a case

A and B his Son entered into Bond jointly & severally to C for one hundred £ The Obligors are both become insolvent. A proposes a Comp^t of 10^s in the pound B offers none — pray how can we safely accept A 10^s in the pound without Delivering up the Bond & Continue it good ag^t B for the Rest of the Debt — If B w^o: agree to execute a new Bond to C for y^e Remains^t of the Debt on C^s Acceptance of A^s 10^s in the pound will the same Bond be binding and good in Case a Commission of Bankr-= ruptcy sho^d: be taken out ag^t B Finis

In Answer to your Case — It is clear to me that a Release to one Obliga tho' the Bond is made severally as well as jointly shall be a Discharge & Release to the Other (Co Lit 232) So that C must not release A and on the other hand it may not be safe to take a new Bond from B for fear of his having committed an Act of Bankruptcy and a Commission being sued out

Therefore your Best way will be for C to accept A's 10⁰ in the pound only as in part of the Old Debt But for A's Security I may give a Note in writing signifying his rec^t of so much in part. & promising that he will not sue A on the s: Bond but Cancell the same as soon as B has paid the Remainder If you are sure no Commission is yet sued out I think you may Cancell the Old Bond & accept a new one from B reciting that on an Account Stated there is so much Due to C
