TO MAKE

Sir Hans Sloane's Milk Chocolate

I N T H E P O T .

TO one Ounce of Chocolate (which is two Squares) put Half a Pint of boiling Water, with Sugar; mill it a little, to break the Chocolate into the Water; then give it one Boil up (which Boiling makes the Chocolate incorporate the sooner) then mill it two or three Minutes; take the Mill out of the Pot, and catch a Drop of Chocolate that falls from it in a Tea Spoon; if it be free from Particles of Chocolate, it is sufficiently mill'd. Add Half a Pint of Milk, give it another Boil, and it is fit for Use: But, if you choose to have it made with all milk; then to one Ounce, put Half a Pint of boiling Milk, and proceed as before directed. If this Method is literally followed, it will save much Time: For the common Error in making of Chocolate, is putting too much Water to it before it is mill'd.

DIRECTIONS for Using Mr. MUDGE'S INHALER.

IN the Evening a little before Bed-time, the Patient, if of adult Age, is to take Three Drachms, or as many Tea-Spoonfuls of Elixir Pare-oricum, in a Glas of Water: If the Subject is younger, for Instance, under Five Years old, One Tea-Spoonful; or within that and Ten Years, Two. (Each Tea-Spoonful contains somewhat less than One Quarter of a Grain of Opium.) About Three Quarters of an Hour after, the Patient should go to Bed, and being covered warm, the INHALER Three Parts filled with Water nearly boiling, (which from the Coldness of the Metal, and the Time it ordinarily takes before it is used by the Patient, will be of a proper Degree of Warmth,) and being wrapped up in a Napkin, but so that the Valve in the Cover is not obstructed by it, is to be placed at the Arm-Pit, and the Bed-Cloaths being drawn up and over it close to the Throat, the Tube is to be applied to the Mouth, and the Patient should inspire and expire through it about Twenty Minutes, or Half an Hour.

* * For a more particular Account of the Use and Benefit of the INHALER, see Mr. MUDGE's Treatise, entitled, A Radical and Expedition Cure for a Recent Catarrhus Cough. Sold by J. WALTER, Bookseller, at Charing-Cross.

A certain CURE for the STONE or GRAVEL.

SIR,

A Son of mine now in his seventh year, was born with the Stone in his Bladder, attended with all the symptoms of that dreadful disorder: in vain were the most eminent of the Faculty, and the most estimable solvents tried. In this hopeless situation, a friend recommended the following remedy, which was strictly adhered to for five weeks before relief appeared—the stone then dissolved, and gradually discharged itself, accompanied with a large quantity of mucilaginous matter, when in about six weeks more, the cure was perfected.

For the benefit of mankind in general, I submit this Case to their perusal, that the unhappy may receive the advantage of a remedy, at once cheap, easy, and efficacious; not doubting your readiness to insert the same. Any enquiries will be readily answered by,

Your humble Servant,

J. C. S.

May 20, 1790.

No. 66, Mark-lane.

RECEIPT.—Take a large handful of the Fibres of Garden Leeks, put thereto two quarts of soft water, let them be close covered, and simmer gently over the fire till reduced to one, then pour it off and drink a pint in the course of the day, divided, morning, noon, and night; this is a sufficient quantity for a man or woman.

It may be useful to many of our readers to know, that one of the most simple and efficacious remedies for a sore throat is a gargle made with a strong decoction of carrots, which very soon removes all inflammation and soreness.

RECEIPT for the GRAVEL in all its stages.---Take of Castile Soap, according to the quantity of pills you mean to make, cut it thin into some Syrup of marshmallows, then make it immediately into pills, almost double the size of a pea, and take two of them twice every day. Although it may seem very simple, relief will be found in the course of an hour or two, let the disorder be ever so bad.

The library hunting Belles were this day quite at a loss; nothing was to be seen upon the Steine, but umbrellas, sad looks, and drooping plumage; and happy the fair Philosopher, who could seize upon the first volume of the last sentimental novel.

FISHER'S Auction Room was however full, as usual, in the evening.
