Papers connected with the Execution of the Will of John Longmore Esq.
of Worcester

L 77/1

Mr J Longmore's observations
(Mayor of Worcester) to J N. Feb 19/84

My will is in my writing desk, and the smallest key on the bunch belongs to it.

The securities of my property are in a tin box in a cupboard of my bed-room.

My nephew has got a copy of the securities, but not of the will.

I should be most glad if my nieces wd come to live here, in which case they should have all the furniture, and then my nephew could come to them every year, as he now comes to me. If they decline to come, the furniture must be sold but it will fetch very little

I have provided for Hannah in my will, but no part of the furniture is for her, unless it is a set of china I gave her some years ago (over)

I die in the hope of God's mercy and my Saviour's.

I have drawn two cheques — one for £20 for present use in the house & the other for £50 for my nephew to do what is right in case of my death. They are both in the desk.

Dear Mr Longmore
I enclose proof of advt.
that you may see the day of sale. Mr Cattley has let the house to Mrs.
Willetts, and as she is to pay £46 the advance in rent will be a very good per centage on Mr. Cattley's outlay, even if he spends £70 besides your £30.
On the whole I think he has no reason to be dissatisfied. Mr Hobbs has taken the inventory to-day.

I have got a bundle of MSS.
to keep for you, as we did not like for private letters & other memoranda to find their way to the public eye.
If there is anything we can do for you, pray command
us. Very truly yrs

Foregate St

Dear Mess^rs Hobbs

He could not tell what the expense would be, but so far as proving the Will there are regular charges, & of course the other charges depend upon the complication, or otherwise, of the business. Its very little expense for your Sister to renounce, there are printed forms, I think you would find it better for her to do so, then, there would be no occasion for sending the Papers backwards, & forwards for signature. If more convenient I dont see why the Will should not be proved at Southampton it may not be legal, the question may be articles, After the Furniture &c is valued, you would decide whether you had a Sale at the House, or removed to some room. Sh^d look over all the securities & note them down particularly, as it will be useful afterwards, of course there is plenty of time to do it in day times, only perhaps you will not be able to stay here long.

You will no doubt come upon a Book, where your Uncle put all down, as he received the Dividends
