FOREWORD

The manuscripts described in this volume represent about fifteen per cent of the collection of Western manuscripts in the Wellcome Historical Medical Library. These 800 entries comprise about 1500 individual works which were written wholly or in part before the year 1650, the oldest being an Anglo-Saxon manuscript from about 1025 A.D. All but a few of them were acquired by the late Sir Henry Wellcome between 1896 and 1936, the year of his death. His object was to collect documents illustrating the development of medical and scientific thought rather than works of great artistic merit or beauty. That some of the manuscripts described here fall into this second category is more or less accidental and in this catalogue more attention is paid to the matter of a work than to the manner of its presentation. As a collection, it is still largely unexplored, although it provides a wealth of material for research in the history of science and medicine. The magnificent Apocalypse (No. 49), which was purchased at Sotheby's in 1935 and was on loan for several years to the British Museum, was studied by the late Fritz Saxl, who published a substantial account of its chief features, but many less spectacular manuscripts listed here may be equally important.

The compiler of this catalogue, Mr. S. A. J. Moorat, was Librarian of the Wellcome Library from 1931 to 1946, and during that time he was personally responsible for acquiring a number of fine and important manuscripts, notably those from the Dietrichstein Library. Since he retired from that office he has catalogued on cards the entire collection of Western manuscripts, and this first instalment of his catalogue is published in the hope that it will provide the scholar with a detailed guide to some of the earliest and most important of them.

INTRODUCTION

In the making of this catalogue particular emphasis has been given to the actual contents of the manuscripts. Concise details of collation, script, etc., are of course included, but my main object has been to give information on the authorship and subject-matter of these writings. With this in view special attention has been given to the identification of anonymous or incomplete works.

As regards the form of personal name, that given in the MS. itself has been usually adopted as a heading in the case of authors whose names have not been traced in the bibliographies. In the case of mediaeval authors, strict consistency in style of nomenclature has been found to be impracticable, and the headings used are those which seem to be most commonly found in histories and catalogues. Thus we find 'PETRUS de Abano', but also 'RUPESCISSA (Johannes de)' rather than 'JOHANNES de Rupescissa', which would relegate the name to a long series of other 'Johannes', and so be less easy to find quickly: in all such cases the necessary cross-references have been supplied. In general, especially as regards authors writing before 1500, the Latin form of the name is used, and this has also been employed for Arabic writers, such names as 'Avicenna', 'Rhazes', etc., being adopted instead of a philologically correct, but probably less familiar, Arabic version.

Anonymous works are entered by the first word of the title, if not an article. Where there is no title, a subject-heading has been used; e.g. 'HERBALS, 16th cent.'

The various aspects of the manuscript which are made the subject of study provide material for the several indexes which follow the main catalogue. These show the chronological and linguistic distribution (where early MSS. in Provencal and Welsh attract attention), the subjects covered, the provenance (with no less than 31 former Phillipps and 11 Ashburnham MSS.), illustrations, bindings, and scribes.

It is my pleasant duty gratefully to acknowledge the kindness and co-operation I have always received from my friend and colleague, Dr. F. N. L. Poynter, and from all members of the staff of the Wellcome Historical Medical Library. Among them I particularly wish to mention Mr. S. H. Watkins and Mr. H. W. Burr for their ever ready and obliging assistance in finding books from the Library, and fetching MSS. from the Library Strong-Room. Last but not least, I should like to express my appreciation and thanks to my former typist, Mrs. D. M. Dobbin, and to her successor Mrs. D. N. Smith. With unfailing speed, accuracy, and diligence, these two ladies have typed out several thousands of cards, and coped cheerfully and patiently not only with the eccentricities of my hand-writing, but also with the difficulties of various unfamiliar languages.

The Author of some at least of these Commentaries is the Franciscan Adam de Bockfeld [Buckfeld]. In Emden's 'Biographical Register of the University of

ADAM DE BOUCHERMEFORT

Oxford to 1500', Vol. I, p. 297 [s.v. BUCKFELD], he is stated to have been studying at Oxford in 1238, and was M.A. by 1243. He became Vicar of West Rounton, Yorks in the same year, and Vicar of Iver, Bucks in 1249. He was Canon and Prebendary of Lincoln c. 1265, and died between 1278 and 1294.

These Commentaries and the MSS. in which they are found have been studied by Martin Grabmann in his 'Mittelalterliche lateinische Aristotelesübersetzungen und Aristoteleskommentare' ('Sitzungsberichte der Bayerischen Akademie der Wissenschaften', 1928) and in 'Die Aristoteleskommentatoren Adam von Bocfeld und Adam von Bouchermefort' ('Mittelalterliches Geistesleben', Vol. II, pp. 138-182, 614-616. 1936). The question of the identity of the two Adams was discussed and left doubtful in Grabmann's second work. But in 1929 Franz Pelster reviewing Grabmann's paper in 'Scholastik' IV, and in an article on Adam von Bocfeld in Vol. XI of that Journal in 1936, came to the conclusion that the two Adams were one and the same person. This view was further expanded and maintained by S. H. Thomson in his 'Note on the works of Magister Adam de Bocfeld (Bouchermefort)' in 'Medievalia et Humanistica' fasc. II, pp. 55-87, 1945, and in his 'Note on Master Adam of Bocfeld' in the same Journal, fasc. XI, pp. 23-32. 1958.

Some of these commentaries have been identified in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits': Physica, 371 (Adam de Bouchermefort); De coelo et mundo, (Anon.) 336; De sensu et sensato, (Anon.) 587; De somno et vigilia, (Anon.) 183; Anima et spiritus, 364; Meteorologica, (Adam de Bocfeld) 359; Memoria, (Anon.) 622.

2 bl. ll., 136 ll. 4to. 26 × 17½ cm. [Vercelli.] 1580-1586.

Original half vellum binding. Illustrated by pen-drawn horoscopes. The work begins with a poetical dedication by the Author to his son, with whose future life, as forecast by astrological methods, this MS. is mainly concerned. At the end is a note of the births of four other children, the last in 1586, but the main work was completed in 1580.

On the first leaf 'Ex bibliotheca Conventus Sancti Francisci Vercellarum'.

Purchased 1924. (43590)

6. AEGIDIUS Abbas. De vita et gestis sancti Henrici Imperatoris. Followed by GERSON (J.) De pollutionibus diurnis.

22 ll. 4to. 20 × 14½ cm. 1473.

19th cent. calf binding. The end is wanting.

Written in a small semi-current gothic hand, 32 lines to a page. Title, capitals and paragraph marks in red.

The last three 'Considerationes' are missing.

Aegidius Abbas has not been identified.

Gerson's work was first printed at Cologne in 1466.

Pasted inside the upper cover is a slip, probably written early in the 16th cent. giving the titles of the two works in this MS.

AEGIDIUS Columna. See COLUMNA (Aegidius) [1247?-1316].

7. AEGIDIUS Corboliensis [GILLES de Corbeil] [1140?-1224]. Carmina de iudiciis urinarum. Preceded by a fragment in English containing medical receipts, notes on the colours of urines, etc.

6 ll. 4to. 21 × 14 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum. 19th cent. half-calf binding, defective.

The 'Proemium' is wanting, and the last three lines of the poem are missing. Inner margins are defective throughout, and the first 12 lines of the text of the poem are badly rubbed. Some leaves are wanting after the third leaf.

The English text is in a small semi-current hand in two columns 38 lines to a column, with paragraph marks in red. The Latin text is in a rounded gothic hand, 39 lines to a page, with headings in red.

The second and third leaves contain 20 crude pen-drawings of urine flasks, some roughly coloured, with Latin headings and English explanatory text.

The poem is complete except for the 'Proemium' and the last three lines, according to the text as printed in C. Vieillard's 'L'Urologie et les Médecins urologues', Paris, 1903.

This work was first printed at Padua in 1483.

Stated in a cutting from a bookseller's catalogue, pasted on the inside of the upper cover, to be from the library of James Orchard Halliwell-Phillipps [1820-1889].

8. AGRICOLA (JOHANNES) [1589-1643]. Compendium of chirurgery.
 4 bl. ll. + 125 ll. (last 8 bl.). 4to. 20 × 15½ cm. [c. 1640.]

18th cent. panelled calf binding.

The identity of the Author has been established by the reference on l.63<sup>v</sup> to the 'edition of my Institutiones Chirurgicae' which was published at Frankfort in 1634 (cf. Haller): and to 'my Chymical Laboratory [sic] shortly to be publish'd (l.81), as well as to his 'Great Chirurgery' where he says on l.8, alluding to the 'Antipathy of Spirits', 'which here in this Compendium we shall not further discourse on, it may be done in my great Chirurgery'.

Now the entry in Jöcher's 'Gelehrten Lexicon', Vol. I, col. 151 s.v. 'Agricola' ends, 'Versprach auch "Chirurgiam magnam" und "Laboratorium chymicum" zu publiciren, starb aber noch 1643 in 54 Jahr seines Alters'. In the text are several allusions to incidents in his life, and accounts of cases he treated; among others 'for Anno 1631, in the great plundering at Thuring I was stabbed in two places, the arm and the left breast, I had noe body to dress it, and was besides a captive stripped and naked . . .' The latest date given in the text is 1633 on l.73<sup>v</sup>.

Johann Agricola was an iatrochemist and a strong partisan of Paracelsian doctrines. [Cf. Ferguson 'Bibliotheca chemica', Vol. I, pp. 11, 12.] The work has not been published either in the original German or in English.

Purchased 1934. (79057)

9. AGRIPPA (HENRICUS CORNELIUS) [1486-1535]. De occulta philosophia libri tres.

6 ll. + CCCLXIII pp. folio.  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 20$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original half vellum binding.

Illustrated with 7 wash drawings of the 'Astrological Man', etc. and by numerous figures of sigils, etc. Text within red rules.

A copy of the rare first edition, published by Johann Soter in Cologne. A note on a fly-leaf by Johann Ferdinand Rücker, Pfarrer of Thannhausen, states that he bought it at a book-sale at Nürnberg on 17 November, 1789.

Armorial book-plate [unidentified].

Purchased 1930. (56404)

220 ll. (last bl.). folio.  $27\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern paper covers. Some margins frayed, and slightly cropped throughout. Illustrated with numerous pen-drawn sigils, diagrams, etc. Besides the main work by Agrippa, the MS. contains also his 'In geomanticam disciplinam lectura', after which is the pseudonymous fourth book of the 'Occult Philosophy', 'De ceremoniis magicis'. The works of Agrippa are followed by:

PETRUS de Abano. Heptameron, seu elementa magica.

PICTORIUS Villinganus (Georgius). De speciebus magiae ceremonialis quam goetiam vocant epitome.

PLINIUS SECUNDUS (Caius). Libri XXX, Capitulum I et II. Naturalis Historiae: De arte magica.

GERARDUS Cremonensis. Geomantiae astronomicae libellus.

ARBATEL de magia seu pneumatika Veterum.

These works are all printed in the collected edition of Agrippa's works, published at Lyons 'apud Beringos fratres' and undated, but probably c. 1565. This MS. is a transcript of most of the first volume of that edition.

Published 1930. (55359).

Library stamp of Karl Haiser on first leaf, and his Ex-libris inside the cover.

ALBERTUS MAGNUS

The author of this commentary is apparently unknown, and the work is unpublished. There is a middle 15th cent. copy in the Zürich Library, Car. C. iii. (Cf. Thorndike, 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 300.)
Purchased 1922. (42023)

12. — De natura et origine animae. De nutrimento et nutritio. De intellectu et intelligibili. De causis et processu universitatis. CAMPO (Heymericus de) [—1460] Compendium ethicum. Commentum super libro Florum philosophiae. Opusculum quadripartitum philosophicum.

98 ll. + 198 [wrongly numbered 188] ff. folio. 28½ × 21 cm. 1450.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards: back-strip and both clasps wanting.

The first work is unfoliated, and three leaves have been torn out between l.33 and l.34.

The second work has the original foliation in which ff. 187, 188 have been dropped, and the last leaf numbered 188 instead of 198. Fol. 100 is wanting.

Written in a neat semi-current German script, in double column of 41–55 lines to a column. Some large initials, capitals, paragraph marks and headings in red.

An inscription of 1½ lines on the verso of the last leaf has been erased. According to the compiler of Sotheby's Catalogue for 6-9 June 1910, 'This manuscript is probably from the Monastery of St. Barbara at Cologne'.

Phillipps MS. No. 614.

Purchased at Sotheby's 6/6/1910, Lot 6. (26864)

13. — Semita recta. Preceded by an incomplete and unidentified alchemical work. 69 ll. 8vo. 16 × 12 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum: original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, spine damaged. Leather portion of a brass and leather clasp wanting.

Leaves wanting after ff. 17, 51, 57, 65, 67: first leaf slightly rubbed, with loss of part of the Incipit.

Written in a large gothic script, 14 lines to a page: capitals, Incipits, and paragraph marks in red.

Written by another hand inside the upper cover 'Anno 1492'.

Owing to the rubbing of the text, the precise title of the first work is not legible, and the 'Incipit' is not given in Thorndike's 'Catalogue'. It describes the processes for making the 'Elixir' and has many quotations from the 'Turba', Geber, Morigenes [Moriemus?] and other Arabic alchemists.

For alchemical works ascribed to Albertus Magnus, including the 'Semita recta', cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, pp. 569-573; Vol. III, p. 42.

Phillipps MS. No. 486, with his Library-stamp on the verso of the last leaf.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Phillipps Sale) 6/6/1910, Lot 10. (44198)

14. — Liber mineralium. Books I and II only. 2 ll. + 39 ll. folio. 30 × 20½ cm. [c. 1475.]

18th cent. limp vellum covers. Verso of last leaf slightly rubbed, some headings and text badly faded.

Written in a small neat humanistic hand, 28 lines to a page.

This work was first printed at Padua in 1476.

On the second fly-leaf is a note in pencil 'Alberti Magni MS. 1474', but no date can be found in this MS. as it exists at present.

ALBERTUS DE PLACENTIA

On the first fly-leaf is a signature 'Barba' by an early 17th cent. hand, which may possibly be that of Alvaro Alonso Barba, the metallurgist and author of 'Arte de los metales', Madrid, 1640.

130 ll. folio. 28½ × 22 cm. Montpellier. 1408.

Modern half-stamped calf binding over wooden boards. Last leaf slightly defective, and the outer margin repaired.

Written in double column of 46-48 lines to a column, by the same scribe throughout, in a semi-cursive gothic hand. Capitals and paragraph marks in red.

This work was first printed at Venice in 1500.

On the verso of the last leaf is a note of ownership in a 15th cent. hand, crossed through and illegible. Below this by a later 15th cent. hand, 'Iste liber est ad usum librarii [?] Fratris Johannis baudi', who may possibly be the 'Jean Baude, barbier et chirurgien d'Amiens, 1488-1510' entered in Wickersheimer's 'Dictionnaire biographique' 1936, p. 359.

At the bottom of the page 'Iste liber est ad usum Fratris francisci domini de bagulio'.

The name 'Michola', found at the end of the colophon, also occurs several times written at the end of the separate books.

Purchased at Milan (Hoepli Sale), 3/5/1928, Lot 176. (47983)

16. ALBICUS (SIGISMUNDUS) [1347?-1427]. Regimen sanitatis. ARNOLDUS de Villanova. De conservatione memoriae. Written by Henricus de Geismar, Prior Canonicus in Buben et Capellanus.

69 ll. (first & last 3 bl.). 8vo. 20½ × 14½ cm. Breslau. 1422-1437.

Original red-dyed sheepskin binding over wooden boards. Of the five metal bosses on each cover, only two remain on the lower cover: and of the clasps only the two pin-attachments are left.

Some leaves worn and margins frayed.

The fly-leaves at the beginning and end are from a vellum 14th cent. Lectionary.

Written in a semi-current gothic hand in double column of 31 lines to a column. Capitals mostly in red, a few in blue or green: headings and paragraph marks mainly in red, a few in green.

The three works of Albicus which have been printed are 'Praxis medendi', 'Regimen hominis seu Vetularius', and 'Regimen pestilentiae'. These were published at Leipzig in 1484.

Sudhoff seems to be of the opinion that these three works are really one work (Cf. 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Vol. VII, pp. 19-92.) This MS. does not contain the Plague tract.

In the lower margin of fol. 2 'Inscriptus Catalogo Fratrum de Oliua 1617', and in the space between the columns of text by a different 17th cent. hand, 'Ordinis Cisterciensis in Prussia'.

Purchased 1930. (63211)

- 40 An inscription by an early 16th cent. hand: 'Adi primo delle pentecoste fu sepolito Henrico [?] Cunial [?] et erano incirca giorni 15 che io lo medicaua il putto di Maestro Zuane Zardoy [?]'.

This work was first printed at Venice in 1471.

The MS. originally formed part of a larger volume which also contained the 'Ordinationes receptarum' by Petrus de Tussignano [MS. No. 781], which is written by the same scribe.

— Liber Servitoris. [Beginning of Book 28 only.] See MISCELLANEA Medica XXXVI, 4. (560)

18. ALBUMASAR [ -886]. Tractatus de revolutionibus nativitatum. Introductorium majus. [Incomplete] Preceded by MESSAHALA. De interrogationibus.

14 ll. folio. 28 × 21 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern vellum binding. On the outside of the upper cover is pasted a small vellum strip containing the titles of the three works, probably cut out from an original fly-leaf.

Written in a neat gothic hand in double columns of 50 lines to a column.

Capitals, paragraph marks, and headings in red.

On the first leaf, in the lower margin, is a pen-drawn circular diagram added by a contemporary owner.

The two works by Albumasar were first printed in full by Ratdolt at Augsburg in 1489, and of these the 'Introductorium' was translated by Hermannus de Carinthia (Cf. Haskins: 'Studies in mediaeval science'. Ch. III). The work by Messahala was first printed at Venice in 1493 in an edition of Ptolemy's 'Centiloquium' etc.

19. — Liber introductorii maioris in magisterio scientiae astrorum e dictione Albumasar et interpretatione Johannis Yspalensis [Hispani] ex arabico in latinum. Liber experimentorum Albumasar. Liber de operatione astrolabii [ejusdem]. Liber de constructione astrolabii [Johannis Hispani]. Liber de operatione astrolabii [Messahala]. Written by Guidotus, surgeon of Vicenza.

98 ff. [+4+8 inserted ll.]. folio. 29 × 21 cm. Vicenza. 1332-1335.

On vellum; the inserted leaves, paper. 18th cent. quarter-vellum binding.

Many leaves stained with fading of text, especially those written in red; some leaves show contemporary repairs from vellum strips.

Written in a gothic script in double column 46-48 lines to a column.

Astrological tables on ff. 29, 29<sup>v</sup> and 31, in red and black.

ALBUMASAR

The inserted leaves are written apparently by Alessandro Padoani whose signature is on fol. 3, and may be dated c. 1600. The first 4 ll.—inserted between fol. 2 and fol. 3—are headed 'Scriptoris incuria quae hic scripta sunt omissa fuerunt [in] lib. V differentia quarta . . .'

The other 8 leaves—inserted between fol. 18 and fol. 19—contain a continuation of the text from the first 'differentia' to the end of the third 'tractatus'.

The first two vellum leaves are not foliated, but the text begins on a leaf foliated 3.

On the verso of Fol. 98 in the upper corner is written by a late 16th cent. hand 'Sig. Thomaso Balena in casa del Sig Bartolomeo Boccamag' [Boccamagna?].

The spine is lettered 'Albumasar Opera Varia MSS. Num 73'. Stamped in gold at the bottom is a coat of arms, which is rubbed, but appears to show a bear sejant with two stars above.

Purchased at Sotheby's 15/6/1908, Lot 39. (20658)

20. ALBUMASAR [ -886] [& others]. Collection of short works on astrology: translated by Johannes Hispanus.

26 ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum: 18th cent. crimson velvet binding over the original boards. Margins cropped, and the first leaf slightly rubbed.

Written in a small gothic script in two columns, 56 lines to a page. Large ornamental initial C in red and blue, with marginal decorations on fol. 1, other initials in alternate blue and red, paragraph marks and headings in red.

On fol. 19<sup>v</sup> is a small pen-drawn horoscopic figure.

In the upper margin of the first leaf is written 'Messahalach'.

The titles of the works of Albumasar, as given above, are based on Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits' and 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. I, pp. 649-651.

Cuttings from book-sellers' catalogues relating to Albumasar's works have been pasted inside both covers.

Large Ex-libris of 'Frederick Hendriks. FSS., F.L.A., Knight of Vasa, 1893'.

On vellum, unbound. Beginning wanting. Lower outer corner of last leaf torn away. The upper margin has been cut to a semi-circle.

Written in a small gothic hand, in double column of 53–55 lines to a column, between red and black rules in the design of a Norman mullioned window with two large and one small light at the top for the first work; and without the top light in the second work. The top light contains a few lines of text belonging to the first column.

Initials in alternate blue and red, headings in red.

Illustrated on fol. 4 with a diagram of five interlocking circles in red, green and black, containing Roman letters and numerals; and on fol. 7<sup>v</sup> with figures of 'Tabula Cratonis' and 'Ratio spere Phitagore' in red and black.

14 <sup>v</sup> , col. 2	(last line) intemperatum impudentemque /

The first work seems to be based on the 'Mathematica' of Alchandrus, though the Incipit as given by Thorndike in his 'Catalogue of Incipits' is 'Luna est frigide nature etc.' (Col. 393), which occurs on line 50, col. 1, fol. 1 of this incomplete MS. But the contents of our MS. does roughly follow the account given by Thorndike in the first volume of his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', pp. 711-716. [Cf. also: A Van de Vyver 'Les plus anciennes traductions médiévales de traités d'Astronomie et d'Astrologie' in 'Osiris', Vol. I, pp. 666-684. 1935.]

Crato is mentioned in connection with the 'Sphere of Pythagoras' by Wickersheimer in his 'Figures médico-astrologiques', reprinted in 'Janus', 1914, Vol. XIX, pp. 157-177.

The second item has been printed in 'Scriptores physiognomici'. Leipzig, 1893-94, edited by Richard Förster.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (68449<sup>D</sup>)

22. ALCHEMY: 15th cent. Collection of alchemical, and other receipts for making artificial metals and gems, dyes and tinctures, etc. With directions for making alchemical medicine, quintessences, distillations etc.; in Italian. 106 ll. 16mo. 9 × 7 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

On vellum. Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, worn: clasp wanting. Some leaves partly rubbed.

Written in a neat rounded gothic hand: 20 lines to a page.

Initials in alternate red and blue, with decorations in blue, red and purple: paragraph marks in blue, headings in red.

On the first leaf an illuminated letter P in gold and colours, enclosing a miniature of the Virgin Mary and the Divine Child who lies in a red cradle upon the grass: in the background a walled city. The text is surrounded by an ornamental border with floral motif: in the lower margin two Cupids and the sacred monogram IHS in gold on a blue ground.

There are 12 carefully executed pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus.

The section ff. 70-100<sup>v</sup> may possibly be a version of the 'Liber Lucis' by Johannes de Rupescissa.

'Magister in Theologia Petrus' has not been traced: but he may possibly be Petrus Hispanus [John XXI, Pope] [ -1277]. The 'Incipit' is not in Thorndike's Catalogue.

23. ALCHEMY: 16th cent. Collection of extracts from alchemical authors, alchemical processes, chemical and medical receipts, receipts for making artificial gems, etc.: mostly in Latin, but some in German.

2 ll. + 145 ff. + 1 l. 4to. 21½ × 16 cm. [c. 1510.]

16th cent. German stamped leather binding, the outer border roller-stamped, with a design of three repeated half-length figures lettered 'Carol', 'Ferdin', 'Andrea', the lower cover also lettered 'Register'. Headings and many marginal notes in red, illustrated with numerous rough pen-drawings, mostly in red, of alchemical apparatus.

ALCHEMY

The date 1506 is given at the end of a receipt for 'Vitriolum Romanum' on fol. 28<sup>v</sup>.

Some of the marginal notes seem to be by a different and rather later 16th cent. hand.

The first and last leaves are pasted down on the covers.

On the second leaf is written 'Doct[oris] Anonimi'.

Inside the upper cover 'No. 10. Johannes Keirast [?] Ma[gister?] P[har-maciae?]', in a 16th cent. hand.

24. — Collection of alchemical receipts and processes: in German.

86 [88] ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. [c. 1525.]

Vellum covers with flap from fragmentary leaves of a 14th cent. Latin Bible, upper cover wanting. Ff. 55 and 64 wanting.

The original foliation, 1-80 with 7 unnumbered leaves is inaccurate, as the leaf after fol. 29 was dropped in the numbering.

On the first leaf a large U in red, headings underlined in red: illustrated with numerous small water-colour drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc. The text begins: 'Uer merckt die khunst / der arbaitten will der / sol sein haymblich . . .'

On the last leaf is a table of alchemical and chemical signs.

From Julius Kohn Library.

Sold at Sotheby's 28/1/1935, Lot 34.

Purchased 1935. (68374)

25. — Alchemical work in Latin.

6 ll. 4to. 19½ × 15 cm. [c. 1550.]

On vellum, unbound.

Written in a clear gothic letter, 17 lines to a page. Ornamental capitals in red, green and blue. Text within a double red rule.

Fol. 1 <sup>v</sup>	Amicis meis in Jesu fratribus Dei dilectis / vocatis Sanctis Religiosis monasterii huius / optimis gratiam vobis et pacem a Deo . . .
3, line 3	. . . audite me in timore Do / mini Oracula, Spiracula, Miracula ejus docebo vos in nomine Jesu. / Exponite † [plumbum] minerem Minervae, ni / gram fere Magnesiam . . .

In the above, signs are used for the chemical substances, and 'Jesu' is designated by a cruciform figure in red and yellow with a superimposed four-pointed star containing 5 Hebrew letters.

The work has not been identified. With its pious language and scripture quotations it resembles some of the pseudo-Lullian tracts. [Cf. Thorndike's 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV.]

The script seems to be of the 16th cent. or even later, while the symbols used for the various substances also appear to belong to a period after 1500.

Purchased at Sotheby's 10/6/1931, Lot 520 (part). (74295<sup>B</sup>)

26. — Fragment of a collection of alchemical receipts and processes: in German.

24 ll. 4to. 21½ × 16 cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Unbound. Beginning and end wanting.

Illustrated by crude marginal water-colour drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

The receipts are numbered from [52] to 94, both of which entries are incomplete; the numeration of the receipts appears to be irregular.

Purchased 1931. (64441<sup>B</sup>)

27. — Collection of alchemical receipts: in Italian; mainly written by two hands. 49 ll. 8vo.  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

On vellum, original stamped panelled calf gilt binding, roughly re-backed.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/1/1935, Lot 1. (68043)

28. ALCHEMY: 17th cent. Collection of alchemical, chemical and medical receipts: in Italian and Latin; with some additions at the end by a later hand. 533 ff. + 15 ll. (last 2 bl.) 8vo.  $16 \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1625.]

Modern vellum binding.

Illustrated by a few rough pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

One of the entries by a later hand, on fol. 524, is dated 1678.

Purchased 1933. (59598)

29. — Anonymous work containing 57 leaves of remarkable coloured pen-drawings symbolizing the processes of making the Stone, and of alchemical apparatus, etc. With text in Latin.

60 ff. + 4 bl. ll. folio.  $27\frac{1}{2} \times 21$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern boards.

Ff. 44-49 contain illustrations of apparatus, and fol. 60 two emblazoned coats of arms, of which the lower one may be that of Charles Bulteau [1627-1710], a French political writer and book-collector.

On fol. 12 is a poem of 17 lines in Italian, beginning 'Ogn'un s'agiuti come puo è sa / attender la natura con due ali': and ending 'Salua le spoglie e nulla ne gettare / se liquor diuerso uuoi cauere'.

The work begins 'Tesauro mundi, hic est // Ecce surgens Philosophus germanique doctrine filius...': various passages in the text appear to be based on Arabic sources.

A pencil entry on a fly-leaf is 'Sloare [? Sloane] Coll. 2056', but it is not the MS. under that number in Ayscough's Catalogue, p. 567.

Purchased 1925. (43832)

30. — Collection of alchemical and chemical receipts in Italian and Latin.

4 bl. ll. + 368 pp. + 5 ll. + 13 bl. ll. + 20 ll. (last bl.)

16mo.  $13 \times 10$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

The index at the end seems to be by a later hand.

This MS. is apparently a transcript of an older MS., as there is another foliation of 1-114, which ends on p. 331.

Purchased 1929. (57484 (9))

31. ALDOBRANDINO da Siena [ -1287]. Le régime du corps. Written for Hugues de Salve by Jehan Quatredens.

91 [96] ll. 4to.  $22 \times 16$  cm. Paris. 1390.

On vellum, crimson morocco gilt binding by Heritier.

Four leaves are wanting after the second leaf, and a final [blank ?] leaf. Margins slightly cropped in rebinding, with loss of most of a seventeenth cent. foliation.

ALDOBRANDINO DA SIENA

Written in a good semi-current French gothic hand, 30 lines to a page.

Initials in gold and colours: paragraph marks in alternate blue and red, headings in red.

On the first leaf is a large illuminated letter L in gold and colours containing a miniature—slightly rubbed—of a Physician in a red gown seated before a lectern, lecturing to a number of students: on fol. 2<sup>v</sup> a similar letter D depicting the Almighty, seated and holding an orb in gold.

Both these letters are decorated with ornamental borders of leaves and grotesque figures in gold and colours.

89 <sup>v</sup> , line 21-90 <sup>v</sup>	Medical receipts in French, one in Latin, by the same hand. At the end 'Laus tibi christe quia liber explicit iste'.

On the verso of the last leaf, perhaps by the same hand, a note 'Les vertuz des grains de geneure cueilliz entre les deux festes', ending 'Geneuri grana sunt omni tempore sana'.

Aldobrandino's work was first printed at Lyons c. 1480. (Cf. Landouzy & Pépin. 'Le régime du corps'. 1911).

Purchased at Sotheby's 4/12/1905, Lot 257. (16469)

32. ALDOBRANDINO da Siena [ -1287] [& others]. Le régime du corps: in Provençal. Pseudo-HIPPOCRATES. Epistola ad Cesarem [etc.]. EVAX. Lapidaire. 124 ll. 8vo. 16½ × 11 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum. 19th cent. French calf gilt binding.

Last leaf slightly defective: margins cropped in re-binding. Ff. 113-116 have been bound in wrong order.

Written in a rounded gothic book-hand, 30 lines to a page.

Headings and paragraph marks in red, a few in blue.

Large ornamental initial A on the first leaf in blue and red, with marginal decoration surrounding the text. Other initials in red and blue, blue and red, red and purple with marginal decorations.

A pencilled foliation has been added.

At the end of the 'Lapidaire' is an inscription: 'Ce present liure faisant mencion / de medecine et de la vertuz des / pierres precieuses Est a homme / honorable Jehan perrault[t] citoyen de chalon ... le xxiiii Jour de mais / lan courant mil iiii<sup>e</sup> soixante et quatre J perrault'. On the last leaf recto are two other inscriptions by Perrault, one dated 3 May 1465 apparently referring to the mis-bound leaves.

On the verso of fol. 123 is another inscription by a different late 15th cent. owner: 'A homme honorable et discret / monsieur iohan cherizier / mestre bachelier escolier'.

The 'Lapidaire' as given in this MS., is set out as part of the Pseudo-Hippocratic 'Epistola'. Actually it is an abbreviated version of the 'De lapidibus' by 'Evax rex Arabum' upon which Marbod founded his famous poem 'Liber lapidum' written in the 12th cent. (Cf. Thorndike's 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. I, Ch. xxxiv.)

This MS. is also recorded in Landouzy and Pépin's edition of 'Le régime du corps', Paris, 1911, pp. xli, xlii.

From the Ashburnham Library (Barrois Collection 165), sold at Sotheby's 10/6/1901, Lot 6.

Purchased 1930. (56301).

ALEXANDER THE GREAT

Modern vellum binding. A leaf is wanting before fol. 23, and the end is missing: a leaf is probably missing after fol. 17. The last leaf is damaged, cut down and mounted.

Written in a semi-current hand, 16-17 lines to a page: a few initials in red.
A foliation in pencil has been added.

This MS. at one time must have formed part of a larger volume, as the leaves are foliated 74-93 by a 17th cent. hand.

For a note on the authorship of the first work, cf. Thorndike, 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, pp. 233, 234.

The tract on 'Aurum potabile' in this MS. seems to be a variant of that mentioned by Thorndike, op. cit. Vol. IV, pp. 58-60, where it appears to be part of the so-called 'Lullian Collection'.

Though in this MS. ascribed to 'Blasius affricus', the first work is certainly that mentioned in Thorndike's 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, p. 233 as by Alexius Africus or Flaccus Africanus. The names in the introductory passage are very variously given in the MSS., but the 'Kanidarum volumina', are of course, the well-known 'Kiranides'.

Mrs. Singer's Catalogue of alchemical MSS., Vol. III, pp. 766-773 contains a list of other MSS. of this work in English libraries.

In this MS. only four of the seven herbs are mentioned—as the end of the work is missing: these are 'Solsequium', 'Semperviva', 'Marubium' and 'Peonia'.

36. [ALFARABI] [ -950]. Liber alchemicus. Synonima arabico-latina. SEDACERIUS (G.) De vitro; Quadripartita de lapide philosophico.

111 ff. 4to.  $21 \times 15$  cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding over wooden boards. Corner of fol. 41 torn away: inner margins wormed, slightly affecting the text.

ALFARABI

Written in a semi-current humanistic hand, 28 lines to a page.

Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

The 'Synonyma' has an indented Alphabet: ff. 68<sup>v</sup>, 69<sup>r</sup> contain alchemical signs, within black rules.

- 110<sup>v</sup>, 111 Index to the last work, by a late 16th cent. owner, who has also added numerous marginal notes.

The first work in this collection is attributed by the original scribe to 'Occani'.

This seems to have been read by the late 16th cent. owner as 'Occam'; hence on ff. 1<sup>v</sup>-6, he has written in the upper margins a running title 'Liber Golielmi Hocham'. The work has, however, no connexion with William Ockham or Occam (d. 1349?), the 'Doctor invincibilis', who, as far as can be ascertained, was never interested in Alchemy.

In Mrs. Singer's 'Catalogue of Latin alchemical MSS.' the description of No 109 is 'Alterquinus (? Alfraganus or Farabi) Liber alchemicus in four books'. The details of this correspond very closely with our MS., and a reference to her original source 'Oxford Bodleian Lib. Canonici Misc.' 81, ff. 122-211, confirms this. In the latter, the text, as in our MS., is also followed by 'Synonyma', though here the correspondence is less exact.

A possible explanation of 'Occani' may be found in Brockelmann's 'Geschichte der arabischen Litteratur' Supplement, Band I, p. 375, where it is stated that Alfarabi 'führte er den Ehrentamen al Muallim at-tāni'. The last word here could very easily have become 'attani' or 'accani' in Latin medieval script.

The work of Guilelmus Sedacerius is described by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 628-632, and by Sarton in his 'Introduction to the History of Science', Vol. III, Part 2, pp. 1574, 1575, and, as in our MS., there are only two books of the alleged 'Quadripartita', and these in our MS. appear to be in an abbreviated form. A closer examination of this MS. as a whole, shows a very near resemblance between the work of Alfarabi and that of Sedacerius. In both we find the eight precepts for the successful performance of the 'Great Work', and the actual matter of the texts is somewhat similar.

In our MS. the 'Prohemium' to the work of Sedacerius is quite different from that found in other texts [cf. MS. 563 MOGLIETTIS (1)], and as described by Thorndike, the last three chapters on man, the tortoise, and the cock, are also not included.

38. ALLEYNE (PHILIP). Medical note-book, containing entries on urines, general medical practice, etc.; with a number of receipts, prescriptions and remedies: in English and Latin.

182 ll. 8vo. 14½ × 9½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original stamped calf binding much wormed and damaged. The last leaf is a fragment only.

Written by several hands.

Ff. 3-33 On urines: in English, arranged by question and answer.

22<sup>v</sup>-30 On humours, etc.: in English and Latin.

31-99 General practice of medicine: in English and Latin.

101-153 Medical receipts in English.

154-end Notes on pharmacy, therapeutics, receipts, etc.: in Latin and English.

The name 'Alleyne' is an uncertain reading. On the verso of the first leaf is an inscription 'master allyns[?] his Booke' and on the second leaf is another inscription 'Philipo alleyno[?] Pastori in andeuera' [Andover?].

39. ALMANACS & Calendars: Before 1500. Calendarium. Containing Festa mobilia, Tabula planetarum, Homo venarum, Tabula lunae.

2 ll. 8vo. 18 × 13 cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum. Slightly defective in the folds.

Written in red and black in a neat gothic script. Initials in alternate red and blue for the Vein section and the Moon tables. There is a rough outline pen-drawing in red of a male figure to illustrate the 'Homo venarum'.

ALMANACS & CALENDARS

Outside the first leaf is a title in alternate red and black; 'Indictiones / festa mobilia / Tabula planetarum / Homo venarum / Tabula lune'.

The folds show that this MS.—a folio sheet  $25\frac{1}{2} \times 18$  cm. was originally intended to be kept in a rectangular container, first doubled over forming two 4to. leaves, and then folded twice forming an oblong of about  $13 \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  cm. The title as given above would then appear uppermost.

This very rare type of MS., seen also in Nos. 40–41, is the subject of an article by C. H. Talbot, 'A Mediaeval Physician's Vade Mecum', Journal of the History of Medicine, 1961, Vol. XVI, pp. 213–233.

Particulars of acquisition not known, but probably purchased c. 1900. (6692)

40. — Calendarium. Indictiones. Festa mobilia. Tabula planetarum. Homo venarum. Tabula lunae. Eclipses solis. Eclipses lunae. Homo signorum. Canon Calendarii.

7 ll. folio.  $27\frac{1}{2} \times 17$  cm. [folded to  $14 \times 5$  cm.] 1463.

On vellum, sewn in original limp vellum cover.

Written in red and black, with initials in blue. With two carefully executed drawings in red and black of the 'Vein-man' and of the 'Astrological man'. The dates of the eclipses are from 1461–1481, and the outside of the cover is dated 1463 by an early hand. There are also small drawings of the eclipses in red and blue.

The original folio-size sheets have been folded double, and then in three, and the vellum cover added to fit the smaller format. At the top of the cover is a vellum tag so that the MS. could be suspended by a cord from a girdle.

41. — Calendar in Latin and English: with notes for diet, bleeding, etc. Astronomical and astrological tables, etc. Lists of English castles and Bishoprics. Tables of weights and measures, etc.

16 ll. 4to.  $23 \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c 1464.]

On vellum, modern calf binding. Fol. 1 recto and 16<sup>v</sup> have had the writing blacked out in ink, as also a passage on fol 6<sup>v</sup>. Margins cropped. The tables are in red and black with headings and paragraph marks in red, and are written in double column, 30 lines to a column: the Calendar is in red, blue and black with decorated initials in blue and red. On fol. 4 is an outline drawing of the Bishops in Council and on fol. 2, two similar drawings with 'scenes at a money-changer's office'. The costumes seem to be those of the reign of Edward IV. [1461–1483].

Fol. 1	An inscription, possibly an astrological note, blacked out: in English.
1 <sup>v</sup>	Table of the months for 'Blode letyng, Medesyn, Bathyng'.

15	Note beginning: ARies ys þe signe of a Ram.
16(Ends)	... flewmatike / of complexion and feminyne of Kynde.
16 <sup>v</sup>	Inscription wholly blacked out.

On fol. 5 in a blank space; at the end of the Money table is written 'Anno domini 1502' beneath which are these verses:

hiis diebus iam peractis	Videte
Nulla fides est in pactis
Mel, in ore verba lactis	Cavete
ffel in corde fraus in factis
Accipe that longeth to the Redde to god that his shuld be

On fol. 16 after the astrological notes on the Zodiac are four lines of verse:

Reson wondrith that Witte ne tel can how godis modir is mayde and he be comm man
Take to the witte and pute away wonder
Then wit is aboue and reson schal be under.

10[12] ll. + 131[132] ff. 4to. 18 × 13 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum and paper. Original stamped leather binding worn; both ties wanting. First and last leaves of the first section, fol. 125, and last leaf missing. Lower margin of fol. 111 torn away.

The first section (10 ll.) and ff. 109-end are on paper.

A few headings and paragraph marks in red.

In the upper margin of fol. 41 'Fra[ter] Ambrosius. or[dinis]. mi[norum]. Vigl[ia]nne[nsis]'.

In the lower margin of the penultimate leaf of the first section is the name of 'Fratris Bernardini de Varallo ordinis minorum' in an early 16th cent. hand.

The MS. may have been written in a monastic house at Padua, as on fol. 123<sup>v</sup>, in the course of an entry concerning a 'Mirabile oleum Balsamicum', the writer states: 'Et vidi alium monachum nostrum qui defferendo magnam trabem cum aliis monachis in sancta Justina Paduae manum strinxit inter collonnas et trabem . . .'

ANNA, SAINT

Written by three different contemporary hands: in Anglo-Saxon.

1 leaf. 4to. 19 × 14 cm. [Early 11th cent.]

On Vellum. Mounted.

Written on the recto only.

The first receipt is by Hand A, which is slightly angular; the second, fourth and fifth in a smaller script, Hand B: the third is more rounded, Hand C.

Anglo-Saxon MSS. are of extraordinary rarity, and those of medical content still more uncommon. (Cf. Payne 'English medicine in the Anglo-Saxon times'. 1904.)

This leaf had been used for the binding of a book printed at Antwerp in 1558, which later came into the Library of Thomas Charles Agar-Robartes, 6th Viscount Clifden [1844-1930].

On the verso is an endorsement dated 1889 by William Henry Allnut of the Bodleian Library, stating that the MS. was used in the 16th cent. as a wrapper for a copy of 'Tabulae de schematibus et tropis P. Mosellani'. It has been printed in Herrigs 'Archiv für das Studium der neueren Sprachen', 1890, Vol. 84, pp. 325, 326.

A facsimile, with a modern English translation by F. N. L. Poynter, was published in Illustrated London News, 1956, Vol. 229, p. 1066.

Purchased at Sotheby's 11/12/1956, Lot 1. (307023).

Original limp vellum cover, made up from an early 15th cent. document.

Many leaves stained.

A collection of prescriptions in Latin with a few in Italian: in some cases the name of the patient is given. The date and title are found on the third leaf.

Purchased 1923. (42966)

ANTONIO da Parma. For signature [late 15th cent.]. See SERAPION Senior (J.). Breviarium. (747)

On vellum. Original stamped leather sides let in 19th cent. calf binding.

Last 6 ll. slightly wormed; the first and last leaves are laid down. The first two works are written in a clear gothic hand, 25 lines to a page. The last item in a rounded gothic, probably somewhat later, with a similar number of lines to a page.

The table of contents to the first work is in double-column of 44 lines. On fol. 26 a large initial F in blue and red, other capitals in alternate blue and red, headings and chapter numbers in red.

On recto of the second leaf are some scribblings in a 15th cent. hand and 'Ces livre est [à] moy [Auguste ?] de crapinet [?]'. Below the Explicit of the last work, a contemporary hand has written 'O salutaris ostia que celis pandis ost[i]um'.

Of the Antonines, or Hospital Brothers of St. Anthony, the Catholic Encyclopaedia (Vol. I, p. 555) states that the Order was founded c. 1095 by Gaston de Dauphiné and his son in thanksgiving for miraculous relief from 'St. Anthony's Fire'.

They were constituted Canons Regular, with the Rule of St. Augustine by Boniface VIII in 1297, and united with the Knights of Malta in 1777.

The mother house was at St. Antoine en Viennois.

They were suppressed during the French Revolution.

On fol. 1<sup>v</sup> are notes in French and English by early 19th cent. hands concerning the MS., and the signature of 'Alfred J[ohn] Horwood [1821-1881], Temple', an Inspector under the Historical Manuscripts Commission. In pencil inside the upper cover by another hand 'Bought from Bachelin Deflorenne in Garrick Street £12:12:0'.

Purchased at Sotheby's 27/2/1899 (Lot 335). (6699)

49. APOCALYPSE (The), [etc.]. Apocalypsis S. Johannis cum glossis et Vita S. Johannis; Ars Moriendi, etc.; Anatomical and medical texts. Theological, moral and allegorical 'exempla' and extracts, a few in verse. Written mainly in Latin, but with some passages and verses in German. Illustrated with 292 emblematic, symbolic and anatomical tinted outline drawings and figures. 69 ll. (ff. 1 & 33 bl.). atlas folio. 40 × 30 cm. [c. 1420.]

On vellum. Contemporary white doeskin binding over wooden boards, slightly defective and wormed; with stamped ornaments, the centre panels having the word 'Maria' in a scroll repeated 22 times. Both clasps are wanting, and a few leaves are slightly stained; some show signs of 16th cent. or later repairs.

The binding is possibly not the original one, as seems to be shown by the position of the worm-holes; the end-papers appear to belong to the end of the 17th cent., or later.

In a modern (c. 1900) red morocco case.

Illustrations

Pale colours only are used, mainly green, yellow, pink and red.

Except perhaps for those in the Medical Section, the drawings appear to be by the same artist throughout, and are carefully and skilfully executed. No gold is used. These illustrations are of great interest and importance for the history of design, costume, architecture, etc., of the early 15th century.

The first leaf, otherwise blank, contains a rough pen-drawing of a Lady in late 16th century costume sitting on a chair; facing her is a small dog to whom she is beckoning.

1. Apocalypsis: Vita S. Johannis (ff. 2-28)

This section contains 121 drawings, many of large size, the text occupying only a small proportion of the page. The relation of certain of these drawings, together with those in the 'Ars Moriendi' section (cf. infra) to the illustrations in the Apocalypse and 'Ars Moriendi' block-books of which they are precursors, and to similar illustrations in 13th century MSS., is discussed by Miss Gertrud Bing in her paper 'The Apocalypse block-books and their manuscript models' (Journal of the Warburg Institute, Vol. V, 1942, pp. 148-158.)

2. Ars Moriendi, etc. (ff. 29-32)

The first two leaves contain the eleven drawings of the 'Ars Moriendi' proper. Such forerunners of the 'Ars Moriendi' block-book illustrations are known in only a very few examples.

The remainder of this Section contains 15 allegorical and symbolic drawings, including a Wheel of Life, a skeleton in a coffin, surrounded by figures representing the various classes of Mankind, Death and the Pilgrim, etc., which have affinities with the 'Macabre' group of late medieval illustrations, of which the best known example is the famous 'Dance of Death' series, first depicted in Paris in 1424.

3. Anatomical and Medical illustrations (ff. 34-45)

This section contains 25 drawings, and may be divided into four groups:

- (a) Illustrations to the 'Figura Incisionis', with text by the Pseudo-Galen; containing eight of the usual items, viz.: Arteries, Veins, Bones, Nerves, Muscles, Genitals, Stomach, Liver and Viscera, Matrix; but without the figure of the brain and eyes.

- (b) The 'Ketham' group as found in the 'Fasciculus Medicinae' (Venice, 1491); containing six drawings, viz.: Circle of urine-glasses (fol. 42), Vein-man (fol. 36), Phlebotomy with astrological connections (fol. 43<sup>v</sup>), Pregnant woman (fol. 38), Wound-man (fol. 35)—this with German text (fol. 34), and Disease-man (fol. 39<sup>v</sup>).

Besides these there are two others, not in the 1491 edition: The four Regions of the Body (fol. 39<sup>v</sup>), and a Blood-letting figure with astrological signs (fol. 41).

- (c) Gynaecological, etc.: a representation of Caesarean Section (fol. 38<sup>v</sup>); two small pictures of two women in conversation, in the first of which one of them is depicted naked (fol. 38<sup>v</sup>, fol. 39); a woman suspended from a kind of gallows for a suffumigation (fol. 39). There is also a figure of the Intestines (fol. 43), figures showing the position, etc. of the child in the uterus at various stages of pregnancy (fol. 37<sup>v</sup>, fol. 38), and a figure of the Signs of Death (fol. 40).
- (d) Diagram of the Phases of the Moon (fol. 49), and of the four Regions of the World, the four Elements, etc. (fol. 45<sup>v</sup>).

4. Allegorical, Emblematical and Symbolic drawings (ff. 46-49)

There are 120 of these, in every variety, some full-page, some in the form of 'Trees'. They cover all kinds of theological, classical, moral and symbolic subjects. A large proportion of them is devoted to the Virtues and their contrasting Vices.

The first 32 leaves are written in a neat gothic book hand, the remainder in a less formal script, with many contractions, possibly by the same scribe.

Initials and paragraph marks in red.

The dialect of the German texts seems to be mainly Middle German with some Low German forms.

There is a 15th cent. MS. in the Bibliotheca Casanatense in Rome containing very similar illustrations and text—though without the Medical Section, which has been fully described, discussed, and compared with the Wellcome volume by Dr. F. Saxl in his article 'A spiritual encyclopaedia of the Middle Ages' ('Journal of the Warburg Institute', Vol. V, 1942, pp. 82-142). Dr. Saxl considers that the Wellcome MS. is 'one or two decades earlier than the Rome MS.' (p. 119). The latter he dates provisionally 1425-1440 (p. 92).

The article contains two Appendices by Otto Kurz: I. The verses in the Casanatensis and Wellcome manuscripts. II. The medical illustrations of the Wellcome MS.

The medical illustrations have also been the subject of an article by Boyd H. Hill, 'Another member of the Sudhoff Fünfbilderserie—Wellcome MS. 5000', Sudhoffs Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin, 1959, Bd. 43, pp. 13-19 (illus.).

As the end-papers are at least two centuries or more later than the binding and the rest of the MS., the earliest evidence of provenance is to be found in a small paper slip, pasted inside the upper cover. This bears the inscription:

'Miscellanea contenente: Apocalypsis cum glossis quae a glossa ordinaria differunt. Vita Johannis Apostoli et Evangelistae. Liber de arte moriendi. Excerpta de medicina, anatome, etc.
Omnia figuris explicata, sine ullo auctoris nomine.
Cod. membr. sec XIV in fol. maximo.
Legato in pelle. No. 100.
Lib 2. Scaf. 4 (struck through). 12.'

This is written in an Italian 18th cent. hand.

A loose 4to. sheet has been inserted, inscribed by a somewhat later Italian hand, containing the same particulars worded slightly differently, and omitting the shelf marks and numbers.

Armorial Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888] pasted inside the upper cover, with a cutting from Sotheby's Catalogue of the Sneyd Library Sale (Dec. 1903), where this MS. was Lot 35. It was then bought by Messrs. Quaritch for £950.

Purchased at Sotheby's 7/12/1931, where it was Lot 3 at the Sale of the Library of I. T. Adams of Sheffield. (67200)

This MS. is the work of an unnamed practising alchemist who was a fervent disciple of Paracelsus from whose alchemical and hermetic writings he has given many extracts. There are also many quotations from, and references to the works of Basilus Valentinus.

On fol. 67 he gives details of a process for making a 'Tinctur' which, as he states, 'laboravi Anno 1584'.

On the second preliminary leaf 'F. F. Weichenhaan Juris et Metallurgiae peritus philosophus Serenissimi Ducis Saxo-Hildburghusensis à Consiliis Aulicis nec non Advocatus Ordinarius et Notarius Caesaræus publicus et juratus'.

2 ll. folio.  $25\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum.

Written in a French gothic book-hand in double column, 39 lines to a column: paragraph marks in red and blue.

1st Leaf, col. 1	[uehemen]tissimum maxime talem esse uehementis / simum quidem igitur ex necessitate quod citissi / me fertur . . .
verso, col. 2	aut post occasum serenitate exeunte /
2nd Leaf, col. 1	secundum naturam humidum attrahens humidi / tatem . . .
col. 2	. . . solum in elixa / tis. hoc autem utrique erit sicut dicimus /

In the edition of this work in the W.H.M.L. printed at Venice in 1516, these fragments are identified as:

Fol. 435<sup>v</sup>, col. 1, line 25 to Fol. 437, col. 1, line 42.

In estimating the number of lines, the Commentaries have also been counted in.

In W. D. Ross's translation of Aristotles' complete works, these passages occur in Vol. III, Book II, Ch. 8 and Book IV, Ch. 3 of the 'Meteorologica'.

In the upper margin of the first leaf is the date 1559 written by a French owner.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (92000)

55. — Analytica priora [Incomplete]. Analytica posteriora. De coelo et mundo. De anima [Incomplete]. De sensu et sensato. With tracts on logic, etc. by Porphyrius and others. Mainly holograph M.S. by the hand of Johann Lindner of Mönchburg [1440-1524], the German historian.

203 ll. folio.  $30\frac{1}{2} \times 21\frac{1}{2}$  cm. Leipzig. 1472-1474.

Contemporary half blind-stamped leather binding over wooden boards, wormed and badly rubbed: both clasps wanting.

23 leaves have been cut out: Between ff. 17/8, 7 ll.; 48/9, 6 ll.; 91/2, 3 ll.; 99/100, 5 ll.; 148/9, 2 ll. Some leaves also are wanting at the end.

Written by Johann Lindner throughout, except for ff. 94-99, in a neat rounded gothic, 28 lines to a page, with many contractions: the marginal notes accompanying some of the treatises are also probably written by him.

Some ornamental initials in blue and red, paragraph marks in blue and red, some headings in red.

ARISTOTELES

On fol. 93 is a pen-drawing of a human head and torso, illustrating the sense-organs. The last treatise is illustrated by 4 diagrams in red and black.

Outside the upper cover is a paper label pasted on, inscribed 'Scolastica'.

The pattern of the stamps on the binding, and the remaining brass portions of the clasps are the same as those of MS. No. 56, part of which is written by the same hand, and which contains a similar collection of Aristotelian treatises.

Johann Lindner, the historiographer, was born at Münchberg, and studied at Leipzig where he took his Master's Degree about 1474. He joined the Dominican Order at Pirna, and later became Chaplain to Prince George of Saxony. He wrote a large chronicle of universal history entitled 'Onomasticon' which is in the Leipzig Town Library, and has never been printed in full, though it was used by Pistorius as a continuation of the 'Nürnberg Chronicle' from 1480, in his 'Scriptores rerum Germanicarum 1582-1607'.

Signature of Johann Conrad Varrentrapp [1779-1860] inside the upper cover.

Purchased at Sotheby's 15/6/1908, Lot 26. (20659)

56. — Analytica posteriora. Physica. De coelo et mundo [Incomplete]. With commentaries on these and other works, by Aegidius Columna and others. Partly holograph MS. by the hand of Johann Lindner of Mönchburg [1440-1524], the German historian.

364 ll. folio. 31 × 21 cm. Meissen. 1478.

Contemporary blind-stamped leather binding over wooden boards, wormed and badly rubbed: modern repairs to the upper cover, which is broken, by means of a leather strip and cardboard secured by nails. Both clasps wanting.

29 leaves have been cut out, viz: Between ff. 49/50, 12 ll.; 63/4, 3 ll.; 96/7, 1 leaf; 165/6, 2 ll.; 167/8, 1 leaf; 232/3, 5 ll.; 255/6, 2 ll.; 334/5, 2 ll.; 335/6, 1 leaf. The lower half of fol. 64 has been cut away.

Ff. 1-179 are probably by the hand of Lindner, 22-28 lines to a page: the remainder is in double column in a smaller hand, 60 lines to a column, and within this fol. 197<sup>v</sup>, col. 2 to fol. 213 are in a smaller current hand. The text is heavily contracted throughout.

Some ornamental initials and paragraph marks in red and blue.

The stamped ornamentation on the binding, and on the remains of the two brass clasps are the same as those found in MS. No. 55 to which this MS. was certainly a companion volume.

57. — Disputationes in libros Aristotelis De mundo, De coelo, De elementis, De generatione et corruptione, De meteoris, De anima.

379 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 22 × 16½ cm. 1526.

Original limp vellum cover from a leaf of an early 15th cent. Service book. A general title is wanting, some margins frayed; partly damp-stained.

Illustrated by one pen-drawn astronomical figure, inserted.

Written in a difficult small current hand with many abbreviations.

The work is a student's note-book.

58. — [Anonymi] Quaestiones in octo libros Physicorum. Ex duobus libris primis De Coelo collecta. Ex libris De generatione et corruptione collecta.

1 bl. 1. + 123 ll. (last 2 bl.). 8vo. 16½ × 10½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Modern half cloth binding.

A student's notes of lectures.

Purchased 1930. (56398)

59. — Lecture notes on 'De coelo', 'De generatione et corruptione', 'Meteorologica', 'De anima' and 'Parva naturalia': with 'Quaestiones variae'.
3 bl. ll. + 233 ff. 4to. 21 × 16 cm. [Padua?]. 1575.

Unbound.

Some leaves are wanting at the end: the last leaf is damaged.

- Contents: (1) In libros de coelo questiones. 'Finis . . . Die 2, Martis. 1575.' (ff. 1-20.)
(2) Librorum de generationis et corruptionis tractione explanatio. 'Finis . . . die 28 Maii.' 1575. (ff. 21-90.)
(3) De rebus metereologicis [sic] tractatus. With 2 'Tabellae'. (ff. 91-112.)
(4) Librorum de anima explicationes. [Finis] 'die 9 Septembris.' 1575. (ff. 113-186.)
(5) Eorum quae Parva naturalia appellantur brevis explicatio. 'Finem imposuimus die 19 mensis Septembris.' 1575. (ff. 187-199.)
(6) Quaestiones variae.

These notes seem to be in the same hand as that of the writer of the notes of lectures on Hippocrates' 'Aphorisms' by Bernardino Trivisano at Padua in 1579-1580 (MS. No. 507), and of the fragments 'DE sanguinis missione', etc. (MS. No. 508).

- 60, 61 — Lectiones in totam Aristotelis philosophiam.

2 vols. 4to. 19½ × 14 cm. [c. 1575]

Original vellum binding. In Vol. II, some leaves have been torn out and two leaves mutilated: in Vol. I the upper part of the second leaf has been torn away.

Notes of lectures on Aristotelian philosophy, with special reference to 'Physica', probably by the hand of a French student.

Purchased 1931. (74776)

62. — Student's notes of lectures on 'Logica', 'Physica', 'De coelo et mundo', 'De generatione et corruptione', 'De meteoris', 'De anima', 'Metaphysica': in Latin.

168 ll. 4to. 18½ × 13 cm. [Early 17th cent.]

18th cent. vellum binding. Six leaves cut out after the 'De meteoris': margins slightly cropped.

The 'Logica' is illustrated by two pen-drawn 'schemata'.

The date 1603 occurs in the chapter 'De meteoris'.

The first leaf contains a pen-drawn coat of arms: below is a motto 'Sum Sidus, Sidusque fui, Sidusque manebo' [Stella Family of Genoa?].

Purchased 1935. (67964).

63. — Commentarii in universam Physicam Aristotelis. Tractatus . . . de analogis. Students' notes of lectures, probably at a Spanish College: written by several hands.

1 bl. l. + 157 ff. + 30 ll. + 13 ll. (last 2 bl.). 4to. 20½ × 15 cm. 1630.

Original vellum binding, ties wanting.

There are some gaps in the text.

These lectures seem to have been given at a Spanish Jesuit College, as appears from the names of eminent Spanish scholars, Francisco Suarez, Gabriel Vasquez, Pla, and other philosophical writers, which are found in the introductory paragraph.

ARISTOTELES

64. — Notes of lectures on the 'Physica', 'De anima', and 'Metaphysica'. Theses physicae. In Latin.

644 pp. + 61 pp. + 22 pp. (last 3 pp. bl.). 4to.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding. Illustrated by four pen-drawn astronomical figures.

Pp. 1-377 Lectures on 'Physica'.
Pp. 377-644 Lectures on 'De anima'.
61 pp. Lectures on 'Metaphysica'.
22 pp. Theses physicae.

67. Pseudo-ARISTOTELES [384-322 B.C.]. Secreta secretorum a Philippo Tripolitano traducta: Latine et Gallice.

107 ll. 8vo. 16 × 12½ cm. [c. 1425.]

On vellum, 19th cent. stamped calf binding. Ornamental initial on fol. 1 rubbed.

Written in a clear French semi-gothic hand, 22 lines to a page.

Ornamental initial D on fol. 1 in red and blue containing blazoned coat of arms, rubbed. Other capitals, and a few paragraph marks, in alternate red and blue: headings in red.

- Fol. 1 (red) Prologus in libro aristotilis ad Alexan / drum regem de regimine principum / DOmino suo / excellen / tissimo in cultu reli / gionis cristiane stre / nuissimo guidoni / de Valencia ciuitatis / tripolis glorioso pontifici philippus / suorum minimus cleri / corum . . .

- 107 . . . Et ne sauroies met / tre fin ne mesure a la paine qui / ten pourroit venir. /// (red) Cy fine le liure appelle le secret / des secretz aristote quil enuoya au / roy alexandre.

'Jehan filz patrice' is Yahyā ibn Batriq [ -815].

The Latin text of this work was first printed at Cologne in 1472, and the French translation 'Le gouuernement des princes' at Lyons in 1478. According to the entry in the Catalogue Firmin-Didot 1882, No. 39—a typescript copy of which is inserted—the arms inside the initial D on fol. 1, can be read as 'trois fleurs de lis et un lambel de trois pendants', which would denote a member of the Royal House of France.

Unfortunately, except for the lambel, the exact features of the arms are almost wholly rubbed away.

On the second fly-leaf at the beginning, signature of Georges Louis and a library-stamp above a circular stamp lettered R G L in purple.

Purchased 1936. (69452)

68. — Secretum Aristotelis et philosophia occulta.

34 ll. 8vo. 14 × 10 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. 18th cent. calf binding, damaged. Lower corner and margin of the first leaf, and the lower corners of leaves 2-7 cut away.

Written in a rounded gothic hand 20-22 lines to a page.

Capitals, headings, paragraph marks and underlinings in red.

On fol. 9 is a rough pen-drawing of a still [?].

- Fol. 1 Secretum Aristotilis et phylosophia occulta. // Aristotiles subtilissimus rerum in / uestigator ex principiis na / turalibus in hoc suo secreto / quod Albertus postmodum occultam intytulat phylosophiam . . .

The last line is badly rubbed.

This work has been entered as by 'Pseudo-Aristoteles', and has not been identified with any recorded alchemical tract, though it is certainly a late production, and perhaps belongs to the period of the 'Lullian Collection' as described by Thorndike in Vol. IV of his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science'.

69. — Secreta secretorum. Translated into Latin by Philippus Tripolitanus from the Arabic of Yahyā ibn Batriq.

71 [72] ll. 4to 22 × 16 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

18th cent. vellum binding.

Last (blank?) leaf wanting: margins slightly cropped.

Written in a clear rounded gothic script, 28 lines to a page.

On the first leaf an illuminated initial D in gold and colours, with marginal decorations of the same. In the lower margin an emblazoned coat of arms, on a shield gules a lion rampant or and argent. Other initials in alternate red and blue.

Fol. 71 (End) ... postquam depinxeris in qua / libet superficie sui planete et quod attrahit / sua specialitas. // DEO GRATIAS AMEN.

A few added headings and marginal notes in a late 16th cent. hand.

Purchased 1911. (26883)

70. — Secreta secretorum. [In German.] Preceded by an incomplete 'Buchlin des Kaiser-Rechts'.

12 ll. + ff. 25-117 + 5 bl. ll. + 69 ll. + 4 bl. ll. 4to. 22 × 15½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Original leather binding over wooden boards, greatly worn: with five brass bosses on the outside of each cover, the central one on the upper cover wanting, as also is the single metal clasp.

A title-page and the first 24 ff. of the text of the first work are missing.

A small hole in the text of the first 14 ll.

Written in a neat German script by the same hand throughout, the first work 20-24 lines to a page, the second 29-31 lines.

Capitals, paragraph marks and headings in red, or underlined in red.

Written on the inside of the wooden covers are verses (?) in Greek in three columns, unidentified and illegible.

Purchased 1910. (24845)

71. — Epistola ad Alexandrum de regimine sanitatis. Translated into English in two versions, the first in prose, the second in verse. Followed by a commentary, and a tract on the destruction of the See of Rome and the Coming of Antichrist. Holograph MS. by Jenkyn Gwynne, Surveyor to the Court of Exchequer.

40 ll. 4to. 27 × 21 cm. 1569.

Original calf gilt binding, with centre arabesque ornament. Both silk ties wanting.

The text is written over red rules in a neat Secretary hand, and this MS. is probably the copy prepared for the press. There is no title page: and the second leaf is blank. A foliation in pencil has been added. The work is dedicated to Sir Walter Mildmay [1520?–1589] who became Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1574. Of his book the translator in the Dedication says 'I ffounde writtyn in an olde text the transcrypte of the Epistle which Aristotiles wrate to the greate Emperor Alexander intituled De conseruatione Sanitatis, and out of an Arabique booke callede Tyrocaesar translatede into the Latyne by one Joannes Hispanus a famous clearik'.

The final work contains various prophecies concerning the End of the World, with a strong anti-Catholic tendency.

The 'De regimine sanitatis' [ff. 4–8<sup>v</sup>] is the medical portion of the pseudo-Aristotelian 'Secreta secretorum'.

The prose version begins 'O Alexander monarche and Emperowre of the unyversall worlde consyder that as touchinge your bodye, you are corruptible . . .'

It ends . . . 'drawethe all thynges withe hit into the doongion of Obluion'.

The verse rendering begins [Fol. 9]: 'Naturall philosophers assented all in one, that man ys made of four humours, / . . .'

It ends [Fol. 16]: 'After the stomak annoyntede with all
With an oyntment called Sandall.'

Inside the upper cover is a pasted-on slip inscribed 'The Earl of Westmoreland 1856' (i.e. John Fane, Eleventh Earl of Westmoreland [1784–1859]).

The MS. is unpublished.

Margins cropped in binding, first and last 6 ll. slightly damaged.

Written by four different, but contemporary hands:

Hand A. Small and clear gothic, 22 lines to a page. (ff. 1-14, 35-65.)

B. More angular sloped (German?) script, 24-33 lines to a page. (ff. 15-30.)

C. Upright angular (German?) script, 35 lines to a page. (ff. 30<sup>v</sup>-32.)

D. Clear gothic, slightly sloped and somewhat larger than A. (ff. 65<sup>v</sup>-end.)

Initials, paragraph marks, and headings in red. On the first leaf a large decorated initial M in red and blue, with other initials in blue and red, and red and blue.

On fol. 42<sup>v</sup> is a line drawing of a Physician in gown and hood, holding up an urine glass before a patient; on fol. 100 a drawing of a grotesque head.

The first and last fly-leaves are fragments of a deed on vellum for the sale of a house by Bartholomew von Bibra and his cousin Caspar von Stein dated 1459 [?]. The second fly-leaf at the beginning appears to be a leaf from a contemporary work on Canon Law.

On fol. 32<sup>v</sup> are some verses (9 lines) on medical weights by a 14th cent. hand, the lower lines lost by cropping when the MS. was rebound. Fol. 50 contains notes on four 'Aquae' distilled from herbs: by a 15th cent. scribe.

Parts of the text—which is written throughout with wide margins—are accompanied by copious marginal notes by several 14th and 15th century owners.

The contents of this MS. corresponds very closely to that of the first printed edition of 'Articella' at Padua in 1476: though the pseudo-Aristotelian 'Secreta Secretorum' is an addition.

Purchased at Sotheby's 3/2/1908, Lot 101. (19768)

83. — Articella. In a version conforming to the first printed edition, but wanting the 'Isagoge' of Johannitius, the 'Aphorisms' of Hippocrates, and part of Galen's 'Ars parua'.

32 ll. 8vo. 19½ × 15 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards. The original foliation shows that the first 6 leaves and ff. 31–37 are wanting: margins badly cropped in rebinding. Written in a small gothic hand 34–40 lines to a page, by the same scribe as MS. No. 390 (JOHANNITIUS) which contains the missing 6 leaves with the foliation. Initials, paragraph marks and headings in red. The foliation used below running from 1–32 has been added in pencil at the lower outer corner of each leaf.

There are numerous marginal notes, some in a microscopic hand, by contemporary and 15th cent. hands—though many of these have been partly shorn away in rebinding.

This MS. was originally part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 613 (PETRUS de Abano) and MS. 390 (JOHANNITIUS).

84. — Articella: with Commentaries (Incomplete).

97 ll. folio. 32 × 20½ cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum: modern pigskin binding over wooden boards by 'Stoakley late Hawes'. Outer margins of ff. 7 and 8 damaged: margins slightly cropped in re-binding.

Written in double column, the text and commentary together in a larger and smaller rounded gothic script, possibly English, with many contractions.

Each section has a title heading on each recto in alternate blue and red lettering 'AMPH' 'PNOST', etc.

Ornamental capitals, with marginal decorations in alternate blue and red, and red and blue: paragraph marks in alternate red and blue: some smaller capitals tinted with yellow.

The following sections are wanting or incomplete.

The opening words of Nos. (2), (3), (5), (6), (7) are wanting, though spaces have been left, and it seems probable that the beginning of Nos. (1) and (4), which are in large crude gold lettering, have been added later.

There are some marginal notes by contemporary or 15th cent. hands, in some cases giving additions to the texts, as on fol. 100 where Aphorisms numbered 57-60 are added, and below the last is the date 1387.

Book-plate of [Joseph] Frank Payne.

4 bl. ll. + 215 ff. + 52 ff. folio. 32 × 20 cm. 1550. 1903.

Original stamped white calf binding over wooden boards, worn: one of the two metal clasps wanting.

Illustrated with pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus on fol. 3<sup>v</sup>, and on fol 42<sup>v</sup> in the second part, and of a poultice on fol. 129. Some marginal and interlinear corrections and additions in red ink by a later 16th cent. hand.

The second work, which has been written on blank leaves of the original MS., is a transcript of the second volume of the collection of alchemical tracts published at Frankfurt by Cyriacus Jacobus in 1550, under the title 'De alchimia opuscula complura veterum philosophorum'. Dr. Gerster has pasted in pen-drawn copies of the t.p. and woodcut illustrations of the original, done on tracing paper.

Large Ex-libris of 'Karl Gerster Dr. med. & phil. Geh. Sanitätsrat in Braunfels' pasted inside cover.

The MS. is lettered on the spine '1550 Manuscript Artzeney Puch'.

ARZACHEL

ARZACHEL. See al-ZARQĀLĪ.

92. ARZNEIBUCH. Collection of medical, and a few veterinary receipts: in German.

39 ll. 4to. 21 × 16 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Limp vellum covers.

Some leaves are wanting.

The third leaf from the end is mutilated, and the last leaf damaged.

Outer margins are badly frayed, and the leaves are damp-stained throughout, with some loss of text.

The last 7 ll. contain added receipts by contemporary hands.

Purchased 1909. (21456)

93. — Book of medical receipts, etc. A physician's handbook of practical medicine, with notes on medical astrology, blood-letting, uroscopy, etc.: in German. Some additions by several 16th cent. hands.

360 ll. 8vo. 15½ × 9½ cm. 1524 [-c. 1550.]

Original stamped calf binding, rubbed: part of the 2 brass and leather clasps missing.

The beginning and end are wanting: the present first leaf is frayed and slightly defective, margins cropped in binding. Ff. 47 and 48 are pasted together, and there is a half-sheet inserted between fol. 48 and fol. 49.

There is an original foliation from 1 to 278, which starts from after fol. 60 of the new foliation (in pencil).

Illustrated with coloured wash drawings:

Inserted between fol. 296 and fol. 297 is a woodcut schematic figure of the eye from Walther Hermann Ryff's 'Beschreibung der Anatomie', published at Strassburg in 1541.

In the lower part of this woodcut the compiler of the MS. has written 'HE VOGTHER'. This seems to be an error, as the illustration of the eye found in the 'Eyn Newes hochnutzliches Buchlin und Anothomi eynes auffgethonen augs' issued by Heinrich Vogther at Strassburg in 1539, though similar, contains considerable differences from that of the work by Ryff. [Cf. Sudhoff: 'Tradition und Naturbeobachtung': Leipzig, 1907, pp. 24, 25.]

Headings and underlinings in red and blue.

94. — Compendium of medicine, containing sections on medical astrology, uroscopy, bleeding, the treatment of diseases, medical receipts, etc. In German and Latin. (Incomplete.)

96 ll. 4to.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [c. 1525.]

Modern vellum binding. The end is wanting. Margins slightly cropped.

Capitals, headings and paragraph marks in red.

The first part of a larger volume, of which the two German Receipt-books [MSS. 642, 643] probably originally formed part.

Purchased 1923. (42813(1))

95. — Collection of medical receipts and notes mainly in German, but with some entries in Latin.

12 ll. + 273 ff. folio.  $30\frac{1}{2} \times 20$  cm. [c. 1535.]

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards, rubbed: spine damaged, both clasps wanting.

The headings are in Latin. Marginal notes and additions by another slightly later hand.

The date 1534 is found on fol. 158<sup>v</sup>.

On the third leaf is the signature of Christoph Wenceslaus Graf von Nostitz [1643-1712].

Purchased 1933. (59564)

96. — Collection of 374 medical receipts and prescriptions in German.

388 ff. 4to.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. 1572.

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards, worn: both clasps wanting.

The upper cover bears a small stamped oval device containing the monogram 'I H S'.

Ff. 260-339, 370-388 are blank.

The date 1572 is in pencil on the first fly-leaf.

Purchased 1934. (66744)

This MS. is a hand-book of data and rules for the application of astrology to medical treatment.

Purchased 1936. (69673)

98. ASTROLOGY: 17th cent. Volume of notes and extracts on astrology: in Latin and Italian.

125 ll. (last 10 bl.). folio. 28 × 18½ cm. [1601-1605]

Original paper covers.

Illustrated by rough pen-drawn diagrams, horoscopes, etc.

- Ff. 103-116 contain 'Brieue discorso politico del stato delle cose presenti e che si vedrano per quatranni auenire di Regi, Regni, Principi e dominii dell'Europa cauato daquello, prometi per li lor Ascendenti per influenza particolare la grande congionctione di Saturno e Gioue l'anno 1603 a 24 decembre.'

The dating of this MS. can be ascertained from the mention of 'in hoc an[n]o 1601' on fol. 90<sup>v</sup>, and the date of the horoscope on fol. 87<sup>v</sup>, which is September 1605.

Purchased 1910. (24912)

99. — Anonymous work on astrology, based on Christian principles: in Spanish.

2 bl. ll. + 27 ff. + 42 ll. (last bl.). folio. 28 × 20 cm. [1605.]

Modern boards.

Illustrated by two small pen-drawn diagrams and a horoscopic figure. The date occurs on the last line of fol. 9 'en el tiempo q'al presente nos hallamos q'es el año 1605'.

Chapter I. De las inteligencias de su gobierno mando y asistencia a las cosas percederas y temporales.

II. De los numeros.

III. De las magnas conjunciones.

Purchased 1930. (56529).

100. — Unfinished work on judicial astrology: in Latin.

9 ll. + 6 bl. ll. 4to. 23 × 18 cm. [c. 1625.]

Modern half-cloth binding.

Purchased 1925. (44571<sup>A</sup>).

101. — Trattato della sfera. (161 pp.) Avvisi astrologici. (P. 163–248.) Tractatus de iudiciorum doctrina in erigendis figuris ac nativitatibus efformandis. (113 pp.)

5 ll. (first 2 bl.) + 250 pp. + 3 ll. + 113 pp + 1 bl. l.
4to. 27½ × 20½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original quarter-vellum binding, damaged.

With copious marginal notes and additions in Latin and Italian, many relating to astrological medicine.

On the first page of the last work, the writer has added the statement 'L'Autore si protesta che gli infrascritti Aforismi sono totalmente vani, e solo li ha descritti accio maggiormente si conosca la loro vanita da chi ne vuol fare l'esperienza nelle nativita'.

It is possible that this Commentator may be Claude de Saumaise [Salmasius] [1588–1653], who wrote 'De annis climactericis et de antiqua astrologia', published at Leyden in 1648. The Commentator of the 'Tractatus de iudiciorum doctrina' in this MS., p. 85, line 9, states: 'Ego in libro meo de annis climactericis Saturnum hoc factum ostendi'.

102. ASTRONOMY: 16th cent. Medium motum cuiuslibet planetarum per ipsius tabulas ad tempus quodcumque propositum invenire.

78 ll. (last 3 bl.). 4to. 20 × 14½ cm. [Nürnberg?] [1531?]

On vellum. 16th cent. gilt-stamped panelled calf binding.

Written in a small and clear italic, 38 lines to a page.

Text of the first page within decorated borders in gold and colours, with large ornamental initial P in blue and gold within borders of red, gold and black.

Other initials in gold on coloured ground: headings in red, text between double red rules.

Some of the Tables in red, blue and black, others in red and black.

In the lower border to the first page is an emblazoned coat of arms, slightly rubbed. The booksellers (Nourry of Paris) describe this as: 'coupé d'or à l'aigle bicéphale éployée de sable, et d'azur à la devise d'or (Libertas) posée en bande'. The shield is encircled by the chain of the Order of the Golden Fleece.

It is possible that these are the arms of the Dini Family.

Fol. 1 (red) Medium motum cuiuslibet planetarum / per ipsius tabulas ad tempus quodcumque / propositum invenire. Propositio I. // PRAE-SCRIBE tibi tempus ad quod pla / netae motum invenire desideras ...

ATHANASIUS ALEXANDRINUS

It is possible that this MS. was written in 1531. This date is given on fol. 20, line 23 'qui sunt anni Christi 1531 currentes', and again on fol. 73 'pro anno Christi 1531 corrente'.

The Meridian of Nuremberg is used for all the tables and calculations. On a vellum fly-leaf at the beginning is an inscription: 'E bibliotheca D. Jo. Ottonis Thiess Izehoae 1801 No. ("688" struck through) 1216'. (J. O. Thiess, German theologian [1762-1810]).

103. AUREOLI (PETRUS) [ —1322]. De principiis naturae.
62 ll. folio. 28½ × 19½ cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum: 19th cent. gilt stamped quarter-calf binding.

Written in a clear gothic script, in double column of 38-40 lines to a column.

Paragraph marks, headings, some initials, and the Index in red.

Fol. 1, col. 1 [P]Rincipiorum notitia quantum sit efficax ex nature ipsius

An 18th cent. owner has written in the upper margin of the first leaf 'Blondi Guillelmus. De Materia et forma accidentibus', and this mistake is repeated in the title on the spine.

Petrus Aureoli was a Franciscan, who wrote this work in 1312. He was a Doctor of Philosophy at Paris University in 1318, and became Bishop of Aix-en-Provence a year before his death. This treatise is an 'account of Nature in terms of Matter and Form'. [Cf. Sarton 'Introduction to the History of Science', Vol. III, Part 1, pp. 528, 529.]

36 ll. (last bl.). folio. 33 × 25 cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards.

Corners of first eleven leaves wormed.

Written in double column of 53 lines to a column.

On the first leaf a large illuminated P in gold and colours: other capitals in alternate blue and red with floreations in red and purple, paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, headings in red. Numerous larger initials are only in outline, and many of the capitals are without decoration.

The contents of the first part (fol. 5<sup>v</sup>-fol. 70<sup>v</sup>) are:

- Ff. 5<sup>v</sup>-32<sup>v</sup> General rules, etc.
- 32<sup>v</sup>-33 Food and drink.
- 34-41 Fevers
- 41<sup>v</sup>-65 Treatment of diseases, poisons.
- 65-66<sup>v</sup> Syrups, electuaries, etc.

A few of the receipts on fol. 101<sup>v</sup>, col. 2, are partly in cypher.

The contents of this MS. as far as fol. 101<sup>v</sup> agree almost verbatim with that of MS. 106 [AVICENNA], except that in the latter the 'Medicina simplex' follows after the section on general rules, and is itself followed by the section on food and drink, and the 'Compendium de regimine sanitatis' is not included.

On the upper of two vellum slips pasted inside the lower cover containing medical receipts, is the inscription 'Bogk G. Koñeken'. Chevallier, 'Répertoire: Bio-bibliographie' has an entry for a Gerard Koneke who is described as 'Prévôt de Bernau 1407, docteur à Bologne 1414, doyen de Magdeburg 1447-60'.

Inside the upper cover, on a pasted-in vellum slip are receipts in German and Latin, and the date 1435.

On the first leaf is the signature of 'C. W. V. Nostitz' who is Christoph Wenzeslaus Graf von Nostitz [1643-1712], and his large armorial book-plate lettered 'C. W. G. V. N.' is pasted inside the upper cover.

This MS. has been identified from the two entries in Thorndike's 'Supplement to the Catalogue of Incipits' which appeared in 'Speculum', Vol. 26, 1951: pp. 673 and 695.

Purchased 1933. (59562).

106. — Liber medicinalis. A compendium of the 'Canon' by an unnamed German [?]: including a list of vegetable and animal materia medica, receipts, etc.

132 ll. 4to. 21 × 15 cm. 1494.

Original vellum binding, the sheets sewn through the back on to a strip of stout calf. Some margins frayed, and first leaf slightly rubbed, with loss of text.

Written in a rounded semi-current gothic hand 33-34 lines to a page. Some initials in red or black, paragraph marks in red.

- Fol. 1 [IN nomine domini cuius bonitate vobis karissimis sociis et scolaribus / meis debitor sum ad erudiendum in moribus et scientiis] / quia prius vobis tradidi compendium moralium in quo / continentur summe philosophorum et theologorum atque vobis tradidi / breuiter summas librorum aristotelis maioris philosophie et paruorum naturalium / nunc quidem secundum promissionem vobis a me factam volo impartire / vttiliora et meliora artis medicine cum experimentis et secretis / que uel quas maiores medici habuerunt christo adiuuan / te me In cuius nomine hoc opus aggrediar. - line 7 Verses in Latin on medicinal weights, receipts, etc.
- 129<sup>v</sup>-End Medical receipts, etc.

This MS. which is lettered on the upper cover 'Liber medicinalis' agrees almost verbatim with the contents of MS. No. 105 [AVICENNA], though the order of the text is different, and the 'Compendium de regimine sanitatis' is not included.

- Ff. 1-35<sup>v</sup> Medicina simplex.
- 35<sup>v</sup>-77<sup>v</sup> Food and drink.
- 80-89<sup>v</sup> Fevers.
- 89<sup>v</sup>-122<sup>v</sup> Treatment of diseases, poisons.
- 122<sup>v</sup>-129 Syrups, electuaries, etc.

The binding is very well preserved and there is a similar example from the Erfurt Town Library which is reproduced by Loubier 'Der Bucheinband', 1926. Fig. 10 on p. 9.

The suggestion that the MS. was written at Amberg, as stated in Sotheby's catalogue, seems doubtful, and the expansion 'Amen' for the original 'Am' seems more probable.

The authorship of the 'Liber de 12 aquis' is disputed, and it has been left anonymous. The attribution of the third work, as part of the 'Breve breviarium' of Bacon is conjectural.

The group of MSS. Nos. 109, 451, 582, 728, 583, 629, 77 [69477-69483] appear to have been all originally part of a larger volume, which has been divided into seven separate volumes by the booksellers.

110. Pseudo-BACON (ROGER) [1214?–1294] [& others]. Thesaurus spirituum (Incomplete). Preceded by an incomplete 'Ars notoria' in English, and followed by extracts from works on magical experiments, ceremonial magic, etc.: in Latin and English.

III ll. 4to. 20 × 15 cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Early 19th cent. half-calf binding. Margins cropped.

The first six leaves are cut down and mounted, the last leaf cut down and repaired in the margins.

Leaves 36–38 are bound in the wrong order.

Illustrated by numerous very rough pen-drawings of magical figures, and diagrams, sigils, etc.

- Contents: 1. [Pseudo-SOLOMON]. Ars notoria. Incomplete at beginning and end. (ll. 1–35.)
2. [Pseudo-SOLOMON.] Vincula. (ll. 36–38.)
3. Pseudo-BACON (R.). Thesaurus spirituum. (ll. 39<sup>v</sup>–98.) The beginning is wanting: the colophon on 1.98 reads: 'Explicit thesaurus spirituum utilis et fidelissime editus per magistrum Bakon et quendam Turcum eius socium predilectum'.
4. Miscellaneous conjurations, etc.: in Latin. (ll. 98<sup>v</sup>–101<sup>v</sup>.)
5. Flores extracti de libello qui nuncupatur 'Offitium spirituum', with other conjurations, etc.: mainly in Latin, a few in English. (ll. 101<sup>v</sup>–111.)

On the verso of the last fly-leaf at the beginning 'Fred[erick] Hockley. 10 Feb. 1829'.

Inside the upper cover and defaced, is the Library-stamp of the 'British Section of the Theosophical Society. London'.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L.H. 20'. Purchased at Sotheby's (Hauser Sale), 18/4/1934, Lot 528. (66646)

- Regulae magicae. See LIGHTFOOT (A.). Collection. (426)

111. BAFFI (GIOVANNI BATTISTA) [ –1596]. In Avicennae Fen primam libri quarti, quae est de febribus paraphrasis, una cum scholiis.

1 l. + 279 ff. + 39 ll. (last 2 bl.). folio. 28½ × 21 cm.
Perugia. 1583–1585.

Modern boards.

Outer upper corners of the first 16 ll. defective: a few leaves at the end damp-stained.

Author's holograph MS., perhaps prepared for publication, with a long Dedication to Francisco Maria II, Duke of Urbino [1548-1631].

At the end is an elaborate Index, an Address to the Reader, 'Auctoris carmen ad librum suum', and an inserted (2 ll.) Latin poem, perhaps also holograph, by Sebastiano Macchi [1558-1615] in praise of the book. The last 3 ll. of text contain medical receipts, also in Latin, by Baffi.

Fol. 274 'Completem opus Die iiii Augusti sive iii Nonas Augustas 1585 quo die Beati Dominici Confessoris festum celebratur, et octeptum fuerat anno 1583, Martis mense. Curinalti. [Corinaldo.]'

Baffi was a distinguished Professor at Perugia, and a Member of the Accademia degli Insensati of that City. According to Jöcher 'Allgemeines Gelehrten-Lexicon', only two of his writings were printed. These are the two Latin orations 'De rei medicae majestate' and 'De hominis praestantia'. Both were issued from the press of Pietrojacopo Petrucci at Perugia in 1593. He appears to have been a person of great erudition, as both this MS., and the 'De Febribus' [MS. No. 112] are copiously illustrated with quotations from Greek and Latin Authors.

112. — Opus de febribus.

136 ff. + 79 bl. ll. folio  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 22$  cm. [Perugia.] 1595.

Original vellum binding.

This is the Author's holograph MS. of his unpublished work on fevers. The date 1595 appears on fol. 147<sup>v</sup>, at the third line from the bottom of the page: 'quod hoc anno experimento cognitum est Perusiae, annus enim iste 1595'.

On the inside of the lower cover is the signature 'Lucullo Baffi medico', son of the Author, also a physician as well as a poet of Perugia, who died in 1634.

4 ll. (last 2 bl.) + 265 ll. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10$  cm. 1570-[1572].

Original stamped-calf binding over wooden boards, one of two metal clasps, wanting: eight brass corner-pieces.

Some headings and the general title in red. The date on the title and elsewhere is 1570, but the end of the Preface to the Reader is dated [15]72. On the 5th leaf from the end is an inscription by Ellias Klar dated 1637, stating that he has copied this MS. for his own use.

Inside the lower cover 'Dises 1656 Jars ist mier disser Wündt artzney von der Maria Klarin geschenckt worden zu Doblicz David Kowail [?] Medicus [?]'.

Below the inscription by Ellias Klar is another signed by David Kowail [?] dated 1658.

On the tenth leaf before the end is the name of Joseph Haber of Huisheim in an early 18th cent. hand; on the verso of the first preliminary leaf 'Mathias Millar in Huisheim 1718', and on the next leaf 'Mathias Mollindar in Huisheim 1719'.

Inside the upper cover 'Johan Michael Hage[?] in Huishaimb 1739'.

2 ll. + 260 ff. + 2 ll. folio. 30 × 22 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum. In a fragment of a 15th cent. stamped leather binding extensively repaired and rebaked. Margins slightly cropped, some leaves rubbed. Written mainly in a clear gothic book-hand in two columns of 43 lines to a column: the last 30 ll.—on a better quality vellum—by perhaps a later hand, 47 lines to a column.

Ornamental initials with marginal decorations in blue and red, and red and blue; headings and paragraph marks in red.

There is an early (15th cent.) foliation 1-ccxxxii which should read ccxxxiv as fol. cxi and fol. ccvii are doubled.

There are two pairs of vellum fly-leaves, both of slightly smaller size than the text.

The inner pair contain fragments from a contemporary unidentified commentary on the Aphorisms of Hippocrates. The outer pair are blank except for the inscription 'Liber andree hendersoni 1547' in calligraphic script on the recto of the first leaf.

This work was first printed at Bâle, c. 1470.

Below the end of the text is a partly erased inscription by a 15th cent. hand:

'Iste liber peruenit ad conuentum Venetum maiorem / ex diuisione librorum cuiusdam magistri antonii macho / qui obiit dum esset iuratus [?] uenetiis et deputatus / testamento [?] libros librariae prefati conuentus'.

115. — De proprietatibus rerum.

194 ll. folio. 29½ × 20 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum, old deerskin binding over wooden boards, greatly worn: both clasps wanting. The last leaf of the text is missing, first 6 ll. of text stained: lower margin of leaf 134 cut away.

Written in a neat gothic hand in double column, probably in England, 56–61 lines to a column.

On fol. 11 and fol. 125 are large ornamental initials in blue and red with marginal decorations: other capitals in alternate red and blue, and blue and red, with marginal decorations: paragraph marks in alternate red and blue.

In the outer margin of leaf 70 are two pen-drawn sketches, the first a half length figure of a man in cap and gown sitting at a table, the second a similar figure of an elderly lady with wimples standing.

The original foliation runs from the beginning of the text (11th leaf) to 95 (105th leaf). In the notes below, a new foliation beginning at the first leaf of the volume is used.

Memoranda of accounts due to William Adam alias Paynter and others for work done in 1496–1498. These seem to be a builder's (or stone-mason's) accounts, which came to xiii l. ix s. 6½d. It appears to have been paid 'in festo sancti michaelis archangeli . . . his testibus Johannes Mandsele, Johannes lambell, Johannes Baker et Ricardus penton alias pris [?]'.

John Taylor was appointed Vicar of Ilminster (Somerset) in 1469, and died in 1515.

On leaf 106<sup>v</sup> is the signature of 'Wyllyam Portman' in a late 15th cent. hand.

On the first leaf is the signature of Henry Seymour [1729-1805], politician and lover of Madame Dubarry. The same signature is also on an inserted slip, probably written earlier, containing a note about this MS.

Ex-libris of Robert Reynolds Steele [1860-1944] Wandsworth Common, and of George Dunn [ -1912] of Wooley Hall near Maidenhead, whose initials and the date 1902 in pencil are found on the first leaf.

The first work is entered as anonymous in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 283, but has also been attributed to St. Albertus Magnus.

For the other two works, see Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, pp. 389 et seq. (Zael) and Chapter xlvi (Kiranides).

It is to be noted that the Translator is in this MS. stated to be 'Ki. p.', though in the five Latin MSS. mentioned by Haskins in his 'Studies in Medieval Science', 1924, p. 219 et seq. the abbreviation given is 'Ka. Pa.' This Thorndike (op. cit., p. 230) expands into 'Kancellarius Parisiensis'.

Haskins, however, dissents from this, and seems to make out a strong argument to the effect that 'Pa' is an abbreviation for Pascalis Romanus, who is known to have translated occult books from the Greek at about the date (1169) given in the MS. In this case 'Ka' or our 'Ki' would be an abbreviation for the person to whom the translation was dedicated, or by whom it was commissioned.

Sarton in his 'Introduction to the History of Science', (Vol. II p. 347) seems to support this view.

On the lower margin of p. 17 is the signature of 'William Wesnall' by an early Elizabethan hand. A rough pen-drawing of a lady in Tudor [?] costume, head and shoulders only, is found in the lower margin of p. 72.

From the Payne Collection, with his book-plate.

No. 403 of Sotheby's Catalogue.

117. — Collection of alchemical and medical works, tracts on the virtues of stones, medical receipts, etc. Copied from a MS. belonging to Bisticus, a Florentine silversmith and physician, by Bartholomaeus Marcellus.

281 pp. + 15 ll. 8vo. 16½ × 10½ cm. [Florence?] 1462.

On vellum. Modern stamped morocco binding. Some leaves are wanting between p. 258 and p. 259, as noted by the early 16th cent. owner who added the pagination.

The text on p. 76 has almost entirely faded, and in other passages the original text has been written over and partly restored by the same 16th cent. hand.

Written in a small current humanistic hand, 39 lines to a page. Some headings in red—mostly faded.

On pp. 121, 126, 175 are small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, and on p. 273 a larger wash-drawing of a furnace ('stufa sicca et furnus philosophorum').

The remainder of the statement in praise of this work has been written over, with some gaps and omissions by the 16th cent. owner. On line 24: 'Et ego bartolomeus marc[ellus] hec duo opuscula pernoctando transcripsi ex fidelibus exemplaribus'. At the bottom of the page is a 'Secretum expertissimum ad faciendum cum herbis lunam perfectam'. The receipt for this in prose, and another in verse, is found on p. 275. Index to 'De venenis', ending at the top of p. 279.

Last unpaginated leaf verso: tiriaca est a medicis appellata.

The unpaginated eighth leaf contains an index to the contents of the MS. by a late 15th cent. hand, and on the verso of this some medical receipts in Latin by the early 16th cent. owner.

The 'De lapidibus' has been ascribed to Albertus Magnus, but is spurious according to Thorndike's 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, p. 567. Our MS. No. 116 containing the same text is assigned to Bartholomaeus de Ripa Romea, of whom no record has been traced. Zael's work on seals is also noted by Thorndike, op cit., Vol. II, pp. 390, 399, 400.

BARTHOLOMAEUS SALERNITANUS

Nos. 3, 4, 5, 7. These 4 works are found in a 16th cent. Venetian MS. described by Valentinelli in his 'Bibliotheca manuscripta ad S. Marci Venetiarum', Vol. V, pp. 111-113; and the present MS. appears to be the original, dated 1462, of which the Venetian MS. is a later copy: the texts, in so far as they are given by Valentinelli, seem to agree very closely.

The MS. entered in the Italian catalogue is referred to also in Thorndike's 'Science and Thought in the 15th century', pp. 41-44, 265-268.

For the connection between Lullius and Rupescissa, cf. Thorndike, op. cit., Vol. III, Chap. 22.

118. BARTHOLOMAEUS Salernitanus. Practica zu Deutsch (incomplete).

80 pp. 4to 20½ × 15 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Unbound. The tenth leaf (pp. 19/20) is wanting: last leaf damaged. The margins of the first nine leaves have been cut, other margins and corners frayed: some stains. The end is wanting.

Written in a neat rounded gothic hand, 24-31 lines to a page.

Ornamental initial in red on first leaf—some capitals and paragraph marks in red.

The work is written in a North German dialect.

The water-mark—a pair of callipers [?—has not been traced in Briquet.

Purchased 1930. (67373)

119. BARTHOLOMAEUS Salernitanus [& others]. Practica: in German. In two versions, both incomplete. Preceded by two anonymous works, the first incomplete, on the virtues of rosemary and other herbs: the second on herbal remedies.

59 [70] ff. folio. 28 × 18 cm. 1429.

On vellum: modern stamped vellum binding.

Ff. 9, 10, 19-26, 50 are wanting: first leaf and the verso of the last rubbed.

A mutilated legal document in German, dated 1547, has been bound in at the end: this may perhaps have formed part of a former binding.

Written in a semi-current gothic hand 42-48 lines to a page. Ff. 61-70 are by a different and more formal hand: 51 lines to a page. Headings, initials and paragraph marks in red.

In the margin of fol. 68 are three small pen-drawings of a Bain-marie [?].

The MS. has been refoiled in pencil.

120. — Practica zu Deutsch, in two parts: with an anonymous 'Liber medicinalis primus', also in German, and an anonymous 'Ein gut puch von der Ercznein', etc.

250 [258 ?] ff. folio. 28½ × 19½ cm. 1442.

17th cent. vellum binding, stamped 'C. S. D. D. K. 1650'.

Probably two leaves of the Index to the first work are missing, as well as ff. 1-3, 9, a leaf after fol. 57, and the last leaf of the last work.

The following leaves are damaged and repaired: 5-7, 10, 11, 15, 27, 37, 38, 45, 48, 50, 51, 53, 55-57, 65, 72, 73, 152, 153, 177, 185, 213, 225, 234.

Written in a rounded semi-current gothic script, 27-30 lines to a page.

Ornamental initials in red and green, green and red, red, and green, some with rough marginal decorations: headings and paragraph marks in red.

The MS. has been refoliated in pencil 1-250. There is an original foliation in red [i]-Cxiii (now 5-112): from the refoliated 113-145 there was no original foliation, but it began again on refoliated 146 as i-lxxxiii (now 146-228). Fol. 4 is a cut down leaf written by a different hand.

2 ll. (first bl.). + 62 pp. × 3 bl. ll. 4to. 22 × 15½ cm.
[Early 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

This famous collection of indecent verses was not printed until 1791, when it appeared in the 'Quinque illustrium poetarum lusus in Venerem', published in Paris. It was afterwards separately edited by F. K. Forberg [1770-1848] at Coburg in 1824.

The Author was Secretary to Alfonso King of Naples, and was crowned poet at Siena in 1433 by the Emperor Sigismund. These poems were condemned by the Church, and publicly burnt in several cities. Pope Eugenius IV proscribed the reading of them under penalty of excommunication, but the scholars of his time compared the elegance of his Latinity with the poems of Catullus. [Cf. J. A. plectus [sic] est libellus iste die 30 Julii 1487. ferrariae. per me
Ro. bo. scriptorem.

On ff. 21<sup>v</sup> and 22 are marginal notes by another hand dated as follows: '1492 die 8 martis', '1493 die 22 octobris. satis bene', '1490 die 31 martis satis bene', '1495 12 augusti. optime'. These entries seem to refer to the making of planetary sigils.

Nos. (4) to (6) may possibly be excerpts from the work on astrological images ascribed to Hermes and also to Aristotle, but the Incipits in this MS. are not entered in Thorndike's 'Catalogue'.

At the back of the first fly-leaf is pasted in the visiting card of Count Paolo Vimercati-Sozzi [1801-1883], the archaeologist.

Modern rebinding in a cover from a 14th cent. Psalter on vellum, with large decorated initial.

The upper part of fol. 226 has been cut off and wrongly bound in front of fol. 63.

The first and last items are by the same hand (of Bellacatus?), the other two by another contemporary hand.

On the cover the title of the third work is given as 'Nicolini de febribus'. 'Nicolinus' was a nick-name given to Nicolo Corti [ -1576] on account of his short stature.

In this MS. the name of the Author of the first work is given as Bellicatus.

145 ll. folio. 34 × 27 cm. Montpellier. 1330.

On vellum, modern stamped morocco binding. Lower margins badly stained by damp throughout, some leaves rubbed: margins cropped in re-binding. Written in a rounded semi-gothic hand probably by a French scribe, in double column of 58-62 lines to a column.

Large illuminated initial I on first leaf (rubbed), in gold and colours with marginal decorations; initial F also illuminated in the second column: large decorated initials in colours on ff. 29<sup>v</sup>, 55<sup>v</sup>, 73<sup>v</sup>, 92, 116, 131. Other initials in red and blue, blue and red, red and purple, blue and purple, with marginal decorations; paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, headings in red.

There are copious marginal notes throughout the MS., probably by Italian physicians of the second half of the 15th century. These give additional receipts and remedies, and draw attention to special remarks of the author, in some cases contradicting his views. On fol. 93<sup>v</sup> one of the unknown commentators strongly recommends the virtues of lettuce (lactuca). Patients are named on fol. 67<sup>v</sup> 'quod factum est per me in uxore Gerardi Burlano machi': fol. 85<sup>v</sup> 'Haec passus est Petrus Martinus de Monticulo'; fol. 103 'Nota autem [?] Andream Bellaturthii': fol. 109 'Sic vidi in Galvagnono Pelieta et uxore Johannis Costae': fol. 111<sup>v</sup> 'Cum hoc vidi quemdam qui dictus est Barbavara et erat Januensis districti': fol. 135 'In uxore Nicolai Pesaroli': fol. 135<sup>v</sup> 'Hec vidi in uxore Jacobi Mocioni de Belesio'.

The 'Lilium' was first printed at Venice in 1480.

BOAISTUAU

136. BOAISTUAU (PIERRE) [1500-1566]. Histoires prodigieuses. The author's own copy dedicated to Queen Elizabeth, who, however, did not accept it.

146 [148] ll. (last 3 bl.). 4to.  $23 \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1560.

Original sides of the presentation-binding inlaid: these are of calf, with gilt centre and corner-pieces tooled in a fine arabesque design on a ground dotted with semis of three dots.

Edges gilt and gauffered, dated 1560. In a red morocco slip-case.

The title-page and the last leaf of the 'Préface au Lecteur' are wanting. Illustrated with 42 three-quarter-page miniatures in gold and colours, and 33 small illuminated initials. Text within red rules.

The printed edition, which first appeared in July 1560 in Paris, differs considerably in arrangement and otherwise from this MS. The engravings are freely modified from the miniatures which were made for the Author in England, whither he had come especially to present this MS. to the Queen. She did not accept it, and the printed edition is dedicated to a French nobleman.

The Dedication to the Queen and the 'Ode pour la Royné' are consequently only found in this MS., and of course do not appear in the printed edition.

From the Library of I. T. Adams of Snaithfield, Sheffield.

18th cent. calf binding, damaged.

Text within red or green rules.

The last three leaves contain a note of the births of the ten children of Thomas Blackbourne, son of Richard Blackbourne, who was baptised at Winwicke on June 19th 1605; and of his wife Margaret, daughter of Robert Norris, who was baptised at Boulton in le Molde on October 22nd 1609.

There is an entry in cypher of his marriage in 1626.

The latest date in these notes is 1650, when his third daughter Margaret was married.

According to Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science'. Vol. II, Ch. LXVII, 'The most important astrological work produced in Latin in the thirteenth century seems to have been the "Liber astronomicus".'

It was first printed at Augsburg in 1491. William Lilly's 'Anima astrologie'. London, 1676, is mainly based on this work.

This work is mentioned by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 45, 46; it is also alluded to on p. 501 of Vol. II of the same, where reference is made to Petrus Hispanus who is probably mentioned in this MS. on fol. 120<sup>v</sup>, and may be the author of the section ff. 116-123. It is listed as anonymous in Mrs. Singer's Catalogue No. 1079.

The other short treatises in this MS. have not been identified.
Purchased at Milan (Hoepli Sale) 3/5/1928, Lot 43. (47969)

141. BOOK of medicines.

6 bl. ll. + 8 ll. + 236 pp. + 6 bl. ll. folio. 29½ × 19 cm.
[Late 16th cent.]

Original gilt-stamped limp vellum binding, with 4 green silk ties (defective).

Upper corner of fifth (blank) preliminary leaf torn away.

Written throughout in a late Elizabethan Secretary hand within red rules.

The receipts are in English, and arranged in alphabetical order of diseases or parts affected.

Armorial Library Label of 'High Legh Library. cup. 9. Shelf 2. No. 5'.

Crest of George Cornwall Legh [1804-1877].

On p. 16 is 'A dyett for a burning ague made by the Queens Master Physitians', which seems to show that this MS. was written during Queen Elizabeth's reign—i.e. before 1603.

Purchased 1931. (64372)

142. BOOKE (A.) of excellent medicines taken out of the best written bookes. The medicines being proued for the most parte as also other admirable thinges belonging to Phisicke taken out of the French . . . Whereunto are annexed certaine copies for the making of some hott waters and precious oyles, with the excellent virtues of sage and of the oake. As also how to administer purgations, vomitts, and the preparations pertaining to it before hand . . .

114 pp. + 2 ll. fol. 35 × 20 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original rough calf binding worn. Some leaves have been cut out at the end, including the end of the Index after the entry 'Sore throat'.

143. BOOKE (A) of receipts both for Phisicke and Chirurgery gathered from divers excellent practitioners and sundry Authors. 1641. With other receipts etc. 128 [125] pp. + 100 pp. + 24 ll. (last 3 bl.). 8 vo. 17 × 12 cm. 1641.

Original stamped-calf binding damaged: both clasps wanting. Some leaves probably wanting at the beginning: many corners defective. The pagination of the second leaf is dropped. P. 118/19 and 13/14 of the second section torn out.

147. BREIFE (A) Treatise or hipothesis of one Booke called Speculum Universi or Universall Mirror.

12 ll. (last 2 bl.). folio  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1600.]

Unbound.

The MS. ends 'And thus committing the rest to the industrie of the speculator, I abruptlye conclude this analiticall abstract, untill the publication of the volume itself, wherein all thease and manye more secretts quantum fas est, will not onely positivelie be delivered, but demo[n]strablye concluded and more largelye handeled and subijcible to every mans capacitie'.

This MS. is written in a neat Secretary hand, apparently of the early 17th or late 16th century. It is to be noted that the earliest use of the word 'subijcible' in the N.E.D. is given as 1638.

The subject of the work is the Theory of Alchemy, and it seems to have some affinity with the ideas of Robert Fludd [1574-1637].

19. PROGNOSTICON astronomicon super 9 sequentes annos. [1614-1622.] (In Latin verse.) (ff. 146<sup>v</sup>-147.)

A collection of prophetic tracts, etc. made apparently by an ardent adherent of the Protestant Cause, about the beginning of the Thirty Years' War (1618). On fol. 68<sup>v</sup> an entry is dated 1620 by perhaps a later hand, and on fol. 37 there is a scribbled calculation which may have been made in that year or in 1624.

On the title is written the name 'Pabst von Ohaim' perhaps the 'Carl Eugenius' Ohaim mentioned in the B.M. Catalogue in an entry for a book dated 1784 at Hamburg.

Purchased 1933. (59565)

151-156. BROECKX (CORNEILLE) [1807-1869]. Collection of original records, documents, letters, theses, etc.: with many transcripts, and some printed proclamations, etc. relating to the 'Collège de Médecine' of Antwerp. By various hands in Flemish, Latin and French.

6 vols. folio. 32 × 23 cm. 1595-1836.

Original morocco gilt binding.

Some of the transcripts have been made in the first part of the 19th cent., but many are earlier. The printed proclamations, etc., mostly on single sheets, date from 1628 to 1786.

Inserted at the end is a Mortuary notice of Corneille Broeckx [1807-1869], the [1579-1580.] 1601.

BRÖLL

Original stamped limp calf binding, with two leather ties.

The end of the text, and the Index before the last part of letter F is wanting: margins frayed throughout, t.p. slightly damaged and repaired.

The text is dated 1579, 1580, and the MS. has had the Index supplied by Johann Bröll, son of the compiler, whose signature is also found written inside the upper cover.

Large ex-libris of 'Karl Gerster. Dr. med. & phil. Geh. Sanitätsrat in Braunfels'.

Against this in the inner margin another hand has written 'Daniel Bocfikel [?] von Swikau'. Against the title on the first leaf is the name of another owner Jorgen Fechter von Görlitz.

From the Dietrichstein Library.

Purchased at the second Dietrichstein Sale at Lucerne 25/6/1934, Lot 309<sup>A</sup>. (66708)

159. BRUER (EDWARD). Medical common-place book with receipts for preserves and cookery, extracts from medical authors, etc.: in Latin and English, by various hands.

Original stamped leather binding, worn.

The name 'Edward Bruer' appears on the first leaf, and he was possibly the original compiler of the MS. There are additions by later hands, but most of the entries were probably made in the first half of the 17th cent.

Among these may be mentioned 'Ex Razae libello de peste': [Bright (T.)] 'Hygieina: sive de sanitate tuenda': 'Ex Caspare Bauhino de lapide Bezoar': 'Taken out of a little booke of dyett intituled 'The Newlander's cure', written by Sir William Vaughan Knight, 1630': 'Ex spagyrica Microcosmi Danielis Beckheri Dantiscani': and from 'A Closet for Ladies and Gentlewomen' under the title of 'The Art of preservinge, conservinge, candyinge, pastinge, etc., as it is now in use amongst the best experienced Ladyes and gentlewomen'. A third edition of this last work appeared in 1630.

160. BRUMWICH (ANNE) [& others]. M<sup>rs</sup> Anne Brumwich her Booke of Receipts or Medicines ffor severall sores and other Infermities. With many additions, by several later 17th cent. hands.

2 ll. + 288 pp. + 4 bl. ll. + 11 ll. folio. 30½ × 19 cm. [c. 1625-1700.]

Contemporary gilt-stamped calf binding, worn: with centre ornament, and lettered 'R.H.' Both clasps wanting.

The second fly-leaf is mostly torn away. Pp. 77/8, 107/8 and 212/13 are missing, and a leaf has been cut from among the four blank leaves towards the end of the volume.

The original compiler, Anne Brumwich, writes in an early 17th cent. hand, but some of the additions are much later, one dated 1681 is found on p. 12.

Musgrave's Obituary has an entry of the death of Anne Bromwich in 1628, the daughter of Edward Trotman, a lawyer of Gloucester, who may be the original compiler of this MS.

It was certainly owned, and largely added to by Rhoda Hussey, daughter of Thomas Chapman of London. Her second husband was Baron Ferdinando Fairfax of Cameron [1584-1648], whom she married in 1646, and by whom she had a daughter, Ursula.

Her initials are stamped on the covers (R.H.) and her signature as 'Rhoda Hussey' and 'Rhoda Fairfax' are found on the first fly-leaf, together with that of her daughter Ursula Fairfax [1647-1702], dated 30 March 1665. She died in 1686.

From the Library of Sir Grey Humberston D'Estoteville Skipwith [1884-1950].

Purchased at Sotheby's 26/7/1907, Lot 263. (18663).

BRUNELLI

161. BRUNELLI (MODESTO). Discorso sopr' un preservativo di pestilenza spiegato nell' infrascritto sonetto.

2 ll. (first bl.) + 35 ll. (last 3 bl.). 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm.
Florence [?]. [c. 1630.]

Original gilt-stamped vellum binding. Damp-stained throughout.

On the t.p., this work is dedicated to Cardinal Borghese who died in 1633.

There is an anonymous copy of this work dated 1631, which was probably written at Florence, MS. 162.

Purchased 1928. (49573)

162. [BRUNELLI (MODESTO)]. Discorso sopr' un preservativo di pestilenza spiegato nell' infrascritto sonetto [di Antonio Francesco Grazzini].

37 ll. 8vo.  $20 \times 14$  cm. Florence [?]. [1631.]

Modern paper covers.

On the verso of the fly-leaf at the beginning is pasted a portrait of Paracelsus—a reduced copy, cut down, of the engraving by B. Moncornet copied from P. van Sompel's engraving after P. Soutman.

The sonnet on 'Plague-remedies' is found on the second leaf and is attributed to Antonio Francesco Grazzini ['Il Lasca'] [1503-1583]. The MS. may be dated from the sentence on fol. 24 'a Firenze questo Gennaro prossimo passato 1631'.

There is another copy of this work—MS. No. 161, in which the Author's name is given.

208 ll. 8vo.  $16 \times 11$  cm. Constance. 1416-1419.

Original vellum covers from a leaf of 15th cent. Church accounts (?) in German: inside the lower cover is a medical receipt by another 15th cent. hand.

Some leaves seem to be wanting between fol. 98 and fol. 105, also possibly at the beginning and end. Many margins are cropped and frayed, some stains and fading of the text. A few passages have been struck through or painted over. A number of leaves appear to be bound in wrong order. There are many slips of various sizes bound in: these have been included in the foliation.

A few headings and paragraph marks in red.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

In the following list of illustrations, reference is made to Duveen's 'Le Livre de la Très Sainte Trinité', a 17th cent. French MS. translation, containing 25 illustrations, described in 'Ambix', Vol. III, pp. 26-32. Our MS. contains only four of these illustrations.

Fol. 30 A circular figure with seven spokes in red and black, lettered with the names of the seven Virtues and the seven Planets—probably in reference to the seven Metals.

This corresponds to the fourth plate in Duveen, except that in the French MS. there is no lettering.

67<sup>v</sup> A roughly drawn figure in red and black showing the relation of the four Elements to the Planets (or Metals). This is not in Duveen.

Around the crucified figure are written in red: 'Humilitas', 'Sanctitas', 'Puritas', 'Castitas', 'Sobrietas', 'Karitas', 'Sapientia' (?).

On the left-hand side of the Virgin, in black: 'Corona aurea sancte benedicte virginis ascensio cum XII stellis et alba diadema'. Below this 'Maria sancta en maystett'. In the lower margin, in red: 'Luna', 'Sol', 'Karitas', 'Castitas', 'Jupiter'.

This is a very considerable variation from the two illustrations in Duveen's tenth plate, which in place of the crucified Christ shows a youth (Cupid?) crucified upon a fleur de lys. The Virgin here is also crowned and seated upon the crescent moon.

Here too, there is no lettering.

141 A full-page illustration in colours of the androgyne 'Rebis', holding a plant in a chalice with one hand, and a serpent in the other. It stands upon two rocks, one black and one gold. At the sides are the plants Solaria and Lunaria. Below is a yellow dragon holding a red branch in its mouth.

Besides the names of the two plants and of the dragon which are written against their pictures, the various parts of the figures have the names of the colours inscribed upon them 'rot', 'gel', 'alba', etc.

This illustration corresponds very closely with Duveen's ninth figure, but as usual his picture has no lettering.

82<sup>v</sup> Small marginal drawing in red and black of an alchemical furnace with three flasks.

67<sup>v</sup> A very rough circular diagram in red and black apparently illustrating the relation of the four Elements, the Planets and the Metals.

Not in the Duveen MS.

Other dates are given: Fol. 62, 26 March 1418; Fol. 71, 29 January 1417; Fol. 72, 11 February 1417; Fol. 73, 12 March 1417; Fol. 88<sup>v</sup>, 22 April 1417; Fol. 95<sup>v</sup>, 27 June 1418; Fol. 154, 4 May 1417; Fol. 172<sup>v</sup>, 24 October 1418.

Owing possibly to the method of compilation, with all the additions and revisions, as also to the fact that some leaves are missing and others now bound or placed in wrong order, the collation and description of this MS. must necessarily be tentative.

There is a running title in the upper margin relating to the Number of the Book, but this is not always given, and in some cases it has perished owing to the fraying of the leaves.

An approximate division of the Books may be attempted:

Book I. Ff. 7-30, 40-47, 65, 75-79, 148-150, 153, 188-191.

Book II. Ff. 49-59, 75-79, 105-113.

Book III. Ff. 31-39, 60-62, 66-74, 80-104, 114-147, 151-188, 192- end [?].

The dates given, which are not in any regular order, confirm the impression that the work was repeatedly revised and added to. It seems possible therefore that this MS. may be the unknown Author's original holograph draft of the Codex Germanicus 598 in the Staatsbibliothek at Munich. The full title of this is: 'Das Buch der heiligen Dreifaltigkeit und Beschreibung der Heimlichkeit von Veränderung der Metallen. Offenbahret anno Christi 1420'.

In Duveen's other excursus on his 17th cent. French copy of this MS., published in 'The Library' Fifth Series, Vol. I, pp. 58-59, it is stated that a copy of the work was presented to the Emperor Sigismund when he was attending the Council of Constance [1414-1418] [Cf. Fol. 39 of our MS.].

The Wellcome Ulmannus MS. 'Libri tres sanctissimae et individuae Trinitatis'

—a recension made in 1760, but without the illustrations—is probably a version of the present MS. in its completed form, and is stated to be ‘Olim a manuscriptis Fratris Ulmanni anno Domini 1488 conscripti’.

The present MS. is stated by its Author on Fol. 23<sup>v</sup> to be ‘grundlich rotund alls eyn Ey’. Though this description hardly seems to fit the work in its present form, it is nevertheless a remarkable example of the mixture and alliance between practical and theoretical alchemical processes and an extreme religious and mystical outlook. The parallels made between the basic doctrines of the Christian faith, and the aims and working of the alchemical Quest, are at times surprising.

The same conjunction of ideas can, however, be found also in the works of Johannes de Rupescissa, and in some of the treatises of the so-called ‘Lullian Collections’. (Cf. Thorndike’s ‘History of Magic and Experimental Science’, Vols. III, IV.)

Original vellum covers, with flap. The first leaf has been repaired, lower corners of the last 20 ll. defective.

The last 5 ll. contain receipts by different and later hands, also in German.

On the fly-leaf is the name ‘Paracelsus’ by a contemporary hand. Inside the upper cover is a three line inscription beginning ‘Allein nach der Herr Jesu Christo’. A note in pencil below this ‘?Writing of Melanchthon’, probably written by Dr. Georg Kloss [1787–1854], a former owner whose book-plate is pasted in below the inscription. The attribution to Melanchthon seems very doubtful, as the script seems to be of the late 16th cent. and the great Reformer died in 1560; also it bears only a slight resemblance to the specimens of his hand given in Sotheby’s Catalogue of the Kloss Sale, 7–26/5/1836.

This volume has not been traced in this Catalogue, and it may possibly have been one of the five 4to. volumes of MS. which made up Lot 4641.

BULACH

167. BULACH (BENEDICTUS HERMANNUS DE). Collection of eight medical works transcribed by B. H. de Bulach, the last written while he was a student at Padua, the others at Strassburg. Including a set of 90 'Consilia' probably by Baverius de Baveriis, by the hand of an anonymous Flemish physician.

253 ff. (first, & last 4 bl.). folio. 38 × 28 cm. Padua. 1464.
Strassburg. 1470-1474.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards: one of the two leather and metal clasps is wanting.

Written in a good rounded gothic script, in double column of 50-60 lines to a column. The 'Consilia' (ff. 112-162) are by a more angular and less formal hand.

Some large ornamental initials in colours, with marginal decorations: other capitals in red, blue and green, paragraph marks in red, or alternate red and blue, headings and colophons in red.

Pasted on the inside of the upper cover is a portion of a document written at the University of Padua relating to the appointment of Nicolas de Panviatis as Beadle, dated 28 February 1400. Inside the lower cover are portions of two documents, one in German dated 1473, the other in Latin dated 1465, both relating to the Church of St. Peter Junior in Strassburg. The attribution of No. 4, the 'Consilia', to Baverius de Baveriis, who died in 1480, is based on the very great similarity of style to those in the printed editions (Bologna, 1489; Pavia, 1521). The first edition contains 90 Consilia, the same number as in this MS. The case of 'Lippus bononiensis' who suffered from 'Artetica passio' is found in the MS. on fol. 128, col. 2, No. 35, and in the Pavia edition as No. 39. The remedies for leprosy in No. 91 of this edition are also found in the MS. on fol. 114, col. 2, No. 3.

There are three dates found in the MS. Consilia: 1433 on fol. 147, col. 1; 1436, fol. 150, col. 1; 1456, fol. 158, col. 2.

It may be remarked also that though many of the patients in the MS. collection suffered from the same diseases as those in the printed versions, the rank and social condition in the latter are mostly of a far higher quality, including ladies, gentlemen, and clerics of noble families.

As the printed 'Consilia' were edited by the Author's sons after his death, they would very naturally select those cases in which their Father's prestige would be increased by the eminence of his patients.

174. CAGALI (GASPARO DI). Libro di ricette medicinali.
3 ll. + 75 ff. 8vo. 17½ × 11½ cm. Verona. 1529.

Original vellum binding, with leather ties, one wanting.

Author's holograph MS. On the cover a pen-drawn coat of arms of the writer. Inside the cover notes of his personal affairs beginning 'Questo libero sie di M<sup>o</sup>. gasparo barbiro e ceroicho che fu fiolo di m<sup>o</sup> antonio ceroicho da Legnago di chagalii habito in la contra di S. Zen... e questo libro fu scritto adi 15 agosto 1529...'

The book contains a number of receipts, descriptions of diseases and remedies, and is illustrated by several small marginal pen-drawings of diseased organs, instruments, etc. Inside the lower cover two drawings of distilling apparatus.

The work is written in the Verona dialect.

Ff. 24<sup>v</sup>-32 contain a Latin-Italian list of the names of herbs.

On the verso of the last leaf is a note of the birth and baptism, in 1530 at Verona, of the Author's son 'Zuan Antonio'. In the inscription inside the upper cover, the birth of a daughter 'Chatalina' on 14 November 1527 is mentioned.

The MS. ends in the middle of the receipt for the 12th collyrium, in Book V: the complete work is in seven books.

The compiler of this work appears to have been David Armenicus who lived in South Italy, probably in the 12th century. It is based on, but not a translation of, Canamusali's treatise. Sarton in his 'Introduction to the History of Science', Vol. I, p. 729, describes it as 'a crude forgery'.

A version of it was first printed with the 'Chirurgia' of Guy de Chauliac at Venice in 1499 [B.M.C. v. 575], and a MS. copy was edited by P. Pansier in his 'Collectio ophthalmologica veterum auctorum', Fasc. IV. Paris, 1904.

176. CAPELLO (DANIELE ANTONIO FELICE). Aforismi astrologici: in Italian and Latin.

128 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 21 × 14½ cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Original vellum binding from a leaf of a 13th cent. Service book.

Illustrated by 7 pen-drawn horoscopic figures.

Inscribed inside the upper cover 'Ad usum Equitis Danielis Antonii Felici Capello Patritii Arimini'.

On the first leaf, in the lower margin, is a small armorial library stamp, details of which are blurred. The same stamp is found on the fly-leaf of Bernardino da Rimino's 'Cosarelle', Vol. I (MS. No. 689).

These Anti-papal pamphlets are all copied by the same hand, and originally seem to have formed part of a larger volume.

Purchased 1932. (77498)

CAPPONI (GIOVANNI BATTISTA) [ -1676]. See GALILEI (G.). Notata. (298)

178. CARARA (Zinino). Collection of medical receipts, mainly in Italian, with a few entries in Latin.

123 [197] ff. 4to. 19 × 15 cm. 1517.

Original vellum covers, from an early 14th cent. legal work.

In the original foliation, ff. 21, 60-62, 64-69, 71-119, 141-147, 152-158, 162, 163 and 181 are wanting: the upper part of fol. 40 has been torn away.

A new foliation in pencil has been supplied.

Some of the receipts have been smeared over in ink, among these are several charms and incantations.

The compiler's name and the date are to be found on fol. 2<sup>v</sup>, at the end of a receipt 'a debelita de nervi' where he says 'per mi zinino carara approvato in mi stesso adi 15 au[g]osto 1517'.

Purchased 1935. (69105)

179. CARDANO (GIOVANNI CARLO MIRANDA). Racolta delle medicine delli animali [sic] di ogni male qualita de' mali incogniti cavati da molte historie, e da molti Authori e buoni segreti aprouati et sperimentati in varii paesi . . . Composto ed approuati da me.

1 l. + 73 pp. + 14 ll. (last bl.). folio. 27½ × 18 cm. Brescia. 1637.

Original boards, rebacked.

Purchased 1929. (50810)

180. CARMENIUS (DANIEL). In primam Aphorismorum Hippocratis sectionem dilucidissima expositio.

27 ll. 4to. 20 × 14½ cm. [Bologna?] [c. 1640.]

Original boards.

Carmenius was a Doctor of Medicine and Philosophy at Bologna, and published 'De medendi methodo' in 1636.

These are probably a student's notes of his lectures.

Purchased 1935. (69091)

154 ll. 8vo. 15 × 10 cm. Emmel. 1561.

On vellum, gilt-stamped calf binding.

Title and text throughout within a woodcut ornamental border made up of four different panels repeated. These are executed in the 'dotted manner' (manière criblée), and some of these show a scroll with the letters IL.

It is possible that this MS. is a holograph copy, presented by the Author to the Kurtfürst August of Saxony [1526-1586] whose mother he is known to have attended in her illness: she was Katherina of Mecklenburg [1477-1561].

The arms of Saxony also appear in some of the border-panels.

The binding is of the late 17th cent., and not contemporary.

Purchased 1910. (23909)

182. CARTER (THOMAS) [& others]. A booke of Phisicke, Surgery, Preserves and Cookery, with sondry other excellent Receipts.

5 bl. ll. + 1 l. + 13 bl. ll. + 298 ff. + pp. 299-431 + 1 l. + 24 bl. ll. + 46 ll. (last 4 bl.). folio. 30½ × 19½ cm. 1621.

Original stamped calf binding, with gilt arabesque central ornament on each cover, worn. Each cover with 4 brass corner pieces: two brass and leather clasps.

First 6 ll. frayed in the margins.

Text within red rules.

The receipts contained in this MS. are almost entirely medical.

Written by several hands of the first half of the 17th cent. On fol. 252<sup>v</sup>, and fol. 253 signature of Thomas Carter.

Pasted inside the upper cover armorial book-plate of John T[ownsend] Aiton [1777-1851], Gardener to Kensington Palace from 1831 to his death. Above this Library label 'From the Library of the Earl of Ashburnham. Appendix No. CCXXIV. May 1897.'

Sold at Sotheby's 1/5/1899 (Ashburnham 'Appendix' Sale), Lot 154.

Purchased 1930. (56403)

183. CASSANUS (FERDINANDUS). De cura naturali februm putridarum . . . in 7<sup>m</sup> capitulum, tractatus 2, fen prima, libri 4<sup>i</sup> Avicennae. [Followed by] FRIGIMELICA [or FRIZIMELICA] (Francesco) Varii tractatus. The second work by a different, and probably earlier hand.

1 l. + 143 ff. + 11 ll. + 5 bl. ll. + 5 ll. (last 4 bl.). + 91 [wrongly 90] ff.
4to. 20½ × 15 cm. [c. 1650.] [c. 1600.]

18th cent. vellum binding.

Margins slightly cropped: last 6 ll. damaged by damp.

The tracts by F. Frigimelica [1491-1559] are: 'De modo purgandi'. 'De Syrupis'. 'In nono Rasis ad Almansorem lectura'. ['De apoplexia'. 'De phrenetide'. 'De pleuritide'.] 'De morbo gallico'. 'De vulneribus capitis'.

With Frigimelica's work on the Morbus gallicus, of which only part is included, are excerpts from the 'De morbo gallico' of Joannes Baptista Montanus [1498-1552].

Both these are printed in full in the 1728 edition of 'Aphrodisiacus' by Aloysius Luisinus.

Signature of 'Dott. Emilio Biondi' on the first leaf, with a note by him on the verso of the second leaf 'Questo fu da me sottoscritto acquistato in Rimini (Romagna). Non è improbabile che esso già stato proprietà del celebre Medico Jano Planco (i.e. Giovanni BIANCHI, pseud. Janus PLANCUS. [1693-1775]), perché il negoziante che lo possedeva altri volumi aveva appartenenti al Planco'.

This statement is signed and dated 'Rimini, 1900'.

Purchased 1906 from Dr. Biondi. (14407)

14 ll. (last bl.) + 112 ff. + 1 bl. l. 8vo. 19½ × 13½ cm.
[Middle 17th cent.]

Original gilt stamped calf binding.

The text is in Latin with some entries in English, and written mostly on the rectos only.

The date 1654 occurs on fol. 34 and fol. 47, both these are initialled C.M.

Armorial book-plate of Sir Thomas Preston (1767-1823).

184a. CATCHMAY (LADY FRANCES) [ -1629]. A booke of medicens.
2 ll. + 134 pp. + 11 bl. ll. + 9 ll. folio. 32 × 21 cm. [c. 1625.]

Original limp vellum covers, with flap and vellum tie.

Some margins damaged and frayed, with slight loss of text.

Written by several contemporary hands, with a few later 17th cent. additions.

On the verso of the second preliminary leaf is an inscription: 'This Booke with the others of Medicins, preserues and Cookerye, My lady Catchmay left with me to be delivered to her Sonne Sir William Catchmay Earnestly desiringe and Chardginge him to lett every one of his Brothers and Sisters to haue true Coppyes of the sayd Bookes, or such parte thereof as any of them doth desire. In witness that this was her request, I haue herevnto sett my hand at the delivery of the sayd Bookes. Ed. Bett.'

Lady Frances Catchmay of St. Briavels, Glos., died in 1629, and her son Sir William in 1683. [Cf. Rev. W. T. Allen 'The Family of Catchmay' in the Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society Transactions, Vol. xxiv, pp. 142-155, 1901.]

2 ll. (first bl.). + 33 ff. + 3 ll. 8vo.  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. Rome. 1648.

Original vellum covers.

The compiler's name is here given under the anagram 'Tessun Celi Terenzi', which appears to be equivalent to 'Terenzi Celestinus'. In MS. 186, by the same hand, the anagram is spelt 'Tessun Coeli' which would become 'Coelestinus'.

- Contents: (1) PONTANUS (J.). Epistola in qua de lapide quem Philosophorum vocant agitur. (ff. 1-3.)
(2) SENDIVOGIUS (M.). Novum lumen chemicum. (ff. 3-29.)

1 l. + 201 pp. + 4 ll. 8vo. 19½ × 13½ cm. Verona. 1474.

On vellum: the added four leaves at the end are paper.

Light blue morocco gilt binding by Charles Lewis [1786-1836].

The text—which is in the form of short entries of four or five lines—is written in black and red, by a neat humanistic hand.

The pagination and Index (4 ll.) are by a 16th cent. hand.

First unpaginated leaf verso Mccccxxiiii // Codex Ludouici de Cendratis ciuis / Veronensis: qui nullum aliud nouit / imperium: nisi Serenissimum ue / natorum Dominium cum turba / natorum numero triginta- / duorum / ex unico Matrimonio.

 201 Auicule et turdi / Nature c[alide] et sicce in 2° ... Remotio nocumenti cum / oleo amygdalorum.

Index leaf 1 Tabula rerum omnium que / [in] hoc uolumine continentur.
 4<sup>v</sup> Finis tabule in qua / omnia capita continentur / que tractantur in hoc libro.

On the first leaf verso the name 'Cendratis' seems to have been written over another name which has been erased. Above the line a later hand has written 'Prius fuerat mei Antonii de ...'. The rest has been rubbed out.

The MS. is a book of notes relating to the nature and medical properties of plants, animals, the winds, seasons, fruits, etc., mostly in respect of diet.

On the first fly-leaf 'Opus Naturae. H. Drury. comp[aravit] C. Lewis'. The second fly-leaf contains a notice of the MS. and its contents by H[enry] Joseph Thomas Drury [1778-1841], scholar and book-collector. [Cf. D.N.B.]

On the verso of the first leaf 'Phillipps MS. 9341'.

Pasted inside the upper cover is the Library Label of Robert [Reynolds] Steele [1860-1944] of Wandsworth Common.

CHAMPE

Peter Chamberlayne, the original owner of this Album, was the third physician of his name, and was educated at Merchant Taylors School and Emmanuel College, Cambridge. He took his M.D. Degree at Padua in 1619, and was afterwards incorporated both at Oxford and Cambridge. [Cf. D.N.B.]

The first two fly-leaves contain a holograph note on Chamberlayne and his work by Sir John Fenn [1739-1794], whose armorial book-plate with signature dated 1774, is pasted inside the upper cover. He writes, 'This Album containing various testimonies of Respect and Esteem in the Hand-writing of the Learned Ingenious Men of his Time towards Dr. Peter Chamberlayne, was given me by Richard Bull Esq., Member for Newport in Cornwall, a Great Collector of English Portraits. Feb'y. 1774.' Some added particulars are given by Arthur Howard Frere [1860-1931].

190. CHIMICA figurata.

38 ll. (last 4 bl.). folio. 27 × 20½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original boards.

A collection of carefully executed water-colour drawings of symbolic alchemical illustrations, and of alchemical apparatus: including also portraits of Hermes, Geber, Aristotle, and two other unnamed 'Philosophers'.

The Latin text gives a summary of alchemical doctrine in explanation of the illustrations: at the end are 'Versus universales' beginning: 'Vlinum [sic] si summas [sic] cum solo corpore ponas' and ending (line 27): 'Versiculi scripta reserua philosophica dicta'. These are followed by 50 numbered alchemical Aphorisms, and some others. Finally, a further poem of 24 lines, beginning: 'Os et res nostros perficiat diuina Maestas', and ending: 'Sic uerbis scripti ficta referunt philosophorum dicta'.

This MS. is a middle 17th cent. copy of MS. Ashburnham 1166 in the Biblioteca Medicea-Laurenziana at Florence, probably written in the 14th cent. (Laurenziano-Ashburniano 1166.)

The original MS. and especially the illustrations are fully described by Carbonelli in his 'Sulle fonti storiche della Chimica e dell' Alchimia in Italia'. 1925. Pp. 46-71, 111-116.

Purchased 1936. (69666)

197. COMMON-PLACE Books: 17th cent. Collection of notes of remarkable events, persons, etc. mainly relating to the Netherlands, and including abbreviated accounts of the principal Dutch voyages of exploration in the 16th and early 17th cent. In an interleaved copy of Abraham Saur's 'Diarium historicum'. Frankfort: N. Basseus, 1582. In Dutch: mainly by two compilers.

8 ll. + 536 pp. + 10 ll. folio.  $30 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1625-c. 1675.]

Original vellum binding. Some corners defective.

The printed work has a t.p. in red and black, and each Month is illustrated by a symbolical woodcut.

Each of the two compilers has made his own MS. Index on the interleavings, and in the margins of the Index to the printed work. The latest dated entry for the older compiler is 29 September, 1627 (facing p. 410); and for the other, 23 November, 1672 (facing p. 270).

Purchased at Sotheby's 21/7/1930, Lot 231 (part). (73436)

198. COMMON-PLACE Books, Medical: 17th cent. Fragment of a common-place book in Latin and German, containing a few medical and astrological entries, theological notes, quotations, etc.

17 ll. 12 mo.  $16 \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Strassburg.] 1639-1640.

Unbound.

Written by several hands, but apparently begun by a student at Strassburg University under the Presidency of Johann Georg Dorsch [1597-1659] the famous Lutheran theologian, whose 'Leges' and a list of 'Collegiarum Collegii' are found on the verso of the first leaf.

Purchased 1910. (24734)

199. COMPENDIUM accuratissimum virtutum ac potentiarum plantarum, fruticum et arborum ex doctissimis autoribus, plantae spirituum et demonum, linum, psyllium, viola, apium, coriandrum, hiosciarum [sic] [hiosciamum?], cicuta, canna feva [sic] [faba?], tassus barbassus.

60 ll. (first & last bl.). 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10$  cm. [c. 1625.]

Original calf binding.

The title, as given above, and a number of entries in the text are in cypher, a key to which has been inserted.

Purchased 1931. (82890)

201. COMPUTUS. Fragment of a 'Computus', with Calendar.
2 ll. 8vo. 13 × 9 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum. Badly cropped.

Written in a small semi-current hand. There are Calendars for February and November, with capitals and some entries in red. On the verso of the February table is the pen-drawn figure of a hand as used for counting (not for chiromancy as stated on an old museum label), within an ornamental border in red and black.

Part of a similar hand is found at the bottom of the February table itself, but the lower half is missing as the leaf has been cut down.

On the verso of the November table is an arithmetic text and a set of Arabic numerals of an early type.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (92000)

202. COMPUTUS chiometralis minor et maior. Computus iudaicus.
Scriptus per manum Wilhelmi. 22 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14½ cm. 1443.

Blue velvet binding over wooden boards.

Written in a small semi-gothic German hand 24 lines to a page.

Two large ornamental initials in green, red and black, the first with marginal decorations. Other initials in red, paragraph marks, headings, etc. in red.

Illustrated by three full page astronomical diagrams in red, green and black, the last, with a sun in gold and half-moon in silver.

The unfoliated leaf pasted on to the upper cover contains a note by the scribe 'Medici habent unum hospitalle quod habet 8 cameras optimas et perutilles', i.e. eight maxims for medical practice.

The corresponding leaf pasted on the lower cover contains some medical receipts and a personal note 'Ego M. Bartolomeus de festoraziis feci disputationem meam in medicinis die decima octaua mensis Junii 1460 et fuit tertius annus mei studii et disputaui utrum pregnantessint purgande et vtrum mulieres sint frigidiores viris et erat tunc rector papie dominus M. ## CONDREN

204. CONDREN (CHARLES DE) [1588-1641]. Discours en faveur de l'astrologie judiciaire.

88 ll. (last 4 bl.). 16mo. 12 × 7 cm. [c. 1640.]

Contemporary morocco gilt binding.

Small pen-drawn medallion-vignette on title.

At the end of the text, the copyist has written 'Ce traicté n'a pas esté parachevé par l'auteur'. This has been crossed through by a later owner of the MS.

It is to be noted that in the printed version of the Author's 'Discours et lettres', 2 vols. 1643, 1648, the title is 'Discours contre l'astrologie'.

This MS. may perhaps be a copy of a preliminary draft.

This essay was written at the request of Cardinal de Richelieu [1585-1642].

Library-stamp of Georges Louis on last leaf and on the second leaf.

Purchased 1936. (69660)

1 l. + 72 ff. + 1 l. 4to. 20½ × 14½ cm. 1450.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, rebacked: two brass and leather clasps.

Written in a semi-gothic hand, 26 lines to a page. Capitals and headings in red.

The original foliation is incorrect after fol. 43, and the MS. has been refoiled from there in pencil.

- 66-70 Blank.
 70<sup>v</sup> The date 1558, and some scribbled alphabets.
 71 Two quotations from the New Testament, one in calligraphic script with a large ornamental letter D.
 72 An inscription referring to a debt in a difficult script, dated 1500 and signed by Ieronimus de Crispis.

On fol. 1 and on fol. 64, there is the signature of 'Ottaviano Archiatro', i.e. Ottaviano Buccarini, Papal Physician to Pope Gregory XIV [1535-1591], who became Pope in 1590 and died the next year.

Purchased 1913. (31665)

207. CONSTANTINUS Africanus [1015?-1087]. Breviarius qui dicitur Viaticus, cum glossa Gerardi Cremonensis. [recte Gerardi Bituricensis (Gerardus de Solo)].

94 ll. folio. 30 × 21 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum. White calf binding over wooden boards, slightly wormed: both clasps wanting.

Finely written in a semi-rounded gothic script: the 'glossa' is written in the margins round the text, by the same hand.

Large decorated initials in red, blue and violet on ff. 2, 17, 28<sup>v</sup>, 40<sup>v</sup>, 53<sup>v</sup>, 68<sup>v</sup>, 77, other ornamental capitals in blue and red, red and violet, headings and some paragraph marks in red. On fol. 93<sup>v</sup> is a square diagram in blue, black and red of the 'Contraries'.

Fol. 1 Medical receipt in an early 15th cent. hand.

1<sup>v</sup> Inscription of ownership erased.

2 (In the upper margin, by an early 16th cent. hand) Breuiarius Constantini Africani qui dicitur Viaticus.

93<sup>v</sup> Receipt for 'Pille mirabiles probate ad dolorem capitis'. Below this is a 9 line note on the Soul beginning 'In carne et anima constat homo' and ending 'nec est mirum si racio incorporalis quae aspectus est anime tot ymagines et tantas contineat cum corporalis oculus tanta comprehendat'.

Under this is the coloured diagram of 'Contraries', and beneath it a seven line quotation from Macrobius 'De somno Scipionis' lib. II, on the immortality of the soul.

94 Another copy of the lines beginning 'In carne et anima' by the early 15th cent. author of the receipt on Fol. 1, and of other receipts and notes in the margins of the text.

The Breviarius was first printed at Lyons in 1510, with the 'Opera Parva' of Rhazes. The Glossae by Gerardus de Solo were printed at Venice in 1505.

Phillipps MS. No. 479.

Sold at Sotheby's 6/6/1910, Lot 208.

Purchased 1910. (24653)

CONSTANTINUS AFRICANUS

208. — Viaticum: incomplete.

37 ll. 4to. 25 × 17 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum. Calf binding over wooden boards damaged; clasp wanting.

Leaves are wanting after ff. 8, 11, 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, 22, 26, 28, 31, 33, 36: fol. 27 is mutilated, some leaves are stained and cockled.

Written in a neat gothic hand, in double column of 43 lines to a column.

Ornamental initial in red, green and yellow on fol. 1: other capitals, headings, and paragraph marks in red.

Fol. 1, col. 1 (red) Incipit liber viatici Constantini / africani monachi montis cascini. / Quoniam quidem in theoricis [sic] / ait tullius . . .

37<sup>v</sup> concule marine incense cum oleo / rosato multum vale[nt] etc. / Explicit liber viatici Constantini / affricani. / finito libro sit laus et gloria christo. / Amen.

Below the end of the text is a 6 line receipt for 'Unguentum alabastrum', by a different but perhaps contemporary hand.

There is also another for 'Pille que sine custodia possunt recipi' by an early 15th cent. hand. Below this, added by a later 15th cent. hand, 'Vide antonium guarnerium in tractatu de peste que plurima optima sunt'.

Purchased 1928. (55998)

209. — Viaticum. 120 ff. folio. 28 × 21½ cm. [Early 15th cent.]

Original rough calf binding, with two leather and metal clasps.

Three fly-leaves at the end, one vellum, have been cut out.

Ink stain on fol. 1: margins slightly cropped.

Written in a rounded gothic hand, probably in England, 29 lines to a page. A few initials, paragraph marks and headings in red.

Fol. 1 Quoniam quidem ut in rethoricis tullius ['omne' superscribed] inquit expetendum . . .

120<sup>v</sup>, line 25 . . . ad idem valent. Conclee marine incense / cum olio rosato multum valent / Explicit VIATICVS.

The fly-leaves, two at each end of which one is pasted down in to each cover, are folio leaves (cut down) from a 14th cent. MS. This has not been identified but it appears to be from a work on the Monastic Constitution of Evesham. It is written in double columns of 31 lines, with extensive marginal glosses by contemporary and later hands. There are decorated initials in alternate red and blue, and blue and red.

Above the text on fol. 1, a 16th cent. hand has written 'Constantini Affricani Monast[er]ii Casanensis Viaticum. Agit de morbis et eorum signis et remediis'.

The paper is water-marked with a variant of Briquet's Nos. 11667-11674, which date mostly from the second half of the 14th century.

+ 26 ll. (last 3 bl.). folio. 27½ × 20 cm. [c. 1640–1720.]

Original calf binding: spine damaged.

In Latin and French, by two different compilers. The first and earlier part is entirely in Latin, and may have been begun about the middle of the 17th cent. and continued down to about 1670.

The second part is in French and Latin, and contains dates from 1669 to 1718. This section may perhaps be by the hand of Pierre Rivallier [1644– ], who is mentioned on pp. 5, 43, 49, 53 of the second pagination. He was originally a Physician at Nîmes, and the earliest 'Observationes' in this section are dated from there, though many of the later notes and cases are from Lausanne.

The same two hands are found in the 'LOCI communes medici' [MSS. Nos. 434, 435] which are from the same provenance.

150 ll. 8vo. 21 × 13 cm. [c. 1500.]

Original half calf binding over wooden boards, metal and leather clasps repaired.

The margins of the last leaf damaged and repaired, first leaf slightly wormed.

Written in a neat humanistic hand, 20 lines to a page. Ornamental initials in red with grotesque marginal decoration on ll. 13, 52, 96<sup>v</sup>, 127, 133<sup>v</sup>, 146.

Other initials in red, a few black: headings in red.

The paper has a scissors water-mark, which appears to be Briquet's No. 3688, dated 1496.

A name has been struck through in the upper margin of the first leaf; in the lower margin 'Joannes Christophorus Ciccurini', in a 16th cent. hand.

On leaf 13 and on the last leaf is an unidentified armorial library-stamp.

94 ll. folio. 30 × 19 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

In vellum covers from a cut-down Deed of Sale, dated 1641.

Margins and corners frayed.

The original collection contains 342 numbered receipts: the Compiler's name is in the lower margin of the first leaf of text.

There are 3 leaves of slightly smaller format added at the end with receipts by different hands. There are also additional receipts in the main body of the work, one of which is dated 1672.

Outside on the upper cover 'Alice Corbett her booke'.

22 × 16½ cm. 1606.

Original gilt stamped calf binding, with central arabesque ornament stamped 'A[lathea] A[rundel]'.

Title and headings in red: text within red rules.

Above the title, and in the same hand, is written 'Liber Comitissae Arundeliae'.

This lady is Alatheia [née Talbot], Countess of Arundel and Surrey [—1654], wife of Thomas Howard, second Earl of Arundel [1586-1646]. Her portrait by Hollar, appears as a frontispiece to a book of receipts 'Nature embowelled: her choicest secrets digested into receipts...' 36 ll. 8vo. 21 × 13½ cm. [c. 1540.]

Original vellum covers.

The main text is in a somewhat difficult current script, with many contractions.

Written on the outer cover is the name 'Andrea de Chornalba di brunes' and below the initials 'A.C.' The first leaf contains receipts concerning horses by the same hand, which is headed by a paragraph addressed to 'Amantissimo et charissimo quanto fratello'.

On the verso of the penultimate leaf is an inscription by another hand: 'Jesus di 7 decembrio 1557 in Bergamo'.

The paper bears a water-mark of a double-tailed mermaid which appears to be Briquet No. 13891 and is assigned to Rome 1531-35.

217. CORVUS della Mirandola (Andreas). Opera nova . . . Tratta della chiromantia. Stampata in [Venezia] in Marzaria alla Libreria da Jesus appresso la Zulian, ad instantia di Nicolo e Domenico Fratelli MD. xix ad 14 Gennaro. SPONTONI (Ciro) Della metoposcopia, overo commensuratione delle linee della fronte. [Edited by Giovanni Battista Spontoni]. 1625. Copied by Giglio Guidi, 'mattematicho e fisigho dal Bergamo'.

40 ff. + 64 ll. + 88 ll. 16mo. 13½ × 10 cm. Bergamo. 1650.

Original vellum binding.

Illustrated by numerous pen-drawn figures of hands and faces.

The work by Corvus is entered as No. 13272 in Proctor. The earliest known edition is undated and appears in Hain No. 5776, but the G. K. W. Vol. VII, p. 166 considers this to be a 16th century work, basing this opinion on the water-mark of the paper.

The second work in this MS. is a copy of the first edition of Spontoni.

Purchased 1935. (69112)

218. COSMETICS. Collection of receipts mostly for cosmetics, perfumes, etc., with a few medical receipts. In Italian, with some entries in Latin.

52 ll. 8vo. 18½ × 13 cm. 1596.

On vellum, late 17th cent. quarter calf binding.

Upper cover of the third leaf torn away, and a piece cut from the top of the first fly-leaf.

Lettered on the spine 'Recette pour la baute [sic]'.

At the end of the text 'Finische 1596'.

Purchased 1911. (26187)

Monsieur du Son. Escrip̃t à Argy le vingtneufiè̃me jour de Janvier l'an 1575. Cotel.

6 ll. (last bl.). 8vo. 23 × 16 cm. Argy. 1575.

On vellum, unbound.

On the penultimate leaf is a receipt for 'Rosolis de ma façon' dated 29 November 1686, signed 'C. Baron'.

Written outside the upper cover 'Receptes de l'onguent de Boucart etc.', but the MS. contains particulars of Du Son's 'onguent' only.

Purchased 1931. (64693)

220. CRAMER (SAMUEL). Stammbuch des Mediziners Samuel Cramer aus Leutschau in Ungarn. In an interleaved, and defective copy of Daniel Stolcius de Stolcenberg's 'Viridarium chymicum', Frankfurt: J. Jennis. 1624. Containing 42 entries by contemporary scholars and physicians, etc.

528 pp. obl. 8vo. 9½ × 14 cm. 1635-1639.

Original gilt stamped calf binding, rebacked.

The title-page, and several leaves of the printed work are wanting.

221. CRISTIAN (ETIENNE) [& others]. Diary from 1463 to 1504, continued by his son Antoine from 1521 to 1571. Included are many medical receipts, the whole written in langue d'oc. Followed by receipts for varnishes and dyes by an early 17th cent. hand: in French, etc.

44 ll. (first bl.). 16mo. 13 × 10 cm. [Avignon.]
1502-1571., 17th cent.

Original stamped calf binding with flap and tie, damaged.

Five leaves have been cut out after fol. 31.

The diary begins on fol. 2: Ihesus Maria 1463 / Je esteue cristian de bourg en breyssan / suis venu en auignon à xv de novembre / M cccc lxiii.

The receipts begin on fol. 6 after an entry for 1502 which seems to be the date when the MS. was begun.

Ff. 6-17 contain medical receipts; and on fol. 17 entries begin in a new hand, that of Antoine Cristian, who mentions himself on fol. 18<sup>v</sup> 'Je anthoene crestyan' and speaks of his marriage to his first wife Catheryne Tullye in 1522.

17-28 Diary from 1519 to 1542.

28<sup>v</sup>-30 Blank.

7 ll. + lxx ff. (last 9 bl.). folio. 28½ × 21 cm. 1533.

Original vellum binding. Fol. xlvi has been torn out, and the last preliminary leaf cut down.

The first 42 ff. are by the original hand: the remainder in different and somewhat later 16th cent. scripts: those on fol. lx are in Flemish.

The Lady for whom this collection was made, seems to have been the wife of Philippe II de Croy [ -1549] and daughter of Charles d'Albret [Cf. Moreri. 'Dictionnaire historique'].

Signature of 'Damant' in a 16th cent. hand on the first leaf.

Purchased 1936. (69658)

ff. 3-103. 4to. 21 × 14 cm. [Venice]. [c. 1600.]

18th cent. vellum binding.

The first two leaves and all after fol. 103 are wanting. Many leaves foxed.

CURAN

Cucino was 'Medico dell' Officio della Sanità' as well as 'Medico dell' Officio' to both the New and Old Lazarettos, and the letters deal mainly with these two hospitals.

From the Sneyd Library with Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888], and a catalogue slip of an Italian library with shelf mark 'No. 126 Lib. 1. Scaf. 8': written in an 18th cent. hand.

225. DANIEL (HENRY) [fl. 1379]. Liber uricrisiarum. In English.
143 ll. 4to. 21½ × 14½ cm. [Early 15th cent.]

Original oak boards, back wanting: clasp wanting.

Five leaves are missing from the penultimate gathering, between ff. 122/3 and 133/4.

The first 4 leaves are damaged, and the last 5 slightly defective: some margins frayed.

The 'Introductio' is wanting, and the text begins—'Capitulum primum'—on fol. 5.

Written in a neat semi-cursive hand, 34 lines to a page. Some capitals and headings in red.

On fol. 16<sup>v</sup> is a circular pen-drawn figure of the Seasons, Winds, Humours, etc.

Fol. 5            URyn is als mykyll for to say in ynglysch as ['on in ye' superscribed] Reynys is / frensch Reynes latyn lendys in ynglysch . . .

last buk of uryns. / laus tibi unigenite quia liber explicit iste.
Tu qui eterne manes hunc conseruare digneris.

On the verso of the first leaf are two receipts: 'To make char [?] de Conys' [a kind of rabbit stew?], 'To make grene gynger'.

The second leaf contains three four-line stanzas on Julius Caesar, beginning 'I Julius cesar your high emperour', ending 'and emang yame I dyed and yare lyes my bonys'. Below are receipts 'Ffor ye colyk' and 'Ffor blody eyne'. In the margin 'yme Jhon Clarke'. From the verso of this leaf to the verso of the fourth leaf are various medical receipts by similar contemporary hands all in English, except the last of them which is in Latin, and describes the uses and virtues of juniper.

On fol. 69 is a receipt in English by a late 15th cent. hand, 'Medicina pro podigra', signed 'Jhon Massy'.

On the verso of the last leaf under the 'Explicit' is a charm in English to stop bleeding, and under this a short list of medical terms, and of medicinal weights and measures.

Very little seems to be known of Henry Daniel; the entry in the D.N.B. states only that he was a Dominican, and that he flourished c. 1379, which is the date given in a copy of this MS. in the Ashmolean Collection (No. 1404, 2. in Black's Catalogue).

From the John Eliot Hodgkin Library.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Hodgkin Sale) 19/5/1914, Lot 1538. (34213)

DANNHAWER

226. — Liber uricrisiarum: in English.

70 ll. folio. 29 × 20 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum, covers wanting. The first leaf, and the end is missing: lower margins badly cockled, with loss of text.

Written in an upright formal hand, probably by a North of England scribe: 36 lines to a page.

On fol. 55 is an unfinished pen-drawn diagram of the geocentric Universe.

The MS. has been foliated in pencil.

Fol. 1 The firste boke                      The firste chapiture // [V]Ryne ys as mekyll to 70<sup>v</sup> (last line) eucomia at seth gude dygestionne or ellis mene And ye /

The 'Prologue' is wanting, and the MS. ends with part of the 8th Chapter of the second book.

In the lower margin of the last leaf verso, 'Iste liber constat Ricardo Burton Vicario Lancastrie'.

According to the entry in Sotheby's sale catalogue, Richard Burton became Vicar of Lancaster in 1466.

Purchased at Sotheby's 5/6/1929, Lot 538. (56079)

52 ff. (last bl.). 8vo. 14 × 9½ cm. [1569.]

Modern boards. Margins cropped.

Illustrated with pen-drawn diagrams.

On fol. 45 mention is made of 'questo anno 1569'.

This MS. is a contemporary copy of Danti's work on the astrolabe, but without the preliminary matter, or the work on the planisphere. This book was published at Florence in 1569.

His name or the name of the Copyist has been obliterated on the first leaf.

Purchased 1930. (56309)

228. DANUS (LAURENTIUS) Augustanus [1523-1599]. Physiognomia et chiromantia.

48 ll. (last 3 bl.). 4to. 20 × 15½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Unbound. Lower corners of first and third leaves torn off.

An owner's name has been erased on the first leaf, all now legible is 'Sum Iohannis . . . [Frei?]burgensis'.

Illustrated by numerous pen-drawings of hands and heads.

Fol. 1 (Begins) Chiromantia diuinationis species est, quae per / linearum 88 ff. + 13 ll. + 17 bl. ll. + 7 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1608.

Vellum binding, with leather ties, from part of a 17th cent. legal document.

The foliation of the first section is irregular but ff. 5, 10, 14, 16, 40, 63, 64, 67, 76, 79 and 83 appear to be missing: there are also some leaves torn out at the end.

On the first leaf: 'Ce present livre est a moy leaunar richard' and below 'LE AV NAR'.

The last section is headed in capital letters: 'LESZACAMENT [sic] Quil F AVLT FERRE A VN COMPANON QANT IL SE VEVL T PASSER MAISTRE DE LOFFICE DE MARICH AVT A TOVLOUZE 1608'

This is in the form of Question and Answer.

At the end 'Fin de leszaman [sic] de toulouze 1608 escrit par darnol estant a paris 1608'.

On the first fly-leaf autograph of V. De Savary [19th cent.].

Purchased 1929. (51065)

32 ll. (last bl.). folio.  $28\frac{1}{2} \times 21\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Levant morocco gilt binding by Rivière.

The first 5 leaves and fol. 21 are wanting: most of the leaves from fol. 15 onward are damaged, especially in the lower margins.

Written in an Italian cursive hand, with an ornamental initial in red at the beginning of each stanza.

There are 62 water-colour drawings, 2 on each leaf, with two stanzas to each leaf.

DAUGNY & AMIEL

31<sup>v</sup> ... e finisce qui / lasia maggiore ['e finisce qui' struck through] et fiume tanai.

32 [Fortune-telling questions: by the same hand] Incomincia lordine delle vennire / Euuoi sapere inche sarai auenturato chaullo / ...

The illustrations in this MS. are of great interest, as, apart from those of cosmological, astrological and astronomical subjects, they show coast-lines of the world as then known, with views of cities, etc.

They are closely to be related to the Byzantine sea-maps, and to the 'Portolani' of the Italian merchants. On fol. 4 and fol. 12<sup>v</sup> are illustrations of a Physician with a patient whose urine in a flask he holds up to the light: on fol. 13 recto and verso, the four Temperaments are depicted.

The Authorship of the work is disputed, but the B.M. Catalogue definitely assigns it to Leonardo Dati, and not to Gregorio [1362-1436], though it is attributed to the latter in the G.K.W. and in Klebs.

It was first printed at Florence in 1472, and there were a number of other 15th cent. editions.

Purchased 1925. (43833)

231. — Sfera mundi: in Italian ottava rima.

18 ll. folio. 29½ × 20 cm. [c. 1475.]

Unbound. Margins of some leaves frayed, with slight loss of text: second leaf torn.

Written in a rounded gothic hand, 32 lines to a page.

Initial A on the first leaf in red and yellow, some headings in red. Illustrated with 8 astronomical figures in water-colour.

A foliation has been supplied in pencil.

Farina has not been identified, but is presumably the name of the scribe.

For a note on the contents of this poem, cf. entry for MS. No. 230.

232. DAUGNY (ANIS) & AMIEL (FRANÇOIS). [Cours de chirurgie par demandes et réponses.]

214 pp. 4to. 19½ × 14½ cm. [Montpellier.] 1647-1648.

Original limp vellum binding, leather ties wanting. Many leaves stained and frayed at the margins. Three leaves have been cut out before p. 1. Signatures of Daugny and Amiel are found inside the covers, and on various pages of the text.

Inside the cover 'Ex libris Anis Daugny compagnon chirurgien demeurant chez monsieur Desprez maître chirurgien' and below by another hand 'Ce livre appartient [sic] à moi François daugny ...'

On p. 1, in the margin: 'Pour daugny chirurgien à Montpellier 1652 Pour amiel chirurgien à Montpellier 1652'.

It is possible that the MS. was the joint possession or work of these two surgeons. Amiel seems to have practised later at Pézenas in 1653, as is shown by inscriptions on p. 33 and p. 105.

Written inside the lower cover: 'Daugny chirurgien à Paris'.

Purchased 1928. (48550)

233. DE alchimia opuscula complura veterum philosophorum: in Dutch. [Incomplete.] 70 ll. folio. 29 × 20 cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

All after the beginning of the '8<sup>de</sup> graet' of the 'Scala philosophorum' is wanting. This MS. is a Dutch translation of the first part of the 'De alchimia opuscula' published by Cyriacus Jacobus at Frankfort in 1550 in Latin.

The order of the tracts is different from that of the original; and the greater part of the 'Scala', as well as the whole of the pseudo-Aristotelian 'Practica lapidis philosophici', are wanting.

Contents: 1. CORRECTIO Fatuorum.

2. CLANGOR Buccinae.

3. LULLY (R.). Vade mecum.

4. VROUWENS Werck ende Kinder Spel [Opus mulierum].

5. [ARNOLDUS de Villanova.] Semita semitae.

6. AVICENNA. De tinctura metallorum.

7. LULLY (R.). Compendium der Arte der Transmutatien.

8. [MONTANOR (G. de).] Scala philosophorum. [Incomplete.]

On the recto of the first leaf, autograph inscription by 'Juan Martin de Oloris[z] Cirusano maior del terscio del Mester del Campo Don Pedro Cavalla fecha en Oudenarda . . . 1662'.

Below 'Este libro es de Juan de Oloris[z] . . . en Cambray . . . 1639'.

On the verso of the same leaf, by the hand of the writer of the MS.: 'Copie van eenes boeck geschreven met de hand gheheets [?] 'Turba' die mij ghelient [?] is van M<sup>r</sup> Guillaume Le Petit goudsmidt'.

Purchased 1906. (16461)

234. DE principiis medicinae. 88 ll. 4to. 21 × 15 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Vellum binding.

A student's notes of lectures: the second half of the work is on fevers.

Purchased 1935. (69090)

235. DE regimine praeservatiuo contra apoplexiam. 1 bl. l. + 9 [11] ff. 4to. 21½ × 15½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Unbound. Last 2 ll. torn away: damp-stained throughout.

A 'Consilium' by an un-named physician, probably of German provenance.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (67235)

DE

236. DE sanguinis missione. De purgatione. [Incomplete.]
12 ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Unbound.

The unfinished 'De purgatione' is found on the last two leaves.

Written by the same hand—though later—as that of the notes on Aristotle's 'De coelo' [etc.] 1575 (MS. No. 59), and of the Lectures by Bernardino Trivisano on the Hippocratic Aphorisms 1579–80 (MS. No. 778).

Purchased 1910. (24739)

237. DE sepultura. An essay in English on burial, and the rights and fees of parsons in connection therewith. Followed by short notes on the study of Jurisprudence, written by different, but contemporary hands.

29 ll. + 10 ll. folio. 31 × 20 cm. [c. 1630.]

Unbound. The first 10 leaves are of smaller format (28½ × 17 cm.).

The date 1627 occurs on leaf 19.

Purchased 1929. (51519)

238. DE tumoribus praeternaturalibus.

1 bl. l. + 51 ff. + 1 l. 8vo. 20 × 13½ cm. [Naples.]
[Middle 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Fol. 47 is wanting.

A student's notes of lectures: on the last leaf of text verso, mention is made of medical writers 'in hoc Neapolitano gymnasio'.

Purchased 1930. (63371)

239. DEE (JOHN) [1527–1608]. Practica et accurtaciones Georgii Ryplay et Raimundi. In English and Latin, written in the hand of John Dee.

1 bl. l. + 67 pp. (last 3 ll. bl.). 4to. 20½ × 15 cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Unbound within covers from sheets of a 16th cent. theological work.

Some margins frayed.

Written partly in italic, and partly in a secretary hand.

On p. 25 is a rough pen-drawing of a 'longe receptory' used in the sublimation process.

There seems little doubt that this MS. is by the hand of the famous astrologer and alchemist. On pp. 15, 39, 49, 58 and 81 the characteristic initials J.D. are found, identical with those in authentic Dee MSS.

On p. 13 is the small 'ladder sign' mentioned by M. R. James in his 'Preface to the List of MSS. formerly owned by Dr. John Dee', 1921.

Inside the first blank leaf is written in pencil 'Horwoods List No. 101'. (I.e. Alfred John Horwood [1821–1881], Inspector in the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts.)

Inserted is a note on this MS. on four leaves, probably by the Cataloguer at Sotheby's.

56 ll. (last 2 bl.). 8vo.  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

Illustrated with pen-drawings of heads, etc.

The last section deals with astrology and the influence of the Zodiac: at the end is a figure of the 'Sphere' of Pythagoras.

Purchased 1932. (78829)

241. DELLI sonniferi et veneni, con li suoi antidoti et uno antidoto generale per ogni veneno semplice overo composto.

3 ll. (first bl.). + 80 pp. + 3 ll. 4to.  $20 \times 15$  cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Stained throughout.

Title in red, green and black.

Purchased 1932. (65201).

Pseudo-DEMOCRITUS Abderita. Secretum Naturae. See MOGLIETTIS (G. de). Altissimus liber, 9. (563)

242. DENANTES (FRANÇOIS). Essay de la cosmographie.

[Middle 17th cent.]

Original stamped calf binding.

On the first leaf of the text 'Ad usum franc. Denantes Viennensis', and at the end 'Ad usum franc. De Nantes Viennensis et amicorum eius'.

Apparently a holograph and unpublished work: the Author seems to be an adherent of the traditional opinions founded on Biblical and Aristotelian ideas.

From the Bernhard III Collection.

Purchased 1929. (55100)

Unbound. Some margins frayed and stained.

The assumed name of the compiler is taken from the verso of the fourth leaf from the end, but the transcription is doubtful. The second and third leaves from the end contain what are apparently draft dedications to Johann Philipp, Graf von Hanau, etc. [1626–1669].

From the Julius Kohn Library.

16 ll. + 353 pp. + 4 bl. ll. + 24 ll. folio. 41½ × 27 cm. 1564-1633.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, much damaged and wormed: brass corner pieces, three wanting, and bosses.

A large portion of the Armorial has been torn out, as well as some leaves in the unpaginated preliminary section; one of the leaves of which has the lower half torn away. The pagination is incorrect and pp. 112/3 has been torn out.

Written mainly in double column: the Calendar in red and black, and the Armorial partly emblazoned, with many blank or incomplete shields.

There are numerous small pen-drawings of medical apparatus, etc.:

Prelim. leaf 1<sup>v</sup> 'A trewe Est and Weste erecte dial'.

4<sup>v</sup> Shield with arms of Dineley, and date 1613.

14<sup>v</sup> Small sketch of parts of a fishing rod of the Author's invention.

15<sup>v</sup> 'A pype to heale thrustes of my owne invention'.

PSEUDO-DIOSCORIDES ANAZARBEUS

Page 26	A surgical 'Tente'. There is a similar drawing on p. 29.
67	Surgical needle and thread.
68	Use of above in a leg wound.
71	Drawing of a 'pype' similar to that noted above.
79	Box for a lead plaster, and a mortar.
170	Drawing of a truss, and of a male figure wearing it.
283	A 'pype' to fumigate the ears.
311	Circular diagram connected with the making of 'aqua mirabilis'.
337	Leg showing bandage for a fractured tibia.

The Calendar shows that the writer was a Roman Catholic, and this section is compiled by the earlier hand, as are all the preliminary leaves and the Armorial.

The signature of 'Henry Dingley' appears on the verso of the first prelim. leaf. On the mutilated leaf mentioned above, is a note of weights and measures 'Wrytten this V day of Auguste anno christiano 1564'. The text ends 'Wheresoever ye see this carecter HD stand in the margent of this my boke agaynst any medycine, oyle, oyntment . . . within this boke that have I Henry dineley prouyd withowte dowte and no other have I myself prouyd'.

The first two leaves beginning at the other end of the volume also contain inscriptions. On the verso of the first is a note beginning 'The yeare of oure lorde god 1564: was the coldest sprynge and the wyndyst that ever I h:d: dyd see . . .'. This is followed by astrological predictions for the year. It ends with two lines in Italic hand signed Henry Dingley: 'Anno Domini 1592 Died all the Baye trees in Englande above ground but reuiued at the Rootes for the most parte whereof I had twooe in my gardeyn'. Below in a different script 'Anno Domini 1598 no fructe, Apples nor peares'. The end of this note has been obliterated in ink, but it is possibly also signed 'Henry Dingley'.

At the head of the second leaf is an inscription in the older hand, 'Liber henrici Dineley. ex dono francisci Dineley armigeri. Anno 1591 3 decembris'. This is repeated above the signature 'Frauncis Dyneley 1592'.

Among scribbled Latin and French below those inscriptions is 'henry Dyneley of hanley chastell oweth this Booke. Per me Henry Dyneley'.

In the text is a reference on p. 335 to 'my father anno 1548' and on p. 339 to 'my grandfather, my father and myself at Tewkesbury'.

A Francis Dineley is recorded in the Visitation of Worcester as having died in 1624 aged 74. A Henry Dyngley is also mentioned there as having matriculated at St. Edmund Hall, Oxford, in January 1594/5 aged 13.

Many of the additions by a later hand bear the name of Dr. [John] Sadler [1615-1664]. The latest date in the text is 1633.

Date of acquisition, and provenance not known. (44190)

8 ll. (first bl.). + 93 pp. + 1 bl. l. 8vo. 16½ × 11 cm. [c. 1525.]

19th cent. calf binding. Margins slightly cropped.

The water-mark of the paper appears to be Briquet's No. 539 which is entered as Brescia 1502.

On the fly-leaf 'Old Latin Herbal consisting of 93 pages besides the Index. H. Drury'. A later hand has added in pencil 'circa 1460 G.W.'.

The 'H. Drury' is Henry Joseph Thomas Drury [1778-1841], who was a classical scholar, and left a large library of books and MSS., which was sold in 1827 and 1837. Purchased 1933. (66454).

246. DISPENSATORIUM medicinale.

3 ll. + 373 pp. 8vo.  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Unbound.

The end, and pp. 198/9 are wanting.

Headings in red: written in a small neat hand.

A prescription book of a German pharmacist.

Purchased 1909. (21457)

247. DISPUTATIONES in secundam partem universae philosophiae quae dicitur phisica seu philosophia naturalis.

1 l. + 224 ff. + 3 bl. ll. 4to.  $18\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original calf binding. Margins frayed and damaged at beginning and end.

At the end, as part of the backing, are 3 fragments of medical prescriptions in French, one dated 1642.

On the first leaf is the date 1691, but the MS. is certainly earlier.

It is mainly a commentary on part of Aristotle's 'Octo libri Physicorum'.

83 [84] ll. folio.  $30 \times 21$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Original stamped rough calf binding over wooden boards, very worn; rebacked in vellum: both clasps wanting.

The first leaf is missing.

Written in a semi-current humanistic hand, 30 lines to a page. Some initials and headings in red, much faded.

Illustrated with 59 pen-drawings of parts of the clock, etc.: of these, 33 are coloured. There are also many smaller illustrations of minor pieces of mechanism. The colourings are in water-colour and gold paint.

Inside the lower cover is a 17th cent. pen and ink drawing, showing three men standing outside the door of a house, one bare-headed, holding a jug [?].

1 bl. ll. + 26 ff. + 28 ll. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

The title is that of Durante's 'Herbario nuovo' first published in Rome in 1585, but this MS. contains only the plants from 'Abrotano' to 'Aro maggiore'. The remainder of the text consists of medical and alchemical receipts and 'secrets'. The last two leaves have entries by a later hand, and the date 1796 is found on the last page.

Purchased 1933. (66180)

252. — Il tesoro della sanità . . . Nel quale s'insegna il modo di conservar la sanità, et prolungar la vita. Et si tratta della natura de' cibi, et de' rimedii de' nocumento loro. Di nuovo ristampato et . . . corretto. In Venetia, M.DC. XVI. Appresso Marc' Antonio Zaltieri. [Transcript.]

2 ll. (first bl.) + pp. vi + 334 + 8 ll. 4to.  $21 \times 15$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern boards.

The work was first published in Rome in 1586. The edition from which this MS. was copied does not seem to be recorded in the bibliographies.

At the end of the text 'R.D. Laurentius Prievius, Bass[anus] Correct[or]'.

On the verso of the first leaf 'A mi querido Professor el Dr. D. Rafael Rodriguez Mendez. I. Mele, Tosa 3 Mayo 1909'. (Ignacio Mele y Ferré [1860-1928].)

Original limp vellum binding: stamped on upper cover 'IESVS', a small fleur de lys, and 'ELS'.

Inside the upper cover a small circular symbolic water-colour with motto 'Paupertate premor sublevor ingenio'. The third leaf is a full-page water-colour illustrating the Light of Wisdom.

Facing entry No. 45 is another full-page symbolic water-colour of the achievement of the 'Lapis Philosophorum' possibly executed by Michael Libavius.

ELICHMANN

The work of Stolcius is collated 8 ll. + 107 engraved plates + 106 six-line verses + 8 bl. ll. The last plate No. cvii has no accompanying verses, and shows the coat of arms of Stolcius.

An 18th cent. owner has numbered the autograph entries 1-99, but has missed an entry on the verso of No. 63.

No. 35 is dropped—or wanting: Nos. 97, 98 are missing.

Some of the entries are on inserted leaves, others on the verso-leaves or plate-leaves of Stolcius' work.

The only English name to appear among the entries is the 'Joannes Broune Anglus philosophus et medicinae doctor' dated at Paris in 1625 (No. 57). It is probable that he is identical with the 'Johannes Browne Anglus' who was enrolled at Leyden University 21st December 1621, being then 37 years old. In the Padua Register he is stated to have matriculated there on 3rd February, 1623 and received his M.D. Degree on 2nd October of that year. [Cf. Innes-Smith 'English-speaking Students of Medicine at Leyden'. 1932, p. 33.]

Johann Elichmann, the owner of the volume, besides his professional attainments, was a distinguished Orientalist and is said to have spoken sixteen languages.

A note on the first leaf in Dutch states that this MS. was acquired at Utrecht on 7th September 1750 from the Collection of Jacob Marcus in whose Catalogue 1150 it was No. 26.

The date given on the general title as 'MDLII' seems to be possibly a mistake for 'MDCLII'. The work by Arthur Dee (1579-1651) was first published in

ENGEL

Paris in 1631, and later translated by Elias Ashmole, at London in 1650. In both these printed editions the Author does not mention his Father, the celebrated John Dee [1527-1608].

The last work is discussed at length by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 182-190, 688-691, but he comes to no conclusion as to the authorship.

Pantheo and his writings, are discussed in Vol. V, pp. 537-540, of the same work.

From the style of writing, the alchemical poem, and other internal evidence, this MS. seems to have been written in Italy. It was composed by a 'Philosophus Aureae Crucis', but little information has been traced as to this Order, which may have had Rosicrucian connections. According to Waite in his 'Brotherhood of the Rosy Cross', p. 343, this name was also applied to that enigmatic Society. Waite also draws attention to the tract 'Aureum seculum redivivum', published in 1621 or 1622, and reissued in 1638 and 1645. This originally appeared under the name of 'Madathanus' which is known to be a pseudonym for Hadrianus à Mynsicht [1603-1638].

In this tract the Author describes himself as 'Frater Aureae Crucis'. (Cf. Waite, op. cit. pp. 351, 352, 475, 476.)

14 × 10 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

19th cent. stamped morocco binding. Margins cropped in re-binding.

Illustrated with a pen-drawn horoscopic figure (p. 141), and a circular figure (p. 234).

The title has apparently been cut down, and pasted on to the third leaf in the form of a small label (6½ × 4 cm.). Below this is the armorial book-plate in gold on black of Stanislaus de Guaita, in the Catalogue of whose library by R. Philipon, this MS. is listed as No. 674.

In the lower margin of the 'Table des chapitres' and of the 'Preface', is the name 'Ballisdens' in gold ink, by a contemporary hand. This is probably an autograph signature of Jean Balesdens [ -1675], French jurist and Author.

23 ll. + 166 ff. + pp. 168-361. 4to. 19 × 13 cm. 1560.

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards, repaired.

Between the end of the Index and the beginning of the text, five leaves have been cut out.

With many additions by contemporary hands.

A MS. note on the first leaf signed J. W. Graefe states that this MS. belonged to Eberhardt and Georg von Erbach and that it was formerly in the 'Haagische Bibliothek'.

Pasted inside the cover is a printed Ex-libris inscribed 'Ad Bibliothecam, quam sibi, Domui suae et ad usum Consiliariorum suorum acquisivit Celsissimus Comes Christianus Carolus de Erbach-Fürstenau ab ejusdem Collectore et Possessore septuagenario Joanne Guilielmo Graefe Directore Cancellariae 1794'.

12 ll. + 120 ff. 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. [c. 1550-1800.]

Original boards, damaged.

The following leaves are wanting 40, 47, 49, 53-58, 60, 65-67, 77-87, 90, 92, 98-103, 107, 113-118. Of these, 91, 92, 98-103 have been replaced by re-written texts in an early 18th cent. hand.

There are 84 coloured and four uncoloured pictures of plants of medical use, in water-colour, mostly of a formal and crude design following the early printed Herbals.

The original text seems to have been written by different hands, an entry by one of the later of these on fol. 111 being dated 1555.

Another entry by one of the supplementary writers on fol. 106<sup>v</sup> is dated 1732, and some other additions seem even later. The indices were presumably the work of Genesini.

The first and last plant illustrations have been pasted down, and are not included in the numbered foliation.

6 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $21 \times 16$  cm. [c. 1530.]

Modern covers from a vellum leaf of a 15th cent. Service Book.

On the fourth leaf is a pen-drawing of a 'Lanbicum' (alembic).

The first receipt is headed 'Magister Jonathinus Rome hec dedit' and describes the making of an ointment and powder for ulcers caused by the Morbus Gallicus. The second headed 'Informatio Domini Mariani qui fecit pulverem sepiissime', is for the making of another powder for the same disease. The German receipt is for the 'Sucht-flusz'. The last receipt is 'Ad virile membrum pulvis quando primum sentitur sanies seu pustula'.

The Marianus of the second receipt is probably Franciscus Marianus, who died in 1528 and practised at Padua; he wrote a treatise on 'Morbus Gallicus'.

FALCUTIUS

268. FALCUTIUS (NICOLAUS) [ -1412]. Sermonum scientiae medicae libri septimi tractatus tertius et quartus: de chirurgia. (Incomplete.)

188 ll. folio. 30 × 20½ cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum and paper, in quires of two vellum and six paper leaves. 19th cent. diced calf binding. The end is wanting, and fol. 18 has been almost entirely torn out: lower margin of the last leaf slightly cut, and text rubbed.

Written in a small current hand, 31-33 lines to a page. Large ornamental initial D on fol. 1, rubbed; capitals and paragraph marks in red.

Last line . . . Galienus dixit in vii<sup>o</sup> mista cum bulbo et ex eis utilibus /

This is line 39 of Cap. XCI in the edition of 1507.

This work was first printed as part of The 'Liber sermonum' at Pavia 1481-84: and separately in 1507. There is a good account of it in Gurlt's 'Geschichte der Chirurgie', Vol. I, pp. 805-821.

From the Collection of the Abbé Celotti, sold at Sotheby's 14/3/1825, Lot 67.

Phillipps MS. No. 908, with his Library stamp.

Sold at Sotheby's 11/6/1898, Lot 853, and acquired by Dr. Frederick William Cock [1858-1943], whose Ex-libris is pasted inside the upper cover, with an autograph note '1898. pret. [word struck through] p. auri quat.'

10 ll. + 100 ff. + 2 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 21½ × 16 cm. Padua. 1560-1562.

Modern quarter cloth binding.

This MS. contains notes of lectures taken down by an anonymous student at Padua University. Fallopius' lectures were printed in 1563, but the published volume only contained the Lectures down to 1558. While it is therefore possible that this MS. may contain some unpublished parts of the Lectures, it is to be noted that Fallopius was in the habit of delivering his course of lectures on the subject every three years.

At the end of the text the compiler states 'Reliquas autem lecturas de hac materia non scripsi quia Patavio Doctor discessi, antea scripseram totum tractatum de m[orbo] g[allico] quem lege'.

The author of the Funeral Oration was Jan Savius [or Sarius] Zamoyski [1541-1605] 'Princeps juventutis litteratae' who became Rector in 1563, and later Chancellor of Poland. According to Tiraboschi ('Storia della letteratura Italiana', 1809, Vol. VII, p. 629) this Oration was afterwards printed. No record of it has been traced in the bibliographies, but there is a copy in the Wellcome Library [6792]. Purchased 1925. (43968).

328 ll. folio. 31 × 21 cm. [c. 1500–1525.]

Modern vellum binding. The following leaves are wanting according to the present foliation: between ff. 145/6, 2 leaves; between 177/8, 4 ll.; between 190/1, 267/8, 271/2, 1 leaf; between 304/5, 16 leaves; between 320/1, 1 leaf. A number of leaves are slightly damaged or worn, and some of the illustrations have suffered from a deterioration of the paper.

There are two watermarks on the paper, variants of the bull's-head and serpent entwined round a pole, one surmounted by a cross, the other by a five-petalled flower. These appear to be Nos. 15376 and 15394 of Briquet, and are assigned to Venice 1479-92.

Illustrated by 283 rough drawings of medicinal plants, of which 251 are coloured in water-colour, some partly coloured: there are also a number of pen-drawings of urine flasks.

On fol. 90 is a remarkable illustration of a Mandrake showing the male and female plant, a dog with a rope attached to one of them, and a youth in 15th cent. costume blowing a horn.

Many of the plant illustrations are accompanied by notes in Latin or Italian on their virtues and uses.

Original vellum binding.

The MS. consists of 200 engraved heads, with the various different lines and markings added in ink. Below each is a short note in Latin.

In some cases there are MS. additions in Italian by a somewhat later hand.

The work was first published at Antwerp in 1648.

The spine is lettered 'De metoscopia'.

Purchased 1930. (73189)

16 ll. (first & last bl.). folio. 25 × 18 cm. Florence. 1387-1458.

On vellum. Original half leather binding over thick wooden boards, clasps wanting.

The upper part of the upper cover is painted black and white. The top half (black) has a painting of St. John the Baptist in brown and yellow, holding a scroll inscribed 'Ora Domino Deo Patre Omnipotente'. In the lower half (white) is the word 'Inventario' with a large decorated initial.

A number of leaves have been cut out from the middle of the volume.

The MS. has been begun from both ends, and a pencilled foliation has been added.

FOSTER

Some ornamental initials and capitals in black and yellow, paragraph marks and headings in red. Text within red rules and underlined in red.

Illustrated with 12 circular diagrams in colour on ff. 10-15<sup>v</sup>.

The first question (fol. 1) is 'S E aucune persoune sera / mariée en ceste année /', and the last (No. 48) on fol. 2, 'Se aucun viura longuement'.

The circles are headed 'Mons', 'Fleues', 'Pierres', 'Espices', 'Fleurs', 'Oyseaux', 'Herbes', 'Bestes', 'Citez', 'Fruis', 'Poissons', 'Arbres', and are followed by the answers, under the headings of 16 Kings.

The MS. is perhaps a copy of an earlier work.

81 ll. + 18 bl. ll. + 83 pp. folio.  $35\frac{1}{2} \times 22\frac{1}{2}$  cm. Périgueux.
1595-1620. [c. 1675.]

Original calf binding, worn. The last leaf is slightly defective, and the MS. is damp-stained throughout. The first leaf of the Receipts is wanting.

Inside the lower cover is inscribed 'Le 12 avril 1674, Mr Pomart nous a fiancé ...' and below 'Le 26 entre une et deux i'espouzay dans l'église de St. Jehan Mr Pommart aussi nous espouza'.

These inscriptions and two others of the same year relating to his wife's shoes and a corset, are apparently by the writer of the medical receipts who in several cases mentions the effects of remedies upon his patients.

[Early 17th cent.]

Modern half vellum binding. Last leaf of Index wanting.

Illustrated with six small pen-drawings: 'Schaletta' [File?] (fol. 49<sup>v</sup>), 'Stelletta' [pad?] (fol. 51), 'Scharnatora' [Farrier's knife] (fol. 56<sup>v</sup>), 'Cortello' [knife] (fol. 107), cautery iron (fol. 111<sup>v</sup>), sketch of a round piece of bread, inscribed with magic words to cure worms (fol. 138<sup>v</sup>).

Inscribed on the verso of first leaf, and on the recto of second leaf after the end of the text 'D. Jacobi Francisci Via C R Placentini'.

Purchased 1934. (66924).

Original stamped vellum binding over wooden boards, one of two brass clasps, and a corner-piece wanting. Ff. 29-32 missing. Headings in red.

The first 8 ll. contain entries in a later 16th cent. hand.

On fol. 57, the Author has signed and dated 1537 a receipt for 'Aurum potabile': and inside the upper cover is a receipt for a dye ending 'probatum durch mich hans frey 1549'. Below is a coat of arms blazoned in water-colour, perhaps that of the Compiler.

58 ll. 4to.  $21 \times 16$  cm. [Padua. c. 1535.]

Modern vellum covers from part of a 'Rotulus condemnationum et absolutionum' [Rome?] dated 1361. The last three leaves have been bound out of order.

FRIGIMELICA

The beginning of the work on Fever is inscribed 'De febre quartana annotata pulcherrima / Que ego Johannes franciscus Coll<sup>us</sup> [sic] Murrensis D. Luce filius sub excellentissimo Domino Francisco Frigimelica diligentissime scripsi'.

There is a contemporary foliation 39-90, and this volume formed part of an original larger volume, which began with notes of the 'Discursus et consilia' by J. B. Montanus—MS. No. 835—though this is written by a different hand. The vellum cover is also taken from the same 'Rotulus', mentioned above.

MS. No. 837, notes of Frigimelica's lectures on the Morbus Gallicus, is also part of the same original volume, and is dated Padua 1537.

Purchased 1923. (42963)

282. FRIGIMELICA (FRANCISCUS) [1491-1559]. Tractatus de cura morbi gallici, a . . . Domino Francisco Fryzimeliga Practicam Medicine ordinariam in almo ginnasio patavino profitente preceptore nostro compilatus 1537.

23 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 21 × 16 cm. Padua. 1537.

Modern vellum covers from part of an early 15th cent. Rent-roll for Angiano.

There is an original foliation of 90-130, showing that this MS. formed part of a larger volume. This has been traced to our MSS. 567 [MONTANUS] and 281 [FRIGIMELICA], which are foliated by the same hand 1-38, 39-90.

The scribe in each of the three MSS. appears to be different.

[Late 15th cent.]

16th cent. stamped leather binding, with historiated border showing running deer, about a central ornamental panel: metal and leather clasp.

Written in a small semi-current German script, 22 lines to a page. Some capitals, paragraph marks and underlinings in red.

A pagination in ink has been added in the 19th cent.

Gerhard Eis has an article on Gabriel von Lebenstein and his work in Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin'. Bd 35, pp. 141-159. 1942, based on the examination of three MSS. in Germany with a transcript. These appear to differ in text and arrangement from our MS., which was not known to him.

The Wolfenbüttel MS. Cod. 54. Aug. 40 seems to resemble our MS. in that it is preceded by a note on Salvia, and also contains a 'Pestregiment'.

In our MS. 'Von lilgen Wasser' has been taken as the beginning of Gabriel's text, but it is possible that the preceding entry 'Huernesdarm [? Hunersdarm] Wasser' also belongs to it, though this item is not given in any of Eis' texts.

The Plague tracts Nos. 3, 4, 5 have not been identified, but it is possible they may be excerpts from longer works. Nos. 6 and 8 are entered in Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Vol. IV, pp. 412-418. Michael Puff von Schrick [1400?-1473] was the author of 'Von den ausgebrannten Wassern', written in 1455, and first printed at Augsburg in 1477.

The water-mark of the paper—a balance within a circle and a six-pointed star—is probably Briquet's No. 2454, dated from 1476, Augsburg.

On the second preliminary leaf, in a late 17th cent. hand: 'Dieses ist von Docttor Viellebalt de Bauminger becanten leyb Medicus Ihro May Ce. Augustt. Rudolf den ersten' [1218-1291].

On vellum, 19th cent. stamped calf binding. Three (blank?) leaves have been cut out at the end.

Written in a small neat gothic hand, 36 lines to a page.

On fol. 1, two ornamental initials in red and green, other capitals and headings in red.

285. — Methodus medendi (libri XII–XIV). De differentiis februm. Translated by Burgundio de Pisa. De mala complexione. De accidenti et morbo. De crisi. Liber tertius de diebus criticis.

99 ff. folio. 35½ × 22½ cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum. 19th cent. tooled calf binding over wooden boards.

The outer half of fol. 71 has been cut away, as also the lower margins of ff. 1, 2, 9, 25, 29, 31, 32, 39, 78, 79, 80, 82, and smaller pieces from the lower margins of ff. 94, 95, but in all cases without loss of text.

Parts of the first 17 ff., and on a few other leaves, the text is illegible owing to damage from damp.

Written in an Italian gothic hand, in double column of 57 lines to a column, with many contractions.

There are 8 illuminated initials containing miniatures: each has a marginal decoration in gold and colours.

- Fol. 1 Letter T Badly affected by damp. Half-length figures of a Physician with a pupil: he wears a black cap, white hood and red gown. The other figure is in green.
 14 Letter D Half-length profile figure of a young man with a red cap and purple garment: perhaps giving a lecture.
 28<sup>v</sup> Letter D Quarter-length full-faced figure of a man in a red gown and black cap. His face and neck are swollen and he presumably illustrates the chapter on 'phlegmones'.
 34 Letter D A similar figure with a red robe over a green undergarment. The face and neck are covered with boils, illustrating 'tumores praeter naturam'.
 41 Letter D Quarter-length full-faced figure of a Physician with a red bonnet, white hood and red gown. In the margin is a scene of two female figures, one in a blue gown who stands holding up a urine glass, the other behind her in a grey gown: they are beside a bed in which a sick man reclines. He is bare-headed in a purple gown, and rests against a red cushion. Proportion and perspective are poor.
 50 Letter M Quarter-length profile figure of a bare-headed man in a red robe with a long and emaciated neck.
 72 Letter E A nude sick man leans out of his bed while a copious flow of blood falls from his nose. The bed is wooden, and has a red and green coverlet. The drawing shows very feeble design and bad perspective.
 96 Letter E A quarter-length figure of a Physician lecturing. He wears a black cap, white hood and a red gown over a green undergarment.

On the verso of the last leaf is a circular pen-drawn astrological diagram in red and black.

In the margin of fol. 16 is a small grotesque pen-drawing, half-length, of a woman with four breasts.

GALEN

On fol. 52 is a large illuminated letter I in gold and colours, with decorations extending from the top to the bottom of the page. Other ornamental initials in colours on ff. 5<sup>v</sup>, 9<sup>v</sup>, 18<sup>v</sup>, 23<sup>v</sup>, 45, 56<sup>v</sup>, 59, 62<sup>v</sup>, 66<sup>v</sup>, 81, 87<sup>v</sup>.

Smaller ornamental initials throughout in alternate red and blue, with coloured line decorations, paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, headings in red.

286. — Opera varia. Translated by Nicolaus de Reggio and Joannes de Burgundio. 178 ll. (last 3 bl.). folio. 39 × 26 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum, 18th cent. half calf binding: margins cropped in binding.

Written by several scribes in clear gothic book hands, in double column of 52-54 lines to a column.

Miniatures

- Fol. I (In outline only, and uncoloured) letter D, a winged figure supported by two others, on one side half-human half-fish, on the other half-woman half-lion [?]: above a female (?) figure looks down from a floreated decoration.
- II Illuminated letter T in gold and colours with similar floreated marginal decoration with grotesques, etc.; the letter shows a knight in green armour, and purple cloak flying in the wind, mounted on a white horse galloping.
- 27<sup>v</sup> Letter I forming a grotesque figure of a knight in blue armour holding a shield of two chevrons gules, coloured but not illuminated.
- 84 Illuminated letter L in gold and colours with similar floreated marginal decorations, grotesques, etc.: the letter shows a lady kneeling on one knee clad in a scarlet robe over a purple inner dress, with a wimple matching the robe, over a conical head-dress.
- 129 Illuminated letter Q in gold and colours, with similar marginal decorations, etc., showing a nude male figure (Cupid?).
- 132 Illuminated letter I as above showing a female standing figure, bare-headed wearing a purple gown, over which is a gold-lined crimson cloak.
- 133<sup>v</sup> Illuminated letter D of larger size, in gold and colours with floreated marginal decorations. The letter contains a seated figure of a Physician in scarlet cap and gown lecturing, and holding a book. Below, as part of the marginal decoration, is another youthful male figure, perhaps a monk, bare-headed in a scarlet cloak over a brown robe, in one hand he holds an object (urine flask?).
- On fol. 78 A diagram drawn by the pen showing the phases of the moon, in the lower margin.
- 142<sup>v</sup> A pen-drawn schematic diagram of the parts of the eye, in the lower margin.
- 143<sup>v</sup> In the lower margin two crude pen-drawn heads, one male, one female, lettered 'Amor me ligat'. Above is inscribed 'In ista lectione ego fui ymagiatus catherinam meam et senti (?) inde maximam penam ad cuius similitudinem feci ymaginem die sabbati nona decembris'.

Ornamental capitals in red and blue, blue and red, purple and red: paragraph marks in alternate red and blue: headings in red. Large coloured initials, some with marginal decorations on ff. 8, 23, 33, 39, 89, 93<sup>v</sup>, 99, 124: on ff. 68, 151<sup>v</sup> and 159, these are in outline only and uncoloured; that on fol. 147 is coloured, but has been defaced. On fol. 119 there is an illuminated O in gold and colours.

There are numerous marginal and interlinear notes by various contemporary and 15th cent. hands. Among these the name of Joannes de Penna, mentioned in the title of the 'De diebus decretoriis', occurs several times quoted as an authority, e.g. in the margin of fol. 160<sup>v</sup>. In the margin of fol. 164 is a note: 'Nota quod iste crises fiebantur scilicet 3<sup>o</sup> et 4<sup>o</sup> die ad identidem et omnes moriebantur in tempore anno domini m<sup>o</sup> 361' [1361].

On fol. 157 is a 31 line note on the constitution of the Universe and on Man, and on fol. 174<sup>v</sup> an unfinished discussion on the Soul.

The translations by Nicolaus de Reggio in this MS. do not appear to have been printed. [Cf. Sarton 'Introduction to the History of Science', Vol. III, Part 1, pp. 446-448.]

GALEN

From leaf 33 to the end, the leaves are palimpsest, and there are traces of an earlier script—possibly of the 13th cent. These include lists of office-holders in an unknown Italian city. On fol. 68<sup>v</sup> is a heading in red 'Ad of[f]icium Jurarie', and on fol. 77, also in red, 'Ad of[f]icium lignagii'.

Autograph of 'J. Hilton 1880' inside cover.

Purchased at Sotheby's 6/11/1933, Lot 318. (66271)

288. — Commentary by an unidentified author on the 'Ars parva': the beginning and end wanting.

68 ff. folio. 31½ × 21 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

Modern boards. Some margins frayed, and a few damp-stains.

In the lower margin is a foliation, by a 17th cent. owner.

Written in a small semi-current gothic hand, with marginal notes by the same in a still smaller script: with many contractions and without paragraphs: 57–66 lines to a page.

Fol. 1 secunda parte declarat de signis corporis optime constitutionis . . .

68 . . . super discrasias nunc ipsius stomachi sicut sit appetitus ad cibum sicut ad potum /

The commentary starts from the beginning of the second book of the 'Ars parva' dealing with the discussion of the 'optima constitutio': it ends abruptly about the last part of the same book, which is concerned with 'digestio'.

Pasted on the verso of the last leaf is a small paper slip (6½ × 12 cm.) inscribed by an 18th cent. hand 'Nob. Bernardo Trevisan / [1652–1720] Eletto Filosofo della ser. Rep. di Ven[etia] / Alcune Lezioni Filosofiche'.

There are a few marginal notes by a 16th cent. owner—mostly anatomical terms.
 The text is very considerably abridged, and does not appear to agree with the recorded versions, and this is particularly true of the first work.

The illustrations, though of poor quality, are of interest as being the prototypes of those found in Ketham's 'Fasciculus medicinae', first printed in 1491.

293 — Official contemporary copy of his last Will, in Italian: authenticated by Alessandro Pencio, a Notary attached to the Chancery, and transcribed by Francesco Giuntini of the Record Office. With a modern transcript.

11 ll. (last bl.), 17 ff. folio. 28 × 19½ cm., 33 × 20½ cm.
Florence 1642. [c. 1930.]

Unbound.

The date of the original will was 21 August 1638. This official copy was made on 26 May 1642 for Gratia Dio de Squadrinis, a Florentine notary who drew up the original Will.

Purchased 1935. (68518<sup>A</sup>)

294. — Document in Latin in favour of the burial of Galileo in Santa Croce, and the erection of a monument. Written to refute the objections of those who considered him a heretic. Document affirming the validity of Galileo's will, and his right to make a will: with holograph endorsement by Fra Giovanni Paolo Bimbacci.

4 ll. (last bl.), 2 ll. folio. 30 × 21 cm. [Florence. 1642?]

Unbound.

The objectors were partly successful, and Galileo was buried in an obscure part of the Church. His remains were not removed until 1737, when the monument was finally erected, and he was re-buried in the mausoleum in the north aisle of Santa Croce.

From the Galletti Collection.

Purchased 1929. (52348<sup>F</sup>)

295. — [Lettera] alla Serenissima Madama Gran Duchessa Madre.

51 ll. (first & last bl.). 8 vo. 19½ × 14 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original half vellum binding.

A contemporary copy of the famous Letter to Christina of Lorraine, published first in 1632 at Florence, as an appendix to his 'Dialogo sopra i due massimi sistemi del mondo'. It is a defence of his theories made prior to his summons to appear before the Court of Inquisitors in Rome.

Stated on the outside of the binding to be 'Autografa di Vincenzo Viviani'.

Viviani [1622–1703], mathematician and favourite pupil of Galileo, collected a great amount of material by and relating to the famous astronomer, and projected a completed edition of his writings, in Latin and Italian in four volumes. This was never carried out, but most of his material, after many vicissitudes, was finally acquired by the Tuscan Government, and now forms a major part of the collection of Galilean material in the Biblioteca Nazionale in Florence.

From the Galletti Collection.

Purchased 1929. (52348<sup>A</sup>)

296. — Lettera alla serenissima Madama, la Gran Duchessa Madre.

28 ll. folio. 26½ × 20 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Unbound. Some margins frayed.

A contemporary copy. See note to MS. No. 295.

Purchased 1931. (64702)

297. — Lettera alla serenissima Madama la Gran Duchessa.
24 ll. (last 2 bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Unbound in paper covers.

See note to MS. No. 295, which is another contemporary copy of this work.

A pencil note inside the cover states that this MS. was 'acheté en 1895 à Rome à la vente après décès de la maison Minutoli Tegrini par le soussigné Boyer d'Agen', i.e. Jean Auguste Boyer d'Agen. [1857-1945.]

Purchased 1934. (67124)

298. — Notata ex Dialogo de systemate mundi Galilei, de motu terrae, et ex primo Dialogo inter Salvianum Sagredum et Simplicium. Lettera di Galileo Galilei alla Serenissima Madama la Gran Duchessa di Toscana.

74 ll. + 14 ll. 4tp.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Unbound. The 'Lettera' is in slightly smaller format,  $19 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  cm.

Illustrated by rough pen-drawn diagrams.

The 'Dialogo' was first published in 1631.

On the first leaf is a 'Risposta del Sig. Dott. Capponi al medesimo Epigramma' in 4 lines of Latin verse.

It is probable therefore that a leaf or leaves, is missing at the beginning, and that Capponi may be the writer of this MS.

- [ This would either be Giovanni Battista Capponi, Physician and Astrologer
-1676], or Vincenzo Capponi, a Poet and as a young man a pupil of Galileo, who died in 1688.

Purchased 1933. (59559)

298. — Compendio (or Discorso) dell' arte militare. [Incomplete.]
10 parts. folio.  $28\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Unbound.

Written by different contemporary hands.

Illustrated with rough pen-drawn marginal and other figures and diagrams.

Parts 1-8 Discorso del arte militare. [Incomplete, Part 5 Missing.]

9 Compendio del arte militare. By a different hand.

10 Epitome of the 'Discorso' by a third hand, and made from a different version.

From the Galletti Collection.

This MS. appears to be the 'Summa' of Gerardus Cremonensis, though the arrangement of the text seems to be unusual. This work has been variously ascribed to Gerardus Bituricensis, Gerardus Montepessulanus, Gerardus Salernitanus, and other Gerards.

Sudhoff, however, calls it 'das einzige selbständige medizinische Werke Gerhards [von Cremona]' in 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Bd. 8, p. 82.

The work on Falcons, here ascribed to 'Theodosius', was printed in full at Paris in 1612, under the title: 'Epistolae Aquilae Symmachi et Theodotionis ad Ptolemaeum Regem Aegyptii De re accipitraria, Catalonica lingua . . .'. It had also appeared in the same year and place, in a Latin version, in the 'Rei accipitrariae scriptores', edited by Nicholas Rigault [1577-1654].

(Cf. HARTING (J. E.): Bibliotheca accipitraria. 1891. Nos. 223, 314, 315. SARTON: Introduction to the History of Science. Vol. II, Part 2, p. 648.)

Besides the apocryphal letter to King Ptolemy from 'Theodosius', the work on Falcons also mentions 'Remedii trouati per lo mastro falconieri de l'emperadore frederico secondo' (ff. 7<sup>v</sup>, 8).

7-178 Secreta alchemica: in cypher, German.
179-180 Prayers in German.
181-187 Elixir vitae: list of components in Latin.
188-209 Alchemical and medical receipts, prayers, etc.: mainly in cypher, and in German, but 'Virtutes olei' (pp. 191-193) in Latin en clair. At the end 'Scriptum Gottersdorff in meo exilio apud pastorem Severinum Drescherum Anno 1572'.
210-219 Ciment Regal: in German.
221-252 Libellus de creatione omnium rerum Anno 1575 Die 23 Augusti. In der Naunburgk an der Sala. Authore Johanne Gurlachio: in German. At the end 'Anno Domini 1575 Die Jovis 25 Augusti'.
322-328 Lapis philosophorum. 1576 Die Saturni 25 February: in German. The end is wanting.

In the lower margin of Fol. 1 is an inscription 'Daniel Crusius à K. cit[at]um] in Catalogo'.

On the added leaf before fol. 1 is the title 'Johanne Guirlachio / Guerlizensis / Occulta Scripta / Chymica. / Manuscriptum rarissimum / Renov[at]um / Anno 1760'.

On the verso is a note in German by the same hand, stating that the MS. was originally bound in green velvet dated 1575 with a gold-stamped panel of the Crucifixion. As this binding had perished through age, the writer had the volume rebound in 1760. Below this inscription is a monogram 'J D?'.
On pp. 260, 261, Julius Kohn has written out the cypher in reverse order Z-A, and—in cypher—continues 'In my end is my beginning Julius Kohn London November 1889'.

GESTA ROMANORUM

12. TABELLA (Ein) oder Taffel darinen der Anfang, das Mittel, und das End, als der rechte, warhafftige Gründ aller philosophischer Weisheit begrüffet ist. (ff. 236-244.)
13. FAMA Fraternitatis oder Bruderschaft des hochlöblichen Ordens des fratris R[osen] C[reutzes]. Ahn die Heubter Stende, und Gelehrten Europae. (ff. 245-265.)

On fol. 1, the Compiler of this collection has written 'Sum Joannis Gessleri Zabernensis, Sancti Petri Junioris Argentinensis Ecclesiae Canonicus, et Rector Ecclesiae Ottersweyrensis. 1612'. As stated above, the upper cover is stamped with the date 1610, and the treatises bear dates between 1609 and 1613.

The famous 'Fama Fraternitatis', the first Rosicrucian work, was almost certainly not published until 1614 at Cassel, but it is known that it was circulating in MS. before that. (Cf. Waite 'Brotherhood of the Rosy Cross', pp. 114-116.)

No particulars have been ascertained concerning Gessler, but he was certainly a keen adherent of the Paracelsian chemical doctrines.

On the fourth preliminary leaf is an inscription: 'Christian Franz Schlökhel [?] No. 12'.

Engraved armorial book-plate of Ignatius Dominicus, Comes de Chorinsky [1729-1792].

GROSSCHEDEL

321. GROSSCHEDEL (JOHANN BAPTIST). Annotations sur le Calendrier naturel et cabalistique. By an un-named commentator. Interleaved is a copy, cut up into eleven strips, of the engraved broadside 'Calendarium naturale magicum perpetuum', published by J. T. de Bry (according to B.M. Catalogue, c. 1620), set out by Grosschedel after the original designs of Tycho Brahe made in 1582.

38 ll. (last bl.). obl. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 29\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1650.]

Original vellum binding. Some margins frayed, and leaves slightly dampstained.

A note on the tenth Table states: 'Nota qu'il n'y'a pas de 11<sup>me</sup>'.

In the extreme left hand panel of the Twelfth strip is a note by the same hand as that of the MS. which reads 'Lath [sic] a fait la proj[ection] deuant M<sup>r</sup> delaroche et du viconte [sic] du vasse à St Sene [or Seve] en 1650 mort en angleterre'. The first word may possibly be meant for 'L'autheur', that is either the writer of the MS. or Grosschedel himself, for this inscription is written immediately over his name where it appears on the broadside.

On the first leaf of the MS. is a note by the original hand 'Cecy est de Paracelse'.

No trace of any such work by Paracelsus has been found, and it is not in Sudhoff's Bibliography. In any case, Paracelsus died in 1541, and Tycho Brahe was not born until 1546.

This section is Doctrina I of Capitulum V in the Junta edition of the Canon published in 1595.

Among other medical receipts and notes on fol. 1 of this volume, is an entry: 'Anno domini 1511 In Vigilia sancti Nicolai incepti colligere flores ex benedicto [?] extractoris [?]'.

Joachim I, Elector of Brandenburg [1484-1535] was the founder of the University of Frankfurt-on-Oder in 1502, and Guttenberger was the first lecturer in the Medical Faculty. [Cf. Bauch. 'Die Anfänge der Universität Frankfurt a.O.' Berlin. 1900, pp. 79-81.]

Armorial book-plate of Christoph Wenczeslaus, Graf von Nostitz [1643-1712], lettered C.W.G.V.N., in each volume.

Purchased 1933. (59563)

123 [wrongly numbered 121] ff. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm.
[Padua?] [Late 15th cent.]

17th cent. vellum binding. In the foliation a leaf has been dropped after fol. 7, and fol. 55 is doubled. A leaf is probably wanting after fol. 23. Slight damp-stains.

Mainly written in two somewhat similar humanistic scripts. Some paragraph marks in red.

24-End Miscellaneous medical receipts in Italian and Latin.

The identification of the first work with Guy de Chauliac's 'Chirurgia parva' is based on a general similarity of the contents, and of the arrangement of subjects.

Perhaps compiled at a monastic House in Padua, as suggested by the account of cures by an 'Aqua quae vocatur "Mater Balsami"' on fol. 56.

139 ll. 8vo.  $16\frac{1}{2} \times 10$  cm. 1646-1648.

Original vellum covers from a leaf of a 15th cent. Service book.

Some margins frayed.

Illustrated with a coloured symbolic figure, and a pen-drawing of 'Sigillum Hermetis': also two drawings, one coloured, the other uncoloured, of a statue of Paracelsus.

Facing the latter is an account of a process to obtain the 'Red Lion', dated 1648.

On the 9th leaf is the date 1646 and the Author's signature which, as on the title, has been made illegible.

The MS. is mainly concerned with alchemical processes, and iatro-chemical remedies derived from Paracelsus and his followers.

Pasted inside the upper cover is the armorial book-plate 'Ad Bibliothecam Instituti Medici Senckenbergiani' (founded by the Physician, Johann Christian Senckenberg [1707-1772] in Frankfort-on-the-Main in 1763).

From the Julius Kohn Library.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/1/1935, Lot 13 (part). (68057)

330. HANDSCH (GREGORIUS) [& others]. Collection of iatro-chemical remedies and receipts in German and Latin, dated 1556. With additional chemical, medical and alchemical receipts, etc., dated 1621.

11 [14] ll. (first & last 3 bl.) + 36 ff. + 76 ll. (last 6 bl.). 4to.  $20 \times 15$  cm. Prague. 1556. Marburg. 1621.

Original vellum binding. Three leaves at the beginning and the last leaf have been cut away.

Small pen-drawn figures of chemical apparatus, etc. on fol. 20<sup>v</sup>, ll. 61<sup>v</sup>, 62, 65.

The earliest writer seems to be Handsch who has signed a receipt, 'Praeparatio antimonii' as 'Medicus Pragensis A<sup>o</sup>. 1556' on fol. 19.

The other chief scribe, whose receipts are mainly chemical and alchemical, perhaps gives his name on L.48 in the signature to an alchemical process 'Actum auff Simeonis und Jude. Anno [15]62. Hans Pffafschutz zu Drysa'.

At the end of the entries by this hand on L.68<sup>v</sup> 'Marpurgi. 2 Septembris Anno 1621. h[ora] 4 p.m.'

The last two leaves of script, by a different hand, contain a 'Vera descriptio cum modo praeparandi methodusque utendi medicinae vitali' which a marginal note states to be 'Aqua Rod. Goclenii Junioris. M. Doct. Marp[urgensis]: per tot terras tantopere decantata'. (L.69.) (i.e. Rudolf Goclenius [1572-1621].)

At the foot of L.70 the writer states that he has himself carried out in 1594 the process described above for the making of 'Sal lunae et plumbi ad medicinam'.

331. HARTMANN (GEORG EBERHARDT). Additions and amendments to his edition of 'Praxis chymiatrica' by Johann Hartmann [1568-1631], his father: in Latin. Author's holograph MS.

22 [28] ll. 4to. 22 × 16½ cm. [c. 1640.]

Unbound. Margins of the first and last leaves slightly damaged.

Originally paginated by double-column of which pp. 1-4, 29-36, 69-72, 77-80, 97-100 are wanting.

Some of the entries are illustrated by small pen-drawn human and other figures. That on p. 83, associated with 'Vitriolum Hermaphroditicum', and another on the 'Venereum Paracelsi specificum', have been defaced. This MS. is tentatively assigned to G. E. Hartmann on account of the several references in the text to 'Praxis chymiatrica nostrae editionis' (p. 17, etc.).

This work by Johann Hartmann was edited by his son G. E. Hartmann and Johann Michaelis [1606-1667] and first published at Leipzig in 1633.

On p. 22 of this MS. there is mention of a purgative pill which the compiler of the MS. gave to his son in 1614 'filio meo Jacobo dedi Anno 1614'.

The latest date in the text is 1629 on p. 26.

163 ll. 8vo. 15½ × 10½ cm. [Freiburg.] 1515.

Modern vellum binding

Two leaves are wanting between fol. 76 and fol. 77, and one leaf after ff. 21, 151: the end of the Glossary after P is missing.

Some headings, etc. are in cypher: a key to which has been inserted. Some initials, paragraph marks, headings, and underlinings in red.

On fol. 7 is a rough pen-drawing of the Cosmos over a crude map of the earth, and on fol. 18<sup>v</sup> a chess-board of 64 squares, on fol. 31<sup>v</sup> a diagram illustrating the syllogism.

On vellum. 19th cent. gilt stamped calf binding. A few margins at the beginning and end slightly damaged.

The section ff. 48-56 is in slightly smaller format. 27½ × 20½ cm.

Written in a small gothic script in double column of 51 lines to a column.

Illuminated initials in gold and colours, with marginal decoration on fol. 1 and fol. 111. Other initials in red, paragraph marks in red—a few in blue.

The hand is somewhat difficult, and there are extensive contractions.

334. HERBALS: 15th cent. Herbal, with names of medicinal plants, and short receipts for their use: in Latin.

78 [114] ff. + 6 ll. (last 4 bl.). folio. 29 × 30 cm. [c. 1475.]

Modern green morocco binding. Margins slightly cropped.

In the original foliation 1-114, the following leaves are wanting: 1-12, 21-23, 25, 36, 50, 53, 55, 70, 71, 79, 84, 97-108.

The last 6 ll. were not foliated.

The MS. has been re-foliated in pencil.

The illustrations which are of the crude design, as found in the earliest printed herbals, are in water-colour, with the exception of the last, which is a pen-drawing, and probably a later addition.

In some instances grotesque faces, etc. have been added to the roots of the plants.

On fol. 41 (leaf 24) is an unusual illustration of a female mandrake, with the dog attached to the feet of the plant, and a kneeling figure with his hands to his ears.

On the second unnumbered leaf at the end (80), are two receipts by a later 15th cent. hand: below these an inscription: 'Paulus caualis doctor in sua pratizione sam [?] altrimente [?] de sua profezione', written by an early 16th cent. hand.

On the verso of the same leaf the date 1480, above a note: 'Questo libro es[t] meus di S. Beltramo di Roncalis'.

Written under this, and signed J. R. Martin: 'A contemporary copy of a famous MS herbal preserved at [the] Laurentian Library in Florence. Bought for 700 fr. by Woynich [Voynich] 1912'.

Purchased 1925. (44200)

335. — Herbal in Latin, with 116 water-colour illustrations of plants. Preceded by medical receipts, Office of the B.V.M. and Book of Hours, etc.: followed by further medical receipts, extracts from medical Authors, prayers, etc. Partly in Latin, partly in French.

473 pp. + 3 [4] bl. ll. tall 8vo.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1490.]

Original vellum binding, worn: ties wanting.

Some (blank?) leaves have been cut out: one between p. 4 and p. 5, two between p. 62 and p. 63, one between p. 88 and p. 89, p. 102 and p. 103, p. 274 and p. 275, and after p. 473. P. 473 and the last blank leaf are defective, p. 339 has been repaired and the illustration is damaged.

Written in a small current French hand.

Ornamental initials in red, or red and green, with marginal decorations, headings and paragraph marks in red.

There are pen-drawings of grotesque heads, etc. on pp. 47, 52, 56, 58, 60, 61, 64. The pagination is modern.

In the 'Herbarius' the authorities for the text are often given at the end of the entry, and are mostly from Arabic sources, Avicenna, Serapion, Mesue, etc.; the 'Pandecta' of Matthaeus Sylvaticus is also included.

HERBALS

Mention of Pope Innocent VIII [1432-1492], who became Pope in 1484 gives an approximate dating for the MS. as c. 1490.

The vellum end-papers at each end are from fragments of an early 14th cent. Commentary on the Code of Justinian.

Purchased 1929. (50833)

336. — Herbal with 204 illustrations in colour of medicinal plants, etc., with short descriptions of their virtues in Italian, a few in verse.

103 ff. folio. 38 × 24 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Fol. 3 is damaged in the upper margin with loss of text, and fol. 83 is slightly defective: stained throughout, and some of the text greatly faded.

Written in a neat humanistic hand.

On fol. 32<sup>v</sup> is an illustration of a patient in bed to whom a nurse is bringing a large bowl of 'polte de orzo' (barley-broth?); and on fol. 95 is an illustration of two women preparing 'formentini', one of whom appears to be rolling pastry, or possibly making a poultice.

The text seems to be original, though clearly derived from standard mediaeval works on the virtues, qualities and uses of medicinal herbs.

Signature of 'Federico Patella MS. no. 94' on the first leaf.

Purchased at the Hoepli Sale, Milan 3/5/1928, Lot 183. (47984)

337. HERBALS: 16th cent. Herbal in Italian. With an added collection of alchemical receipts and iatro-chemical remedies: also notes on conception, pregnancy, and astrology by Luigi Dardano. Written by various hands.

58 [62] + 12 ll. 4to. 21½ × 14 cm. [c. 1525-1575.]

Modern vellum covers, with vellum ties.

The first two leaves, and at least 2 leaves at the end are wanting: some leaves are frayed in the margins and stained.

Twelve leaves containing the alchemical receipts, etc. have been bound in between fol. 31 and fol. 32.

There are 56 ll. containing water-colour drawings of medicinal plants. These are of a crude type, in the style of the early printed herbals: some have grotesque heads and faces included in the design.

Each has a short description in Italian.

The Index is on fol. 31 and fol. 32: it contains entries for the missing ff. 61, 62. Dardano's work is found on the versos of ff. 35-38, 40, 41, 43: at the end (fol. 43<sup>v</sup>) is a note 'Tutta l'antedetta dottrina e di Luigi Dardano Gran Cancelliero del Senato Vinitiano'.

Purchased 1913. (31962)

338. — Series of 101 coloured drawings of plants, with names in German.

102 ll. (last bl.) 4to. 21 × 15 cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original limp vellum covers with flap, loop and button. The last leaf has about an inch of the outer margin cut away. Modern German names have been inserted by an early 19th cent. hand.

Purchased 1924. (43864)

339. — Herbal with water-colour drawings of plants, and text partly in Latin, partly in Italian.

38 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Modern boards. Several of the lower margins are damaged and repaired.

The illustrations on fol. 22 are damaged. There are 50 illustrations of plants.

Some added receipts, etc. by later hands.

This MS. is apparently a fragment of a larger work.

Purchased 1923. (42836)

340. — Description of herbs, plants, and other substances used in medicine, arranged according to qualities: in English.

5 ll. (last 3 bl.). + 127 pp. + 18 ll. (last 4 bl.). folio.  $29\frac{1}{2} \times 20$  cm.
[Middle 16th cent.]

Original calf gilt binding, both ties wanting.

Written in a clear secretary hand.

The work is divided into 'Medicines of temperat hete', 'Medicines hote and drye', 'Medicines colde and drye', 'Medicines of metalles', and 'Medicines of the parts of beastes'.

The paper is water-marked with Briquet's No. 11370 which is assigned to Dordrecht 1545.

MS. No. 341 contains a similar text, perhaps written somewhat earlier, but is incomplete.

Purchased 1932. (58787)

341. — Description of herbs, plants and other substances used in medicine, arranged according to qualities: in English. (Incomplete.)

36 ll. folio.  $31 \times 21\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Upper cover in vellum of the original binding only.

The MS. has been re-foliated in pencil. By comparison with the complete text in MS. No. 340, the following leaves are wanting: After fol. 8, probably 9 ll.: after fol. 14, probably 3 ll.: after fol. 24, probably 1 leaf: after fol. 29, 1 leaf: and all after fol. 36.

Leaves 18, 29, 33 are damaged or mutilated, corners frayed.

The sections on mineral and animal substances and the Indices are missing.

This MS. is possibly an earlier text of MS. No. 340. The water-mark on the paper is similar, but has not been identified in Briquet.

The last leaf contains a few medical receipts in English by an Elizabethan hand.

Phillipps MS. No. 8879.

Sold at Sotheby's (Phillipps Sale) 8/6/1910, Lot 559.

Purchased 1928. (55997)

342. — Series of coloured drawings of plants, with names in German or Latin. Followed by notes on urology and miscellaneous medical receipts in German.

53 ll. + 38 ll. + 17 bl. ll. + 2 ll. 4to.  $20 \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm.
[Late 16th cent.]

Modern boards.

The illustrations are carefully drawn and natural representations, probably copied from a middle 16th cent. German herbal.

On the last leaf is a prayer in German, dated 1802.

Purchased 1924. (43463)

343. — Nine water-colour sketches of medicinal plants.

9 ll. folio.  $27\frac{1}{2} \times 19$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards.

The sketches are executed in natural colours, but the margins have been cropped in binding. The names only are given.

Purchased 1915. (36374)

344. HERBALS: 17th cent. Collection of illustrations of plants, a few coloured.

790 pp. folio.  $28\frac{1}{2} \times 21$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern half vellum binding. Inner margin of the first leaf, and some leaves at the end defective and repaired. The t.p. and probably some leaves at the end are wanting.

HERBARIUS LATINUS

Some of the illustrations have been roughly coloured in water-colour, the remainder drawn in red or brown ink. The MS. is probably of Italian origin.

The names are given in Latin, Greek, and Arabic, but many have the name in one, or two of these languages only. A few of the plants have short references in Latin, mostly to Dioscorides or Matthioli.

Purchased 1920. (40667)

345. — Herbal containing descriptions, virtues, etc. of 212 plants, followed by another dealing with 216 plants: both covering almost the same items, with a single index. Following these a collection of 237 medical and other receipts and 'secrets': including medical astrology and alchemical processes. In Italian by the same hand throughout.

8 ll. + 43 ff. + 31 ff. + 10 ll. + 82 ff. + 5 ll. 4to. 21 × 14 cm.

Modern paper covers. At least one leaf wanting after fol. 82 of the receipts.

On fol. 43<sup>v</sup> of the first herbal, pen-drawings of 'Herba lunaria' and 'Herba Solis'. In the Receipt-book, ff. 38<sup>v</sup>, 39 contain the symbols of plants and their astrological 'Dominators'. On fol. 41 two pen-drawings of alchemical 'Vasi'; ff. 43<sup>v</sup>, 44 tables of the hours of each day of the week with their ruling planets.

Receipts Nos. 236 [336], 237 [337] are inserted after the Index of Receipts.

Receipt No. 230 [330] is incomplete. These receipts are wrongly numbered.

A few of the receipts have been struck through.

Of the last 5 unfoliated leaves, the first three contain notes on metals and their ruling planets, tables of sunrise and some medical receipts.

The last two consist of a description of Ancona.

After the Index to the Herbals are 3 ll. of alchemical receipts by 18th cent. hands.

Purchased 1930. (73128)

— See also MISCELLANEA Alchemica III, 16. (512)

346. HERBARIUS Latinus. Fragment of a MS. copy of the Herbarius printed at Vicenza in 1491 containing 27 illustrations only (out of 150). With signature and holograph notes in red ink by Johann Reuchlin [1455–1522].
1 l. + 27 ff. 4to. 19 × 13 cm. [c. 1490]

17th cent. boards.

The illustrations of plants are in water-colour.

Reuchlin's signature is on fol. 1 'Joannes Reuchlin phorani [Pforzheim]. L.L. Doctor'. He is probably also the writer of the title 'Herbolarium de Virtutibus herb[arum]', which appears in red, on the first unfoliated leaf.

On fol. 26 is the date 1556 in an Italian hand, and over the title 'Herbolarium etc' [Ad] usum D. Alberti Tephalaia [?] doctoris die 7 februarii M.DC.XXX'. His monogram 'AT' is found on fol. 2.

Inside the upper cover a 17th cent. Italian owner has written 'Questo erbario ha servito alla impressione dell' opera del Villanova di Vicenza del 1491'.

The illustrations and text of this MS. have been carefully compared with the Wellcome Library copy of the 'Herbarius Latinus' printed at Vicenza in 1491 by Leonardus Achates and Gulielmus de Pavia (Hain-Cop. 8451. B.M.C. VII. 1033. Pellechet 1314. Klebs 506. 10).

With one exception, these illustrations and the text bear an extremely close resemblance to those of the printed book; though in all cases the text as given in the MS. corresponds with only the first few lines—the remainder is not found here. Thus in the entry for 'Portulaca' (fol. 1), which is No. CV in the printed book, the MS. text ends at the word 'decoctionis' which is in the 6th line of the text as printed.

The correspondences between MS. and Printed text are as under:

Of the above Nos. 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 20 have additions in red ink by Reuchlin, which are also found in the continuation of the printed text. Nos. 8, 18, 19 have similar MS. additions, which are not found in the printed text.

No. 4, which also has an added note by Reuchlin, is not found, either as to illustration or text, in the printed version.

Reuchlin's script as found in his MS. is firm and bold—the writing of a man in the prime of life. He is known to have received his Doctorate in Law in 1481, and in 1486 to have become friendly with the Italian humanist Hermolaus Barbarus [1454–1493] at Frankfort. The latter was interested in medical botany, and wrote not only on Pliny and Pomponius Mela, but also was the author of a posthumously published work 'Corollarii in Dioscoridem libri quinque', 1516.

348. HEWETT (ANTHONY) [& others]. Medical commonplace book, with additions by other hands: in Latin and English; with an essay on Miracles by a later hand: in English.

174 ll. folio. 31 × 70 cm. [c. 1640–Early 18th cent.]

Original calf binding, with central arabesque ornament in gold, worn.

Some leaves have been cut out, and there are numerous blanks.

The medical part of the MS. is mainly by two hands: that of Hewett, probably of about the middle of the 17th cent., consists of extracts from 16th and early 17th cent. medical authors. The other, in rounded upright script is also in Latin, and one entry is dated 1661. There are a few added medical receipts in English, one of which is dated 1726.

The work on Miracles contains many Greek and Latin quotations, biblical references, etc. It is written on various pages of the commonplace book which had been left blank. The script seems to be that of a very old man.

The names 'Antho. Heuit' also 'Hewett' and 'Hewit' are inscribed on the verso of the last leaf. On the first leaf is a note probably by a book-binder 'Mr Huet in Murry leather & fillet'.

Anthony Hewitt is entered in Venn's 'Alumni Cantabrigiensis' as matriculated from Christs 1617, M.A. 1624, and 'Incorporated M.D. 1637 from Padua'. Purchased 1910. (23887)

349. HEYMANDUS de Veteri Busco. Ars computistica: in verse, with a prose commentary, notes on the Calendar, medical astrology and fortune-telling. 28 ll. 4to. 21 × 14 cm. 1488.

18th cent. quarter calf binding. A leaf or leaves are probably wanting between fol. 4/5 and 26/27. Some leaves slightly defective and margins frayed: the figures on ff. 6, 10, 18, 21, 24<sup>v</sup>, 26 are rubbed and defaced.

Written in a small rounded gothic hand, with contractions, 40 lines to a page.

Ornamental initial A on fol. 1 in blue and red, with marginal decorations: other capitals and paragraph marks in red.

Illustrated with 28 large and small diagrams and figures, some coloured, others in red and black: including 'Circulus lunaris' (3<sup>v</sup>), 'Nomina mensium' (7), Dominical Table (9<sup>v</sup>), Golden Numbers, etc. (14<sup>v</sup>), Eclipses (18, 18<sup>v</sup>), Nine Spheres (19), 'Astrological Man' (22), Zodiacal Table (22<sup>v</sup>), World Map (24<sup>v</sup>), 'Rota' (28).

- line 37 Cizio ianus ephi sibi vendicat . . .
- 24<sup>v</sup> Grecus ab indictione thomas nath stef Jo puthone sil.
- 25-28 Notes on medical astrology, fortune-telling, etc.

The two most interesting illustrations are those on fol. 22 and on fol. 24<sup>v</sup>. The first is of the 'Astrological Man' in colours—a nude figure surrounded by Zodiacal Signs, each with a cord reaching to the appropriate part. The second, which unfortunately has been badly rubbed and defaced, is a Ptolemaic World-Map, also in colours, in the usual circular form, and also surrounded by the names of the Signs of the Zodiac and of the winds.

No record of the Author of this MS. has been traced, but he was presumably a Priest from Oudenbosch in Holland. A former owner, on a slip pasted on to a fly-leaf at the beginning, has read the Author's name as 'Herman de Verbusto', but this seems to be a mis-reading. The fly-leaf in question has been pasted down upon another fly-leaf containing the Phillipps MS. number.

Phillipps MS. No. 10233.

Sold at Sotheby's 5/6/1899, Lot 74.

Purchased at Sotheby's 17/6/1907, Lot 35. (18591)

350. HEYTESBURY (WILLIAM DE) [ -1373]. Regulae solvendi sophismata tam in logica quam in physica. 51 ll. 4to. 21½ × 13 cm. Oxford. 1446.

19th cent. half calf binding.

The first leaf is defective and mounted.

Written in a small humanistic hand, with many contractions, in double columns of 35 lines to a column. Some initials and paragraph marks in red.

HEYWOOD

Some marginal notes by 15th cent. hands. The first leaf and the last leaf verso contain scribbles in Latin.

The MS. is probably of Italian origin.

Fol. 2, col. 1 [R]Egule sol / uendi sophismata / non ea quidem que appa / renti . . .

49, col. 2, line 18 . . . nimia narra / tionis prolixitas ecce finis. // (larger letters) Expliciunt regule / soluendi sophismata / Tam in loyca quam / in physica date a / magistro guilli / elmo de entisb / eri boccanelle doc / tore in theolo / gia edite in exo / nia [sic for 'Oxonia'] de anglia / DEO gratias / AMEN.

In the margin '1446 adi 28 / otubris.'

It is suggested that the word 'boccanelle' in the colophon may be a latinized version meaning 'of Boken Hall'. This was a Hall near Lincoln College, Oxford, and is referred to in Wood's 'City of Oxford', edited by A. Clark, 1890, Vol. II, p. 82.

According to Emden in his 'Biographical Register of the University of Oxford to A.D. 1500', Vol. II, this work was originally written in 1335.

It was first printed at Pavia in 1481 (B.M.C. VII, 997).

From the Library of John Nock Bagnall [1826-1884].

Purchased at Sotheby's 7/12/1905, Lot 425. (16472)

352. HIPPOCRATES [460-375 B.C.]. Aphorismi (incomplete). Scroll. 269½ × 11½ cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum. Some margins slightly frayed. The end is wanting.

Written in a neat upright gothic book-hand.

Large initial in blue at the beginning of each 'Particula', other capitals in red, or tinted in yellow.

The last Aphorism is No. XVII of Section VII in Haller's 'Artis medicae principes', p. 492. (Edit. Lausanne, 1787. Vol. I.)

The 'Aphorismi' were first printed, as part of the first edition of 'Articella', at Padua, c. 1476 [G. K. W. 2678].

From the Duchess of Norfolk's Library at Arundel Castle.

Purchased at Sotheby's 11/6/1923, Lot 95. (42613)

353. — Aphorismi.

60 ll. (first & last 3 bl.). 16mo. 11 × 8½ cm. [Florence ?]
[Late 15th cent.]

On vellum, crimson velvet binding over wooden boards, with a brass clasp.

The first and last leaves, slightly defective and pasted down on to the covers.

The first leaf of the text is badly rubbed.

Written in a humanistic hand with contractions, probably in Italy.

On the verso of the second leaf, slightly rubbed, is an illuminated miniature in gold and colours of Hippocrates sitting on the grass in front of a house reading: behind him are two philosophers standing and disputing. In front is a view with trees towards a town with three towers, in the foreground are deer feeding.

The third leaf contains the opening text written within a decorated border in gold and colours, with a capital V in gold with ornamented background. In the lower part of the border, is an emblazoned coat of arms—argent, a fesse sable.

The ornamental capitals and decorations are in the same style [Florentine] as MS. No. 312 (GIOVANNI d'Arezzo).

Other initials throughout in gold on a coloured square.

354. — Aphorismi (incomplete): Prognostica (abridged): STEPHANUS Atheniensis. Scholia in Prognostica, here wrongly ascribed to Damascius. In Greek throughout, by three different hands.

107 ll. folio 27½ × 20½ cm. [Late 15th cent.] [c. 1585.]

Original 16th cent. vellum binding. Leaf 21 slightly defective.

No. 1. Written in a neat script, 40 lines to a page; initials and headings in red.

2. In a closer script, 40–42 lines to a page.

Both these works were probably written in the late 15th cent.

No. 3. In a difficult semi-current script with many contractions, initials and headings in red, 20 lines to a page. T. C. Skeat of the B.M. states that this MS. (No. 3) 'is in the hand of that industrious but exceedingly untrustworthy and mendacious scribe Andreas Darmarios. Although the marginal note (see below) states that his exemplar was defective, at the place where the text breaks off unfinished, it may reasonably be suspected in view of Darmarios' character that this was merely an excuse for the incompleteness of his own work'.

The water-mark of this work appears to be Briquet No. 5682, Syracuse 1582.

The last work is printed in F. R. Dietz 'Scholia in Hippocratem et Galenum' Königsberg, 1834, Vol. I. The text of our MS. breaks off at line 16 of p. 132 of that volume.

The 'Aphorisms' (No. 1) end at Section VII, No. 75 of the Loeb edition.

Purchased 1910. (24902)

355. — Les Aphorismes d'Hipocrate [sic] appartenants à l'art de chirurgie et expliquées en forme d'examen.

480 ll. (first & last 2 bl.). 16mo. 11½ × 8½ cm. [Late 16th cent.]

18th cent. red morocco gilt stamped binding. One of the two leather and metal clasps wanting.

A work with a very similar title was published by Bernardino Genga in Rome in 1694: but this MS. has been compared with the copy of that very rare book in the B.M., and there is no similarity.

Purchased 1934. (67111)

356. HIPPOCRATES [460–375 B.C.] [& others]. Epitome in Italian of the works of Hippocrates, with extracts from the 'De medicina' of Celsus, and epitomes of some treatises of Galen. With notes on wound-surgery, extracts from Botallus on gunshot wounds, etc.

60 [64] ll. 4to. 19 × 15 cm. [c. 1630.]

Original vellum covers from a leaf of a 14th cent. Service book. Four leaves cut out at the end, first two leaves slightly defective, outer lower corners frayed.

The MS. is mainly in the hand of Werther Hoin, who names himself on the second line of fol. 60, and who seems to have been made 'Stalmeister' in the 'Freies Adeliches Kloster, Springirssbach'. On fol. 55<sup>v</sup>, and 56<sup>r</sup> he gives lists of the Monks there under their Abbot Johan Friedrich von Aubach, and of the laity who were in service at the Monastery. Under the date 1630 on fol. 57<sup>v</sup> and 58<sup>r</sup> are notes on the purchase of a horse, and an agreement with a Courier.

In other parts of the MS. are notes of events in Nassau 1626-31. (ff. 3, 4, 55.)

The work by Binhard occupies ff. 26-32. The full title is 'Tröstlicher Hauss Spiegel: dass ist: Kurtzer doch warhafter Bericht, darinnen viertzig gewisse undt wohlbewehrte Experimenta undt Kunst-Stücke, fast fuhr alle Kranckheit der jungen Kinder zu finden... Gedruckt zu Erfurdt bey Johann Röhbock. Anno Christi. M.DC. XXI'.

Fol. 50-53<sup>r</sup> contain medical receipts by late 18th cent. hands.

On the outside of the lower cover is a name 'Christoph Brüher [?]' with date 1653: but the letters are badly rubbed. In the lower margin of fol. 3 'Philippus Wehner. Anno Domini 1656'.

On fol. 5 is the date 1745, on fol. 4<sup>v</sup>, 1784, and on fol. 54<sup>v</sup>, 1770.

2 ll. (first bl.). + 26 ff. + 6 bl. ll. 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. Paris. 1583.

Original stamped calf binding: the upper cover with an interlaced  $\lambda\lambda$  within a wreath, on the lower cover, the Seal of Solomon within a similar wreath.

Title within historiated pen-drawn panel, text within red rules.

The MS. is an abbreviated French translation of the 'Opus Saturni'.

The binding probably indicates that this MS. came originally from the Library of Louise de Coligny, Princess of Orange [1555-1620].

A similar binding from her Library is illustrated in the Catalogue de l'Orange-Bibliothèque No. 156, and is now in the Royal Library at the Hague.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L. H. 81'.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Hauser Sale) 18/4/1934, Lot 513. (66645)

359. HOLLANDUS (JOHANN ISAAC) [& others]. Collection of extracts, receipts, notes, etc. on alchemy and chemistry, including a large proportion from the writings of Hollandus: in Dutch and German, by various hands.

13 ll. + 171 ff. + 103 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 16$  cm. 1563.

Original vellum binding defective. Ff. 35, 36, 84 and 2 ll. before l. 74 wanting: some margins frayed at beginning and end.

Between ff. 102 and 103, six leaves and a small slip are inserted.

On verso of l. 59 small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus: the work on ll. 75-91 is illustrated by symbolic pencil-drawn figures.

 103 Blank.

On l. 61<sup>v</sup> the date 1563 occurs and the name 'Mr Joannes de Vless': it is found again on l. 62.

The German of this MS. is a dialect resembling Dutch.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark in pencil inside the upper cover 'L H 175'.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Hauser Sale) 17/4/1934, Lot 320 (part). (66625)

66 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 20½ × 16½ cm. 1559.

Modern boards.

The first 30 ll. are in Latin, the remainder mainly in German, and partly by different but contemporary hands.

On the t.p. is written 'Hommelius faciebat Anno 1559 Mense Octobri', and the MS. is probably holograph.

Purchased 1929. (49539)

ff. 74-384. 8vo. 18 × 12 cm. [c. 1650]-1683.

Original vellum binding: back strip wanting.

The first 73 ff. are wanting.

The compiler of this collection appears to have been J. H. Horlacher, whose name with date 1683 is written inside the upper cover.

The section ff. 127-216 is prefaced by an inscription on fol. 126<sup>v</sup> 'Diese Recep [sic] sein alle von der balbierer ausz sein buch da Er in Chreilsheim war'.

The next section, ff. 217-226, is entitled (fol. 216<sup>v</sup>) 'Unterschiedliche Recep [sic] von den H. Valdschere von der holsteinischen [sic]'.

On fol. 74 the following names are scribbled 'Johann Michael Keller', 'Georg Philipp Horlacher, Baader Gesell in Hospitall Baad in Creil[sheim] 1755', 'Johann Georg Fischer. Creilsheim', the same 'in Lautenberg'.

Fischer's signature again is found twice on fol. 380<sup>v</sup>, once in Greek letters, with date 1757.

On fol. 383 'Johann Caspar Horlacher 1736', repeated on the verso and inside the lower cover.

Purchased 1908. (21098)

363. HORTULUS remediorum: sanitatis officina: in French.

3 ll. + 84 ff. 4to. 24 × 17½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original calf binding, damaged. The end is wanting, ff. 75-84 badly mutilated, ff. 58-74 damaged: corners and margins frayed. Fol. 38 has been cut out.

A collection of medical receipts, also including household receipts, etc. Ff. 57, 58 contain a price-list of drugs. 'Prix des simples médicamens qui se trouvent chès [sic] les droguistes'.

Though written in what is apparently an early 17th cent. hand, the MS. must be dated about the middle of that century or later. On fol. 15<sup>v</sup> is a 'Recepte de M<sup>r</sup> François Rouxel de Medevy [1605-1691], Evesque de Sais' [Séez], followed by 'à present archevesque de Rouen l'année 1671'—which has clearly been added later. This ecclesiastic became bishop of Séez in 1651, and was appointed Archbishop of Rouen in 1671.

Purchased 1929. (57110)

+ 172 pp. + 49 ll. + 3 bl. ll. folio. 31 × 19½ cm. 1637.

Modern half pigskin binding.

Written by several hands.

The first part (Spanish text) has a title in red and black. This is followed by M<sup>rs</sup> Hughes' Receipts (31 ll.), after which comes the translation of the Spanish text (36 pp.). The remainder continues M<sup>rs</sup> Hughes' Receipts.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (7584)

364. HUGO de Amêto. Collection of extracts and notes, mainly on medical astrology: preceded by excerpts from the 'Rithmomachia' of Hermannus Contractus, etc. In Latin. 42 ll. 4to. 19½ × 13½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern cloth binding. Margins cropped in re-binding.

Written in an angular German form of italic, probably by the same scribe throughout: it is partly in a small cursive script, and partly in a larger and more carefully executed variety of the same hand.

Illustrated with numerous astrological and astronomical tables, some in red and black. On fol. 10<sup>v</sup>, a horoscopic figure in red and black: on fol. 22 a 'Spera philatoria': on fol. 22<sup>v</sup> and fol. 23 fortune-telling diagrams, the first headed 'Philatoria', the second '[Tabulla] putagoris quam scripsit appolonius'.

On fol. 35<sup>v</sup> a rough pen-drawing of a siphon and on fol. 36 of an automatic lamp.

HUGO DE FOLLETO

Graesse 'Orbis Latinus' and others have an entry of 'Hametum' = Ham in France (Somme), and another in the Pas de Calais; as well as a 'Hamm' in Germany.

All these places were in existence at the time this MS. was written, and contained monasteries.

The script seems to be German in character, and the MS. is possibly holograph. Purchased 1911. (26186)

On vellum, modern vellum gilt binding.

The last 9 ll. slightly cockled: natural flaws in some leaves. Margins cropped in binding.

The first 17 ll. are in a small upright angular gothic script 30, 31 lines to a page, the remainder in a more rounded gothic, 30 lines to a page.

Initials and headings in red.

 71<sup>v</sup> . . . propter sanguinem / qui est eius materia et propter uicinitatem cordis. // Explicit liber febrium ysa / ac. amen. This is followed for the rest of this column, the whole of the next column and half of fol. 72, by a note on plague by a later hand beginning 'Causa pestilencie est / aer putridus et corruptus . . .', and ending 'in corde et in aliis membris principalibus'. [Cf. Thorndike 'Catalogue of Incipits'. Col. 89, and Singer 'Catalogue of Plague Texts'. No. 48.]

There are marginal notes in Latin by several contemporary and later hands—the same as those in MS. No. 369. [ISAAC Judaeus.]

This treatise was first printed as part of the Author's 'Opera omnia' at Lyons in 1515.

On fol. 36<sup>v</sup> the name 'Loke Boyn' followed by a word which may be 'Lydys' or 'Cy dys'.

The MS. is almost certainly written by an English scribe, and originally formed part of the same volume as MS. No. 369.

Book-plate of Sir Henry Hope Edwardes [1829–1900], and Library-label of George Dunn [—1912], with a pencilled date (June 1901), initials and note 'English work' on a fly-leaf.

Sold at Christies 20/5/1901.

Below in a later 16th cent. hand 'Di me Francesco muscini'.

The second MS. is of interest as it is certainly a version of the work described by Thorndike in Chapter IV of his 'Science and Thought of the Fifteenth Century', 1929. The heading of this chapter is 'A 'Practica Cirurgia' ascribed to John Bracci of Milan or to Peter of Tossignano', though in the final analysis, and in the running title of this chapter, the work is referred to as 'An anonymous surgical treatise'.

In a note in Vol. IV of the 'Bulletin of the Institute of the History of Medicine', 1936, p. 259, Thorndike mentions another MS. from the Vatican Library where this work is ascribed to Johannes de Tracia, a name which he accepts as better than the 'Johannes de Ptraccia' or 'de Braccia' of his earlier book.

JACOBUS TEUTONICUS

The text of our MS. seems to vary from those of any MSS. described by Thorndike. The first book contains 36 capitula, and the second 23 capitula, according to the tables at the beginning of each book. The actual text however does not exactly correspond, as in the first book Capitulum 36 is followed by notes on the different classes of medicaments 'Repercussiva', 'Mollitiva', 'Resolutiva', 'Maturativa' and 'Rumpentia apostemata'. The second book ends with capitulum 21 'De fractura crani', with a final entry on head wounds without fracture.

376. [JACOBUS de Sanatis de Padua.] Lectiones super quartam fen primi Canonis Avicennae.

112 ll. + 7 [8] bl. ll. folio.  $33\frac{1}{2} \times 28\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Padua?] [c. 1475.]

Vellum covers from part of a Deed of Sale of an estate dated at Borleto 1300.

A blank (?) leaf has been cut out at the end: lower margins of the last 18 leaves cut away, without loss of text.

Written in double column of 51 lines to a column, in a semi-current gothic hand. Initials and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue.

On the first leaf is a large illuminated initial D in gold and colours, with marginal decorations of the same. Within is a miniature portrait, quarter-length, of Avicenna: he has a forked yellow beard, and wears a blue 'haik' with green lining over a red gown, the back-ground is dark blue.

line 34 . . . ad laudes dei / et beate Virginis marie tociusque curie ce / lestis triumphantis. Amen.

A copy of this MS. is apparently recorded in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 194.

The water-mark on the paper seems to be a variant of Briquet 6138, which is assigned to Ulm 1473.

Purchased 1930. (52778)

377. JACOPO Florentino. Thesaurus pauperum: in Italian. Followed by surgical and other receipts in Italian and Latin.

29 ll. 8vo.  $17\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Florence?]. [c. 1420.]

On vellum. Modern vellum binding.

Written in a cursive italic hand, 26 lines to a page, by the same scribe as MS. No. 378 in which 'Jacopo' is named and which is dated 1419.

Paragraph marks in red, initials in brown ink.

Most of fol. 22<sup>v</sup> and fol. 23 are written in a late 16th or early 17th cent. hand, which is also found in the additions to MS. No. 378 mentioned above.

JACOPO FLORENTINO

On fol. 22 a receipt for 'Unguentum gratia dei' has been interpolated into the text, which continues on line 4 from the last line of fol. 21<sup>v</sup>.

The numbering of the 'Capitula' in the table on fol. 1 and in the text does not coincide. In the former the last 'Capitulum' is XXV, in the latter XXII, though the headings are the same.

This MS. almost certainly formed part of an original larger volume, which contained Jacopo's 'Fiore di fiori' [MS. No. 378] and MS. No. 490 [MELIGARIIS].

Though bearing the same title, this work is different from that of Petrus Hispanus, of which several editions appeared in the 15th cent.

On vellum, modern vellum binding. A leaf is wanting after fol. 74. Ff. 75, 76 slightly defective and repaired.

Written in a cursive italic hand, 27 lines to a page.

Some headings, and paragraph marks in red.

There are a few additions in a late 16th or early 17th cent. hand.

JAFFA DE AST

The first work by the unidentified 'Jacopo' bears some resemblance to the 'Thesaurus pauperum' of Petrus Hispanus. This MS. was almost certainly originally bound with two other treatises under that title, MS. No. 377 [JACOPO Fiorentino] and MS. 490 [MELIGARIIS]. The former is written by the same hand, and is concerned with surgical remedies.

Jacopo appears to have been a practising physician, as in several places he states 'Questo provai io'.

As regards Bandini, it is just possible in view of the date of this MS.—1419—that he may be the 'Bartolo Bandino' listed by Mazzuchelli in 'Scrittori italiani', Vol. II, I, p. 224, as a doctor born in Siena, c. 1383, who died in 1469.

Purchased 1932. (65148)

379. JAFFA de Ast (GIOVANNI). Liber chirurgiae qui summa vocatur. A collection of medical receipts in Italian.

188 ll. 4to. 19 × 13½ cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Modern half morocco binding. Margins cropped in re-binding.

Written in a semi-current hand: 25–26 lines to a page. Heading to the Index, paragraph marks and early foliation in red.

As the old foliation began on fol. 1 of the text, the MS. has been re-foliated, starting with the first leaf of the volume.

Fol. 1 'Unguento per dolor et indegestion de stomacho' by an early 16th cent. hand.

Ff. 178–183<sup>v</sup> Remedies against plague.

These are probably later additions: on fol. 179, line 15 is a reference to the plague at Bâle in 1438, and on fol. 181, line 17, to an outbreak at Pisa in 1457. Below these are medical receipts by early 16th cent. hands.

Fol. 184 Receipt for an unguent, c. 1450.

187<sup>v</sup> Accounts of expenses. 'Debita mei Joannis danno 1521'.

188 Short index by a 16th cent. hand.

A number of entries have been struck through or blotted over—most of these appear to be charms to cure sickness, or because of indecency of the subject (aphrodisiacs, etc.).

215 ll. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original leather binding with tie, very defective. Some leaves wanting at beginning and end, and 10 leaves missing from the body of the work, leaf 16 mutilated: margins and corners frayed, stained throughout. The MS. has been refoiled in pencil.

Rough pen-drawing of the geocentric Cosmos on verso of first leaf: on ll. 41-53 crude illustrations of urine flasks, some partly coloured.

The first 55 ll. contain notes on medical astrology, urines, etc. The remainder of the volume consists of medical receipts and remedies, mostly by the same hand. In the lower margin of l. 182 'Gerard Jaques his book'. In this inscription the name 'John' which was apparently written first, has been struck through, and 'Gerard' written above it.

On fol. 45" some scribbles including 'Ger. Jaques', 'James Jaques his booke': in the latter the name 'James' has perhaps been altered to 'John'.

- No. 6 The author of this work is named 'de nani' and 'de narni'. No particulars about him have been ascertained, but it is possible that he may be identical with the 'Joannes Nannius', author of a short alchemical work on Cinnabar, etc., in MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXXIII (6) [MS. No. 528].
- 15 Though ascribed to 'Joannes Damascenus', this work appears to be a version of a tract by John Dastin, and seems to be No. 281 of M<sup>rs</sup> Singer's Catalogue. (See also Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, ch. 5.)
- 20 The 'J.B.' whose initials occur here and also among the names in No. 1, appears to stand for 'Joannes Baptista'. In the Index on the verso of the second leaf he is entered as 'Jo: batista', and on the recto of this leaf there is a heading 'Jo. b.<sup>ta</sup> liber secundus'. 'Jo: b.f.' [frater].
- 22 The Explicit of this tract is the same as that recorded in M<sup>rs</sup> Singer's Catalogue No. 114 which is the entry for RHAZES. 'Lumen luminum minus et perfecti Magisterii'.

 [Ortolanus], cf. Thorndike, 'History of Magic and Experimental Science'. Vol. III, Ch. 11.

6 This work is ascribed to Ferrarius in the 'Theatrum chemicum', 1659.
 Vol. iii, p. 151, and in Gratarolo's 'Verae alchemiae . . . doctrina', 1561. Vol. II, p. 237.

20 A criticism by Frater Joannes Baptista, of the work on Geber in the first 'Dialogus' of Bracesco's 'De alchemia dialogi II', first published in Latin in 1548, and in Italian in 1544.

39, 44 These seem to be parts of the same work, as the 'Liber lucis' is sometimes added as Book III of the 'De consideratione'.

41 This was printed with the work of Geber by Eucharius Silber in Rome
 c. 1485 (B.M. IV. p. 124. Klebs 441).

42 This was first published at Strassburg in the 'Ars chemica', 1566.

obliterated heading. The second part (No. 27) has had the words

JOANNITIUS

- 'Alberti Magni' and 'Semita recta' erased. They have been written in again by Julius Kohn in pencil.
- 30 The work by 'Rosinus' is preceded by a Latin poem of 15 lines, beginning 'Unde vester lauri bachis', and ending 'Cum suis [word erased] fratribus. amen'.
- 34, 37 The first of these is ascribed conjecturally to the Compiler, the second is assigned to him in the Index.
- 40 The quotation is found in the Bâle edition of the 'Opuscula' of J. B. Montanus, printed by P. Perna in 1558, Vol. II, pp. 619, 620.

On fol. 56 and fol. 200 are two similar sets of three monograms. The first is preceded by the words 'P[rim]a Secretta': below the second is written 'Diuersa'. The monograms are 'VA', 'CPMAFB' [?] and 'CPNSFB' [?].

Nos. 13, 15 and 30 are written in a difficult and peculiar 16th cent. script.

The date 1576 appears on the verso of the 7th preliminary leaf. This volume now numbered III, is titled on the first leaf 'J. b. f. L[iber] tersius'.

Inserted loose is a partial transcript of the Index to this Volume by Julius Kohn headed 'Tabulla [sic] of the Monk's Manuscript'.

The Compiler of these three volumes appears to have been a Member of a Religious Order, perhaps a Franciscan, and most probably an Italian, though he seems to have had a knowledge of Spanish.

His Latin is highly un-Ciceronian, and his orthography very peculiar. 's' is used for 'c' in many words, e.g. 'Disit', 'Medisina', and the Italian 't' or 'tt' for 'ct' as 'dita' for 'dicta', 'perfetta' for 'perfecta', etc.

Many of the separate works in the three volumes are duplicated, and it is to be noted that in general, the contents bear a strong resemblance to that of the printed alchemical collection entitled 'Verae alchemiae artisue metallica, citra aenigmata, doctrina', published by Guglielmo Gratarolo at Bâle in 1561: a second edition appeared in 1572.

From the Julius Kohn Collection.

26 ll. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10$  cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum. Vellum covers from part of a Licence issued to Antonius de Verona, a physician, to travel freely, practice, and carry arms: the date and name of the issuing authorities, are unfortunately wanting, but the document was probably written c. 1450.

The first 16 ll. of this MS. are written in a semi-current hand 34–36 lines to a page.

The remainder is by a contemporary rounded gothic book-hand, 28–30 lines to a page. On fol. 17 is an ornamental capital Q in red and black with marginal decorations: other capitals, headings and paragraph marks in red.

amen.

The first work deals with the four humours, temperaments, pulses, etc. and includes a version of the 'De urinis' of Michael Scotus (fol. 4<sup>v</sup>, line 33 to fol. 7<sup>v</sup>, line 9). The name of 'Cioane' or 'Coane' da Parma is mentioned as author of a 'Praticha' on fol. 10, lines 7 and 13; and it is possible that he is the Author of this treatise.

The second work is assigned to him in the text, and is entered as 'Practica ex dictis Mesue' in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 602.

JOHANNES DE SAXONIA

Written in a small cursive hand with many contractions, 37-43 lines to a page.

Large decorated capital E on the first leaf of text in red and blue with marginal tendril ornamentations.

A pagination in pencil has been added.

On the first blank leaf an inscription beginning 'Iste liber est' has been obliterated in ink.

On the last leaf verso are two inscriptions by a contemporary hand, both struck through, and one partly illegible owing to damage to the paper. The first of these mentions a 'magister Concoregio to whom it was sold or possibly pledged: the second reads: 'Librum de magistri Johannis de / dimisit michi pro xxii z [?]' (The remainder is illegible.)

Below these by another contemporary hand: 'Iste liber est magistri pauli de zigalinis phisici'.

390. JOHANNITIUS [HUNAYN ibn Ishāq] [810-877]. Isagoge in Tegni Galeni. 6 ll. 8vo. 19½ × 13½ cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards. Outer half of the last leaf torn away: margins badly cropped in rebinding.

Written in a small gothic hand, 40 lines to a page, by the same scribe as that of MS. No. 83 (ARTICELLA). Initials, headings, and paragraph marks in red.

Fol. 1 (red) Incipiunt [sic] ysagoge Ioannis ad tegni Galieni. / Medicina diuiditur in duas partes . . .

6 . . . Specierum cognitio v. modis fit. qualitas. quantitas. [tempus. ordo.] boni maliue discrepcio [sic].

There are numerous marginal notes, some in a microscopic hand by contemporary and 15th cent. hands—though many of these have been partly shorn in re-binding.

The 'Isagoge' was first printed, as part of the first edition of 'Articella' at Padua c. 1476 (G.K.W. 2678), and as a separate work at Leipzig in 1497.

This MS. was originally part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 613 (PETRUS de Abano) and MS. No. 83 (ARTICELLA). It has an early foliation 1-6, which is continued in the Articella MS.

393. KANN (NICOLAUS) [& others]. Note-book containing receipts for alchemical and chemical processes, medical prescriptions, etc. In German and Latin: with additions by several hands.

153 [164] ll. 16mo. 9½ × 9½ cm. [Early 17th cent.]

On vellum, brown velvet binding over wooden boards. The original foliation is irregular, but ff. 44, 56, 63, 66, 68, 69, 87, 88, 99, 143, 144 of the old numbering are wanting. Margins slightly cropped in binding.

A few small roughly executed pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

The name of Kann appears on fol. 3<sup>v</sup>, 19<sup>v</sup>, 21, 31 and 32<sup>v</sup>.

On fol. 148 is the signature of 'Ludwig Fischart' of Brunswick, dated 1646, by a later hand than that of the rest of the MS.

Armorial book-plate of Steinthal inside upper covers. (Perhaps Martin Steinthal, M.D. [1798-1892], Physician and Philanthropist of Berlin).

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L H 82'.

397. LANFRANC of Milan. Chirurgia parva, abridged; preceded by 'Anatomia', both incomplete: in English. Followed by an anonymous work on powders, pills and ointments, and a list of herbs in Latin and English, probably based on the 'Circa instans' of Platearius. With added receipts by later hands, also in English.

86 ll. 4to. 24 × 16 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum, 19th cent. rough calf binding.

The margins have been cropped in re-binding, but enough remains of the original foliation to show that there were formerly 8 ll. preceding the present first leaf, which is numbered 9. The MS. has been re-foliated in pencil and the following leaves are wanting: after fol. 14, one leaf: after fol. 38, 2 leaves: after fol. 42, 10 leaves: after fol. 49, one leaf.

Besides these a leaf, or leaves, are missing at the end. The lower margin of fol. 14 has been cut away.

Written in a neat semi-current charter hand, by the same scribe throughout: 28 lines to a page. Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

The last item is written in double column.

The introductory passage on fol. 1 is similar to that of the beginning of the printed 'Herbarius zu Deutsch' of 1485. The assignment of the date to 1508 is confirmed by an entry on fol. 168<sup>v</sup> 'Ein gut vngennt zu den vergifften blattern malafrantz'—a remedy for syphilis compounded of sulphur and 'wagensch' [? figs.].

A German version of Lanfranc's 'Chirurgia magna' is noted in Sudhoff's 'Chirurgie im Mittelalter' (Leipzig 1918) pp. 469-471, a quoted passage from which corresponds closely with the text in this MS. (Tractatus III, Doctrina 1, Chap. 6.) In the same work (pp. 603-616) Sudhoff mentions a 'Buchlein uber Art und Behandlung von Apostemen in Frage und Antwort'. This seems almost certainly to be a part of the same work as that in this MS. on Ff. 1-15, 53-139.

Though he refers to the division of the work into 'Tractatus' and 'Doctrinae' ('Lere'), he does not link it with the Treatise by Lanfranc, with which these divisions actually correspond, so that it seems most probable that the 'Question and Answer' treatise is an epitomized and popular version of Lanfranc's more elaborate surgical text-book.

399. LANGLEY (JOHN). The Reseyt off Rents and Farmes in Kent. Containing on fol. 107<sup>v</sup> 'Probata medicina ffor pe ffrenche poxe', probably written about 1503.

130 ff. folio. 28 × 21½ cm. Knowlton. 1494-1510.

Original vellum covers damaged. Some leaves cut out and others mutilated.

Several loose slips have been inserted on which the writing is the same as that of the text. These slips are attached to the leaves by pins of contemporary date.

The receipt for the cure of Syphilis is in English, at the back of an entry dated

LANGTON

1503 recording a payment by John Langley, gentleman of Knowlton in Kent, to the 'Pryncipall of Staple Yard in Holborn in London'.

Above the prescription is a short musical composition on a five-line stave.

There is inserted an off-print from the 'British Medical Journal', May 17th, 1924 by Dr. F. W. Cock [1850-1943] (fol. 128), the former owner, who has written inside the upper cover, under his signature and address at Appledore in Kent 'Emptus e venditione amici mei Lelandi L[ewis] Duncan S.A.S. [1862-1923] MCMXXVI. Pretio pondauri IX C semisse'.

Purchased from Dr. Cock 1932. (65084)

36 ll. v.s. [c. 1625-c. 1725]

Unbound.

By various hands, on sheets of various sizes.

The title as given above is that inscribed on a paper folder by John Eliot Hodgkin [ -1913], from whose collection it was acquired.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Hodgkin Sale) 15/5/1914, Lot 1008. (34211)

401. LA SALVETAT. Original MS. of the Assemblée Consulaire of the town of La Salvetat (Languedoc), dated 15 August 1646, prescribing measures to be taken against the Plague epidemic.

4 ll. folio. 25 × 18 cm. La Salvetat. 1646.

Unbound.

The measures include regulations for the hygiene of those not attacked, quarantine, and penalties for disobedience.

Purchased 1931. (63956)

2 bl. ll. + 326 pp. + 4 bl. ll. folio. 28½ × 21 cm. Pisa. 1556.

Original vellum binding: both leather ties wanting.

A student's notes of a Course of 68 lectures, by an unidentified Physician.

Purchased 1931. (57261)

404. LEECH-BOOKS I. Collection of medical receipts, notes on astrological medicine, colours of urines, etc. In English by several hands.

2 ll. + 46 ff. 4to. 21 × 15 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Quarter calf binding, with label 'Bretherton ligavit 1849'.

Fol. 18 is wanting, and a leaf after fol. 1, as well as some leaves at the end. Several margins have been repaired.

At the beginning are two fragments of vellum end-papers, one from a 15th cent. Psalter with musical notation and text in red and black.

The first 30 ff. are by one hand, with initials in alternate red and green. Ff. 31-36 are by a smaller hand.

Ff. 37-42 are by a third hand, with headings and paragraph marks in red.

The last section, Ff. 43-end, is by yet another hand with capitals and paragraph marks in red.

The last two sections are perhaps somewhat earlier than the rest.

On fol. 32 is a circular pen-drawn diagram illustrating the colours of urines: on the verso is a drawing of a Talisman against plague in red and black, and on fol. 33<sup>v</sup> a circular figure showing times for blood-letting according to the Zodiacal signs.

Fol. 1 Galion the good leche here saith and techeth off mette and / drynke to use yn tyme and yn tyme off blood lettyng to haue truly yn any tyme off the yere. / In the monethe off Januar . . .

3, lines 6-29	Miscellaneous receipts and remedies, including two charms to stop bleeding. (Fol. 19 <sup>v</sup> , 29 <sup>v</sup> ).
Ff. 30-32	Colours of urines. Zodiacal signs for the month. With diagram.
Fol. 32 <sup>v</sup>	Figure of a Talisman 'Contra pestilentiam', with inscription 'Quidam monaco Abbate de courbe [Corby?] in comitate lincolniense Angelus Apparuit et imprimebat manu eius ex precepto ihesu proprio hoc signum'.
33 <sup>v</sup>	Astrological blood-letting figure with text.
Ff. 34-36	Medical receipts, with rules for diet, blood-letting, etc.
Fol. 36 <sup>v</sup>	Dies lunae bona et mala: for blood-letting.

41 <sup>v</sup>	and drynk yt of yn ȝe mornynge and euenynge mylk warme.
Ff. 42-46	Miscellaneous receipts by two different hands.

On the recto of the first vellum end-paper fragment is written 'John Tho[mas?] in genten [?] Ghent] by a 15th cent. hand.

On the recto of the second 'M<sup>r</sup> Thomas dib borne 1501 the firste of maye'.

By the same hand is an inscription on the first un-numbered leaf 'This Booke Teacheth a diatory for the xii monthes a treatise of urines / medicynes from heade to the foote, and makinge of plasters and oyntments / with a treatise of medycyne sente By the masters of Salerno [sic] to lady Phylippa [sic] quene of Ingland wyfe to edward the third M.CCC.XX'.

This presumably must refer to a part of the original MS. which is now missing.

Below the note by Dib is another in the hand of Peter van Musschenbroeck [1692-1761], the famous Dutch physician, 'Ex Bibliotheca P. van Musschenbroeck' in Dutch, containing a note about Queen Philippa, extracted from Wagenaer. Vaderl. Hist. 3 D, p. 266.

On fol. 42 is a scribbling in Dutch by a 15th cent. owner, 'Vriendelicke groetnesse vorstreuen [?] an lȝv [?] / myn lieue seere ghemynde vrient meester'.

On the last leaf are some notes by Dib relating to the number of towns, parish churches, Knight's fees, religious houses and earldoms: lastly 'The Some of the fyftene [i.e. 'Fifteenths', a tax on personal property] Cometh unto xxxvii thousand, nyne hundred xxxiii li. ix s. besyde the expences of the Collectors'. Below is a receipt by the same hand.

Library stamp of Sir Thomas Phillipps on the first un-numbered leaf.

Phillipps MS. No. 3311.

Sold at Sotheby's 30/4/1903, Lot 760.

Purchased 1905. (11993)

405. LEECH-BOOKS II. Leech-book in English, containing the 'Booke of Ypocras' and a collection of medical receipts, including some charms. Preceding the medical text are Lessons from the Four Gospels (beginning wanting). 78 ll. 16mo. 12 × 8½ cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum. Modern vellum binding. The beginning and end are lost: the first and last leaves are damaged and the text badly rubbed. Fol. 20 is torn across and repaired.

Written by several hands: the first 40 ll. in a clear gothic book hand, 16 lines to a page, mostly in a greenish ink, with capitals and paragraph marks in blue, headings in red. The introduction to the 'Book of Ypocras' (fol. 22<sup>v</sup>-23<sup>v</sup>) is written entirely in red. Ff. 41, 42 are in a less formal hand, 19 lines to a page: ff. 42-66 in a larger script, 13 lines to a page. A fourth hand, 15 lines to a page, is found on ff. 67-74. The last section (ff. 75-78) is written in a small semi-current informal hand, 19 lines to a page.

This MS. seems to have been written in the North of England, perhaps in Northumbria, or in Scotland. In a charm on fol. 6, St. 'Columquellus' [i.e. St. Columba] is invoked for the preservation of a house from fire.

Attached is a letter to the unnamed owner of the MS. dated 13/3/1866, referring at length to its contents, etc., from the Very Rev. George William Kitchin [1827-1912], D.D., F.S.A. He dates it 1360-70, and considers it to be written in East Anglian dialect.

Purchased 1922. (42084)

406. LEECH-BOOKS III. Collection of medical tracts in verse and prose, including a poem 'Ars phlebotomandi' and another on Rosemary by Gardener: also a short leech-book, etc. The second in Latin, and the rest in English. These are followed by medical receipts and an anonymous 'Antidotarie of helthe' by several 16th cent. hands.

48 ll. (last 4 bl.). 8vo. 14 × 10 cm.
 [Early 15th cent.], 1511, [c. 1575].

The first 22 ll. are vellum. Modern morocco binding.

The outer upper corners of the first 3 ll. are defective: the recto of the first leaf is badly rubbed, and some leaves are stained.

The first section is written in a neat gothic, 20 lines to a page: ornamental capitals in blue and red, with marginal decorations: other initials in red, touched with yellow: paragraph marks and underlinings in red.

Fol. 1 Mostly illegible, but containing medical receipts in English by a middle 15th cent. semi-current hand.

On fol. 24 is an inscription in red ink 'Est liber smerthwaytt tenet palmer [?] / lamberd lond[ini?] scutanuyre [?]. Wrytten / and fynyschyd þe ere of owre lord / MCCCCC and XI yn / þe rayne of King hary þe viiith / þe iii<sup>d</sup> yere / þe xvii day of Januer'.

The poem on blood-letting (No. 1) appears to be similar to those recorded in Black's Catalogue of the Ashmolean MSS. No. 1448, p. 199; No. 1477, p. 96; No. 1481, p. 25.

The poem on Rosemary (No. 4) is possibly the same as Black's No. 1442. VI, p. 1, though there it is anonymous, and with a different number of lines.

On the verso of the end-paper is a note by Bertram, 4th Earl of Ashburnham [1797-1878]: 'Mr. Loscombes Sale. No. 1157. June 1854. £12'. This is written in pencil, and below in ink, 'Catal. A. No. 171'.

Clifton Wintringham Loscombe, numismatist, died in 1853.

Inside the upper cover is a pasted-on label inscribed 'From the Library of the Earl of Ashburnham. Appendix. No. CXXII. May 1897. 12'.

On the verso of the same end-paper is a note by George Dunn [ -1912], and his initials 'G. D. Jan. 1900'. His Ex-libris is also pasted on the inside of the upper cover.

Sold at Sotheby's (Ashburnham 'Appendix' Sale), 1/5/1899, Lot 21.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Dunn Sale), 5/2/1914, Lot 1379. (32395)

407. LEECH-BOOKS IV. Collection of medical receipts, etc.: by several hands, in English and Latin. With a Latin-English-French glossary of herbs. 70 [78] ff. 4to. 19 × 14 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum. 18th cent. panelled calf binding.

The first 8 ff. are wanting. The fly-leaf at the beginning is mutilated, margins cropped in binding.

There are two main scripts. The first, ff. 1-7, 11-61, a semi-current rounded gothic 30-36 lines to a page: the second ff. 7<sup>v</sup>-10, 61-70, a smaller and less formal hand 35-40 lines to a page.

Some capitals, paragraph marks, and underlinings in red.

In the lower margin of fol. 2 is a small pen-drawing of a face, with red spots (freckles): on fol. 12 a drawing of a plate used as a 'Charme of leed good for woundes' (fol. 11<sup>v</sup>).

There is an early foliation 9-76, which is incorrect after fol. 72.

A revised foliation 1-70 has been inserted in pencil at the lower corner of the rectos.

LEECH-BOOKS V

408. LEECH-BOOKS V. Collection of medical receipts, etc. in English and Latin by several late 15th cent. and early 16th cent. hands. Preceded by three short works on Urines in Latin, by William Kylinghale and William Bokynham, in a middle 15th cent. script.

107 ll. 4to. 21 × 14 cm. [c. 1450-1550.]

Modern vellum covers. Margins and corners badly frayed and worn, some staining by damp. A leaf at the beginning and end of the first section, and two leaves at the end are wanting.

The first 14 ll. are written in a neat English book-hand, initials, marginal headings and underlinings in red: 32-34 lines to a page.

Ff. 71-85 are on paper of smaller format (19½ × 13½ cm.), and written probably c. 1500.

The MS. has been re-foliated in pencil, but there is an original foliation of most of the MS., excluding the first section, of 1-71 but now bound in wrong order, viz. 64-67, 18 not foliated originally, 68-71, 1-61; 62 and 63 are wanting.

Following fol. 92 and fol. 100 of the new foliation are inserted slips.

There are 4 vellum fly-leaves at the beginning, and 5 at the end, consisting of fragments of a legal work [c. 1300].

The date 1533 occurs in the margin of fol. 97<sup>v</sup>; and on fol. 106<sup>v</sup> and 107 are receipts 'Pro mentagra vel morbo gallico'.

The entry on fol. 4, line 15 describing William Bokynham as a cardinal seems to be an error, it should perhaps read 'ad cardinali'.

Purchased 1921. (40833)

409. LEECH-BOOKS VI. Middle-English leech-book, containing medical receipts, including some charms; a Latin-English Glossary of herbs; short tracts on urines, the cure of wounds, uses of herbs, etc. By several hands, with a few 17th cent. additions.

146 ll. 4to. 20 × 14 cm. [Late 14th-Early 15th cent.]

On paper and vellum. Original deer-skin binding, with a contemporary leather slip-on cover. Two modern leather and metal clasps.

A new foliation in pencil has been added, but there is an older (16th cent.) foliation in ink. The following leaves (new foliation) appear to be wanting: The first 6 ll.; between ff. 9 and 10, 1 leaf; between ff. 11 and 12, 2 leaves; between ff. 53 and 54, one leaf; between ff. 83 and 84, 4 leaves; between ff. 96 and 97, 108 and 109, one leaf; between ff. 114 and 115, 2 leaves; between ff. 145 and 145, 3 leaves. Many leaves are worn, with frayed margins.

Initials, paragraph marks and headings in red.

A number of entries—mainly charms—have been struck through or obliterated with ink.

Ff. 1-7 Medical receipts by a late 14th cent. hand.

8-22 Medical receipts by an early 15th cent. hand, with some additions by an early 17th cent. owner.

The Herbal on ff. 109-143 is recorded in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 31.

LEECH-BOOKS VII

The receipt on ff. 86<sup>v</sup>, 87 and 84<sup>r</sup> is headed (fol. 86<sup>v</sup>) 'Unguentum domini Johannis Spencer', and is by an early 15th cent. hand.

The earliest owner's name was John Stacy, who is the writer of an inscription on fol. 145, c. 1400: 'Hosomever on me dothe loke I am John Stacys boke'.

On fol. 146 is the name of John Hemslat [?] de Blakedone in an early 15th cent. hand. On fol. 145 also is the name Peater [?] Palling by a late 15th cent. owner. On the first leaf, the initials T.B. in an Elizabethan script.

On the inside of the lower cover: 'Josephi Maynardi e Coll. Exon', i.e. Joseph Maynard [1607-1670], Rector of Exeter College, Oxford in 1662.

On the inside of the upper cover: 'Medicinal Receipts. Bought at Sir G[regory] P[age] Turner's [1785-1843] Sale, March 1827. P'. This inscription is by Sir Thomas Phillipps [1792-1872], whose Library Stamp and 'MS. No. 3132' are on the verso of the last leaf.

410. LEECH-BOOKS VII. Scroll containing remedies and charms against diseases, wounds, etc. Written in Late Middle English. (Incomplete.)

At the top of the scroll are four small holes, perhaps for attachment to a carrying pouch.

411. LEECH-BOOKS VIII. Collection of short tracts, some in verse, in English and Latin on medical astrology, prognostications, blood-letting, etc.

63 [68] ll. 4to. 22½ × 15½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

In vellum covers from a leaf of a 14th cent. Missal in double column, with ornamental initials in red and blue. In a morocco bound box case.

Contemporary signatures, of which a<sup>1</sup>, a<sup>12</sup>, b<sup>11</sup>, b<sup>12</sup>, c<sup>11</sup> are wanting: sig.d is doubled. Some corners defective, and margins frayed.

Written in the same clear book hand throughout, with some later additions: 31 lines to a page. The Lunar Table on fol. 51 is in red and black.

The MS. has been refoiled in pencil.

LEECH-BOOKS IX

63 ... Si in signo stabili. permanens est. / In mediocri vero mediocris est.

No. 4 Book of Nativities: a version of this work is found in Black's 'Catalogue of the Ashmolean MSS.', No. 343.2.

On fol. 19 is an added List of the 14 noblemen and others executed for Heresy in 1553, headed by the Duke of Northumberland, and including 'Doctor rydlei byschoppe of london'.

On fol. 30 is a statement of monies received, probably by the same hand, beginning 'Recyvvd of my master Wylliam Watnor the sum of iii li. xiii s. iiii d. and a quarters wagys'.

On the verso of the last leaf the scribbled names of 'Wyllyam Davy' and 'Thomas champe', in early 16th cent. hands.

Below is a note dated 1610: 'The xxvth day of october Georg Sheffield being moved by Allyn harrow and henry parker to paye Mistress Allen hir xl<sup>li</sup> saide that he wolde make hir tarry for it a yere despite of hir'.

The box case is lettered at the back 'Stanford MSS. c. 1450'. This may refer to the Library of Sir Thomas Winnington [1811-1872] of Stanford Court, though it is not recorded in the First Appendix to the First Report of the Historical Manuscripts Commission 1870, pp. 53-55. Nor does it appear in their Tenth Report, Appendix VI, 1887, pp. 104-252, which concerned the Stanford Hall Library, belonging to Lord Braye [1849-1928].

413. LEO VI, The Philosopher, Emperor of the East [865-911]. Χρησμοί: containing 15 (out of 16), prophetic stanzas, with accompanying symbolic pictures: followed by 10 similar verses and illustrations relating to the Apocalypse, by an unidentified author: in Greek.

14 ll. 4to. 22 × 15½ cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Modern boards. Some margins frayed and repaired.

Ornamental border-piece in upper margin of first leaf in red and black, large initials and headings in red.

Illustrated with twenty-five water-colour drawings of a symbolic character.

Of the sixteen illustrations given in Migne's edition of the Χρησμοί the first is wanting in this MS., but the remainder follow as in the printed version. (Cf. Migne Patrologia graeca. Vol. 108, pp. 1122-1167.)

 14 Five lines beginning 'Τουτο ὁ νοῶν' struck through in red: these are repeated from fol. 12.

On verso of fol. 14, medical notes by a later hand.

The original paper covers, containing fragments of a sermon, the lower cover defective, have been bound in. The script of these is probably of later date—18th cent.

On fol. 1, Library stamp of 'Georges P. Beglery Constantinople'.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L H 8'.

414. LEONELLUS Florentzola [& others]. Collection of medical receipts: in Latin.

177 ff. + 4 un-numbered ll. 4to. 21½ × 13½ cm. [Florence?] [c. 1520.]

Modern paper covers.

Ff. 1, 169-171 are wanting. The un-numbered ll. are between fol. 175 and fol. 176, and their upper halves have been torn away. Some leaves are probably missing at the end.

The date 1517 is found on fol. 36, and 1518 on fol. 101.

There are a few entries possibly by a slightly later 16th cent. hand.

Many of the receipts are assigned to Leonellus Florentzola (83), Jeronimus de Florentzola (75) and Ludovicus de Leonibus (31). Of these the last named was a professor of Medicine at Bologna [1465-1528].

Leonellus may possibly be identical with Leonellus de Faventia de Victoriis [Vettori] [ -1520], also of Bologna, whose works were 'Practica medicinalis', published in 1545, and 'De egritudinibus infantum' in the same year, both at Ingolstadt. 'De Victoriis [Vettori]' was an old Florentine family, and he may also have been known as 'Florenzola' though he is usually 'de Faventia'.

No record has been traced of Jeronimus de Florentzola.

The Compiler of this collection seems to have been a Physician or Apothecary, most probably at Florence, though there are also numerous references to Bologna.

12 ll. + 139 ff. + 1 bl. l. folio. 27 × 19 cm. [c. 1630.]

Original vellum binding: leather ties defective.

A collection of receipts and remedies for the diseases of horses.

On the t.p. the date 1630 has been added in pencil.

From the Bernhard VI Collection.

Purchased 1930. (55450)

416. — La grande mareschalerie du Sieur de Lespinay gentilhomme périgordin.

3 ll. (first 2 bl.) + 225 pp. + 22 ll. (last 2 bl.). 4to.
26 × 18½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original calf binding.

Text within red rules: written in a very neat italic hand.

The work was first printed in Paris in 1642, but it seems to have circulated in MS. before then. Wellcome MS. No. 415 is another copy, provisionally dated c. 1630.

After the end of the text on p. 225, and after the Index are some receipts for the maladies of horses by another contemporary hand.

On the verso of the t.p. is the lithographed signature of 'Huzard de l'Institut' and it seems to be No. 3566 in P. Leblanc's 'Catalogue des livres . . . de la Bibliothèque de feu M. J. B. Huzard', Vol. III. 1842, p. 327.

16 [18] ll. + 137 ff. 4to. 19½ × 14½ cm. [c. 1600.]

Original vellum binding over wooden boards: rebacked.

Some leaves are wanting at the end—probably three—as the latest foliation entered in the Index is 139.

Two of the last section of the preliminary leaves have been cut out, and the other two are mutilated. The first un-numbered leaf is two-thirds cut away.

The outer margins of the next 8 ll. are frayed and damaged. The text of the MS. is written in a neat Secretary hand: and the Index—which omits the letter R—is perhaps by a different hand, and is in italic.

The fragment of the first preliminary leaf contains a receipt, in English, for a purgative drink: it is signed by Dr. Stafford Price, who is probably the person named in Venn's entry as having matriculated at Trinity College, Cambridge in 1711, aged 18.

The verso of this leaf contains part of a poem in Welsh by a different 18th cent. hand.

Added among the preliminary leaves are scribblings, names of owners, and a few receipts in Welsh: these are mainly by 18th cent. or early 19th cent. hands.

- Leaf 2 'Gabriel Salusbury, Denbigh'; 'Jonathan Williams Jeyner [? Junior]';
'John Jones of Denbigh 1735' (a); 'John Evans'.
3 (T.p.) 'Mr Richard Glyns of Edernion booke' (b).
6 'Edward Williams of Denbigh'; 'Edward Jones of Denbigh'.
14<sup>v</sup> 'William Edward Jones of Thomas of Llanraiadr Denbigh'; 'Gabriel Salusbury, his hand'.
15 'This book has bieng [sic] in the sarvise [sic] of the Reverent Mr Edward ffoulkes, Doctor of Divinity (c), and Mr Robert ffoulkes, doctor of ffisick (d) In the County of Denbigh aforesaid Gentleman and Esquire to William Jones of Denbigh'.
15<sup>v</sup> 'Edward Williams of Denbigh'; 'Robert Jones Jeyner [? Junior] of the said County of Denbigh'.
Fol. 57 'Edward Jones' [Cf. Leaf 6].
67<sup>v</sup> 'David Jones is this book' (e).
127 'Dewi Fardd' (f).

Of the above names, only a few can be identified with any certainty:

- (a) JONES (John) [1700-1770], Dissenter of Carmarthen.
(b) GLYNN (Richard), Rector of Llan Ederne, 1637. [Cf. Venn].
(c) FFOULKES (Edward) D.D. [1697-1740]. [Cf. Venn].
(d) FFOULKES (Robert), M.D. [1695-1771]. [Cf. Venn].
(e) (f) JONES (David), [1708-1785], poet and antiquary: his Bardic name was 'Dewi Fardd'.

A transcript of this MS., made by I. Foulkes in 1888 from another MS. of this work, has been printed and edited very inadequately by Timothy Lewis, and published at Liverpool in 1924. (Copy in the Wellcome Library.) Lewis had not known of the existence of the present MS. until after his transcript had been sent to Press.

Foulkes had stated that the MS. was the work of Sir Thomas Williams [1550?-1620?], but Lewis rejects this: though it does not seem impossible that it may be a contemporary copy of the 'book of medical directions and receipts' which R. Williams in 'Eminent Welshmen' (p. 537) states was compiled by this Author.

Purchased 1907. (19355)

The receipts on ff. 10–16 seem to resemble those listed by Thorndike in his List of 'Vatican Latin MSS. in the history of science and medicine'. ['Isis', Vol. XIII, p. 91.]

The water-mark of the paper—a bull's head seems to be Briquet's No. 15003. (Paris 1419.)

A short work entitled 'Eaux artificielles avec leurs vertus et propriétés' was first printed at Vienne c. 1485, and in several other 15th cent. editions [G.K.W. 9164–9174]. There is also a section, ff. 240–245, in the French edition of the 'De proprietatibus rerum' printed at Lyons in 1500 [G.K.W. 3422], which seems to correspond with ff. 2–10 of this MS.

The entry on the 'Eau de mélisse' [ff. 26, 27] by Roger Vachon, is printed in 'Eaux artificielles', as noted by Wickersheimer in his 'Dictionnaire biographique', p. 722 [s.v. Roger Vachon].

It seems almost certain that this MS. originally formed part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 523 [MISCELLANEA Alchemica XX] and MS. No. 707 [RUPE-SCISSA], as on fol. 1 of the first of these there is a list of the contents of the whole original composite volume, dated 1430.

Purchased 1933. (66038)

419. LIBER secretorum medicinalium. Mainly in Latin, but a few of the receipts in Italian.

123 ff. + 14 ll. 8vo. 19 × 12½ cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

Many leaves slightly stained and worn.

A large number of the 638 receipts in this collection are aphrodisiacs.

Purchased at Sotheby's 19/12/1919, Lot 533. (40287)

4 ll. (first bl.). + 253 pp. + 15 ll. 8vo. 15½ × 10½ cm.
[Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

Written in a difficult current hand, probably by an elderly writer.

The MS. contains receipts and extracts on alchemical, chemical and iatro-chemical subjects.

Purchased 1934. (67112)

53 ll. 8vo.  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 11$  cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Modern boards. The last leaf is damaged, and the leaves are stained throughout. Some leaves at the end are probably wanting.

The receipts are mostly medical.

Purchased 1924. (43241)

422. LIBRO de philosophia che da Vulgari e dita archimia e da Prudenti Arte trasmutatoria.

68 ff. + 7 ll. (last 2 bl.). 4to.  $21 \times 16$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Original limp vellum binding. Margins slightly cropped.

On fol. 1 is a pen-drawn historiated initial, headings and initials in red.

On fol. 18<sup>v</sup> is a rough pen-drawing of a furnace.

Ff. 58<sup>v</sup>-64<sup>v</sup> contain a tract headed 'Sopra il quarto de la Methaura', beginning 'Aristotile nel quarto de la methaura dice che lo specie de metalli non si puono trasmutare se no sono reduti in prima materia . . .' This passage, however, is not found in the translation of Aristotle's works edited by W. D. Ross, Vol. III, which contains the fourth book of the 'Meteorologica', though there seems to be a doubt whether this book should rightfully be attributed to Aristotle himself or to one of his pupils.

Purchased 1910. (23879)

423. LIBRO di varie cose trattante: Astrologia, Virtù di molt'erbe, Segreti, Rimedi a vari mali. Di molt' olii. (Followed by) Regola della Caballa.

4to.  $20 \times 15$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding. Two fly-leaves have been cut out at the beginning. The leaf facing the title has a pen-drawn astrological diagram illustrating the 'Science Platonique du futur contingent' and the last two leaves contain astrological tables.

Part of the second section (72 pp.) is in Italian with some words in a alphabetical cypher.

The last section is a 'Déclaration ou exposition de l'horloge critique et médicinale'.

Armorial Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888].

The first work was first printed, probably at Heidelberg in 1488, and in Italian translation at Modena in 1492. In this MS. there is a mistake in each of the dates in the Colophon: 1576 for 1567, and Mcccc lxxx iiii for Mcccc lxxx viii. The colophon itself between the lines ending 'condigna laboris' and the end 'e di selvano' has lost some lines which are found in the printed versions.

The second work is an abbreviated translation of the 'Régime du corps'; the Physiognomical section being reduced to seven lines only on fol. 66. It does not seem to correspond with the Italian MSS. of the work entered in Bandini's Catalogue of MSS. in the Laurentiana at Florence.

LIVRE

From the Library of Joseph Frank Payne (Catalogue No. 198).
Purchased 1911. (44518)

428. LIVRE cachetté ou scéllé [sic for 'scellé'] qui est, le magistère d'Hermes Trismegiste fermé de 24 seaux [sic], dans lequel sont contenus les plus doctes énigmes serrures sophismes allégories et problesmes des philosophes égyptiens Chaldéés, Juifs, Perses, Grecs, Arrabes [sic], etc. Colligez en partie par Vincent le Grand moyne de Beauvais, et en partie recueillis par Frère Arnould de Villeneuve son disciple, en faveur de la famille des Arnould, doctement desliez et ouvertz par les clefz tant dudit Arnould, que de Jean Clopinel de Meun, entièrement et sans doctrine dechiffré par Guillaume de Paris à son trèsdoux zephire. 126 ll. + 43 bl. ll. 8vo.  $17 \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

Very neatly written in 'caractères de civilité'.

Illustrated with 6 pen-drawn diagrams.

The MS. deals entirely with alchemy, and does not seem to be recorded.

The attributions to Vincent of Beauvais, Arnold of Villanova, etc., are probably fictitious.

It is to be noted, however, that the date '1376 ou 1326' appears on leaf 92, and that the list of Authors on the first two leaves contains no names later than the first half of the 14th cent. No trace of a work under this title has been found in any of the bibliographies.

Guillaume de Paris is perhaps Guillaume d'Auvergne, Bishop of Paris [1249].

Purchased 1935. (68520<sup>E</sup>)

429. LIVRE de la grande mareschalerie, et guérison des chevaux, avec les doses et compositions propres au dite art. Ensemble la manière de seigner selon les signes de la lune, comprenant en ce les moyens et facilitez de cognoistre les maladies tant intérieures qu'extérieures. [At the other end of the volume.] Collection of medical receipts for human ailments: in French throughout. 1 bl. l. + 3 ll. + 5 bl. ll. + 119 pp. + 8 bl. ll. + 3 ll. + 31 bl. ll. + 32 ll. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

Among the medical receipts is one dated 1640, and on a fly-leaf at the end is an account dated 1686.

The MS. is written by several different hands.

Purchased 1929. (50795)

430. LIVRE de Mareschaulcée dedans lequel sont contenues plusieurs choses concernantes tant les maladies des chevaulx et remèdes d'icelles que aussy pour cognoistre les qualitez et naturel de chacun cheval ou poulain. Avec la table . . .

7 [8] ll. (last bl.) + LXXIV ff. + 3 ll. + 9 bl. ll. 4to.
 $22\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original calf binding, worn. The first leaf is wanting.

On the last three leaves are receipts by different and later hands.

On the first leaf is the stamped signature of 'Huzard de l'Institut', and the MS. appears to be No. 3529 of the 'Catalogue des livres . . . de la bibliothèque de feu M. J-B. Huzard', compiled by P. Leblanc; Paris. 1842.

Purchased 1930. (63473)

431. LIVRE du nombre propre de chasque chose naturellement enclos de son propre nom, dont la vertu est tirée d'une première cause de Nature.

24 ll. (last 2 bl.). 8vo.  $23\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Modern green vellum binding.

Accompanied by a partial transcript in pencil, interleaved, by a modern hand and inaccurate.

The title as given is taken from lines 6-8 of the 'Prologue'.

The unidentified Author seems to base his ideas on the numerical theories of the Cabalists.

Purchased 1933. (66379)

432. LIVRE premier de la Théorique de la verité de l'alchemie plus utile qu'on ne sçauroit estimer pour acquérir la congnoissance d'icelle. [Followed by] Livre second de la pratique.

4 ll. + 56 ff. + 2 ll. + 35 ff. + 2 bl. ll. folio.  $34\frac{1}{2} \times 22\frac{1}{2}$  cm.
[Middle 16th cent.]

Original limp vellum covers.

The second part contains chemical receipts and remedies.

At the end of the text, on fol. 35<sup>v</sup> of the second part, is an entry: '1767 aoust 8 M. Vialette Chirurgien a purger [sic] le père De St. Flour et lui a donné le 9, 10, 11 du quina en bols et Mr. Corundet [Cormidet?] a purger [sic] et fourni des médicaments à Mr. Boyer'. Below this 'Du 4 juin 1773 Mr. Lubres [?]'.

This MS. may possibly be a French version of the 'Testamentum' by—or attributed to—Raymundus Lullius. It is divided into a 'Théorique' and a 'Pratique', but the text does not seem to correspond either with the Latin, or with the French MSS. recorded in Mrs. Singer's Bibliography Nos. 244 et seq.

Purchased 1930. (63463)

433. LOCHNER (JOHANN) [ -1491]. Three Consilia, the first a 'Regimen sanitatis' addressed to his son. In German and Latin; some passages possibly written by Lochner himself.

18 ll. (first & last bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm.
Neunkirchen. [c. 1480.]

Modern boards. Margins cropped in rebinding.

There are passages on ff. 11, 12, 15, 18<sup>v</sup> and 19<sup>r</sup> written by a different and current hand which may be that of Lochner: the main part of the MS. is in a formal scribe's hand.

Fol. 2 Sequitur Consilium seu [sic] regimen sanitatis / Johannis doctoris lochners pro filio suo doctore / quondam plebano ecclesie Sancti Sebaldis, etc. / ...

Some prescriptions on fol. 11<sup>v</sup>, and the beginning of 'Das 3 tayl' on fol. 12, together with a letter in Latin, addressed to the son (fol. 15), are in the current hand.

The letter ends 'Ex monasterio Newen Kirchen feria / quinta post maurici 1480. scriptum [?] per ['pestem' struck through, 'patrem' superscribed] vestrum / Johannes lochner consentualem ibidem doctorem, etc.' (fol. 16, line 8 et seq.).

Fol. 16, line 11 Consilium Jo. Sutquit in artibus et medi / cina magister vestris obsequiis deditum ut a peste preseruauitur.

17<sup>v</sup>, line 19 Johannes lochner doctor professor ordinis regularium canonico-rum / sancti augustini in neunkirchen hoc composuit / Consiliu Ieronimi valdensis doctoris et militis. / Quamquam firmiter sciam quod medicos tibi habes / accommodatos et potissimum excellentes questuris [?] tuis / Sed pro officioso tuo in me amore Ieronimiana cupis / remedia ecce illa tibi do ...

The whole of this Consilium is in Latin.

Lochner was Physician to the Margraves John and Albrecht of Franconia, with whom he undertook a pilgrimage to the Holy Land in 1435. He wrote an account of this which has been printed by the 'Nürnberg Verein für Geschichte der Stadt Nürnberg': Mitteilungen, Heft II, 1879.

From 1438 to 1470 he was City Physician of Nürnberg, and after his wife's death, Canon of the Augustinian Priory at Neunkirchen.

LOCI

In Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin'. Bd. 8, pp. 236-241 is a transcript of a different 'Pestregimen' by Lochner, addressed 'Pro domino plebano S. Sebaldi' of Nuremberg, but the 'Consilium' to Lochner's son in this MS. does not seem to have been known to Sudhoff when he compiled his 'Pestschriften nach der Epidemie des 'schwarzen Todes' 1348'.

434, 435. LOCI communes medici.

2 vols. Vol. I, 7 ll. (first & last 2 bl.). + 602 ff. + 8 ll. (last 4 bl.).

Vol. II, 4 ll. + 379 ff. + 82 ll. + 10 ll. folio.  $30\frac{1}{2} \times 21$  cm.

[c. 1640-1720.]

Original calf binding.

In Latin and French, by two different compilers. The earlier part in both volumes is entirely in Latin, and may have been begun about the middle of the 17th cent., though the date 1667 is found on fol. 371<sup>v</sup> of Vol. I. This section contains extracts from late 16th cent. and 17th cent. medical works. An entry on Vol. II, fol. 49<sup>v</sup> bears the date 1666.

The entries by the later compiler are in French and Latin, with French predominating, and contain extracts from medical writers, notes of cases, etc., dated from the later part of the 17th cent. to 1721 (Vol. I, fol. 327).

The two compilers of these MSS. are the same as those of MS. No. 210 (CONSULTATIONES), and as suggested in the Catalogue entry for that MS., the later hand may be that of Pierre Rivallier of Nîmes. All three MSS. are from the same provenance.

In Vol. II there are a few entries in French, and some on astronomical topics by a third writer; among these the date 1759—in the extract on 'Aphélie'—occurs.

From the Verdeil Collection, purchased Geneva 1928. (57079<sup>o.p.</sup>)

436. LOCK (BENJAMIN). Benjamin Lock his Picklock to Riply his Castle. Transcribed, with a Preface, by Arthur Dee: together with 'The huntinge of the Greene Lyon' (in verse), here ascribed to 'Amen', but according to Elias Ashmole, probably by Abraham Andrews.

8 ll. + 36 ff. + 10 ll. (last 3 bl.). 8vo.  $19 \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  cm.

[Middle 17th cent.]

Original limp leather binding: both ties wanting.

The first and last leaves are slightly defective, and have been pasted down on to the covers: the title-heading on fol. 1 has been mostly erased. Text within red rules.

Arthur Dee [1579-1651], alchemist, was the son of John Dee [1527-1608], mathematician and astrologer. He states on the second leaf 'This Booke I receaued from M<sup>r</sup> Heriot, at Sion howse, who for many yeares, instructed the Earle of Northumberland in the Mathematicks, when he liued in the tower. Anno. 1602. June 6'. The Preface is signed 'Art. Dee'.

From the entry No. 1507. 8 in Black's 'Catalogue of the Ashmolean MSS.' it is certain that this is the actual MS. copied by Elias Ashmole [1617-1692] the antiquary, who has written at the end of his copy 'Apr. 1659. Thus far I transcribed out of a MS. sent me by Dr Browne of Norwich, written with D<sup>r</sup> Arthur Dees hand, and neatly bound up in Rushian lether'.

Ashmole then quotes the inscription on the second leaf, as given above, and mentions the last work in this MS. 'The hunting of the Greene Lyon'.

In his 'Theatrum Chemicum Britannicum', 1652, there is a transcript of this poem (pp. 278-290), and in a note (p. 475) it is assigned to Abraham Andrews.

The date 1602 on the second leaf is presumably that of the original MS. Benjamin Lock is said to have been a pupil of John Dee at Mortlake about the time of Arthur Dee's birth in 1579. Of the persons mentioned in this inscription 'M<sup>r</sup> Heriot' is Thomas Harriott [1560-1621], mathematician and astronomer; and the 'Earle of Northumberland' is Henry Percy, the ninth Earl [1564-1632], who was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Tower in 1606 for alleged complicity in the Gunpowder Plot, but released in 1621.

Harriott was one of his 'three magi' and was given a pension and a residence at Sion House in 1607.

'D<sup>r</sup> Browne of Norwich', stated in Ashmole's transcript to have been an owner of this MS., is Sir Thomas Browne [1605-1682], author of 'Religio Medici'.

On the same leaf is the signature 'W. Stevenson, 1800', who has written a note on the third leaf, concerning Arthur Dee extracted from Lyson's 'Environs of London', Vol. I, p. 385. This is William Stevenson [1772-1829] Keeper of Treasury Records.

On the second leaf below Dee's inscription is the signature 'J. Rump 1832'.
Purchased at Sotheby's 18/12/1919, Lot 375. (40286)

437. LODI (DOMENICO DI). Libro del modo de governar cavalli et medicar li. 120 ff. + 2 ll. 4to. 21 × 15 cm. Bari. 1516.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, damaged: with brass corner-pieces and centre bosses, clasps wanting.

Fol. 34 is wanting, and ff. 31-35, and some other leaves are slightly defective and worn.

Illustrated by pen-drawn astrological diagrams, and figures of horses and the Zodiacal signs in water-colour.

The last two leaves contain a receipt for a medical powder by a contemporary hand, and some scribbles by Nicolo and Antonio Pellegrini of a later date.

The work is apparently unpublished, and no information has been found as to the Author.

Pp. 333/334 The upper half of this leaf has been cut away, but it contains verses beginning: 'Wie min nam genant sy / Der dis het gedichtet ye / Der rot mir dis ratschen hie / The first letters of the rest of the poem, so far as they survive read: 'HEINRIKH LO', and on p. 334: 'VON FRYBVRG EIN P'

336-End contain a 'Practica' in prose, the first leaf of which is wanting. This begins with a dietary for the months: 'In dem genner machtu woltzuo ädern lassen': prognostics for illnesses, critical days, influence of the planets, etc.: on blood-letting, baths, purging, etc.: on urines: a short herbal, and some medical receipts.

The last section appears to be a version of the German 'Practica' by Bartholomaeus Salernitanus [& others], and he is actually named on p. 452, line 6: 'Dis buch dichtet meister Bartholomeus und nam / es usz einem buch heisset brat / ica . . .'

The water-mark on the paper—a horizontal Gothic P—seems to be Briquet's No. 8605, assigned to Nantes 1469 and Leyden 1467-69.

At the end of the text of the prose-work are two roughly drawn armorial shields, and the inscription 'Hanns Jacobs / vom Stall est / possessor huius libri / 1373'. Hence it would seem that our MS. must be a copy made in the second half of the 15th cent. of a copy made in 1429 of a 14th cent. original.

The 'Vershung des Leibs' was printed at Augsburg in 1491. (Cf. Sudhoff: 'Deutsche medizinische Inkunabeln'. 1908, pp. 17-20.) Ex-libris of Theodor Engelmann of Basle, who made a transcript of this MS. [MS. No. 439], and is the Author of an article 'Ueber eine schweizerische medicinische Handschrift des XV Jahrhunderts (1429)', which appeared in a 'Festschrift Dr Fritz Sarasin 1919' printed in the 'Beiträge zur Anthropologie, Ethnologie und Urgeschichte'. In this the Author states that he bought this MS. in Olten about 1880, and that it had come from the 'alte Dennler'sche Apotheke in Langenthal'.

439. — Vershung des Leibs. [Incomplete.] Followed by an anonymous 'Practica' in prose. Holograph transcript by Theodor Engelmann, with an inserted holograph Collation by Adolf Fluri of Berne.

443. — Opuscula. Vol. I.

73 ff. 4to. 21 × 14½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Piece cut out of lower outer corner of fol. 14. The end is wanting. Margins have been cropped in rebinding.

The first leaf—in the present foliation fol. 1—is vellum, and was probably a fly-leaf of the volume as originally bound: it is slightly wormed.

Written in a small semi-current gothic hand, probably Italian.

Ff. 9, 10, 21<sup>v</sup>, 22, 42<sup>v</sup> and 52 contain pen-drawn figures: on fol. 14 is a drawing of an alchemical still.

- Fol. 1 Latin receipt in a 15th cent. hand for 'Aqua mirabilis' for the eyes: below a receipt in a 16th cent. hand. Under this in an early 17th cent. hand 'Raimundi Lulii e Maiorica / de lapidis Philosophorum constructione / et transmutatione metallica'.

This MS. originally formed part of a larger volume, in which MS. No. 444 [LULLIUS] and MS. No. 710 [RUPESCISSA] were included; the division into three separate volumes has been made very recently by the booksellers, Nourry of Paris.

This volume and the other two MSS. mentioned above contain a number of works belonging to what Thorndike, in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV, Ch. 38, has called the 'Lullian alchemical collection'.

Purchased 1936. (69465)

444. — Opuscula. Vol. II.

94 ff. 4to. 21 × 14½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Ten leaves are missing after the leaf now foliated 85.
A fragment only remains of fol. 90. Margins cropped in rebinding.

Written by the same hand as MS. No. 443: the first two items are in double column of 33 lines to a column, with headings in red.

446. — Ymage de vie. Replication. Alchemical processes and receipts, in French and Latin.

lxxii ff. + 5 inserted ll. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Limp vellum covers, from a Deed of Sale in Latin, dated 1394.

The upper part of fol. lvi has been cut away, some corners and margins frayed.

Five unfoliated leaves, written by a different hand, have been inserted between fol. xxxviii and fol. xxxix; the whole MS. has now been refoliated in pencil.

Written in a semi-current French gothic hand 27 lines to a page: initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

Ff. 68-72, 74-77, are by two other contemporary hands.

Ff. 62<sup>v</sup> [lvii]-65<sup>v</sup>, contain full-page wash drawings, partly coloured, of alchemical furnaces, apparatus, etc.: there are also numerous smaller drawings of similar objects, some coloured, in the margins of the main work.

On fol. 43 is a symbolic drawing of two green dragons in combat inscribed 'Occido et viuere facio', and on the verso of the same leaf, a full-page emblematic picture, with inscription 'Lors fut le Roy esleue de Couronne des couronne[s]'.

68 [lxiii]-72 [lxvii]<sup>v</sup> 'Du premier levain', and other receipts and processes, by a different hand.

Fol. 73 [lxviii] Blank.

Ff. 74 [lxix]-77 [lxxv]<sup>v</sup> Similar receipts, etc., in Latin by another hand.

A transcript [19th cent.] of the beginning of the first work (12 ll.) is inserted.

The 'Ymage de vie', does not seem to be referred to by Thorndike either in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' or in his 'Catalogue of Incipits'. An extract from it is found in M<sup>rs</sup> Singer's 'Catalogue', No. 269; and another in Black's 'Catalogue of Ashmolean MSS.', No. 1484. II. ff. 201, 202.

From the John Eliot Hodgkin Library.

Purchased at Sotheby's 12/5/1914, Lot 15. (34197)

For a discussion of the 'Testamentum' and other pseudo-Lullian alchemical works, see Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV, Ch. xxxviii.

From the Library of Julius Kohn.

Purchased at Sotheby's, 28/1/1935, Lot 18. (68061)

448. — Ars brevis. 3 bl. ll. + 71 ff. + 10 ll. 4to. 20 × 15 cm. 1641.

Original vellum binding.

There are three pen-drawn diagrams, one with a volvelle.

Under the title on fol. 1 is written 'Ad usum fratris Basilii à Hola lectoris capuccini', which is repeated at the end of the text.

The MS. is on exposition of the 'Lullian Art'.

Purchased 1909. (21462)

449. — Art misterieux de Raymond Lulle, ou science générale. Praxis argumentandi. 77 ll. 12mo. 12½ × 8½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

19th cent. diced calf gilt binding.

Text within red rules.

Illustrated with a few pen-drawn diagrams, and with a small engraved portrait of Lully laid down and used as a frontispiece.

The 'Art misterieux' is apparently copied from a 15th cent. MS. It has a colophon: 'Decouuert par le R[everend] pere / Eustache de Brie Recollet et / fini de descrire par J Perrin / Chanoine de Ste Marthe ce 15 / 7bre 1455 à Tharascon'.

Below, the signature in pencil 'Frederick Hockley 1827', whose name also appears on the recto and verso of the portrait, and on the first leaf.

On a fly-leaf 'W[illiam] Alex[ander] Aytoun' [1817-1909].

450. LULLIUS (RAYMUNDUS) [1235?-1315] [& others]. Epistola accurtationis ad Rupertum [sic] regem. [Incomplete.] Epistola ad Regem Angliae. (In German.) FLORIANUS. Diadema philosophorum et secretum secretorum. 11 ll. 4to. 20 × 16 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Modern boards covered by a folio sheet from an early printed Chronicle.

Margins cropped in binding.

- Fol. 1 Epistola Raymundi ad Rupertum Regem / Ierusalem et Sicilie. Item ego Raymundus de Insula / maior[ic]a. In temporibus preteritis . . .
2 et suavius et nobilius opus est vegetabilium que [added: 'finis scripti / de accurtatione'].

10<sup>v</sup> (End) . . . nobile producit scilicet aurum.

- 11 Opus caldeorum. // Recipe acetum album.
(End) . . . habes lunam in magnam quantitatem.

The first work seems to be a version of the 'Accurtatio' of the 'Lullian Collection', described by Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV, Ch. 1, and the second of the 'Elucidatio'.

The work of Florianus is mentioned by Thorndike op. cit., Vol. IV, p. 339: he gives the name as 'Florianus', and attributes the tract to Winandus de Ruffo Cliepo. Purchased 1934. (66925)

451. — Abbreviated Italian version of the 'Testamentum': with other alchemical receipts.

56 pp. (last 2 bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Some text affected by damp.

Pp. 1-5 Alchemical receipts.

See Note to MS. No. 109 [BACON].

Purchased 1936. (69483)

452. — Collection of short alchemical tracts: in Latin.

119 ll. 8vo.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original boards, damaged. Some leaves are missing between fol. 69 and fol. 70, fol. 104 and fol. 105, fol. 113 and fol. 114, fol. 115 and fol. 116: upper margin of fol. 1 cut away. Damp stained throughout.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

On ff. 17, 56<sup>v</sup> and 57 are pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus—and on ff. 70<sup>v</sup>, 102<sup>v</sup>, 114 and 115 symbolic diagrams of which that on 102<sup>v</sup> is folding.

243 [288] ff. + 6 ll. 16mo.  $13 \times 9$  cm. 1612 [-1622].

Original limp vellum binding defective: both leather ties wanting.

Ff. 62, 85, 87, 89-96, 101-117, 150, 165-179, 224-228 wanting: many margins and corners frayed. The last leaf is pasted down on the cover and damaged, and the last six leaves are stained and faded.

Written throughout in a small neat script.

The title is within a historiated panel, and many of the receipts are divided by pen-drawn arabesque ornaments.

Fol. 16<sup>v</sup>, 153<sup>v</sup>-160 contain small pen-drawings of chemical and alchemical apparatus. There are also a few symbolic, and other small sketches.

The text is mainly in Latin and French, with some marginal entries in Italian.

Contents: Ff. 2-267 headed 'Exercitacions spagyriques' with sections on Distilling (ff. 153-164), alchemy (ff. 180-208), Index (ff. 209-224), chemical signs (ff. 231, 232), medical and chemical receipts, alchemical processes, etc., extracts on medical practice, etc., mostly from the works of Joannes Fernellius [1497-1558] as noted on fol. 240<sup>v</sup>.

MACCI

Ff. 268-end. The heading changes to 'Exercitationes dogmatiques', but the contents consist of similar material.

The date 1622 appears in a marginal note on fol. 147: there are other dates, 1616 (fol. 17, fol. 68), and 1618 on the last leaf.

The last is appended to a note 'J'arrivay en ceste ville de Condrieux ce 4 Septembre.'

Besides the medical contents, there are also verses in Latin and French (fol. 1<sup>v</sup>, fol. 2, ff. 180, 181, 184, 185, 186, 202<sup>v</sup>, 233, 265<sup>v</sup>, 266).

The Author seems to have been connected with Syracuse (ff. 181, 184, 202<sup>v</sup>). On fol. 195 is a pen drawing of a funeral monument to Joanna Contarelle who died 16th August 1622, daughter of Franciscus Contarellus and wife of N. Gabriellus. The inscription is signed M.A.C.M.

It is possible that these initials stand for M[agister] A. C[ontarellus] M[edicus], but no physician of that name has been traced.

MACHARONEA

460. — De viribus herbarum.

59 ll. 8vo. 15½ × 10 cm. [c. 1550.]

Unbound.

Ff. 1, 14, 15, 30, and all after fol. 63 are wanting. Fol. 63 is badly damaged, and roughly repaired. Many leaves are frayed in the margins and some are stained. A small piece has been cut out from fol. 17. Ff. 29<sup>v</sup> to 32<sup>v</sup> are blank, hence the text from Cap. 29, line 5 (Coriander) to Cap. 32, line 17 (Papaver) is wanting.

The text is written transversely to the page, and in an English middle sixteenth century Secretary hand.

Fol. 1 De artemisia / Herbarum quasdam dicturus carmine vires / . . .

63<sup>v</sup> Unge caput dolens mire frontemque iuvabit.

There should be 21 more lines according to the version in the Aldine 'Medici antiqui omnes', Venice 1548, though the text of this MS. differs slightly from that of the printed edition.

471. MARINONI (LEONARDO). Diploma of Doctorate in Medicine and Philosophy at Padua University. In Latin. 6 ll. 4to.  $23\frac{1}{2} \times 17$  cm. Padua. 1617.

On vellum. Original gilt stamped decorated calf binding, with 6 silk ties: appended seal in brass case.

Illuminated title in gold and colours: text within decorated border of the same: initials, names, etc. in the text in gold.

On the last (paper) fly-leaf are MS. details of Marinoni and his large family from 1628 to 1660.

Inserted three broadsides—slightly defective, in honour of Marinoni: the first dated 1637 from Bergamo, in Latin: the other two from Gandino, one of which is in Italian.

The Diploma is signed by Paulus Gualdus [1548–1621], Archipresbyter Patavinus.

Purchased 1935. (68512)

Montelupo. 1636-1674.

Unbound.

Illustrated by rough pen-drawings of furnaces, etc.

On the first page, dated 1636, the writer states that this MS. is a copy of an older work—about 170 or 180 years old—which was given to him at Montelupo by a 'foreigner'. This work appears to end at p. 40, after which there are the additional entries by the first scribe, and others.

An entry on p. 73 is dated 1674.

474. MARRA (ELIGIUS DE). *Physicae tractatus, seu Physicae thomus primus. In quo tractatur de toto illo quod bene discurrere volenti faciendum est. 3 bl. ll. + 8 ll. + 239 ff. + 8 bl. ll. 4to.  $19 \times 13$  cm. Naples. 1623.

Original limp vellum binding. Partly water-stained.

On the title is a pen-drawing of the device of the Society of Jesus, and on the verso the arms of Marino Caracciolo, Principe d'Avellino; on fol. 203 the Jesuit device is repeated, and on the verso is a circular pen-drawn seal; on fol. 204 a crude symbolical device for Festus.

Ff. 208-end contain religious verses in Latin by Festus, the last of which is unfinished.

The main work is part of a course of lectures 'In octo libros Physicorum Aristotelis' delivered at Naples University.

Purchased at Sotheby's 20/7/1931, Lot 12 (part). (57464)

Original calf binding damaged: each cover with 5 circular stamps lettered 'Pierre Martinet'. Last leaf torn, and repaired.

On fol. 62<sup>v</sup>, rough pen-drawing of a trepanning instrument; on fol. 100<sup>v</sup> of a 'faucheur'; and on fol. 126 of a horse.

P. Martinet's name appears on fol. 43, and on fol. 80 'Fin du livre des playes en particulier. 1585 Novembre le dernier jour P. Martinet'. There is also an unsigned note by him 'Faict le 28 novembre 1585' on fol. 74<sup>v</sup>.

'F. Martinet 1607' appears on the verso of fol. 1 at the end of a 'Declaration des lettres de la seconde figure des os'. These drawings are now wanting.

Below this signature is 'Ex libris Joannis Havet 6<sup>me</sup> 7bre 1680'.

On fol. 74 is a note by F. Martinet mentioning his marriage in 1607, and below the announcement of the birth of François Bataille (his daughter?) on July 24, 1616.

Fol. 26 'Ce présent livre appartient [sic] à Helie Laviarde, Chirurgien'.

92<sup>v</sup> 'Nicolas Villert a sorti de chez Monsieur de Laviarde la quinzième du mois d'aoust 1669'.

1684'.

159<sup>v</sup> 'Ce présent livre est à moy ce 15<sup>e</sup> join 1684. Baudin'.

Inside the upper cover are three seals in red wax lettered 'E.M.' and on the verso of the last leaf 5 similar seals. These are at the end are affixed on a document pasted on the back of the last leaf of the original MS., which is torn. The document is a declaration that the widow of François Corbeau 'a fait faire au Bureau de l'Administration un dépôt du Certificat de Résidence'. It is signed and dated at Crest 29 frimaire 3<sup>e</sup> année (19 Dec. 1794): with the official stamp of the 'District de Crest'.

Pasted inside the lower cover is a form of legal receipt signed J. Rogeaulx dated 15 [?]. In the margin is written 'L'an de grace mil six cent sept' apparently written by the younger Martinet. The deed itself is damaged in the outer margin, and the rest of the date is missing.

The water-mark, a flower with five petals on a stem, seems to be a variant of Briquet's No. 6443, which he assigns to Rome 1498 or Rome and Naples 1502.

This MS. almost certainly formed part of an original larger volume, which contained the two 'Jacopo' MSS. Nos. 377, 378, of which the second has a title 'Thesaurus pauperum'. In this MS., as noted above, this title seems to have been added in the late 16th, or early 17th cent. on fol. 1; but, though it contains surgical remedies as in MS. No. 378, it is entirely different. It also in no way resembles the work with that title by Petrus Hispanus, of which there are several 15th cent. printed editions.

Of the names mentioned in the text on fol. 23 only Jacobo da Forli can be positively identified as Jacobus Foroliviensis (de la Torre), who died in 1414.

493. Pseudo-MESUE (JOANNES) [ -1015]. Experta extracta ex arte cerugia bona et utilia. 32 ll. folio. 31 × 20½ cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Original stamped red vellum binding over wooden boards, damaged: both metal clasps wanting. A piece is torn out of the lower margin on fol. 21, with loss of a few letters of text: some margins frayed.

Written in a rounded Italian gothic in double column of 32 lines to a column.

Capitals, headings and paragraph marks in red.

Below in the same column is a receipt 'ad morbum galicum' headed 'Ego Bartholomeus Bernaregio / scripsi die Sabati mensis zugneis 1524 pro nepoti mei . . .'

At the end of col. 2, the statement of authorship is repeated. There is another dated 15 June 1524 on fol. 32<sup>v</sup> col. 2.

Ff. 30<sup>v</sup>-32 contain receipts in the hand of the original scribe, as well as that of Bernaregio. On fol. 31<sup>v</sup> there is apparently the beginning of the draft of a speech—possibly by the writer of the MS. It is addressed to a Board of Physicians, and refers to the conferment of a Degree in Surgery.

In col. 1 of Fol. 32<sup>v</sup>, there seems to be a continuation of this Address, and the names of two sponsors [or examiners] are given: 'Dominus Magister Marchior de Verona' and 'Artium et medicinae doctor dominus magister Hector Pindemontius' also of Verona.

Pasted on the covers are two leaves from an early 15th cent. collection of anecdotes: that on the lower cover has almost entirely perished. It seems to be written in a Venetian dialect.

This MS. is provisionally assigned to the 'Pseudo-Mesue', mentioned in Gurlt's 'Geschichte der Chirurgie', Vol. 1, pp. 663-669, as the contents seem to correspond with those of the third book of his 'Cyrurgia', though as far as can be ascertained, the text is not the same. It has been compared to a similar work, the 'Practica' of Joannes Mesue Damascenus, (cf. Gurlt, op. cit., pp. 618-620), but appears to be entirely different, in spite of the fact that the sentence 'Solus deus sanat langores' is found at the beginning of both treatises.

This MS. must have once formed part of a larger volume, as the Index now begins at fol. 40 of the original foliation.

Purchased 1922. (42021)

METHODUS

494. METHODUS brevissima recitandi cassus [sic] in Colleggio [sic] Patavino. 58 ll. 8vo. 16 × 11½ cm. [Padua.] 1618.

Original vellum binding.

On the first leaf is an unfinished pen-drawn horoscopic diagram. On the last leaf verso is a note 'Adi 5 Agosto 1618 ho cominciato a reddimi da Maestro Anton Barbiero al Salo d'accordo in lire quindici al anno'.

Written by the same hand as that of MS. No. 53 (ARGUMENTA).

Purchased 1932. (78840)

495. METHODUS curandorum morborum incerti Authoris.

Original vellum binding.

Text within red rules, title in red and black.

Armorial book-plate of Christoph Wenzeslaus von Nostitz [1643-1712], and his signature on the title-page.

Purchased 1933. (66457)

496. METHODUS praescribendi remedia pro corpore humano. De compositione medicamentorum.

71 ff. + 15 ll. 16mo. 10½ × 8½ cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding. First leaf cut out, fol. 6 wanting.

Title in red and black, text within red rules.

Inside the upper cover and on the fly-leaf are prescriptions in French by a contemporary hand.

On the verso of the last leaf 'James Chapman / aught [owns] this book / the grace of god upon / him look' in a late 17th cent. hand.

Purchased 1928. (82445)

497. MEUNG (JEAN DE) [1250-1305]. Le dit de maistre Jehan de meym [sic] en la fin du Rosier. Le livre que s'appelle la fontaine des amoureux . . . par maistre Jehan de la fontaine.

60 ll. 8vo. 14 × 10½ cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

19th cent. half calf binding.

Lower margins of the first two leaves damaged, a few leaves stained: slightly cropped in rebinding.

Written in a neat French gothic script, 20-22 lines to a page. Some capitals in red, initials in yellow or red.

Illustrated with 8 pen-drawings, coloured in yellow, of alchemical apparatus.

Fol. 1 Alchemical receipts. (By a 15th cent. hand—not that of the text.)

2<sup>v</sup> Signature of 'Thirion', and the name in a monogram.

In the upper margin of fol. 3 and in the lower margin of the last leaf verso, is the name 'Rogerius' written in a contemporary hand. In the lower margin of the same two leaves 'Jean Traualt', in an early 16th cent. script. Against that on fol. 60<sup>v</sup> is a date 'Anno m.d. iii'.

The work beginning on fol. 52 by 'Gavvin de frane', appears to be the Epistle to the Emperor Henry [VII] by Gualterius or Galvanus della Flamma, which is mentioned by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, p. 132, note.

Inside the upper cover armorial Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888].

 Fol. 68 Κανόνια τοῦ μήκους καὶ τοῦ πλάτους τῶν ἐπισήμων πόλεων.
 Ff. 68<sup>v</sup>-86 Blank.

The main work in this MS. consists of the commentaries by Michael Chrysococces, notary of the Great Church at Trebizond, on the astronomical tables of Immanuel ben Jacob Bonfils of Tarascon [fl. 1360]. These tables were known as the 'Shesh kenafayim' or 'Six wings'—an allusion to the six wings of the Seraphim in Isaiah 6.2.

Armorial book-plate (30 × 20½ cm.) 'Ex Bibliotheca . . . Ferdinandi Hoffman liberi baronis in Grunpübel et Strecau, domini in Grevenstein et Ianowitz . . .'. Engraved by Lucas Kilian [1579-1637] after Matthaeus Gondlach [—1637]. From the Dietrichstein Library.

Purchased at Lucerne 25/6/1934, Lot 352. (66711)

MICHAELIS (JOHANN) [1607-1667]. See HARTMANN (G. E.). Additions to 'Praxis chymiatrica'. (331)

22 ll. (last bl.). folio. 30½ × 20½ cm. Moulins. 1623.

Modern boards.

Piece cut out from lower margin of first leaf.

Possibly a contemporary copy extracted from the printed account of the trial. This was entitled 'Discours admirable d'un Magicien de la ville de Moulins qui avoit un Démon dans une phiole: condamné d'estre bruslé tout vif par Arrest de la Cour de Parlement'. Paris: A. Vitray. 1623. This tract was 'Réimprimé avec des notes sur la Sorcellerie en Bourbonnais' by A. Vayssières in 1894. [Cf. Yve-Plessis (R.) 'Bibliographie française . . . de la Sorcellerie'. 1900. (3) [Anon.] Collection of 12 poems in Italian [c. 1575]. (4) Fragment of a Herbal in Italian [Early 16th cent.]. 4 vols. in 1. 4to. 20 × 14½ cm. [Early 16th cent.-1644.]

18th cent. vellum binding.

The first item is on paper of slightly smaller format (19 × 14 cm.). The foliation is continuous.

MISCELLANEA IV

The Herbal (ff. 61-98) is illustrated with 75 crude water-colour drawings of medicinal plants in the style of the earliest printed herbals; in many cases the artist has added human or animal details to the pictures. On fol. 75 is a depiction of a female mandrake.

- (1) BERGAMO Extracts from the 'Liber Privilegiorum': 'Li sopra citati Capitoli sono stampati nel Libretto intitolato 'Ordini circa il Governo del Sacro Monte dell'Abbondanza' nell' Anno 1644'. (ff. 4-9.)
- (2) [Printed] BERGAMO. Ordini circa il governo del Sacro Monte dell' Abbonanza. Bergamo: M. A. Rossi. 1635. (ff. 10-23.)
- (3) [Anon.] Collection of 12 Italian poems. The first is entitled 'Capitolo in dishonor della creanza di Giacomo Maria Susio Mirando[lano]', and is followed by Pasquinades in the form of Dialogues between Pasquino and Marforio. There are also the 'Lamenti del Duca di Milano', and a longer work beginning 'Vergine bella nata in mezzo l'acque / Del gran padre Adria figliola et sposa'. This is followed by a second copy of the same by different contemporary hands, and containing a greater number of lines. [c. 1575] (ff. 24-60, of which ff. 46<sup>v</sup>-55 are blank).
- (4) HERBAL in Italian, apparently incomplete at each end. (ff. 61-98.)

Pasted inside the upper cover is a slip headed 'Miscellanea' with a short list of contents in Italian, by an anonymous 18th cent. owner and a shelf mark.

Pasted below this is the armorial Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888].

Purchased 1904. (14419)

501. MISCELLANEA IV. Volume of tracts from a Carthusian Library, containing theological works, sermons, etc.: including three short pieces on abstinence from meat, one by Arnoldus de Villanova. In Latin.

381 [401] ff. (last bl.). 4to. 20½ x 15 cm. Erfurt. [c. 1430.]

Original half-vellum binding over wooden boards: clasp wanting.

Ff. 178, 179, 336-357, 388, 389, 399, 400 and a leaf at the end are missing: fol. 155 is damaged, with a 15th cent. repair using vellum slips. Ff. 280-299 have been dropped in the foliation.

Written by several different hands, some sections in double column. Some capitals and paragraph marks in red.

- 398, col. 2 ... et sic / perseueramus ad uitam eternam Amen. / (red) Explicit libellus Aurelii / Augustini de Cognitione / vere uite quem fratribus here / mitis fecit in monte pysano / ipso exeunte fratre anno etatis / sue 31<sup>o</sup> ab anno domini 400.9<sup>o</sup>.

Pasted on the outside of the upper cover is an original vellum label—about a third of which has been torn away—containing a list of the contents of the volume.

Inscribed on the inside of the upper cover by a contemporary hand: 'Hic libellus est fratrum Cartusiensium prope Erfordiam'. Roughly written on the last leaf verso by a different hand 'Ad Carthusienses prope Erfordiam'.

The tract by Arnoldus de Villanova is printed in the 1520 edition of his 'Opera', ff. 317<sup>v</sup>–318<sup>v</sup>.

502. MISCELLANEA V. Collection of tracts in Latin and Italian by various hands. 1 l. + 264 ff. 4to. 21½ × 15 cm. 1459–[Middle 17th cent.]

18th cent. vellum binding, with flower-pattern end-papers.

Some margins frayed. The beginning and end of the Collection of veterinary receipts (No. 13) are wanting, and the leaves are bound in wrong order.

The first 5 items, which apparently form one original tract, are on paper of smaller format (21½ × 14½ cm.).

This section is written in a neat humanistic hand, 30 lines to a page: headings in red.

MISCELLANEA VI

14. Miscellaneous medical, household and technical receipts—

Ff. 214-228 in Latin or Italian by various hands of the first half of the 17th cent.: some written on single sheets.

Fol. 223 contains a note on a coin of Otho, apparently addressed to M. Rainssant [ -1689] Directeur des Médailles à Versailles.

Ff. 226, 227 contain a receipt in Italian, but written in Greek characters, for 'Ποματα μιραβιλε δι λυισον δ'αρχειν'.

15. [Anon.] Regole di aritmetica per rispondere a quesiti

Ff. 229-263 A treatise on fortune-telling by letters and numbers, with tables.

No. 3, here definitely assigned to an unidentified 'Magister Girardus', is apparently the same text as that of the work entered in G.K.W. 3207-3210 as by Balduinus Sabaudiensis.

On fol. 264<sup>v</sup> is an inscription: 'Antonius Nicolaus Morelli debeat decem Florenas'. Purchased 1909. (21695)

503. MISCELLANEA VI. Collection of short tracts, mainly on theology, Canon Law, etc.: but including a 'Compendium de regimine sanitatis' by Conrad von Eistedt, and a plague tract by Andreas Reichlin of Ueberlingen; also four extracts on scientific subjects from the 'De natura rerum' of Thomas de Cantimpré. All in Latin, except the plague-tract, and an epitome of the Psalms, which are in German. Written by several hands.

355 ll. 4to. 21½ × 14 cm. [c. 1475.]

Original sheep-skin binding over wooden boards, with leather and brass clasp.

Leaves are wanting after ff. 1, 18, 128, 141, 229, 267, 354: the greater part of fol. 141 has been cut out.

Margins slightly cropped in binding. The last leaf pasted down on to the lower cover.

Written by several 15th cent. German hands, a few initials, headings, paragraph marks and underlinings in red.

A foliation in pencil has now been added.

The attribution of No. 14 to Conradus de Eistedt is based on Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 688. In this work a leaf after fol. 141 has been cut out as previously noted, and the text on the verso of this leaf has been obliterated in ink, possibly because it dealt with sexual topics. There are similar obliterations on fol. 150<sup>v</sup>; under these entries is a note 'Hec supra notata recepi et rapui ex quodam notabili libro in constancia / videlicet ex libro magistri Johannis pollin qui erat tempore consilii prolocutor / totius consilii constanciae'. The Council of Constance lasted from 1414 to 1418.

MISCELLANEA VII

No. 15 A variant version of this plague tract has been printed in Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Vol. 16, pp. 31-33, with a note on the Author, a 'Doctor artium et medicinae', who practised at Constance until 1455 when he moved to Überlingen where he died in 1477.

Nos. 16-19 By the contents and style these are almost certainly extracts or abbreviated versions of Books 16-19 of Thomas de Cantimpré's 'De natura rerum'. (Cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. II, Chap. Liii.)

On fol. 265 is a note 'Nouerint uniuersi et singuli quod magistro pangraccio sartoris / plebano in tauerstat discretus et honestus vir Jacobus / guderman ciuis erffordiae sua peccata legitime confessus est'.

Pasted down on the inside of the upper cover is a contemporary and abbreviated table of contents.

In the lower margin of fol. 1 in red ink, 'Cartusiae Ecclesiae in Buxheim', by a 16th cent. hand.

Purchased 1924. (43255)

504. MISCELLANEA VII. Collection of short theological tracts, sermons, lives of Saints, Exempla and copies of legal ecclesiastical documents and letters, etc.: with five short medical works, and notes on the Calendar, etc.: in Latin. Written by several hands at a German Monastery.

188 ll. 4to. 20½ × 15 cm. [Late 14th cent.]

Original monastic binding in vellum over wooden boards: clasp wanting.

Some margins frayed, text faded and rubbed on a few leaves. A foliation in pencil has been added, and leaves are probably wanting after ff. 17, 23, 149, 153, 188. According to the List of Contents on the verso of the last leaf, some tracts are missing from the beginning of the volume.

Written by a number of different semi-current contemporary hands: some capitals, headings and underlinings in red.

 Fol. 188<sup>v</sup> Table of contents (incomplete).

Nos. 5 and 16 are recorded in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits' in col. 324 and 561 respectively.

The work 'De complexionibus' (No. 18), was printed at Leipzig in 1495 and assigned to Johannes de Nova Domo (Johann von Neuhaus) [Klebs: 560], but he was probably only the editor. [Cf. 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Vol. XX, pp. 272-299, 372-389.]

For Johannes de Saxonia and his Almanach (No. 15), cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, Ch. 17.

MISCELLANEA VIII

The MS. at one time belonged to Johannes Gera, who has written several inscriptions in different parts of the volume:

- Fol. 17 'Istum librum habuit Johannes gera'.
 104 'Gera Johannes est probus homo fidelis prudens et absque ulla iniquitate'.
 137<sup>v</sup> 'Ego Johannes gera habui libellum istum / perieunium Anno domini millesimo quadringentesimo XXX<sup>o</sup> quinto / scriptum inuentione sancte crucis / A.M.E.N. / Tunc temporis sancti sub anno subscripto erant gu / uerre [sic] et lites ante hallis et magden / burgenses Et etiam in eodem tempore erant / tempora valde cara et ita quod per totum mundum / erat fames scriptum per me Iohannem Gera'.

On fol. 15<sup>v</sup> are three medical receipts in German by an early 15th cent. hand.

On the inside of the upper cover is a vellum fragment of monastic accounts dated 1342, in Latin.

An incomplete table of contents in German, by an early 19th cent. hand is inserted.

Purchased 1910. (26076)

505. MISCELLANEA VIII. Collection of tracts on astronomy: with others on urines, pulses, tithes, etc. In Latin: written by different hands.

166 ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. 1479-1487.

19th cent. boards. Leaves are wanting before fol. 25, between fol. 28 and fol. 29, 32 and 33, 38 and 39, 44 and 45, 52 and 53, 89 and 90, 129 and 130.

Written by several late 15th and 16th cent. German hands:

- Hand A (ff. 1-72) A rounded gothic, 36 lines to a page: initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.
 B (ff. 73-88) Early 16th cent. current hand, 24 lines to a page: headings in red.
 D (ff. 109<sup>v</sup>-100) Rounded gothic current hand, 38 lines to a page.
 E, F (ff. 114-154, 156-166). Perhaps by the same scribe, a rounded gothic semi-current script, the first 25, the second 30-34 lines to a page. Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

Illustrated with numerous astronomical diagrams and figures, pen-drawn, some tinted in water-colour. On fol. 73<sup>v</sup> is a circular diagram of a 'Wheel', with volvelle in red and black.

On fol. 74 a chess-board in black and white with 15 × 14 squares, apparently for use in conjunction with the 'Wheel'.

A modern foliation in pencil has been added.

On fol. 3<sup>v</sup>, col. 2, after the 'Explicit' of the General Index, is a note by a later scribe concerning the works of Michael Scotus, dated 1387.

On fol. 4 an entry: 'Abusiones huius seculi immundi sunt xii'. These begin with 'Sapiencia sine operibus' and end 'Popullus sine lege'.

On the verso of the same leaf are 11 lines of quotations from Ptolemy, St. Augustine, Averrhoes and Aristotle, one from the Book of Genesis, and a sentence in Italian beginning 'Per quatro tempi passa ogni creato'.

An owner's name has been erased above these inscriptions. The name of another owner has been struck through on the verso of the vellum fly-leaf.

Johannes de Rupescissa was imprisoned at Avignon in 1356, in which year he wrote his 'Vade mecum' (Cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 349-355).

Scot's 'Liber particularis' has not been printed, but the work on Physiognomy was printed at Venice in 1477.

Both these are parts of an enormous work on Astrology and Astronomy of which the first section was called 'Liber introductorius'. [Cf. Thorndike, op. cit., Vol. II, Ch. LI.)

The 'Theorica planetarum' is usually attributed to Gerardus Cremonensis, but Sarton in his 'Introduction to the History of Science', assigns it to Gerardus de Sabbioneta. It was first printed at Ferrara in 1472 together with the first edition of Sacrobosco's 'Sphaera'.

Purchased 1933. (66362)

508. MISCELLANEA XIII. Computus, Calendar, Zodiacal Tables, etc.: in German. Computus chiromentalis with commentary, astrological notes on blood-letting with figure: interpretation of dreams, planetary tables, etc.: in Latin. Lumen animae minus [by Matthias Farinator?].

254 ff. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. 1451.

Original red sheepskin binding over wooden boards, with five brass bosses on each cover, and two metal and leather clasps, one wanting.

There are vellum fly-leaves pasted down inside the upper and lower covers from a 14th cent. Psalter.

Some leaves are wanting at the beginning, perhaps 9. A leaf has been cut out after ff. 33, 41, 63.

Written by several contemporary hands.

On fol. 64 is a large initial P in red which has been badly rubbed. Other ornamental capitals, paragraph marks, headings and underlinings in red.

Ff. 1, 5, 6, 15<sup>v</sup>, 51<sup>v</sup>, 59<sup>v</sup> contain pen-drawn astronomical figures in red and black. On fol. 57<sup>v</sup> is a drawing of the 'Blood-letting Man' also in red and black.

Ff. 9, 11, 16-20 contain Tables in red and black. On fol. 60<sup>v</sup> is a figure made up of circles, which may be a decoration.

The 'Lumen animae' has its own foliation 1-117 in red: a new foliation 1-254 has been added in pencil, beginning at the first leaf of text in the MS.

[c. 1510], [c. 1575], 1579.

18th cent. quarter-vellum binding. The beginning of the 'Computus', and the end of the work by Scotus are wanting: leaves are also wanting after ff. 10, 25, 26, and some leaves seem to be bound in wrong order. There is an early foliation from 304 to 335. This MS. measures 31½ × 21½ cm. It is written in an upright semi-gothic hand, in double column, 42-44 lines to a page, paragraph marks and headings in red.

The 'Computus' contains circular and other figures and diagrams and tables in red, blue, black and yellow.

The work by Scotus is illustrated with neat pen-drawings in black and red of zodiacal signs, astrological figures and animals illustrating constellations, etc.

A new foliation in pencil has been added.

The 'Geometrica' has a title in red, and is illustrated with pen-drawings, a few partly coloured, of apparatus, etc. This MS. measures 30 × 20 cm. The last MS. measures 28½ × 22 cm.

The following sections of this MS. are to be identified with entries in Thorndike's Catalogue of Incipits: No 1 (part), Col. 647; No. 2, Col. 383; No. 3, Col. 673; No. 7, Col. 572; No. 19, Col. 266.

No. 7 The work by Nicholas of Lynn [fl. 1386] is mentioned by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, p. 524.

17 This is probably an extract from the 'Centiloquium' ascribed to Hermes. (Cf. Thorndike, op. cit., Vol. II, pp. 113, 221.)

On fol. 21 is the signature of 'Will[el]mus Mauncell' in a late 15th cent. hand; and on fol. 28<sup>v</sup>, a horoscopic figure inscribed 'Figura celi 1494 2 maii . . . in natiuitate Will[el]mi Dampport'.

No record has been traced of the first personage, but in Foster's 'Alumni Oxonienses', Vol. I, p. 376, there is an entry for a William Davenport (Dampport or Damforde), who was B.A. in 1518, and Vicar of Lydden (Kent) in 1544.

Armorial book-plate of Thomas William Bateman of Middleton Hall, and small crest of Lord Amherst. It is MS. 42 in Ricci's 'Handlist' 1906, p. 231.

Sold Sotheby's (Bateman Sale) 31/7/1896, Lot 552.

Purchased Sotheby's (Amherst Sale) 24/3/09, Lot 644. (21646)

Written in a very neat script, by the same scribe throughout.

Illustrated with 11 symbolic water-colour drawings, and 8 pen-drawings of circular figures for the metals: and by 5 water-colour drawings of alchemical apparatus—one pasted in (fol. 3<sup>v</sup>). There are also rough pencil drawings on fol. 66<sup>v</sup> (symbolic), on fol. 78 (apparatus). Besides these there are a few small drawings of apparatus in the margins.

10. BENASSAI (Tullio)—

Ff. 75-77 Alchemical receipts, followed by tables of chemical substances and their conventional signs.

On the verso of the last leaf is a two-line inscription: 'Il tedesco di Roma fa ☉ potabile con aqua di Vetrolo retificato piu uolte. / La franze fa ☉ con argento fondendolo, con orpimento e chioui da caualli'.

No. 3 has not been identified, but it is not an Italian version of Georg Aurbach's 'Hortus Divitiarum'. Both as to illustrations and text it resembles the MS. (Vat. Reg. lat. 1278) described by Carbonelli in his 'Sulle fonti storiche della Chimica, etc.', Rome 1925, pp. 71-83, where the enigmatic 'Frater Elias' is suggested as the Author.

516. MISCELLANEA Alchemica X. Collection of alchemical treatises, notes and extracts: in Latin and French.

1 l. + 42 ff. + 93 ff. + 8 ll. 8vo. 14½ × 10½ cm. 1584-1589.

18th cent. paper covers. The beginning is wanting, and the first leaf mutilated: many margins are damaged, and in ff. 68-70 of the second part the upper margin has been cut away (to conceal a name or title?): the lower part of fol. 93<sup>v</sup> has been blacked out in ink. The MS. shows signs of much use.

Headings and titles in red. These, and the script on the first leaf are in italic, the rest in small and neat French 'caractères de civilité'.

MISCELLANEA ALCHEMICA XIII

- 27 This version of the 'Summa' corresponds to the text printed in Mangetus 'Bibliotheca chemica curiosa', Vol. I, p. 526, beginning at Book I, Chap. 12.

Ff. 41<sup>v</sup>-42<sup>v</sup> contain notes of events in the Netherlands, mostly concerning disasters, floods, earthquakes, etc., dated from 1320 to 1464, by two late 15th cent. hands.

On fol. 68<sup>v</sup> is an entry by another hand dated 1481. This is followed for the rest of the page and continued on fol. 69, by notes of events from 1566 to 1584—the latest entry being that of the death of the Prince of Orange—William the Silent—who was shot in 1584 at Delft.

The writer of these later entries has also written in the margin of fol. 108<sup>v</sup>, at the side of a magical receipt for opening locks: 'Hae conjurationes que sequuntur non sunt fide dignae': he has made a similar remark on fol. 122<sup>v</sup> in reference to the magical properties of herbs.

On the recto of the first leaf: 'Sum Joannes alphensis et amicorum'; below, by another late 15th cent. hand: 'Jan meesten ende sinen'.

Phillipps MS. 2946, with his library stamp on the first fly-leaf.

Purchased at Sotheby's 24/4/1911, Lot 7. (26894)

520. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XV. Collection of short alchemical works, including the 'De consideratione quintae essentiae' by Johannes de Rupescissa. Followed by a number of alchemical and medical receipts in Latin and Italian. Written by Matteo della Viola, barbiero.

66 ll. (last bl.). folio. 31 × 21½ cm. [Ferrara.] 1453.

Modern boards.

Written in a semi-current humanistic hand 37-40 lines to a page. Initial P on the first leaf in red.

The receipts throughout the volume—except for those on the last leaf of text—have been numbered from 1 to 206.

521. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XVIII. Collection of alchemical receipts, etc.: with a version of the 'Tractatus in arte majori' by Arnoldus de Villanova, and an unidentified alchemical work. In Italian and Latin.

34 ll. + 13 ff. + 13 ll. 4to. 22½ × 16½ cm. [c. 1565.]

Modern vellum binding.

Illustrated by a few very rough pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

- Ll. 1-12 Alchemical receipts in Italian and Latin.
 L. 13 Unidentified work in Italian, beginning: 'Incomincia el secondo libro d'uno trattato d'una introductione d'uno trattato d'Alchimia extratto da uno libro antichissimo e molto necesario a la virtu et verita a lavorare cosi per Pietra filosofica come per altri partica [sic].  13 ll. Alchemical receipts, etc. in Italian and Latin.

It is possible that the unidentified work—which is in six parts—may be that referred to by Thorndike in 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, p. 72 as being a 'Practica' based on the 'Rosarius' of Arnoldus de Villanova.

The identified work by this Author is entered in Singer's Catalogue of Alchemical MSS. No. 228, though there seem to be considerable variations.

On the verso of the last two leaves are headings, dated 1565, to memoranda relating to crops for that year, and to payments: a later note on the verso of the last leaf is dated 1580.

Purchased 1932. (65204)

522. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XIX. Collection of alchemical and pharmacy receipts, etc.: in two parts. The first containing receipts for cordials and 'waters': the second alchemical and chemical receipts and extracts. Written mainly in German, but with some sections in Latin.

31 ff. + 66 ff. + 6 ll. (last 2 bl.). + 16 ll. 4to. 22 × 16 cm.
 [Early 16th cent.]

Unbound. Original [?] vellum cover from a deed containing the marriage contract between Hans Vischer and Margaretha von Marckt, dated Ingolstadt 1430.

Ff. 27-29 are missing in the first part, and the lower half of fol. 30 cut away: in the second part ff. 21, 21 and 24 are wanting.

The 16 ll. at the end contain two Indexes and are of different format, measuring  $15 \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  cm. and  $22 \times 8$  cm.: they are apparently by the same hand as that of the main text.

- Part I (31 ff.) 'Appotekh'. In German throughout, containing receipts for 'waters', cordials, etc. On fol. 3<sup>v</sup> 'Ein aqua vite das do braucht hat hertzog Albrecht Byschoff zu Strassburg Anno domini iii Jar' [1503] (he died in 1506).
- Ff. 17-18 'Appotekherische Namen der Krewtter'.
- Part II (66 ff.) 'Hernach volgt von "Friclein" 9 Pletter': alchemical receipts, etc. (ff. 1-10).
- Ff. 10<sup>v</sup>-12 Similar receipts headed 'Kachelofen'.
- 13-19 'Hernach von "Friclein" 6 Pletter'.
- 25-33 'Hernach von "Friclein" 9 Pletter'. This contains a German version of the Pseudo-Aristotelian 'Secreta' on Alchemy. The second line states: 'Hye wirt / erlost der spruch Aristotelis der an dem in Archano Aristoteles spricht'.
- 34-36 Alchemical receipts in Latin headed 'Kachelofen'.
- 34-47 'In nomine Domini Amen. Incipit Rosarius minor': a German version of the alchemical work usually ascribed to Hortulanus.
- Fol. 48 'Practica Iorgii Ungari data Heinricho Yssenach'. This and the following two leaves are headed 'Kachelofen'.
- Ff. 51-54 Alchemical receipts in German and Latin.
- 55-61 Alchemical receipts in Latin headed 'Di stuk hernach folgend Kommen von herrn Hanns Aychelsburg, 6 Platter. Scientia ad extrahendum quintam essentiam a ferro et cupro etc. ut parebit'.
- 62-60 Alchemical receipts in German, the first leaf headed 'Kachelofen 1 Platter'.

The reading of the name, given above as 'Friclein', is doubtful.

On the first leaf of Part II is an inscription 'Est Jacobi Oethei medici', and there are entries by him on ff. 20<sup>v</sup>, 23, 48<sup>v</sup>, 60<sup>v</sup> and 61, including extracts from alchemical writings by Paracelsus. Jacob Oethaeus is mentioned by Jöcher in his 'Allgemeines Gelehrten-Lexicon', and by Haller 'Bibliotheca Medicinae practicae', as the Author of a work 'Vom wahren Gebrauch der Arzney', published at Dillingen in 1574: he also according to Jöcher had some connection with Ingolstadt. A Conrad Kachelofen is recorded as a printer in Leipzig from 1485—he died in 1528. There is also a Johann Kachelofen who was a printer at Ingolstadt 1492-1499.

Iorgius Ungarus (fol. 48) is perhaps George of Croatia mentioned by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science'. Vol. IV, p. 348.

Inside the upper cover is a marginal pen-drawing of the herb 'Lunaria', a plant frequently associated with Alchemy. Inscribed outside the upper cover 'Ex haereditate Neussiana' (i.e. Georg Heinrich Neuss, German theologian [1654-1716]).

Purchased 1931. (64441<sup>A</sup>)

523. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XX. Collection of three alchemical works, with some alchemical receipts: the first work in French, the remainder in Latin. 100 ll. 4to.  $20 \times 14$  cm. Aix. 1430.

Modern rebinding, in a vellum leaf from an early 14th cent. unidentified work on philosophy.

Some leaves are wanting between ff. 17 and 18 (in the new numeration), and according to a note on the first leaf, Johannes de Rupescissa's 'Liber lucis', 'Receptae ad varia', 'Receptorium', 'Proprietates nonnullarum aquarum et herbarum' are wanting at the end: first leaf slightly damaged, corners and margins frayed, leaves somewhat stained throughout.

The first work is written in a small current French hand, 42 lines to a page: the remainder in a different more rounded script, 37 lines to a page.

MISCELLANEA ALCHEMICA XXIV

Headings, paragraph marks and some capitals in red.

The foliation is irregular, and the leaves have been re-numbered.

The work of Jean Saulnier [or Saunier] was printed with 'Les oeuvres du R. P. Gabriel de Castaigne' in 1615 at Paris, with a second (revised) edition in 1661. It is to be noted that our MS. gives 7 May 1430 as the date, whereas in the printed version it is stated to be 7 May 1432.

The version in this MS. probably comes from the South of France as shown by the use of words such as 'majour', 'obre', 'ensenhe', etc.

It is almost certain that this MS., MS. 707 [RUPESCISSA], and MS. 418 [LIBER de Aquis] originally formed part of one large volume, as both these titles are mentioned in a Table of Contents on fol. 1 of the present MS.

Purchased 1933. (66037)

524. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXIV. Collection of alchemical tracts mainly in German, the last two in Latin.

4 bl. ll. + 138 ll. (last 3 bl.). 4to. 19 × 16 cm. 1543.

Original vellum gilt binding, ties wanting.

Sides stamped with unidentified coats of arms.

Illustrated by numerous water-colour drawings of alchemical apparatus, symbolical representations of processes within flask-shaped figures, etc.

On fol. 4 a king and queen, half-length between a coat of arms, on fol. 2 verso, two monks at work in a laboratory. On the first leaf the same coat of arms emblazoned, a double-headed eagle sable on azure.

The Preface on fol. 1 is in red ink.

The last three items in the following list of contents are by different, and later 16th cent. hands.

Fol. 1 Preface beginning 'Alle Kunst kompt von got'. At the end is the date 15xliii (1543).

No. 11 has not been identified, but is possible that the place-name may be written in error for 'Trevirensis': in that case, the 'bishop' might well be Cuno von Falkenstein, Archbishop of Treves [1320-1389], who was an enthusiastic patron of Alchemy. [Cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV, p. 347.]

No. 10 is perhaps entered in Mrs. Singer's Catalogue of Alchemical MSS. as No. 610; No. 18 as No. 193 vii (Cf. also Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science, Vol. IV, pp. 15-17); and No. 26 as No. 112 under 'Haly Philosophus Filius Salith Filius Incauso'. The last item is incorrectly titled in the MS. as 'De secretis secretorum' though such a work was written by Khālid, and is entered in Mrs. Singer's Catalogue No. 111 as 'Liber secretorum alkymye'.

This MS. appears to be a compilation of various alchemical writings by a number of contributors, ranging mainly from the first quarter of the 16th cent. to about 1590, as shown by the dated entry (No. 9) where the name has been given the doubtful reading as 'Cevidosso'.

Some of the paper has the cross-bow watermark, entered in Briquet's List No. 748 as Rome 1505.

A late 19th cent. owner has written on the first fly-leaf 'Contrary to my directions, a barbarous binder gilded the upper edges of this MS., spoiling with his ruthless hand, in a moment, that which centuries in their slow march had respected and rendered honourable'.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L.H.59' against which he has written in pencil 'Numéro à changer'.

Purchased at Sotheby's (Hauser Sale), 18/4/1934, Lot 414. (66632)

- No. 2 This has been tentatively assigned to 'Uguicius' (No. 161 in Mrs. Singer's Catalogue) [Cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 63-65.]

- 15 In the printed text and in other MSS., quoted by Thorndike (op. cit., Vol. IV, p. 573), the name of the 'nigromanticus' is given as 'Hilardus', 'Ilardus', 'Elardus'. In this MS. the more correct place-name 'Hylerde' [Lerida] appears.

- 19 The author's name as given in this MS. appears to be a variant of 'Dom-belay' which according to Thorndike (op. cit., Vol. III, pp. 633-636) should be 'Bumbeles'.

It is to be noted that a tract with this Incipit is found in a MS. at Venice (St. Marco VI, 215) under the title of 'Rotatio elementorum' by Alanus. (Thorndike, op. cit., Vol. III, p. 140.)

- 22 The 'Donum dei' is ascribed to various 14th cent. authors, including Dastin, Lullius and others.

It is entered in Mrs. Singer's Catalogue No. 322 under the name of Johannes Andreae as 'Dicta, chiefly from Arnoldus de Villanova'.

Most of the tracts from No. 30 onwards are directly or indirectly connected with what Thorndike (op. cit., Vol. IV, Chap. 38) calls the 'Lullian alchemical collection', and some are certainly of middle 14th or even 15th cent. date.

The receipts, etc. on ff. 305, 306 of which two are dated 1497 (306<sup>v</sup>), may possibly have been written then, as both script and paper differ from those of the rest of the volume.

About three quarters of the volume appear to be written by the 'Vulcanus decretorum doctor' (fol. 186), a Benedictine monk of Wissbern. He seems to have been a practising alchemist, and to have travelled extensively in Germany and to have visited Cracow.

From the Dietrichstein Library.

Purchased at Lucerne (Dietrichstein Sale), 22/11/1933, Lot 619. (66310)

527. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXVIII. Collection of short alchemical works, etc.: in English. A fragment of a larger volume.

24 ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Unbound. Margins slightly frayed.

On the first and second leaves are coloured symbolical pen drawings, illustrating alchemical subjects.

528. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXXIII. Collection of short alchemical works and extracts: in French and Latin.

24 pp. + 145 ff. 4to. 22 × 17 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original rough calf binding. Five leaves have been cut out at the end: at the beginning one fly-leaf has been cut out, and another cut in half.

Illustrated with small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus on ff. 53<sup>v</sup>, 87, 105, 103<sup>v</sup> and two diagrams on fol. 131.

Contents:

- (17) [Anon.] Martyrisati liber . . . cujusdam philosophi ignoti de reprobatione philosophiae occultae in corporibus mineralibus . . . (ff. 138-145.)

The various tracts are written by different hands, some probably of the early 17th cent. A number of pages have been struck through.

Nos. 4 and 5 are attributed to 'Perier' ['Perrier'], and No. 10 to 'Dubois'. These are possibly the same person, as MS. No. 609 'De la pierre philosophale' is by one 'Perrier à St. Picard, Sieur Dubois'.

No. 6 The 'Joannes Nannius' mentioned here may be the 'Johannes de Nani [or Narni] [fl. c. 1350] who is stated to be the Author of a 'Lapis minor' in Frater Joannes Baptista's Collection, Vol. I (6) [MS. No. 383].

7 Perhaps from his 'De vinis'. [Cf. Thorndike 'Catalogue of Incipits': Col. 188.]

15 At the end of this work is written 'Experto crede Roberto'.

- 17 In the margin, and partly cropped in binding, is a note 'Transcript d'un Ancien MS. en velin tiré d[e la] Bibliothèque de Mo [?] En fevrier 164[?] sçavoir si c'est ce Martyrisatus cité'.

Purchased 1936. (69332)

529. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXXIV. Collection of short alchemical tracts and receipts in Italian: followed by an incomplete collection of medical, technical and alchemical receipts by a different hand.

63 ll. folio. 29 × 21½ cm. 1470.

Modern vellum binding. Many margins frayed and repaired, dampstained throughout.

Written by two different semi-current hands.

Illustrated by some small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus on ff. 4<sup>v</sup>, 16, 54: fol. 51, bust of a negro (?): 52, an urn: 52<sup>v</sup>, a candlestick (?): 55, human penis, and bust of a man with a bandaged head: 55<sup>v</sup>, a finger nail (in red): 58, a female head (in red): 62, another female head.

The second part, which is incomplete at the beginning and at the end, begins on fol. 39. It is probably of slightly later date than the first part, and the paper bears a crescent water-mark, recorded by Briquet No. 5222 as Venice 1476.

MISCELLANEA ALCHEMICA XXXVII

- 39-54 Receipts connected with metals, colours, artificial gems, crystals, etc.
 55-62 Medical receipts, incomplete.
 Fol. 63 The last 9 lines of an Index.
 No. 1 This seems a variant version of the 'Epistola', differing from those described in Thorndike's 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 657-658.
 The contents of the first part of this MS. seem to be related to the alchemical works by or attributed to Arnoldus de Villanova. On fol. 38<sup>v</sup> there is a receipt 'Ad congelationem mercurii' which begins 'Secretum magistri renaldi de villa noua de congelatione mercurii [in] perfectam lunam. R<sup>o</sup> mercurii sublimati lb. i . . .'
 Fol. 36 A receipt for making silver ends on line 12 'et probatum per me', to which has been added, apparently by the same hand, 'Joannes Jouines'. The following receipt 'Fixatio mercurii congelati sine corpore' also ends 'et probatum per me Jouinem'. No record of an alchemist of this name has been traced, but it seems possible he may have been the compiler of this MS.

530. MISCELLANEA Alchemica XXXVII. Collection of eight short alchemical works: in German.

75 [76] ll. 4to. 19 × 15½ cm. [c. 1625.]

Original paper covers repaired. Two leaves at the end mutilated: first two leaves wormed.

Fol. 75 Pen-drawing of a pentigram.

Contents:

- (1) [BASILIUS VALENTINUS.] Via veritatis. (ff. 1-15.)
- (2) LACINIUS (J.). Pretiosa margarita novella de thesauro ac pretiosissimo Philosophorum lapide. [Extract.] (ff. 16-18.)
- (3) POYSELIUS (Ulrich). Spiegel der Alchymey. (ff. 20-34.)
- (4) [LULLIUS (R.). Lilius Intelligentiae?] Dialogus philosophiae. (ff. 35-40.)
- (5) [RHazes. Epistola?] Exemplum artis philosophiae. (ff. 35-40.)
- (6) [RHazes.] De lapide philosophorum XII capitula. (ff. 45-58.)
- (7) MELCHIOR Episcopus Brixiensis. Ein philosophischs Werck unnd Gespräch von dem gelben unnd rotten Mann. (ff. 59-69.)
- (8) [Anon.] Von dem Rebis einem Stein. (ff. 69-70.)
- (9) Miscellaneous alchemical receipts. (ff. 70<sup>v</sup>-74.)

No. 4 This has also been ascribed to 'Uguictius' in M<sup>rs</sup> Singer's Catalogue, No. 161. Cf. also Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. III, pp. 63, 64.

5 Ascribed to Rhazes by M<sup>rs</sup> Singer, op. cit., No. 120. Cf. also Thorndike, op. cit., Vol. III, pp. 61, 660, and his 'Catalogue of Incipits: Col. 256.

With the exception of No. 2, all the above were first printed in 1598 at Rohrschach in Salomon Trismosin's 'Aureum vellus'.

The last 5 leaves are probably by a different and slightly later hand.

Armorial book-plate of Ignatius Dominicus, S.R.I. Comes de Chorinsky. [1729-1792.]

Purchased 1930. (73065<sup>A</sup>)

531. MISCELLANEA Medica I. Collection of sixteen medical and scientific works in eight sections. In Latin and Italian, by different hands.

290 ll. 4to. 22 × 16 cm. [Early 14th-Late 17th cent.]

The last section (Nos. 14-16) is on vellum. 18th cent. half calf binding.

The first leaf of No. 2 and of No. 7 is missing.

Written in a small rounded script, 28 lines to a page.

- No. 1 On the first leaf is an ornamental initial S, in blue and red with floreated border decoration in red and blue, and red and green: in the lower margin an emblazoned coat of arms [Aldobrandino di Lippo of Florence?].
Other initials, headings and paragraph marks in red. (59 ll.)
- 2 Written by three different hands, ff. 2-5, 6-10, 10<sup>v</sup>-end, the last somewhat resembling that of No. 1. Headings and a few paragraph marks in red. (42 ff., last 4 bl.)
- 3 Written in a rounded Italian gothic. 30-33 lines to a page. Initials and paragraph marks in red. (69 ll.)
- 4 Written in a similar but smaller hand. (10 ll.)
- 5 Written in a sloped current late 17th cent. hand. (12 ll., last bl.)
- 6 Written in a semi-current humanistic hand, 22 lines to a page. Some initials and headings in red. (14 ll., last 3 bl.)
- 7 Written in a rounded Italian gothic hand 29-32 lines to a page. (42 [43] ff., last 2 bl.)
- 8 The first 30 ff. are in a rounded gothic in double column of 39-42 lines to a page: some initials and paragraph marks in red. The remainder in several similar, but probably later hands. (30 ff. + 12 ll.)
- Nos. 11 and 12 are illustrated with rough pen-drawings of apparatus, diagrams, etc.
- No. 14 has a circular pen-drawn zodiacal figure in black and red on fol. 3.
- 16 has a geomantic figure in red on fol. 36, and zodiacal-geomantic tables in red and black on fol. 37<sup>v</sup> and fol. 38.

optatum suum uel e contra aut dominium / . . . / . . . / . . .
nec ne aut honor uel dignitas augmentabitur vel diminuetur /

A note by a different hand on fol. 30<sup>v</sup>, col. 2 written below the 'Explicit' of the work by Gerardus Cremonensis, seems to have been written in 1312 'Anni arabum collecti per annos christi sunt 690'.

The work by Grossetête was apparently first written in 1249: it is mainly astrological.

The last leaf of No. 2 is inscribed 'De P. Marianis Victor' in a 17th cent. hand.

Inside the upper cover is pasted a small slip, with a list of contents and a shelf-mark, written by an Italian 18th cent. hand.

Armorial Ex-libris of Walter Sneyd [1809-1888].

Purchased 1905. (11898)

532. MISCELLANEA Medica II. Collection of medical works, etc. in Italian and Latin. 32 ff. + 80 ff. 4to. 22 × 15 cm. [c. 1465.]

18th cent. vellum binding.

The leaves at the beginning are wormed, one hole extending to fol. 28, with slight loss of text.

Written in a neat rounded hand by the same scribe throughout, 24-27 lines to a page. Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

This item is written in a very small script, different from that of the rest of the volume.

There are a few additions by an early 17th cent. hand.

The date 1453 appears on fol. 55 of the second foliation in a reference to a plague at Brescia: on fol. 60 following, the date 1466 is given in a problem for finding the Golden Number.

Inserted is a slip, with a list of contents and shelf-marks by an Italian 18th cent. hand.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA V

The writer of this MS. as far as fol. 57 is apparently Valentinus de Vescontis (No. 2) who speaks in the first person in 'Remedia contra pestem' on fol. 38: 'Quod agere curavi ego Valentinus de vescontis physicus', and again 'Hec sunt remedia quibus ego Valentinus suprascriptus utor in hoc casu'.

The first work was written in 1427 at Bologna, and was printed as an anonymous work at Hagenau c. 1499 (cf. Wickersheimer 'Dictionnaire biographique' s.v. 'Thibaut Louet'). It was also published in Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', Vol. XVII, pp. 53-64: from Münchener Cod. Lat. 205.

No. 6 has been tentatively ascribed to Theodoricus Cerviensis, but the arrangement of the text has been altered, and possibly it is a compilation from several authors.

A fly-leaf contains a pencilled note of the contents of this MS. by the hand of Dr. Joseph Frank Payne [1840-1910].

From the Payne Collection. In Sotheby's Catalogue, Lot 375.

Purchased 1911. (29397)

535. MISCELLANEA Medica V. Collection of Salernitan medical works, including Nicolaus Praepositus 'Antidotarium' and 'Quid pro quo': Maurus 'De urinis' and 'Anatomia': Gerardus Bituricensis 'Glossae super Viatico Isaaci', etc. 139 ll. fol. 26 × 18 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum, stamped leather binding over wooden boards, damaged and wormed, clasp wanting. Ff. 5, 6, 11, 16, 18 damaged with loss of text: the lower part of fol. 123 cut away. Many leaves rubbed, and stained.

Written by several contemporary gothic hands, probably in Italy.

- Hand A (ff. 1-49) Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red: in double column of 39-43 lines to a column.
- Hand B (ff. 52-59) Ornamental initial on fol. 52 in blue and red, with marginal decoration. Other marginal decorations in blue and red, paragraph marks in alternate blue and red: headings in red. Written in double column 58-74 lines to a column.
- Hand C, D (ff. 61-120) Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red. Written in double column 53 lines to a column.
- Hand E Initials, headings and paragraph marks in red. Written in double column 45 lines to a column. This section is in slightly shorter format, 24½ × 15½ cm.

In the lower margin of fol. 43 are three small pen-drawings of retorts.

- Fol. 1 'Ad faciem decorandam', and other medical receipts, by a semi-current early 15th cent. hand. In the lower margin, the word square 'SATOR, AREPO, etc.'
- Ff. 1<sup>v</sup>-2<sup>v</sup> 'Hec sunt indulgentie sanctorum urbis Rome concesse per multos sanctos pontifices'. By a similar hand.

A vellum fly-leaf pasted down on the lower cover, is a leaf from an unidentified 14th cent. work on philosophy.

- No. 6 The end of this work is wanting. There is a complete transcript from the Codex Fritz Paneth, published by Sudhoff in 'Archiv für Geschichte der Mathematik, der Naturwissenschaften und der Technik', Vol. 12, 1930, pp. 27-32.
- 8 Here assigned to Gerardus Bituricensis, following Pansier's 'Catalogue des MSS. médicaux des Bibliothèques de France' in 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin', II, 20.
- 9 This is a version of the 'Curae Magistri Ferrarii' first published from Codice N. 1506 of the Biblioteca Angelica in P. Giacosa's 'Magistri Salernitani nondum editi' 1901, pp. 1-68. A copy in the Laurentian Library was doubtfully ascribed to Maurus Salernitanus in Bandini's 'Catalogus', Vol. III, Plut. 73, cod. xxxiii.

An Ex-libris pasted inside the upper cover has been defaced, and only the letters R.A. . . . are legible.

Purchased 1910. (26878)

536. MISCELLANEA Medica VI. Collection of Salernitan medical works, including 'Flores dietarum' by Johannes de Sancto Paulo, 'Circa instans' of Matthaëus Platearius, 'De simplicibus' by Nicolaus Praepositus: with others, some incomplete. At the end 'Constitutiones' of Otho and Ottobonus, also incomplete.

79 ll. folio. 31 × 21½ cm. [Late 13th cent.]

On vellum; modern half calf binding over wooden boards in 15th cent. monastic style.

The end of the 'Liber aggregationum' of Serapion Junior—after fol. 66, and the end of the 'Constitutiones' of Ottobonus—after fol. 78, are wanting. Many leaves are stained and worn.

This MS. is probably of English origin, and is written by several hands, in double column throughout.

- Hand A (ff. 3, 4) a small gothic, 72 lines to a column. Initial in blue, paragraph marks in alternate red and blue.
- Hand B (ff. 5-2) a small less formal hand, 74 lines to a column: capitals and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue.
- Hand C (ff. 12-34) a formal book-hand, 73-84 lines to a column: capitals in red, paragraph marks in alternate blue and red.
- Hand D (ff. 35-42) a less formal book-hand, 60-67 lines to a column, capitals and paragraph marks as in Hand C, headings in red.
- Hand E (ff. 42<sup>v</sup>-66) similar to Hand C, capitals in alternate blue and red.
- Hand F (ff. 67-78) a small semi-current hand, 60-64 lines to a column.

On fol. 2 is a pen-drawing in black and red of the 'Vein-Man' with surrounding text in a large gothic hand, capitals in red and blue alternately.

Fol. 2<sup>v</sup> contains a large circular diagram in red and black of the planetary spheres, the Zodiac, four Elements, etc.

Fol. 3, col. 1, lines 1-31 Receipt for 'Unguentum mirabile' in Norman-French.

- 78<sup>v</sup>, col. 2, last line de excommunicato capiendone denegetur cum regulis [?] contingat inde [?] /
- 79 (Receipt) Confectio pulueris sine pauore, gallice sains peur . . .

On the first leaf is the name 'Adam Bernardus Clemens' in a contemporary hand, and on the verso 'Iste liber constat Thome precium, xvi.d'.

Below the receipt on the last leaf, by an Elizabethan hand, 'Charles Lamyng for a recette given by gilders wieff'.

Nos. 1 and 2 It is suggested that 'Magister Galterus de M' of No. 2 may perhaps be Gualterus Agilon, who wrote 'Glossule super versus Egidii', of which it is stated by Wickersheimer 'cet ouvrage n'a pas été retrouvé jusqu'ici' [Cf. 'Dictionnaire biographique des médecins en France au Moyen Age'. 1936. Vol. I. s.v. 'GAUTIER Agilon'], and that No. 1 in this Collection is the missing work. In this case the 'M' would refer to Montpellier. He is referred to as 'Montispelliensis' in some MSS. of his other works (op. cit.).

Nos. 8 and 9, printed in William Lyndwood's 'Constitutiones provinciales' by Pynson [London. 1499]. [Cf. D.N.B. s.v. Lyndwood.]

Purchased at Sotheby's 26/6/1913, Lot 1346. (32024)

537. MISCELLANEA Medica VII. Practica medicinae in English. Preceded by short anonymous tracts on medical astrology and weather prediction in Latin, and a 'Seeing of urines' in English: followed by an astrological table, table of Golden Numbers, etc. With a few medical receipts in English.

337 ll. 8vo. 14½ × 11 cm. 1462.

There are 4 vellum fly-leaves at the beginning and 27 vellum leaves at the end, including an inserted section of 12 ll. of smaller format (12½ × 10 cm.).

Contemporary pig-skin binding over oak boards: clasp wanting. The first leaf of the 'Practica' between fol. 47 and fol. 48 is wanting: the outer lower corner of fol. 70 has been torn off, and the upper part of the last leaf cut away: a name has been torn away on fol. 5.

Written by the same hand throughout: 17-22 lines to a page.

There are illuminated initials in gold and colours, with marginal decoration on ff. 74<sup>v</sup>, 105, 120, 129, 133, 138, 146<sup>v</sup>, 162, 184, 194, 210, 221, 252<sup>v</sup>, 275<sup>v</sup>, 300, 305<sup>v</sup>: other initials in blue with marginal decorations in red: paragraph marks in red, headings within red rules.

The Tables at the end are in red and black.

The Latin portions of the MS., and the work on Urines are by different but contemporary current English hands.

Ff. 1-5 Blank.

The name Galfrydus Halle appears in a mutilated inscription by a late 15th cent. hand on fol. 337.

Inserted is an autograph letter, in envelope, to Dr. Joseph Frank Payne [1840-1910] from Thomas Wright [1810-1877], the Antiquary, dated 13 May 1858, written from 14 Sydney St., Brompton, S.W., referring to this MS. He says 'It is not so old as Mr. Douce supposed. The whole of it is written in the hand which is common enough throughout the reigns of Henry VI and Edward IV'. He then refers to the date 1462 [No. 6] and continues: 'I have little doubt that that was the period at which the whole MS. was written, and bound, for it seems to be the original binding of that date. The slight difference in handwritings observable in it may have arisen from the employment of more than one person in writing it, but I don't think it is that of different dates'.

The reference to Francis Douce [1757-1834], Antiquary, is explained by the inscription by Payne inside the upper cover: 'Mr. Douce says this MS. was written about A.D. 1400-before 1450'.

An armorial book-plate pasted beneath this inscription has been torn out.

From the Payne Collection, No. 406 in Sotheby's Catalogue.

Purchased 1911. (29874)

On the first leaf is an inscription 'In hoc volumine Continentur /// Galienus de Spermate / Signa Richardi / Ars Operatoria Raimundi Theutonica / Regimen preseruatiuum Contra pestem /// Iste liber est Monasterii Sanctorum Martyrum / Alexandri et Theodori in Ottenburra Ordinis / Sancti Benedicti augustane dyocesis Et datus est / per doctorem Johannem hertlin presbiterum In Au / gusta Anno domini 1505. pro remedio anime sue /// Quocumque tollatur Ottenburra meum satis'. This seems to be by the same hand as that of the receipt of the same date on the verso of the penultimate leaf of MS. No. 780 (ARNOLDUS de Villanova).

Below this inscription: 'George Stephens / Bought in Leipzig, June 1854'. This is by the English runic archaeologist [1813-1895] [cf. D.N.B.].

This volume is the actual MS. seen by Sudhoff, and the Plague tracts are transcribed by him in the 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin'.

539. MISCELLANEA Medica IX. Collection of short tracts on urines, pulse, regimen, etc.: in Latin. Followed by medical receipts in German. By several hands. 95 ll. 4to. 21 x 15 cm. [c. 1500-1525].

Loose in original vellum binding over wooden boards, damaged: part of the metal clasp wanting.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA X

Modern foliation in pencil, from which it appears that a leaf is wanting after folio 10, and after fol. 45: two leaves after fol. 46: one after fol. 55 and fol. 57: three after fol. 64, and an unknown number after the last leaf. A large piece has been cut out of the lower part of fol. 43, and the first leaf is damaged.

The Latin portion of the MS. ends at fol. 64, and seems to be by the same hand, with headings and paragraph marks in red. The remainder contains the receipts, by several hands in German. The earliest of these before fol. 65 are dated at the end 1501, those following are in later scripts of the first quarter of the 16th cent.

- Ff. 2-37 On urines.
 Fol. 38 Virtus naturalis, virtus animalis, virtus vitalis.

The second work in this Collection has not been positively identified, but it seems to be a 'Practica' in seven books, based closely as to order and subjects on the 'Viaticum' of Constantinus Africanus.

It may possibly be an original compilation from this source by the unnamed Author of the 'Experimenta' (No. 7).

The 'Experimenta' is apparently a collection of receipts and cures extracted from many Authors: many entries bear witness to personal knowledge of the effects of the remedies described, as a note 'ego expertus sum', 'ut vidi frequenter' is frequently added.

There are entries in French on ff. 85, 95<sup>v</sup> and 100.

In the lower margin of the verso of the first leaf is written 'M Thomas Ryche' by an early 15th cent. hand.

There are several marginal notes and signatures by the hands of John and Peter Sharde or Shearde: of which those by John seem to be by a late Elizabethan hand, while those of Peter are dated 1609 and 1610.

Fol. 86<sup>v</sup> In the upper margin 'John Sharde'.
92 In the outer margin 'This and other purgations hathe byne proved by me John Shard to be trew'.
7 In the lower margin 'P.S.'
24<sup>v</sup> In the outer margin, in red ink: 'Petrus Shearde possessor huius Liber [sic] 1609'.

544. MISCELLANEA Medica XVIII. Collection of medical treatises in Latin: with some added receipts, etc., in French.

9 ll. + 283 [282] pp. 8vo. 23 × 14½ cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum, with 6 paper fly-leaves [16th cent.] of which four are blank.

Modern vellum binding. Some leaves appear to be missing between p. 86 and p. 87, between p. 90 and p. 91, and between p. 247 and p. 248.

The margins of the first fly-leaves have been repaired, and the figure on p. 65 is slightly rubbed.

Pp. 254-269 are on vellum of smaller format (18½ × 12 cm.), and this section and from p. 270 to the end appear to have been inserted, probably later.

There is an early 17th cent. foliation of 8 (p. 15) to 109 (p. 208) which is irregular; it is followed by a second one of 1 (p. 210) to 33 (p. 272).

A new pagination has been added perhaps by a later 17th cent. owner, in which p. 201 has been dropped.

Pp. 63/64 is wrongly bound and should follow p. 72, and pp. 73/74 should follow p. 62.

The main text pp. 1-253 is written in a neat French gothic script in double column 43 lines to a column. Initials and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, some larger capitals in blue and red with marginal decoration: headings in red.

On p. 1 is a good illuminated initial C in gold and colours, with floreated marginal decoration.

The section pp. 254-269 is written in a smaller French gothic hand 38 lines to a page, a few initials and headings in red: it is continued on pp. 270-273 by a different semi-current hand. The last section (pp. 275-283) is by a different hand, probably English of the early 15th cent.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XVIII

On p. 65 is a standing female figure (8½ cm.)—perhaps of Trotula—clothed in red and green, with a white coif, holding up an urine flask (?) to which she points with her right hand.

There are also numerous small pen-drawings in the margins:

- |              |  |
|--------------|--|
| P. 20        | Half-length figure of a man in a green robe with two head-wounds and another on the jaw: sitting up on a bed.  |
| 21           | Head of a man, with an arrow in the head.  |
| 22           | Head of a hirsute and bearded man with a cheek-wound. Half-length figure of a man: a surgeon in a green gown and red cap kneels by him while he sutures a head injury. |
| 23           | Three male heads showing wounds on the nose, an arrow piercing the cheek, and a jaw-injury.  |
| 25           | Half-length figure of a man in bed, covered with spots. A woman in a green coif, with inflamed eyes.   |
| 28           | Head of a man, with nasal polypus.   |
| 34           | Drawing of a hare sitting up.  |
| Pp. 84, 85   | Drawings of distilling apparatus: in red and black.  |
| 151-153, 159 | Drawings of small pharmacy jars, and unguent pots.   |
| P. 158       | Drawing of a hand, illustrating phlebotomy by the thumb.   |
| Pp. 173-174  | Grotesque heads.   |
| 275, 276     | Nude bearded figures of the 'Astrological Man' and the 'Blood-letting Man,' with surrounding text in Latin.  |

- Pp. 277-283

There are some added receipts etc., in English on pp. 184, 209, 251 by late 16th or early 17th cent. hands: on p. 282, by a 15th cent. hand.

The first of the preliminary leaves contains an Index to the 'Trotula' tracts only, by a 16th cent. hand.

- No. 1 This seems to be a version of the 'Anatomia' of Richardus Salernitanus, though it differs from the entries in Corner's 'Anatomical texts' 1927.
No. 2 'Philamon' is probably written in error for Polemon of Laodicea.
No. 3 The end of this work is found in De Renzi 'Collectio Salernitana' Vol. II, p. 697.
No. 6 Though here attributed to 'Thomas de Bononia' this work seems to be a variant of the tract 'De aqua vitae' by Theodoric. [Cf. Singer 'Catalogue of alchemical MSS'. Vol. 2. No. 1000].
No. 12 A work with a similar Prologue in verse is entered in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits,' Col. 427 and ascribed to 'Asclepius'. Here his entry also includes two other anonymous MSS. (Prague 2673, Vienna 2505) also entitled 'Speculum medicorum' with the same Prologue in verse. The opening words of the text 'Huius opusculi series' (in our MS. 'Opusculi huius'), are found in MS. 297 at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, in which Ff. 127-135 contain 'Experimenta Magistri Will. de Sumereye'. In the Explicit the work is called 'Parvus viaticus magistri W. de Sumereie' (Cf. M.R. James: 'Catalogue of MSS. at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge' 1912).

Tanner's 'Bibliotheca Britannico-Hibernica' 1748, has an entry for the same MS. at Cambridge s.v. 'Sumereya (Gulielmus de)'. This name is also recorded by Thorndike (op. cit. 304, 722) under 'William de Sumereye' in his Index.

No. 15 This version of Macer's Poem contains 2294 lines.

No. 17 This item is recorded in Thorndike, op. cit., col. 63.

The second preliminary leaf contains the signature of Walter Harte [1709-1774], and an inscription by him referring to the 'Trotula': his name and date 1729 is also found on the first leaf of the text. He was a friend of Alexander Pope, and tutor to Lord Chesterfield's natural son. [Cf. D.N.B.].

Particulars of acquisition not known. (44193)

545. MISCELLANEA Medica XIX. Collection of three short medical works: a 'Regimen sanitatis' in an abridged version from the Pseudo-Aristotelian 'Secreta secretorum'; another anonymous 'Regimen', and 'De immunditiis mulierum fugiendis', apparently based on 'De secretis mulierum', commonly—but wrongly—attributed to Albertus Magnus.

8 ll. 4to. 21 × 15½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

Originally part of a larger volume, with contemporary foliation 305-312: in the upper margin of the first leaf 'Secunda pars huius voluminis'.

Written in a small rounded German script 40-43 lines to a page.

Ornamental initials in red and black at the beginning of each treatise, paragraph marks in red.

Below the last line of the text is a pasted down slip, containing an inscription by the same hand:

Adam primus homo: dampnauit fercula poma.

Omnia sunt homini tenui pendencia filo.

Et sola virtus et viuienti et mortuo stabilis et firma est possessio.

The second work has not been identified, though it seems to be based on the 'De secretis mulierum' and possibly also on the first part of the 'De secretis naturae' of Michael Scotus.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XX

The author has an extremely harsh opinion of women, and on line 12 of his text we find a sentence beginning 'Licet omnis mulier naturaliter sit meretrix'.

The last tract in this volume has been printed, with a discussion by Christoph Ferckel, in 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin' Vol. XI, 1918, pp. 1-21.

Purchased 1929. (49424)

546. MISCELLANEA Medica XX. Collection of seven medical treatises: the first five in French, the last two in Latin.

91 ll. 4to. 21 × 14½ cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum, 15th cent. leather binding badly rubbed, back-strip missing.

Some leaves are wanting at the end, and one leaf after fol. 23: the first leaf is slightly rubbed. A fly-leaf has been torn out at the end.

Written in a French gothic hand in double column of 36 lines to a column, by the same scribe throughout.

Ornamental initial D on the first leaf in red and blue, with marginal decoration: other larger initials on ff. 15<sup>v</sup>, 21, 22<sup>v</sup>, 30, 50, 51, 78<sup>v</sup> and 89. Other capitals and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, and blue and red: headings in red.

- No. 6 This is entered as anonymous in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits' Cols. 392, 728. In the first of these Adelard [of Bath] is stated to be the translator, but this translation is not mentioned by Haskins in his chapter on Adelard in 'Studies in the History of Mediaeval Science' 1924, Ch. II.

There are two original vellum fly-leaves at the beginning. On the verso of the first, the name Saudon [?] by an early 15th cent. hand. On the verso of the second: 'Ce present liure appartient a / Berthelley le Roy demeurant / paris en la Rue de la / riviére au dit lieu au lousis / de monsieur de Vignaulx'.

This is partly repeated below, with the name 'Le roy'.

Below this again is the signature of J[ean] B[aptiste] L[ouis] Chomel [1700-1765], the eminent French physician. On another vellum fly-leaf pasted down on to the lower cover, 'Acheté 25 f. Ce livre a appartenu à Chomel'.

In the lower margin of the verso of the last leaf of the text is a faint inscription in pencil: 'Acheté à la vente de Mr. Bosquillon an 10' [1801/2]. This may refer to the French chemist Edouard François Michel Bosquillon [1744-1816].

Purchased 1910. (23675)

547. MISCELLANEA Medica XXI. Collection of medical treatises in Latin: by several hands. 307 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14 cm. [14th cent.]

On vellum: 18th cent. quarter calf binding over wooden boards: back-strip damaged.

Nos. 2, 4, and the last work, are incomplete. Ff. 62, 63, 72, 98 are slightly defective: the first and last leaves stained and rubbed. Between fol. 98 and fol. 99 is a contemporary inserted vellum slip. There are three main scripts, and two others.

Hand A, Nos. 1, 2	A neat gothic, probably French, that of No. 2 smaller. Written in double column of 32 and 42 lines to a column. Initials in alternate red and blue, with marginal decorations, headings and paragraph marks in red: perhaps early 14th cent.
B, (3), (4), (17)-end	In double column of 42 (No. 3), 44-46, (No. 4), 40-44 lines to a column: a few initials in blue. A larger semi-rounded gothic: also possibly French.
C, (6)-(10)	A more angular gothic, probably English. In double column, 44-46 lines to a column, paragraph marks in red.
D, (3)-(16)	A larger gothic, also probably English. In double column of 38 lines to a column. Initials in blue and red, headings and paragraph marks in red.
E, (5)	An angular gothic also probably English, but different from D. Initials in red or black, paragraph marks in red: 26-34 lines to a page.
F, (11)	Similar to E. In double column 33-36 lines to a column.

There are marginal notes to No. 2 by the same scribe, in a very small script.

Written in the inner margin of fol. 93<sup>v</sup> by a contemporary hand is a birth-charm in Latin: 'In nomine patris. etc. Christus vincit + Christus regnat + Christus imperat. Christus illam ab omni malo defendat + . . .'

On fol. 168<sup>v</sup> is a receipt by a 14th cent. hand beginning: 'Fleumagogium sic fit'; and other medical receipts by a different hand on fol. 183<sup>v</sup>.

On fol. 183 and fol. 186 are geomantic (?) markings, and on fol. 219<sup>v</sup> a list of Christian names in alphabetical order from 'Adam' to 'Zacarias', in a calligraphic middle 14th cent. script.

No. 7 seems to be the same as the MS. recorded in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits' Col. 233.

No. 13 is apparently entered in Col. 30 of the same Catalogue.

No. 16 is apparently entered in Col. 39 of the same Catalogue.

No. 17 is here assigned to Arnoldus de Villanova, as it closely resembles the cosmetic section, considerably abridged, of his work as printed in his 'Opera' Venice 1515 ff. 211-216.

No. 20. This work ends about the middle of the second chapter 'De medicinis quae ornant faciem' as printed in the 1497 edition of Rhazes' works, where this section is part of a separate work 'Antidotarium Rasis'. In the 1481 edition it is printed continuously with the 'Experimenta'. For a discussion of the 'Experimenta' of 'Galen' or Rasis, cf. Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. II pp. 751 et seq.

Pasted inside the upper cover is the armorial book-plate of T. Beale M.A. on which is written: 'Edoardus Hanford de Woollershill' in Agro Wicciensi Armiger Qui obiit 15 Men. Mart. Anno Domini 1766, olim D.D.'

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XXII

548. MISCELLANEA Medica XXII. Collection of medical works in Latin, written probably by a German or Flemish scribe.

152 ff. 4to. 21 × 14 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Original wooden boards, rebaked. Parts of the two brass clasps wanting. The fly-leaves, pasted down at the beginning and end, are fragments of leaves from a 14th cent. Service book.

Ff. 7-131 are written in a semi-cursive gothic script, 32 lines to a page.

Ff. 140-end are by a more angular hand, 34 lines to a page, initials and paragraph marks in red.

Ff. 1-7, 132<sup>v</sup>-139<sup>v</sup> are in a late 15th cent. current German hand.

On fol. 7 is a large ornamental initial in blue and red with marginal decorations, other smaller initials in red and purple on ff. 48, 49, 54, 56<sup>v</sup>, 58<sup>v</sup>, 64, 74, 78<sup>v</sup>, 91: other capitals, paragraph marks, and underlinings in red.

The third hand is also found on the verso of the last leaf, in the lettering of a circular schematic world-map, in which there are no outlines of continents or countries, though the Latin names of a few are given, with 'Iherusalem antidiluvianum' in the centre.

Fol. 278<sup>v</sup>-End mostly in Latin, a few in German.

No. 7 is entered in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits' Col. 267 as Anonymous, or doubtfully assigned to Constantinus Africanus or Galen.

- No. 8 is in Col. 462 of the Catalogue and is there assigned to 'Arnoldus de Villanova?', though the entry reads 'Omni tempore si necessitas'.
- No. 11 This has been tentatively identified as a translation and abridgement of the first half of Avenzoar's 'Kitāb el Arđiyā' as described by Colin in 'Avenzoar: sa vie et ses oeuvres' Paris. 1911, pp. 145-153. No Latin translation of this work seems to be recorded, though Col. 479 of Thorndike's 'Catalogue' contains an entry referring to 'Panis triticea' which appears to agree with our MS., Fol. 182, col. 1, line 17. It is to be noted that the 'De pestilentia' of Johannes Jacobi follows immediately upon the last section of Avenzoar's work 'De vomitu', and that in the Colophon (fol. 203<sup>v</sup>) the whole tract is entitled 'Libellus de regimine sanitatis et de pestilentia'.
- No. 12 For Jacobi's work, cf. Sudhoff's 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin' XI. pp. 143, 162; XVII pp. 16-32, 251-256.
- No. 13 Of these the 'Remedium contra pestilentiam' is recorded in Sudhoff. op. cit. VII, p. 63; 'Aliud remedium contra pestilentiam' (fol. 205) as by Jacobus de Ulma, in Sudhoff. op. cit. IV, p. 413; and the entry 'Für den lauf der drües' (fol. 206) in Sudhoff. op. cit. XIV, p. 147.
- No. 14 Entered in Thorndike, op. cit., Col. 717, as anonymous.
- No. 16 The incomplete entry on fol. 217<sup>v</sup>, col. 2 is found in Thorndike, op. cit. Col. 300, as anonymous.

On the recto of the first leaf is a receipt by a late 15th cent. hand headed: 'Receptum doctor [sic] Hugo spanol [?] In paryss optimum contra pestilencias'.

The fragments of end-papers at the beginning and end appear to be part of a vellum leaf of a 13th cent. MS. on Latin grammar. From the Payne Collection: Sotheby's Catalogue, No. 636.

Purchased 1911. (29396)

550. MISCELLANEA Medica XXIV. Practica a capite ad pedes (Anonymous). Johannes de Burgundio: De pestilentia. Joannes de Toletio: Dietarium. Henri de Mondeville: Antidotarium. Trotula: De curis mulierum. Some in abbreviated versions: with numerous added receipts, etc. Latin MS. of English provenance.

1 l. + 239 [244] ff. + 7 ll. 4to. 18½ × 13½ cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum, contemporary limp vellum binding damaged.

Ff. 16-19, 173 are wanting, and only a fragment of the first leaf survives, with a small piece of paper fly-leaf.

The following leaves are defective: Fol. 3, upper corner torn away. Fol. 9, small piece cut out. Fol. 13, lower corner damaged. Fol. 79, lower corner cut away. Ff. 80, 104, small piece cut out. Fol. 114, upper corner cut away. Fol. 135, lower margin torn.

Written by several contemporary hands: 24-42 lines to a page. Rubricated throughout, paragraph marks, foliation and headings in red. Some larger initials in red, that on fol. 1 being an ornamented Q, with marginal decoration, and a male face in black, within the circle.

On fol. 187 is a small drawing in red of a cautery: and on fol. 193<sup>v</sup> a small miniature, showing the administration of a clyster for the cure of fistula in ano, with two human figures, the patient kneeling and nude. This has been pasted in over a drawing in red of a clyster being given to an animal [pig?] of which only the rear half is visible.

7 ll. un-numbered. Index.

In the lower margin of the 7th leaf recto of this Index: 'Ff[rater] W. ffrothyngam hanc contrafecit transcriptionem'.

In the upper margin of the verso of the same leaf is a receipt for gout.

The anonymous parts of this MS. (Nos. 1, 2, 4, 6, 8, 11) appear to be written by an English physician, possibly of London. There are references to patients in that city on ff. 47<sup>v</sup>, 53<sup>v</sup>, 83<sup>v</sup>, 192<sup>v</sup>. In a few cases English names of herbs, etc. are given. On fol. 66 is a receipt in French 'Emplastre esprouve pour toute maniere de enfleure'. A Welsh drink 'Bragot' is mentioned on Fol. 106, and a 'Caudel' on fol. 107<sup>v</sup>; while on fol. 104 is a reference to a 'Potus apud hibernicos' which is possibly a kind of whiskey 'Ex ordeï frumentis'. On fol. 105 is mention of a 'potus laudabilis pro magnatibus teste henrico de Kendale Justiciario domini regis Angliae' (a sort of mead), and on fol. 115 of a 'Medicina magistri Michaelis Wynchestre contra ydropisim'. These two persons have not been identified. The main portion (ff. 1-108) is based on Salernitan principles, and many of the Salernitan authorities are named. A few later physicians are also mentioned including John of Arderne, Bernard de Gordon, Lanfranc of Milan, etc. On the verso of the last leaf of the Index is the signature of William Holbrooke, in Greek characters and in English in a 17th cent. hand, perhaps that of the W. Holbrooke of Oriel College, born in 1642, and Rector of Howton in 1675.

The work by Henri de Mondeville is an abbreviation of Part V of his 'Chirurgia'.

From the F. Bacon Frank [1827-1911] MSS. Entered in the Appendix to the Sixth Report of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts. 1877, p. 464.

Purchased at Sotheby's 11/8/1942, Lot 37. (92449)

551. MISCELLANEA Medica XXV. Collection of short medical tracts in Italian, a few in Latin. Including Michael Scotus: 'Consegni dei poveri infermi'; lists of remedies by Mesue, Nicolaus Praepositus, and others; lists of herbs, and miscellaneous medical receipts by various hands of the late 15th and early 16th centuries. 76 ll. 4to. 20½ × 15 cm. [Venice?]

[Late 15th-Early 16th cent.]

Modern boards. Reckoning by an early foliation, the following leaves are wanting between fol. 9 and 10, 1 leaf; between fol. 52 and 53, 2 leaves; between fol. 56 and 57, 3 leaves; between fol. 58 and 59, two leaves; between fol. 60 and 61, 5 leaves; between fol. 68 and 69, 2 leaves; between fol. 69 and 70, four leaves; between fol. 76 and fol. 1, three leaves. The MS. has been wrongly rebound and the present ff. 53-76 should have been placed at the beginning, as these are foliated in the old numeration 3-42. The present ff. 1-52 are in the old foliation 46-69 + 28 unnumbered.

A new foliation 1-76 has been added in pencil.

Lower corners cut away throughout; some leaves stained.

Some capitals, paragraph marks and headings in red.

- The attribution of the first work to Michael Scotus is doubtful.
There is a copy of it in the Rossi MS. at the Vatican (Haskins, 'Studies in Mediaeval Science'. 1924, p. 282 note).
The Italian of this MS. seems to be in Venetian dialect, but one Guido da Carrara is mentioned on fol. 62<sup>v</sup> as the author of a remedy against worms.
Purchased 1930. (63146)

552. MISCELLANEA Medica XXVI. Collection of short tracts on chiro-

Ff. 31, 40, 41 are in vellum. Original vellum covers damaged.

The end is missing, and between fol. 16 and fol. 17, and before fol. 24 a leaf has been torn out: lower corners of fol. 30, lower margins of fol. 31 and fol. 50 wanting.

Margins frayed and damaged: water-stained throughout, with some loss of text.
Written in several contemporary English hands, some initials and paragraphs marks in red.

Illustrated with 20 figures of hands in red and blue, or in red.

The first work, as stated in the colophon, is 'compilatum per F.B. de Florentia', and is not recorded in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', though his list does include a work on alchemy by the same author (Col. 240).

'Castrum de Corinberto in anglia' is presumably the Latin name for Cirencester, but in an unusual form.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XXVII

A 'Johannes' is mentioned in the text, who may be the same as the 'Johannes' of No. 10. In his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. II, p. 77 Thorndike suggests that this may be Johannes Hispanus as Author or Translator.

No. 2 Recorded in Thorndike's 'Incipits', col. 234.

The Veterinary Receipts in English (Nos. 3, 13) are badly stained and faded. Many of them appear to be charms and incantations, as is shown by the numerous Signs of the Cross in red which still stand out.

Inside the upper cover, greatly rubbed and partly illegible, are notes on Urines in English, and astrological notes in Latin.

Inside the lower cover, there is an unfinished circular diagram (of the Cosmos?), and some lines of an inscription which is also illegible.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/6/1912, Lot 324. (30878)

553. MISCELLANEA Medica XXVII. Collection of three medical treatises. (1) SANCTA SOPHIA (Galeazzo de) Liber simplicium. (2) NICOLAUS Praepositus. Antidotarium. (3) LANFRANC of Milan. Chirurgia parva. 187 ll. (first bl.). folio.  $31 \times 21\frac{1}{2}$  cm. Nuremberg. 1470.

Original half sheepskin binding over wooden boards: the two clasps wanting. Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Written in a clear gothic script, 39 lines to a page.

Large decorated initials in colours on ff. 2, 23<sup>v</sup>, 30, 46<sup>v</sup>, 49, 52<sup>v</sup>, 59, 63<sup>v</sup>, 66, 67<sup>v</sup>, 69, 83<sup>v</sup>, 92, 95<sup>v</sup>, 100<sup>v</sup>, 112<sup>v</sup>, 117<sup>v</sup>, 132<sup>v</sup>, 138, 144<sup>v</sup>, 145, 146<sup>v</sup>, 150, 173.

Other capitals, paragraph marks and headings in red.

The 'Explicit' on fol. 187<sup>v</sup> is written within a red pen-drawn scroll.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

Fol. 1 Blank.

In the upper margin of fol. 2 is a name written in an early 16th cent. hand, which may perhaps be deciphered as 'Leobenschberg?.'

Inscribed inside the upper cover 'Sum Johannis Oberndorfii M.D.' [fl. c. 1600].

Purchased 1930. (63212)

554. MISCELLANEA Medica XXVIII. Collection of short medical works, including extracts from the medical section of the Pseudo-Aristotelian 'Secretum secretorum' (here assigned to Hippocrates), and from the 'Practica' of Bartholomaeus Salernitanus: also a 'Regimen contra pestem' by Andreas Reichlin de Überlingen, etc. In German.

55 ll. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, rebaked: with two brass and leather clasps. The designs on the covers are different, that of the upper cover containing an outer roller-stamped scroll decoration with the inscription 'Ave Maria': this is also found on the clasps.

Margins cropped in binding, and some repaired.

Written apparently by the same hand throughout in a semi-current German script.

55 Receipts by different hands.

It is possible that No. 2 is also part of the 'Practica'.

The version of Reichlin's Plague tract is different from that found in the transcript given in Sudhoff's 'Archiv' Vol. 16, pp. 31-33.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XXIX

In the last work 'Petrus von Kriechen' may possibly be a confused reference to Petrus de Abano's edition of Dioscorides, which was first printed in 1478.

The watermark on the paper appears to be Briquet's No. 3883, assigned to Lansberg 1473/4.

Purchased 1933. (59555)

555. MISCELLANEA Medica XXIX. Collection of short anonymous medical works, on the virtues of herbs, the four Complexions, physiognomy, diet as regulated by the Months: in Latin. Incomplete at beginning and end.
10 ll. 8vo.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Nos. 2 and 3 are entered in Coxe's Catalogue of the Bodleian Library MSS, Canon Misc. No. 480, ff. 90<sup>v</sup>-92; and No. 2 in Thorndike's 'Incipits' Col. 296 where it is assigned to 'Alexander'.

The water-mark on the paper is possibly Briquet's No. 15216 assigned to Bavaria 1430.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/7/1932, Lot 550. (65313).

556. MISCELLANEA Medica XXX. Libro de la fisica by Aldobrandino da Siena. With other works by, or translated by Petrus de Reggio. In Venetian dialect.

The translator of Aldobrandino's text is almost certainly Zuccherio Bencivenni, as our MS. agrees textually with the entries in Bandini's 'Catalogus codicum MSS. Mediceae Laurentianae'. Vol. V, 286–289, 339, 340. A former owner of this MS. —probably writing in the 17th cent.—states however in the upper margin of fol. 83. 'Nell' esemplare del 4° si legge il volgarizzatore che fu un Zucchano Fiorentino: queste esemplare e migliore assai di 3° e fu "riscritto da un Tomas da Milano".'

On the recto of the first leaf a later owner has written 'Varie cose tutte spertecate e di varii Autori MS. che non ho saputo che titolo darle'.

Below this is a pen-drawn device of a cross upon a 5 rayed star within a circle lettered 'Bibliotheca Capucc[ini]orum] Conceptionis Neapolis'.

On this leaf, and at the end of the text is an unidentified purple stamped coat of arms.

557. MISCELLANEA Medica XXXI. Collection of three medical works.

- (1) MESUE Damascenus (J.). De medicinis compositis. (2) NICOLAUS Praepositus. Antidotarium. (3) GUAINERIUS (A.). De egritudinibus propriis mulierum. 84 [85] ll. + 1 l. + 28 [30] bl. ll. 4to. 23 × 16½ cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Original half stamped pigskin binding over wooden boards: clasp wanting.

The last leaf of the third work has been cut out, and 2 of the blank leaves.

Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Written in double column of 47, 48 lines to a column: ff. 64–80<sup>r</sup> are by a different hand, 43 lines to a column.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XXXIII

Large ornamental capital at the beginning of each work in blue and red with floreated marginal decorations: other initials in alternate blue and red: headings and paragraph marks in red.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

- 85 Receipt for a balsam by a different and later hand, and two other receipts.

There are some added marginal receipts by the same hand as that of the main text, in some cases mentioning remedies given by the writer himself.

On fol. 5 'In colica dedi frawnhoferin [?] . . .'; fol. 18 'Pulvis comitis wolfgangi de otting'; fol. 48 'Pawngartnerin de wasserburge' (for repressed menstruation).

The MS. is probably of South German origin.

The work by Guainerius is a section of his 'Practica', printed at Lyons in 1517.

Armorial historiated book-plate of 'Bibliotheca . . . domini Ferdinandi Hoffman liberi baronis in Grönpühel et Strechau /// domini in Grevenstain et Ianowitz, Supremi haereditarii Curiae magistri ducatus Styriae et Supremi marscalci Archiducatus Austriae . . .'.

558. MISCELLANEA Medica XXXIII. Collection of four medical works. (1) BARZIZIIS (C. de) Introductorium. (2) GENTILIS de Fulgineo De prognosticatione et de crisi. (3) GUAINERIUS (A.) De febribus. (4) FALCUTIUS (N.) [?] De apostematibus et vulneribus.

148 ll. folio. 31 × 23½ cm. [Padua?]. 1449.

Modern vellum binding. Lower margin wormed, and the damaged part cut out from fol. 66 to the end.

Written in a semi-gothic hand in double column of 48-54 lines to a column.

MISCELLANEA MEDICA XXXIII

Large ornamental initials on fol. 1 and fol. 89 smaller on fol. 49, in gold: other capitals, paragraph marks and a few headings in red.

On fol. 28 are three drawings of a clyster, the large one in ink, the two smaller in pencil.

- 148 Ceroto mirabile contra el morbo contra onia [sic] morsura de serpente venenoso . . .

The attribution of the second work to Gentilis de Fulgineo is doubtful, though it is clearly so stated in the colophon. In Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 93, a work with this Incipit is assigned to Bartholomaeus Pictavensis; but according to the entry in Wickersheimer's 'Dictionnaire biographique' 1936, pp. 77, 78 his name should be Bernardus.

The fourth treatise has been tentatively entered as by Nicolaus Falcutius [ -1412]. By comparison with the analyses of Tractatus IV and V of his 'Sermo septimus' in Gurlt's 'Geschichte der Chirurgie' Vol. I, pp. 814-829, our MS. seems to be an abbreviated version of the work by Falcutius, in which the 'De apostematibus' (Tractatus V) precedes the 'De vulneribus' (Tractatus IV).

A former owner of this MS. has written in pencil 'Gentile de Foligno?' in the upper margin of fol. 89, but the contents do not appear to correspond with that Physician's commentary on certain sections of the Fourth Canon of Avicenna.

The work by Christophorus de Barziziis was first printed at Pavia, in 1494 (G.K.W. 3672), and that by Guainerius at Padua, c. 1473 (B.M.C. VII, p. 910).

Purchased 1929. (67394)

559. MISCELLANEA Medica XXXV. Collection of eleven short medical works: in Latin, with one tract in French. Written by various hands, and containing a few medical receipts, added later, some in English.

57 ll. (last 3 bl.). 8vo. 14½ × 11 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. Modern half morocco binding. Slight damage, not affecting text on ff. 1, 3, 16, 21, 38, 39, 41, 47, 48.

A new foliation has been added in pencil.

The volume is made up from parts of a larger work. The original foliation is legible, and the following parts of the original volume, appear in the order as follows Ff. 64-71, ff. 144-159, ff. 48-63 (fol. 59 cut out) ff. 104-113, ff. 40-47.

A few ornamental initials in red and black, and red and blue. Some capitals in red, or alternate red and blue; headings and paragraph marks in red.

On 1.47 is a full-page 'Wheel of Fortune' in red and black.

- No. 1 The attribution of this work to Arnoldus de Villanova is doubtful. It is possibly recorded in col. 405 of Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits'.
- No. 2 The attribution of this work to Gualterus Agilon is disputed: and Thorndike (op. cit. col. 157) mentions other ascriptions. In our MS. the Incipit on l. 10 agrees with that of Thorndike.

The 'Dosis medicinarum', which seems more certainly to be by Gualterus Agilon, is here only represented by the Introduction. The problem is further complicated by the mention of 'Henricus dauid' of whom no record has been traced. It is possible that 'dauid' is a mistake for 'Daniel', as a Henricus Daniel is known as the Author (or compiler) of a 'Liber uricrisiarum' of which there are two copies, both in English in the W.H.M.L. MSS. Nos. 225 and 226. But the text in this MS. is different.

Wickersheimer in his 'Dictionnaire biographique des médecins en France au moyen âge' Vol. I, p. 171 assigns this work almost certainly to Gualterus Agilon.

- No. 3 The first section of this work (Thorndike, op. cit. col. 288) is there doubtfully assigned to 'Hermes'. It is recorded in Singers 'Catalogue of alchemical MSSS.', No. 41. In our MS. it ends on fol. 26, line 21 'sentire laborem vel dolorem'.
The remainder is perhaps recorded in Thorndike, op. cit., col. 376.
Nos. 5, 6 In Thorndike, op. cit., 407, 148, both as anonymous.
No. 10 The chapter 'De ventis' is recorded in Thorndike, op. cit., col. 768, as anonymous.
No. 11 This section is written in a rough secretary hand of the first half of the 16th cent. The contents do not seem to be connected with that of No. 9.

Purchased 1940. (71486)

560. MISCELLANEA Medica XXXVI. Collection of medical tracts, in Latin: some incomplete. 293 ll. (last 16 bl.). 4to. 22 x 15 cm. [c. 1475.]

Original stamped sheep-skin binding; worn. Some leaves are wanting, and only a fragment of the last leaf remains. The first leaf has a small repair in the upper margin: a small circular piece has been cut out of the second leaf: slight tear on fol. 207. Several sections have been bound in wrong order.

Ff. 2-226 are by the same hand, 25 lines to a page: the remainder is by a different and probably somewhat later hand, and written in two columns 32-36 lines to a column. Headings in red.

A new foliation in pencil has been added.

- No. 2 This appears to be an abbreviated and incomplete copy of the 'Rolandina', which itself was a revised and expanded version of the 'Chirurgia' of Rogerius Salernitanus. By a strange error the Compiler of this MS. in his 'Explicit' on fol. 205 attributes the work to Arnoldus de Villanova. For a discussion and texts of the work of Rogerius and Rolandus cf. Sudhoff 'Beiträge zur Geschichte der Chirurgie im Mittelalter', pp. 143-296, in his 'Studien zur Geschichte der Medizin'. Heft 12. 1918.

- No. 3 This section contains an abbreviated and incomplete version of Particula xx-xxiii of Maimonides' 'Aphorismi', which was printed at Bologna in 1489 [Hain-Cop. 10524, B.M.C. VI 824] and ends abruptly at line 14, Sig. o.v. of that work. The entry on 'Pistachius' which follows in our MS. is not found in the printed 'Aphorismi'.

This treatise was translated from Arabic into Hebrew by Nathan Ha-me'ati [fl. 1280], who was probably born at Cento near Ferrara which appears in our MS. as 'Monte Scanto' [Fol. 47<sup>v</sup>]. This scholar is chiefly known for his translation of Avicenna's 'Canon' into Hebrew, which was completed at Rome in 1279, and first printed at Naples in 1491-92.

The Latin translator is anonymous, but he does not seem to have had a very deep knowledge of Hebrew. He renders an Arabic word (of course written in Hebrew characters) which means 'Completed' as if it were a proper name 'Completus', and this has been further distorted into 'Complutus'—a personage not otherwise known.

The whole MS. seems to be a poor transcription of an older copy, with many gaps and misreadings.

The Flower water-mark on the paper of part of the MS. appears to be Briquet's No. 6655, assigned to Palermo 1462.

Purchased 1905. (11998)

2 This fragment has been identified by the passage on Fol. 13, col. 2, line 3 'purgabis et / cum puluere nostro' and again on fol. 14<sup>v</sup>, col. 1, line 24 'Cura quum curari potest que feci / describam'. These occur at the end of the note on the works of Petrocellus on p. 320 in Vol. IV of Renzi's 'Collectio Salernitana' Naples. 1856.

Nos. 3, 4 These fragments have not been exactly identified. Both seem to be commentaries on parts of the 'Organon'.

4to. 21½ × 14½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Contemporary rough calf binding, leather ties wanting. With two fragments of a 14th cent. Hebrew MS. on vellum, inserted as backing to the upper and lower covers. Ff. 13, 14, 23, 24 of the work by Copho wanting: upper portion of the first three and last two leaves damaged. The work by Copho is written in double columns 30 lines to a column.

An ornamental initial I on fol. 1 with marginal decoration: some headings and paragraph marks in red. The work by Arnoldus de Villanova, and the receipts following, are by a more cursive hand, also with initials, paragraph marks and headings in red. The third leaf from the end contains a figure of the Sphere of Pythagoras in brown and purple.

- Leaf 1 Quotation from Galen's 'De ingenio sanitatis', etc.
2 Incantation in Catalan against enemies, and for safety and prosperity.
Poem in Latin beginning: 'Juste Judex ihesu christe rex regum et domine / Qui cum patre regnas . . .'
2<sup>v</sup> End of poem, line 36: 'Tibi virtus et perennis honor et perpetuus'.

- 35-40 Blank.
- Ll. 1-10 Medical receipts in Latin; with some in Catalan on the last three leaves, including an invocation 'Per tranquadura dossors o de cama o braz o altro loch'. The verso of the last leaf contains Catalan medical receipts by a different and later hand.
- 9 Blank leaves un-numbered.
- 3rd leaf from end. 'Sphera Pythagorae', with directions for use in Latin.
- 2nd leaf from end. Blank.

Last leaf verso: Receipts for colours in Latin and Catalan.

The first of the medical works is of doubtful authorship. Thorndike in his 'Catalogue of Incipits' col. 327 ascribes it to Copho (?); certainly the 'Theophon' of this MS. is a scribe's misreading. It is printed in Renzi's 'Collectio Salernitana' Vol. IV, pp. 415-438, and is there definitely assigned to Copho.

The work by Arnoldus de Villanova is entered in Thorndike op. cit. col. 258. Some of the receipts following those for 'Aquae' from the 'Liber duodecim aquarum' by Petrus Hispanus, are also probably copied from this same Author's works.

According to Prof. S. Birnbaum of the London School of Oriental Studies, the fragments of Hebrew MS. forming part of the covers contain Rabbinical Responses probably written in Spain in the 14th century.

Purchased 1931. (75861)

The text mainly written about 1550 by an unnamed compiler, but with added receipts and notes by G. de Mogliettis: in Latin and Italian.

12 ll. + 235 ff. + 4 ll. 4 to. 20 + 15½ cm. [c. 1550]-1659.

Original vellum binding, 18th cent. flowered paper back; both leather ties defective. Some leaves are wanting after the 11th preliminary leaf, and at the end: fol. 225 is also wanting.

On fol. 231 is a rough pen-drawing of the 'Arbor alchemica'. The t.p. (second leaf) is surrounded by a historiated border in four panels, containing pen-drawings, tinted in red, of alchemical apparatus, etc. It is surmounted by an unidentified heraldic shield: on a fess, three bulls' heads.

The 12 preliminary leaves, and from fol. 234 to the end, are holograph by G. de Mogliettis: on the fifth leaf is the date 1659, and on the seventh 'G.M.D.A. 1658'.

 Fol. 234-end

On fol. 172 is a reference to the 'De alchimia opuscula complura' published by C. Jacobus at Frankfort in 1550.

No. 17 is also doubtfully attributed to Arnoldus de Villanova ('Flores lilii') in Thorndike 'Catalogue of Incipits', col. 256, also in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. III, pp. 62, 63, 660, 661: Mrs. Singer's 'Catalogue of Alchemical MSS.', No. 120, assigns it to Rhazes.

Fol. 230<sup>v</sup> contains the explanatory text, and Fol. 231 the Diagram of an 'Alchemical Tree', by the 16th cent. compiler. The text begins: 'Ista est arbor composita de principiis Alphabeti et est composita ad finem quod magis breuiter Artista / huius artis possit venire ad finem desideratum . . .'. In the diagram itself: 'A significat hominem seu primum principium quod est chaos': it ends: 'z [significat] euacuationem'.

On the first leaf a 17th cent. hand has written 'Questo libro e stato messo in questa libreria dal Sig. Canonico Teologo Francesco Pieruesani in luogo di deposito che poi lo riprendera'.

Written on the inside of the upper cover is a note 'Dono michi dedit Magister Rubertus Nutus de Assisio Magistro [?] Consiliario [?] michi Iosepho de Mogliettis gratias ago. Obiit 1669'. This is by the same hand as that of the 12 preliminary and of the last 6 leaves of the volume.

Purchased 1922. (41514)

564. MONDEVILLE (HENRI DE). Chirurgia, preceded by a work on Anatomy based on Mondeville and Lanfranc of Milan: in an incomplete and abridged English translation, originally written in 1392, by an unknown surgeon who seems to have practised in London. With medical notes and miscellaneous receipts by several late 15th cent. and early 16th cent. hands, also in English. 201 ll. folio. 32 × 23½ cm. [c. 1475.]

MONDEVILLE

18th cent. panelled calf binding rebaked. A leaf has been cut out after fol. 9, and two leaves after fol. 142. Fol. 190 and fol. 191 were at one time pasted together, and have been damaged in separation with some loss of text: fol. 192 is also defective. There seems to have been some confusion in the re-binding of the last 10 ff. A few leaves with small defects, or stained.

There is an original vellum fly-leaf at the end.

Written in a large clear gothic hand in double column of 34 lines to a column.

Large ornamental initials in red and black on ff. 10<sup>v</sup>, 16<sup>v</sup>, 47<sup>v</sup>, 56<sup>v</sup>, 124<sup>v</sup>, 146, other capitals, paragraph marks and underlinings in red.

The 16th cent. pagination is confused, and the MS. has been refoiled in pencil at the lower outer margin.

Pasted down on the verso of fol. 129, and on both sides of fol. 130 are three leaves of an apparently unrecorded anatomical fugitive sheet, c. 1540. (See Catalogue of Printed Books, Vol. I, No. 290.)

Here ends the main work. It seems probable that this MS. is a copy from an incomplete or partly illegible original: there are several gaps in the text, and the last part ends in the middle of a sentence. There are copious medical receipts and notes in the various blank spaces, and intervening leaves in the main text, by different late 15th cent. and 16th cent. hands.

- Ff. 171<sup>v</sup>-196 Medical receipts in English, contributed by several hands, including those of the writers of previous entries. [See below].
- 196<sup>v</sup>-200 Blank.
- There are various names (of owners?) some of whom have made marginal notes, etc.
- Fol. 50<sup>v</sup> 'Mr. Owen [Middle 16th cent.].
- 51 'Mr. Howlet [Middle 16th cent.].
- 81<sup>v</sup> Husband, Westmy[n]ster, Jones, Holenshed [Early 16th cent.].
- 190<sup>v</sup> Contains a receipt signed by John à Bryggs dated 'XXII daye of Jull' [on the 6th line, 'the iii yere'] for part payment of an account for xxvis. viiid. for 'howseh[o]ld stoffe' consisting of various pewter vessels, etc. by John Master. This is struck through, and below is a revised receipt, also signed by John à Bryggs, apparently for the whole amount due; and the witnesses are named as John Master, Christofer Briscoe [?] Nicholas Lynch and William Gesty. The date is presumably 1511, the third year of the reign of Henry VIII. This inscription is badly mutilated owing to the fact that ff. 190 and 191 had been pasted together, and inexpertly separated.
- 192 This leaf is badly defaced, and contains inscriptions and scribblings. Among those that can be decyphered are: 'Iste liber constat bere yt well in mynde / John marster [sic] bothe gentill and kynde / A vinculo doloris Jesu hym bring in vita[m] / iternam [sic] at his last endyng. / Per me John Cure'. This is repeated in a different and larger script, ending 'Be me John cure' but is partly defaced. Below at the side: 'This byll made the eight / day off May in the XXth / yere off owre' [1529]. The rest has not been written, but below this again: 'This byll made the eight day / off May in the XVII yere of / owre souerayne lorde Kyng / Henry the eight [1526] witenesyth / Item [?] that Wylliam Smythe off [sic] / Thys[?]byll made the eight day / of Juli [?] yn the tenth day off' / [The rest has not been written]. The name 'John Blakhede' is found among the scribblings.
- 193 Signature of Edward Clarke (late 16th cent.).
- 201 This is an original vellum fly-leaf. On the recto is a receipt for 'A purgation' in a late 15th cent. hand—found also among the interpolated receipts mentioned above. On the verso of this leaf is a three line inscription 'Argent, plumby, albut, clepengye [?] of cockesall [Coggeshall, Essex], h, b, / Wylliam Woodward surgeon of Kelden [Kelvedon, Essex] / Upchere one, botethe [?] of tolson ii, harry baker iii, / morgan iiiii, beyond Colchester v myle fyve'.

Inserted is an envelope containing holograph notes on the anatomical part of this MS. by Joseph Frank Payne [1840-1910] (13 ll.). This MS. was the subject of an article by him in the 'British Medical Journal' 1896, i, pp. 200-203 entitled 'On an unpublished anatomical treatise of the fourteenth century, and its relation to the 'Anatomy' of Thomas Vicary'. Payne has also written a note on fol. 9<sup>v</sup> of the MS.,

MONOPP DE RÜDLINGEN

with his signature, and address. This inscription is found under the signature of H.W. Bailey of Thetford—a former owner (c. 1875). Book-plate of J. F. Payne. From the Payne Collection: Lot 409 in Sotheby's Catalogue. Purchased 1911. (29393)

565. MONOPP de Rüdlingen (CONRAD). Compendium de regimine sanitatis. 160 ll. (last 6 bl.). 4to. 20½ × 15 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards: clasp wanting.

Outer margin of the last leaf cut away.

Written in a neat rounded gothic hand 25–26 lines to a page.

Initials, headings and paragraphs marks in red.

- Fol. 4 (red) Compendium [sic] de regimine sanitatis Chris / tissimo doctore artis medicine collectum. // UNiuersorum conditor deus / in donis suis benedictus . . .

- 153<sup>v</sup> Poncius pilatus Claudio suo Salutem. Nuper accidit et quod ipse probauit . . .
- line 21 . . . et estimas credendum esse mendaciis Iudeorum Vale.

Followed by 4 lines of verse beginning 'O gens Iudea, gens misera, gensque iniqua'.

- 154 (By a different hand) Vrbanus pontifex quintus pro magno munere misit / Imperatori unum agnus dei cum versibus sequentibus / Balsamus ex munda cera cum crismatis unda / . . . (line 10). Si quis honorat eum retinet ab hoste triumphans.

On the fly-leaf pasted down inside the upper cover are four lines of verse beginning '[Cur]andum est ut sit mens sana in corpore sano'. On fol. 1, four lines of verse: the next two leaves are blank.

On fol. 153 is an inscription 'Geor[g]ius Regal 1472 feria secunda post festum michelis' [13th October]: the verses on fol. 154 are by the same hand.

Below the title in red on fol. 4 'Ad bibliothecam Viennensium P.P. Franciscanorum IX E. 492' by an 18th cent. hand.

Purchased 1925. (44000)

566. MONTALBODO. Fragment of a chronicle of the town of Montalbodo: in Italian. 11 ll. 8vo. 22 × 14½ cm. [c. 1530.]

Modern paper covers. Some leaves are wanting after the second leaf: the beginning is missing.

The fragment begins with an account of a grain famine in 1504–05 and a drought in 1507. Some leaves are missing, and the next entries date from 1517 to 1528. They include an account of the siege of the town in 1517, a plague in 1527, floods in 1526, a note on the sack of Rome in 1527, and a famine in 1528.

Modern vellum covers from part of a 'Rotulus condemnationum et absolutionum' [Rome?], dated 1361.

A leaf of the Index at the beginning is wanting: the lower margins of the MS. are water-stained throughout, causing loss of text on the first two leaves.

The volume consists of a student's notes of clinical lectures and 'Consilia', mostly under the name of Montanus. On fol. 13<sup>v</sup> [Franciscus] Frigimelica [1491-1559] is mentioned, while other cases are assigned to an anonymous 'Magister'.

These notes were most probably taken down at the Hospital of St. Francesco at Padua, where both Montanus and Frigimelica gave clinical lectures.

The foliation is original 1-38, and this MS. at the time of writing formed part of a larger volume of student's notes by different hands. These included the two volumes of Frigimelica's lectures, which contain ff. 39-89, and ff. 98-130 [cf. MSS. Nos. 281, 282], the second of these is dated Padua 1537.

Purchased 1930. (52447)

568. — In nonum Rasis expositiones luculentissimae. 176 ll. folio. 27 × 19 cm. [Padua?] 1540.

Modern vellum binding from leaves of a 13th cent. book of homilies.

An un-named student's notes of lectures: De cephalaea: De vertigine: De phrenitide: De apoplexia: De paralyti: De spasmo: De epilepsia: De catarrho: De pleuritide.

Montanus' commentary on Rhazes was published at Venice in 1554.

MONTICELLI

569. MONTICELLI (ERCOLE). Libro di secreti medicinali sopra cavalli ed altri animali . . . 184 pp. + 22 ll. 4to. 20 × 14½ cm. 1632.

T.p. on vellum. 19th cent. morocco binding with arabesque decorations in gold, and stamped on the sides with the arms of Monticelli. T.p. slightly damaged, and margins cropped.

On the title-page are the blazoned arms of Monticelli, within a large historiated decorative ornament.

On the verso of the last leaf is a note of the birth of twin girls on 5 June 1669 who were baptised at St. Andrea's Church, but the place is not given.

Book-plate showing a tree in a field in front of a rising sun; with motto 'Ma persequir virtude e conoscenza'.

Purchased at Sotheby's 10/11/1931, Lot 408. (75327)

570. MONZA. Descrizione della peste seguita in Monza negli anni 1576 e 1577. 235 ll. folio. 29½ × 20½ cm. Monza. 1576. 1577.

Original quarter vellum binding. Fol. 234 (blank?) has been mostly cut out.

The title, the inscription on the spine, a note on the verso of the first leaf, and at the top of the second leaf, are written by Domenico Maria Burocco, who was apparently an early owner of the MS.: his press-mark 'o.4', occurs in several places. On the verso of the first leaf he has written 'Da me Domenico Maria Burocco comprato dal R<sup>do</sup> chierico Gaspare Casteglioni erede del Canonico Abbiati in Monza'.

There are also two small paper slips inserted, by the hand of Burocco: one dated 1629 refers to a storm at Monza on April 9th; the other, dated 20th August 1636, refers to another outbreak of plague at Monza during which a certain Pietro Paolo Burocco was on the town council.

The MS. contains the original official documents of the 'Magistrato di Sanità monzese'. Each leaf has a small stamp at the top right hand corner lettered F.L.

Gaetano Capasso has written a short monograph 'L'Ufficio della Sanità in Monza' Milan 1906, which is based on this MS., of which he gives an account.

A copy of this is in the W.H.M.L.

2 ll. + 356 pp. + 66 ll. 4to.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1620.]

Original calf binding. Pp. 9-12 wanting.

At the end, among the unpaginated leaves, are notes 'February 2nd 1621 A note of my estate in moneyes at London': below this 'A note of my estate in money left at North Waltham when I went to London on Thursday being the 27th of February 1622'.

John Moulton of North Waltham, Hants was Vicar of the Church of St. Bartholomew the Less (Venn: 'Alumni Cantabrigienses'.)

Further among these leaves is a copy of John Donne's 'Last will and testament'. This is printed in Grosart's edition of Donne's poems, as 'Loves legacie'.

On the verso of the second preliminary leaf is a note 'Thomas Moulton was Buride in the Paston Church the 24th day of September 1602'.

The medical receipts towards the end are in English, as also are a few original [?] verses.

89 [113] ll. folio.  $29\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1560.

Original vellum binding, with two leather ties, defective.

24 leaves are wanting between fol. 78 and fol. 102. Ff. 11, 19, 22, 23, 25 are mutilated: last 10 ll. frayed at the margins, etc.

The original foliation is incorrect after fol. 34 where a leaf has been dropped: a corrected numbering has been added.

On fol. 5 a coloured pen-drawing of a graduated urine-glass: fol. 8 figures of weights in yellow and black: fol. 24 astrological signs, etc. Some decorated initials in black and yellow. On the second leaf are pasted three small woodcuts, two of the 'Astrological Man' and one of the Planetary Circles: there is a space for a fourth woodcut, now lost.

Fol. 1 Dominus blasyus de mulio.

2 Woodcuts (see above) with MS. legends in Flemish.

2<sup>v</sup> Latin quotations, and a medical receipt in French.

3 Medical receipts in French.

4 Regnault signatures (see below).

- 81 'Pro consolatione legentium . . . hec omnia que infra scripta sunt diligenter consideret Dominus blasius de mulio'.
Latin quotations in verse. Notes in Latin on books of Canon Law.
- 82<sup>v</sup> Benedictiones ad conjurandum animalia illusa ac lesa.
Pro peste animalium oratio et confessio.
- 84 Exorcismus super homines obsessos [sic] ac a spiritibus malis tribulatos [etc.]
- 88 M. V<sup>o</sup> L. X. in the lower margin.

On fol. 4 are two signatures: 'Toussaint regnault chirurgien servente [sic] dans lille' and below 'Françoise Regnault serviteur [sic] de son pere demeurant a lille'.

On the first leaf there is a note in pencil 'Ex[emplaire] ayant appartenu à Rabelais. Quaritch'. As Rabelais is believed to have died in May 1554 (cf. 'Biographisches Lexikon'), and our MS. is dated 1560, this statement seems to be erroneous.

152 ll. folio. 34½ × 24 cm. [Middle 13th cent.]

On vellum. 17th cent. vellum binding.

Some corners repaired: ff. 1 and 150<sup>r</sup> somewhat rubbed.

Written in a rounded gothic hand, 36/37 lines to a page.

Some headings in red, and some capitals and paragraph marks in alternate red-blue, blue-red.

On fol. 1 are two illuminated historiated initials. The first a D, showing a seated bearded figure in a purple robe and blue over-dress, holding a red book [Hippocrates? or Aesculapius?]: below this another similar initial U showing three plants in a bowl [?]. In the upper corners, one on each side, a Sun and a Moon.

On fol. 75<sup>v</sup> is a full page illustration in colours of three standing male figures, one of which is a nude boy: they appear on a field of flowers, with three trees in the background.

Dr. Charles Singer has suggested that this is probably a Christian version of the Presentation to Apuleius of the 'Herbarius' by Aesculapius and Chiron.

The MS. is illustrated by 159 coloured, and 44 uncoloured drawings of plants and animals. In a few cases there are blank spaces where the illustrations have been omitted.

This MS. would seem to belong to 'Classis β' in the division of Pseudo-Apuleian MSS. made by Howald and Sigerist in their edition (Corpus medicorum Latinorum Vol. IV. 1927), as it contains the 'Imprecationes' and the work by Sextus Placitus.

In our MS. the latter seems to be greatly expanded, though the section on birds is omitted: but there is added a considerable amount of text on insects.

The text of the 'Imprecationes' seems very corrupt, and this applies also to the re-written version at the end of the volume (ff. 147<sup>v</sup>-149).

From the arrangement of the text on fol. 37<sup>v</sup>, it would seem that the compiler of this MS. includes the 'De taxone' as part of the work by Sextus Placitus: and he also appears to include the Letter to Octavius from 'Idpartus rex aegyptiorum' which precedes the work on the badger.

The 'Herbarius' was first printed at Rome in 1481, and the work by Antonius Musa was included in the Bâle 'Collectio de re medica' 1528, edited by Albanus Torinus. For Sextus Placitus, cf. entry for MS. No. 748.

On a fly-leaf at the beginning 'Marci Cremonani' in a 17th cent. hand.

Purchased at a Hoepli Sale at Milan 13 June 1930, Lot 143. (69759)

No provenance is given in their catalogue.

574. — De herba vettonica. Pseudo-APULEIUS. Herbarium.
 52 ll. folio. 28½ × 20 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding from a photographically reproduced leaf of an unidentified 14th cent. medical MS.

Fol. 1 contains a half-page water-colour showing two physicians seated in academic robes, stated by the book-seller (Desgranges of Paris) to represent Avicenna and Arnoldus de Villanova. The lower half of the page contains two drawings of plants. In all there are 104 water colour drawings of plants, of which 17 are full-page.

1 l. + 80 ff. + 72 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 20 × 13½ cm. 1630–1635

19th cent. paper covers. A number of leaves have been cut out, ff. 4 and 5 are torn away and ff. 8, 11 mutilated, ff. 55, 62 are wanting.

Small hole in last three leaves and in fol. 6, many corners and margins frayed.

On fol. 54<sup>v</sup> is a pen-drawing of 'Trabes mutuo se substinentes'; and in the un-foliated section, a diagram for measuring heights by the shadow cast by the sun, and a drawing of a bowl.

The extracts from Wecker consist of medical receipts and 'secrets', technical receipts, practical jokes, etc. This part is entirely in Latin. The 'Additio' (Fol. 80) is partly in Italian and contains similar material, but also includes, notes on the virtues of herbs, etc; 'Somnium interpretatio Patriarchae Nicephori [Gregoriae] Constantino-politani' in Latin verse (4 ll.); 'Adnotata in materia superstitionis contra maleficia seu sortilegium' (6 ll.); 'Herbarum in terrestri superficie cognitarum alphabetico ordine digestarum nomina' (13 ll.); notes on cosmetics, especially hair-dyes; alchemical and chemical receipts, etc. At the end 'La seconda parte della 'Somma dei secreti' [by Timoteo Rosselli]?'.

The extracts from Wecker are dated 1630, and the 'Additio' 1635. The compiler describes himself as 'Juris utriusque Doctor'.

The first of the last two items seems to be connected with the works of Johannes de Rupescissa. Not only the religious style, but the mention of 'santi et evangelici viri' and the necessity of assisting the needs of the poor and of the Church and the Faithful, are all to be found in Rupescissa's 'Liber lucis' and especially in his 'De consideratione quintae essentiae'.

The last item is an account of the making of the 'Stone' in 1202 by the Author and one Cornelius Gallutius who converted lead into gold by using one part of the 'Powder' to a 1000 parts of lead. They sold the converted lead to Joannes Baptista Ranutius, a schoolmaster of Bologna for 28 librae per ounce, and it was sent to the mint at Padua in May 1202. The prime element of the 'Powder' was 'sal nitrum'.

26 ll. 4to.  $16\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

On vellum. Modern half calf binding. Margins cropped.

Headings in red. The recto of the first leaf, and the verso of the last contain pen-drawn kabbalistic diagrams in red, black and purple. In the centre of the first is the Almighty upon a throne with one foot upon the world: in the centre of the second the Lamb resting upon the Book with Seven Seals and illustrating the text 'Vidi Satanam sicut fulgur de coelo cadentem'. On the recto of the second leaf the names of the seven Spirits of the days of the week are written in different coloured inks.

Armorial Library label of Edward Hailstone [1818-1890].

Purchased 1911. (29111).

585. OPUS quod Almanach intitulum.

16 ll. (first & last 2 bl.). 4to.  $20 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1505.]

Modern vellum binding. Last [blank?] leaf almost entirely cut away: margins cropped.

Written in a difficult current script, with many abbreviations: by a German scribe.

Illustrated with 3 rough pen-drawn diagrams.

586. ORDENUNG der Gesuntheit: a 'Regimen senitatis' in German, dedicated to Graf Rudolf von Hohenburg and his wife Margarethe von Tierstain. With added sections on the Calendar, the Moon, the Months, the Planets, and the Zodiac in relation to medicine: a version of the translation by Constantinus Africanus of the 'Liber urinarum' of Isaac Judaeus, also in German: at the end a Herbal, and a Latin-German glossary of herbs.

1 l. + 286 ff. + 1 l. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1450.]

Original stamped leather binding over oak boards, rebacked: both clasps wanting.

Twelve leaves are probably missing. The lower part of fol. 61 has been torn away, a few margins are frayed, and the MS. has been slightly cropped in re-binding.

Written by several contemporary hands in a rounded gothic script: initials, headings and paragraph marks in red.

On fol. 60<sup>v</sup> is a rough pen-drawn circular diagram for finding the Dominical Letter, in red and green: similar figures were on the recto and verso of the next leaf but have been torn out.

There are also three Calendar Tables in red and black on fol. 62 and fol. 63<sup>r</sup>.

An unnamed bookseller has paginated the MS. in ink 1-597 but a new pencilled foliation is used in the description below.

There are original signatures in groups of 24 (a-z), but ff. 46-60 and ff. 139-68, as well as other leaves, have been bound in wrong order.

On the verso of the first fly-leaf 'Im 1546 Hanns Hecheleben [?]'.

On the recto of the last fly-leaf three medical receipts by an early 17th cent. hand.

- No. 1 The 'Ordnung' was first printed at Augsburg in 1472, and there were several later 15th cent. editions. This MS. has been compared with a copy of the Ulm edition of 1482 in the Wellcome Library, and it seems to end at line 13 of fol. 29 of the printed work.

 'Arzneibuch', Cf. Sudhoff 'Deutsche medizinische Inkunabeln' 1908,
 pp. 8-17, 30-34.

- 5 These receipts include tracts or parts of tracts by Nicolas medicus comitis de Wirtenburg [Württemberg], Eger Meister zu Brandenburg, Peter des Kaisers Arzt, and a version of the 'Sendbrief über die Pest' here addressed to a Pope [Clement VI] and dated 1348. [Cf. Sudhoff: 'Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin' under these names in the Index (Vol. XVII) to his
 'Pestschriften aus dem ersten 150 Jahren nach der Epidemie des 'schwarzen

Original sheepskin binding, coloured crimson, over wooden boards.

Both clasps and bosses on sides wanting.

Upper margins of first two leaves slightly defective: about an inch of the outer margin of the last leaf cut away.

Written in a rounded gothic semi-current hand: in double-column of 25-27 lines to a column.

Large ornamental initial in red and black on fol. 3, other capitals and headings in red.

Ff. 1, 2 Scribbling in black and red, religious ejaculations, verses, etc.:

ORTOLFF VON BAYERLAND

123<sup>v</sup>, col. 2 Vrtica nessel et cetera. /// Finis adest vere scripitor / wlt precium habere.

The text shows considerable variations from that of the first printed edition of 1477.

According to Sudhoff 'Deutsche medizinische Inkunabeln', 1908, p. 29, the only other known MS. which gives the name of Ortolff's birthplace at Würzburg is Munich MS. germ. 4205: but this information is also found in the second copy of the work in this Catalogue [MS. No. 588, Fol. 50<sup>v</sup>].

On fol. 94 a former owner has written in the margin 'Probatum est Anno 1491 von Adams geburt': a similar note dated 1642 is found in the margin of fol. 93<sup>v</sup>.

From the Dietrichstein Library.

Purchased at Lucerne (Dietrichstein Sale) 22/11/1933, Lot 514. (66284).

588. — Arzneibuch. Preceded by short tracts on medical astrology, fortune-telling, etc., and a few medical receipts.

145 ll. (last 7 bl.). 4to. 19½ × 14 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

16th cent. stamped vellum binding: both ties missing. The first item is only a fragment of 6 ll. Three leaves have been cut out after fol. 33, two after fol. 67, and others after ff. 77, 82, 129 and at the end of the text. Ff. 34-38 have been bound in upside down.

Written by several contemporary hands. Some initials, paragraph marks, and headings in red. On ff. 38<sup>v</sup>, 41, 41<sup>v</sup> are rough pen-drawn astrological figures.

The Compiler's name is possibly O. Partholomaeus for on fol. 54<sup>v</sup> he says 'et ipse Partholomeus experientiam habui in francia anno [15]63'.

No. 9 is headed 'Communicatum Anno 1595 Die Solis et Conversionis S. Pauli a medico in Pintika (?) duobus milliaribus ab Halle in Schuaben Santer'. The 'Processus Rogerii Bachi' apparently refers to Roger Bacon.

Santer is also mentioned again, on fol. 183<sup>v</sup>, and perhaps again on fol. 163<sup>v</sup> as 'Matthaeus Sandner'.

The presumed writer's name appears again in the entry on fol. 163<sup>v</sup> 'Clarissimo magistro D[omino] O. P[artholomaeo?] Doctori medico Noriburgensi excellentissimo humanissimo Carolus Cortesius D. M. Gallus Aualonensis observantiae primae ipso aequinoctii Verni die Anno 1589 Arcanum [dedit]'. 56 ll. folio. 30 × 28 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

19th cent. quarter morocco binding. First two leaves slightly frayed in the margins.

Written in a semi-current humanistic script, 33 lines to a page.

Fol. 1 Incipit liber Palladii Rutuli [sic] tauri emiliani Viri Illustris opus agriculture. Incipit titulus / libri primi. / De preceptis rei rustice. / ...
53<sup>v</sup> (End) ... Nunc plante cardui ponuntur quas cum ponemus radices earum / summas ferro resecamus.

54-56 Technical receipts for making colours, household receipts, a few in Italian. On fol. 56 two medical receipts 'Contra vertiginem' and 'De litargia'.

The text ends at Book XI, Chapter 11, line 8 of Cabaret-Dupaty's edition, Paris 1844, Page 350.

The work was first printed at Venice in 1472, as part of the 'Scriptores rei rusticae'.

On vellum.

Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, rebaked: both clasps wanting.

The fly-leaf at the end has been cut down.

Written, probably in Florence, in a rounded gothic hand, 28-30 lines to a page.

On the first leaf an illuminated initial A in gold and colours with marginal decoration; on the third leaf, a similar A, but without the marginal ornaments. Paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, headings in red.

(By another cursive hand) 1515 // Copia di capitoli dello appuntamento facto intra il sommo pontefice et lo illustrissimo re di francia. Followed by other memoranda, the last dated 18 February 1515 [1516].

On the fly-leaf are further memoranda by the same hand, dated between 14 July 1512 and 17 March 1515 [1516].

Inside the lower cover is the signature of Guglielmo Cioni, perhaps the writer of the memoranda noted above.

The MS. contains a general history of the world from the Birth of Christ to 1448, with particular reference to Florence. It was printed in part as a supplement to the 'Chronicon' of Eusebius published at Milan c. 1475 [Hain 6715. B.M. VI, 703].

From the Libri Library sold at Sotheby's 11/8/1859, Lot 1926:

Bookseller's label of Pickering of Piccadilly, London.

Armorial book-plate of William Horatio Crawford [1815-1890] of Lakelands, Cork, whose library was sold at Sotheby's 12/3/1891.

Ex-libris of William Morris [1834-1896].

Inserted are two loose sheets: the first on blue paper contains notes on the contents of the MS. by Crawford, the second is a short bibliographical description by Douglas Cockerell [1870-1950].

Purchased at Sotheby's (Morris Sale) 9/12/1898, Lot 930. (6688)

149 ll. 4to. 20 × 15 cm. [Bâle.] 1563.

Modern gilt stamped vellum binding.

Tear, with loss of text in the fifth leaf from the end, corners and margins of the last 4 ll. slightly damaged: some damp-stains.

Title-page in red and black, headings and underlinings in red.

Written carefully in a very black ink.

This MS. is apparently unpublished and unrecorded. A Latin translation was printed by Perna of Bâle in 1563 (Sudhoff: 'Bibliographia Paracelsica' No. 54). The first German edition of this work appeared in the same year (Sudhoff No. 57), but the text is different.

The work is dedicated to Cosimo de Medici, and is stated at the end of the 'Widmungsbrief', to be 'Auszu unserem Studierstübl am 7 Tag Marcii, Anno Salutis. 1563 zu Basel'.

Purchased 1908. (21105)

PARACELSUS

594. — Collection of medical, chemical and alchemical receipts, and short alchemical works, by or attributed to Paracelsus: in German, by several hands.

63 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $18\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm.
[c. 1575], 1686.

Modern boards. Ff. 40-end are frayed in the margins and damp-stained. A foliation in pencil has been added.

Ff. 1-39 are of smaller format, and have a watermark which is possibly Briquet No. 1113 which is assigned to Salzburg 1559. The first 13 leaves, ff. 21-27, and the verso of fol. 37 are written by two different hands, both of which are probably of the second half of the 16th cent.

The date 1686 appears on fol. 57 and is by a third hand, associated with most of the rest of the MS.

- Contents: (1) Medical and iatro-chemical receipts, possibly extracted from Paracelsian works, the list on fol. 13<sup>v</sup> headed 'Oleum Vitrioli domini doctoris theophrasti'. (ff. 2-13<sup>v</sup>).
(2) Similar receipts with some chemical and alchemical processes, by 17th cent. hands. (ff. 13<sup>v</sup>-20).
(3) Continuation of the same receipts as in No. 1. (ff. 21-25<sup>v</sup>).
(4) [PARACELSUS?]. Sermon on marriage (Extract). By the second of the 16th cent. hands. (ff. 25<sup>v</sup>-27<sup>v</sup>).
(5) Medical chemical and alchemical receipts, etc.: by 17th cent. hands. (ff. 27<sup>v</sup>-37).
(6) [PARACELSUS?]. Vom sacrament (Extract on the Holy Eucharist). By the second 16th cent. hand. (ff. 37<sup>v</sup>).
(7) [PARACELSUS]. Alchemical, chemical and other receipts, processes, and 'secrets', transcribed from the printed 'Geheimnusz aller Geheimnisse' 1686. (ff. 37<sup>v</sup>-end).

A full description of this work is given under No. 419 in Sudhoff's 'Bibliographia Paracelsica' Vol. I pp. 626, 627.

An 18th cent. owner has stated on the first leaf 'Ein Theil dieses Manuscripts soll von Theophrasti Paracelsi eigener handschrift seyn. Relata refero'.

This would refer to ff. 2-13<sup>v</sup>, 21-25<sup>v</sup>, and possibly to the two religious tracts.

The script however does not seem of a sufficiently early type, though bearing a slight resemblance to the facsimiles of Paracelsian receipts in Vol. II of Sudhoff's work. The dating of the watermark is also conclusive evidence against the suggestion.

It is to be noted that the entry No. 419 [No. 7 above] in Sudhoff is classed among what he calls 'Neudrucke ohne Worth'.

Purchased 1931. (74765)

595. — Sydus philosophicum et chemicum collectoris incerti ex operibus Paracelsi: in Latin throughout.

9 ll. (last bl.). + 624 pp. + 19 ll.
8 vo.  $15 \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original limp vellum binding.

In the first three leaves the date 1704 occurs in entries made by a former owner, who was apparently an Italian schoolmaster.

This collection of extracts from the works of Paracelsus, which are mainly concerned with alchemy, seems to be unrecorded.

Purchased 1923. (42858)

596. PARACELSUS (BOMBASTUS ab HOHENHEIM) (Aureolus Philippus Theophrastus). [1493-1541] [& others]. Prophecie en voorsegginge van voorgaene, tegenwoordige en toecommende geschiedenisse en toeval van alderlystande, des vroomes tot vermaeninge en troost, de boose tot en schrick, en waerschouwinge tot het eynde te vercondige. Als Doctori Paracelsi Johan Lichtenbergers, Mr. Josephi Groenpech, Johan Carions, der Sibylle, en andere. Incomplete: containing Paracelsus and Lichtenberger only: with ff. 3-21 of the printed text inserted.

3 ll. + 141 pp. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 16$  cm. [c. 1570.]

Modern half calf binding.

Ff. 1, 2, 20 and all after fol. 21 are wanting from the printed work which is the 'Propheceien und Weissagungen' of Paracelsus, No. 27 of Sudhoff's Bibliography, and according to him, printed not long after 1549. Fol. 3 is partly covered over, fol. 19 laid down.

The Lichtenberger section of the MS., which is complete, is illustrated with 34 small woodcuts, cut out from a 16th cent. quarto edition, and pasted in. The title of this work (p. 37) as translated into Dutch is: 'Practica van Mester Johan Lichtenberger vande groote Coniuncti Saturni en Jovis desgelyk van de Eclipsis der Sonne, in voorgaende jaere dwerende tot men schrypt MccccLxvii jaer alle stande der werlt qwuede en goede toevallē te vercondige met veel wonderlyke figuren'.

In the Register on the verso of the third preliminary leaf, the date given to the Paracelsus item seems to have been originally written 1550, and afterwards altered to 1560.

This Register includes the missing works by the other Authors mentioned in the title.

Purchased 1936. (69677)

597. (1) Quatuordecim libri Paragraphorum. (2) Liber Praeparationum. (3) BRACESCO (Giovanni). De alchemia: Dialogus primus. (In German.) (4) Alchemical receipts: in German. Written by different, but contemporary hands. 56 ll. (last bl.) + ll. 57-247 + 46 ff. (last bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1575.]

Original stamped half pigskin binding: with two metal and pigskin clasps, damaged.

- (1) 1.1 Exellentissimi [sic] Viri doctoris Theophras / tri [sic] liber quatuordecim [sic] paragionorum [sic]. / Cap. primum de morbo dissuluto [sic]. / Liber primus. // Omne quod perfectum est per stomachum / in digestum abit . . .

- (4) Alchemical receipts and processes in German [46 ff. (last bl.)].

The first two works are in Latin and German. The 'Libri XIV Paragraphorum' was first published in full at Strassburg in 1575 [Sudhoff 160], though there had been an earlier and shorter version published at Bâle in 1571 [Sudhoff 130].

The 'Libri praeparationum' was first published in 1569 [Sudhoff 104].

Our MS. here seems to be very similar to that in the Kassel Landsbibliothek, No. 149 of Sudhoff's Catalogue of Paracelsian MSS.

The third item in this MS. is a German translation of the first dialogue in Bracresco's 'La espositione di Geber philosopho', first printed at Venice in 1544, with later Latin translations. No record has been traced of any printed German version of this Dialogue between Geber and Demogorgon in which the principles of alchemy are set forth.

From the Julius Kohn Library.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/1/1935, Lot 24. (68067).

PARADISI

598. — Collection of extracts, transcripts, etc. from the alchemical works of Paracelsus: with other extracts from similar treatises by or attributed to Raymundus Lullius: in Spanish.

7 ll. (last 3 bl.). + 165 ff. + 17 ll. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding worn: both ties wanting.

Contents:

Ff. 1-5	PARACELUS. De spiritibus planetarum [Extract].
6-86	„ De natura rerum.
86-99	„ Extracts from various works.
100-112 <sup>v</sup>	„ De la naturaleza del hombre. [De natura hominis].

163 <sup>v</sup> -165	PARACELUS. Extracts.

The four un-numbered leaves at the beginning and four of the un-numbered leaves at the end, contain alchemical receipts and notes in Catalan, by Hiacinto Bertran of Barcelona.

On the first leaf he has written 'A quest libre es de mi Hiacinto Bertran menor donzell domiciliat a la siutat de Barcelona ali primer de Januar de 1660'. On the penultimate leaf there is a note, dated 1696, by Bertran recording the death of two 'notaris' at the town of S. Pedro.

There are a few other alchemical receipts in Catalan by different 18th cent. hands. Purchased at Sotheby's 10/6/1931, Lot 510 (part). (74295<sup>v</sup>)

149 ll. folio. 31 × 21 cm. [Padua.] 1578.

Modern quarter calf binding: written on paper of different formats.

The lectures by Paterno are incomplete, and the leaves have been bound in wrong order. The work by Pendasio is also incomplete, but in right order.

On fol. 13 is the date 12 February, 1578, and on fol. 75<sup>v</sup>, 30 January, 1578.

At the end of Paterno's tenth lecture is written 'Pulsantibus scolaribus finem hic posuit'.

These lecture notes have been taken down by an un-named student. In the first work, there are many gaps in the text, and it is written very carelessly.

PATIN

In uniform binding with the Paterno MS. No. 602, and by the same hand. Both these MSS. seem originally to have formed part of one large volume. Purchased 1910. (24847)

602. Lectiones Bernardini Paterni profitentis Theoricam primo loco ordinariam in Patavino Gymnasio in Prima Fen primi libri Avicennae anno 1578, tertio die novembris. With other lectures, etc.

213 ll. folio.  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 21$  cm. Padua. 1578, 1579

Modern quarter calf binding. Some leaves are bound in wrong order.

The lectures on Avicenna, are followed by others on 'Morbus Gallicus' on Galen's 'Methodus medendi', the 'Praesagia' and 'Prognostica' of Hippocrates, on putrid fevers, and on the Aphorisms of Hippocrates. The last section is on 'Melancholia hypochondriaca', in the middle of which is inserted a letter containing advice to a patient, in Italian and apparently by a different hand. The patient was suffering from an affection of the left ear.

In uniform binding with the Paterno MS. No. 601, and by the same hand.

Both these MSS. apparently originally formed part of one large volume.

Purchased 1930. (62826)

603. — Lectiones de methodo cognoscendi morbos.

63 [64] ll. (first & last 3 bl.). folio.  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 21$  cm. [Padua.] [c. 1580.]

Modern boards. The last (blank?) leaf has been cut out.

The MS. is probably a student's fair copy of notes of the lectures of Paterno, who is described as 'Salodiensis philosophus ac medicus praestantissimus theoricam medicinae profitens in Patavino Gymnasio'.

Purchased 1930. (56407)

604. — Excellentissimi Domini Bernardini Paterni Salodiensis theoricam medicinae in Patavino Gymnasio profitentis: de morbo Gallico lectiones praeclarissimae, habitae die primo novembris. 1585.

28 ll. (first & last 2 bl.). 8vo.  $16 \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1525.]

Original stamped leather binding, repaired and rebacked.

Title and headings in red.

This MS. is a commentary by an unknown 16th cent. author on Book I of the 'Opera', which is concerned with vegetable and other Materia Medica. It is probably by a German, as in many instances the German names of herbs and plants are given.

In the note to 'Caput 44' is a marginal reference 'Vide Budeum De asse et partibus'. This work was first published in 1514.

Particulars of acquisition not known. (44572)

606. PENA (LAZARE DE) [ -1653]. Anatomie nouvelle [interpolated by a later hand: 'Du sieur de Pena grand Médecin à Paris'] de l'homme et des choses de Nature. 253 pp. 4to. 21½ × 16 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum binding.

On the verso of the title-page is an inscription by the same hand as that of the interpolation to the title: 'La minutte de ce Manuscrit me fut donné par Monsieur de St. Pons à l'article de la mort, il creut me faire un grand Présent, Ayant conservé très chèrement cet ouvrage qu'il avoit eu de son oncle. C'est un dessein tout particulier, un ouvrage très sçavant, dans lequel il a cru donner quelque ouverture au sujet de la pierre des philosophes'.

On the inside of the lower cover is a note by the same hand: 'Edimbourg. Le maior gnal [Neil?] buchan. Le Sieur canon. Le colonel gratin [Grattan?] et d'autres officiers'. This seems to be written by a middle 18th cent. hand.

The attribution of this MS. to Lazare Pena, Physician to Louis XIII, is doubtful, and no record of its publication has been traced, but it appears to be an interesting fore-runner of the ideas of the Abbé Pernety as expounded in his 'Dictionnaire Mytho-Hermétique' of 1758, and his 'Fables égyptiennes et grecques dévoilées' published in the same year. According to these, as Ferguson states in his 'Bibliotheca Chemica' s.v. PERNETY: 'The whole ancient mythology is merely a long sustained allegory of the preparation of the philosopher's stone'.

8vo. 18 × 12 cm. 1641.

Original calf binding, rebacked.

Illustrated with a few small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

The second work, and the Index to the first, are by a different and probably later hand.

From the Library of Lionel Hauser of Paris, with his press-mark label 'L.H. 164'.

Purchased as Sotheby's (Hauser Sale) 18/4/1934, Lot 433. (66633)

Original calf binding worn.

Written in an elaborate script.

Title in red and black, some headings in red.

The date 1681 is written inside the lower cover, but the work was probably written in the first half of the 17th cent.

Purchased 1936. (69678)

613. PETRUS de Abano [1250-1316]. De venenis.
17 ll. 8vo. 19 × 13 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards. Margins badly cropped in rebinding.

Written in a rounded gothic hand, 33 lines to a page. Initials, paragraph marks and headings in red.

Fol. 1 (By a later hand) Pollux de Venenis editus a Magistro / Petro de Ebano. // REuerendissimo in christo patri et domino. domino Iohanni / diuina prouidentia summo pontifici Petrus de / ebano minimus medicorum . . .

A few marginal notes by later 15th cent. hands, partly shorn away in rebinding.

This MS. originally formed part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 82 (JOHANNITIUS) and MS. No. 83 (ARTICELLA): on the first leaf is a foliation 46, which carries on from the last leaf of the Articella MS.

The 'De venenis' was first printed at Mantua in 1472.

Purchased 1922. (42016)

614. — Tractatus de venenis.
54 [58]. 4to. 21½ × 14½ cm. [Late 15th cent.]

On vellum: 18th cent. quarter calf binding. Fol. 49 [Blank ?] and ff. 55-57 [blanks ?] have been cut out.

Written in a neat humanistic hand, 18 lines to a page.

Illuminated initial R on first leaf in gold and colours, with marginal decoration: other initials in alternate brown and blue, headings in red: the Index is wholly written in red.

Fol. 1 (red) Tractatus De uenenis a magistro Pe / tro de Abbano editus. // [R]Euerendissimo in chri / sto patri et domino domino. N. / diuina prouidentia summo / pontifici . . .

The pagination has been cut out in binding.

Below the text on fol. 1 are the emblazoned arms, within a gold circle and wreath, of an unidentified cardinal.

The last leaf is blank except for four lines of Latin verse, written in an 18th cent. hand.

Purchased 1930. (63449)

615. — Trattato delli veleni. Followed by a number of receipts, many against plague: and a short treatise by an anonymous author, in the form of a letter 'Circha alla pestifera infirmita'.

2 ll. + 93 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Original wooden boards, rebaked in calf: clasp wanting.

The first 2 ll. are an early 19th cent. addition: the first and last 2 ll. seem to have been original fly-leaves. Ff. 83-91 containing the Plague tract are on paper of slightly larger format (21 cm.), and are by a different—though contemporary hand.

The main text, with the receipts as far as fol. 80 are by the same hand.

Written in a neat semi-current humanistic hand, 19 lines to a page: headings and paragraph marks in red.

contemporary hand. Among these are included
'Pulvere' by Diodoro del Carmine, Pandolfo Petrucci
[1450–1512] and Giovanni Allegretti. This section contains also, on fol. 82, 'Pillole contra peste et contra 82<sup>v</sup>.

- 93<sup>v</sup> Note of an account, dated 1503. There is a similar note with the same date, added in the upper margin of fol. 81. The same hand is found—through the date has been torn away at the corner of fol. 1, which contains 'Una orazione da cui fusse rischaldato e infredato'.
Below the note dated 1503, is an inscription by a certain Gismondo, in an early 16th cent. hand who notes that 'mi posi per garzone con Bindo Serminoci e chompagni spesiali'.

On the lower half of the first leaf is an inscription by an 18th cent. hand: 'Il presente libro li compro il R.P. Antonio Maria del g. Donato Visconti nativo di Milano con altri libri, quando era Priore a Montefiorello, o sia al Castello di Greve'.

The two preliminary fly-leaves contain notes on other MSS. of Petrus de Abano, extracted from Mazzuchelli's 'Gli scrittori d'Italia' Vol. 1, together with a transcript of the charm on fol. 1, on the verso of the second leaf.

The Plague treatise (ff. 83–88)—though not identified—seems to be based on the 'Modus vivendi tempore pestilentiali' by Johannes de Dondis [1318–1389], who is named as having written it for an anonymous 'Episcopus parisiensis in 1383. Our treatise however must be of a later date, as on fol. 85, line 19 we find 'Poluero composta dal detto maestro dal quale uidessi sperimento a genoua nell' anno Mille cccc.xii'.

PETRUS DE ABANO

The reference to 'Morbo gallico' and 'Mal francioso' on fol. 82 is an early one—probably c. 1500—as the date 1503 on the preceding page is certainly a later addition.

Though numerous editions of the 'De venenis' in the original Latin are recorded, no Italian translation seems to have been printed. A French version was published at Lyons in 1593.

Purchased 1905. (11895)

93 [94] ll. [ff. 340–431]. 4to. 21 × 14½ cm. [Venice?] 1470.

Early 19th cent. morocco gilt binding.

Fol. 429 has been wrongly bound after fol. 428 which it should precede.

This MS. at one time formed part of a larger volume. It is foliated 340–431, with a number dropped after fol. 340.

A leaf has been cut out between fol. 386 and fol. 387, but without loss of text.

Written in a clear humanistic hand, 20 lines to a page.

Chapter headings and marginalia in red, partly rubricated. Spaces for large capitals.

A few contemporary marginal notes.

Franciscus Aretinus has been identified with Francesco Accolti of Arezzo [1418-1483], the jurist, but the G.K.W. and others consider that he was Francesco Griffolini.

The translator of the last two collections of letters is known from the printed edition to have been Rinuccio da Castiglione.

The Phalaris Letters were first printed in Rome in 1470, and the others in Florence in 1487.

Novello Malatesta, Lord of Cesena, died in 1465.

Fol. clviii (End) Vsus antidoti emagogi de mane cum vino / conseruat sanitatem in frigida complexionem.

This MS. appears to be one of the works mentioned in his entry on 'Jean Piscis' by Wickersheimer in his 'Dictionnaire biographique des médecins en France au moyen âge', p. 464.

PLATEARIUS

He is called 'Johannes de Piscis' by Sudhoff (Archiv. XVII, pp. 51-53). He was Chancellor of the University of Montpellier from 1394 to his death in 1433, and this MS. may have been written during his lifetime.

Armorial book-plate inside the upper cover inscribed 'E bibliotheca D. Abbatis Fauvel'. On this is written '72 l. en 1744'.

On the verso of the second fly-leaf is a note on the author in Latin, here named 'Joannes de Pisis', by the same hand.

On the verso of the first fly-leaf 'Ex Bibliotheca Caroli Ludovici Francisci Andry [1741-1829], Magistri in Medicina, antiqui Professoris / saluberrimae Facultatis in Universitate Alma Parisiensi, e regia Societate Medica Parisiensi / anno 1783. Ex dono Clarissimi [Guillaume] Debure [1734-1820], Bibliopolae Parisiensis simul et Bibliophili'. Later the MS. became part of the famous manuscript collection formed by Jean Baptiste Joseph Barrois [1784-1853], which was purchased en bloc in 1855 by Bertram, 4th Earl of Ashburnham [1797-1878].

The collection was again sold en bloc by the 5th Earl, at Sotheby's 10-14 June 1901, in which this MS. was Lot 308.

Purchased 1909. (21449)

PISIS (JOHANNES DE). See PISCIS (Johannes de) [ -1433].

623. PLATEARIUS (JOHANNES). Practica brevis de cura egritudinum. TABULAE remediorum Salernitanae.

26 ll. folio. 24 × 16 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum. Original half leather binding over wooden boards, worn: clasp wanting.

The fly-leaves at beginning and end, are from a folded folio vellum leaf of a somewhat earlier legal MS., written in double column with marginal glosses, headings and capitals in red, paragraph marks in blue.

Written in a small gothic script, in double column of 48-50 lines to a column.

Large ornamental initial A on the first leaf in red and blue with marginal decoration: other capitals in blue and red, and red and blue: paragraph marks in alternate red and blue, headings in red.

The second column of this leaf, and the whole of the last leaf contain receipts and remedies by later 14th cent. hands.

On the recto of the last fly-leaf is a receipt in a 15th cent. hand 'Pro Simone roncheti Bolus laxativus'.

The 'Practica brevis' was first printed at Ferrara in 1488.

Purchased 1911. (26877)

Library stamp of Dr. Arnold Busson [1844-1892], the German historian, on the first leaf.

The author's name is incorrectly given as 'Johannes Platearius' on fol. 1.

This work was first printed at Ferrara in 1488.

Purchased 1924. (43460)

625. — Excerpt on herbs from 'Circa instans'. Pseudo-HIPPOCRATES. Diaeta de circulo anni. Index to the complete 'Circa instans'. In German.

26 ll. 4to. 19 × 14 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. Vellum covers from part of a Papal letter [See below].

The beginning is wanting before Section X.

Written in a neat gothic hand, capitals and paragraph marks in red: 33 lines to a page.

The Index is in four columns.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

In the lower margin of the verso of the last leaf is a note by a later 15th cent. hand: 'Iste liber fuit quondam domini Iohannis de monheim bone memorie'.

The vellum cover is from part of a Papal Letter from 'Johannes episcopus servus servorum' addressed to 'Hedenrico Preposito' of a Church the name of which is wanting. It was probably at Toulouse, as in line 3 that city is mentioned, and its 'Domus hospitalis sancti Iohannis Ierosolimitani'. The letter is dated from Avignon, but the date itself and the signature are missing.

It is most probable that the Pope named is John XXII, who was elected Pope at Avignon in 1316 and died in 1334 at the age of ninety.

A reference in 'Gallia Christiana' Vol. XIII for the Toulouse Diocese mentions correspondence with the Knights of St. John in 1324.

Purchased 1935. (68458)

626. — Circa instans, seu de medicamentis simplicibus (in French): in a version closely resembling that of the first printed edition of the 'Arbolaire'. [Besançon. c. 1477/8.] With additional medical receipts and notes in Latin and French: including some early receipts against the 'Mal de Naples'. [c. 1500.]

316 ff. (last 2 bl.). folio. 28 × 19 cm. [Cluny?] [c. 1480–1500.]

On paper and vellum; two leaves in every gathering being vellum.

18th cent. half calf binding over wooden boards, damaged. Stain on Fol. 21<sup>v</sup> and Fol. 22. Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Written in double column 34–42 lines to a page. Ff. 264–293 are by a different but contemporary hand, and ff. 294–end by several late 15th cent. hands.

On fol. 1 an illuminated initial E in gold and colours. Other initials and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue.

The first (vellum) leaf recto is divided into two large upper, and two small lower panels. The whole is surrounded by a decorated floreated border in gold and colours. The top oblong of this panel contains two scrolls in blue, each lettered in white with the motto 'Loue soit il'. These are repeated in the lower oblong on each side of an emblazoned shield, and accompanied each by a cock, or.

The left upper panel shows a Physician in his study attired in a long blue robe and purple bonnet, holding up an urine flask towards a latticed window. The floor of the room is of green tiles, and it is furnished with a two-tiered stand, and two bookshelves recessed into the wall, one containing a large open book.

The right upper panel contains an emblazoned coat of arms—azure two cocks or, crested, gules, affronted: with three estoiles, or. The supporters are two cocks, and the shield is surmounted by a crest—a helmet sable surmounted by a cock's head or, crested, gules. The shield is repeated in the lower panel (see above).

The illustrations in the text are in water colour and numbered 1–458, but 24 have been omitted, though spaces have been left. These illustrations are mainly of plants and herbs, but there are 44 showing animals, insects, stones, human figures engaged in country pursuits, domestic implements, a furnace, fire-place, etc.

The last 11 ff. are on paper with a different watermark (Briquet 9744 = Cluny 1456, or 9771 = Chaussin 1451). The whole of the rest of the MS. is on paper with watermark Briquet No. 13040 = Bourg 1464.

	Blank.

As shown by the names of persons, mentioned in the Receipts following the main text, it seems probable that this MS. was executed for, or owned by a person living at or connected with the Abbey of Cluny.

Both Jean de Bourbon [Cf. fol. 302<sup>v</sup>] who was elected Abbot of Cluny and died in 1485, and Charles duc de Bourgogne [1433-1477], mentioned on fol. 298, appear to be spoken of as if still alive.

The arms on the first leaf, and the motto—which also appears by itself on fol. 80—are those of the Dubois Family, but which branch has not been ascertained. [Cf. Chassant & Tausin: 'Dictionnaire des dévies historiques'. Vol. II, p. 519.]

The illustrations of plants are well executed, though for the most part in a more formal style than those in the 'Arbolaire'. The picture of the 'Mandragora' (fol. 160<sup>v</sup>) is not anthropomorphic.

Some of the illustrations, especially that of the bees (fol. 165), are excellent, as well as many of the numerous examples showing agricultural pursuits. Some of the animals are grotesque, as for instance the peculiar elephant on fol. 228; and the illustration for 'Moumie'—not in the 'Arbolaire'—is an example of the macabre, with its two putrefying bodies in a large open coffin.

The receipts on ff. 311, 312 for 'Mal de Naples'—written probably c. 1500, or earlier—are of interest. As might be expected, mercurial remedies are indicated.

Inside the upper cover is an armorial book-plate lettered 'Ex libris Petri Arcelin Matisconensis. Medicinae Facultatis Monspeliensis et Parisiensis'. He died in 1771.

No. 1270 in the Sale at Lyons 13/11/1895 of the Library of Baron Louis Marie François Dauphin de Verna, where it was bought by a M. Morgand. The history of this collection is given in the first of three autograph letters [Vol. I (2)] from Sidney Young [1843-1914], author of 'The Annals of the Barber-Surgeons of London', 1890, to Sir D'Arcy Power, dated 6 August, 1912. In it he says 'My late friend Robert Hovenden F.S.A. who was Master of the Barber's Company was an omnivorous Collector of Books and MSS., and after his death his Executors gave me a parcel of MS [sic] relating to the Barber Surgeons Co. which I have only just opened, and roughly looked through. These I sorted out into two packets one which I shall deposit at Barber's Hall where they will never be looked at or anything done with them, and the other I am sending to you . . . Please don't return them'. The 'List of Sea Surgeons', transcribed by Young, 'consists of the names of Sea Surgeons, with the respective dates of their Certificates of Appointment to the King's Ships named, and also the date on which the Journal of their practice concluded, which Journals were examined by the Court of the Barber-Surgeons, and thereupon a Certificate of Approval was issued for the Navy Office,' as stated on the title-page to his transcript.

In Vol. II (9), the title of the transcribed pamphlet is:

'News from the Dead, or a . . . Narrative of an extraordinary Combat between Life and Death, exemplified in the Case of William Duell . . . who was executed by Tyburn . . . and who soon after return'd to Life at Barber-Surgeon's Hall where he had been brought too [sic] . . . in order to be Anatomiz'd . . .'. London: J. Roberts. 1740.

Each Volume has a MS. index by Sir D'Arcy Power, dated 1912 and 1914, and bears his Armorial book-plate, dated 1908, pasted down inside the upper cover.

65 ll. 8vo.  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original limp vellum binding. A number of leaves have been cut out after leaf 8: 11.32–35 slightly torn.

On 49<sup>v</sup> and 63 small pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

Ll. 1–7 Alchemical receipts in Italian: some headings in Arabic and Armenian script.

9–22 Similar receipts in Italian—a few in Latin: some with headings and paragraphs in Armenian script.

23–52 Diverses expériences [etc.].

52<sup>v</sup>–End. Alchemical and other receipts in French, Italian and Latin: one on l. 63 entirely written in Armenian script.

On the inside of the lower cover are receipts in Italian and German, and one in Armenian script. Below 'Monsieur Saruonet a lion appresso il Cardinale Despensiere'.

On the first leaf is a line of Arabic, and a word in Armenian: below 'Ou madam [sic] M. Godin ou logis de Mad. Cockners tranche pied pres la late à Putre [?]'. The Armenian and Arabic characters seem to be used as a cypher for concealing alchemical secrets, names of substances, etc.

632. QUIRICUS & JULITTA, SAINTS [c. 304]. Scroll containing prayers and invocations to Saint Quiricus [Ciryk] and Saint Julitta [Julit], his mother: with other prayers and invocations against all evils spiritual and temporal, and for safe delivery in childbirth. In Latin and English, written partly in red and partly in black: badly rubbed, and probably with some text missing at the beginning and end.

Roll, 6 emblematic figures.  $332 \times 10$  cm. [c. 1500.]

On vellum: in four strips, sewn together, of which the first is shorter than the rest: a piece has been torn away from a corner at the end.

QUIRICUS & JULITTA

The figures are all connected with the Passion of Jesus Christ, and are drawn in black or in red and black. All are very badly rubbed.

- (1) The three Holy Nails of the Crucifixion: in black.
- (2) The Instruments of the Passion: in black and red.
- (3) The letters I.H.S. within a circle: in red and black.
- (4) The same in red within a flattened diamond-shaped figure; at the corners, the Five Wounds and the Blood: in red and black.
- (5) A crucifix: on one side I.H.S., on the other XP: red and black.
- (6) A diamond-shaped figure in red and black, very badly rubbed. It is inscribed 'Ecce Humo', and apparently contains a drawing of Christ standing.

Contents:

The 12 [?] lines of script above the first Figure are not legible.

Below this is a description of the Virtues of the Scroll.

The first 32 ll. are in red, and are followed by 17 lines in black.

Most of the text here is faint and rubbed. It ends: 'ffor seynt Ciryk and seynt Julit hys mother desyryd thes gyfts of Almyghty god and owre lorde Jhesu criste graunted hyt unto them and thys ys regestred at rome at seynt John lateranence [sic] in the pryncypall churche in Rome'.

Latin hymn to St. Quiricus beginning: 'Salve decus paruulorum myles regis angelorum O cirici cum beata genitrice matre tua Julitta' . . . followed by a prayer asking for his intercession.

Below the second Figure, a prayer and Invocation against all evils to God and His Angels and his Saints: this contains about 92 lines, and the first 32 (approximately) are in red.

The text here is very badly rubbed: a cross in red is written after the name of each of the attributes by which the Deity is addressed, and after the names of individual Angels and Saints.

The third Figure has inscribed within the circle in red: 'Dominus vobiscum et cum spiritu tuo Initium sancti euangelii secundum Iohannem'.

Below, 6 lines in red, beginning: 'The number off the dropys of the bloode off Jhesu all I wyll reherce [?] in generall v hundred thousand for to tell . . .'

Under the fourth figure are four lines in red, beginning: 'Ave vulnera lateris', these are followed by about 60 lines of text, which is totally illegible from rubbing.

Below the fifth figure in red: 'Oratio beate marie' [?], and another prayer to the Blessed Virgin in English, and another in Latin, about 24 lines.

A heading in red: 'A prayer to oure lorde Jhesu' is followed by about 70 lines of text to the end of the scroll, all of which is wholly illegible: it includes the sixth figure.

On the verso is a two line inscription in English (262 cm.), the beginning of which is badly rubbed ' . . . hys dere mother owre blessyd lady seynt marye whych was wrytten in letters of gold and send ffrome hevyn by an anngell to the pope Leo that tyme beyng [?] at Rome and sayd to hym thys maner wyse: Who so beryth thys mesure [?] uppon hym wyth trewe fayth and good devocyon saying v pater nosters v aves and a credo in the worshypp of hym that thys mesure ys of he shall never be slayne in battel nor by no devyll be combyrd [?] by day nor by nyght nor wyth thunder / . . . nor wyth no [?] soden deth be smyttyn nor dye wythowte howsyll and shryft [?] nor byfore no juge wrongefuly dampned nor wyth no thevys be robbyd on see nor on lond nor perysshed wyth flyer nor water nor blastys ne wyndys on water ne on lond shal not grew hym nor of the pestylence dye. And yf he be in dedly synne he shal not dye theryn. And he shall encrease in worldly goods. And yf a woman travell wyth chylde gyrdes thys mesure abowte hyr wombe and she shall be safe delyvyrd wythowte palle [peril?] and the chylde shall have crystendome and the mother puryfycatyon'.

This inscription is an epitome of the very largely illegible passages in the main text following the first Figure, in which are set out the Blessings and Protections given by the pious use of the Scroll.

A second inscription (19 cm.), the first line in red with an initial T in blue and a cross in red at each end, seems to have been intended for a general title, but not completed. It reads: 'Thys parchment [?] ys oure lady seynt mary sengter [? cincture] / by vertu of thys holy sengter oure savyor Jhesu criste and of hys dere / mother oure lady seynte'.

Saints Quiricus [Circus, Cyricus, Cyriacus] the infant Martyr and his mother Julitta are said to have suffered and died in the Diocletian Persecution at Tarsus in 304, and are commemorated in the Martyrologies on June 16th. The so-called 'Acts' of St. Julitta were condemned as heretical by Pope St. Gelasius I [ -494].

According to Baring-Gould & Fisher 'Lives of the British Saints', 4 vols. 1908-13, these Saints were introduced to Britain by the Normans, and in Wales and Cornwall numerous churches were dedicated to them. It is stated [op. cit. Vol. II, p. 199, s.v. S. Curig], 'Owing to the popularity of SS. Cyriacus and Julitta among the Normans it is not possible to assert that all the churches dedicated to . . . them have supplanted foundations of Curig'. In the same work, Vol. III, p. 335, s.v. S. Julitta, the entry begins 'The Saint Julitta of Tarsus and her son Cyriacus have assumed undue prominence in Cornwall'.

Both in Wales and elsewhere Quiricus [Cyriacus] seems to have become confused and assimilated with St. Curig'.

In this entry the name 'Quiricus' has been used, following the B.M. Catalogue, but it would seem that 'Cyriacus' or Cyricus are more commonly found.

As stated above, the text in this scroll is very badly rubbed, so that large sections are illegible. This most probably indicates that it has frequently been used as a 'Birth-girdle', though such girdles are more usually associated with St. Marguerite, Virgin and Martyr [ -275], especially in France. [Cf. Aymar (A.) Le sachet accoucheur et ses mystères. Toulouse. 1926; and Dilling (W. H.) Girdles. In 'The Caledonian Medical Magazine' Vol. IX, pp. 337-357, 403-425. 1913-14.]

From the Library of John Edward Gilmore of Bray [ -1906].

Purchased at Sotheby's 13/12/1906, Lot 443. (17077)

beginning and end. The first leaf and ff. 105, 106 are mutilated: many margins and corners frayed.

The foliation is irregular.

Mainly by one compiler, but with some entries by contemporary hands.

The watermark on most of the leaves is apparently Briquet No. 90, assigned to Faenza 1503.

Purchased at Sotheby's 19/12/1921, Lot 476. (41447)

638. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Alchemical & Chemical: 17th cent. Collection of alchemical and chemical receipts and processes: mainly in Italian, with a few entries in Latin.

1 l. + 42 ff. + 36 ll. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  cm. [c. 1625.]

Modern boards.

Illustrated by a few small rough pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus, etc.

Purchased 1929. (52244)

639. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Dutch & Flemish: 16th cent. Collection of medical and cookery receipts in Flemish.

pp. 3-35 + 3 ll. 4to.  $20 \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Modern half-vellum binding. The first and last leaves are wanting: a leaf at the end is mutilated.

Purchased 1923. (42805)

640. — Collection of medical receipts in Flemish: with a number of philosophical aphorisms in Latin, and extracts from Rabelais in French. By several hands.

32 ll. folio.  $25\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1575.]

Modern half vellum binding.

The date 1580 appears on the verso of the fourth leaf from the end.

The extracts from Rabelais, or from writings attributed to him, are as under:

Fol. 2, 1.15—Fol. 3, 1.22 Pantagruel. Book IV, cap. 67.

The first paragraph is wanting.

3, 1.34—Fol. 5<sup>v</sup>, 1.19 Pantagruel. Book IV, cap. 7 [or 16].

5<sup>v</sup>, 1.20—Fol. 6, 1.27 Pantagruel. Book IV, cap. 47.

The first two paragraphs are wanting.

6, 1.28—Fol. 7<sup>v</sup>, 1.4 Epistre limosine.

7<sup>v</sup>, 1.5—Fol. 8, 1.6 La cresse philosophale.

The last two items are almost certainly not by Rabelais.

The Chapter-numbers, etc. in the above note are from S. Putnam's 'All the extant works of François Rabelais'. 3 vols. P.P. New York. 1929.

An inserted note—now lost—describes this MS. as 'Volume renfermant un grand nombre de recettes de médecine et autres. Manuscrit du XVI<sup>e</sup> siècle, vente De Vigne-Quyo, Gand 1877' (i.e. Pierre Vigne [1812-1877], Belgian sculptor).

Purchased 1923. (42814)

641. RECEIPT-BOOKS, French: 16th cent. Collection of medical, veterinary, cosmetic and miscellaneous receipts: in French, by several hands.

27 ll. (first & last 2 bl.) folio.  $27 \times 19$  cm. [c. 1560.]

Modern vellum binding. Stained slightly throughout, margins cropped in re-binding.

The water-mark—a he-goat and name (Etmond? Denise) seems to be a variant of Briquet No. 2864 which dates from 1553 to 1560, and is of Belgian origin.

Purchased 1936. (69498)

RECEIPT-BOOKS, GERMAN

642. RECEIPT-BOOKS, German: 16th cent. Collection of medical receipts in German and Latin, including herbal remedies. Latin-German glossary of herbs (incomplete). 18 ll. 4to.  $19 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1525.]

Modern vellum binding. The end is wanting. Margins cropped. Some initials and headings in red.

Leaf 4 and 5<sup>r</sup> contain 'Von dem lebendigen wasser daz man da nennet daz guldin wasser hat gelert der . . . Meister Bartholomeus von franckfort'.

Ll. 13-end contain the Glossary of Herbs beginning: 'Artimesia significat bibosz' which is entered in Thorndike's 'Incipits' Col. 63, and attributed to 'Macer'.

Written by the same hand as MS. No. 94 [ARZNEIBUCH], of which it probably may have originally formed part.

Purchased 1923. (42813 (2))

643. — Collection of medical receipts in German, including a 'Regiment in Zeit der Pestilentz'. At the end a 'Consilium' in Latin 'De catarrho cerebri et curatione ejusdem'. 54 ll. 4to.  $19 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1525.]

Modern vellum binding. Margins slightly cropped.

The Plague tract has not been identified, and is in the form of a prayer.

The 'Consilium' is by a different hand. On the verso of the last leaf are two receipts in the same script as that of the ARZNEIBUCH [MS. No. 94] and the Receipt-book in German [MS. No. 642], and it seems almost certain that these two MSS., and the present MS. originally formed part of one large volume.

Purchased 1923. (42813 (3))

644. — Fragment of a collection of iatro-chemical receipts: in German.

6 ll. 4to.  $19 \times 15$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Unbound.

Purchased 1932. (67676)

645. RECEIPT-BOOKS, German: 17th cent. Fragment of a volume of medical receipts: in German.

4 ll. folio.  $28 \times 18\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Unbound.

Purchased 1933. (78782)

646. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Italian: Before 1500. Collection of medical receipts, etc.: in Italian, by several hands. (Incomplete.)

20 ll. 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Unbound.

Ff. 1, 18, 20 damaged, many margins frayed.

The first 5 leaves deal with remedies for toothache: these are followed by notes on poisons and antidotes (3 ll.), worm-diseases (2 ll.), virtues of herbs (5 ll.), miscellaneous prescriptions including eye diseases, baths, etc. There are several charms and incantations.

On the verso of the first leaf is a note dealing with a money payment dated 1537, but the script is considerably later than that of the text.

The water-mark—a basilisc holding a flag—is entered as No. 2717 in Briquet and dated 1395.

Purchased 1908. (20687).

647. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Italian: 16th cent. Collection of medical receipts, in Italian and Latin: with some later additions.

41 ll. (last 7 bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. [Early 16th cent.]

RECEIPT-BOOKS, ITALIAN

Modern boards.

Some leaves are probably wanting at the beginning, between leaf 22 and leaf 23, and between leaf 30 and leaf 31.

Some headings and paragraph marks in red: on leaf 21 is a rough pen-drawing in red and black of a distilling apparatus.

Purchased 1910. (23978)

648. — Collection of medical receipts in Italian and Latin. (Incomplete.)
68 ll. 16mo. 11 × 8 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

On vellum and paper, original vellum binding. Ff. 1-4, 7-9, 11, 31-59, are wanting, and the last five leaves are bound in wrong order.

Fol. 88 is doubled in the original foliation.

The headings seem to have been added by a different, and somewhat later hand.

Purchased 1923. (42951)

649. — Fragment of a book of medical receipts in alphabetical order.
10 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14½ cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Unbound.

Written in a current humanistic hand: mainly in Italian.

Contains A-L, P R.

Purchased 1908. (20688)

650. — Collection of medical receipts: mainly in Italian, the rest in Latin.
45 ll. (first bl.). 8vo. 14½ × 11 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. The last leaf slightly defective, margins frayed and leaves somewhat stained throughout.

Written in a small semi-current humanistic hand with a few later additions.

On the verso of the fifth leaf is scribbled the name 'Alsinoro Marco 1648'.

Purchased at Sotheby's 19/12/1919, Lot 551. (40289)

651. — Fragment of a book of medical receipts: in Italian.
2 ll. 8vo. 14½ × 10½ cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Modern boards.

Written in a neat sloped humanistic hand, 16 lines to a page.

Purchased 1923. (42953)

652. — Collection of medical receipts and notes: in Italian and Latin.
24 ll. 4to. 21½ × 14 cm. 1519.

Unbound.

First leaf repaired: margins frayed.

There is a long section on 'Unguenta', and on medical weights and measures which is dated 'addi 9 di dicembre 1519'.

Purchased 1908. (20972)

653. — Collection of medical receipts in Italian: preceded by notes on astrology and fortune-telling.

67 ll. 8vo. 14½ × 10½ cm. [c. 1535.]

Modern vellum covers. Some leaves seem to be wanting, and others are bound in the wrong order: stained throughout, some margins frayed.

A rough pen-drawing of the 'Wheel of Pythagoras' is on the 8th leaf; the first seven leaves contain scribbled alphabets.

The date 1535 is given in the example on the 12th leaf.

Purchased 1931. (64703)

RECEIPT-BOOKS, ITALIAN

654. — Collection of medical receipts, mainly in Italian, but a few in Latin: preceded by some short sermons on Biblical texts. By several hands.

130 ll. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1545.

Modern vellum binding.

Some leaves have been bound in wrong order.

The sermons occupy the first 62 leaves, there is further theological matter on ll. 7-75, and ll. 114-124, including the ceremonies for Blessing of Water.

On ll. 80<sup>v</sup> and 81 are special prayers against snake-bite, poison and the plague. On l. 76 two rough pen-drawings of a ligature to be worn to stop bleeding at the nose.

On ff. 67, 69<sup>v</sup> is an Italian poem on Alexander the Great, and on fol. 69 some Latin verses.

The date 1545 is found on l. 63 and l. 77.

The entries are by several contemporary hands.

Purchased 1936. (69428)

655. — Book of medical receipts in Italian and Latin. [Incomplete.]

33 ll. 8vo.  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

The beginning, as well as leaves in the main text, are wanting. Inner margins defective and repaired.

Headings in red, some faded.

Purchased 1912. (31301)

656. — Collection of receipts and remedies mainly in Italian, with a few in Latin.

pp. 9-412 [? 312]. 8vo.  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1565.]

Modern boards. Pp. 1-8, 193-288, 403/404, are wanting according to the numeration; but the pagination is irregular, and the total number of pages probably should be 312 and not 412.

Written mainly by two hands: the original in an upright script, with somewhat later additions in an italic hand.

The date 1565 occurs on p. 47.

Purchased 1923. (42952)

657. — Collection of medical receipts: in Italian.

5 ll. + 66 ff. + 33 ll. 16mo.  $11 \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1575.]

Original stamped morocco binding, with leather and metal clasp.

Ff. 23-26, and some leaves at the beginning (before fol. 1) and at the end are missing: somewhat stained and thumbed throughout, the first leaf slightly defective.

An inserted [book-seller's?] description assigns this MS. to the middle of the 16th cent., but a reference to Ferdinand, Archduke of Austria [1529-1595] on fol. 36, would seem to point to a later date.

Purchased 1921. (41251)

658. — Collection of medical receipts: in Italian.

138 [151] ff. 16mo.  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Original calf binding over wooden boards: spine damaged.

Ff. 1-6, 21-24, 94, 97, 103, 108, 109, 113, 114, 147 and all after fol. 150 are wanting; pasted down on the inside of each cover, is a damaged leaf, probably from the earlier part of the volume.

There are a few additions by different hands.

Purchased 1902. (8875)

RECEIPT-BOOKS, ITALIAN

659. — Collection of medical, chemical, cookery and domestic receipts: with some 'Secrets' and 'Experiments'; in Italian and Latin, by several hands.

1 l. + pp. 15-234 + 11 ll. (last 7 bl.). 8vo. 17 × 11½ cm.
[Late 16th cent.]

Original vellum binding. Pp. 1-14, 125/6, 139/40 are missing.

On p. 135 is a pen and wash drawing of a 'Palla artificiale': and on p. 222 a pen-drawing of a candle-lantern with a long glass used to attract fish under water.

At the end are some short articles on special topics:

Pp. 117-198 Trattato de vini.
199-204 Trattato de gl'aceti.
205-216 Trattato di far varie sorte de pane et altre cose da magnare [sic].
217-228 Trattato di pigliar i pesci [et] ogni sorte di ucelli.

There are some additions by somewhat later hands.

Purchased 1919. (41799)

660. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Italian: 16/17th cent. Collection of medical receipts in Italian and Latin: preceded by lists of Herbs and their qualities and uses. Written in a Venetian dialect, mainly by two compilers: the first probably about 1525, the second about 1650. With a few additions by 16th and 17th century hands.

44 ll. + 271 ff. 16mo. 10½ × 7½ cm. [c. 1525-c. 1650.]

17th cent. calf binding, worn: both clasps wanting.

Ff. 96, 97, 101, 109, 111 are mutilated: some leaves pasted down. The 44 un-numbered ll. contain an index to the whole volume by the later compiler.

Ff. 1-41 is a full list of medicinal herbs and their qualities, in Latin: and ff. 42-53 another list of herbs in greater detail in Italian.

The remainder of the volume especially after fol. 114, is written by the later hands, and consists entirely of receipts: one on fol. 207 is dated 1637.

Purchased 1908. (26933)

661. — Collection of medical receipts in Italian: with additions by a middle 17th cent. owner.

15 ll. + 114 [133] ll. 8vo. 14½ × 10½ cm. [c. 1550-c. 1650.]

Modern vellum binding. The fly-leaves are from a leaf of a late 14th cent. vellum Service Book.

Ff. 4, 12, 17-19, 28, 39-42, 48, 55-57, 61, 89, 90, 101, 115, 116, 121, 122, 132, and all after 133 are wanting: many leaves frayed and stained.

A number of headings of the original work are in red.

The Index at the beginning is by the later hand.

Purchased 1932. (65206)

662. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Italian: 17th cent. Delle pietre, erbe, frutti e fiori, e sue virtu naturali. With various receipts and 'Secrets': in Italian.

100 ff. 4to. 22 × 16½ cm. [Early 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

Fol. 6 is wanting, fol. 30 is dropped and fol. 31 duplicated.

Purchased 1921. (41297)

663. — Collection of medical receipts in Italian, with a few in Latin. Preceded by 'Li sette salmi penitentiali di David in verso heroico novamente ridotti per Agostino Cesareo'.

88 ff. + 8 ll. 8vo. 15 × 10½ cm. [c. 1625.]

RECEIPT-BOOKS, ITALIAN

Original vellum binding. Some leaves are missing after fol. 88, and the Index of Herbs at the end is wanting after letter L: the first leaf is somewhat stained.

The 'Sette salmi' (ff. 1-36) and the Indexes are by the same hand: the receipts by a different, but contemporary scribe.

The collection of receipts seems to have been compiled in a Monastery, as many of them are stated to have been given or used with success by individual named monks: and on fol. 81<sup>v</sup> a receipt is noted as 'provata da nostri fratri'.

No record has been traced of this translation of the Penitential Psalms, but a former [19th cent.] owner has written the date 1622 on the first leaf in pencil.

664. — Collection of medical receipts in Italian. (Incomplete.)

12 ll. (last bl.). 4to. 21½ × 15 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern boards.

Purchased 1931. (64813)

665. — Collection of medical, cosmetic and other receipts: in Italian.

121 ll. (first 3 bl.). 16mo. 13 × 9 cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Some leaves are wanting at the end: water-stained throughout, and last leaf damaged and repaired.

On the 8th leaf is a pen-drawing of a nose, illustrating a charm to stop epistaxis: there are several other charms against diseases.

On the 20th leaf the plague at Milan in 1632 is mentioned, but the work has been lettered on the spine: 'Ricettario. MS. Saec. XVI'.

Purchased 1930. (56433)

666. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Latin: Before 1500. Collection of medical receipts by an anonymous Italian physician: in Latin.

115 [120] ff. 8vo. 23 × 15 cm. [Late 14th cent.]

Modern vellum binding.

Ff. 60, 61, 72, 76, 93, and some leaves at the end are wanting: the upper part of the first leaf is missing, and the margins of the next three leaves are damaged; many leaves are damp stained, with some loss of text.

A new foliation has been supplied in pencil.

Written in a rounded Italian cursive hand 29-30 lines to a page.

The text contains mainly medical receipts, but there are a few chemical, household and technical receipts. There is a long section (ff. 12<sup>v</sup>-19<sup>v</sup>) 'Ad diversas passiones oculorum', and a number of receipts for toothache, etc. Included are several incantations and magical remedies some of which have been crossed through.

Ff. 89<sup>v</sup>, 90, 92-end consist of notes on the 'Virtues' of 65 animals, including man, which contain several charms and many examples of the use of disgusting products. It may possibly be a version of the 'De virtutibus animalium' by Eberus, mentioned by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. II, p. 763. In any case the remedies and details agree with those found in the 'De medicina ex animalibus' of Sextus Placitus, and in the second book of 'Kiranides'.

The water-mark most frequently found seems to be Briquet No. 786 (Lucca. 1372).

Purchased 1909. (21524)

667. — Collection of medical receipts in Latin: probably of English origin. (Incomplete.)

3 ll. + 12 ll. 8vo. 15 × 9½ cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum: modern red morocco binding.

All wanting after the middle of Capitulum XLVI of the second part.

Margins slightly cropped in rebinding.

The 3 ll. of the Index are in smaller format 13 × 4½ cm.

Written in a small semi-current gothic hand, 28-31 lines to a page. Paragraph marks and chapter numbers in red.

RECEIPT-BOOKS, LATIN

- Index Fol. 1 (red) Assit principio sancta maria meo. / Ad dolorem capitis i (red) / ...
3 De natura herbarum secundum / alphabetum (red) lxiii.
Text Fol. 1 Assit principio sancta maria meo. / Ad dolorem capitis Accipe radicem edere ...
12 [Ad interficiendos mures] Si fumigatur radice vitis fugat omnia rep / [tilia] /

On the verso of the last leaf of the Index are written the names of 'Henricus Smythfeld, Thomas Aleyn' beneath a cross, in a late 15th cent. hand.

The latter may perhaps be the second Thomas Aleyn, Fellow and Bursar of Merton College, Oxford, who 'died by June 1500' as stated in Emden's 'Biographical Register of the University of Oxford to 1500' Vol. I, p. 24.

Purchased 1918. (39752)

668. — Collection of medical receipts: in Latin. With a few at the end for conserves and drinks: in Italian.

12 bl. ll. + 208 [210] ff. + 22 ll. 16mo. 11 × 7½ cm.
[Venice (?)]. [Late 15th cent.]

On vellum. Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, back wanting. Part of clasps missing.

Ff. 11, 120 are wanting. The text on both sides of first leaf is almost completely faded. A few leaves are stained.

Written in a neat humanistic hand, 19 lines to a page: headings in red.

The blank leaves have been used before and washed, but traces of a small gothic 13th cent. [?] script are visible.

From fol. 191 to the end, the text is in Italian; but the MS. is by the same hand throughout.

Ff. 97<sup>v</sup>–139 contain remedies for Plague, beginning with a 'Consilium Reuerendissimi patris domini Theophili de mediolano ordinis sancti Benedicti contra pestem'. This consists of an exhortation to the afflicted person to go to Confession and receive the Last Sacraments, etc., written in the form of a medical receipt.

Theophilus [Galeotti] of Milan became Abbot of San Giorgio Maggiore in Venice in 1462.

There are also plague remedies ascribed to Matthias Veronensis (ff. 98, 107<sup>v</sup>, 123<sup>v</sup>, 134), of whom no record has been traced.

The compiler of this MS. may have been 'Infirmarius' to this Monastery, as on fol. 28<sup>v</sup> he speaks of 'monachum nostrum'.

Among the blank leaves after the main text are a few receipts by several 16th cent. hands. One on the fifth leaf is dated 1596; and on the fifteenth verso, 1598 is written over a Penitential Psalm in Latin.

Purchased 1906. (16493)

669. RECEIPT-BOOKS, Latin: 15th/16th cent. Collection of medical receipts in Latin by several late 15th and early 16th cent. hands. At the end, a catalogue of statues, inscribed stones, etc. in various parts of Italy, said to indicate the location of buried treasure.

107 [108] ll. 8vo. 15 × 11 cm. [c. 1475–c. 1525.]

Vellum covers from part of a leaf of a 14th cent. Service book.

Stained throughout: there are many blank leaves.

A leaf has been torn out between fol. 57 and fol. 58.

On fol. 52<sup>v</sup> and fol. 53 are receipts 'contra morbum gallicum' in a hand of about 1500.

The catalogue of statues, etc. occupies ff. 74–81.

On fol. 73 is a note in Italian, dated 1523, recording the birth of a daughter to Saxo di Feletana [?]. It is in a hand considerably later than that of most of the other entries.

Purchased 1929. (49556)

RECEPTA

670. RECEPTA der Wündartzteney begriffen, so deren unterschiedlich zusammen verzeichnet worden, also von Emplastris ingleichen, Oleis, Pullveribus, Pillulis, Conservis, Trochiscis, Aquis, und noch allerley Accidentien underfangen so hierin sollen begripen werden. In Jahr Nach Christi Gebürt. Anno 1650.

4 ll. + 227 pp. + 2 bl. ll. tall 12mo. 32 × 10 cm. 1650.

Original boards: some margins frayed.

Title in red and black, headings in red.

Outside the upper cover is written in red 'Handt / Buechlein von / allerhandt Artzeney / im iahr Anno 1650'.

Purchased 1930. (52581)

671. RECEPTES aux maladies. A collection of medical, cosmetic, veterinary, cookery, and other receipts, by several hands: in French.

164 ll. 4to. 20½ × 14½ cm. [c. 1500-1550.]

Modern vellum binding. Some leaves slightly stained, margins and corners damaged.

There are two early foliations, one in Roman, the other in Arabic figures, both of which seem to be irregular: and one section iii<sup>xx</sup>-C21 is misbound at the end. A new foliation in pencil has been made from which it appears that leaves are wanting after ff. 78, 121, 133, 135, 154, 161, 164.

Ff. 3, 4 contain an index to the leaves originally foliated in Roman numerals.

In the upper margin of the first leaf is a faded inscription 'Bibliote[ca] (?) Sancti Andreae in Nemure [sic].

Fol. 7 contains a rough circular pen-drawing of the Elements, etc.

Ff. 7<sup>v</sup>, 8 contain number tables, the latter dated 1548.

In the lower margin of fol. 9 the name 'Blendecque' in a 16th cent. hand. On fol. 139: 'Monsieur Monsieur Le Révérend Prélat de l'abbaye de St. André au Bois (?) présentemen[t] réfugié à Hesdin. Audict lieu.' by a middle 16th cent. hand.

Pasted inside the upper cover is the armorial book-plate of E[dmund] Révérend du Mesnil.

Purchased 1928. (50959)

672. RECEPTES pour diverses maladies.

264 pp. + 3 ll. 8vo. 20 × 13½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Modern half calf binding. A title-page has been cut out.

P. 111 has been dropped in the pagination.

Written in a neat upright script: from references to places in Liège (p. 69), Hainaut (p. 69), Brussels (p. 96, p. 244), Antwerp (p. 244), the original MS. seems to have been written in Belgium, possibly by a lady as there are sections 'Des maladies des femmes' (pp. 206-228) and 'De l'embellissement' (pp. 232-243).

Several blank leaves and odd spaces in the original work have been used for medical prescriptions in French by an unnamed later compiler, about 1752, as that date occurs on p. 116 and on p. 264.

Purchased 1921. (40989)

REGEL (GEORGIUS). For signature, 1472. See MONOPP de Rüdlingen (C.). Compendium. (565)

REGIMEN preservativum contra pestilentiam. See MISCELLANEA Medica VIII, 11. (538)

REGIMEN SANITATIS SALERNITANUM

673. REGIMEN Sanitatis Salernitanum. Regimen sanitatis, in a shortened version of 844 lines. Followed by 'De veritate et conscientia' and other verses in English, medical receipts, etc. By several hands.

9 ll. folio.  $38\frac{1}{2} \times 25\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. 18th cent. half calf binding. Some corners damaged.

The 'Regimen' is written in a clear book hand, in double column of 46 lines to a column.

The poems are in less formal scripts, probably of a rather later period, but the receipts, etc. seem to be additions and are in a semi-current late 15th or early 16th cent. hand.

The MS. appears originally to have been part of a larger volume.

Though the title of this MS. and those of the several parts, as also the contents, have a strong resemblance to those of several English printed medical texts of the 16th cent., it has not been possible to identify our MS. with any specific work in spite of the parallels in books by Thomas Gale, Moulton and Goeurot. Our MS. seems to be a compilation and adaptation, and, judged by the form of Secretary hand in which it is written, may have been put together at an earlier date than 1625 which is found in the margin of l. 58<sup>v</sup>.

On the first leaf (7 in the pagination) is written '2 Aprilis 1640 Henricus Stapleton (? Sir Henry Stapleton [1616-1679]) armiger et Joannes / Goldsmyth personaliter apparuere coram Eliz[abeth] Gold[smyth ?] / in oppido St. Albans ad persuadendum de itinere / Londinensi in secunda hebdomada Paschalis die / Jovis sequenti'.

On p. 21 the name 'J. Goldsmith' appears three times, written by the same hand as in the inscription on p. 7.

[Middle 17th cent.]

Original, calf binding worn.

At the end of the text on p. 99 is 'Rebeillé D. Medicus facultatis Monspeliensis'. A Petrus Reveillanus is recorded as having matriculated at Montpellier on 24 November 1582, who may have been the father of the writer of this MS.

Purchased 1928. (48033)

678. REZEPT-BUCH. Collection of medical receipts and prescriptions: in German and Latin.

1 l. + 100 ff. 8vo. 16 × 10½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original vellum binding. Ff. 7-14, 17-19, 21-29 have been cut out, and a leaf at the end [blank?] is wanting.

The text is written by the same hand throughout. On the first leaf is an inscription by a later 16th cent. owner, Gregor Fabig.

From the Dietrichstein Library.

Purchased at Lucerne (Dietrichstein Sale) 22/11/1933, Lot 506. (66289)

679. RHAZES (852-932). Liber divisionum. Antidotarium. Synonima: translated by Gerardus Cremonensis.

36 ll. folio. 31 × 27 cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern half vellum binding. Upper margins throughout damaged by damp, and roughly repaired.

Written in double column of 56 lines to a column, in a neat gothic hand, probably of Italian origin.

Large decorated initials in colours on fol. 1, fol. 12 and fol. 27<sup>v</sup>: other ornamental initials and paragraph marks in alternate blue and red: headings in red.

- Fol. 1 (red) Incipit liber diuisionum rasys. prologus. // UERBA [ABUBETRI] / filii zacharie [arazi] ventilata / fuit in presentia cuiusdam probi ui / ri . . .

- 36<sup>v</sup> (End)

The last work has also been attributed to Mesue and to Serapion.

The lines beginning 'Ad dolorem capitis' on fol. 33, are entered separately by Thorndike in his 'Catalogue of Incipits' col. 217, as anonymous.

There are a few marginal notes by a contemporary hand.

These works by Rhazes were first printed at Milan in 1481.

Purchased 1931. (64574)

680. — Liber luminum minus et perfecti magisterii. Abridged and incomplete.

12 ll. 8vo. 15 × 10 cm. [Late 14th cent.]

On vellum, modern red morocco binding. Stained and worn throughout, the last three leaves badly: margins cropped and frayed.

Written in a small cursive gothic hand 46 lines to a page: capitals in red and black, paragraph marks in black.

- Fol. 1 [Q]uoniam solem [sic for 'solertis'] indagine vniuersarum rerum artificia philosophia com / perit sedulitate . . .
- 12<sup>v</sup> [ . . . morari in eo trib]us diebus sed omni die contere vitriolum /

The verso of the last leaf is almost entirely illegible, but the end of the last line appears to read as above. This would correspond to the middle of the receipt for

RHAZES

'Oleum rubicundum fixum philosophicum' on p. 113 of Vol. III of Zetzner's 'Theatrum Chemicum', 1659, who assigns this work to Aristotle. This would seem incorrect, and the Tract is rightly attributed to Rhazes, as in Singer's Catalogue of Alchemical MSS., No. 114.

Purchased 1917. (39410)

681. — Continens: libri XIII–XVI; incomplete, and in an abbreviated version. 252 ll. folio. 29 × 21 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

17th cent. vellum binding.

The end of Book XVI is wanting, and Book XV is unfinished.

In the last 20 ll. the text is badly injured by oxidization of the ink, though the margins are unaffected.

Written in double column of 40–44 lines to a column: some headings in red, and some paragraph marks in red, or alternate blue and red. The script is an Italian semi-cursive gothic, the same throughout.

A number of leaves are missing at the end as may be judged from the pen-drawing of a rose on the fore-edge of which about a quarter is wanting: on the upper edge the letters, 'RAS' are faintly visible.

The spine is lettered 'Liber Medicinae'.

Fol. 1, col. 1 (red)	Incipit liber XIII <sup>us</sup> / de apostemate appellato squirros / de apostematibus solidis . . .
line 11	[D]E libro signorum / dixit Squirros est / apostema inflatum et / durum . . .
252, col. 2	. . . Binbahrin cum uo / cabulis logicalibus secundum descriptiones / earum Vnum nos compleret uolentes /

The Books XIII–XVI of this MS. appear to correspond with the description given of the Venice edition of 1542 as found in Haller's 'Bibliotheca Chirurgica' I, pp. 127–131.

Book XV is unfinished, and ends abruptly at fol. 182<sup>v</sup>, col. 2, in the middle of a sentence: 'usque ad hoc' is written in the margin.

This work was first printed at Brescia in 1486.

Purchased 1911. (26876)

682. — Cibaldone. An Italian verse translation of the third book of the 'Liber medicinalis Almansoris' on hygiene and diet. A version containing 738 lines, in three-line stanzas. At the end, a receipt for the teeth and notes on the seasons for gathering herbs, in Latin: also two short poems on diet, and on female conduct, etc. in Italian.

6 ll. folio. 26½ × 20 cm. [c. 1475.]

Modern boards.

Written in double column of 37–38 lines to a column in a semi-gothic hand: capitals in red and black.

Fol. 1, col. 1	Cibaldonus. /// Le oue chen de galina on de prinse Son piu generatiue e piu nutrisse / . . .
5 <sup>v</sup> , col. 2, line 22	(End) Garofolo e caldo e seco soua natura / a stomaco e a fegato da forza / cerebro e memoria si rforza. finis.
6	Below a receipt: Si vis semper habere pulcros dentes. Notes in Latin on the proper seasons for collecting medicinal herbs.
6 <sup>v</sup> , col. 1	Verses in Italian on diet, beginning: 'Se tu doy stare sano observa questa norma'.
col. 2	On female conduct, verses beginning: 'Madona che dixidra esere famosa'.

The order of the verses in this MS. is very different from that of the printed version; which is partly in three-line and partly in six-line verse and contains 1011 lines in the first edition, Vicenza, 1480 [Hain-Cop. 13904, Osler 207, B.M. VII, 1034].

The water-mark on the first two leaves appears to be Briquet's No. 11846 assigned to Naples 1444 and Rome 1469.

Inserted loose are transcripts of the poem on female conduct, one in duplicate, and one by a different early 19th cent. hand.

From the Martini Library.

Purchased at Lucerne, 27/8/1934, Lot 63. (66801)

683. — Liber nonus ad Almansorem; in an incomplete and abbreviated version. Followed by medical receipts by the original and other hands.

40 ll. (last bl.). folio. 30 × 19½ cm. [c. 1475.]

Unbound.

Leaves 21-23 are only half-leaves, other leaves are damaged and damp-stained.

Written in double-column in neat italic scripts, 49-51 lines to a column, mainly by two scribes ll. 1-9 and ll. 10-31. The remainder is written by several somewhat later hands.

The somewhat angular hand found on ff. 33-36, 39 and in a few other receipts in other parts of the volume, may possibly be that of an English owner, and a receipt on fol. 33<sup>v</sup>, col. 1 has a marginal note '[ca]ntabrigus [a]rmiger'.

The 'Liber nonus' was first printed at Padua in 1480 together with the 'Practica' of Joannes Arculanus.

The 'Antidotarium' of Bartolommeo Montagnana [1400?-1460] was first printed at Padua in 1476, with his 'Consilia medica'.

Purchased 1925. (44101)

684. — Liber nonus ad Almansorem: in an incomplete and abbreviated version. Followed by medical receipts by a later 16th cent. hand.

60 ll. (last 4 bl.). 4to. 22 × 16 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Original vellum binding, with flap.

Written in a clear semi-current hand.

Disputatio quinta et ultima pathologica, in qua agitur de curandis affectibus praeter naturam.* 2 vols. 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm. [Naples.] 1650.

Vol. I, unbound: Vol. II, original vellum binding, damaged. Margins frayed, damp stained.

The first few leaves of Vol. II have a marginal running title 'Onofrii Ricci Practica'. This volume is dated 1650 at the end.

These are notes of Lectures in a Course on the general Practice of Medicine.

As in that MS. there is the inscription: 'Ex Rev. D. Indico Mancini' written on the verso of the last leaf of each volume.

On the verso of the last leaf of Vol. I: 'Indicus Antonius Mancinus Anno MDCLXXXiii': and on the second fly-leaf of Vol. II 'Del Ph[ilippo?] Fidelis Manzi'.

Purchased 1931. (57785)

687. — Tractatio de febribus. Tractatus de morbis particularibus. Notes of lectures on the Practice of Medicine, probably taken down by Joseph Mancinus.

10 [16] ll. (last 2 bl.). + 260 ff. 4to.  $21 \times 16$  cm. [Naples. 1650.]

Original vellum binding. Six preliminary leaves and ff. 133-140 have been torn out: first 3 ll. slightly damaged.

Signature of 'Joseph Mancinus Doctor Physicus' on the first leaf.

On the verso of the last leaf 'Ex Rev. D. Indico Mancini'.

MSS. Nos. 685, 686 are continuations of notes of the same general Course on the Practice of Medicine, and in the second volume there is a running title-heading 'Onofrii Ricci Practica'. They are however written by a different hand, and dated 1650.

Both these volumes also bear the note of ownership of Indico Mancini. Ricci is described by Jöcher in his 'Allgemeines Gelehrten-Lexicon' Vol. III. 1751, as 'Medicus Poete und Professor zu Neapolis'. He died of plague in 1656.

Purchased 1932. (78099)

688. RICETTARIO per preparare alcuni medicamenti e segreti diversi.

48 ll. (first & last 2 bl.). 16mo.  $10 \times 7$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

The first volume is bound in doeskin, one of the two metal clasps is wanting; the other two volumes are in boards, one with flap.

Capitals and paragraph marks in red.

A collection of medical receipts.

On a fly-leaf of each volume is inscribed 'Questo libro e di me Fra Bernardino da Rimino Sacerdote Capucino imprestato al Illustrissimo Signor Cavaliere Daniele Antonio Felice Cappelo e doppoi disse che il detto Signor Cavaliere se lo tenesse. Quare gratias egit'. Below this a small armorial library stamp as in MS. No. 176 [CAPELLO].

On a preliminary leaf of the third volume a later owner has written 'Non date fede a queste ricette perche sono false e cattive Bartolomeo Gaudenzi. 24 Giugno 1798'.

The title as given above is taken from the Dedicatory Epistle.

692. RIPLEY (GEORGE) [1415?–1490]. Rotulum hieroglyphicum G. Riplaei Equitis Aurati. Copy of a copy made in 1588, of the 'Emblematicall scrowle: supposed to be invented by Geo. Ripley' as it is described by Elias Ashmole in his 'Theatrum chemicum Britannicum' London 1652, p. 375. Roll. 328 × 40 cm. [c. 1600.]

Mounted on linen, with wooden rollers. Slightly damaged at the top, and some cracks.

Finely drawn and coloured, with descriptive legends, and enclosed within a coloured floreated border.

The roll is divided into five panels: the first an Alchemist holding an alembic; the next, which is the largest, a fountain supported by a column with many symbolic accessory figures: the third, a golden eagle on a sphere, with legend 'The Birde of hermes is my name: eatings my winges to make me tame': the fourth, a large green dragon with other symbols: the last, a full-length figure of the Philosopher, bearing a staff having a scroll wrapped round it, one end terminating in a spear-head, the other in a horse's hoof shod.

Besides the descriptive legends there are four sets of verses.

1. At the top of the second panel, 10 lines beginning:
     'Of the Sonne take ye thy light
     the redd gemme that is so bright' and ending:      'of him draw out a cinester flud and thy work shall be good'.
2. At the bottom of the second panel, 36 lines beginning:
     'On the ground there is a hell [sic]
     also a serpent within a well' and ending:      'of the white stone and the redd hear is the very true deed'
3. At the bottom of the third panel, 12 lines beginning:
     'In the Sea withouten lees standeth the birde of Hermes' and ending:      'Understand now well and right and thanck you God for this sight'
4. At the bottom of the fourth panel, 38 lines beginning:
     'I shall tel you without leasing who and what is my generation' and ending:      'and make them all but one lok here is the philosophers stone'.

In the right-hand border, against the end of this poem, is written: 'This long Rolle was drawne / in Collours for me in Lubeck / in Germany. 1588'.

The poems show considerable variations from those in Ashmole's 'Verses' on pp. 375-379 of the 'Theatrum chemicum Britannicum'.

In the Sotheby catalogue entry for the second copy of this scroll [MS. 693], which was the Ashburnham copy, purchased 23/4/1934, Lot 40, it is suggested that the copying was commissioned by John Dee [1527-1608].

Both our copies seem to be of the early 17th cent.

Black's Catalogue of the Ashmolean MSS. enters an apparently incomplete copy of this scroll in Nos. 1530, 1535, and two other fragments in Nos. 1771, 1772.

Purchased at Sotheby's 4/8/1911, Lot 1077. (26158)

693. — Rotulum hieroglyphicum G. Riplaci Equitis Aurati.

Roll. 343 × 38½ cm. [c. 1600.]

Mounted on linen, with wooden rollers. Margins frayed.

For description see Catalogue entry for MS. 5633: with the following differences:

Title omitted at the top of the scroll.

First and second poems omitted.

Minor differences in spelling in the only two poems.

In the marginal border is the inscription 'This longe Rolle w[as] / drawne in Colours / for me at Lubecke / in Germanye 1588'.

On the back of the canvas, very faded and indistinct, the inscriptions 'Ex Museo Nob. Com. de Yarmouth' [i.e. William Paston, second Earl of Yarmouth, 1652-1732], and 'Johannes Ives de Yarmouth Norfolk' [i.e. John Ives, 1751-1776]. There is also a pasted-on label, slightly defective, inscribed 'From the Library of the Earl of Ashburnham, Appendix No. May 1897'.

Sold at Sotheby's (Ashburnham 'Appendix' Sale) 1/5/1899, Lot 130.

245 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1536.

18th cent. vellum binding.

A collection of receipts and remedies in alphabetical order with many blank leaves. The leaves at the beginning contain notes on medical weights and measures, definitions of pharmaceutical terms, some in mnemonic verses. There are further verses of the same kind on the two penultimate leaves.

A few receipts are in German, but the text is mainly in Latin throughout.

Ll. 219-241 contain an incomplete list—A to L—of medicines, etc. headed 'In appoteca talia habemus'.

On the title is inscribed 'Wer wil seyn ane leydt / Der sage niemandt seyne heymlickeytt'. Below this 'I. Romer' and under this in red, 'Anno domini 1536'. Beneath this a pen-drawn scroll decoration, and a shield containing (in red) the letters I.R. and a device.

On verso of the last leaf, and in a few other places in the text are receipts by the same hand as that of the anonymous writer in MS. 266 [FABRI].

Between fol. 86 and fol. 87, and between fol. 139 and fol. 140 are two inserted slips of smaller format bound in, containing medical receipts by contemporary hands. The first of these is endorsed 'Descriptio pillularum Caspari Fensels [?] anno 1538 adi 10 Februarii'.

Ff. 20-27 contain a set of 18 numbered receipts, headed: 'Cura febris pestilentialis A.D.A.K. 1535'.

147 [148] ll. (last 14 bl.). 16mo.  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7$  cm. [1610.]

Original vellum binding, spine damaged. First leaf wanting, folding diagram mutilated. The foliation is very irregular.

Each section is preceded by a symbolic pen-drawn figure.

Included are sections on 'Astrologie', 'Cosmographie', 'Médecine', 'Optique' and 'Physique'.

The date is to be found on fol. 114, in the first line 'Jusques à maintenant 1610'.

The Author has signed his name—in various forms—at the end of each section.

On the verso of the second blank leaf, oval Library stamp lettered 'Societatis Jesu Seminar[ii] Valsera'.

Purchased 1931. (75153)

698. ROS (HANS RUDOLF). Artzni Buchlin. Written in Swiss-German with some later additions. Included are notes of cases, and biographical notes of the Author and his family.

90 ll. (last 6 bl.). 4to.  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1559-1582.

ROSA

Original limp vellum covers, with ties. Many leaves have been cut out and some leaves are mutilated. The quires seem to have been put together in wrong order.

On fol. 33 there is a heading 'In gottes namen amen. / hie heppt an disz artznbuchlin an was ich mit der Hilff gottes geheilt hau anno H. 1559-R.R'.

On fol. 20 there is a title page 'Disers hab ich mit der Hilff gottes und maria Siner lieben Mutter geheilt anno 1559 H.R. Ros'. Some entries towards the end are in red ink.

The entries of cases, etc. extend from 1559 to 1566. The biographical notes (ff. 17<sup>v</sup>-19) are from 1562 to 1582.

On the first leaf is the name of Mathis Ros, and on fol. 9<sup>v</sup> a note by a later hand recording the death of Catherina Schmidlin grandmother of the writer of the note, and apparently the second wife of the compiler of this MS.

On the cover 19th cent. stamp of 'Dr. Lud[wig] Fritz Bossard. Cham'.

Original rough calf binding: clasp wanting.

Some leaves are perhaps missing at the beginning.

Lettered outside the upper cover in ink 'Of Discerning of Men. Tomus primus [?]'.

The MS. is a work on physiognomy in tabular form, and appears to be an English version of the 'Tabulae physiognomonicae' by Dominicus de Rubeis, published at Venice in 1639.

4 ll. + 50 ff. + 1 l. 4to.  $18\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 14th cent.]

On vellum, with 5 paper fly-leaves, the first and last pasted down on to the covers. Early 16th cent. stamped calf binding, damaged, with parts of two leather ties. Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Written in a good Italian gothic book-hand, in double column of 27 lines to a column.

Ornamental initials in alternate red and blue, with marginal decorations in red or purple: paragraph marks in alternate blue and red, headings in red.

On the verso of the last leaf is a pen-drawn circular diagram for fortune-telling by numbers and the letters of the alphabet by a late 15th cent. hand.

The first fly-leaf contains notes in Latin by an early 16th cent. hand, on the care of domestic animals 'Periti et eruditi viri precepta'. At the top of the page a note 'Practica Jo. Jac. de Manliis de Bosco', and below 'Die 7 decembris don Bartholomeus Joannis luc[a]e de Cassia attulit litteras de Joanne andrea et per eundem respondi'. The next 3 leaves contain extracts from Aristotle, Plinius, and Columella concerning animals.

The last fly-leaf at the end—perhaps by a different hand—contains some medical receipts, one in Italian, and one for a clyster 'contra difficultatem urinandi a magistro Joanne de Vercellis' which is dated 1524.

The Latin original of this work was first printed at Padua in 1818, and edited by Girolamo Molin.

Purchased 1922. (42020)

701. Arte de conoscere la natura dei cavalli.
6 ll. (last 3 bl.) + XLIX ff. + 1 bl. 4to.  $22\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  cm.
[Early 15th cent.]

On vellum. Original oak boards wormed and loose, back and leather covers wanting.

Written in a rounded gothic script, 30 lines to a page.

RUFFO

Last leaf	Blank.

This MS. contains 131 chapters. The work was first printed in Venice in 1493. [B.M.C. v. 512].

Purchased at Sotheby's 5/12/1905, Lot 452. (14408)

702. [RUFFO (GIORDANO)] Le medicine de' cavalli: in a version containing the sections on diseases and remedies only.

8 ll. + xlix ff. + 3 bl. ll. 8vo. 17 × 12 cm. [c. 1475.]

On vellum, 18th cent. vellum binding. Fol. 48 has been cut out: margins slightly cropped.

Written in three different italic hands: 17 lines to a page throughout.

On the first leaf of the text is an illuminated letter Q, in gold and colours with wide marginal decoration, somewhat rubbed, and the upper part shaved. Other capitals and headings in red.

The first preliminary leaf contains an uncompleted 'Tabula', extending to Capitolo 15 only: the second leaf is blank.

3 Blank leaves.

There are 137 chapters, and the opening chapters of the complete treatise are omitted: these contain general observations on horses, their care and hygiene, etc.

The title inscribed on the spine is 'Segreti per cavalli'.

Purchased 1910. (23993)

703. — Collection of remedies for the diseases of horses: in Italian. (Incomplete.) 22 ll. (first & last 3 bl.). 4to. 20 × 14 cm. [c. 1500.]

Modern boards.

Ff. 18, 19, and all after fol. 20 are wanting.

The first (blank) leaf and the last 4 leaves are on different paper, though there is an early foliation of 1-20 beginning at the first leaf: the last 4 ll. are not foliated.

The MS. has been re-foliated 1-22.

Written in a semi-current humanistic script 21-24 lines to a page. The script on fol. 19 is similar but probably of the early 16th cent. The Index (ff. 2-4) seems to have been left unfinished, as it only extends to fol. 16.

- Fol. 2 La Cyamora desende [sic] dal cerebro al cauallu / et desende per fredo . . . /

 6 Se tu uoj guarire el Caualo de Cyamora . . .
 18<sup>v</sup> Se uoj amogare li uermi.
 19 Receipts for removing stains, etc.
 20 Blank.

On fol. 16<sup>v</sup> and fol. 17<sup>v</sup>, receipts—probably charms—have been erased.

This collection seems to be based on the receipts, etc. found in Ruffo's 'Le medicine de' cavalli'.

Purchased 1928. (49578)

704. — Le medicine de' cavalli. 6 ll. (last 4 bl.). + 1 [2] bl. ll. + 70 ff.
 + 3 [4] ll. (last bl.). 8vo. 22 × 15 cm. [Early 16th cent.]

Unbound. A blank [?] leaf at the beginning (a.1), ff. 30, 63, and a blank [?] leaf at the end are wanting. The first 4 ff. are damaged by damp, and some margins frayed.

The text of the lower half of fol. 69<sup>v</sup>, containing a charm against worms in horses, has been blotted out in ink.

The 6 ll. at the beginning are on different paper and probably a later 16th cent. addition.

The water-mark of the main text seems to be Briquet No. 6664, assigned to Florence 1508.

- Fol. 1 [C]Oncio sia cosa che intra tucti li animali creati / dall' altissimo iddio creatore . . . / . . . / Nullun animal sia piu nobile del

Below this, obliterated in ink, is the charm against worms, headed 'AD occidendum verme [sic] quod [sic] habet equus [sic] dicat semel / pater noster. Hoc dicto dicatur in nomine pa / [tris] . . . The remainder is illegible.

Four unfoliated leaves, the last blank, containing an Index by a later 16th cent. hand.

At the beginning, the first leaf contains a note on Ruffo by an early 17th cent. hand, and the second, a veterinary receipt by a 16th cent. scribe.

Purchased 1931. (63790)

705. — Libro dell'infirmita dei cavalli. Delle cure de' bovi. Libro delle ricette per li homini et donne.
 4 bl. ll. + 62 ff. + 15 bl. ll. 4to. 23½ × 17½ cm. [Middle 16th cent.]

Original limp vellum covers. On fol. 50<sup>v</sup> is a pen-drawing of the 'Segnio di Salomone' in an unusual form.

- Fol. 1 Incipit liber Jordano della mantra si sono chiamato et dentro / nella chalauria fui nato.

RUFFO

This is followed by a 37 line poem beginning 'Christo Signior patre omnipotente / re creatore della humana gente / ...' in which the Author prays for a blessing on his book.

- 43 Finiscie il primo libro. // Seguitano le cure delli buoi.
 45 Finito el libro delle cure de boui. // Incomincia el libro delle ricette per li homini et / Donne aprobatissime.
 61 Qui finiscie il libro di M<sup>o</sup> Jordano della / mantra nuovamente Composto et ricoretto / et aprobattissimamente experimentato.
 61<sup>v</sup> and 62 contain charms in Latin against invisible and magical enemies, to stop bleeding, etc. These are written by a different but contemporary hand.

This MS. seems to be a version of the famous mediaeval work on veterinary medicine by Giordano Ruffo, but here only the remedies and diseases are given, in 155 chapters.

Purchased 1922. (41425)

706. RUFFO (GIORDANO) [& others]. Libro dell'infermita dei cavalli (ff. 32-72). Preceded by: Recepte aprobate aduerse infirmitate de' cavalli (ff. 1-31). Followed by: Illustrations of bits, etc. (ff. 73-129).

130 ll. (last bl.). folio. 30 x 20 cm. [c. 1500.]

Contemporary stamped calf binding repaired and rebacked.

A leaf has been cut out after fol. 69, and a piece cut out from lower margin of the second leaf.

Written in a neat current humanistic hand 27-28 lines to a page.

On fol. 6 is a large illuminated initial I in gold and colours, with floral ornaments in black and gold: in the lower margin an emblazoned shield within a green decorated wreath, the charges on which seems to have been painted over in red.

The work on bits is illustrated with pen and wash drawings.

707. RUPESCISSA (JOHANNES DE). Liber lucis. Followed by alchemical and medical receipts, in French and Latin, by another contemporary hand.
21 ll. 4to. 20 × 14 cm. [c. 1430.]

Modern rebinding in a vellum leaf from part of a legal document in Latin, dated 1480.

The first work is in a current hand, 35, 36 lines to a page: on Fol. 8 are three rough pen-drawings of alchemical apparatus.

Fol. 1 Liber lucis super lapi / de philosophali a magistro Iohanne / de rupeciza compositus. // [M]ateria lapidis est / vna res vilis . . .

Finis libri lucis lapidis / philosophalis a supra dicto / magistro Iohanne de / rupeciza compositus.

Ff. 11-21 Alchemical and medical receipts in French and Latin: by a different but contemporary hand.

It seems almost certain that this MS. originally formed part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 523 [MISCELLANEA Alchemica XX], which is dated 1430, and MS. No. 418 [LIBER de Aquis].

Cf. Entry for MS. No. 523, which, on fol. 1, contains a list of the contents of the original composite volume.

RUPESCISSA

708. — De consideratione quintae essentiae. [Anon.] Vocabularius herbarum latino-germanicus. 58 ll. 4to.  $21 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1443.

Modern boards. Small worm-hole in first three leaves, upper margin of fol. 1 repaired.

Written in a current gothic hand 34–36 lines to a page.

Some capitals, paragraph marks and underlinings in red: large initial D in red and black on the first leaf.

On fol. 5<sup>v</sup> is a pen-drawing in red and green of an alchemical vessel.

- Fol. 1 D Ixit salomon Sapientie. 7. capitulo / Deus dedit michi . . .
 42<sup>v</sup>, line 6 . . . vel in euis absentia aqua ardens. Deo / omnipotenti patrique filio et spiritui sancto laus / per infinita secula seculorum Amen. finis. 1443<sup>o</sup>.
 line 8 In nomine domini Amen / Vocabularius herbarum. / [A]brotanum Ebirtysz gertwurtz scabwurtz / . . .
 58 (End) Zima i fermentum vihesel [?]. // Et sic est finis. 1443<sup>o</sup> montis-pergae [?]. / Sancte francisce ora pro me [added by another hand] et pro omnibus / confidelibus defunctis.

On the verso of the last leaf, by another contemporary hand, is a formula for the Invocation of a Spirit, headed 'Igael [?]', and below this a receipt for a purgative. The reading of the place of origin is doubtful: it seems to be 'mtispāe' which may stand for Münchberg in Bavaria.

On the first fly-leaf small library stamp in red 'Ex libris doctoris S. Haeberl (i.e. Simon von Haeberl [1772–1831].).

Purchased 1934. (66760)

709. — De consideratione quintae essentiae.

1 bl. l. + 30 ff. + 1 l. folio.  $28\frac{1}{2} \times 18\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern boards.

Fol. 10 has been reversed in binding.

Written in double columns of 37–42 lines to a column.

On fol. 1 an illuminated initial D in gold and colours with marginal decoration: above the text two floreated decorative square ornaments in colours. Ornamental initials and paragraph marks in alternate red and blue: headings in red, some faded.

- Fol. 1 D Ixit salomon // sapientie capitulo 7<sup>o</sup>. // deus dedit michi horum / scientiam veram . . .
 30<sup>v</sup>, col. 1 Vel in euis absentia Aqua ardens. // Et In hoc est finis huius libri. // (red) Finis libri de V<sup>ta</sup> essentia // singularissimi Ac secreti valde.
 col. 2 Four added medical receipts.

On the verso of the end fly-leaf, an early 16th cent. owner has added 'Qui fecit additiones pandectarum in dicta stagia ('dicit' crossed through) innuit predictum ('fuisse' crossed through) librum esse edditum a Johanne de rupescissa'.

The watermark of the paper of the main text—a 'mont' (Briquet 11722) is assigned to the first half of the 15th cent.: that of the single leaves at the beginning and end—a bow and arrow (Briquet 816) to Bergamo 1513.

Inside the upper cover an armorial ex libris with a monogram—'CRLMERVAI[?]'—and motto 'Vita sine litteris mors est'. The arms are a paschal lamb passant, on a chief three fleurs de lis. The motto is that of Alphonse Antoine Louis Chassant [1808–1894].

Purchased 1910. (23758)

710. — Liber de consideratione quintae essentiae.

28 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $21 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum binding. Some margins cropped.

Written in a small semi-current gothic hand, probably Italian.

- Fol. 1 Frater iohannes rubecissa [sic] ordinis [fratrum minorum]. // Incipit liber primus [added above] de consideratione quinte essentie omnium rerum transmutabilium. In nomine domini nostri / ihesu christi. Incipit liber de famulatu philosophie euangelio Domini ihesu christi. - 26<sup>v</sup>, 27 With other alchemical processes, etc.
- 26<sup>v</sup>, 27 Medical receipts in Spanish by several 16th cent. hands.

This MS. was originally part of a larger volume containing MS. No. 443 [LULLIUS] and MS. No. 444 [LULLIUS], as is proved by the identity not only of the main script, but also that of the several 16th cent. added medical receipts in Spanish.

Purchased 1936. (69476)

711. — De consideratione quintae essentiae.

1 l. + 58 ff. + 3 ll. (last 2 bl.). 4to. 20½ × 15½ cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original vellum covers. Name cut out of first fly-leaf.

There is an unidentified pen-drawn coat of arms on the title page.

First leaf (un-numbered) LIBER PAVPERIS / EVANGELICI.

- First leaf verso In nomine domini, incipit liber primus / de consideratione quintae essentiae omnium rerum / transmutabilium pro pauperibus euangeli / cis factum et extractum de sententiis Raymundi per fatrem [sic] Eliam.

- 55<sup>v</sup> [59] Tabulae.

For an account of this work see Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science'. Vol. III, pp. 355-365, 725-730.

The version in this MS. contains 12 Canons only.

From the Julius Kohn Library.

Purchased at Sotheby's 28/1/1935, Lot 9. (68053)

712. RUPESCISSA (JOHANNES DE) [& others]. De consideratione quintae essentiae. Followed by a list of medicines and their qualities, an anonymous 'Trattato delle urine', and the 'Giudicio delle urine' by Aegidius Corboliensis, etc.: with a few alchemical and medical receipts in Italian and Latin.

4 ll. + 130 ff. + 4 ll. 4to. 16 × 12 cm. [c. 1475.]

On vellum. Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards, rubbed: with two brass and leather clasps, one defective.

The first and last leaves have been pasted down on the covers.

Written in a good italic hand, 17 lines to a page.

Illuminated initial D on fol. 1 in gold and colours in an interlaced design, rubbed.

RUPESCISSA

Other initials in alternate red and blue, with marginal decorations in red, purple and brown. Headings and some paragraph marks in red.

In the lower margin of fol. 13 is a pen-drawing in red of a 'Vas circulationis'; and on the verso of fol. 132 rough pen-drawing of an alchemical furnace, and of a 'capello' by another hand.

The two works on urines are illustrated by numerous outline drawings of urine glasses, uncoloured.

4 Preliminary leaves, contain a title 'Quinta Essentia Magistri / J de ripacissa ordinis Minorum', and an owner's inscription erased 'Codex C [?] [... bani ?]' on the verso of the first leaf: the other 3 ll. contain alchemical receipts in Italian, by a somewhat later current hand.

Ff. 130-134 Two medical receipts by the principal hand, followed by alchemical receipts, partly by the later current hand, and partly in another similar script, in Italian and Latin.

- No. 2 Entered in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', Col. 5, and stated to be '(Isaac Judaeus?) Liber de gradibus Liber de gradibus simplicium, translated by Constantinus Africanus'.
- 3 This tract is apparently an Italian version, much abbreviated, of the anonymous 'De urinis' printed in the 1478 Pavia edition of the 'Antidotarium' of Nicolaus Praepositus.
- 5 Perhaps an Italian version, also abbreviated, of the 'De urinis' ascribed to 'Bartholomaeus [?]' in Thorndike's 'Catalogue of Incipits', col. 108.

70 ll. 4to. 21½ × 16 cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. Original stamped leather binding, badly worn.

Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Written in a current humanistic hand, 35 lines to a page.

Large illuminated capital R in gold and colours on fol. 3<sup>v</sup>, other initials in gold on coloured grounds of blue and red, green and red, or red and blue, headings in red.

The headings, etc. are somewhat faded.

The Explicit is followed by two receipts by the same hand (fol. 70<sup>v</sup>).

There are a few marginal notes and veterinary receipts by later 15th cent. hands, in Latin and Italian.

The Cardinal D.N. mentioned in the 'Prohemium' is D[ominus] N[apoleone] Orsini [1288-1347].

RUSSITIS

The work was first printed at Speyer by J. and C. Rist, c. 1488, and in Italian at Venice in 1543.

Purchased 1921. (40828)

714. — Liber marescalciae equorum. In Flemish.

75 ll. 4to. 24 × 16 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

On vellum, modern boards.

A leaf is wanting after fol. 35, the first leaf is defective, the second and third damaged in the upper corners: there is a small hole in fol. 35: many leaves are worn and stained.

Written by a semi-current gothic book-hand in double column of 31–37 lines to a column: spaces for capitals.

Fol. 1, col. 1 Part of the first chapter is wanting, as the upper part of the leaf has been torn off: the chapter ends, line 10:

‘... end sacht / moedich tot sinen here end / tot sinen voeder’.

The last chapter, as given in the Index is CXI ‘Teghen die hete pisse’. This is found on fol. 71, col. 2, and ends line 15:

‘... den parde / gheuen sal te drinken end / et sal alghenesen’.

After this come various receipts, ending at fol. 72, col. 2, line 20.

Below this another contemporary hand has written a receipt in 6 lines ‘Tot dye crone van die woet’.

Ff. 72<sup>v</sup>–75 contain the Index.

According to Sir F. Smith in his ‘Early history of veterinary literature’, Vol. I, the number of chapters in this work vary greatly in the MSS. The Sicilian MS. printed by Delprato has 181 chapters.

This MS. contains 191, and begins with a chapter numbered ii, in Delprato’s MS.: it is No. 1 ‘Dela natura dellu cavallu’.

Sarton in his ‘Introduction to the history of science’, Vol. III, part 1, p. 858, does not mention any Flemish MS. of this work.

715. RUSSITIS (PLINIO DE). Diploma granting Degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Medicine of the University of Padua.

6 ll. 4to. 23½ × 16½ cm. Padua. 1607.

On vellum, unbound.

Illuminated first leaf with borders in gold and colours, a miniature of the Holy Family, and an emblazoned coat of arms. In the text, which is within gold rules, initials are in gold.

Signed at the end by Francesco Capilisti Comes Palatinus, Dominico Monthesauro, Syndic of Verona, Cesar Cremoninus [1550–1631], Johannes Thomas Minadous, M.D. [1540–1615], Aloysius Angelus (M. D. Padua), Julius Casserius (M.D. Padua) [1545–1616], Benedictus de Benedictis (M.D. Padua) [—1631], Franciscus Vignellius (M.D. Padua), and Marius Bacchus, Notary of Padua.

Purchased 1919. (40627)

716. RUTHVEN (WILLIAM) [& others]. Collection of iatrochemical receipts and notes on medicine in Latin and English. The first part, possibly by Ruthven himself, is followed by ‘Experimenta’ of Sir Robert Killigrew. With other receipts.

130 ll. (first, & last 5 bl.). 4to. 21 × 16 cm. 1612–1630.

Original vellum binding: silk ties wanting.

Some headings and many marginal notes in red.

- Contents: (1) De mercurio vitae varia ex relatione D. Ruthuen. (ff. 2, 3)
 (2) Iatrochemical receipts and notes on medicine, perhaps written by Ruthven himself. (ff. 22-88)
 (3) Sequentia ex variis confabulationibus habitis cum D. Ruthueno. (ff. 88<sup>v</sup>-94)
 (4) Medical receipts in English by a different hand. (ff. 101-115)
 (5) Experimenta Equitis D. Roberti Killigrew, ab ipso probata. (ff. 117-122)
 (6) Great Cordiall. Sir Robert Killigrew. 1630. (fol. 123)
 (7) Medical receipts in English: by the same hand as No. 4. (ff. 124, 125)

Nos. 1, 3, and perhaps 6, together with the marginal annotations to No. 2 are by the same hand, whose initials 'RVT' are given in a monogram on ff. 46, 47<sup>v</sup>, 48, 54 and 69<sup>v</sup>. An inscription on the spine is: 'RVT Cl[assis] g'.

The date 1613 occurs on fol. 64.

The Ruthven mentioned twice (No. 1 and No. 3) is probably William Ruthven, a son of William Ruthven, fourth Lord Ruthven and Earl of Gowrie [1541?-1584]. The D.N.B. in a notice of the father states that the son after James I's order for his arrest in 1603 'escaped, and went to the continent where he gained a high reputation by his scientific acquirements'.

718. S. (P.). Fragment of a work on materia medica and pharmacy: in French. 47 ll. folio. 25½ × 17½ cm. 1637.

Unbound. The beginning and end are wanting: fol. 32 is mutilated, and the first 8 and last 11 leaves are defective; stained throughout.

A leaf before fol. 32 has been cut out.

SABATIER

The first part (ff. 1-35) contains notes on materia medica. Fol. 36 is headed 'Institutions pharmaceutiques, ou préceptes par lesquels on peut apprendre la voye et chemin qu'il fault tenir pour ce [sic] rendre bon apothicaire'.

The date 1637 occurs on fol. 30, and on fol. 45<sup>v</sup>.

The initials P.S. appear in the lower margin of fol. 29, and are perhaps those of the compiler.

Purchased 1934. (67137)

310-324 Blank.

No. 6 This is written by a different hand, possibly by the writer of the note on fol. 2 dated 1626, whose name appears to be 'Charles Huplein, Modansis'.

11 This does not appear to be the Commentary usually ascribed to Hortulanus.

12 The attribution of this work to Bernhardus Trevisanus is conjectural.

13 In Wickersheimer's 'Dictionnaire biographique' Vol. II, p. 771 is an entry of 'Valrand Du Busrobert' extracted from the Archives d'Amiens under dates 1496-1502.

15 This short tract is possibly a version of the 'Rosarius abbreviatus' by John Dastin, discussed by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. III, pp. 94, 95. Another version in Spanish is recorded in W. J. Wilson's 'Catalogue of Alchemical MSS.' ('Osiris' Vol.
VI, p. 409), where it seems to be ascribed to Arnoldus de Villanova in the original text, though this may only indicate that Arnoldus was the translator.

On the first leaf 'Ex libris J. Delisstard' and on the next leaf below the text
'Delisstard'.

With jottings on personal expenses, a few medical receipts and clinical notes of cases, etc.: in French and Latin.

175 ll. 8vo.  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  cm. Montbrun. 1613-1624.

Original vellum covers from a leaf of a 14th cent. Service Book.

Eight leaves have been torn out of the middle of the volume, the first and last leaves are slightly damaged, and a number of leaves dampstained.

The script is difficult, but the Author of the MS. seems to have been a Jansenist, and is possibly a relative of Louis Gorin de Saintamour [1619-1687]. Among his case-histories are those of his Father, Sister and Uncle. There is also an anti-Jesuit acrostic.

Outside the upper cover signature of 'C. Lemoine' and below 'Ex libris J. B[aptis]te Moulinet' both by 18th cent. hands.

108 ll. folio.  $30 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. Saint Denis. 1585, 1586.

18th cent. calf gilt binding, with title label on side.

The record runs from 1581 to 1585, and is certified correct by the Auditors on behalf of the Community under the date 9 July 1585. This attestation is also signed by Loys Thibault 'Docteur Régent en la Faculté de Médecine en l'université de Paris'.

Below this is a formal receipt for the money, signed by Catharine Goguet, dated 6 May 1586.

The title label in gold on red, on the upper cover states that this MS. belonged to Mr Monteil (i.e. Amans Alexis Monteil [1769-1850], the historian). The MS. is mentioned in his book 'La médecine en France', Paris [1874], pp. 211, 212.

Gilt stamped calf binding.

Lettered on the spine as above.

A student's notes of lectures, they are accompanied by 'Scholia' in which the name 'Dominus de St. Jacques' appears in several entries, and he seems to have been the writer of the MS.

This Saint Jacques may possibly be the famous comic actor known as 'Guillot Gorju' who after having studied medicine in Paris, abandoned the profession and became an actor of comic parts, in which he excelled in deriding his late occupation, and preceded Molière in his stage-caricatures and satirical attacks on Doctors. He later came back to his birthplace at Melun about 1645, and actually practised the profession he had so bitterly attacked. But he does not seem to have been successful, and died in Paris in 1648.

There is a contemporary foliation 1-77, which excludes the two leaves of the Index, at the beginning.

In the lower margin of the first leaf of the Index is an inscription 'Ad Venerando fratre Anselmo Bailaluccae dalla Reigola del sacro ordine di Santo Agustino 1616'.

Pasted on the spine is a printed label 'Boncompagni 284', but in Narducci's 'Catalogo' of the Baldassare Boncompagni MSS., this MS. is entered as No. 331. Narducci also states that this MS. 'sembra scritto nel principio del secolo XV'. But the watermark—a cardinal's hat—appears to be Briquet 3370, assigned to Venice 1469.

Three of the four un-numbered leaves at the beginning contain notes of farm [?] accounts amongst which the date 1434 appears on the recto of the third leaf, though the script is mostly very faint. On the verso of this leaf, and on the fourth leaf are notes on the medicinal uses of tobacco ['pianta nicosiana'] in a late 16th cent. hand, extracted from a book by Georgius Melichius of Augsburg, the first edition of which was published in Venice in 1574, entitled 'Avvertimenti nelle compositioni de' medicamenti'.

Ff. 41<sup>v</sup>-48 contain medical receipts in various early and later 16th cent. hands. The last 2 leaves contain continuations of the 15th cent. accounts.

Signature of Giacomo Varenne [?] Jacques de Varenne, 1710-80], on fol. 1.

The watermark—a cardinal's hat—appears to be Briquet 3372, assigned to Bergamo 1481.

Armorial book-plate of Robert W[eston] Webb. [1875- ].

SCHALLER

The notes of payments on fol. 36 and 68 are made by a certain Lactantio del Zuplia, who on fol. 68 states: 'Ricordo como io lactantio del / zuplia comenzai andare / a la bodega de maestro maria di berna / rdino seruar . . .', dated 12 November 1526.

The inscription on the first leaf apparently states that the MS. was acquired for 25 soldi on March 24, 1520: it is perhaps by the hand of the above-mentioned Lactantio del Zuplia.

The name of one of the main contributors of the extracts is found on fol. 35<sup>v</sup> where he says: 'Ego autem Jo. Ant. Scandolistius physicus talem facio unctionem et inueni mirabiliter operare'.

On fol. 79 another owner has written: 'Die 14 septembris 1613 D. Romanus Serenarius donauit mihi hunc librum. Bramno Santa Maria'.

There is an unidentified armorial library stamp on fol. 2.

131 [132] ll. 4to. 22½ × 16½ cm. Amberg. 1643.

Original stamped calf binding: the upper cover with the sacred monogram IHS and a Cross, the lower cover with an oval decoration.

A leaf cut out at the beginning, and probably two leaves of the Index wanting at the end.

Outer upper corners stained up to about fol. 85.

As the original pagination is irregular, a new foliation in pencil has been added.

The first leaf and some headings, etc. written in red ink.

Ff. 86-119 contain receipts by a different and later 17th cent. hand, and include some incantations. There are also some charms among the receipts on ff. 119<sup>v</sup>-129 written in an early 18th cent. script.

230 ll. 4to. 21½ × 17½ cm. 1581-1668.

Original stamped calf binding damaged. Some leaves have been torn out, and only a piece of the last leaf but one remains. Many margins and corners frayed: some damp stains. The first leaf is pasted down on the upper cover.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

- Ff. 2-19 Frau Schitzin's medical receipts.
 20-210 Farm account books, etc. by various hands, dated 1599 (fol. 20) to 1668 (126<sup>v</sup>).
 210<sup>v</sup>-221<sup>v</sup> Ein schön Weinbuch. By the earliest compiler.
 Fol. 225 Receipts for almond cakes, etc. By a later hand.

There are a number of blank leaves [ff. 159-199] in the middle of the volume, and it has been largely scribbled over.

19 ll. + 208 ff. (last 3 bl.). 4to. 20 × 16 cm. [Cologne?] 1646.

Original vellum binding. Last 2 leaves torn, some margins frayed.

Below the title are the letters 'M D C' and under these 'M C' in a decorated italic: on the verso and on the half-title to the 'Register', the same initials are repeated. But these may all be later additions.

The spine is lettered 'Arznei Buch. MDCXLVI Coloniae Allo[brogorum]', though the t.p. is dated 'M D C', but this is possibly an uncompleted figure.

Outside the upper cover 'Nils Torpson 1875'.

On the verso of fol. 205 is a note in Latin by Torpson, dated Lund 1875, referring to the MS., which he states he found at Ellinge.

Purchased 1930. (63367)

SCHOENER VON KARLSTADT

734. SCHOENER von Karlstadt (JOHANN) [1477-1547]. Horoscopion. De nativitatibus. Translated into German.

4 ll. + 318 ff. + 2 bl. ll. folio. 31 × 20½ cm. 1603.

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards, damaged: both clasps wanting. A title-page is wanting.

Ff. 64-71 contain 10 engraved plates of symbolic cosmological figures etc. (unidentified). There are also a few pen-drawn horoscopic figures.

This MS. appears to be a German translation of the first volume of Schöner's 'Opera', Nuremberg, 1551, in which ff. 72-end contain the treatise on nativities which make up ff. 55-218 of the printed work.

This is shown in our MS., where a previous owner has written on fol. 72 'Schonero f. 55', and has added the foliations of the printed book from there to the end of the MS. text.

On fol. 318<sup>v</sup>, the scribe has written 'Vollendet 15 Monnatstag Novembris Anno 1603'.

31 ll. (first & last 4 bl.). 8vo. 15 × 10½ cm. [c. 1570.]

Modern vellum binding.

This treatise, which may possibly be a part of a larger work, deals with the 28 solar numbers and their influence on weather and crops.

On the leaf following the end of the text (27) is a note 'Mémoire que Robert le Besque cordier me doit cent Soubz de Rente pour chacun an du iiiii<sup>leme</sup> jour de mars 1573'.

737. SCRITTI medicinali.

280 ff. + 14 ll. folio. 27½ × 20 cm. [Rome?] [c. 1570.]

Original vellum binding, vellum ties wanting. Slightly wormed.

From internal evidence this MS. is the compilation of a Physician with an extensive practice, possibly in Rome. The date 1571 occurs on fol. 44<sup>v</sup>.

After some preliminary recommendations for general use, the volume contains lists of remedies, classified, and in rough alphabetical order.

Actual cases of his own, or of cures by contemporary colleagues are quoted.

At the end are a number of remedies for 'Morbus gallicus', and the use of Guaiacum.

The text is in Latin, but on the last few leaves are some receipts in Italian. On the upper cover is written 'Scritti medicinali', and on the spine 'Medica varia'.

The compiler may possibly be one Giuliano Granucci, otherwise unknown, for there are inserted in the volume two short notes, addressed to this person from Giuliano Contughi, dated 1570; and from Augusto Titio, undated. These are found between fol. 35 and fol. 36, and between fol. 244 and fol. 225.

Purchased 1930. (56311)

738. SECRETI di varie sorti. 93 ll. 8vo.  $17 \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1500.]

16th cent. boards. Leaves are wanting after ff. 65, 67, 77 and 85; the last leaf is damaged and stained.

A foliation has been added in pencil.

Headings in red, written in a current humanistic hand.

The text is mainly in Italian, but some entries are in Latin. It contains chemical, technical, domestic, medical and cosmetic receipts, and others for colours, inks, dyes, varnishes, confectionery.

On fol. 56 is a 'Secretum magistri Andreae Mantegna sive Squarzone [1431-1506] for an 'Aqua ex oleo lini'.

The watermark is apparently Briquet 15375, assigned to Vicenza 1492.

Purchased 1931. (64373)

739. SECRETI utili e curiosi. 2 ll. (first bl.) + 76 pp. + 7 ll.
4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 17th cent.]

Original mottled calf binding.

A collection of miscellaneous technical and other receipts, 'secrets', etc., including a few for cosmetics.

On the last leaf is a rough pen-drawing of a still.

Purchased 1930. (62832<sup>B</sup>)

740. SECRETS de la polygraphie. Vingt-quatre secrets.
3 bl. ll. + 55 ll. + 22 bl. ll. + 3 ll. (last bl.). 4to.  $22 \times 15$  cm.
[Early 17th cent.]

Original vellum covers.

The first section (6 ll.) is a short work on cryptography; followed by a collection of mechanical and other tricks and semi-scientific processes; it includes some medical receipts, etc.

There are a few veterinary receipts at the end.

Purchased 1933. (66382)

741. SEGALONI (FRANCESCO). Priorista Fiorentino [1282-1531].
36 ll. (last bl.). + 4 bl. ll. + 4 ll. (last bl.). + 486 ff. + 5 bl. ll.
folio. 42 × 28½ cm. [Florence.] [c. 1650.]

Original half calf binding over wooden boards. A few margins frayed.

The 'Repertorio' at the beginning is of smaller format, 37 × 25 cm.

Illustrated with emblazoned coats of arms.

After the 'Repertorio' are three leaves containing the arms of Florence and of its 10 'Quartiere'.

Against the names are columns headed 'Sestieri', 'Priori', 'Gonfalonieri', 'Senatori'.

There are many entries of 'Medico', 'Speziale', etc.

The earliest date is 1282 and the latest 1531. The MS. appears to have been written in 1650 which is the date found most frequently in the 'Senatori' column.

On the leaf containing the arms of Florence is a note in pencil 'Compilato da
Messer Francesco Segaloni, Cancelliere delli Riformagioni di Firenze'.

There is another MS. copy of this work entered in Narducci's 'Catalogo di Manoscritti ora posseduti da D. Baldassare Boncompagni', Rome. 1862, No.
338.

Armorial book-plate of Claude Drigon Marquis de Magny D'Ostiano [1797-1879] pasted inside the upper cover.

Purchased 1934. (68504)

742. SEGRETI. Collection of notes on surgery, and surgical remedies, gunshot wounds: with miscellaneous medical receipts, etc. In Italian, by various hands. 50 ll. 4to. 23 × 16 cm. [c. 1525]-1610.

Modern boards.

The beginning of the first work is wanting.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

On fol. 42 is a rough pen-drawing of a chiromantic hand.

The dates 1577, 1581 appear on fol. 35, and 1610 on fol. 44.

Purchased 1910. (23984)

743. SEGRETI di alchimia e medicina. 8 bl. ll. + 175 ff. + 5 bl. ll.
8vo. 14 × 10½ cm. [Florence?] [c. 1480-1550.]

17th cent. limp vellum binding.

Leaves are wanting after fol. 68 and fol. 159: ff. 159/160 and 163/164 are pasted together. Some leaves at the end are damaged, and repaired on the inner margins, and many are damp-stained.

A foliation in pencil, has been added.

SEGUIN

Written by several late 15th cent. and early 16th cent. hands.
The last part contains pen-drawings of wood-turning machines, etc.
Some headings in red in the first section.

1. Ricette et secreti di alchimia

Ff. 1-22 In Italian throughout. It contains chemical and technical receipts for colours, etc. By an early 16th cent. hand.

2. Alchemical receipts: in Italian and Latin

Ff. 23-30 By a different and later hand, c. 1550.

3. Miscellaneous receipts: in Italian and Latin

Ff. 31-52 By two different early 16th cent. hands. The receipts are medical, cosmetic, veterinary and technical.

4. Medical and technical receipts: in Italian

Ff. 52<sup>v</sup>-68 Partly by the same hand as (1), but ff. 62-67 are by a different, but contemporary hand.

69-71 Blank.

5. Miscellaneous receipts: in Italian and Latin

Ff. 72-End This section is the earliest part of the volume, and seems to have been originally written by a Florentine physician or apothecary in the last quarter of the 15th cent., and these receipts are mainly medical.

There are interpolated alchemical, chemical and technical receipts by several early 16th cent. hands.

The leaves are probably bound in wrong order and some are wanting.

On fol. 166 is a section beginning 'La pratica del turno' which is illustrated by pen-drawings.

On fol. 171, under the heading of 'Mediolano', the writer states that he arrived in Milan 'a di 17 de agosto e fermame con petro bernado 1513'. He goes on to say that on September 1 'uidi li fornelli da tragetare ed el sigrito dabutar la remula'. There are some rough pen-drawings of apparatus, but the remainder of this section seems to be lost.

The date 1482 is found on fol. 173<sup>v</sup>, and 1484 on the verso of the next leaf. These are headings to accounts by what seems to be the earliest hand.

The water-marks on ff. 72-end are Briquet, No. 3662 (Scissors) assigned to Genoa 1438, and No. 2651 (Basilisc) assigned to Lucca 1477.

The first 71 ff. contain different and apparently later water-marks.

On fol. 59<sup>v</sup> is a 'Ricetta per la renella del Corte, Eccellentissimo Medico' (i.e. Matteo Corti [1475-1542]).

The title used here is that inscribed on the spine.

Purchased 1929. (57484 (8)).

744. SEGUIN (PIERRE) [1566-1648] [& others]. Lecture notes on 'Methodus medendi' (beginning wanting), on Galenic pathology, and on lues venerea, etc.: with other medical extracts and notes. Written by Remigius Suhardus.

ff. 147-207 + 1 l. + 26 ff. + 1 l. + 5 ll + 58 ff. 7 ll. (last 4 bl.).

4to. 27½ × 21 cm. Paris. 1612-1670.

Modern quarter calf binding. Ff. 1-146 of the first work are wanting.

In the lower margin of the first leaf is an unidentified blazoned coat of arms, within a green wreath with decorations in blue and red. The device, a gothic 'b' is repeated in ink inside the upper cover, on the verso of the one original vellum fly-leaf at the beginning, and on the lower fore-edge.

The Latin translation of this work was first printed at Milan in 1473.

No record has been traced of any publication of this Italian version.

749. SERAPION SENIOR (JOANNES). Breviarium, translated by Gerardus Cremonensis. JANUS Damascenus. Aphorismi.

122 ff. folio. 36 × 23 cm. [Early 14th cent.]

On vellum. Early 19th cent. boards damaged. Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Illuminated MS. written in double column of 52 lines to a column by the same scribe throughout, in a semi-gothic Italian book hand.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

On fol. 3 a large illuminated and historiated initial I with a miniature of a Professor in cap and gown teaching; with a decorated border extending down the whole page, and ending in the lower margin with a grotesque beast and a bird.

Fol. 14	Illuminated letter S.
26 <sup>v</sup>	Similar letter N with marginal side ornament showing a grotesque head.
36 <sup>v</sup>	Illuminated letter D with bird ornament.
53 <sup>v</sup>	Illuminated and historiated letter C with miniature of a Professor teaching, half length.
68	Illuminated letter S.
71	Below the text of col. 2, two small-pen-drawings of grotesque monsters.
75, col. 1	Illuminated and historiated letter P, with half-length miniature of a Professor teaching, and winged marginal decoration.
col. 2	Illuminated letter N.
119	Historiated letter L with miniature of a monk and young pupil, and a grotesque head: the colouring is incomplete, the blue portions only being filled in.

Other capitals in blue and red, or in alternate blue and red: paragraph marks and headings in red.

col. 2	Medical notes and prescriptions by the same hand as the first and last two leaves.
122 <sup>v</sup>	Table of hot and cold qualities.

The first and last two leaves contain medical prescriptions and notes in double column, all by an early 15th cent. hand which is also found in many of the marginalia.

On the first leaf, col. 2, line 35 a receipt is headed 'In nomine domini secundum Magistrum ma[rsi]llium'. The centre of the name is rubbed, but it seems possible that these notes may be from the lectures of Marsilius de Sancta Sophia [ -1405] of Padua and Bologna. Various receipts on these two leaves and on the last two are stated to be by 'Magister M'.

On the verso of the last leaf the Table of hot and cold qualities is by the same hand.

In the lower margin of fol. 1, autograph of 'Maestro Antonio da Parma' in a late 15th cent. hand.

The 'Breviarium' was first published at Venice in 1479, and the 'Aphorismi' of Janus Damascenus (together with Rhazes: 'Liber Almansoris') at Milan in 1481. Phillipps MS. No. 905.

Sold at Sotheby's 14/3/1825, Lot 68. (Celotti Sale.)

Sold at Sotheby's 16/6/1896, Lot 1066 (Phillipps Sale), when it was described as 'having been brought to England by the Abbé Celotti in 1825'.

Purchased 1909. (21455)

143 pp. 8vo.  $17\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Middle 15th cent.]

On vellum. 18th cent. vellum binding: both ties wanting.

The last work is unfinished, and stops in the middle of a sentence.

A number of Oriental names in the first work, and words of charms in the main work have been partly erased.

Written in a current humanistic hand, 23 lines to a page.

Some initials, headings and a few paragraph marks in red.

No record of the first work or its Author has been traced.

According to Thorndike 'History of Magic and Experimental Science' Vol. I, p. 600, the 'De taxone' is really an introductory chapter to the 'De medicina ex animalibus'. It is to be noted that this MS. contains a fourth section on the medicinal uses of fish, whereas the usual texts of this work refer only to land animals and birds.

The 'De medicina ex animalibus' was first printed at Nuremberg in 1538.

An owner's name has been erased on the first page: the inscription may possibly read: 'Ex libris P. Junii Luccensis 1592'.

749. SHROWL (JAMES). Collection of 14 manuscripts containing medical, cookery and other receipts; by various 17th and 18th cent. hands: mainly in English, but with some entries in Latin and French.

362 ll. folio. 30 × 20 cm. [c. 1625–c. 1750]

18th cent. quarter calf binding. First leaf loose.

Some of the MSS. are incomplete as noted below.

- No. 1 Remedies for gonorrhoea: in Latin and English. 1 leaf. [c. 1750]. In a very similar hand to that of No. 4.
- 2 Medical receipts in English: the beginning wanting, and probably the end. Written in a neat 17th cent. hand. 10 ll. [c. 1650].
- 3 Medical receipts in English. 2 ll. [c. 1675].
- 4 Medical receipts in English. 18 ll. [c. 1750].
The first leaf has a note in red ink 'Ex MS. proprio veteri'.
- 5 Medical, cookery and miscellaneous receipts: in English, a few in Latin. Beginning and end wanting. 69 ll. [c. 1725].
- 6 Cookery receipts in English. 2 ll. [c. 1675].
The hand is similar to that of No. 3.
- 7 Medical receipts in English, with a few entries in French and Italian. 20 ll. [c. 1700].
- 8 Cookery and medical receipts in English: the first leaf wanting. pp. 3–109. [c. 1725].

SIBYLLA ERYTHRAEA

- 9 Cookery receipts in English: 46 ll. [c. 1725].
The hand is similar to that of No. 8.
- 10 Cookery and medical receipts in English: the first 4 leaves wanting. ff. 5-27. [c. 1675].
- 11 Medical receipts in English. 22 ll. [c. 1700].
- 12 Medical and cookery receipts in English: pp. 15-18 wanting. 153 pp. [c. 1725].
The hand is similar to that of Nos. 8 and 9.
- 13 RALEIGH (Sir Walter) [& others]. Receipt book. Text within red rules, underlinings in red. 36 pp. [c. 1625]. (See note below.)
- 14 DARNELL (Susan). [Cookery] Receipts taken out of a Booke of Susan Darnells the 27 of August 1635. 30 pp. The first leaf is bound in wrongly: it probably should follow page 11/12.

Note on No. 13. This MS. seems to have been written not long after Raleigh's death in 1618 by one of his friends. An entry on p. 28 states: 'Whatsoever is conteyned in theis [sic] precedent pages is transcribed out of Sir Walter Raleighs booke of receipts written with his owne hand, and is done according to the originall in everie sillable // This that followeth Sir W. R. wrote with his owne hand and gave it to mee, to teach me to make the Magister of Pearles'.

After the receipts of Raleigh, are further medical receipts, a table of chemical signs and an Index. The first of these entries is a receipt for the coagulation of mercury by 'Dr. Wyllis': this would probably be Timothy Willis, alchemist [fl. 1615] [cf. D.N.B.].

Pasted inside the upper cover is the name James Shrowll, apparently part of a printed bill-head, and perhaps the name of the original owner of this collection.

The signature of 'J. Hodgkin Dec. 9th, 1914' is inscribed in pencil above this. Purchased 1931. (56608)

72 ff. + 12 ll. 8vo. 16 × 11 cm. [Late 15th cent.]

Modern vellum covers from a leaf from a 14th cent. Service-book.

Ornamental initial in red and yellow on first leaf, other capitals, headings, foliation and paragraph marks in red.

Margins slightly cropped in binding.

Ff. 1-11 Von dem gebranten weyne, and other receipts.

11-60 Nota circa herbarum [sic]: item von der frawenseuche.

60-63 Dy varbe dy de hörn hot. [Colours of urines, etc.].

63-72 Miscellaneous receipts and remedies.

The section from fol. 60-end, seems to be based on Ortolff von Bayerland's 'Arzneibuch'—first printed at Nuremberg in 1477. He is named on fol. 64.

The first 11 of the 12 un-foliated leaves at the end contain a Register, which is continued as far as fol. xl.

On the verso of the 11th leaf is a Latin prayer by another hand.

On the verso of the last leaf 'Joannes spangl nech Gemnoch [?].'

This place-name may probably be a 15th cent. spelling of Gemmenach in Belgium near Aachen.

2 vols. 4to. 20½ × 16½ cm. Dillingen. 1595, 1596.

Original stamped pig-skin binding. Clasps to both volumes wanting.

On the verso of fol. 111 of the second volume is a pen-drawn figure of the Aristotelian geocentric Universe.

SPECULUM

In the second volume, on both title-pages the date is written wrongly 'MDCXVI' for 'MDXCVI'. On the first t.p. of this volume alone is the surname 'Plonach' of the writer given. In Vol. I and elsewhere he appears as 'Frater Jacobus Peter' only.

In each volume is a library label of Samuel Parr [1747-1825].

757. SPINNEY (AUGUSTINE). Medical compendium, containing receipts, notes on practical treatment, uroscopy, pregnancy, etc., also on astronomy, medical astrology, etc. With additions by later hands, of which many are by Henry Fowler, Rector of Minchinhampton (Glos.) dated between 1602 and 1641. Written partly in Latin and partly in English.
200 [214] ll. 4to. 20 × 14 cm. Minchinhampton [c. 1530 & later]; 1602-1641.

Vellum end-papers. 17th cent. calf binding, with gold stamped centre ornament: slightly defective.

14 leaves are missing: First leaf, between fol. 10 and 11; between fol. 59 and 60; between fol. 83 and 84; between fol. 87 and 88, 4 leaves; between fol. 97 and 98; between fol. 107 and 108; between fol. 119 and 120; between fol. 187 and 188; between fol. 188 and 189, 2 leaves.

Upper corner of fol. 1 slightly defective, lower corner of fol. 171 cut away; lower margin of last leaf damaged.

The fly-leaves are part of a Brief of Pope Sixtus IV addressed to 'de Tunbrige ordinis sancti Augustini' and refer to a 'perpetua vicaria Cantaria vel libera Capella hospitale'. It is dated 148 [?] on the verso of the back end-paper. Sixtus IV was Pope from 1471 to 1484.

Fowler has illustrated some of his entries with small pen-drawings, some anatomical, grotesque heads, animals, etc. and flowers—the latter perhaps as a rebus for his name.

Contents:

- |     |         |  |
|-----|---------|--|
| Ff. | 1-10    | On urines, signs of pregnancy, visitatio infirmi, diet, etc. In Latin.                                     |
|     | 11-179  | List of diseases and cures in alphabetical order by Spinney; mainly in English, but some entries in Latin. |
|     | 180-187 | On astronomy, medical astrology, etc. In Latin.  |
|     | 189-200 | Bloodletting, the four Humours, physiological notes, purgatives, uroscopy, etc. In Latin.                  |

Among the above are interspersed receipts and notes in English and Latin by several Elizabethan hands.

Fol. 119<sup>v</sup> contains the beginning only of 'The testamente and Laste will of Wylliaume tracye esquire', in English and written out by Spinney.

This William Tracy, who died in 1530, was a follower of Luther and his belief in 'Justification by Faith' was expressed in this Will which was pronounced to be heretical by Convocation in 1532. His Will was printed with a commentary by William Tindall and John Frith in 1535 [Cf. D.N.B.].

Spinney's signature appears on fol. 2, 21, and 181 where he writes: 'Augustinus Spinney possidet me ni fallor'.

Under the signature on fol. 21 is a note by Fowler: 'Master unto my goode Mother M<sup>rs</sup> Elizabeth Armstrong. Sic fuit per nativitatem per matrimonium Fowler'. In the lower margin of fol. 183 Fowler states: 'This Augustine Spiney [sic] lived in the lamas [sic] howse at Minchinhampton in com Glouc.: he was a cheefe Chaunter, and was master unto my dearest mother Eli: Armstronge. Eldest daughter unto Thom. Armstrong of the Bourne gent. and yet a substantiall clothier by profession'.

In the margin above this, referring to the word 'Chaunter', Fowler notes 'In the begininge of Queene Elizab: tyme that place was dissolued'. Henry Fowler, who added so many entries in this MS., was born in 1583: and matriculated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford in May 1602. He graduated B.A. in 1605, and M.A. in 1608. On fol. 108<sup>v</sup> he mentions Sir Edward Underhill [1573-1613] 'my kinde and most valiant frende, in Artibus magister de Coll. Magd. Oxon. 1608 Universitatis procurator'.

He became Rector of Minchinhampton in 1618, a position he seems to have held for the remainder of his life. From the entries in this MS., it is evident that he was a student and practitioner of medicine, though apparently he held no medical degree. On fol. 120<sup>v</sup> he speaks of 'my master Hawley' who can be no other than Richard Hawley MD. [1593-1636]. He mentions many country remedies, and the names of those who used them, and was not averse from incantations and similar magical treatment [cf. ff. 12, 21<sup>v</sup>, 30, 53]. In a number of instances he has written personal names in Hebrew characters, and in one case (fol. 163) uses cypher for a venereal disease.

The date of Fowler's death has not been ascertained, but it is possible that he died not long after the brutal assault on New Year's Day 1643, made on him by Captain Jeremy Buck and a gang of seventeen soldiers, who accused him of being a Royalist. After inflicting severe injuries, they plundered his house. In July of the same year, they again plundered the house and assaulted his wife and daughter. (Vide 'Gloucestershire Notes & Queries'. Vol. III, 1887, pp. 146-8, quoting from 'Mercurius Rusticus'. London 1685, pp. 180-4.)

There are three signatures of Fowler in this volume: fol. 97 dated 1634; fol. 163<sup>v</sup>, in a chancery hand, dated 1624; and fol. 179 dated 1626.

On fol. 26 signature of 'Wm. Fletcher Stow on the Wold, Glouces', written in pencil c. 1900.

Purchased 1941. (92381)

No. 8, which is here assigned to Raymundus Lullius has not been traced in any list of his writings.

No. 9 is entered under the heading of 'Intentio alchimistarum' among the works of the 'Lullian Alchemical Collection' by Thorndike in his 'History of Magic and Experimental Science', Vol. IV, p. 638. In his 'Catalogue of Incipits' Col. 434 he assigns it to Bernhardus Trevirensis or to Lullius.

Bernardus de Grava is also mentioned by Thorndike, but only as the author of a Commentary on the 'Rosarius' of Arnold of Villanova. ('History', Vol. III, p. 56; IV, p. 335. 'Incipits', col. 351).

Spino has signed his name in two places, on fol. 26 and on fol. 86: in both cases the inscription is 'Peccator Octavianus de spino Bergomensis'.

759. SPIRITO [GUALTIERI] (LORENZO) [1430?-1496]. El juego de las suertes, corregido y a la intencion de su primer Autor reducido. Impresso en Valladolid. Por Francisco Fernandez de Cordova en este año de MDLii. 44 ff. + 3 bl. ll. folio.  $29\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [Late 16th cent.]

Original vellum covers with flap, defective. Some corners damaged.

Illustrated with rough pen-drawn figures and diagrams.

A Spanish version of a fortune-telling work originally published as 'Delle sorti' at Vicenza about 1473 [Hain 14657.], in Italian.

A Spanish translation was issued in Milan in 1502, and at Valencia in 1528 [Salva 2522.]; there were later editions, but the one mentioned in the title of this MS. is apparently not recorded.

Lorenzo Spirito—whose real surname was Gualtieri—was an Italian poet and satirist. His works were forbidden by the Inquisition.

Under the title in this MS. is written 'Todo quanto se dice en este libro sea de tomar a burlas y juego que de otra manera seria pernicioso el libro, y assi lo protesta el autor en el prologo y lo mismo dice su dueño'.

Ff. 7-13 of the Index to Letter E contain 'SMELT (Rev. C.) A few precautionary hints to his parishioners on the subject of Cholera Morbus'. This was probably written in 1831, and the Author, Rector of Gedling in Notts from 1824, died in the same year.

The attribution of this MS. to Stanhope is based on the internal evidence of the entries: the first on fol. E.2. which speaks of a 'remedye for ranke Styans . . . tried upon my owne childe Arthur Stanhope', the second on Fol. A.4. 'A Plaister for an Ague taught me by my Sonne Ferdinandos wife'.

On A.3<sup>v</sup> the name of 'K. Chesterfield' appears and is presumably that of Stanhope's first wife, the daughter of Lord Francis Hastings, who died in 1636. On fol. B.2. is a reference to my Brother [in law] George Hastings.

Mayerne and Bate are referred to as contemporary physicians. The latter is frequently named, as also are other persons of the same period, such as Bancroft, Bishop of Oxford, i.e. John Bancroft [1574-1648], who was made Bishop of Oxford in 1632.

1 l. + 275 ff. (last 2 bl.). 4to. 20½ × 16 cm. [1534-1536].

Original vellum binding: leather ties wanting.

Three leaves have been cut out after fol. 261

Some headings in red.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

The date 1534 appears on fol. 4, and on fol. 87<sup>v</sup> is a receipt for an electuary for epilepsy dated 7 april 1536.

On the first leaf are notes of weights and measures in German for the year 1507. The spine is lettered 'Chymica manuscripta'.

Ff. 4-20, 262-273 contain remedies for 'Morbus Gallicus'.

The fly-leaf is inscribed on the verso 'Sum mei Johan Steinbach' by a contemporary, but probably different hand from that of the text.

Inside the upper cover, engraved armorial book-plate of Ignatius Dominicus S.R.I. Comes de Chorinsky [1729-1792].

Purchased 1930. (56416)

765. STEINBERGER (JOACHIM). Rezeptbuch: mainly in Latin, with a few entries in German.

Original limp vellum binding, with silk ties. Fol. 156 is doubled.

A leaf has been cut out before fol. 1.

The compiler's name can be found on the back of the fly-leaf—now pasted down—and reads 'Sum Joachimi Steinbergen / Francofurtensis ad Oderam / Anno Domini / 1596'.

On the first leaf are the names of a later owner and his family: 'Johann Jacob Christ. D. Medicine et Chirurgus à Rudolpstadt. Anno Domini MDCLXXII'. Below: 'Ludwig Friedrich Christ, Enkel'. 'Gotthold Friedrich Christ dessen Sohn'. 'Edward Friedrich Christ Sohnes Sohn'. Beside these: 'Friedrich Christ Betail Chirurg. 18 [?]'.
On the verso of the last leaf, pasted inside the lower cover, is an armorial Ex-libris, not identified.

Original half-sheepskin binding over wooden boards. Two leaves are wanting after the 10th preliminary leaf, and fol. 1 of the main text.

Margins cropped in binding. There is a vellum fly-leaf at each end: both are slightly damaged.

Written in a small current script by several contemporary hands.

Headings and paragraph marks in red, some in green ink.

The first preliminary leaf contains medical receipts in German.

- 310-312 Incipit registrum de diuersis infirmitatibus.
 313-325 Incipit vocabularius super istud libellum.
           A Latin-German glossary, in double column.
 326, 327<sup>r</sup> Blank.
 Fol. 327<sup>v</sup> Medical weights.

The first two unfoliated leaves at the end contain a 'Registrum seu inuentarium materie in hoc libello contente', folowed by 2 ll. of receipts.

The last 3 ll. contain notes on 'Urina', 'Lac', 'Stercus', 'Sanguis', by the original scribe.

Both fly-leaves contain medical receipts, etc. in German. On the recto of the end leaf is the name 'Frater Panchratius de Hallis': above this are four contracted words which could possibly be expanded into 'Sui in Monasterio Brunne [Brünn]'. [Franciscans?].

On fol. 4 and fol. 14 are the signatures in red ink of 'Frater Dominicus de Swatz' and another in black on fol. 297. This person may be the compiler of the MS., and possibly a Monk from a Monastery in the Tyrol as suggested by the entry in the Dietrichstein Sale Catalogue.

Purchased at Lucerne: Dietrichstein Sale 22/11/1933, Lot 504. (66280)

767. SYBENSCHYLLYGE (JACOB). Artzneybuch (Incomplete).

1 l. + 79 [84] ff. 4to. 21 x 14 cm. [Freiburg]. [c. 1450].

Original half-vellum binding over wooden boards, damaged: part of a metal clasp wanting.

Ff. 16, 21, 36-38, and all after fol. 84 wanting. Only a small piece of fol. 84 remains, and the lower half of fol. 1 is torn away: ff. 2, 3 are torn, some margins are frayed, and many leaves are damp-stained.

Written in a clear gothic book hand, 25 lines to a page.

A few initials and headings in red, paragraph marks in red.

On the verso of the un-numbered leaf is an inscription in the form of a St. Andrew's Cross: 'Dyser wass hat das ge / schrybenn Es ist / JACOB SYBENSchyll / yge / in Friburg'.

On the same leaf, by a somewhat later hand: 'Bin Hörtzrog von anniuar [?] Hannover] bey där bastily bey dän grosen stucken'.

A note on the recto of this leaf by another late 15th cent. hand refers to Junckher Heinrich von Peroman and a sum of 40 gulden in an account, which is dated St. Michael's Day 'anno domini milesimo quatersen[tes]jimo' [sic], but the rest of the date has not been given.

Pasted inside the upper cover is a vellum leaf containing medical receipts by a 14th cent. hand.

The water-mark on the paper is Briquet 7904 assigned to Freiburg 1417-28.

768. T. (A.) [& others]. Collection of extracts from 'A rich storehouse or treasure for the diseased: wherein are many approved medicines for divers and sundry diseases [etc.]': with other medical receipts by earlier hands.

1 l. + 8 pp. + 14 ll. + 29 pp. + 88 ll. obl. 4to. 15 × 19½ cm. 1639-1710.

Original gilt-stamped calf binding. Some leaves have been torn out, and only a fragment remains of the third leaf from the end.

On the verso of P. 2 (at the beginning) are two small pen-drawings of 'the yron vessel' for making the 'Lapis' (a kind of powder of universal efficacy): and on l. 1 of the next section is a full page pen-drawing of the same dated 1639.

Contents:

Pp. 1-8

Medical receipts by the 1710 hand: some of these are copies of the receipts of the next section—but in English. Medical receipts in Scots. Holograph of William Mackene, dated and signed by him on l. 12, 'Dantsick 1639'.

Ll. 1-12

13, 14

Receipts signed 'Henry Gray': in Scots, by a somewhat later hand.

Pp. 1-29

Receipts in English by the 1710 hand: dated on p. 29 'Undecimo novembris die hic liber finitus fuit 1709'.

Ll. 1-52

Extracts from 'A rich storehouse' mainly by the 1710 hand, but with some entries by other hands. It contains the introductory matter on 'Purgation' and blood-letting (ll. 1-14): and is followed by selections from the numbered receipts of the printed original, ending with No. 785 'A good medecine to kill all manner of wormes in mans body'.

52 <sup>v</sup> -55	Receipts against Rickets.
55-81	Miscellaneous receipts by several of the later hands. On l. 80 'Apud Tolquhon vigesimo secundo Aprilis die Anno Millesimo Septingentesimo et decimo. Hic liber finitus fuit'.
82-88	Blank.
L. 88 <sup>v</sup>	Medical definitions, and signature of Henry Gray.
Ll. 65 <sup>r</sup> , 66 <sup>r</sup> , 67 <sup>r</sup> , 68 <sup>r</sup> , 69 <sup>r</sup>	contain a section headed 'Anno 1640 January 16. Henry Gray begineth this Roulles of Artmetick [sic]', in youthful script.

This note-book appears originally to have belonged to Thomas Forbes who has written 'Ex libris Thomae Forbesii' on the first leaf. He seems to have been a student of Law. There is an inscription probably by him on L.14<sup>v</sup> of the second section of the book, and there are some legal notes on the recto of the following leaf, and it is clear that some leaves have been torn out at this point. In other parts of the volume there are traces of legal notes in an earlier hand.

It is possible that this Thomas Forbes may be the person entered on p. 87 of Innes Smith's 'English-speaking students of Medicine at the University of Leyden'. 1932. Here he is described as 'Schotus July 17, 1649, aet 20 Juris'. He was appointed Professor of Philosophy at Pisa in 1658, and Professor of Medicine in 1659. He resigned in 1662, returned to Scotland, and died at St Andrews 1688.

'A rich storehouse or treasure' was first published in 1596 (S.T.C. 23606), and there was an eighth edition in 1650.

The work is here entered under 'T (A.)', but a certain 'G.W.' seems to have been a later editor, and the book is found under 'W. (G.)' in some bibliographies. Purchased 1933. (78835)

(i.e. Jean de Coucy [ -1363]).

The 'Enciclopedia Universal Ilustrada Europeo-Americana' Vol. 60. 1928 s.v. 'TEODORICO el Catalan', claims that the real Author of the 'Chirurgia' and other works was a Catalan Dominican monk and physician who died in 1276. This theory seems to be based on an entry in Quetif and Echard's 'Scriptores Ordinis Predicatorum' 1719-1721, Vol. I, p. 354. The suggestion is rejected by Tiraboschi in his 'Storia della letteratura Italiana' 1806, Vol. IV, Part 1, p. 235. The Catalan theory has been repeated by Hans Karl in his 'Théodore et sa chirurgie' in 'Bull. de la Soc. fran. d'Hist. de la Médecine' 1929, Vol. 23, pp. 140-183: but is considered to be unproved by Sarton in his 'Introduction to the History of Science' 1931, Vol. II, Part 2, p. 655. It has been strongly denied by Davide Giordano in two articles in the 'Rivista di Storia delle Scienze Mediche' 1930, pp. 3-22, 133-137.

Until perhaps a complete examination of the earliest extant MSS. can be made, the traditional attribution to the Italian Theodoricus, Bishop of Cervia, would seem to be correct.

First printed (with the 'Chirurgia' of Guy de Chauliac) at Venice in 1498.

Large armorial Ex-libris of [Barthélemy] A[chille] Kühnholtz Lordat.

Original crimson vellum binding. Metal bosses wanting: with three pieces from the four metal clasps. Small tear in the first leaf.

The single fly-leaves and end-papers are two pairs of vellum leaves from a 14th cent. MS. of the 'Institutes' of Justinian, of which the back end-paper contains the beginning with a large initial I in blue and red with marginal decoration. It is written in double column of 54 lines to a column in a clear book hand, with paragraph marks in red.

Written by the same hand throughout in double column of 47 lines to a column.

A foliation has been added in pencil.

With 33 signatures, mostly of theologians, but including that of Oswald Gaebelkover, MD. dated October 25, 1601 (facing fol. 73<sup>v</sup>).

13 ll. + 130 ff. + 7 ll. 8vo. 16 × 9½ cm. Torgau. 1594-1601.

Stamped vellum binding: the upper cover with a central panel within a decorated border, containing an unidentified coat of arms; and the initials C.K.W. and date 1571 in black. The lower cover has a Crucifixion scene in the centre panel.

On the interleaves before fol. 80 and fol. 104 are faint pencil drawings, the first of a man playing a flute, the second of a lady and gentleman in court dress.

Some of the woodcuts have been coloured by hand.

These are apparently written by the Gerhard Pfister whose name is found on the title-page.

On the title-page are the following inscriptions by former owners: 'In usum fratris P. Gerhardi Pfister in mon[asterio] s[acrae?] t[heologiae?] professi anno 1671' [at Torgau?]. 'Monasterii B[eatae] M[ariae] V[irginis] ad S[acrae] T[heologiae] Catalogo Inscriptus. No. 1 Sacri Ordinis Cisterciensis'.

3 [4] bl. ll. + 732 pp. + 4 bl. ll. folio. 26½ × 18 cm. [c. 1642].

Original limp vellum binding.

The first blank [?] leaf at the beginning is wanting, and the next two are defective.

The 'Logica' is illustrated by pen-drawn 'schemata', and the 'Physica' by numerous pen-drawn diagrams and figures.

A student's notes of a course of Philosophy and General Science, probably at a French University or College.

Though the small and somewhat difficult script seems to belong to an earlier period, the date of the MS. is apparently that given on p. 399, line 38. In a discussion as to the time of the Creation of the world, is the following statement: 'addendo annos quos a Christo numeramus mille sexcenta quadraginta duo'.

32 ll. 4to. 20½ × 13½ cm. [c. 1425.]

Modern calf-gilt binding. Some leaves slightly stained, margins cropped in re-binding.

Written in a semi-cursive rounded gothic hand, 24-29 lines to a page.

Ornamental initials in blue and red, with marginal decorations on fol. 1 and fol. 13: other initials in blue, paragraph marks in red.

A foliation in pencil has been added.

The 'Epistola' attributed to Johannes de Burgundio is transcribed in Sudhoff's 'Archiv' Vol. V, pp. 75-80 (cf. also Singer (D.W.)) 'Some plague tractates'.
P.R.S.M. (Hist. of Med. Section). Vol. IX, 1916, Reprint, pp. 16, 17).

It is suggested that the 'Johannes l.' who is stated to be the translator of the tract
'De urinis' (No. 5) may possibly be John Lelamour or Lelarmouse, Master of Hereford School in 1373, who translated the 'De viribus herbarum' of Macer Floridus. Copies of this are recorded in Young's 'Catalogue of MSS. in the Library of the Hunterian Museum, Glasgow. No. 497, and in Scott's 'Index to the Sloane MSS. in the British Museum', p. 305.

This MS. is entered in the Fourth Report of the Historical MSS. Commission
Appendix. 1873. p. 359. (Mostyn MSS.).

785. VALVERDE de Hamusco (JUAN). Five anatomical pen-drawings, after Valverde's illustrations to his 'Anatomia del cuerpo humano', with surrounding explanatory text. [Early 17th cent.]

Unbound.

The subjects are:

- (1) Tabula spinales nervos exhibens. (62 × 23 cm.)
- (2) Tabula exteriora et interiora humani corporis ostendens. (38 × 29 cm.)
- (3) Tabula musculos omnes demonstrans. (34 × 28 cm.)
- (4) Venae fere omnes. (20 × 30 cm.)
- (5) Tabula muliebrium partium et foetus. (21 × 30 cm.)

786. VARIA medicamenta.

xxxx ff. + ff. 17-104 + 4 ll. tall 16mo. 15 × 5½ cm. [1563.]

Original vellum binding, lettered as above.

The work is apparently complete, in spite of the unusual foliation: but there is no title-page.

The last 4 ll. have been bound in reverse.

Written in a small neat hand, and possibly a copy prepared for publication.

Foliation, headings, and small vignettes above the main chapter headings, also small drawings of medical instruments—in red.

This MS. is a Physician's note-book of diseases and remedies: in several places, the first person is used as regards a treatment and its result.

On the fly-leaf at the end, in an 18th cent. hand 'Scritto nell'anno 1563', which may have been taken from a title-page, now lost.

On the first fly-leaf is the signature of Antonio Dominico Viola in a late 17th cent. hand: and two other signatures, struck through and illegible.

At the end also 'Jo Orfeo Sala de Lavone ditto Trompia Anno 1671'.

Ff. 53-78 deal with the 'Morbus Gallicus' and other venereal diseases, in which the use of Guaiacum and Sarsaparilla is recommended.

Purchased 1911. (24836)

787. VARIE medicine e secreti per cavalli.

Original stamped calf binding over wooden boards, much worn. Two leather and metal clasps wanting, as also 5 out of the ten brass bosses on the outside of the covers.

Lower margin of the penultimate leaf cut away: lower margin of the first leaf repaired. The last leaf is pasted down on to the cover.

Written in a neat book hand 27-29 lines to a page.

Ornamental initial in red and blue, with marginal decorations on fol. 1: other capitals and headings in red.

VEIGA

Below this is a receipt for an unguent by the second hand. The receipts in this hand include some charms: that on fol. 41<sup>v</sup> being an incantation to gain a woman's favour, with a magical inscription, and those on fol. 128<sup>v</sup>, 129 which are illustrated by rough pen-drawings of amulets.

The second work, in spite of the attribution to 'Rosso', and the reference to King Alexander, is the treatise by Giordano Ruffo, Chief Veterinarian to Frederick II of Sicily in the first half of the 13th cent.

The version in this MS. contains only 53 Chapters, though some of the MS. have as many as 148.

The work of Vegetius was first published—in Latin—at Bâle in 1528.

An Italian translation was published at Venice in 1543.

Purchased 1930. (52606)

Modern vellum binding. First leaf defective, last leaf damaged, both pasted down on to vellum fly-leaves from a 14th cent. service book.

A number of leaves in the middle of the volume are blank.

On the verso of the first leaf is written 'Beschryben durch mich hanns fridrich Wallin vogt zu falckenstein. Anno 1587'.

The original work seems to end on the 45th leaf. It is followed by a number of medical and veterinary receipts in German, by various 17th and 18th cent. hands.

The first 4 leaves contain plague remedies.

On the last leaf is the signature of 'Johann Victor Antoni Blutz der grossennrathi', by an 18th cent. hand.

Purchased 1922. (41428)

798. WELLS (W.) [& others]. Collection of medical receipts, prescriptions and extracts: in English and Latin. Holograph MS. by three hands: the first, that of W. Wells [or Welles]; the second by John Symcotts; and additions by C. Haslam.

4 ll. + 1027 pp. folio.  $32\frac{1}{2} \times 22\frac{1}{2}$  cm. 1635-1659. 1686-1694.

Original vellum binding loose: lower cover defective.

Pp. 429/32 torn out. Some margins frayed.

Paged by double column.

On p. 77 is a pen-drawing of a distilling furnace for making 'Aqua mercurii'.

The MS. is mainly the compilation by W. Wells [or Welles] and John Symcotts who appear to have been contemporaries [partners?], though entries by Symcotts usually seem to follow those of Wells. Their hands are somewhat similar but can be distinguished by the 'R' used by Wells, and the 'Z' belonging to Symcotts. Of the dated extracts the earliest is 1635 (p. 997) and the latest 1659, on a loose receipt between pp. 255 and 258.

References to Sutton and Sandy seem to point to the authorship of John Symcotts, son of John of Sutton who became a Pensioner of Queens College Cambridge in 1608 and was M.D. from King's College 1636. (Cf. Venn 'Alumni Cantabrigienses' Vol. IV.) He was physician to Oliver Cromwell, and died in 1662.

Venn also has an entry for a Robert Symcotts, brother of John who was Rector of Sandy 1628-1639, and died in 1639.

This brother's name appears on p. 201 'per fratrem R.S.', and on p. 446 'My brother Robert'.

No particulars have been traced as to W. Wells.

There is a third hand found in the MS., differing from the earlier two scripts. Some of the receipts by this writer are initialled C.H., and one on p. 358 'C. Haslam'. Two on p. 279 are dated 1686 and 1688, and one on p. 1013 'Die ultimo Januarii [16]93/4'.

The principal Authors quoted in the MS. are Johann Hartmann [1568-1631], Sir Theodore Turquet de Mayerne [1573-1655], Oswald Crollius [1580-1609], and Lazarus Riverius [1589-1655]; all of whom were in favour of chemical remedies.

Pp. 952-969 contain extracts in Latin and English by the hand of Symcotts headed 'De partu collecta ex Jaq. Guillemeau [sic]' (i.e. Jacques Guillemeau [1550-1613]).

WILHELMUS DE CONGENIS

A note in Sotheby's Sale-catalogue 21/4/1943, Lot 333 states: 'This manuscript is attributed to Robt. Crawley, Physician to Oliver Cromwell, but there is no proof of this'.

Robert Crawley [1619-1696] is entered in Venn, and very briefly mentioned by Munk. Neither of these authorities mentions Cromwell. No confirmation of this attribution has been found in the MS. itself.

For particulars concerning John Symcotts, with some references and extracts from this MS. see Poynter & Bishop: 'A seventeenth century doctor and his patients' (Bedfordshire Historical Record Society, Vol. XXXI, 1951).

Purchased at Sotheby's 21/4/1943, Lot 333. (92543)

799. WILHELMUS de Congenis. Chirurgia. Abridged, and translated into English. 26 ll. 8vo. 21 × 14 cm. [Early 15th cent.]

Unbound in half-morocco slip case.

Three leaves are wanting after fol. 14, and one after fol. 17: the lower margin of fol. 21 is partly torn away, and a piece has been lost from the top outer corner of fol. 1. The text of fol. 1<sup>r</sup> is so badly rubbed as to be practically illegible.

WILHELMUS

Written in a neat gothic book hand, 34 lines to a page.

Initials in blue, paragraph marks in alternate blue and red: marginal chapter-numbers and colophon in red.

 Ff. 24-26 Medical receipts in Latin, by two middle 16th cent. hands.
 Written across the upper margins of fol. 23<sup>v</sup> and fol. 24 'Anno

The work appears to be complete except from the middle of Chapter xviii of Book II: to the middle of Chapter iv of Book IV, and from the middle of Chapter xix to the middle of Chapter xxiii of Book IV.

It seems to be a collection of the receipts from the 'Chirurgia' of William of Congenis, and differs greatly from the full text printed by Sudhoff 'Chirurgie im Mittelalter', 1918, Part 2, pp. 297-384, though the order of subjects is much the same.

Inserted are three slips, two in pencil, and one signed 'D.A.P. 18/11/1922', by Sir D'Arcy Power referring to the MS. with notes on the contents.

Also a slip from an anonymous member of the B.M. staff, who mentions that there is a later copy of this MS., Sloane 2273, in the British Museum.

799<sup>A</sup> WILLIS (THOMAS) [1621-1676]. Holograph case-book: in Latin.
 49 ll. 8vo. 16½ × 11 cm. [Oxford]. 1650, 1651.

Original calf binding.

Some leaves have been cut out from the beginning and at the end: the lower half of the fourth leaf from the end has been torn away.

The earliest entry is dated Jan. 3. 1651 [1650], and the latest Feb. 4. 1652 [1651].

On the verso of the third leaf from the end and on the recto of the second, are notes of expenses headed: 'Laid out at Wadham Coll[ege]'.

The last three leaves contain extracts from Ovid's 'Metamorphoses' by a different but contemporary hand.

Willis graduated M.B. at Oxford in 1646, and began practice there in a house opposite Merton College where he remained until 1666, when he moved to London.

Inside the upper cover a former owner has written: 'Liber manuscriptus Cl. Doctoris Thome Willis Medici Insign[is]. Two of these MSS. of Dr. Willis lent Mr. Chace about 5 years agoe and not returned. 1737'.

800. WINANDUS de Ruffo Clipeo [& others]. Doctrina illuminans: dasz ist das Liecht aller Lichter, oder die Lehr Winandi welche von Anstaig bisz zum Endte fideliter, parabolice tamen zum Chimischen Arbeith verleichtet . . . 1 l. + 6 ff. (last bl.) + 40 ff. (last bl.) + 31 ff. + 1 l. 4to.  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  cm. [c. 1625].

Original quarter-calf binding.

Some margins frayed.

Illustrated with 19 water-colour symbolic drawings (ff. 25<sup>v</sup>-34<sup>v</sup>), in the first section, and 7 pen-drawings of alchemical furnaces, etc. in the last section (ff. 23-28).

The first section (6 ll.) is headed: 'Von der weissen und klugen Mercurio'.

The heading of the next section (40 ff.) is: 'Incipit Liber de Chimia In ☉ em et ☾ am'. On fol. 14 is a heading: 'Das Buch ist genandt das Liecht aller Liechter und die Lehr Winandi', and begins: 'Ich Winandus von rothen schild ain arzt . . .' It seems to end on fol. 15<sup>v</sup>, line 19: 'Dasz ist dasz Endt des heraufgeschribnen Werkhs', and is followed by extracts on Alchemy including quotations from the 'Turba Philosophorum', as far as fol. 25.

Ff. 25<sup>v</sup>-35 contain 19 symbolic illustrations in the shape of flasks with descriptive text, showing the processes of the Stone. It is headed (fol. 26) 'Rex et Regina desiderant filium generare scilicet creaturam Chemicam . . .'. The illustration is entitled 'Labor primus'.

'Labor secundus' is on fol. 25<sup>v</sup>: The eleventh flask is omitted. The last (fol. 34<sup>v</sup>) is of the 'Red Man' or 'Red Elixir'.

Following this is a short article in Latin, headed 'Lapis philosophicus', the rest of the title has been obliterated in ink: it seems to deal with 'Murtinlas' [i.e. Salnitrum]. After this (ff. 36, 37) 'Resolutio celebris in ☿ Podensteinii' (i.e. Adam von Bodenstein [1528-1577]). This section ends with alchemical notes in German and Latin.

The third part is headed: 'Lapidem Philosophorum zu machen nach der Lehr eines Philosophi so vor 200 Jahren gelebt und uns ex speciali gratia communicirt worden'. This appears to end on fol. 9, and is followed by alchemical extracts, notes, and processes. Ff. 23<sup>v</sup>-28 contain text and pen-drawings relating to alchemical furnaces.

V. SPECIAL BINDINGS

BINDINGS BEFORE 1500		BINDINGS BEFORE 1500—cont.
AVICENNA. Liber medicinalis. 1494.	106	Venetian stamped leather binding over wooden boards: with remains of three of the original four brass and leather clasps.
A very well-preserved original vel- lum binding, the sheets sewn through the back on to a strip of stout calf. A similar example from the Erfurt Town Library is re- produced in Loubier's 'Der Bucheinband'. 1926 (P. 9, fig. 10).		16TH & 17TH CENT. BINDINGS
FLORENCE: Spedale di S. Giovanni Battista. Inventories. 1387-1458.	275	ALCHEMY: 16th cent. Collection. [c. 1510].	23
Original half leather binding over thick wooden boards. The top half of the upper cover is painted black and white. On the black section above is a painting of St. John the Baptist in brown and yellow, holding a scroll inscribed 'Ora Domino Deo Patri Omni- potenti'. In the lower (white) section is the word 'Inventario', with a large decorated initial.		16th-cent. German stamped leather binding. The outer border roller-stamped with a design of three repeated medallion heads, lettered 'Carol', 'Ferdin', 'And- reas'.
MISCELLANEA Medica XXVIII. [c. 1500].	554	BOAISTUAU (P.). Histoires prodigieuses. 1560.	136
Original stamped leather binding over wooden boards. The designs on the covers are different: that on the upper cover contains a roller-stamped scroll decoration, with the inscription 'Ave Maria'. This is also repeated on the two brass and leather clasps.		The Author's copy prepared for presentation to Queen Elizabeth I, who, however, did not accept it. The special stamped calf binding is now inlaid. It contains a centre in gold, and corner-pieces tooled in a fine arabesque design on a dotted ground of three dots. The edges are gilt and gaufered.
Pseudo-PHALARIS [& others]. Epistolae. [c. 1460].	619	GABRIEL von Lebenstein [& others]. Von gebrannten Wassern [etc.]. [c. 1500].	283
		16th-cent. stamped leather bind- ing, with historiated border, show- ing running deer, round a central ornamented panel.
