night, while the patient remains in the house.

No Female Pupil shall be allowed to prescribe any medicine or remedy, either for internal or external use, for any of the women or children, as that duty belongs exclusively to the Physician.

The Female Pupils are expected to avoid every opportunity of being at any time in the same parts of the Hospital with the Male Pupils, and they are required to take particular care not to disturb the patients in any manner whatever.

Of Visitors.

THE Hospital shall be open for Visitors every Wednesday between the hours of one and two afternoon; and Visitors who cannot attend on such occasions may be admitted at any time, by an order from the Physician.

Ladies visiting the Hospital may have access to every part of it, except that appropriated to Boarders, or any ward in which one or more of the patients in a precarious situation may be laid. But any patient who does not wish to be seen by Visitors shall be allowed to conceal herself till they leave the Hospital. Gentlemen Visitors can only be admitted into the wards of the undelivered married women, unless they have a special order from the Physician,

The Midwife of the Hospital shall always attend Visitors.

It is expected, that no Visitors will offer any sum of money to any of the patients or servants of the Hospital; and if any patients or servants shall accept of such sum, they shall be immediately dismissed from the Hospital, and never again admitted.

LONDON FEMALE PENITENTIARY.

AMONG the numerous evils which prevail in society, there is, perhaps, none which excites more distressing sensations in the virtuous mind, than that of FEMALE PROSTITUTION. The feeling heart recoils from the contemplation of a subject so replete with calamity and sorrow, or mourns over it with unavailing anguish and commiseration! But why despond? Although the evil be beyond conception great, and, in the present state of society, the entire extinction of it may be impossible, yet surely it admits of very essential and extensive alleviation. If all, or even the larger number of the unhappy victims of this vice, cannot be reclaimed, yet, doubtless, a considerable number may; and an Institution*, that merits the approbation and gratitude of society, exclusively devoted to this object, has accomplished enough to present an encouraging example for our imitation, and an incitement to warmer zeal, and still more vigorous efforts in the same line of public charity.

Hitherto an inadequate portion of the attention, energy, and wealth of the community has been directed to this object. It might be difficult to account for this, in a metropolis as much distinguished for its benevolence, as for its riches and active zeal, if peculiar causes had not operated to prevent the application of that benevolence, to a due extent, in mitigating the evil in question. If exertions, correspondent, in some degree, to the magnitude and enormity of the mischief, have not been called forth; may it not be, because it has not been sufficiently contemplated as an evil—because the extent and destructive tendency of its effects, have not been duly noticed—because its unhappy victims have not been generally thought so wretched, as in fact they are—because they have been too often viewed with detestation as infamous, when they ought to have been regarded with compassion as unhappy—because they have been too rashly considered as irreclaimably vicious—because of the encouragement which profligacy of disposition may be supposed to take from the very provision of an Asylum for the victims of prostitution—and because of the mortifying impositions to which all such attempts are exposed, and the great difficulties that must be surmounted, in order to render them really beneficial?

Such are some of the causes which appear to have prevented, or checked the benevolent exertions of the Public in relation to the present object:—to which it may be added, that the very nature of the subject itself forbids that full disclosure of the awful consequences of the vice in question, which is necessary to make a due impression on the mind, and to excite a correspondent desire to arrest its dreadful progress. It is lamentable, however, to remark, that whilst public benevolence has thus been dormant, this moral pestilence has made such deep inroads into the general mass of our population, has pushed itself so much into the front and face of society, and insinuated itself so fatally into the interior of domestic life, that no plea for indifference or procrastination can any longer be admitted.

But if such be the affecting and deplorable height to which this destructive vice has arrived, is it not high time to awaken the liveliest attention of the public; and to engage its wisdom, its influence, and most vigorous energies in stemming the torrent? And while we thus attempt to excite the public mind to a feeling of its own interest, shall we not also, by affecting and oft-repeated appeals to the heart, interest its sympathy and benevolence in behalf of those victims of vice who are suffering the keen agonies of remorse, and anxious to escape from the wretched slavery in which they are bound? Is it possible that in this enlightened day, and in this munificent city, the reflecting and humane mind can be influenced by any of those views, which, in this cause would deprive benevolence itself of its wonted activity? Is it, for instance, doubted that the subject we deplore, is an evil; or is it regarded as a necessary one? To attempt a refutation of the first of these opinions, would only be to misemploy the time of the reader; and in answer to the latter, which has, doubtless, more plausibility, it may be sufficient to say, that whatever authority it may have derived from political moralists, it is no less repugnant than the other, to that code of law, which has the authority of God for its basis.

Are the feelings of others contracted by partial and inadequate views of the mischief? Let them trace it in its numerous fatal windings, whether more secret or more exposed, as sapping the vigour of the body, enfeebling the powers of the mind, vitiating the affections of the heart, corroding the root of domestic comfort, blasting the fairest hopes of human life, and shaking the very foundation of the social edifice. Do any doubt the possibility of restoring to habits of established virtue those who have once departed from its paths? Let them reflect that the circumstances under which many of those deviations have taken place, may involve, in a great variety of instances, no final abandonment of virtuous principle, no total extinction of moral feeling; whilst it may be demonstrated, by arguments founded upon the nature and operations of the human mind, that there is nothing in the implied character of those who have so deviated, which opposes an insurmountable barrier to the means employed for their entire reformation. It may be added, that well authenticated facts can be adduced, verifying actual returns to a course of regular and permanent virtue.

If any imagine that the vice under consideration is rather encouraged than repressed by the establishment of Penitentiary Houses,—we can inform them that such Institutions are not designed as retreats for the miserable remains of decayed and inveterate prostitution, nor for those who exhibit in their appearance, spirit, and manners, the features of voluntary and hardened profligacy; but as a REFUGE for the seduced female, who in the temper of genuine penitence, is anxious to return into the paths of virtue; and for her, who in the first stages of prostitution, in a similar temper, and with a just sense of her error, seems eager to renounce her vices, and to escape from the jaws of misery and ruin: we would also remind them that these Institutions are SCHOOLS, in which the principles of the gospel are taught, virtuous affections cherished, and industrious habits formed. If it be apprehended, that the vice in question may, in any degree, be promoted by such institutions,—it is replied, that no Female, not insane, would venture to plunge into sin and infamy, upon the bare peradventure of admission into an Asylum, where she would be confined to constant labour, in which she would be suffered to continue but for a limited time, and when dismissed, never more re-admitted. Nor indeed, can she who is viciously disposed, want any such supposed incentive to induce her to enter into habits of vice: and it will hardly be contended, that the prospect of even certainly entering into a receptacle for degraded and disgraced females, will contribute to generate a vicious disposition, in her who is at present virtuously inclined!

Upon the most moderate computation, it appears that there are not fewer than 30,000 women living in a state of prostitution; and the author of the celebrated "Treatise on the Police of the Metropolis" computes the number living in open and private prostitution at 50,000; and calculates that, during the last 40 years,* from 80 to 100,000, succeeding each other upon an average every thirteen years, have passed through a miserable existence into eternity!

What a distressing picture of human wretchedness do these statements present! Surely, no one alive to the feelings of humanity, can contemplate it without emotions of sorrow, or help feeling a powerful impulse to use all the means within his grasp in mitigation of the evil. To such an one it cannot, therefore, but be highly gratifying to know, that earnestly desirous to employ their best efforts, in resisting the progress of so alarming an evil, a numerous and respectable Meeting, held at the NEW LONDON TAVERN, on Thursday the 1st of January, 1807, came unanimously to the following RESOLUTIONS:

Mr. ALDERMAN LEA, in the Chair,

THAT an Institution be now formed, which shall be denominated "The LONDON FEMALE PENITENTIARY," the object of which shall be to afford an Asylum to Females, who, having deviated from the paths of virtue, are desirous of being restored, by religious instruction, and the formation of moral and industrious habits, to a reputable station in society.

* This part of the Address was written in the Year 1806.

That each Subscriber of a Guinea or more, annually, be a Member.

That each Subscriber of ten Guineas or more, be a Member for life.

That the external management of the affairs of the Institution be entrusted to a Committee of thirty-six Gentlemen, together with a Treasurer and Secretary.

That to a Committee of twenty-four Ladies be exclusively confided the management of its internal economy.

That WILLIAM ALERS, Esq. No. 7, Fenchurch-street, be Treasurer.

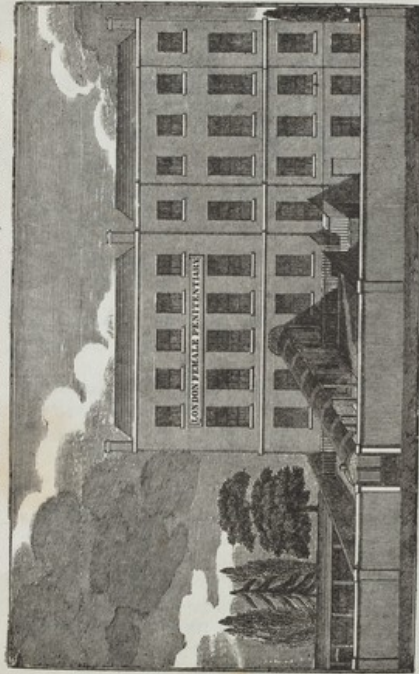

That THOMAS PELLATT, Esq. Ironmonger's-Hall, Fenchurch-street, be Secretary.

Conformably to the fourth and fifth of the preceding Resolutions, a Committee was formed, consisting of *Thirty-six Gentlemen of various religious denominations, and also a Committee of Twenty-four Ladies.

After unremitted inquiries, and a very diligent search, a suitable House has been obtained, formerly known by the name of Cumming House, situated in an airy and healthy situation, in the New Road, Pentonville. The Committee have purchased a lease of these premises, the expense whereof, together with the alterations and furniture, have been great; but it is hoped the liberality of the public will enable the Society to support this, and every other necessary expenditure. The adjoining ground will admit of additional buildings. There is also a small house in John-street, Pentonville, which has been taken as a temporary infirmary for the sick. This, however, will be given up, when the additional buildings, are completed.

In forming the plan of this Institution, great pains have been employed in order to render it as unexceptionable as possible. It is conceived that in some very material points, it will be found to possess peculiar recommendations. That which has appeared to be of evident importance and utility in the constitution of similar establishments, has been liberally adopted; whilst a review of the whole subject has suggested such arrangements, as, it is earnestly hoped, experience will demonstrate to be great practical improvements.

The general outlines of the plan are as follows:

The Penitentiary House, when completed, is intended to comprise several distinct Wards, viz.

1. A temporary Ward, for cases of emergency.
 2. Two probationary Wards.
 3. Wards for persons fully admitted after probation.
 4. A Ward for diseased subjects.
 5. A Sick Ward.
 6. A Refractory Ward.
- N. B. Each female sleeps in a separate bed.

Sub-Committees have been chosen out of each of the distinct Committees, in order to secure the regular attendance of the Members, and the punctual discharge of their respective duties: especially as they regard a speedy reception of the objects of the Charity. Not fewer than three of the Committees of Gentlemen at any time, are permitted to visit the Wards, and that only in cases of urgency and necessity, being always accompanied by the Matron.

With these, and similar exceptions, the Wards are rigorously closed to all but the Matron, and the Members of the Female Committee, who daily visit and superintend them.

A part of the House is appropriated to Divine Service, which is reverently and devoutly performed every Lord's-day, by approved Ministers of the Gospel, who are successively appointed to that duty.

It will no doubt be gratifying to the reader to understand, that the "Female Committee," is composed of married Ladies of decided piety, solid judgment, and active zeal. It may be proper to mention also, in this place, that in the Gentlemen who superintend the Institution, together with other necessary qualifications, a character for unblemished piety, will, at all times, be deemed absolutely essential.

Females who apply in a diseased condition, are not on that account rejected, provided in other respects, they appear to be suitable objects of the Charity. As it is in a state of distress and exigency that a penitent state of mind is chiefly to be expected, to refuse the benefits of the Institution to persons in these circumstances, would be injuriously to circumscribe its utility.

A prompt reception of applicants forms a very prominent and distinguishing feature in this Institution. At the same time, no encouragement is given to those, who seek an asylum in it more from the pressure of want, than from any virtuous or moral choice: unless no others offer, who, in the opinion of the Committee, have fairer pretensions for reception.

The promptitude with which they attend to petitions for reception, experience has proved to be of very great utility in accomplishing the benevolent ends of the Institution. Upon this point, the author of "The Treatise on the Police of the Metropolis," makes the following important observations:

"It is in the first stage of seduction, before the female mind becomes vitiated and depraved, that Asylums are most useful. If persons in this unhappy situation, had it in their power to resort to a medium whereby they might be reconciled to their relations, while uncontaminated by the vices attached to general prostitution, numbers, who are now lost, might be saved to society."

The seduced and unfortunate female, who is solicitous to forsake the paths of vice, finds in this Institution, an immediate and secure refuge from the scorn, the dangers, and the miseries of her unhappy condition. When she enters the House, she is received in a manner least calculated to wound her feelings; and afterwards treated with the utmost delicacy, tenderness, and kindness. In cases of misconduct, the most lenient measures are employed, in order to correct and reclaim: but when every means of reformation has been used without effect, and the mind of the offender appears incorrigible, expulsion necessarily ensues.

Suitable encouragements are afforded for the cultivation of the social affections, by promoting the association of such as possess a congeniality of mind and disposition, or whose qualifications and pursuits resemble each other. A system of employment, as before hinted, is established. Each Female is gradually inured to industrious habits; she is instructed in some branch of useful and profitable labour, best suited to her capacity and turn of mind, and is allowed a portion of her earnings. This is not only highly important as connected with the support of the Institution, and with its immediate object, but also as it relates to the security of the individual, after she has left the Penitentiary. Holding the means of procuring her subsistence in her own hands, and having acquired industrious habits, she will be less likely to fall into those temptations that result from the pressure of severe necessity.

It is a principal object of the Institution, that she shall be carefully instructed in the duties of the religion of HIM who said to the accused woman, "Neither do I condemn thee; Go, and sin no more." Those essential doctrines of the Gospel are especially inculcated, which point to HIM as "the Lamb slain, whose blood cleanseth from all sin," whose righteousness completely justifies the sinner, and whose Spirit quickens, enlightens, and sanctifies the soul. It may be satisfactory to some readers to be informed also, that these Doctrines are explained in exact correspondence with the Articles and Liturgy of the Church of England.

The necessary connexion that exists between the principles of the Gospel, a virtuous state of the affections, and an unblemished course of life are particularly insisted upon; and the penitent urged by those motives that are peculiar to Christianity, to exhibit the excellent tendency of its doctrines in a correspondent temper and conduct. The tenderness with which this is done, bespeaks a benevolent disposition towards the penitent, who recognizes in the instructions of her female visitor, rather the familiar conversation of an affectionate friend, than the formal instructions of a preceptress.

Of the vast importance of those restraints upon the conduct which the solemn sanctions of religion impose, no pious and reflecting person can be insensible. The spiritual illumination of the mind, by quickening the sensibility of the conscience to the immediate as well as ultimate consequences of transgression, constitutes a most powerful counteractive to the force of temptation, and must tend, in a very high degree, to secure the great and valuable ends of the Institution. In this view, as well as in others still more important, the subject of religious instruction, and the mode in which it should be administered, receive the most serious attention from the managers of this Establishment.

After a suitable period of probation, all prudent means are employed to induce the relations or friends of the reclaimed Female to receive her under their protection, and to provide a proper situation for her. In case such a reconciliation is found to be impracticable, then the superintendants of the Institution endeavour to place her in a safe and reputable situation; such as may be best suited to her capacity and qualifications; and after she is thus reputably stationed, the Charity still continues to recognize her. Should she behave well, the Society testifies its approbation by pecuniary rewards, to be given at the termination of each of the two or three first years subsequent to her leaving the Institution,—it being a constant rule with the charity to discourage the giving high wages in the first instance.

Such, generally, is the Plan of THE LONDON FEMALE PENITENTIARY. Who can describe the numerous and important advantages which may result from such a Charity? Who can appreciate the value and extent of that good, which is implied in the entire reformation of a single unfortunate Female?—To snatch the seduced from the brink, and the more depraved from the gulf, of prostitution, and to place them under the mild discipline and salutary influence of such an establishment, is to connect every sort of charity together, and to include almost every kind of good in one.

To do this, is at once, to deliver the tempted, to rescue the ensnared, to save the perishing from ruin, to supply the destitute, to shelter the exposed, to instruct the ignorant, to reclaim the wicked, and to restore her who is covered with ignominy and contempt, to a condition in which she may respect herself, and be respected by others. By such an act of benevolence, we may not only contribute to deliver the suffering mind from the anguish of guilt, but to fill it with "the peace that passeth all understanding"—not only to heal the body, but to purify the soul;—not only to fit the individual for returning to society, but to prepare the immortal spirit for its ascension to God. We contribute not only to lessen the general amount of human misery, but to prevent the repetition of crimes, and to diminish the number of temptations. We relieve Society from one, who might greatly have augmented the mass of public depravity, and restore her to it again "blessed, and a blessing." Nor let us be insensible to the joy that we may be instrumental in imparting to many affectionate parents, whose days are, perhaps, now clouded with melancholy, and their hearts wrung with anguish, whenever they reflect upon the sufferings, guilt, and infamy, in which a beloved daughter is involved. The sensations, however, of rapturous delight that must be felt when such a daughter reclaimed, returns to the bosom of her parents,—are utterly beyond the power of language to describe.

To the female part of the community the object of this appeal presents itself under aspects of uncommonly strong and peculiar interest. We are persuaded that no virtuous female can contemplate the subject but with a heart throbbing with the mingled emotions of sorrow and compassion.

We cannot, therefore, but entertain the most encouraging and gratifying expectations from the ardour and exertions of female benevolence, and rely, in a considerable degree, upon these, for the support, as well as for the success of the Institution. Ye highly-favoured women! whom a merciful Providence hath preserved in the path of virtue, and shielded from the shafts of reproach, who are blessed with all the mild charities of virtuous and domestic society, and cheered by the hopes and consolations of a Divine Religion, say,—can you be insensible, and inactive in such a cause as this? Oh, no, It is impossible. Your hearts, full of sensibility and tenderness, cannot but kindle into a flame of gratitude to your great Preserver and Benefactor, and, as a suitable expression of that gratitude, into ardent benevolence towards those unhappy females, whom we so earnestly recommend to your attention. We should neither do justice to your feelings nor to our own, if we did not anticipate with heartfelt satisfaction, the happy effects of your zeal and activity in this interesting cause. Yes. We see you animated as by one heart, step forward to save these perishing daughters of affliction. We see the tears of sympathy and compassion glistening in your eyes—and your liberal hands attesting the generous emotions of your souls. We hear you, in the native eloquence of the heart, pleading the cause of suffering humanity—awakening the insensible, stimulating the inactive, exciting liberality in the selfish, and imparting to the benevolent mind a more ardent zeal, and a more active energy. We behold you, in short, employing all the peculiar influence of your sex, and in all your relations as wives, mothers, daughters, sisters,—in promoting the interests and success of an Institution, which, we wish you never to forget, is founded for the relief of the miserable of your own sex exclusively.

The preceding pages contain an account of the establishment and constitution of the Female Penitentiary. As, however, five years have now elapsed since the foundation of the Charity, it may reasonably be expected that some information should be added, as to what has been accomplished during that period. This will be extracted chiefly from the published Reports of the Institution.

From the commencement of the Charity in 1807, until September, 1812, there have been

Of those who have applied, the average age is from 15 to 20 years. Some of them who have been received into the Charity, were poor orphan children, who, in their tender years, had fallen into the hands of designing women, by whom they had been treated with atrocious barbarity. Others who had moved in a superior condition of life, when neither destitute nor forsaken, voluntarily abandoned their vicious courses, at once detesting their sin, and dreading its bitter consequences. Others again, to whom this asylum has been emphatically a secure shelter, and who have looked to its supporters as their only

Guardians, had been the wretched victims of their still more wretched false friends. Some, who having been discharged from workhouses, when restored to health, (but from want of character, could not get a livelihood) have sought a refuge in the Penitentiary, that they might not be tempted to return again to the paths of vice. Others have found a refuge there, who received their first checks in the very walks of sin, by reading religious tracts casually given to them. Some, natives of foreign climes, brought over to this country by their betrayers, have, after passing through various scenes of distress, at length found their way into this House of Mercy. A few, also, who in moments of despair, had attempted to lay violent hands on themselves, have become its penitent, thankful, and happy inmates. Again, others have been received, who had been betrayed at a very early age, under fallacious promises of marriage. And some, who, attracted by the hope of better wages and finer clothes, had imprudently left the country for London, where, being unable to obtain places, they had been inveigled by bad men, or designing women, into houses of ill fame. Several have applied for admission at the recommendation of medical Gentlemen attending hospitals, or by the advice of benevolent persons who had accidentally seen and pitied them. Many have applied from the unrelenting conduct of their relations or friends, who had refused to be reconciled to them. And not a few from serious and alarming apprehensions of the consequences of sin, not only in this, but in a future world.

Out of these numerous applicants, 210 have been taken under the protection of the Charity, and with comparatively few exceptions, have manifested an alteration of spirit and character, which has been highly gratifying to the managers. They have been diligent and industrious; some of them working earlier, and later, than required by the rules, for the purpose of expediting the various business which is constantly performing in the house.* Several have given evidence of real and unquestionable piety, which has been most satisfactorily evinced by a love of religious duties and conversation, by humility, by self-denial, by patience and forbearance, by submission to their superiors, and exact obedience to the rules of the House; by tenderness and affection towards their fellow inmates, by delight in serving them and promoting their comfort, especially when ill, and in seasonable and friendly efforts to promote their religious advantage, by counsel and advice, and sometimes by gentle and kind admonitions. Indeed, the general state of the Institution has exhibited, and still continues to present a far more gratifying spectacle of regular employment, devotional exercises, subordination, harmony, and peace, than can well be imagined by those who have not had an opportunity of witnessing it.

Those placed out to service have, with a few exceptions, conducted themselves to the satisfaction of their Employers. Six have since been married, and are reputably and comfortably settled. From several, letters have been received, containing expressions of the most lively gratitude for the blessings which they enjoy by means of the charity. Some have used efforts to induce their fellow-servants to read the Holy Scriptures, and to attend Divine Worship on the Sabbath. Twelve have received the reward of one guinea for having lived in their respective places for one year; five the reward of two guineas for having lived in their places two years; and two for having lived in their places three years. All of these, on being presented with the reward, expressed their grateful thanks, and some with tears in their eyes, begged the Committee would allow them to return it; the expressions of one on this occasion, were, "I request you will accept of it, as a free-will and thank offering from a happy penitent, whose soul and body have been snatched from destruction, through the means afforded by this asylum of mercy; and I hope every year to send my Subscription." Numerous letters have been received by the Managers from the parents and relations of those who have been rescued from vice, and restored to society by the instrumentality of this Charity, full of expressions which shew how deeply they feel their obligations to the Institution, and the satisfaction which they enjoy in contemplating the great change which has been effected in their late immoral and unhappy relatives. The deceased parent of one of these, as a testimony of his gratitude, as well as of the strong sense he entertained of the importance of the Charity, has bequeathed to it a legacy of £100.

In addition to many ample donations and legacies from various individuals, the charity has received three donations of Bibles for the use of the penitents, from the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Mrs. Stibbs, the resident Matron of the Institution, and Mr. Stibbs, her husband, have, from its foundation, gratuitously and indefatigably exerted themselves to promote its interests, not only in the constant superintendence of the House, but by successful efforts out of it; which have materially added to its funds. It is impossible to convey too strong an impression of the zeal and application displayed by these respectable and worthy individuals, in the discharge of the arduous duties which they have voluntarily imposed upon themselves.

The successful endeavours of the Committee of Ladies, have fully demonstrated the wisdom of their original appointment. Much, indeed, of the utility of the Charity is to be ascribed to their prudent and zealous exertions.

Dr. Pinckard, the Physician, and Wm. Blair, Esq. the Surgeon, of the Penitentiary, have, from its establishment, continued with most unwearied and benevolent attention, their gratuitous and professional services in behalf of the Institution.

During the last year, the Charity has been honored with the illustrious patronage of HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS the PRINCE REGENT, who has condescended to express, that he feels much gratification in affording his best support to so laudable an Establishment.

The friends of this Institution will be gratified to hear, that the wing lately erected is now finished, and has begun to extend its merciful shelter over many perishing daughters of affliction—the number of objects being now increased to seventy. When the Infirmary and Prompt Reception Ward, at present building in the garden, are completed, it is calculated that the charity will receive one hundred objects.

The estimates of the additional Erections are as follow:—

Estimate for the Wing now completed, Tank, and Surveyor's Charges	2214	2	9

	445	1	11
Sum wanted to complete the additional Buildings, exclusive of absolutely necessary Furniture	£2276	15	3

From the above Statement, the absolute necessity of very considerable pecuniary aid is apparent, and the Committee do not doubt that it will be cheerfully and liberally afforded. No reasonable and honest appeal to British benevolence and humanity ever fails. With respect to those who have perused the successive Annual Reports of the Committees, no arguments can be necessary to shew the great utility of the Charity, or the singular excellence of its constitution and management; still less can they be required by such as have visited and inspected the Asylum, and confirmed their original conviction of its importance, by actual observation, and personal inquiry. But, however satisfactory has been the evidence in favour of the administration and beneficial tendency of the Charity, still it must be acknowledged, that the internal advantages of the Establishment have not yet been fully obtained. For want of room, the wards have not hitherto been kept sufficiently distinct; and from this cause, especially, it has been found impracticable to give to the original constitution of the Charity its due operation and effect. Much inconvenience and perplexity have arisen from this source, and to it several instances of failure which have occurred may, in a great degree, be attributed.

By the enlargements which are now making, not only will these disadvantages be avoided, and the necessity for the present Infirmary in John-street superseded, but the invaluable blessings of the Institution will likewise be thereby extended to double the number of objects.

The Committee flatter themselves that it is only necessary to apprise the friends of the Charity of these facts, in order to re-excite their liberality, and to put their zeal again into action—to impel them with benevolent and Christian alacrity round the circle of their relatives and friends, and even among strangers, to plead with new energy and importunity the cause of their fellow-creatures, suffering under the most distressing forms of human misery, and more likely than any other part of society in their misery to perish. The Committee are encouraged to hope from the zeal of these advocates of humanity, that, while they solicit the donation for the Building Fund, they will plead with Non-Subscribers for their Annual Subscriptions also, aware that the enlargement of the Asylum will necessarily require a proportionable increase of the permanent income. They hope too, that while they obtain the present gift, and a promise of future countenance and support, they will also endeavour, where they can prudently make the attempt, to induce the BENEFACTOR to act also as an ADVOCATE; that so, like the circles made in water, one impulse of benevolent zeal may propagate another. Thus may the friends of this interesting Charity continually be multiplied, and its Funds from time to time seasonably and bountifully replenished. Thus may the Institution itself acquire, under the sanction of Heaven, a firm and immovable establishment, in the permanent benevolence of the country, and continue to open its merciful gates to the objects for which it was founded, as long as such Objects present themselves seeking such a REFUGE. But so great is our confidence in the liberality of the public, that we cannot, for a moment, entertain an apprehension, that the existence of the present Institution will ever be endangered, or its utility circumscribed, by the uncertainty or scantiness of its resources. On the contrary, we cherish the pleasing hope that it will be supported with augmented munificence and liberality, so as to admit still greater additions, and a larger number of objects than have yet been even contemplated.

From an Institution of so merciful, so interesting a character, it is presumed that no Christian will withhold his approbation, nor, without urgent necessity, refuse his support. For what principle is there that can influence the heart to benevolence, which may not here find its appropriate gratification?—Is it Philanthropy?—it is here fully exerted in relieving the destitute, comforting the forlorn, and providing for the outcast: Is it Patriotism?—it has here its scope in restoring the broken bonds of society, and removing some of those springs of corruption and disorder which accelerate the progress of national subversion: Is it Religion?—it here receives its peculiar employment, in teaching the ignorant, warning the wicked, reclaiming the wandering, and displaying before the chief of penitent sinners the mercies and the merits of the SAVIOUR.
