The Kodak
Portrait Attachment

Portraits on a scale larger than that given by the ordinary lens equipment of the Kodak are often desired, and to meet the demand we supply a simple, inexpensive supplementary lens which slips over or in front of the ordinary lens.

The Kodak Portrait Attachment does not interfere in the slightest degree with the ordinary use of the Kodak. Its object is to allow the photographer to approach nearer to the subject and thus get a larger image, without spoiling the definition of the picture, as would be the case if the attachment were not employed. It is also useful when photographing any small objects, such as flowers, domestic pets, natural history subjects, etc.

Get Enlargements from Your
Favourite Negatives

Any negative from which a good contact print may be made will give an excellent enlargement which, suitably framed, has considerable value from a decorative point of view, and makes a charming present for a friend.

Enlarging is often the making of a picture, revealing unsuspected charms of composition, and experience shows that most amateurs have in their possession negatives worthy of this attention.

We shall be glad to look through some of your negatives, and to indicate those suitable for enlarging. We make Black and White, and Sepia-toned enlargements with smooth, medium or rough surface, and shall be pleased to execute your commissions.
