How fay'ft thou Spencer Comper, art thou Guilty of the Felony and Mur-der whe eaf thou fland'ft indiffed, or not Guilty? iO. MERONS.

Mr. Compir. Not Guilty. Gl. of Arr How wilt theu he tried ?

Mr. Comper, By God and my Country-Cl. of Are: God fend you a good Deliverance.

Then the other Three pleaded likewife, Not Guiliy, and put themfelves upon their Country in man . ner aforefaid.

Then Proclamation was made for Information.

Cl. of Ar. You the Prifeners at the Bar, Thefe Men that you fhall hear call'd, and perforally appear, are to pais between our Sovereign Lord the King and you, upon Tryal of your feveral Lives and Deaths: Therefore if you will challenge them, or any of them, your time to fpeak is as they come to the Book to be Sworn, before they are Sworn.

GI of Arr. Da you delign to join in your Challenges, or to Challenge feparately? Mr. Comper, if we found Challenge fej arately, the e w uft be fo many feparate Tryals, and therefore to preve the trouble of the Court, I am willing there flouid be but one Challenge for all.

Cl. of Arr. Gentlemen, do you all agree to that ?

Prifours, Yes ye

Then after fome Challenges, as well on the part of the King as of the Pri'oners, there not being a full Jury of the principal Pannel. Mr. Casper 16 your Lordship pleafe, the Pannel is now gone through, I defire they may shew fome legal ante for their Challenges.

Mr gener I concerve we that are retriped for the King are not bound to flew any Caufe, or the Caufe is fulficient if we fay they are is good for the King, and that is allow'd to be a good Caufe of Challeoges, for what other Caufe can we flew in this Cafe. You are not to flew T Caufe, you Mr. Comper, Challenge peremptorily, fo in this Cafe the King does.

My. Comper, My Lord, I it and at the Bar with forme difadvantage, to encounter as Gontleman that hath no concernment ; but however, I do take it for Law, that there must be a Caufe shew'd, and that Caufe must be a legal one, and what that Gaufe is they must certainly make out. I do think it ought to appear that there is fome relation, or fome notorious Affection or Friendship, or fomething of that fort, or otherwife is not a legal Caufe of Challange ; and if there feem to be any difficulty in this particular, I hope your Lordship will affign me Council to argue it with the King's Council.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Mr. Comper, you are not under fuch difadvantage as Men ufually are that fland where you now do. You have been educated in the fludy of the Law, and underfland it very well, I have fe-veral times feen how you have managed your Clients Caufes to their Advantage. As for this matter of Challange, Mr. Jones, I think you fhould fhew your Caufe of Challenge, tho the Law allows the Pri-Challange, Mr. Joner, I think you hourd incw your Gaule of Gradeinge, other the Law anows the File foner the liberty to Challenge 20 peremptorily. Mr. Joner, I don't know in all my Practice of this Nature, that it was ever put upon the King to fhew Caofe, and I believe fome of the King's Council will fay they have not known it done. Mr. Comper, In L. Ch. Juffice Haler's Pleas of the Grown, p. 259, it is expressly fo, and in the Statute of 43 E. 1. 'tis faid the King thall not Challenge without Caufe, and that mult be legal.

Cl. of Arr. Call Daniel Clarke Mr. Baron Hasfell, Mr. Jones, if you can fay any Juryman. hath faid any thing concerning this Caufe, and given his Verdict by way of difcourfe, or thew'd his affection one way or other, that would be good

Mr. Jones, My Lord, then we should keep you here while to morrow morning.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, If there bath been any great Friendship between any Juryman and the party, it will look ill if he be infifted upon.

Mr. Gemper, My Lord, I don't infift upon it, but I profefs I know of no Eriendfhip, only that Mr. Glarke in Elections hath taken our Intereff in Town; I know I have a juft Gaufe, and I am ready to be try'd before your Lordfhip and any fair jury of the County; therefore I do not infift upon it. Clerk of the Affize, There are three of the Jury defire Pen, Ink, and Paper, Mr. Baron Harfell, Let as many have it as will.

Mr. Jouss, May it pleafe your Lordship, and you Gentlemen that are sworn, I am of Council for the King in this Caufe, and it is upon an Indictment by which the Gentlemen at the Bar fland accus'd for one of the fouleft and most wicked Crimes almost that any Age can remember ; I believe in your Coun-ty you never knew a Fact of this nature. For here is a young Gentlewoman of this County-murder'd and firangled in the Night time. The thing was done in the dark, therefore the Evidence cannot be fo

After the was ftrangled and murder'd, the was carried and thrown into a River to fliffe the Faft, and to make it fuppoid that the two murder'd herfelf; that it was indeed, if it prove otherwife, a double Murder, and a Murder accompanied with all the Circumftances of Wickednefs and Villany that I remember in all my Practice, or ever read of.

This Fact as it was committed in the Night time, fo it was carried very fecret, and it is very well we This Fact as it was committed in the Night time, to it was carried very fectet, and it is very well we have had fo much Light as we have to give fo much Satisfaction : For we have here in a manner two Tryals, one to acquit the Party that is dead, and to fatisfy the World, and vindicate her Repu-tion that fhe did not murder herfelf, but was murder'd by other Hands. For my part, I fhall never Councel in the Cafe of Blood aggrivate; I will not improve or enlarge the Evidence at all, it fhall be only my Bufinefs to fet the Fact as it is, and to give the Evidence, and flate it as it flands here in My Lord, for that purpole, to lead to the Faft, it will be neceffary to inform you that upon Monday the thirteenth of March, the first Day of the last Affizes here, Mr. Comper, one of the Gentlemen at the Bar, came to this Town, and lighted at Mr. Barefoor's Houfe, and fiaid there fome time, I fappole, to dry himfelf, the Weather being dirty, but fent his Horfe to Mrs. Stour's, the Mother of this Gentlewoman, Some time after he came thither himfell, and din'd there, and flaid till four in the Afternoon ; at four

Some time after he came thither himfelt, and dia'd there, and flaid till four in the Afternoon; at four when he went away, he told them he would come and Lodge there that Night, and Sup. According to his Word he came there ; and had the Supper he defined, after Supper Mrs. Staat the given to warm his Bed, openly to warm his Bed, in his hearing. The Maid of the Houfe, Gentle-men, upon this went up Stairs to warm his Bed, expeding the Gentleman would have come up and follow'd her before the had done, but it feems while the was warming of the Bed the heard the Dood clap together, and the nature of that Door is fuch, that it makes a great Noife at the Claping of it too, that any Body in the Houfe may be fentible of any one going out. The Maid upon this was com-there was neither Mr. Campor, nor Mrs. Staat, so that we fuppofe, and for all that we can find and learn, they mult go together. After their going out, the Maid and Mother came into the Room, and the young Gentlewoman not returning, nor Mrs. Compor, they fat up all Night in the Houfe, expeding what time the young Gentlewoman would reture. The next Marning after they had fat up all Night they mult go together. After their going out, the Maid and Mother came into the Room, and the young Gentlewoman not returning, nor Mr. Compor, they fat up all Night in the Houfe, expeding what time the young Gentlewoman would reture. The next Marning after they had fat up all Night the firth News of this Lady was, that the lay floating and fwiming in the Water, by the Mild-dam, Upon that there was feveral Perfons call'1; for it was a furprize how this fload come to pais. There one of them not found till fome time after; and the Maid will give you an Account how it came to be found.

This

This made a great Noife in the Country; for it was very extraordinary, it happening that from the time the Maid left Mr. Comper and this young Gentlewoman together, the was not feen or heard of till next Morning, when the was found in this Condition, with her Eyes broad open, floating upon the Water.

When her Body came to be view'd, it was very much wonder'd at : For in the first place, it is contrary to Nature, that any Perfons that drown themfelves thould float upon the Water. We have fufficient Evidence that it is a thing that never was ; if Perfons come alive into the Water, then they fins, if dead, then they fwim, that made fome more curious to look into this matter. At first it was thought that fuch an Accident might happen, though they could not imagine any Caufe for this Woman to do fo, who had fo great Prosperity, had fo good an Eftate, and had no occasion to do an Aftion upon herfelf fo wicked and fo barbarous, nor cannot learn what reafon the had to induce her to fuch a thing. Upon view of the Body it did appear there had been Violence ufed to the Woman, there was a Create round her Neck, the was bruifed about her Ear, fo that it did feem as if the had been thrangled either by Hands or a Rope.

Gentlemen, upon the Examination of this Matter, it was wonder'd how this Matter came about, it was Dark and Blind. The Coroner at that time, nor these People had no Evidence given but the or-dinary Evidence, and it pass'd in a Day. We must call our Witnesses to this Fact, that of necessary you must conclude the was ftrangled, and did not drown herfelf : If we give you as wrong a Proof as can be upon the nature of the Fact, that the was ftrangled, then the fecond Matter under your Enquiry will be, to know who, or what Perfons fhould be the Men that did the Fact. I told you before it was as all wicked Actions are. a Matter of Darknels, and done in Secret, to be kept as much from the Knowledge of Men as was poffible.

Truly, Gentlemen, asto the Perfons at the Bar, the Evidence of the Fact will be very fhort, and will be to this purpofe.

Mr. Comper was the laft Man unfortunately in her Company, I could with he had not been fo with all my Heart, 'tis a very unfortunate thing that his Name flouid upon this occasion be brought upon the Stage ; but then, my Lord, it was a ftrange thing ; here happens to be three Gentlemen, Mr. Marfon, Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Stevens, as to thefe three Men, my Lord, I don't hear of any Bufine's they had here, unlefs it was to do this matter, to ferve fome Intereft or Friend that fent them upon this effige, for, my Lord, they came to Town (and in things of this nature, 'tis well we have this Evidence, but if we had not been ftreightned in time it would have brought out more, thefe things come out flowly) thefe Perfons, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Regers, and Mr. Marfin, came to Town here on the thirteenth of Mar. b laft, the Affize Day : My Lord, when they came to Town, they came to an Houfe, and took Lodgings at one Gurrey's, they took a Bed for Two and went out of their Lodging, having taken a Room with a large Bed in it, and afterwards they went to the Glove and Delphin, and then about eight a Clock one Marfor came to them there; in what Company they came your Lordship and the Jury will know by and by; they flaid there, my Lord, at the Glove, from eight a Clock to eleven, as they fay. At eleven thefe three Gentlemen came all into their Lodging together to this Garrey's; my Lord, when they came in, it was very obfervable amongft them, unlefs there had been a fort of Fate in it. 11th, That they fhould happen to be in the Condition they were in, and 2dly, fall upon the Difcourfe they did at that time; for, my Lord, they call'd for Fire, and the Fire was made them, and while the People of the Houfe were going about, they observed and heard chefe Gentlemen talk of Mrs. Sarah Stent, that happened to be their Difcourfe, one faid to the other; Marfon, the was an old Sweetheart of yours : Ay, laith he, but the call me off, but I reckon by this time a Friend of mine has done her Bufinefs; ano-ther p ecc of DiCourfe was, I believe a Friend of mine is even with her by this time. They had a bandle of Linnen with them, but what is was it not known and one taket the bundle and throws it upon the Bed, well, faith he, her Bufi efs is done, M.s. Sarah Stor's courting Days are over, and they fent for Wine, my Lord; fo after they had dra k of the wine they talk'd of it, and one pull'd out a great deal of Money, faith one to another, what Money have you from to Day? Saith the other, thou half had forty or fifty Pounds for thy Share : Saith the other. I will friend all the Money I have I have faith he, but fhe caft me off, but I reckon by this time a Friend of mine has done her Bufinefs; anohaft had forty or fifty Pounds for thy Share : Saith the other, I will fpend all the Money I have, for joy the Bufinefs is done.

My Lord, this Difcourfe happened to be among them, which made the People of the Houfe confider and bethink themfelves, when the next Day they heard of this Mrs Stout's being found in the Water, this made them recollect and call to mind all thefe Difcourfes.

My Lord, after these Gentlemen had flaid there all Night. next Morning truly it was observ'd (and I suppose some Account will be given of it) that Mr. Comper and hey did meet together, and had everal Difcourfes, and that very Day went out of Town, and I think as foon as they came to Hoddefdon, made it all their Difcourfe and Bufinefs to talk of Mis. Stout

My Lord, we will call our Witneffes, and prove all thefe Facts that I have opened to your Lordship, and then I hope they will be put to give you fome Account how all these Matters came about. Call Sarab Walker (who was fworn)

Mr. Jones, Mis. Walker, pray give an Account to my Lord and the Jury, of Mr. Comper's coming to your House the Thirteenth of March, and what was done from his coming there at Night to his going out.

Sarah Walker, May it pleafe you, my Lord, on Friday before the laft Affizes, Mr. Comper's Wife fent a Letter to Mrs. Stout, that the might expect Mr. Comper at the Affize time, and therefore we expected Mr. Letter to Mits. shall, that he hight experience on a the came in with the Judge, the ask'd him if he comper at that time and accordingly provided; and as he came in with the Judge, the ask'd him if he would alight, he faid no, by reafon I come in later than ufual. I will go into the Town and thow my-felf but he would fend his Horfe prefently; the ask'd him how long it would be before he would come, becaufe they would flay for him; he faid, he could not tell, but he would fend her Word, and the thought he had forgot, and fent me down to know whether he would pleafe to come; he faid he had Bufinels, and he could not come just then, but he came in lefs than a quarter of an Hour after, and din'd there, and he went away at four a Clock, and then my Mistrefs ask'd him, if he would lie there, and he answer'd yes, and he came at Night about 9 a Clock, and he fat talking about half an hour, and then call'd for Pen, Ink, and Paper, for that as he faid, he was to write to his Wife, which was brought him and he wrote a Letter, and then my Miffrefs went and ask'd him, what he would have for Supper, he faid Milk, by reafon he had made a good Dinner; and I got him his Supper and he cat it, after fhe called me in again, and they were talking together, and then fhe bid me make a Fire in his Chamber, and when I had done fo I came and told him of it, and he look'd at me, and made me no Anfwer; then the bid me warm the Bed, which accordingly I went up to do as the Clock firucs 11, and in about a quarter of an hour I heard the Door thur, and I thought he was gone to carry the Letter, and flaid about a quarter of an hour longer and came down, and he was gone and the, and Mrs. Store the Mother ask'd me the reafon why he went out when I was warming his Bed, and fhe ask'd me for my Mittrefs, and I told her, I left her with Mr. Gomper, and I never faw her after that, nor did Mr. Comper return to the Houfe.

Mr. Jones, How long did you fit up

Mr. Jones, What time next morning did you fee her ?

Walker, Al night.

Walker, About 7 a Clock. Walker, Out of the Water.

Mr. Jones, In the Water, or out ? Mr. Comper, Pray will you recollect a little, and be very particular as to the time when I went out at night.

Walker, Sir, It was a quarter after 11 by our Clock, the difference between the Town Clock and ours was half an hour.

Mr. Comper, But you fay by your Clock it was a quarter after 11. Walker, Mr. Comper, Pray what account did you give, as to the time, to the Coroner's Inquelt? Walker, Yes Sir.

Walker, I faid then it was 11, or a quarter after 11, when I heard the Door fhut.

Mr. Comper, Pray was Mrs. Stout prefent with the Coroner's Inqueft when you gave that account ? Walker, Yes, the was.

Mr. Comper, Pray what account did you give, as to the time, before my L. C. J. Hole ?

Walker, I gave the account that it was 11, or a quarter of an hour after.

Mr. Comper, In her Deposition there is half an hour's difference, for then the faid it was half an hour after ten.

Mr. Baron Hasfell, Which Clock was eitlieft, yours or the Town Clock ?

Walker, Ours was half an hour fafter than theirs.

Mr. Jones, So then it wanted a quarter of 11 by the Town Clock.

Mr. Comper, How came you to know this? Mr. Comper, How came you to know this? Walker, By reafon that Dinner was dreft at the Cooks, and it was order'd to be ready by 2 a Clock, and it was ready at 2 a Clock by the Town Clock, and half an hour after 2 by ours. Mr. Comper, When you came down and mifs'd your Miftrefs, did you enquire after her all that Night?

Walker, No Sir, I did not go out of the doors; I thought you were with her, and fo I thought fhe would come to no harm.

Mr. Comper, Here is a whole night the gives no account of. Pray Mittrefs why did not you go after her? Mr. Comper, Why fhould fhe not let you ? Walker, My Miftrefs would not let me. Walker, I faid I would fee for her : No, faith fhe, by reafon if you go and fee for her, and do not find her, it will make an Alarm over the Town, and there may be no occasion.

Mr. Comper, Did your Miftreis ufe to ftay out all night ? Walker, No, never. Mr. Comper, Have not you faid fo ? Walker, I never faid fo in my life.

Mr. Comper, Pray Mis. Walker did you never take notice that your Miltrefs was under Melancholy ? Walker I don't fay but the was melancholy; the was ill for fome time, and I imputed it to her illnefs, and I know no other Caufe.

Mr. Camper, Have you not often told people that your Mifrede was a malanchaly Forton, upon your Oath ?

Walker, I have faid the hath been ill, and that made her melancholy.

Mr. Comper, I will ask you this queffion; Pray did you ever purchate any Poifon, more or lefs, within efe twelve months? Walker, Yes Sir, I did fo, and can tell what it was for. thefe twelve months ?

Mr. Comper, By whofe order ? Walker, By my own order.

Mr. Comper, Did you buy Poifon but once, upon your Oath ? Walker, I believe I might buy twice. Mr.

Mr. Comper, Both times there ?

Mr. Comper, Where ?

Walker Of Mr. Ludman, Mr. Cowper, Of him ?

Walker, No.

Mr. Comper, Ot him ? Mr. Comper, Did you ever buy any Philon at Laton? Mr. Comper, Did you ever buy any Philon at Laton? Mr. Comper, Did you ever buy Mr. Comper, Did you ever buy any by your Miltreffes order, or of one Mrs. Grooke, upon your Oath ? Walker, No, I never did. Mr. Cemper, Pray at what time was it you bought this Poifon you fpeak of ?

Walker, I can't remember. Mr. Comper, Pray recollect your felf.

Walker, It was within this half year to befure.

. Mr. Cowper, What was the name of the Poilon you askt for ? Walker, I ask'd fot White Mercury. Mr. Cowper, She faith I pass'd by her Miftreffes house, and went directly to Mr. Barefoot's, pray did not you come to Mr. Barefoot's after me? Walker, Yes Sir.

Mr. Comper, Pray did you give the fame Account before the Coroner, when this Matter was enquired into, that you have now done ? Walker, Yes I did as near as I can rell.

Mr. Comper, Did you give this Account in Subflance ? Walker, Y Mr. Baron Hatfed, Mr. Comper. I suppose you don't mean in relation to the Poison. Walker, Yes I did.

Mr Comper. My Lord I mean in relation to fo much of the Evidence which the now gives and pareicularly refpects me. For what end or purpole did you buy it ? Mr. Comper, Why fhould you poil on the Dog ? Walker, I bought it to poilon a Dog.

Walker. It was a Dog that us'd to haunt our houfe, that did us a great deal of mifchief, but that did Mr. Comper, Who gave it to the Dog ? not do, fo I bought it a fecond time.

Walker, 'Twas another Maid did give it to the Dog.

Mr. Comper, Why did you then fwear it was given the Dog? Mr. Comper, Did your Miftrefs know of it? Walker Walker, Sir I faw it given.

Walker, Yes the did know of it afterwards. Walker, In warm Milk.

Mr. Gamper, How did you give it ? Mr. Gamper, How did the Milk look ? Walker, It did not look difcolour'd in the lesft. Mr. Baron Harfell, You faid juft now your Miffrefs was ill, and that made her melancholy, what illnefs

Was

Walker, My Lord fhe had a great pain in her Head. Mr. Baron Hatfell, How long had fhe been troubled with it? Walker, Ever fince laft May was twelve months was the begining of it.

Mr. Jenes, Did you ever find her in the leaft inclin'd to do her felf a mifchief ?

Walker, No. I never did.

Mr. Cemper, You bought Poifon twice, did you give all the Poifon you bought to the Dog ? Walker, Yes. Mr. Comper, The first and the last ?

Walker, Yes. Walker, Yes the whole.

Mr. Comper, How much did you buy ?

Welker, I am not certain liow much I bought. Mr. Cowper, Pray what mifchief did it do the Dog ?

Walker, I cannot tell, he may be alive till now for ought I know.

Mr. Comper What milchief did the Dog do?

Walker A great deal; he threw down feveral things and broke them.

Mr. Joner, Did Mr. Cowper, upon your Oath, hear Mrs. Stout give you order to make his Fire and warm his Bed ?

Walker. He knows best whether he heard it or no; but he fat by her when she spoke it-

Mr. Jones, Did fhe fpeak it fo as he might hear? Walker, Yes fhe did, for he was nearer than I.

Meager, No, neither hang nor flick, the floated.

Mr. Comper, Did you fee fome Body go through the Blue-coat Building about 11 a Clock ?

Mr. Janer, No., Sir, I was a Bed before 9. Mr. Janer, Now, my Lord, we will give an Account how the was when the was thripped, and they came to view the Body. Dimfdale, My Lord, I was fent for at Night on Twefday the laft Affizes.

Mr. Comper, My Lord, if your Lordship pleafes, I have fome Phylicians of Note and Eminency that are come down from London, I defire they may be called into Court to hear what thefe Chyrurgeons fay. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Ay. by all means.

Mr. Comper, My Lord, there is Dr. Sleane, Dr. Garth, Dr. Morley. Dr. Gilftrop, Dr. Harrist, Dr. Wollafton, Dr. Crell, Mr William Comper, Mr. Barelett, and Mr. Camlin. (Who refpectively appeared in Court.) Mr. Jones, Give an Account how you found Mrs Stout.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, You are a Phylician, I fuppole, Sir. Dimfdale, A Chyrurgeon, my Lord. When I was fent for to Mrs. Stout's, I was fent for two or three times before I would go; for I was unwilling after I heard Mrs. Stout was drowned; for I thought with myfelf, what need could there be of me when the Perfon wasdead; but fhe ftill fent, and then I went with Mr. Camlin, and found a little Swelling on the fide of her Neck, and the was black on both fides, and more particularly on the left fide, and between her Breafts up towards the Collar-bone ; that was all

I faw at that time, only a little Mark upon one of her Arms, and I think upon her left Asm.

I haw at that time, only a little Mark upon one of her Arms, and I taink upon her left Arm. Mr. Joner, How were her Ears? Dimfdale, There was a fetting of Blood on both fides the Neck, that was all I faw at that time. Sor. Jones, How did you think fhe came by it? Dimfdale, Troly I only gave an Account, juft as I fay now, to the Gentlemen at that time. I faw no more of it at that time; but about fix Weeks after the Body was opened by Dr. Phillips Mr. Gomper, My Lord, he is going to another piece of Evidence, and I would ask him Mr. Jones, Let us have done first; how was her Ears? Dimfdale, There was a blackness on both Ears, a fettling of Blood. Mr. Janes, Call Sarah Rimpfor.

Mr. Jones, Call Sarab Rimpfon.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Mr. Comper, now you may ask him any thing, they have done with him.

M. Comper. I would ask him, whether he was not employed to view thefe particular Spots he mentions at the Coroner's Inqueft.

Dimfdale, I was defired to look upon the Face, Arms, and Breaft, becaufe they faid there was a fettling of Blood there.

Mr. Comper, When you returned to the Coroner's Inqueft, what did you certify - your Opinion ? Dimfdale. I did certify there was a fourting of Plood, but now it came I could not tell.

Mr. Comper, I ask you, Sir, did not you fay it was no more than a common Stagnation ufual in dead Dimidale, I do not remember a word of it. Bodies ?

Mr. Comper, Sir, I would ask you, you fay the Spot was about the Collar-bone, was it above or below ? Dimfdale, From the Collar-bone downwards.

Mr. Comper, Had fhe any Circle about her Neck ?

Dimfdale, No, not upon my Oath.

Mr. Jones, Swear Sarah Kimpfon. (She was Sworn) Did you obferve this Mrs Sarah Stout when the was ftripped, how her Body was? Kimpfon, Yes. Mr. Jones, Pray give an Account of it-Kimpfon, She had a great Settlement of Blood bal ind her left Ear, as much as my Hand will cover, and more ; and the had a Settlement of Blood under her Collar-bone.

Mr. Jones, Did you fee nothing about her Neck?

Kimpfen, Nothing round her Neck ; on the fide of her Neck there was a Mark.

Mr. Jones, Was there any other part bruiled ? Kimpfen, Only her left Wrift, and her Body was very flat and lank. Mr. Comper, Pray what Day was it that you faw her?

Kimpfon, It was the Day fhe was found.

Mr. Comper, Was fhe not laced ? Mr. Comper, Did you help to ftrip her? Kimpfon. She was laced.

Kimpfan, Yes Sir.

Mr. Foner, Did her Body feem to be fwelled, or was there any Water come from her ? Rimpfon. I did not obferve the leaft drop of Water that appeared any way.

Mr. Jones, Do you know what did purge from her?

Kimpfon, Nothing that I faw, Mr. Jones, Had not you a Child drowned there lately ?

Kimpfin, Yes about 10 Weeks ago. Mr. Jones, And you found her?

Kimpjon, She was drowned at Night, and we found her next Morning.

Mr. Jones, Where did you find her, at the top, or at the bottom of the Water ? Rimpfon, At the Bottom, Mr. Jones, How was the ?

Kimpfon, She was fwell'd as much as fhe could hold.

Mr. Jones, Were her Eyes fhut or open ?

Kimpfon, Yes.

Kimpfon, Her Eyes were flut, and the Child was laced as tight as the Coat could be.

Mr. Jones, Was the Child opened ? Rimpfon, Yes.

Mr. Joner, And what was in the Body of the Child ? Kimpfon, 'Twas very full of Water.

Kimplen, Twas very full of Water. Mr. Comper, You fay you viewed the Child, had it any Settlement of Blood ?

Kimpfon I faw none.

Mr. Comper, And you viewed the Body ?

(Then Sarah Peppercorn was Sworn)

ber. Jones, Did you fee the Body of Mrs. Sar ab Scont, after it was ftript and laid out?

C

Peppersorn,

[ 10 ]

Mr. Jones, In what Condition did you find her ? Peppercern, I did Sir. Peppercen, I did not fee her till fhe was brought home to her Mothers, and there was a Rumour in I found the was nor, and I help'd to pull off her Cloaths, and the was very clear as any I ever knew, only had a black place on the fide of her Head, and in another place about her Ear, but how it came I know not. Mr. Jones, Did you obferve how her Body was? Propercorn, Her Body was very well as any Womans could be. Mr. Jones, Was there any Purging at her Mouth and Noftrils? Peppercorn, A little Froth, as any Rody might have the Town, that the was with Child, and I was fent for to give an account whether the were or no, and Peppercorn, A little Froth, as any Body might have.

Mr. Comper, At what Hour did you fee her ? Pepper.orn, I believe it might be 9 or 10 a Clock.

Nr. Baron Hatfell, In the Morning ? Pepperturn, Yes Sir, but I can't give a just account of the time. Mr. Baron Hatfell, What was you fent for ?

Pepperson, To know if the was with Child; for it was reported the had drowned herfelf becaufe fhe was w th Child, and fo her Mother defired me to come to give an Account that it was not fo, and I found it was not fo.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, You are a Midwife, are you not ?

Peppercern, Yes, my Lord. (Then Eli. Hafter was Sworn) Mr. Joner, Had you the View of the Body of Mrs. Sarah Stout, the Day you heard the was drowned? Hafter, She was not drowned, my Lord, I went thither and helped to pull off her Cloaths.

Mr. Jones, In what condition was her Body ?

Huffer, Her Body was very lank and thin, and no Water appeared to be in it.

Mr. Jones, Was there any Water about her Mouth and Nofe ?

Huffer, Not when I faw her.

Mr. Jones, Did you mind her about her Neck and Head ?

Hufler, Yes, yes, there was a fettling of Blood at the Top of the Collar-bone, just here, and there was a fettling of Blood upon both her Ears, most about her left Ear.

Did you fee the Body of Mrs. Steut af-Mr. Jones, Swear Aun Pilkington. (which was done) ter fhe was drowned ? Pilkington, Yes Sir.

Mr. Jones, Pray in what condition was the when the was ftript?

Pilkington, I was in the Houfe when the was brought in dead, and old Mrs. Stout defired me to help to lay her out, and taking a view of her, I did not at all perceive her Body to be fwelled.

Mr. Jones, Was there any Water came out upon the moving of it?

Pilkington, No, I did not perceive any; and by a further view, I faw a rednefs on the left fide of her Head, and her Ear was black, and there was a little mark upon her Breaft, on the left fide.

Mr. Jones, What colour was it of ? Pilkington, It feemed, reddifh and blackifh, as to colour it was like a fettling of Blood ; I can't tell how to make it out very well.

Mr. Comper, Had the any circle round about her Neck ? Pilkington, No, not that I fee. Mr. Comper, Pray did not you make fome Deposition to that purpole, that you know of ?

Pilkington. Sir, I never did, and dare not do it. Mr. Comper, It was read again a in the Bingle Bench, and I will prove it, was not Mr. Mead with you at the time of your Examination? Not comper, Did not he new Words and when the Pilkington, Yes.

Mr. Comper, Did not he put in fome Words, and what were they?

Pilkington, Not that I know of. Mr. Comper, But you never fwore fo, upon your Oath ? Pilkington, No. I don't believe I did, if I did it was ignorantly.

Mr. Joner, Here is her Examination, it is crofs her Neck.

Mr. Somper, Was Mr. Young of Hertford, the Conftable, prefent when you were examined ? Mr. Comper, Was Mr. Young of Hertford, the Conftable, prefent when you were examined ? Pilkingfort, Yes, he was fo. The next Day Mrs. Stour fent for me again, to put on her Daughter's Shroud, and I was one that helped to draw the Sheet away, and there was not one drop of Water came from her, and I laid a Cloth under her Chin, when I helped her into the Coffia, but I did not fee the leaft moisture come from her.

Mr. Cowper, What Day was it, that you put her into the Coffin ? Pilkington, The next Day after the was dead.

Mr. Comper, Do you know nothing of her being convey'd into the Barn ? Pilkington, I happen'd to be in the Barn. Mrs. Snut defired me to go with her, and the was brought up in an indecent manner, and I put a Sheet about her. I was in Mrs. Stour's Houfe before her Daughter was Mr. Jones, Call Dr. Coatfworth, Dr. Nailer, Dr. Woodhoufe, and Dr. Bide. brought thither.

(Dr Goalfworth was Sworn)

Mr. Jones, Pray Doctor, had you a view of the Body of Mrs Stout ? Coasfworth, Yes, I had, Sir, I am a Surgeon.

Mr. Joner, Pray give an account of it, and what your Opinion was how the came by her Death.

Coatfworth, My Lord, in April laft I was fent for by Dr. Phillips, to come to Hertford, to fee the Body of Mrs. Stout opened, who had been 6 Weeks buried, and he told me that there was a fufpicion the was murthered, and that her Relations were willing to have her taken up and opened. I came down, I think on the 27th of April, and lay at Mrs. Stour's Houfe that Night, and by her difcourfe I underflood fhe wanted to be fatisfied, whether her Daughter was with Child. I told her it was my Opinion we fhould wanted to be facisfied, whether her Daughter was with Child. I told her it was my Opinion we fhould find the Parts Contained in the Abdemen for totten, that it would be impoffible to diffeover the Uterus from the other Parts; however, if the would have her opened, I could not dicover whether the was with Child, unlefs the Infant was become bony. Her Face and Neck to her Shoulders appeared black, and for much corrupted, that we were unwilling to proceed any further; but however, her Mother would have it done, and for we did open her, and as foon as the was opened, we perceived the Stomach and Guts were as full of Wind, as if they had been blown with a pair of Pellows; we put her Guts shide, and came to the Uterus, and Or Phillips thewed it us in his Hand, and afterwards cut it out and laid it on the Table, and opened it, and we faw into the Cavity of it, and if there had been any thing there as minute as a Hair, we might have feen it, but it was perfectly free and empty : and after that he part the minute as a Hair, we might have feen it, but it was perfectly free and empty ; and after that he put the Inteffiner

Mr. Comper, You fay, this infpection was made about fix Weeks after the was dead ?

Goat fworth, It was made on the 28th of April.

Mr. Comper, She was drowned on the 13th of March. Mr. Jones, Did you make an incilion into those Pasts of the Neck and Head ?

Coatfworth, No, I told Mrs. Steat and her Son, if you imagine the Skull to be injur'd, I will open the Head, for if the fcalp be never fo roten, yet if the Skull has fuffer'd any imprefian, I thall diffeover it, they faid, they did not fulpedt a broken Skull in the cafe, and to we did not examine it. Mr. Foner, But all the other Parts were found ?

Coatsworth, Yes, found to a miracle, for I did not imagine we could find them fo. Mr. Jones, Gall John Dimsdale

Mr. Cowper, My Lord, I would know, and I defire to be heard to this Point ; I think where the Coroner's Inqueft have view'd the Body, and the Relations have been heard, and the Body buried, that 'tis not to be flir'd afterwards for any private infpection of Parties, that intend to make themfelves Profecutors, but if it is to be taken up, it is to be done by fome legal Authority, for if it fhould be otherwife, any Gentlemen may be eafily trapan'd; for inflance, if they fhould have thought fit after the Coroner's View, to have broken the Skull into a hundred pieces. This was a private View altogether among themfelves, certainly if they intended to have Profecured me or any other Gentlemen upon this Evidence, they ought to have given us notice, that we might have had fome Surgeons amongli them, to fuper-intend their Proceedings. My Lord, with fubmillion, this ought not to be given in Evidence. Mr. baron Hatfell, Mc. Comper, I think you are not in carneft, there is no colour for this objection, if they did take up the Body without notice, why fhould not that be Evidence, unlefs you think they had a Definin to forfwear themfelves.

Mr. Comper, Had you a Melius Enquirendum, or any lawful warrant for making this infpection ? Coatfworth, No, there was not.

Mr. paron Harfell, Suppose they did an ill thing in taking up the Body without fome order, tho' I don't know any more ill in taking up that Body, than any other; but however, is that any realon why we should not hear this Evidence.

Coatfworth, Mr. Camlin, Sir W. Comper's Surgeon was there by.

Mr Janes, Call Mr. Dimfdale Senior, (who was fworn.) Had you a View of the Body after it was taken up ? Dimfaale, Yes.

Mr. Joner, Pray give your Opinion of it. Dimfdale, On the 28th of April, as I remember, I was fent for down by Mrs. Stout, to view the Bedy of her Daughter. Her Daughter was just taken out of the Ground, but not opened, they had just touch'd the Body, out not open'd the Skin when I came there -

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Are you a Surgeon ?

Damfaale, Yes, my Lord. Finding her Head fo much mortified down to her Neeks we thought all the Parts were feiz'd, and had confulerion whether we mould open her or not, but Mrs. Start was ve-ry much entaged, becaufe a great foundal had been raifed, that her daughter was with Child, and the faid, the would have her open'd to clear her Reputation ; with that we open'd her, and found her Body as found as any Fleih could be, no manner of putrefaction in her Lungs, or any other Part, but the was very full of wind. We fearch'd the Stomach and the Thorax, and found not one drop of Water about it, I was more curious than the reft, and turn'd away her Legs, to fee if the Coffin was foil'd, and the Coffin and Shroud were not wet. Her Uterus was taken out, and I faw no manner of fign of Conception. Af. ter this we had a confultation to confider, whether fhe was crowned or not drowned, and we were all of Opinion that the was not drowned, only Mr. Camlin defired he might be excufed from giving his Opinion, whether the was drowned or not, but all the reft of us did give our Opinions, that the was not drowned.

Mr. Jones, Give your Reafons, why you believed the was not drowned. Dimfdale, My Reafon was this, becaufe we found no Water in her, her Intellines were not putrified for if there had been Water in her, that would have caus'd a fermentation, and that would have rotted the Lungs and Guts.

Mr. Baren Hatfell, Could you tell fo many Weeks after, whether the was drowned or no ?

Dimfdale, Yes, my Lord, for this Reafon, for if the had been drowned, there had been fome fign of Water, and if there had been a Pint of Water, it would have rotted her Lights and her Guts, and that is done in a Week's time by fermentation.

Mr. Comper. Sir, I defire to know, whether according to Reafon and your Skill, after fix week's time, it's pofficie there fhould be Water in the Thorax.

Dimfdale, I do believe there may be fome, for it can't come out after the Body is dead, but by Putrefaction, and there was no, Putrefaction, but it was firm and found

Mr. Baron Hatfell, What Parts would have been putrefied by the Water ?

Dimfdale, The Lungs and the Bowels. Dimfdale, They were, and if there had been Water, they would have been putrefied. Mr. Baron Haifell. And t Dimfaale, They were, and if there had been Water, they would have been putrefied. Mr. Joner, Call John Dimfdale Junior. Juryman, Washer Nave Mr. Baron Hatfell. And they were firm ?

Juryman, Washer Navel farted ?

Dimidale Sen. No, I never law fuch a Body in my Life.

Mr. Comper, Did you ever fee a Body that was drowned, and opened fix Weeks after ?

Dimfdale Sen. No, neve, If a Body be drowned a Fortnight, the Bowels will be fo rotten, there will be no coming near it, and I took particular notice, and I did not fee one drop of Water. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Was the Coffin clofe?

Dimfdale Sen. Yes, it was close and dry as any board whatfoever, and all the Parts found, but the Head and Neck and left Arm.

Mr. Fones, v hat do you think could be the Reafon of that ?

Dimsdale Sen. The left Arm was rottener than the other, the Neck was rotten before.

[ 12 ]

Call John Dimfdale Junior, (who was fworn) Dimfdale Jun. My Lord, the Body was opened before I came to fee it, and they were drawing up an Affi-davit, that there was no Water in the Body, and they defired me to fign it, but I defired fift to look into the Body, and I did look into it, and turn'd the Inteffines afide, and there was no Water in it, but the Head from the Neck was very much putrefied.

Mr. Jines, What did you take to be the caufe of it ?

Mr. Jones, Do you believe fhe was drowned ? Dimidale Jun. No, I believe not . Mr. Jones, Did you open the Child that was drowned ? What difference was there between the Body of that Child and this ?

Dimfdale Jun. The Child was extremely fwell'd in the Belly and Stomach, and had abundance of Wa-Mr. Jones, Was the Child lac'd that you open'd? ter in it.

Dimidale Jun. It was laid upon the Table before I came

Mr. Comper, How long was it before the Child was opened ?

Dimfdale Jun. It was drowned in the Afternoon, and opened the next Morning. Mr. Cemper, You faid, Sir, you was ask'd to Sign the Affidavit before you faw the Body, and you were honeft, and would fee the Body firft, Pray who ask'd you? Dimfdale Jun. All of them did. Mr. Cemper, Who in particular, if you pleafe name them?

Dimidale Jun. Mr. Coatfworth, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Gamlin, &c. they ask'd me to fet my Hand to it, becaufe they thought I had feen it before. (Then Dr. Dimfdale was Sworn.) Mr. Jones, Mr. Robert Dimfdale, was you at the opening of this Body ?

Dr. Dimfdale, I came after it was open'd, my Brother and I came together. Mr. Jones, What Profession are you of, a Physician?

Dr. Dimfdale, Yes when the Body was taken up, they defired us to be there to infpect the Body, but before we came, it happen'd they had opened the Body, and were fetting their Hands to a Paper, a fort of Affidavit, and when I came in, they would have had us fet our Hands, but we would not, till we had look'd upon the Body, and went and laid it open aga n, and we did not find the leaft d.op of Water neither in the Thorax, nor Abdomen.

Mr. Gamper, Is it impoffible there fat uld be Water in the Thorax, according to your Skill ?

Dr. Dinfdale, Yes, we did think there would have been, if the had been drowned. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Could you expect to find it fo long as fix Weeks after.

Dr. Dimfdale, We fhould have expected that or a putrefaction, but we found no putrefactioa, neither in the Powels, nor Inteffines, but only upon her Head and Shoulders, and one Arm,

Mr. Comper, Pray by what Paffage does the Water go into the Thorax?

Dr Dimfdale, 'T will be very difficult for me to defcribe the manner here, but we fhould have found Mr. Comper, Pray Sir, how fhould it go into the Thoras ? fome in the Stomach and Inteffines. Dr. Dimfdale, By the Lymphaduet, if carried by any means. Mr. Comper, When the Party is dead, can any Water pais into any Part of the Body? Dr. Dimfdale, We opened the Abdomen of the Child that was drowned, and found in the feveral Cavi-

Dr. Dimidale, We opened the Addunter of the China a Perion is dead, can they receive any Water after? Dr. Dimidale, No, for all the Parts are clos'd and contracted. Mr. Gemper, Pray if a dead Body be put into the Water, will not the Water come into the Wind-pipe? ties abundance of Water.

Mr. J.nes, Was her Mouth fhut? Dr. Dimfdale, I question whether it will or no.

Dr. Dimfdale, She was putrefied about the Head and Shoulders, and one Arm, that I faw was putrefied, it was the left Arm as to her Death?

was the left Arm as I take it. Mr Jener. What is your Opinion as to her Death ? Dr. Dimfdals, I believe if the had been drowned, there would have been a putrelaction of the Abdomen firft and it was her extreme Parts, her Arm, her Head, and her Breaft, that was putrefied, but her Bowels feem'd firm and found.

Mr. Jones, Then you don't think her Death was by drowning ? Dr. Dimídale. No. Mr. Comper, Pray did not you give fome Certificate or Paper, declaring the Death of this Gentlewoman, before you faw the Body at all ? Dr. Dimfdale, No I did not.

Mr. Comper, Sir, I would ask you, was not you angry, that Mr. Camlin would not join with you in Dr. Dimsdale, No. Opinion ?

Mr. Comper, Pray did not you tell him, that you were a graduate Phyfician, and was angry he would not join with you? Dr. Dimfdale, Suppore I did.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, But did you fo or no ?

Dr. Dimfdale, Yes, my Lord, we had forre Words about it. Mr. Jenes, Swear Dr. Coasfworth. (which was done) Now, my Lord, we call these Gentlemen that are Doctors of Skill, to know their Opinion of them that are found floating without Water in them, how they come by their Death.

Dr. Configureb, I have not feen many drowned Podies to make Obfervation upon, but it is my opinion, that every Body that is drowned is fuffocated by Water paffing down the Windpipe into the Lungs upon infpiration, and at the fame time, the Water prefing upon the Gullet, there will be a neceffity of fwal. lowing a great part of it into the Stomach: I have been in danger of being drowned myfelf, and I was If a Perfon was drowned and taken out in mediately, as forced to fwallow a great quantity of Water. foon as the fuffocation was effected, I fhould not wonder, if there were but Little Water in the Stornach and Guts, but if it lay in the Water feveral Hours, it must be very firange if the Belly should not he full of Water; but I will not fay, it is impossible it should be otherwise.

Mr. Comper, I defire to know whether this Gentleman attempted to drown himfelf, or was in danger of being drowned by Accident.

Dr. Coaffworth, It was by Accident: I was paffing up the Ship-fide, and took hold of a loofe Rope inflead of the entring Rope, which failing me, I fell into the Water. Mr. Comper, But you firuggied to fave your fell from drowning? Dr. Contfmorth, I did fo. Thave feen feveral Perfons that have heen drowned, and they have lain feveral days, until by a fermentation they have been rais'd, but I never made my obfervations of any perfons that have drowned above fix hours.

Mr. Jenes, Did you ever hear of any perfons that as foon as they were drowned had fwam above Water? Dr. Centfworth, I have not known fuch a Cafe

Mr. Comper, Did you ever know, Sir, a body that was otherwife killed to float upon the Water ?

Dr. Castfmorth, I never made any observation of that. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Dr. Brown has a learned discourse in his Valgar Errors upon this subject, concerning the floating of dead bodies, I don't underfland it my felf, but he hath a whole Chapter about it.

(Then Dr. Nailer was fworn.) Mr. Jones, We ask you the fante queftion that Dr. Coarfworth was asked ; what is your opinion of dead Bodies; If a Body de drowned will it have Water in it or not?

Dr. Nailer, My Lord, I am of opinion that it will have a quantity if it be drowned, but if there be no Water in the Boby, I believe that the Perfon was dead before it was put into the Water.

Mr. Comper, I would ask the Doctor one queftion, my Lord ; Whether he was not a conftant Voter against the Interest of our Family in this Corporation ?

Dr. Nailer, I never did come to give a Vote, but Sir William Comper, or his Son ospos'd me, and faid, I had no right to Vote.

Mr. Comper, I would have ask'd the fame queftion of the Dimidales, if I had remembred it ; they are of Mr. Bar. Hatfell, It is not at all material as they are witneffes. another Party, as this Gontleman is. Mr. Jones, Then call Dr. Babington, (who was fworn) Mr. Jones, Pray what is your opinion of this matter?

Mr. Babington, I am of opinion, that all Bodies that go into the Water alive, and are drowned, have Water in them, and fink as foon as they are drowned, and don't rife fo foon as this Gentlewoman did. Mr. Comper. Pray what is your Profession Sir? Mr. Babington, I am a Chyrurgeon.

Mr. Comper, Becaufe Mr. Jones called you Doctor.

Mr. Bar in Harfell, Did you ever fee any Bodies drowned? Mr. Babington, Yes, my Lord, I once had a Gentlewoman a Patient that was half an hour under Water, and the lived feveral hours after, and in all that time the difcharged a great quantity of Water : I never heard of any that went alive into the Water, and were drowned, that floated fo foon as this Gentlewoman did : I have heard fo from Phylicians,

Mr. Baron Hatfell, I have heard fo too, and that they are forc'd to tye a Bullet to dead Bodies thrown into the Sea, that they might not rife again.

Mr. Comper, The reafon of that is, that they fhould not rife again, not that they will not fink without it ; but I would ask Mr. Babington, whether the Gentlewoman, he fpeaks of, went into the Water voluntarily, or fell in by Accident ?

Mr. Pabington, By Accident ; but I believe that don't alter the Cafe.

Mr. Joner, Swear Dr. Burnet. (which was done.) Doctor you hear what is the Matter in queftion, what is your Opinion of it?

Dr. Burnet, sty Lord, I think that if any Perfon fall into the Water by Accident, or throws himfelf in, the Body will receive Water as long as it is alive, and there are Endeavours for Refpiration, and after these Endeavours are over, there is no Water will come in, for all the Parts are clos'd; fo confe-quently there must be Water in all probability found in her.

Mr. Jours, What do they fivin or fick ? Dr. Burnet, They fick : I never faw a Perfon drowned taken up without Water in my life, but I have feen feveral full of Water.

Mr. Comper, I think you fay when the Faculty of Refpiration ceases, no Water comes in. Dr. Burnet, Yes, that is my Opinion.

Mr. Cowper, Bas the Water does pais into them while there are Endeavours for Refpiration?

Dr. Burnet, Yes. that is my Opinion. (Then Dr. Woodbuufe was fwore) Mr. Jones, Doctor, what is your Opinion of this Matter Dr. Woodbuufe, my Opinion is, that no Perfon is fufficated by Water, but he must have a great deal of Water within him; a great deal of Water in the Stomach, and fome in the Lungs. Mr. Comper, Pray Sir, did you ever open any of these Bodies? Dr. Woodbonfs, Yes, I have opened a Child myself that had a great quantity of Water in it. Mr. Comper, Did you find any quantity of Water in the Throat?

Dr. Woodboufe, There was fome, but a little, but a great deal in the Stomach. Mr. Comper, Pray which way can it pafs into the Thorax ?

Dr. Wooahoufe, While the Perfon is ftruggling for Refpiration, there may be a Relaxation of,

Water may get into the Wind-pipe, and fo enter into the Lungs.

Mr. Comper, Is there a Pallage from the Lungs to the Thorax ?

Dr. Woodhoufe, The Thorax is the Veffel wherein the Lungs lie, the Lungs in the Thorax; the Breaft is the Cavity where the Lungs lie, the Wind-pipe is the Conveyance to the Lungs, and a Perfor in Refpiration takes down fome Water there, but no doubt the greater quantity will be in the Stomach.

Mr. Baron Hatfed, Pray let me ask you & Queftion: Some of the Witneffes faid, that if a Perfon be drowned a d lies dead a great while, the Inwards will be patrefied, what is your Opinion of it?

Dr. Wordhoufe, No doubt, my Lord, where Water gets into the Stomach, or wherever it is, it will putrefy very foon. Mr. Jones, Call Edward Clement (who was fworn) Are not you a Scaman ? Clement, Yes Sir. Mr. Jones How long have you

Mr. Jones How long have you been fo ?

Clement. Man, I have writ myfelf but 6 Years, but I have uled the Sea 9 or 10 Years.

Wr. Jones Have you known of any Men that have been killed, and thrown into the Sea, or who have fallen in and been drowned; pray tell us the difference as to their fwiming and finking.

Clement, In the Year 89 or 90 in Beachy Fight I faw feveral thrown over board during the Engagement, but one particularly I tock notice of, that was my Friend, and kill'd by my fide; I faw him fwim for a confiderable diffance f om the Ship, and a Ship coming under our Stern caus'd me to loofe fight of him, but I faw feveral dead Eodies floating at the fame time . Likewife in another Engagement, where a Man had both his Legs flot off, and died inftantly ; they threw over his Legs, tho' they funk, I faw his Body float : Likewife I have feen feveral Men who have died natural Deaths at Sea ; they have, when they have been dead, had a confiderable weight of Ballait and Shot made faft to them, and fo throw them over board ; becaufe we hold it for a general Rule, that all Men fwim if they be dead before they come into the Water 1 and on the contrary, I have feen Men when they have been drowned, that they have funk as foon as the Breath was out of their Bodies, and I could fee no more of them : For inflance, a D Man Man fell out of the Commal, and funk down to rights, and feven days after we weighed Anchor, and he was brought up grafping his Arms about the Cable : And we have obferved in feveral Cafes, that where Men fall over-board, as foon as their Breath is out of their Bodies they fink dowaright ; and on the contrary, when a dead Body is thrown over board without weight, it will fwim. Mr. Jones, You have been in a Fight how do Bodies float after a Battle ?

Clement, Men float with their Heads just down, and the fmall of their Back and Buttocks upwards, I have feen a great number of them fome hundreds in Beathy-head Fight, when we engaged the French, I was in the old Cambridge ; at that time I faw feveral (what number I will not be politive, but they were a great number, I can't guels to a Score) that did really fwim, and I could fee them float at a confidera-a great number, I can't gueis to a score) that did rearly twint, and reard nee them noar at a confidera-ble diffance. Mr. Jones, Have you feen a shipwreck? Clement: Yes, the Goronation in September 16,1. I was then belonging to the Dutcheft, under the Com-mand of Captain Clement, we look'd out and fee them taking down their Mafts, we faw the Men walk-ing up and down on the right fide, and the Ship funk down, and they fwam up and down like a fhoat of Filh one after another, and I fee them hover o e upon another, and fee them drop away by foores at a time, and there was an account of about 19 that faved themfelves, fome by Boats, and others by fwiming ; but there were no more faved out of the Ship's Complement, which was between five and fix hundred, and the reft I faw fink downright, fome 20 at a time. There was a Fifherman b ought our Cap-tain word, that in laying in of his Nets he d ew up fome Men, close under the Rocks, that were drowned, belonging to the Goromation, we generally throw in bags of Ballafi with them. Mr. Jones, I suppose all Men that are not drowned v ou fink them with weights.

Clement, Formerly flot was allowed for that purpofe, there us'd to be three ferore weight of Iron, but new it's a Bag of Ballaft that is made fail to them. Mr. Jones, Then you take it for a certain Rule, that those that are drowned fink, but those that are thrown over board do not. Clement, Yes, otherwife why fhould the Government' be at the vaft Charge to allow three fcore or four fcore weight of iron to fink every Man, but only that their fwiming about fhould not be a difcouragement to others. (Then Richard Gin was fworn)

Mr. Jointy You hear the Queftion, pray what do you fay to it ?

Gin, I wis at Sea a great while, and all the Men that I faw turn'd over-board had a great weight at their Heels to fink. Mr. Jones, Then will they fwim otherwife ?

Mr. Jones, Are you a Scaman ? Gin, So they fay.

Gin, I went aga nft my Will in two Fights.

Aldridg, On Wednefday.

Mr. Joner, Then Gentlemen of the Jury, I hope, we have given you Satisfaltion that Mrs. Steur did not drown herfelf, but was carried into the Water after the was kin'd : That was the first Queffion ; for if it be true, that all dead Bodies when they are put into the Water do fwim, and the Podies that go alive into the Water and are drowned do fink ; this is fufficient Evidence that the came by her death, not by drowning, but fome other way : Now, my Lord, as to the fecond matter, and that is, to give fuch Evidence as we have against these Gentlemen at the Bar; M. Comper it appears was the last Man that any one can give an account of was in her Company: What became of her afterwards, or where they went no body can tell; but the other Witneffes have given you Evidence that he was the laft Man that was with hor: I fhall only give this further Evidence, as to Mr. Comper; That notwithfanding all the Civilites and Kindneffes that pafs'd between him and this Family, when the built and noife of this Fact was forcad abroad, Mr. Comper did not come to confider and confult with old Mrs. Stear what was to be done ; but he coale no manner of notice of it, and the next day he rode out of Town, without further taking notice of it.

Call Geo:ge Aldridg, and John Archer. (John Archer was fworn)

Mr. Jones, Do you know any thing of Mr. Comper's going out of Town after this Bufinel's of Mrs. Stour's being drowned ?

Archer, Yes, I did fee him go out of Town afterwards. Mr. Jones, Which way did he go ? Archer, He went the back way from the Glove, I fuppofe he came that way.

Mr. Comper, What day was it I went: Is it not the way that I us'd to go when I go the Circuit into Effex ?

Tex ? Archer, Yes, I believe fo. Mr. Comper, I lodg'd at Mr. Barefost's, and as the back Door of the Glove, where my Horfe was, and I went the direct way into Effer, and it was Wednefday morning : What day was it you fee me go ? Aicher, It was on the Wednefdy morning.

Mr. Comper, I hat was the very day I went into Effex. (The Mr. Janes, When did Mr. Comper go out of Town the last Affizes? (Then George Aldridg was fworn)

Mr Jones, Which way did he go? Mr Jones, Did you not fetch his Horfe from Stout's? Aldridg, He went the way to Chelmsford Mr. Jones, How often did you go for it ? Mr. Jones, When? Aldridg, Yes Sir.

Aldridg, Three Times.

Aldridg. On Tuefday night I fent once, and went twice myfelf; the first time there was no Body at home to deliver the Horfe, fo I went to Mr. Stout's and ask'd him about the Horfe, and he faid he could not deliver him till the Maid went home, and then I went about 11 a Clock, and had the Horfe.

Mr. Var Harfell, Was it 11 at n.got ? Mr. Comper, When I fent you to fetch my Horfe, what Directions did I give you ?

Aldridg, You gave me Diretions to fetch your Horfe, becaufe you faid you thould have occasion to go out next morning betimes with the Judge.

Mr. Comper, The reafon I feat for my Horfe was this ; when I heard the had drowned her fe'f, I think it concern'd me in prudence to fend a common Hoftler for him, for fear the Lord of the Manner should fieze all that were there as forfeited.

Ms. Baron Harfill, There was no danger of that, for the was found non compose mentis.

Mr: Comper, No, my Lord, I fent before the Verdiat,

Mr. Joner, It feems you did not think fit to go and take Horfe there yourfelf, though you put your Horfe there?

Now, my Lord, we will go on and give the other Evidence that we open'd concerning thefe 3 other Gentlemen that came to Town ; 2 of them took Lodgings at Garrey's at 5 in the Afternoon, but did not come in till between 11 and 12, and then they brought another in with the n, and though he had been in in Town 5 or 6 hours, his Feet were wet and his Shees, and his Head was of a reaky Sweat, he had been at fome hard Labour I believe, and not drinking himfelf into fuch a Sweat.

Call John Gurrey, Martha Gurrey, and Eliz. Gurrey. Mr. Joner, Do you know any of these Gentlemen at the Bar? (John Garrey was Sworn) Gurrey, Yes. Mr. Jones, Name who you know.

Gurrey. There is Mr. Stev.ns, Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Marfon.

Mr. Jones, Pray do you remember when they took Lodgings at your Houfe ?

Garrey, The laft Affizes, when they first came there was only Mr. Stevens and Mr. Regert. Mr. fonus, At what time did they take it ?

Garrey, I was at Church and can't tell that, they hit'd the Lodging of my Wife,

Mr. Jones, what can you fay more?

Garrey, I was in at night when they came, there came 3 of them at 11 at night, whereof Mr. Marfest was the third Perfon, and he faid he was defitute of Lodging, and he ask'd for a fpar Bel, my Wife told them fhe had one but had let it, whereupon Mr. Stevens and Mr. Regers faid he fhould lodge with them j fo they went up all together, and they call'd for a Fire to be kindled, and ask'd for the Landlord, which was I, and they ask'd me to ferch a Boile of Wine, and I told them I wou'd fetch a Quart, which lidd and they ake den to fetch a Boile of Wine, and I told them I wou'd fetch a Quart, which I did, and then they ask'd me to fit down and drink with them, which I did ; and then they ask'd me if one Mrs. Sarah Stout did not live in Town, and whether fhe was a Fortune, I faid yes; then they faid they did not know how to come to the fight of her, and I faid I would flow them her to morrow morn-ing, not queffioning but I might fee her fome time as fhe was coming down the Street; fo they faid they would go to fee her. Mr. Regers and Mr. Stevens charg'd Mr. Marfon with being her old Sweetheart, faith Mr. Marfen, fhe hath thrown me off, but a Friend of mine will be even with her, by this time.

Mr. Baron Hatfell. What a Clock was it then ? Gurrey, I reckon II a Clock when they came in. Mr. a on Hatfell, Did you obferve in what Condition Mr. Marfan was in ? Gurrey, I did not obferve, only that he was hot and put by his Wig, I fee his Head was wet; and he faid he was just come from London, and that made him in fuch a heat. Garrey, I did not observe that. Mr. Jones, Had he Shoes or Boots on ?

Mr. Jones, Had he Shoes of Boots on ? Mr. Jones, What did they do the next Day ? Gurrey, The next morning I heard this Party was in the Water, I fet up all night, and was fain to wait thit my Daughter come down to look after the Shop, and then I went to fee her, and fhe was ref moved into the Barn, and they were wiping her Face, clofing her Eyes, and putting up her jaws, and as I came back thefe Perfons were walking, and I met Mr. Marfan, and Mr. Stewars, and told them the News Said I this Perfon is come to a fad Accident; fay they, to we hear, but neverthelefs we will be as good as our Word, and go and fee her; I went with them and overtook Mr. Ragers, and Marfan faid was as up of to far Mrs. Stewart O Landlord, faid Barry, you may take up that Bogue (nointing at we are going to fee Mrs. Staat : O Landlord, faid Regers, you may take up that Rogue (pointing at Mr. Marfon) for what he faid latt night, but I d d not think, they fpeaking to jocularly, that there was a fufficion of their being concerned in the murder : A fecond time I went, the Barn-door was lock'd, I knock'l and they open's t and let us in, and they uncover'd her face to let me fee her, and I touch'd her; and locking about for them they were gone, and I can't fay they fee her or touch'd her; then Mr. Marfin and they were confulting how to fend a great Coat to London, and I directed them to a Coachman at the Bed-Ins but I did not hear they went to enquire at er the Coachman; then they went to year Fordship's Chamber, and I went home, and about 11 of the Clock I faw Mr. Marfen, and Mr. Stevens coming down with Mr. Spencer Comper. Mr. Marfen. I did not go out that night after I came in. M. Jones No, we agree that, did you for Mr. Comper and cheft Gentlemen together ? Carry, Only at 11 a Clock on Tuefday noon, Mr. Comper, Mr. Marfen, and Mr. Stevens were coming down to the market-place.

Guirty. No, only in the morning they told me they would fend me word at Noon if they intended to lodge there.

Mr. Marfen, I defire to know of Mr. Gurrey, if his Sifter was not in the Room when I came in ? Garrey. Sie was in our Houfe that Day, but whether when they came in I can't tell. M. Comper, Pray have not you had fome Difcourfe with your Sifter the Widow Davis, concerning fome Supicion that you had of Sarah Walker, that hath been produced as a Witnofs ?

Garrey. I don't remember any fuch Mr. Comper, Then didn't you fay thefe Words : We mult not concern ourfelves with Sarah Walker, for the is the only Witness against the Compers. Gurrey, I can't remember any fuch thing.

M. Baron Hatfell, You must answer according to the best of what you remember ; if you fay you have forgotion when you have not, you are forfworn. Mr. Comper, If your Lordship pleafes to give leave to Mr. Gurrey to recolled himself, I ask him, Whether he did not talk with h s Silier Davis about fome Sufpicion his Wife and he had about Sarah Walker the maid-fervant of the decealed?

Garrey, I believe there might be fome talk of a Perfon that was feen to go into the Church-yard, at fome diftance with Sarah Walker.

Mr. Comper. Did your Wife fay that fhe did fuspect that Person ? Garrey, Yes. Mr. Comper. Did your Wife fay they behaved themselves ftrangely, and that fhe'd have perfwaded the Widow Blewit to have watch'd her ?

Gurrey. There was fomething of that. Mr Comper, Was there not fome fuch Words, that they must not meddle with Sarah Malker, for fhe is the Winels against the Compers?

Gurrey, I fiid, Do not concern yourfelf with Sarah Walker for fear of taking offher Evidence.

Mr. Comper, Pray did not the Widow Davis warm the Sheets for thefe Gent'emen ?

Garrey S e was with my Wife, but I can't fay whether the warm'd the Sheets. M. Comper, When they came home, had you any Lodgers that wanted to come home ; had first you one Gape ?

Gurry, I can't fay whether he was in before or after them.

Mr. Gamper, Did not you fay to your Sifter Davis ; Now these Gentlemen are in Bed, if Mr. Gape would come home our Family would be guict ? Guttey, Garrey, I do not remember that, Mr. Gewper, Pray did not you go to look for Mr. Gape ?

Gurrey, Yes, I went to Hockley's

Mr. Comper, Who did you employ to speak to Mr. Gaps to come home ? Garrey, Mrs. Hocklej. Mr. Comper, When you came home to your own House, and after you had been at Hockley's to speak with Mr. Gape, what account did you give of the time of night, and other particulars? Gurrey, I gave no account of the time. Mr. Comper, Not to Mrs. Davis ?

Gurriy, I can't tell whether I did or no.

Mr. Comper, Did not you fay Mr. Gape ask'd Mes. Heckley what a Clock it was ?

Gurrey No, I don't remember that, but Mrs. Hockley went in and told him what time of Night it was, it was It or 12 a Clock, whether I can't fay.

Mr. Joner, Call Martha Gurrey. (Who was Sworn) Which of these Gentlemen do you know? Mrs. Gurrey. Mr. Marfon, Mr. Regers, and Mr. Stevens. Mr. Jones, What time of the Night was it when they came to your House; give an account of it, and of what you heard them fay ?

Mirs. Gurrey, Mr. Stevens, and Mr. Regers, and there was one Mr. Gilbert that matried a first Coulin of mine, he came and ask'd me for my Husband, and I ask'd him his Bufinels, and he faid he wanted to fpeak with him .

Mr. Jones, Pray come to thefe Men, when did they come to your Houfe ?

Mrs. Gurrey, They hired the Lodgings at 5 a Clock, when they first came to fee them I was not at home, Mr. Gilbert brought them, and as I was coming along the Street, I faw Mr. Gilbert walking off . and would not look at me .

Mrs. Gurrey, They never flaid there. Mrs. Gurrey, Between 11 and 12.

Mr. Jones, When did they go out? Mrs. Mr, Jones, When did they come in again ? Mrs Mr. Baron Hasfell, What did they do when they came in ? Mrs. Gurrey. I was laying on fome Sheets 2 pair of Stairs when they came, and then there was three of them; fo they faw me a little after, and begg'd my excule for bringing is another; for they faid 'ewas fo late they could not get a Lodging any where elfe, and faid if I thought fit the Gentleman fhould, lie with them, and I told them I lik'd it very well. Mr. Joner, What Firing had they ?

M.s. Gurry, The Firing I laid on in the morning, and they fent for my Husband to fetch them fome Wine. Mr. Jones, What did you hear them talk on i

Mrs. Garrey, They difcours'd with my Husband, and ask'd him if he knew Mrs Sarah Stout, and one of them faid to Mr. Marfon, I think fhe was an old Sweetheart of yours ; ay faith he, but fhe turn'd me off, but a Friend of mine is even with her ; and Mr. Rogers faid he was in with her, and afterwards faid her Bufinefs was done; they had a Bundle that was wrapt in a pure white Cloth (like to an Apron) but I can't fay it was an Apron, and there was a parcel hanging loofe by it, and when he laid it down, he faid, he would pafs his Word Mrs. Sarah Stour's courting Days were over, and I faid, I hoped it was no hurt to the Gentlewoman, and then looking upon Mr. Marfon, I faw him put his Perruke afide, and his Head reak'd, and he told them he was but just come from London that Night, which made him difappointed of a Lodging.

Mr. Joner, What did you hear them fay about any money ? Mrs. Gurrer, I ack'd them how they would have their Bed warm'd, and Mr. Marfin anfwer'd very hot, and with that I went down to fend my Daughter up, and the could not go prefently, I cold her then the must go as foon as the could.

Mr Baron Hatfell, Pray don't tell us what pafs'd between you and your Daughter, what do you know of these Gentlemen-

Mrs. Garrey, I went to the next Room to fee if every thing was as it fhould be, I harkened, and they had fome difcourfe about Money, and I heard fome Body (I don't know who it fhould be, except it were Mr. Stevent) and wer and fay, the Ufe money was paid to night, but what money they meant I can't Mr. Jones, What did you find when they were gone ? Mrs. Gurrey, Sir, I found a Cord at the end of the Trunk. Mr. Jones Was it there in the morning, or before they came ? tell.

Mrs. Gurrey. No it could not, for I fwept my Room and wip'd down the duft. Mr. Jones, Was the Cord white Mrs. Gurrey, No, it was more dirty than it is now, for my Husband and I have worn it in our ockets. Mr. Comper, Pray who brought the Cord down from above Stairs? Pockets.

Mrs. Garrey, My Daughter that liv'd with me, and the laid it upon the Shelf.

Mr. Cowper, Did not you hear there was a Coroner's Inquest fitting ?

Mis. Gurrey. The next Day at Night I did hear of it.

Mr. Cowper, Why Didn't you go to the Coroner's Inquest, and give an account of it there ? Mrs. Gurrey, I told my Husband of it, and I ask'd my Husband if he did not hear what they faid concerning Mis. sarah Steut, and he anfwered yes, they ought to be taken up for the Words they faid laft Night; why, faith I, don't you take notice of. I think you ought to take them up; but he went out of doors, and I faw no more of him till the Afternoon; when I heard the Words' I thought fome body had flole her away and got to Bed to her.

Mr. Compet, Pray if your Husband heard thefe Words, why didn't he go to the Coroners Inqueft ? Mis. Garrey, I did fpeak to him to have them taken up, Mr. Gawper, Why did not you do it ?

Mrs. Gurry, He faid he'd not do it, he did not know but it might coft him his Life.

Mr. Jones, How came you after this to difcover it f

Mrs. Gurry, Becaufe I was fo troubled in mind I could not reft Night nor Day, and I told him, if he'd not tell of it, I'd tell of it my felf, for I was not able to live.

(Then Elizabeth Gurrey was Sworn)

Mr. Jones, Pray do you know Mr. Rogers, Mr. Stevens, and Mr. Marfon.

E. Gurrey, I know Mr. Marfin, and thefe are the other Gentlemen I reckon.

Mr. Joner, What Difcourfe did you hear from them?

E. Gurray.

Mr. Jones, Was Mr. Comper's Name mention'd ? E. Gurrey, I heard them mention Mr. Comper's Name, but not Mrs. Sarah Stout's.

Mr. Fones, What Condition was the Gentlemen's Shoes in ?

E. Gurrey, I think it was Mr. Marfon his Shoes were very wet and dirty, one of them was very hot, and he wip'd his Head with his Handkerchief.

Mr. Jones, Now, my Lord, we have done as to our Evidence: Mr. Marfer pretended he was just then alighted and come from London, and was in a great heat, and his Shoes were wet; I wonder what Mr. Marfer had been doing, for when he was examined, he faid he came to Town about Eight of the Clock, and went to the Glove and Dolphin-Inn, and flaid there while he came to his Lodging ; now 'tisa wonderful thing that he should come wet-shod from a Tavern, where he had been fitting Four or Five Then the Examination of Mr. John Marlon was read. Hours together

Mr. Joner, All that I obferve from it, is this; that he had been 5 hours in Town, and when he came to his Lodging he came in wet and hot, and faid he was just come from London. Mr. Marfon, I had rid Forty Miles that Day, and could not be foon cold. Mr. Baron Hatfed, They have done now for the King; Come Mr. Comper, What do you fay to it? Mr. Joanes, If your Lordship pleafe we'll call one Witnels more. (Mary Richardson)

Mr. Jones , Do you know Mr. Marfon, or any of these Gentlemen ?

Mrs Richardson, They came on Tuesday Night to the Bed at Hoddesdow, and lay there, and one of the Genelemen, when I was warming the Sneets, ask'd me if I knew Mirs. Sarah Steut, and I faid yes ; he ask'd me if I knew which way the came to her end, and I told him I could not cell, Mr. Jones, Is that all, what did they fay more ?

Mrs. Richardfon, They did defire and wifh it might be found out how it came about ; and one Gen-tleman took no notice of her at all ; they had a little Bundle, but what was in it I can't tell, but there I fee it bound up in fome colour'd Stuff or other, but what it was I can't tell.

Mrs. Richardfon, Ycs, that's all.

Mr. Jones, Is that all you can fay ? Mr. Jones, Then we have done. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Come Mr. Compers What do you fay to it ? Mr. Comper, Now they have done on the part of the King, my Lord, and you Gentlemon of the Jury, I must beg your patience for my Defence. I confeis it was an unfortunate Accident for me (as Mr. Jones calls it) that I happened to be the laft Perfon (for ought appears) in the Company of a melancholy Wo-The Difcourfe occasion'd by this Accident had been a fufficient Misfortune to me without any man. thing elfe to aggravate it; but I did not in the leaft imagin that fo little, fo trival an Evidence as here is, could poffibly have affected me to fo great a degree, as to bring me to this Place to answer for the worft Fact that the worft of Men can be guilty of.

My Lord, your Lordship did just now observe, that I have appear'd at the Bar for my Clients, but I must fay too, that I never appear'd for my felf under this or the like Circumstances, as a Criminal for any Offence whatfoever:

Mr. Fones very well faid, when he fooke on the part of the King, that if this Gentlewoman was mur-Mr. Four very well faid, when he fpoke on the part of the King, that if this Gentlewoman was mur-thered, the Crime was Villainous, Bale, Barbarous, and Cruel; and for my nare reduce to too, the Crime would be for great, that is could never fufficiently be condemnd: But at the fame time I may aver, that to fuppole a Murther without good Grounds for it, and afterwards to charge innocent Men with it knowingly and malicioufly, is to a Trifle as Bale and Barbarous as the Murther itfelf could be. My Lord, I speak for my own part, I know not at what Price other Men may value their Lives, but I had much rather my felf was muthered than my Reputation; which yet, I am fenfible hath fuffer'd greatly hitherto, by the malice and artifice of fome Men, who have gone pretty for in making this FaG, as Barbarous as it is, to be credited of me. And therefore I muft beg your Lordfaip's, and the Jury's Patience, while I not only defend my Life, but juftify myfelf allo from thefe things that have unjuftly interfed me by the Confoiracy and Artifice of my Acculers. afperfed me, by the Confpiracy and Artifice of my Acculers

My Lord, in all the Evidence that hath been given, I must observe there is no politive Evidence. with Submiffion, to induce the Jury, or any one to believe the General, that this Gentlewoman was murther'd; but they go upon Suppositions and Inferences, which are contradicted by other Circum-flances, in the very Evidence of the Profecutor, that make full as firong to prove the was not murthered, as that fhe was ; fo that as it flands, it can amount only to a bare Supposition, that fhe was murther'd by any body.

Then as to the Evidence that particularly relates to myfelf, or the Gentlemen who fland with me at the Bar; that they, or I were concern'd in it, (if the was murther'd) there is not one Syllable of Proof; at most it amounts but to make us fulped of a Murder, not proved, but only fulpedted; this I observe upon the Evidence, as it now flands without Answer, as it has been given one the King's part, and how far in the Cafe of Life Men fhall be affected with Evidence of this Nature which neither proves the Murfar in the Cale of Life Men hall be affected with Evidence of this Nature which neither proves the Mur-ther in General, nor that they did it in particular, though no Defence was made, or any further An-fwer given, I muft fubmit to your Lordhip's, and the Jury's Judgment. But my Lord, I do not doubt but I fhall be able to wipe away, even that remorfe Sufpicion by my Defence; they have been long in their Evidence for the King, and therefore I muft beg your Patience while I give a particular Anfwer to every part of it, in as good a Method as I am able, and I will wafte as little time as may confift with the juftifying my Reputation (for which I know your Lordfhip will have as tender a regard, to fee it doth not fuffer unjuftly) as for my Life it felf.

And I promife your Lordship I shall trouble you with no Evidence which is not express and plain, no Inuendoes or Sufpicions; but I shall prove fully and clearly, in the first place, that there was no Ground at all in this Cafe to suppose the was murthered by any one but her felf.

The first Fast that they infifted upon to infer a Murther from it, was, that the Body was found float-ing; now, my Lord, that Fast I am able by the Evidence I have, as well as from that of the Profecutor, to deny ; for the Fact was directly otherwife, that is, the was not found floating.

And whereas the Profecutor's Witneffes, who have been produced to this Point, are obfcure and poor Men, and your Lordship observes have been taught to fay generally that the floated, which, when they are

are required to explain, and deferibe how fhe lay, they contradid themfelves in, by fhewing fhe lay fide-ways between the Stikes, and almost all under Water: Now I fhall give your Lordfhip, and the Jury a full and particular Account and Defeription from the Parish-Officers, Men employ'd by the Coroner to take the Body out of the Water, of the very Manner and Posture in which it was first found; which they are much better able to do, than the Brolecutor's Witnesse, having feen her before all, or most of the take the Body out of the Officers clearly agree that her Body was under Witnesse. they are much better able to do, that the volcetter of witherles, having teen ner before all, or most of those People : And these Officers clearly agree that her Body was under Water, when found, except fome fmall appearance of her Petticeats, near, or on the furface of the Water, which may be very easily ac-counted for ; because the Stakes the Witneffes mention, and which are driven to the Ground cross the River to prevent the Weeds and Trumpery from running into the Mill, fland, as the Witneffes have al-ready faid, about a Foot diffance from one another, and are fet with their Feet from the Mill, and their Heads inclining towards the Mill with the Stream : Now, my Lord, every one knows, that the a drowned Body will at first fink, yet it is buoyant, and does not go down right, and reft in one place like Lead; for a humane Body is feldom or never in a Stream found to lie where it was drowned; a Body drowned at Chealfea, has been often found by Fifhermen at London, and that before it came to flost aboye Water. Now, if a Body is to Buoyant, as that it is driven down by the impellant force of the Current ( hough it do not float above Water) it faems a Confequence that when it comes to be ftopp'd and refifted by the Stakes, which lie with their Heads downwards, inclining with the Stream, the Stream bearing the Body against the Stakes, must needs raife it upwards to find another Paffage, if poffible, when the Ordinary and Natural is obstructed. I have feen I remember, that where Weeds have been driven down a River, and have been rouled along at the Bottom, when they have come down to a Board, or Stakes of a Wyer, or Turn-pike, they have been by the force of the Water raifed up again those Boards, or Stakes, and forc'd over them, though without fuch Oblicuction they had undoubtedly continued to roul along under the Water. I don't know of any other Symptom they pratend to, of her not being drowned, from any thing observed of her in the Water. Then as to the flatness of her Beily, when the was put into her Coffin. I thall thew it as a common and natural Accident, fometimes drowned Bodies are fwelled more, fometimes lefs, fometimes not at all ; I think it hardly deferves a Phyfician ed Bodies are twelled more, tometimes leis, tometimes not at all , a tinks it which diverves a raylician to prove that a Body may be drowned with very little Water, that a Man may be drowned by Strang-ling, or Suffocation caufed by a little Water in the Lungs, without any great Quantity of Water re-ceived in the Body, is a certain and effablish'd Truth; for I am told that when Refpiration ceafes, the Party dies, and can receive no more Water after that; fo that nothing is to be inferred from a Body's having more or lefs Water found in it, effectially, if your Lordship will give me leave to obferve this Diffinction, where a Body is voluntarily drown'd, and where it is drowned by Accident; for People that fall in by Accident do ftruggle and firive as long as they can, every time they rife they drink fonte Water in the Stomach to prevent its patiing into the Lungs, and are drowned no fooner than needs muft ; but Perfons that voluntarily drown themfelves, to be fure defperately plunge into the Water to difpatch a miferable Life, as foon as they can ; and fo that little Quantity in the Lungs, which caufes Death, may be the fooner taken in ; after which, no more is received : And I hope by Phyficians it will ap-pear there is good Ground for this Difference.

The next is the Evidence that the Chyrurgeons have given on the other part, relating to the taking this Gentlewoman out of her Grave, after the had been buried fix Weeks, whether this ought to have been given in Evidence for the Reafons I have binted at in a Criminal Gafe. I fubmit to yourLordfhip. But as it is, there no reafon to apprehend it, being able to make appear, that the Gentlemen who fpoke to this Point have delivered themetres in the appear of sates Malice, or a most profound Ignorance; this will be fo very plain upon my Evidence, that I must rake the liberty to impute one, or both of those Gaufes to the Gen lemen that have argued from their Obfervations upon that Matter.

And now, if your Lordship will but pleafe to consider the Circumstances under which they would accuse me of this horrid Action, I don't think they will pretend to fay, that in the whole Course of my Life, I have been guilty of any mean or indired Action, and I will put it upon the world Enemy I have in the World to fay it. Now, for a Man in the Condition I was in, of fome Foreme in Possessing tel to a better, in a good Employment, thriving in my Possession, living within my Income, never in Debr, (I may truly fay not five Pounds at any one time these eight Years path) having no possibility of making any Advantage by her Death, void of all Malice; and as appears by her own Evidence in perfed Amity and Friendship with this Gentlewoman, to be guilty of the murthering her, to begin at the top of all Balene's and Wickednes, certainly is incredible.

top of all Balenets and Wickednets, certainly is incredible. My Lord, in this Profecution my Enemies Iceing the neceffity of Affigning fome Gaule, have been fo Malicious to fuggeft before (though not now, when I have this Opportunity of vindicating my felf publickly) hat I have been concern'd in the Receipt of Money's for this Gentle woman, had her Securities by me, and fome imes that I had been her Guardian, or her Truffee, and I know not what: I now fee the Coart vers and Promoters of that Scandal, and they know it to be Bafe, Falle, and Malicious ; I never was concern'd in Intereft with her, directly, or indirectly, and fo I told them when I was before my Lord Chief Juffice ; 'tis true, it was then juft fuggefted by the Profecuters, I then denied it, and I deny it fill — I thank Eod I have not been ufed, nor have I needed to deny the Truth.

My Lord you find the Profecutors have nothing to fay to me upon this Head, after all the Slanders and Stories they have Published agains me, of having Money in my Hands which belong'd to the Deceased. But though they do not flir it, I will, and give your Lordship a full Account of all that ever was in the Matter : when I lodg'd at Harford, fome time fince, the defined me to recommend to her a Security for 200 L if it came in my way, my Lord, when I came to Town, I undershood that one Mrs. Pader, a Client of mine, had a Mortgage formerly made to her by one Mr. Lafras of Lamberb in Surry, for she life Sum, and that the was willing to have in her Money; I wrote to this Gentlewoman, the Deceased, to aquaint her of the Security, the thereupon did fend up 200 L and fome odd Pounds for Intereff ( he Account of which I produced to my Lord Chief Juffice) this Money was fent to me by Mr. Cra field, as I have been inform'd, and by him given to Mr. Tollar's Clerk, and by him brought publickly to me; my Lord, this Mortgage I immediately transfer'd by Affignment, Inders'd on the back of it and Mrs. Habberfield, a Truftee for Mrs. Pader, Signed and Sealed it, and that very 200 L and Intereft due was at one and the fame time pild to Mrs. Pader, and by her the Principal was paid to her Daughter, in part of her Portion- All this was Transfaced the beginning of December 1aft, and the Was befollowing : And my Lord, thefe People that are now the Profecutors, did own before my Lord Chief Juffice, that they had found this Mortgage amongft the Deceafed's Writings Writings in her Cabinet at the time of her Death. Now, my Lord, I fay, that faving this one Saivice. I did her, as I faid in December laft, I never was otherwife concerned with her in the receiving, or difpoling of any of her Money; nor had I ever any of her Securities for Money in my keeping; and I defy any Adverfary I have to fhew the contrary. My Lord, as there appears no Malice, no Intereft, fo they have provid for me that there was no Con-

My Lord, as there appears no Malice, no Intereft, fo they have prov'd for me that there was no Concealment of Shame, to induce me to commit fo barbarous an Action; otherwife, perhaps now they find they can affign no other Caufe, they would content themfelves to give that reafon, and fling that Scandal at me: And the' I take it by the Experience I have had of them, they did not defign to do me any Favour, yet I thank 'em, in endeavouring to vindicate her Honour, they have fecur'd my Reputation against that Calumny; and though I am fatisfied, as I faid, they did not intend me Kindnels, yet I thank God they have given me a just Opportunity to take advantage of their Cunning, for the clearing my Innocence in that Particular.

Then, my Lord, not to reft it here, but to fatisfy the Jury and the World how this Gentlewoman came to deftroy her felf, I fhall give the cleareft Evidence that was ever given in any Court, that fhe murthered her felf; when I enter upon this Proof, I muft of neceffity trelpafs upon the Charafter of this Gentlewoman that is dead. I confefs this is a tender Point, 'tis a thing I would willingly be excus'd from, and 'tis not' without a great deal of Reluftancy and Compulsion forc'd from me : That fhe was melane choly the Profecutors themfelves have prov'd; but I muft of neceffity thew you the Occasion and Reafons of it, and the Witneffes will tell your Lordfhip wast defperate Refolutions fhe had been under formerly, and that will lead me to near the time of her Death; to fhew why, and upon what Accident fhe made away her felf. I will not innumerate Particulars by way of opening; only I muft tell your Lordthip, that fome Letters of hers muft of necessity be produced, which truly as I faid, I should not meddle with, if I had not thefe innocent Gentlemen here to defend, as well as my felf; perhaps it may be faid, that in Honour I ought to conceal the Weaknefs of this Gentlewoman, but then in Honour and Juffice to the World, for I have no other that could have obliged me to bring thefe Letters upon the Stage a. I folemuly protek, if I flood here fingly in the Cafe of my own Life, upon the Evidence given againft me, I take it to be fo inconfiderable, I would not do it; but I muft do it to fhew that thele Gentlemen alfo are innocent, and to preferve them, becaufe I am fatisfied in my own mind they are fo. My Lord, when I have done that, I thall fhew your Lordfhip in the next place, that it is uterly impoffiele I could be concern'd in this Faft, if I had had all the Morives and Provocation in the World to have done it : I shall fhew your Lordfhip in point of time it could not be.

The Maid Sarab Walker, who is the fingle Wirnel's take it, that fays any thing in the leaft relating to me, faid but now, the Clock had firuck 11 before the carried up the Coals, and about a quarter of an hour after, while the was warming the Bed above flairs, the heard the Door clap, and fometime after that the came down and found that I and her Mittrefs were gone. Now in point of time I thall prove it utterly impossible I could be guilty of the Fact I am accusd of, being feen to come into the Glove has as the Town Clock fluck eleven, and flaying there more than a quarter of an hour, was after feveral things done at my Lodging, in Bed before twelve a Clock, and went no more out that Night, as I thall prove. As for that little Circumflance of fending for my Horfe, which they have made ule of all along to back this Profecution : their very telling me of that matter, thews how they are put to their their faits to julify their accufing me; I fay in prudence I ought to have done what I did. I for for him on the Tuefday, but as their Wirnel's Girch I was to go into Effer with the Judges next Morning ; and till then the Profecutors Witnefs, who is the Offler of the Glove Ins, was order'd to fet him up there to litter him down, and to take care of him and feed him, and that he thould be ready for me to go to Chelmsford on the morrow, whither I went with the other Council the next Morning, being Wednefday ; and this, my Lord, is the whole of that matter.

My Lord, this Bufinefs flept near two Months after the Coroner's Inqueft before I heard of it, or imagin'd my felf to be concern'd in it, and was never ftirr'd till two Parties differing on all other occasions had laid their Heads together; I beg leave to let your Lordfhip a little into that Matter to fhew you how this Profecution came to be managed, with for much noife and violence as it hath been. I can make it appear, that one of the greateft of the Quakers, Mr. Mead by name, has very much, and indiredfly too concern d himtelf in this Matter; it feems they fancy the Reputation of their Seft is concern'd in it, for they think it a wonderful thing, nay abfolutely impofible (however other People may be lyable to fuch refolutions) that one who was by her Education intriuled to the Light within her, fhould run headlong into the Water, as if the had been poffelfs'd with the Devil; of this they think their Seft is to be clear d; tho' by fpilling the Blood of four Innocent Men. The other fort of People that concur with the Quakers in this Profecution, I thali mention now I come to obferve what the Witneffes are that have been produced againft me; tome of them I have nothing to object to, but that they are extreme indigent and poor, and have been helped by the Profecutor, thofe that are fo fay nothing as to me; others who live in this Towo, and give their Opinions of the manner of her Death, are poffefs'd with much prejudice againft me, upon Feuls that have rifen at the Elections of my Father and Brother in this Town, and thefe with the Quakers have wholly dreft up this matter for feveral Ends, the Quakers to maintain the Reputation of their Seft, and the others to defirey, or break at leaft, the Intereft of my Family in this Place : But however effectual thele Defigns may have been, to have made a great noife in the World out of nothing ; I am fatisfied now, that I am in a Court of Juftice, where no Perfon's Reputation, much lefs his Life, will be facrified to the Policy or Malice of a Party without Poof ; and

My Lord, as to my coming to this 10wh on Menday, it was the first day of the Affizes, and that was the reason that brought me hither; before I came out of Town, I confess, I had a defign of taking a Lodging at this Gentlewoman's House, having been invited by Letters to to do; and the reason why I did not was this; my Brother when he went the Circuit always favour'd me with the offer of a part of his I odging, which our of good Husbandry I always accepted : The last Circuit was in Parliament time, and my trother being in the Money Chair could not attend the Circuit as he us'd to do, he had very good Lodgings, I think one of the best in this Town, where I us'd to be with him, these were slways kept for him, unless notice was given to the contrary; the Friday before I came down to the Affizes, I happen'd to be in company with my Brother and another Gentleman, and then I shew'd them the Letter, by which which I was earnefily invited down to lie at the Houfe of this Gentlewoman, during the Affizes, (it is dated the 9th of March laft) and defigning to comply with the Invitation ; I thereupon defired my Bro-ther to write to Mr. Barefoot our Landlord, and get him, if he could, to difpofe of the Lodgings, for faid I, if he keeps them they must be paid for, and then I cannot well avoid lying there; my Brother did fay he would write, if he could think on't; and thus if Mr. Barefoot difposed of the Lodgings, I own I intended to lie at the Deceafed's Houfe, but if not, I look'd on my felt as obliged to lie at Mr. Barifor's. Accordingly I thall prove, affoon as ever I came to this Town in the Morning of the first day of the Affizes, I went directly to Mr Barefoot's, (the Maid and all agree in this) and the reafon was, I had not feen my Brother after he faid he would write before I went out of London; and therefore it was Proper for me to go first to Mr. Barefoot's, to know whether my Brother had wrote to him, and whether he had difposed of the Lodgings or not; as foon as I came to Mr. Barefoot's there was one Mr. Taylor of this Town came to me, and I in his hearing ask'd Mr. Barefoot, his Wife, and Maid-fervant, one after another, if they had received a Letter from my Brother to unbefpeak the Lodgings ; they told me no, that the Room was kept for us, and I think that they had made a Fire, and that the Sheers were airing a I was a little concerned he had not writ, but being fatisfied that no Letter had been received, I faid immediately, as I fhall prove by feveral Witneffes, if it be fo I muft flay with you, I will take up my Lodg-ing here; thereupon I lighted, and fent for my Bag from the Coffee-houfe, and I lodg'd all my things at Barefoot's, and thus I took up my Lodgings there as ufual: I had no fooner done this, but Sarah Walker came to me from her Miftrefs to invite me to Dinner, and accordingly I went and dined there, and when I went away it may be true that, being asked, I faid I would come again at Night, but that I did fay I would lie there, I do politively deny, and knowing I could not lie there, 'tis unlikely I fhould fay fo : My Lord, at Night I did come again and paid her fome Money, which I received from Mr. Loftur, who is the Mortgager for Interefi of the 200 I. I before mentioned (it was Six Pounds odd Money in Guineas and half Guineas) I writ a Receipt but fhe declined the Signing of it, prefling me to flay there that Night, which I refused as engaged to lie at Mr. Barefoot's and took my leave of her ; and that very Money which I paid her was found in her Pocket, as I heard after the was drowned. Now, my Lord, the reafon that I went to her Houle at Night was first, as I faid, to pay her the Intereft Money; in the next place it was but fitting, when I found my felf under a necefficy of difappointing her, and lying at Barefoor's to go to excufe my not lying there; which I had not an Opportunity at Dinner time to do. My Lord, I open my Defence fhortly, referring the particulars to the Witneffes themfelves, in calling those who will fully refute the Suppositions and Inferences made by the Profecutors, of whom, first my Lord, I shall begin with to shew there is no Evidence of any Murder at all committed ; and this I fay again ought to be indifputably made manifeft and prov'd before any Man can be fo much as fuspected for it.

Mr Bar. Hatfell, Do not flourish too much, Mr. Comper, if you have opened all your Evidence, call your Witneffes, and when they have ended, then make your Obfervations.

Mr. Comper, Then, my Lord, I will take up no more of your Time in opening this Matter. Call Robert Dew (who appear'd) When Mrs Sarah Stout drowned herfelf, was not you a Parish Officer ?

R. Dew, I was ; I was next Houfe to the Coach and Horfes, and about fix of the Clock came a little Boy (Thomas Parker's Boy) and faid there was a Woman fallen into the River; I confider'd it was not my bufi-nefs. but the Coroner's and I fent the Boy to the Coroner to acquaint him withit, and the Coroner fent word by the boy, and defired the might be taken out, fo I went to the River, and faw her taken out; the lay in the River (as near as I could good) half - Boot in the Water, the was cover'd with water, the had a firip'd Petticoat on, but nothing could be feen of it above Water; I heav'd her up, and feveral Sticks were underneath her, and Flags, and when they took her out, the froth'd at the Nofe, and Mouth-

Mr. Comper. How was the driven between the Stakes? R. Dew, She lay on the right fide, her Head leaning rather downwards, and as they pull'd her up, I cry'd, hold, hold, you hurt her Arm, and fo they kneel'd down and took her Arm from the Stakes. Mr. Comper, Did you fee any Spots upon her Arm? Mr. Comper, What fort of Spot was it ? R. Dew, Yes, Sir.

R. Dew, It was reddifh, I believe the Stakes did lt ; for her Arm hit upon the Stakes where fhe lay. Mr. Comper, Pray how do thefe Stakes fland about the Bridge of the Mill ?

R. Dew, I fuppole they fand about a Foot sfuder, they fland flanting, leaning down the Stream a K. Drw, Huppole they hand would a voor studer, they hand handing, leaning down the Stream's little.

Mr. Comper, Could you different her Feet?
R. Drw, No, nothing like it, nor the ftrip'd Petticoat fhe had on.
Mr. Comper, Might not her Knees and Legs be upon the Ground, for what you could fee?
R. Drw, Truly if I was put upon my Oath, whether they were fo, or not, I durft not fwear it; fometimes the Water there is four Foot, fometimes three and a half, I believe her Feet were very near the bottom. Mr. Comper, Are not the Stakes nail'd with their Head against the Bridge ? R. Dew' They are nail'd to the fide of the Bridge.

Mr. Comper, Pray defcribe the manner in which they took her up.

Mr. Comper, Did they take her up at once ? R. Dew, They floop'd down and took her up. R, D.w, They had two heavings or more.

Mr. Comper, What was the reafon they did not take her up at once? Mr. Comper, What was the reafon they did not take her up at once? R. Dem. Becaufe I cry'd out, they hurt her Arm. Mr. Comper, Was fhe not within the Stakes ? R. Dew, Becaufe I cry'd out, they hurt her Arm.

R. Dow, No, this Shoulder kept her out. Mr. Comper, When you complain'd they hurt her Arm, what Anfwer did they make you. R. Dow, They floop'd down and took her Arm out from between the Stakes, they could not have got her out elfe.

Mr. Comper, After the was take out, did you obferve any Froth or Foam come from her Mouth, er Nofe?

R. Dem, There was a white Froth came from her, and as they wip'd it away, it was on again prefently. Mr. Comper, What was the appearance of her Face and upper Parts at that time?

R. Dem She was fo much disfigured, I believe, that fcarce any of her Neighbours knew her, the Slime the Water being upon her. Mr. Comper, Did you fee her Maid Sarah Walker at that time? of the Water being upon her. R. Dep, No.

Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Mr. Comper, Do you intend to fpend fo much time with every Witnefs, I don't fee to what what purpose many of these Questions are ask'd ? Mr. Comper, I have done with him, call toung. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, I would not have you traiten you know of this Matter. Mr. Comper, Pray give an account of what you know of this Matter. Mr. Comper, What Officer was you? Mr. Bar. Harfell, I would not have you ftraiten yourfelf but only ask those Queflions that are pertinent.

Young, On Tuefday morning between 5 and 6 a clock laft Affizes. Mr. Comper, What Officer was you ? Young, I was Confishle. Mr. Comper, Was you employ'd by the Coroner ? Young, Net by him in Perfor. Between 5 and 6 a Clock, fome of the Men that came into my Yard to work, told me a Woman was drowned at the Mill, I ftaid a little and went down to fee, and when I came there I faw & Woman, as they had told me, and I faw part of her Coat lie on the top of the Water to be feen, and I look'd firiftly and nicely within the Bridge; and faw the Face of a Woman, and her left Arm was on the out-fide the Stakes which I believe kept her from going thro'; fo I look'd upon her very wifhfully, and was going back again, and as I came back I met with R. Dem. and two of my Neighbours, and they a k'd me to go back with them, and faid they were going to take her up, and being Conftable, I told them I thought it was not proper to do it, and they faid they had Orders for it ; fo I being Conftable went back with them, and when I came there, I found her in the fame Poffure as before, we view'd her very withfully; her Coat that was driven near the Stakes was feen, but none of her other Coats, or her I egs, and after we had look'd a little while upon her, we fpake to Dell and Ulfe, to take her up, and one of them took hold of her Coat till he brought her above Water; and as her Arm drew up, I faw a black place, and fhe laid fideway, that he could not take her up till they had let her down again, and fo they twifted her out fideway; for the Stakes were fomear together that fhe could not lie upon her Belly nor upon her Back, and when they I ad taken her up, they laid her down upon a green place, and after the was laid down a great quantity of Froch (like the Froth of new beer) work'd out of her Mr. Bar. Hatfell, How much do you call a great quantity ? Noftrils, Twog, It role up in Bladders, and un down on the fides of her Face, and fo role again; and feeing her look like a Gentle woman, we defined one Ulfe to fearch her Pockets, to fee if there were any Letters, that we might know who fhe was, fo the Woman did, and I believe there was twenty or more of us, that knew her very well when the was alive, and not one of us knew her then, and the Woman fearch'd her Possets, and took out fix Guineas ten Shillings and three half peace, and fome other Things; and after that, I defired fome of my Neighbours to go with the and tell the Money; for when it came to be known who fhe was, I knew we mult give an Account on't, and I laid it upon a Block and told it, and they tied it up in a Handkerchief, and I faid I would keep the Money, and they thould feal it up, to prevent any Queffion about it; and during all this while of Difcourfe, and fealing we have be Forth will work of her Mouth. up the Money, the Froth nill work'd out of her Mouth. Mr. Comper. Have you meafur'd the depth of the Water ; what depth is it there?

Tung, I meafur'd the Water this Mor. ing, and it was fo high, that it run over the Floodgate. and the height of it was about 4 Foot 2 Inches but fometime 'tis pen'd up to a greater hight than 'tis to Day. Mr. Comper, Was it higher to day than when the body was found ?

Young, To the beft of my remembrance, 'twas as high to day as it was then.

Mr. Comper, Was any part of the Body above Water ?

Towny, No, nor nothing like the Body could be feen.

Comper, Could you fee where her Legs lay ?

Young. No, nor nothing but her upper Coats which were driven against the Stakes ...

Mr. Comper. Pray give an account how long the lay there, and when the was convey'd away. Toang, I traid a quarter of an Hour, and then I went and feal'd up the Money at my own Houfe, fo that I did not fee her remov'd.

Mr. Jones, Was any Body there befides yourfelf at this time ?

Toung, Yes twenty People at the leaft. Mr. Jones, Now here is ten of them that have fworn that the Body was above the furface of the Water. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, No, her Cloths they fay were, but the Body was formething under the Water.

Now I will trouble your Lordfhip no more with that Fact, but I will give you an ac-Mr. Comper, count of the Coroner's Inquest, how diligent they were in their Proceedings, and produce a Copy of the loquifition itfelf, that the was found to have drowned herfelf.

Mr. Bat. Hat/ell, Mr. Gemper, That is no Evidence, if it be produc'd in order to contradict what these Wirneffes have faid, that have been examin'd for the King; but if you will prove, that they have foorn otherwife before the Coroner than they now do, then you fay fomething, otherwife the Coroner's Inqueft fignifies nothing as to the prefent queftion. Mr. Comper, Call Thomas Wall, I am loth to be troublefome, but if you pleafe to favour me, I defire to how of them, whether they do admit there was an Inquisition, and that the was found Non Compos Mentis, and did kill berfelf. Mr. Jones, We do admit it.

Jurymen, We defire it may be read.

Mir. Bar. Hatfell, Way. won't you believe what they agree to on both fides.

Juryman, If they do agree fo, I am farisfy'd.

Mr. Comper, Thomas Wall, Pray do you give an account of what you know of Mrs. Scent's being taken up. Wall, My Lord, I was one of the Jury that view'd her at the Place where the was laid, when the was taken up, and there was no marks upon her, only a little mark about her Ear, and fomething near her Collar-bone, that was all I fee upon her.

Mr. Comper, Do you know any thing of any Surgeons being employ'd to view those Marks ?

Wall, ~y Lord, we had feveral Perfons that came before us that we examin'd, we had a diffute concerning these marks what might effect them; and we defired Mr. Dimfdale and Mr. Camlinto fee them, that we might be the better fatisfied, and they both went down and view'd the Body after it was brought down to bus, Steat's, and they came back both of them, and Mr. John Dimfdale told us, that thefe marks were no more than were ufual in fuch Cafes, and it was only the Stagnation of Blood. Mr. Comper, Was it the old man, or the young man? Mr. Comper Ufual did he fay? Wall, I can tell the very words, I have them writ down.

Wall, I can tell the very words, Thave them writ down. Mr. Comper, Pray do fo. for he has deny'd it here.

Wall. (Looks on his Paper) here tis. Mr. Dinfdale and Mr. Camlin came to us, and Mr. Dimfdale f ake and faid thefe marks are usual, or might be usual, or if they were marks, it was no more than was usual in such Cafes; and that it was the Stagnation of Blood.

Mr. Cowper, Now you have your Notes in your Hand, pray what did Sarah Walker fay to you as to the time I went from Mrs. Stout's ?

R

Wall ..

Wall, Sarab Walker faid it was about 11 a Clock when the took up Coals to warm the Bed, but the fam the could not, nor did not know when Mr. Comper went out, for the warm'd the Bed, and Mr. Comper noc coming up, the took up fome more Coals and tarried a little lorger, and no body coming up, the went down, and found Mr. Comper was gone, and the look'd into the Parlour and her Mittrefs was gone. Mr. Bar. Harfell, The Woman faid the fame thing. Mr. Comper, 'T is neceffary in this particular as to the time. Mr. Bar. Harfell, the told you the Clocks did differ. (Then Mr. Bamden was called.)

Mr. Comper, Well. what do you know of the taking up of Mrs. Stont ?

Bewden, I went with the reft of the Neighbours to view her, and I did perceive it was Mrs. Sarah Steat's Body, the' fome queftion'd it; I do believe I was the fecond Perfon that diffeover'd it was fhe ; and, my Lord, I did fee a great deal of Froth that came out of her mouth and noitrils. Mr. Comper, Did you go about to wipe it away ?

Bowden, No, but fome other Perfon did, it came out in a great quantity.

Mr. Jones, How much do you call a great quantity ?

Bowden, Her mouth and noftrils were very full of it. Mr. Joner, Was not her mouth thut? Bowden, I did not obferve that. Mr. Comper. How long had the lain there before you came? Bowden, I be ieve I was there in half an hour, as fron as I heard the report of it I went down.

Mr. Cowper, Call Mr. Shute. Shute, Sir I was fummon'd upon the Jury, upon the Coroner's Inqueft, and I perceiv'd when I was there, that the fame fluff worked out of Mrs. Staut's Noftrils as worked out of the Child's.

Mr. Var. Hatfell, What Child is that you fpeak of, is it he Child that was drowned in the fame ace as Mrs. Steut was? Share, Yes. place as Mrs. Stout was ?

Mr. Comper, My Lord, I am very tender how I take up your Lordthip's time, and therefore I will not trouble you with any more Witneffes upon this Head, but with your Lordhip's Leave, I will p occeed to call fome Phylicians of note and eminence, to confront the learning of the Gentlemen on the other fide -Dr. Sleane, you were in Court when thefe Gentlemen del vered their Opinion concerning Mrs. Sting's having no water in her, I defire you would give your Opinion in that matter.

Dr. Sleane, I have not heard them very particularly or diffinely, becaufe of the great Growd, forme of them I have : Cafes of this kind are very uncommon, and none of them have fallen directly under my own Knowledge. As to my Opinion of drowning, it is plain, that if a great quantity of Water be fwallowed by the Gullet into the Stomsch, it will not fuffocate nor drown the Perfon Druckards, who fwallow freely a great deal of Liquor, and those who are forced by the Civil Law to drink a very great quantity of water, which in giving the question (as 'tis call'd) is pour'd into them by way of torture to make them confels Crimes, have no fuffocation or drowning happen to them : But on the other hand, when any quantity comes into the Wind-pipe, fo as it does hinder or intercept the infpiration, or coming in of the Air, which is neceffary for refpiration or breathing, the Perlon is fuffocated. Such a fmall quantity will do it fometimes in Preferiptions, when People have been very weak, or forced to take Medicines, I have observed fome Spoonfuls in that Condition (if it went the the wrong way) to have choaked or fuffocated the Perfon. I take drowning in a great measure to be thus, and tho' it is very likely when one ftruggles he may (to fave himfelf from being cheak'd) fwallow fome quantity of Water, yet that is not the caufe of his Death, but that which goes into the wind-pipe and Lungs ; whe-ther a Perfon comes dead or alive into the water, I believe fome quantity will go into the wind-pipe, and I believe without force after Death little will get into the Stomach, becaufe for that it fhould, fwallowing is neceffary, which after Death cannot be done.

Mr, Bar. Hatfen, Peay Doctor I understand you fay this, that in cafe a Perfon is drown'd, that there may be but little water in the Stomach ? Dr. Steame, That it is accidental, my Lord.

Mr. Bar. Hatfell, But what do you fay to this, if there had been water in the Body, would it not have putrefied the Parts after it had lain fix weeks ?

Dr Sleane, My Lord, I am apt to think it would have putrefied the Stomach lefs than the Lungs, becaufe the Stomach is a part of the Body that is contriv'd by nature partly to receive Liquids, but the contrivance of the Lungs is only fed by the receiving of Air, they being of a fp angy nature the water might fink more into them than the Stomach ; but I believe it might putrefie there too after fome time. I am apt to think that when a Body is buried under Ground, according to the depth of the Grave, and difference of the weather and foil, the fermentation may be greater or leffer, and that according to the feveral kinds of meats or liquids in the Stomach, the putrefact on will likewife vary, fo that it feems to be very uncertsin.

Mr. Peron Hatfell, But when they are in a Coffin, how is it then?

Dr. Sloane, No doubt there will be a fermentation more or lefs, according as the Air comes, more or lefs to the Body. Indeed it may be otherwife, where the Air is wholly fhut out, which is fuppoled to be the way of Embalming, or p eferving dead Bodies of late, without the ufe of any Spices, which is thought in a great measure to be brought about by the closeness of the Coffin, and hindring of the Air from coming into the Body.

Mr. Comper Is it poffible in your Judgment for any Water to pais the Thorax ?

Dr. Sloane, I believe 'tis hardly poffible that any should go from the Wind-pipe into the Cavity of the Thorax, without great voilence and force, for there is a Membrane that covers the outlide of the Lungs, that will hinder the Water from paffing thro' it into any part without them. Mr. Gamper, Now do you think it poffible to find Water in a drowned Body after fix Weeks time ?

Dr. Slame, I am apt to think if there was any quantity in the Lungs, the fpongine's of the part would fuck up fome part of it. As to the Stomach, I have not known it try'd, but 'tis like if there was a great Fermentation, a great deal of it would rife up in vapours or fteams, and go off that way.

Mr. Comper, Dr. Garth, I can't tell whether you were in Court when the Surgeons who are Witneffes for the King gave their Evidence ? Dr. Garth, Yes, I was.

Mr. Comper, Then I defire you, Sir, to eive your Opinion as to those Particulars. Dr. Garth. I observed in this Tryal the first Gentleman call'd for the King that spoke to this matter was Mr. Coaffworth. He faith he was sent for to open her, upon an aspersion of her being faid to be with Child. I agree with him in what he fpeaks to that Point, but muft differ with him where he infers the was murther'd, because he found no great quantity of Water in her, as also her Head extremely mort fy'd, but not her Lungs. (Lungs and Bowels I think were us'd promife toufly) Now, my Lord, as to the matter of putrefaction, I think 'tis not much material whether there be any Water or no in the Cavities of the Body, if water Would halten Putrefaction, it would do it as well in the Lungs as otherwife; there is always fome Water in the Lymphaducts there, the breaking of which may be one occa-fion of Catarrhs. As to what relates to the putrefaction of the Head, it may bappen from a floppage of the refluent Blood, which is flaid there in a great quantity thro' the fuffocation in the Water, or from the neatness of the Brain, which is observ'd often to mortify firft. The next was Mr. Dimfdale, (I would speak to them all in order if my memory would permit) I think he was of the fame Opinion with Mr. Coat/worth ; he laid the firefs of his fulpicion upon the mortification of the Head, which I think is not at all material, no more than what they infer from her floating : It being impossible the Body should have floated, unless it had refted, or had been entangled amongst the Stakes, because all dead Bodies, (I believe) fall to the bottom, unless they be prevented by some extraordinary Tumour. My Lord, we have not only Philosophy, but Experiments for this. The Wit-nesses all agree the was found upon her fide, which to suppose her to float in this Posture, is as hard to be conceived as to imagine a Shilling should fall down and reft upon its edge rather than its broadfide ; or that a deal Board fhould rather float edge-ways than otherwife ; therefore t is plain fhe was entangled, or elfe the Posture had been otherwife.

As to the quantity of Water, I do not think it necessary it should be very great. I must own the Water will force infelf into all Cavities where there is no refutance. I believe when the threw herfelf in, the might not ftruggie to fave herfelf, and by confequence not fup up much water. Now there's no direct Passage into the Stomach but by the Gullet, which is contracted or purs'd up by a Muscle in nature of a Sphindter; for if this Passage was always open like that of the Wind-pipe, the weight of the Air, would force itself into the Stomach, and we thould be fensible of the greates Inconveniencies. I doubt not but that fome Warer fell into her Lungs, because the weight of it, would force it fell down; but if we cofider the Wind pipe with its ramifications, as one Cylinder, the calculation of its Contents will not amount to above 23 or 24 folid Inches of Water, which is not a Pint, and which might imperceptibly work and fall out. I remember I offer'd aWager at Garamays Coffee-houfe, to a Gentleman here in Court.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Pray Doctor tell us your Opinion as to what the Seaman faid, and alfo to what Dr. Sleane faid, whether Water in the Body will putrify it ? Dr Garch, I fay not, for in fome places they keep Flefh Mest from corrupting by preferving it in Water, and 'is well known, 't will putrify lefs fo, than when expos'd to Air. Mr. Baron Hatfell, But what do you fay as to the finking of dead Bodies in water ?

Dr. Garth, If a ftrangled Body be thrown into the water, the Lungs being fill'd with Air, and a Cord left about the Neck, 'tis probable it may float, becaufe of the included Air, as a Bladder would, but here is neither Cord, nor any Mark of it, nor nothing but a common Stagnation.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, But you don't obferve my Queltion, the Seaman faid, that those that die at Sea, and are thrown over-board, if you don't tie a weight to them they will not fink, what fay you to that? Dr. Garih, My Lord, no doubt in this they're miftaken. The Seamen are a fuperflitious People, they fancy that whiftling at Sea will occasion a Tempest; I must confeds. I never faw any Body thrown overboard, but I have tried fome Experiments on other dead Animals, and they will certainly fink ; we have try'd this fince we came hither. Now, my Lord, I think we have reafon to fufpect the Seaman's Evi-dence, for he faith, that threefcore Pounds of Iron is allow'd to fink the dead Bodies, whereas fix or feven Pounds would do as well. I cannot think the Commiffioners of the Navy guilty of fo ill Husband-ry, but the delign of tying weights to their dead Bodies is to prevent their floating at all, which other-wife would happen in fome few Day, therefore what I fay is this, that if these Gentlemen had found a Cord, or the Print of it, about the Neck of this unfortunate Gentlewoman, or any wound that had occasioned her Death, they might then have faid fomething.

Mr. Comper, Do you apprehend that any quantity of Water, can enter into the Cavity of the Thorax? Dr. Garth, 'Tis impossible there should, till the Lungs be quite rotten, there is no way but by the Lurgs, which are invefted with to ftrong a Membrane, that we cannot force Breath with our Blowpipes thro' it, and there's a great Providence in fuch a texture, for if there were any large Pores in this Membrane, the Air would pass thro' it into the Cavity of the Thorax, and prevent the delatation of the Lungs, and by confequence there would be an end of breathing.

Mr. Comper, Dr. Marly, Pray be pleafed to give your Opinion of these Matters. Dr. Morley, Those which feem to be Questions of greatest moment, are, whether there was a necessity for this sody (if drowned) to have a great quantity of water in it, and whether Bodies thrown dead into the Water float : To the first, I andwer politively, that there is no absolute necessity that the should have a great quantity of water in her ; and I think the question Mr. Comper ask'd Dr. Configuret, whether he had like to been drowned by accident or defign. fuits with my affertion ; for if this Gentlewoman did voluntarily drown herfelf, the then in all likelihood threw herfelf into the Water with a refolution of keeping ber Breath for a fpeedy Suffocation, and then if upon the first endeavour for refpiration (which naturally muft be) the drew into her Lungs two Ounces of Water, it was the fame thing to drowning of her, as if there had been two Tun. We fee the fame thing done by Divers, in order to drowning of her, as it there had been two tun. We tee the tame thing done by Divers, in order to fave themfelves, as it happened to this unfortunate Gentlewoman, in her defign of defiroying herfelf. If a Diver before he comes to the furface of Water, should fo far mistake his Power of holding his Breath, that he should be forced to endeavour refpiration, the little water he drew into his Lungs by this Attempt to refpire, may drown him. We last Night drowned a Dog, and afterwards diffected him, and found not a spoonful of Water in his Stomach, and I believe about two Ounces in his Lungs; while we were doing this, we drowned another, and he lay at the Bottom and did not float ; no more would he have done, if he had been hang'd before thrown into the Water; we took him up, and upon open-ing him, we found much about the fame quantity of Water in his Lungs, or little or none in his Sto-mach, they both froth'd at Nofe and Mouth, because the Water coming into the little Bladders of the Lungs, and there meeting with Air, a commotion arole between the Water and Air, which cauled the froth. To the fecond Queflion. I think if Bodies new killed fwim, 'cis by accident, for the reafon that Bodies fwim, is becaufe by putrefaction they ratify, by ratifaction they grow lighter, which brings them to the Top of the Water.

Mr. Comper, I defire to know if any Man of Skill in Prudence, would give his Opinion ? -

Mr. Baron Hatfell, That is not a proper Queftion. Mr. Comper, Then I will ask it thus, do you think, Doctor, it is to be known fix Weeks after, if a Perfon was drowned ? Dze

Dr. Morley, I think it is morally imposible.

Mr. Comper, Can there be any Water in the Thorax ? Dr. Merley, Ey an Impolihume, or fome voilence to Nature poffibly, but I think no otherwife.

Mr. Comper, Dr. Westlaften, What is your Opinion if a Perfon be drowned, whether it can be difcovered fix Wecks after?

Dr. Woellafton, My Lord, I think it is impoffible to be know, for if there had been never fo much Water in the Body at first, it could not lie there to long, but must of necessity have forced its way out. We fee in Perfons that die of Dropfies, that the Water will work itself out (and fometimes burst the Body) before it is buried. And I am fure, if it do foin Dropfies where there are no visible Passages for it to get out at, it must do to much more in drowned Perfons, where the water lies only in the Sto-mach and Guts, and has nothing to hinder its working out, when it ferments, as it always doth.

Mr. Comper, Have you ever made any Experiments in that Nature, Doctor ?

Dr. Woodafton I have made no Experiments, but I have a very particular Inftance.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, That is very well, pray let us hear it, Doctor. Dr. Woodlaffen, My Lord, about 3 Years fince, I faw 2 Men that were drowned out of the fame Boat. They were taken up the next Day after they were drowned. One of them was indeed prodigioully fwell'd, fo much that his Cloaths were built in teveral places of his Sides and Arms, and his Stockings in the Seams; his Hands and Fingers were ftrangely extended, his Face was almost all over black; but the other was not in the least fwell'd in any part, nor difcolour'd. He was as lank, I believe, as ever he was in his Life-time, and there was not the leaft figs of any Water in him, except the watry Froth at his Mouth and Noftrils. My Lord this I faw mytel, and ook very particular notice of it.

Mr. Jones, Did you fee thefe Bodies taken out of the Wateryourfelf, Doct or ?

Mr. Jones, How long had they been taken out when you faw them ? Dr. Hoslafton, No, Sir. Dr. Woodafton, I enquired, and to the best of my memory, it was that fame Day. Mr. Baron Hatfell, but what do you think Doctor, of a Perfon being drowned without taking in any Water ?

. Dr. Wordafon. My Lord, what is taken in is, I believe, chiefly at the furface of the Water, when they open their Mouths for Breath, and the Water that rufhes in they are fore'd to drink down, to keep it from their Lungs But when the Head is quite under Water, I don't think it is poffible for any quantity to get down into the Stomach, becaufe it being breath they open for, the very first Water they take in would of nece flity fill the Lungs, and when the Breath is ftopt I don't fee how they can fwallow.

Mr. Comper, Dr. Gelfrop, what is your Opinion of this matter ?

Dr. Gelftrop, I don't think they can make any Judgment of Perfons being drowned after fix Weeks Mr. Comper, Can any water set into the Thorax ? time.

Dr. Gelfirop, No, not unlefs the Lungs be putrefied. Mr. Comper, Is a great quantity of water neceffary to Perfons dying by drowning ?

Dr. Gelfroz, No, only to much as may hinder refpiration. Mr. Comper, Now, my Lord, I would call Mr. William Comper, and because of his Name I must acquaint your Lordfhip, that he is not at all related to me, that I fhould be proud to own him if he were fo, he is a Man of great Learning, and I believe most People admit him the best Anatomia in Europe.

Mr. Comper, Pray will you give your Opinion of this Matter Mr. Comper, Pray will you give your Opinion of this Matter Mr. William Comper, My Lord, I hope what I shall fay, will not be suspected because I am of the fame Name, for this Gentleman is an utter Stranger to me. Mr. Baron Harfell, Pray, Mr. Comper, without any Apology, give your Opinion concerning Perfons drowned, and how 'tis with them in their inward Parts? Mr. William Comper, I give you a flort account, I hope to your Satisfaction too, my Lord. I will not only speak from Reason, but give you the Teltimony of the Experiments I have made upon this Occa-tion. My Lord. I heard it made a mighty Argument, that this Person had no Water that General to fion. My Lord, I heard it made a mighty Argument, that this Perfon had no Water that feemed to flow out, but the Witneffes agree there was a Froth Now, my Lord, it was not reafonable to expect any thing but Froth. My Lord, had fhe been thrown into the Water, and made her utmost efforts which fhe would then have done to have fav'd her fell, and been often buoyed up to the Top of the water, no doubt but fhe would have fwallowed a confiderable quantity of Water before fhe had been drowned; and it may be expected to flow from her, if her Head had been inclined downwards

This is a Truth that no Man can deny who is acquainted with any thing of this nature, that when the Head of an Assimal is under Water, the first time it is obliged to infpire (or draw in Air) the Water will receffacily flow into its Lungs, as the Air would do if it were out of the Water ; which quantity of Water (if the Dime fions of the Wind-pipe and its branches in the Lungs be confidered) will not amount to three I ches fquare, which is about three Ounces of Water. Nor is a greater quantity of Water in the Wind-pipe neceffary to chook any Perfon, if we do but reflect what an ebullition is caufed by its meeting with the Air, which remain'd in the Lungs, whereby a fmall quantity of Water is converted into a froth, and the Channel of the Wind-pipe, and thuse of the B onchia are filled with it; info-much that no Air can enter the Lungs, for the office of respiration. After a Suffocation is thus commenced (I am apt to think) all regular animal Actions are perverted, and particularly that of fwallowing (or deglutition) and what Water flows into the Lungs at the inftant, or after this Suffocation, is from its own weight ; which is more or lefs as the Lody is farther under, or nearer the furface of the Water. My Lord, I don't fpeak this by way of conjecture or Hypothefis but I have made Experiments, which have foggefted what I here offer. I fhall by the bye tell you how falacious the first Experiment was, when I proposed to fatisfy my felf, whether a dead Body would float in the Water; it happened, that a Spaniel, that had a great deal of long Hair was hanged for this purpose, which I found fwim on the furface of the Water; but when I confidered that his hair might buoy him up, I cauled another Dog, which had fhorter and lefs hair to be hanged, and put into the Water, which (agreable to what I had always con-ceived of a human Body) fink directly to the Bottom. In order to fatisfy my felf what quantity of Water was neceffary to enter the Body of an Animal, and caufe a fuffocation in Water, I caufed three Dogs when slive to be fuddenly plunged uncer. Water, till-they were flifled. one was before I left London, the other two I made the Experiment on laft Night, in the prefence of Dr. Sloane and Dr. Morley, and we could not compute there was more than three Ounces of Water in their Lungs, and none that we could rceive in their Ston achs.

Dead Bodies neceffarily fink in Water, if no diften ion of their Parts buoy them up ; this diffention fometimes happens before Death, at other times foon after, and in Bodies that are drowned after they lie under Water : This enfargement of them is caufed by a rarefaction of the humours within the Cavities, and the Body neceffarily rifes to the furface of the Water. Your Lordinip may infer this from what the Seaman told you, and the great weight they use to falten to their Bodies that died of Difeafes, was not of fuch use to fink them, as it was to prevent their floating afterwards; fo that the weight was neceffary for those that were kill'd, as well as those that died of Diseases.

It is to commonly known that the Contents in the Stomach of a dead Body are difcharg'd by the Mouth and Nostrils fo foon as it begins to ferment, and the Belly becomes diffended, that tis no wonder that water, if the greatest quantity that had been in the Stomach, or any thing elfe that was fluid, must be forced from thence fix Weeks after Death.

My Lord, I can't but think it ridiculous to expect Water in the Cavity of the Thorax ; it is fuch a conceit as nothing in Nature can account for : Unlefs the Lungs had fuffered fome Apolihumation, or the like, whereby the water may pass their outward Membranes into that Cavity. Mr. Comper, With your Lordship's favour, I now think it a proper time to make this Observation.

The Witneffes that have given Evidence for the King, do fay, they believe fhe was not drowned, but they have not pretended to fay how the died otherwife. Mr. Baron Hatfed, That is very true. they have not preten led to fay how the died otherwife. Mr. Baron Haifed, That Mr. Camper, Dr. Gred, I defire you will be pleafed to give an Account of this Matter.

Dr Greil, My Lord, I have little to fay in this Affair, the Phyficians that have been examined already, having made it out that Perfons who are drowned may have but little Water in their Bodies ; but I have taken what pains I could upon fo fhort warning, and I will tell you the Opinion of feveral eminent Authors. My own Opinion is, That a very fmall quantity of Water, not exceeding three Ounces, is fufficient to drown any Body; and I believe that the reafon of the Suffication, or of any Perfor's being fliffed under Water, is from the intercepting of the Air, that the Perfon can't breathe, without which he cannot live Now, my Lord, I will give you the Opinion of feveral antient Authors.

which he cannot live Now, my Lord, I will give you the Opinion of feveral antient Authors. Mr. Baron Heifel, Pray Doftor tell us your own Obfervations. Dr. Grell, My Lord, it must be Reading as well as a Man's own Experience, that will make any one a Phyfician; for without the reading of Books of that Art, the Art itfelf cannot be sttain'd to; be-fides, my Lord, I humbly conceive, that in fuch a difficult Cale as this, we ought to have a great defe-rence for the Reports and Opinions of learned Men: Neither do I fee any reafon why I thould not quote the Fathers of my Proteffion in this Cale, as well as you Gentlemen of the long Robe quote Coke upon Littletes, in others; but I thall not trouble the Court long, I thall only infit upon what Ambrefe Parcy relates in his Chapter of Renunciations. He was chief Surgeon to Francis the Firth, employ'd by him in most of his Sieges and Battles against the Emperor Charles the Firth, and confequently must ob-ferve, and could not be ignorant of fuch like Calualities in fuch grear Bodies of Men. He tells us, that ferve, and could not be ignorant of fuch like Cafualties in fuch grear Bodies of Men. He tells us, that the certain Sign of a Man's being drowned, is an appearance of Froth about his Noftrils and Mouth. Now, my Lord, I think that every one of the King's Evidence obfervid is in the prefent Cafe, and a Word, Guera that the four particular the Men's which call on the set of the formation of the formation of the four particular the Men's being drowned. Woman fwore, that the faw her purge at the Nofe; which could not be as he declares, if the Perfon had been firangled or otherwife kill'd before.

As to the quantity of Water requisite to drown a Perfon, I believe that three Ounces, or lefs, is e-nough; to wit, as much as will fill the Wind pipe, and fo flop the breating of the Perfon drowning. I'm not now to difcant upon matter of Fa&, whether fhe drowned herfelf; but my firm Opinion is, that the was drowned; for though fometimes, not always, there is Water found in the Bodies of fuch Perfons, yet wherever it be, befides the Lungs, it is fuperfluous, as to this end, and accidental upon voilent Strugglings.

Mr. Comper, 1 defire Mr. Harrist may be ask'd what Obfervatious he has made concerning this matter. Mr. Harrist, My Lord, when I was a Surgeon in the Fleet, I made it always my Obfervation when we threw Men over-board that were kill'd, fome of them fwam and fome funk; and I remember particularly when the Sandwich was burnt, we faw abundance leap off from on board, and they funk di-rectly, but in a little time I faw fome fwim again.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, When a dead Body is thrown over-board, does it fink or fwim ?

Mr. Harrist, I always obferv'd that it did fisk ; when we were in the Channel, and in time of Peace, we never threw any over-board but we put fome weight to them, but it was not to make them fink, but for decency fake, that they might not be driven to Shore when they began to float.

Mr. Comper, I defire that Mr. Bartlet may be ask'd to the fame purpofe.

Mr. Bartlet, I have been in feveral of the King's Ships of War that have been difabled and forced to lie by in feveral Engagements between the French and English, and I never faw any Bodies float, either of the Men that were kill'd in our Ship, or in the Ships that have been near us. I have not feen a Fody upon the furface of the Water.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Another Witnefs faid, that after an Engagement he faw them fwiming.

Mr. Barsles, I can't tell what he faw, my Lord, but what I fay I am ready to make Oath of.

Mr. Comper, Dr. Camlin, will you pleafe to give my Lord and the Jury an Account whether you were employ'd by the Coroner's Inqueft to view the Body of Mrs. Stent, after the was drowned, and the marks upon it, and tell my Lord your Opinion of it. Mr. Camlin, I was fent for by the Coroner and Jury that fat upon the Body of Mrs. Sarah Stont, the Coroner being then at her Mother's Houfe, and the Coroner defir'd Mr. Dimfdals and me to go and take notice of the Marks upon her Neck, and upon her Breaft; we view'd all about, and perceiv'd a Mark under her left Ear, we look'd to fee if there was any Contufion, and we perceiv'd a fettlement of Blood upon her Breaft, and another upon her Arm ; and when we came back Mr. Dimfdale made the Report (I flood by him at that time) that it was only a common Settlement.

Mr. Comper, Pray Mr. Camlin, was the Spot above or below the Collar-bone ? Mr. Camlin, Below the Collar-bone.

Mr. Cowper, What did Mr. Fohn Dimfdale fay then corcerning this matter ? Mr. Camlin, I underftood that he was of Opinion that it was only a common Stagnation of Blood that happens in the Cafe of drowned People. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Did he fay fo to the Jury ? Mr. Camlin, Mr. Dimfdale fpake for us both, and I underftood him that it was a Stagnation that did commonly happen to drowned People, and that was my Opinion of it too. Mr. Comper. And that you agreed to be your Report? Mr. Comper. Pray, Mr. Comlin, Was you prefent when the Child that was drowned in the fame place was taken up?

G

Mr.

Mr. Camlin, Yes, it was taken up fome time after near the fame place, as I was told, and there was more and greater Signs of the Stagnation of Blood on the Body of this Child than on the Body of Mrs. Stone, the Child's Face was black and difcolour'd. Mr. Bar. Hatfes, How old was the Child? Mr. Camlin, Between 10 and 11, as near as I could guefs.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Had Mr. Stout any Signs of being ftrangled when you faw her first ?

Mr. Camlin, Nothing st all that I could differn-Mr. Camlin, Nothing st all that I could differn-Mr. Camper, My Lord, I will give you no more trouble upon this Head; I fhall go now to the next thing open'd, and fhall prove fubitantially that this Gentlewoman is not only more to be fufpedted to have muder'd herfelf than to be murder'd by any Body, but 'tis almost a certainty, that the was the caufe of her own Death. Mr. Firmin I would begin withsl if he be here. (But he not prefently appearing)

Mr. Comper, Then, my Lord, if you pleafe, I will defire Mr. Bowd in the mean time to give your Lordfhip an account of what he knows of the Melancholy of this Gentlewoman. Mr. Bewd, 'Twas much about this time 12 months, I had fome Eufinets in London, and the fent to me to know when I fhould go to London, and I waited upon her before I went, and fhe defired me to do fome Bufinels for her, and when I return'd I acquainted her with what I had done, and fitting together in the Hall, I ask'd her, what's the matter with you? Saith I there is fomething more than ordinary, you feem to be melancholy : Saith fhe, you are come from London, and you have heard fomething or other : Said I, I believe you are in Love ; in Love ! faid fhe, Yes faith I, Capid that little Boy hath fituck you home : She took me by the Hand, truly faid the I muft confers it, but I did this k I thous never be guilty of fuch a Folly, and I anfwer'd again, I admire that fhould make you uneafy; if the Perfon be not of that For-tune as you are, you may if you love him, make him happy and yourfelf eafy. That can't be faith fhe, the World shall not fay I change my Rel gion for a Husband; and some time after I had been at London, having bougit fome India Goods, the came to my Shop, and bought some of me for a Gown and after-wards the came to pay me for it, and I ask'd her, how do you like it, have you made it up? No faid the, and I believe I shall never live to wear it.

nd I believe I shall never live to wear it. Mr. Comper Pray how long is it fince ? Mr. Bowd, It was about February or January before her Death, I ask'd her why she did not come to my House oftner, the faid the had left off all Company and apply'd herfelf to reading, and Company was indifferent to her.

Mr. Couper, Mr. Firmin, will you pleafe to inform my Lord and the Jury what you know of Mrs. Sarah Stout's being melancholy ?

Mr. Firmin, I did obferve about three quarters of a Year ago that fhe was melancholy ; I can't fay that fhe acknowledg'd herfelf to be fo, but I have charg'd her with it.

Mr. Comper, Did you believe the was melancholy when you charg'd her with it

Mr. Firmin Yes I did. Mr. Comper, Mrs. Bendy, if you pleafe to inform? the Court what you know of this Gentlewoman's being melancholy.

Nirs. Bendy, Sir I can fay the always acknowledg'd herfelf extremely melancholy, and when I have ask'd her how fhe did, fhe faid pretty well in Heatch, but fo much troubled with melancholy, the could not tell what to do with herfelf. Mr. Comper. Did fhe tell you any thing particularly ? t tell what to do with herfelf. Mr. Comper, Did fhe tell you any thing particularly ? Mrs. Bendy, It diforder'd her fo fhe faid, that fhe had rather have cholen Sickneis than fo much dif-

Mr. Comper, Have you any thing more to recollect ? order in her mind.

Mrs. Bendy, Nothing but what I heard from Mrs. Comper.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, How old was this Gentlewoman?

Mr Bendy, About 25.

Mr. Comper, Call Mrs. Jane Low, Mariha Grub, and Mrs Comper. Mrs. Low, Pray do you inform my Lord and Jury, what you know concerning the Melancholly of Mrs. Sarah Stout, and when you first obferv'd it. Mrs. Low, It was a Week before Whitfuntide was Twelvmonth. obferv'd it-

Mr. Comper What did fhe fay then? Mrs. Low, She often complain'd to me that fhe was very melancholy and uncafy, one time particularly, hirs. Low, she dited compared to her that he was very metanenoisy and unearly, one time particularly, as we were walking in the Fields, I ask'd her the occsfion of it, and the told me that was a Secret; but the faid fhe led a very melancholy Life; faith I, I am apt to believe you are in Love, the did not dif-own it, and with a little more fpeaking the own'd the was; I ask'd her who the Perfon was, the faid that the uld be a Secret, but it would end her Days; faith I, a Woman of your Fortune may command any body, the thook her Head and faid no; perhaps, faith I, he may not be a Quaker, and you may be afraid of difobliging your Mother; but if you tell your Mother that your Life depends upon it; your Mother (rather than lofe her only Child) will confent to it; fhe faid, no, it was a Perfon fhe could Mother trather than lote her only childy will control will control to the land, no, it was a period the control not marry, and fhock her Head and look'd very melancholy. Mr Comper, When was this? Mis. Low, This was the Week before Whitfuntide, and in Whitfun-Week fhe faw me often, and faid fhe would take her full fwing of Melancholy when her Mother was away, and fhe us'd to lie a ded that Mr. Comper, Have you obferv'd any Melancholy in her fince ? veral times. Mr. Comper. Do you remember any thing of an intermitting Fever? Week.

Mis. Lows Yes, at feveral times. Mrs Low, Yes, the told me her Melancholy had occafion'd an intermitting Fever, and I mention'd Dr. Ealer to her, and the faid her Diftemper lay in her mind, and not in her body, and the wou'd take nothing, and the fooner it did kill her the better.

Me, Comper, Did fhe fay any thing of her difposition to Reading? Mrs. Low, She faid nothing delighted her now, neither Reading nor any thing elfe. Mr. Comper, My Lord, Sarah Walker when I ask'd her if fhe did not observe the melarcholy of her Miftrefs, and whether fhe had not faid that her Miftrefs had been melancholy, denied that the had faid fo pray have you heard her fay any thing to that purpole?

Mrs. Low, I have often ask'd her how her Miffreis did, and the would anfwer, very much indifpos'd Mr. Comper, Mrs. Comper, what do you know of Mrs. Stout's melancholy. but not otherwife. Mr. Comper, My Lord, this is my Brother's Wife.

Mrs. Comper, About Spring was Twelvemonth fhe came up to Lindent ; and I believe it was not lefs than once or twice a Week I faw her, and I never had an opportunity to be an Hour alone with her at any time, but I perceiv'd fomerhing of her melancholy; I have ask'd her the Reafon of it feveral times, and fometimes the feem'd to diflike her Profeffion, being a Quaker and fomtimes the would fay that the was uneafy at fomething that lay upon her Spirits which the thou'd never out-live, and that the, fhould never be well while the was in this World ; fometimes I have endeavour'd to perfwade her out of it ferioufly, and fometimes by railery, and have faid, are you fute you fail be better in another world? and particularly I remember I have faid to her, I believe you have wr. Marshall in your Head, either have him or do not trouble yourfelf about him, make yourfelf either eafy one way or another; and the hath faid.

faid, no, in an indifferent way, I cannot make myfelf eafy ; then I have faid marry him, no, faith fae; I can't. Sometimes with Company the would be diverted, and had frequently a way of throwing her Hands, and thew great diffurbance and uneafinefs. This time Twelvemonths, at the Summer Affizes, I was here fix days, and I faw her every day, and one time among other Difcourfe, the told me the had received great diffurbance from one Theophilas, a Waterman and a Quaker, who coming down to old Mrs Stour, that was then lame, fhe had gather'd about 20 or 30 People together to hear him preach, and the faid he directed his Difcourfe to her, and exafperated her at that rate, that fae had thoughts of feeing no Body again ; and faid the took it henioufly ill to be fo us'd, and particularly that he told her, that her Mother's failing outwardly in the Eleth, thould be a Warning that the did not fall inwardly, and fuch canting Stuff as the call'd it ; and the faid that Theophilus had to us'd her that the was afhamed to thave her Head. Another time, the fame Week, the had a Fever, and the faid the was in great Hopes it would end her days, and that the neglected herfelf in doing those Things that were necelfary for her Health, in hopes it would carry her off, and often with'd hertelf dead ; another time, which I think was the laft time I faw her, was at my Sifter's Lodgings, and I fent for her to drink a Dith of Tea with us, and the came in a great tofs and melancholy; faith I, what is the matter, you are always in this odd Limour? Saith the, I can't help it, I thall never be otherwife; faith my Sifter, for God's take keep fach Thoughts out of your Head as you have had, don't talk any more of throwing youtfelf out of a Window; faith the, I may thank God that ever I faw your Face, otherwife I had done it, but I can't promite I thall not do it.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, What is your Name, Madam ? Mr. Comper. 'I's my Brother's Wife, my Lord. I defice Mrs. Teler may give an account what the knows as to her being melancholy.

Mrs. Teter, My Lord, the was once to fee me, and the look'd very melancholy, and I aik'd her what was the matter, and the faid fomething hid ver'd her that Day, and I ask'd her the Caufe of it, and the ftop'd a little while, and then faid the would drown herfelf out of the way. Mr Baron Hatfell, How long ago was this? Mrs. Toler, About three

Mrs. Toler, About three quarters of a Year a ago John Stout, I defire to know whether the has always faid fo, or not told another Story ?

Mis. Toler, I told you no Story, it may be I did not fay fo much to you, but I faid the talk'd fomething of drowning. I have been with her when Mr. Grouper's Convertation and Name has been men-tion'd, and the faid the kept but little Company, that fometimes the went to Mrs. Low's, and that the kept none but civil modelt Company and that Mr. Grouper was a civil modelt Gentleman, and that the had nothing to fay againft him. Mr. Comper, This is Mrs. Elizabeth Toler, my Lord. Mrs. E Toler, My Lord, fhe came to fee me fome time after Chriftmas, and feem'd not fo cheatful as fhe us'd to be; faith I, What is the matter? Why are you not fo merry as you us'd to be? Why do you not come often to fee me? Saith fhe, I don't think to go abroad fo much as I us'd to do, faid, it would be as much a Rwity to fee her go abroad, as to fee the Sun fhine by Night.

Mr. Comper Mrs. Grub what do you know concerning Mrs Steat's pulling out a Letter at her Brother, Mr. John Steat's? Give an account of it, and what the faid upon that Occalion.

Mrs. Grub, I have a Daughter that lives at Guernfey, and the fent me a Letter, and I pray'd Mrs Sarah Stone to read the Letter, and while the was reading of it I cry'd; faith the. Why do you cry ? Said I, becaufe my Child is fo far off; faid the, if I live till Winter is over, I will go over Sea as far as I can caule my Child is to far off; faid the, if I live the writter is over, I will go over Sea as far as I can for the Land. Mr. Baron Hatfed, What was the occation of her ifaying fo? Mrs. Grab. I was washing my Mafter's Study, Mrs. Sarah Steat came in, and I had a Letter from my Daughter at Gaenify, and I pray'd Mrs. Sarah Steat to read it, and the read my Letter, and I cry'd, and the ask'd me why I cry'd, faid I. becaufe my Child is to far off. faith the, if it ive to Winter, or till Winter is over, I will go over Sea as far as I can for the Land. Mr Comper, Now my Lord, to bring this matter of melancholy to the point of time. I will call one Winter is over, whe will forsh of a remarkable Inflancholy to the point of time. I will call one Witnefs more, who will fpeak of a remarkable Inftance that happen'd on Saturday before the Manday when the did deftroy herfelf. Call Mr. Jofeph Taylor.

Pray will you inform the Court and Jury of what you obferved on Saturday before the Monday on which virs, Stout deitroy'd herfelf ? 7. Taylor, Lhappened to go in at Mr. Firmin's Shop, and there the fat the Saturday before this Accident happened the former Affizes, and I was faying to her Madam, I think you look thrangely difcontented, I never faw you dreft to in my life; faith fhe, the Drefs will ferve me as long as I fhall have occasion for a Diefs. Mr. Comper, In what Pofture did the appear in the Shop?

F. Taylor She appear'd to be very melancholy. Mr. Comper, What part of her Drefs did you find fault with?

F. Taylor, It was her Headeloaths. Mr. Couper, What was the matter with them ? 7, Taylor I th ught her Head was daub'd with fome kind of Greafe or Charcoal,

Mr. Comper, What answer did the make ? J. Taylor, She faid they would ferve her time. Mr. Comper, As to this piece of Evidence, if your Lordship pleases. I de ire it may be particularly taken notice of, it was her Head-drefs that the faid would ferve her time. Pray, Mr. Taylor, was you at Mr. Barefoor's when I came there on Monday morning ?

3. Teylor, Yes, I wont up Stairs with you into your Chamber. Mr. Comper, Pray what did I fay to Mc. Barefoot ?

J. Taylor, You ask'd him if they had receiv'd a Letter from your Brother, and he faid no, not that he knew of, but he would call his Wife, and he did call his Wife, and ask'd her if the had receiv'd a Letter, and the fa d no; then faid you, I will take up this Lodging for mine, and accordingly you went up Stairs, and I went with you, and flaid there about four times as long as I have been here.

Mr. Comper Are you very fure I faid I would take up my Lodging there? J. Taylor, Yes. I am very fure of it. Mr. Baron Hatfell, What time of the day was it ?

J. Taylor, Yes. I am very fure of it. Mr. Baron Hatfell, What time of the day was it ? F. Taylor, 'T was the fore-part of the day; while I was there, my Lord, Mrs. Sarah Stan's maid came to invite Mr. Comper, to her Houfe to dinner.

Mr. Comper, Did you know sny thing of my fending to the Coffee-houfe ? F. Tayler, You feat to the Coffee-houfe for your things.

Mr. Bason Hatfell, Did Mr. Comper ule to lie at Mr. Barefost's ?

J. Taylor, His Brother did, but I do not know whether this Gentleman did ; but at that time he took up that place for his Lodging, and faid it was all one, my Brother must pay for't, and therefore I will take it up for myfelf.

Mr. Comper, Call Mrs. Barefost and her Maid.

But they not prefently appearing.

Mr.

Mr. Cemper, My Lord in the mean time I will go on to the other part of my Evidence, in opening of which I shall be very floot. My Lord, my Wife lodging at Hereford, occasion'd me frequently to come down; Mrs. Stour became well acquainted with her, when business was over in the long Vacation, I refided pretty much at Hert-ford, and Mr. Marfball came down to pay me a Vifit, and this introduc'd his Knowledge of Mrs. Stour 5 when the was first acquainted with him the received him with a great deal of Civility and Kindnefs, which induc'd him to make his Addreffes to her, as he did by way of Courthip. It happen'd one Even-ing, that fhe and one Mrs. Creek, Mr. Marfhall, and myfelf, were walking together, and Mr. Marfhall, and Mrs. Creek, going fome little way before us, fhe took this Opportunity to fpeak to me, in fuch Terms I muft confels furpriz'd me: Says fhe Mr. Comper, I did not think you had been fo dull; I was inqui-fitive to know in what my dulnels did confift: Why, fays fhe, do you imagine I intend to marry Mr. Marfball, I faid I thought the did, and that if the did not the was much to blame in what the had done, no, fays fhe, I thought it might ferve to divert the Cenfure of the World, and favout our Acquaintance. My Lord, I have fome original Letters, under her own Hand; which will make this fully manifeft, I will produce the Letters, after I have call'd Mr. Marfhall. Mr. Marfhall.

Mr. Marshall. If your Lordship pleases it was in the long Vacation, I came down to fpend a little of my leifure time at Hertford, the reafon of my going thither, was becaule Mr. Comper was there at that time : The first Night when I came down, I tound Mrs. Sarah Stout visiting at Mr. Comper's Lodgings, and there I first came acquainted with her; and the after wards gave me frequent Opportunities of improving that Acquaintance, and by the manner of my Reception by her, I had not reason to sufpect the use it feems I was defigned for ; when I came to Town, my Lord, I was generally told of my Courting Mrs. Stent, which I contefs was not then in my Head; but it being reprefented to me as a thing eafily to be got over; and believing the Report of the World as to her Fortune, I did afterwards make my Application to her; but upon very little Tryat of that fort, I received a very fair Denial, and there ended my Suit: Mr. Comper having been fo friendly to me as to give me notice of fome things that convinc'd me I ought to be thankful I had no more to do with her. Mr. Baron Hatfell, When did fhe caft you off ?

Mr. Marfball, I can't be politive as to the time, my Lord, but it was in Anfwer to the only ferious Letter I ever writ to her; as I remember, I was not over importunate in this Affair, for I never was a very violent Lover. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Well, but tell the time as near as you can.

Mr. Marshall, I believe it was the second or third time I came down to Hertford, which is about a Year and half fince ; and during the whole of my Acquaintance with her, I never till then found her averfe to any Propolal of mine, but the then telling me her Refolution was not to comply with what I defi'd, I took her at her Word, having partly by my own Observation, but more by Mr. Comper's Friendfhip, been pretty well able to guels at her meaning. Mr. Comper, Becaufe what you fay may ftand confirmed beyond contradiction, I defire you to fay whether you have any Letters from her to yourfelf,

Mr. Marjball, Yes I have a Letter in my Hand, which the fent me upon occasion of fome Songs I fent her when I came to Town, which the had before defired of me, and this is a Letter in Anfwer to mine, 'tis her Hand-writing, and directed to me. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, How do you know 'tis her Hand-writing?

Mr. Marshall, I have feen her write, and feen and receiv'd feveral Letters from her.

Mr. Comper, Pray thew it Mr. Beale. Mr. Beale, I believe it to be her Hand, I have feen her write, and have a Receipt of hers. Clerk of Arraignment, Tip directed to Me. Therman Marghan, at Lyon's Inn. and Dated Sept. 26, 1697.

Sept, 26. 1697

SIR. YOurs came very fafe, but I wish you had explained your meaning a listle more about the Accident you speak of, for I have been puzzling my Brains ever since, and without I shall fet my fell to Conjuring, I cannot imagine what it flould be, for I know of nothing that happened after you went away; nor no Difcourfe about you only when we were together, the Company would formetimes drink your Health, or wife you had been there, or the like. So that I fancy it must be formething Mr. - has invented for diversion; the I wust confess we have a fort of people that I fancy it must be foundhing Mr. — has invented for diversion; the I must confess we have a fort of people here, that are inspired with the gift of fore-knowledge, who will tell one as much for nothing as any Astrologer will have a good piece of Money for; but to leave jefting, I cannot tell when I shall come to Loncon, unleft it be for a Night and away, about fime Business with my Brother, that I muss be obliged to attend his motions; but when I do, I shall remember my Promise, although I do not suppose you are any more in carness than my felf in this mat-ter. I give you hearty thanks for your Songs, and your good wishes, and rest your loving Duck,

Mr. Comper, Have you any more Letters ?

Mr Mariball, Yes, I have another Letter here, but before 'tis read I think 'twill be proper to give the Court an account of the occasion of its being writ. I waited on Mrs. Stout one Evening at her Lod-gings in Houndfditch, and at our parting the appointed to meet me the next day, and to excuse her not coming according to that appointment, the fenc me this Letter. Cl. of Arr. 'Tis directed to Mr. Thomas Marshall, 'tis without date.

Mr. Marfhall

Met unexpelled with ene that came from H — d last Night, who detain'd me so long with relating the most notori-ous inventions, and Lyes, that are now extant amongs that people, that I could not possibly come till it was late, and this Day was appointed for Business that I am uncertain when it will be finish'd; so that I believe I can-not see you whils I am in Town. I have no more at prefent, but that I am your obliged Friend.

Mr. Comper, Now, my Lord, if your Lordship please, I proceed to shew you, that I went not fo much voluntarily as prefs'd by her to come to this House, and for that I will produce one Letter from her to myself; and, my Lord, I must a little inform you of the Nature of this Letter. It is on the outfide directed to Mrs. Jane Ellen to be left for her at Mr. Hargrave's Coffee-house. For her to direct to me at a Coffee-house might make the Servants wonder, and the Post-man might sufpect and for that rea-fon the directed in that manner. There was Mr. Marghall by when I received it, and I can prove the Hand by Mr. Beale.

Mr. Marshall, My Lord, I verily believe I was by, and that Mr. Comper fhew'd me this Letter in me-Cl. of diately on receipt of it, as he has done feveral others from the fame Hand.

SIR. Am glad you have not quice forget that there is fuch a Perfon as I in being, but I am willing to fout my Eyers I and not file any thing that looks like Unkindness in you, and rather content myself with what Excuses you are pleased to make, that be inquisitive into what I must not know; I should very readily comply with your proposition of changing the Scalon, if it were in my Power to do it, but you know that lies altogether in your own Breakt : I am fure the Winter has been too unpleafant for me to defire the continuance of it. And I wish you were to endure am fure the Winter has been too unpleasant for me to define the continuance of it. And I wild you were to endure the sharpness of it, but for one Hour, as I have done for many long Nights and Days, and then I believe it would note that rocky Hiart of yours, that can be so thoughtless of me as you are; but if it were defigited for that end, to make the Summer the more delightful, I wild it may baue the Effect so far as to continue it to be so that the Weather may never over. caff again; the which if I could be asfurd of, it would recompence me for all that I have ever suffer'd, and make me as caff a Creature as I was the first moment I received breath; when you come to H—— pray let your Steed guide you, and don't do as you aid the lass time; and before order your Affairs to be kere as you can, which cannot be former than you will be heartily welcome to your for Mrs. Lane Ellen, as Me Haterave's

Mr. Camper, Though 'tis directed to Mrs. Fane Ellen, it begins in the infide, Sir; and 'tis dated the th of March next before the 13th. Mr. Baron Hasfell, What March was it? sth of March next before the 13th.

Mr. Marfhall, I kept no account of the time, but I am very policive by the Contents, that Mr. Comper fhew'd me this Letter, and I read it, but by my now remembrance, it should be longer fince than March laft. Mr. Cowper. It was March laft. That which will fet Mr. Marfball's memory to rights is this other Letter which I received at the Rainbow, when he was by, and he read it, and it importuning me to a matter of this kind, I did produce it to my Brother and him, they both knew of it, and both read it, matter of this kind, I did produce it to my Brother and him, the and that will refresh his memory concerning the date of the other.

Mr. Marfhall, My Lord, I was in the Coffee-houfe with Mr. Comper when he received this Letter, and he atters and shew'd it to Mr William Comper, at the Covent-Garden Tavern, when I was by.

For Mrs. Jane Ellen, at Mr. Hargrave's near Temple-bar, London-

Mr. Comper, If your Lordship please, I will further prove this Letter by my Brother.

Mr. W. Comper, I can bear my Brother Witnefs, that when he has been advifed to make thefe Letters part of his defence, he nas expressed great unwillingness, and has faid, nothing but the Life of these Gentlemen could incline him to it.

My Lord, all I can fay to this matter is this, I do remember, that when the was one time in Lordon, I think it was about a year and a half frace, I am not politive as to the time, but when the was in London, my Brother came in the morning to my Chamber in the Temple, and after fome difcourfe, he told me he had received a Letter from Mrs. Store that day, wherein the faid the intended him a ville at his Chamber that Afternoon, he told me at the fame time, that his briand air, storp iff had fome thoughts of her, and therefore for that, as well as other reafons, he would decline receiving the visit intended him, and upon confideration, this was the method agreed upon . At that time I lived with my Father in Hatand upon confideration, this was the method agreed upon. At that there I lived with thy Pather in Har-ten-Gardin, and this Gentle woman having writ in the fame Letter I now fpeak of, that the defigned to dine there, and to come from thence in the Afternoon; fays my Brother, you may cafually, as it were, take occasion to fay at Dinner, that my business obliges me to go to D pt/ord in the Afternoon, as in good earness it did, as he then told me, and from that the may take a hint of my not being at home, and fo fave her elf the difappointment of coming to my Chamber; I told him I would find an opportunity of doing of it if I could. At Dinner my Father happened to ask me, as he often did, when I faw my Brother. I took this hint and faid, I had feen him at my Chamber in the Morning, and that he was gone to Depified that Afternoon about fome Law bufinefs. My Lord, Mrs. Steet was then at the Table. I no fooner faid it, but I observed the chang'd colour prefently, and rofe with her Napkin, and went into the back Yard, and we faw her through a Safh-window fall into a Woma i's Eit of Swooning, and they gave her the affiftance that is usual in fuch cafes.

My Lord, the next thing I can fpeak to is this; the Parliament fitting late the Friday before the Monday of the laft Affizes at Hertford, I came late from Dinner, I had din'd about 7 a Clock, as I remember, and having occasion to speak with my Frother, I found him out by enquiry at the Covent-Garden Tavern, and there was Mr. Marfball of Lyon's Inn with him. I had not drank above a Glafs or two of Wine, but my Brother began with me, and taid, I feld om trouble you with Affairs of mine, but now I do not know well how to avoid it. I have received an importunate Letter, which I will fhew you, it came from a Lady whole Name I believe you will guels; fo he pull'd it out of his Pecket, and I read it fo often, be-caufe of the oddness of the Expression, that I can fay, I am fure this is the very Letter be shew'd me at the Cover-Garden Tavern, the Friday before the last Affizes; faith he, the occasion of my flowing it is not to expose a Woman's Weaknets, but I would not withingly lie under too many Obligations for en-gage too far; nor on the other hand, would I be at an unneceffary Expense for a Lolging. Upon this Subject there was fome Difcourfe I think foreign to the spurpufe, and therefore I would not trouble your Lordfhip with the Repetition of it, that which is material is this, I did undertake to write to Mr. Barefost to difpose of his Lodgings, where I us'd to be at the time of the Affizes, and my Brother with me. I faid I would write the next day, being Saturday, but when I fhould have writ it was very late, and I was weary, being then tied down to the Bufinels of Parliament, and partly for that reason, and partly in point of diferention, which I had upon my fecond thoughts. that 'twould be better for my "rothers Bufi is to be at Mr. Barefor's, which is near the Court, and in the Market-place ; I did negleft writ'ing, and the' I thought of it about 11 a Clock ; yet as I faid, partly for one reafon, and partly for the other, other, I did not write that time : My Lord, my Brother could know nothing of this matter, for I did not fee him from the Friday he fhew'd me the Letter, till he went to the Affizes, fo that he could not know before he was at Hertford, that I had not writ; my Lord, I fay as to this Letter, I am fure he fhew'd me the Friday next before the laft Affizes-

[ 30 ]

Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Let me fee that Letter. (Which was fhewn his Lordfhip.)

Mr. Comper, My Lord, one or two of the Jury feem to queffion whether the Cetters are fufficiently prov'd; for their fatisfaction, I will further prove them Call Mr. John Beale, William Oker, and Mrt. Call Mr. John Beale, William Oker, and Mrs. Low. My Lord, Mr. Beale is one of their own Sect . (The Witneffes prov'd her hand.)

Jury, My Lord, we are fatisfied. Mr. Bar, Hasfell, I believe you may ask her Mother, fhe will tell you whether it be her Daughter's Hand, Mrs. Stear, How fhould I know ? I know fhe was no fuch Perfon, her Hand may be counterfeited. Mr. Bar. Hasfell, But if they were written in a more fober Stile, what would you fay then? Mrs. Steut, I fhan't fay it to be her Hand, unlefs I faw her write it.

(Then the Letter was thewn to Mr. Stout.)

Mr. Stone, 'Tis like my Sifter's Hand. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Do you believe it to be her Hand ? Mr. Steat, No, I don't believe it, becaufe it don't fuit her Character.

Mr. Far. Harfell, But do you think the might not conceal from you what were her inward Thoughts ? Mr. Stout, Not in fuch a degree as this.

Mr. Gemper, Call Mrs. Barefoot and her Maid. I defire they may be ask'd what they know about my taking of Lodgings at their Houfe.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, That is taken for granted.

Barefost, When you came to my Houfe, you ask'd me, if I had received a Letter from your Brother, and I told you no. Mr. Comper, What did I fay to that Barefoot, Then you asked if I expected you, and I told you yes, by reafon I had heard nothing from Mr. Comper, Where did I lodge that Night? you.

Barefost, I had prepared the Lodging before you came, expecting you or Mr. Comper your Brother. Mr. Comper, And did I come ? Barefoot, Yes as you ufed to do.

Mr Comper, Did I fend for my things from the Coffee-house ?

Barefoot, Yes you did, and I carried them up into your Chamber as I used to do.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Where did Mr. Comper dine that day ?

B refort, Mrs. Stout fent her Maid to defire him to come to Dinner at their Houfe, whether he went thither or no I can't fay, but he went out.

Mr. Comper, What time did I come into my Lodging at Night ?

Barefoot, It was a little after Eleven.

Mr. Comper, You are fure I came in a little after 11 ? Mr. Jones, By what Clock ? By the Town Clock ? Mr. Comper, Did I go out any more that Night ?

Mr. Comper, Is your Maid there ?

Mr. Baron Hatfed, What is your Name ?

Mr. Comper, Pray what time was it I came to my Lodging ?

Hanwell, You came in a little after Eleven a Clock. Hanwell, Yes, I am very positive. Mr. Comper, Are you very politive in that ? Mr. Comper. What was done before I went to Bed 3 Hauwell, My Lord, I went up and made a Fire, and then I came down again, and then I went up and warmed Mr. Comper's Bed, and then he defired another Blanker, and I came down for it, and all this took up a confiderable time, and Mr. Comper was in Bed before 12 a Clock.

Mr. Comper, Did I go out again that Night? Mr. Comper, Now, if your Lordfhip destine i would explain the part of Sarah Walker the Maids's Evi-dence, where the fays, her Mittrels ordered her to warm the Bed, and I never contradicted it. Your Lord-thip observes the Words in the last of the two Letters No inconvenience can attend your Cobabiling with Inip observes the volume in the last of the come life come death 1 am refelved, and form, 1 had rather me; and afterwards I won't Fly for it: For come life come death 1 am refelved, and form, 1 had rather leave it to be observed then make the Observation my felf; what might be the dispute between us at the time the Maid speaks of, I think it was not necessary the should be prefent at the Debate; and therefore I might not interrupt her Miltrefs in the Orders fhe gave ; but as foon as the Maid was gone, I made use of these Objections : I told Mrs Stout by what Accident I was obliged to take up my Lodging at Mr. Barefoot's, and that the Family was fitting up for me : That my flaying at her Houle under thefe Circemflances, would in probability, provoke the Cenfure of the Town and Country; and that therefore I could not flay, whatever my Inclination otherwife might be: But, my Lord, my Reafon noc prevailing, I was forced to decide the Controverfy by going to my Lodging; fo that the Maid may fwear true, when the fays I did not contrad & her Orders.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, I believe you have done now, Mr. Comper?? Mr. Comper, No, my Lord, I have more Evidence to give.

(Who not then appearing)

Barefoot, Yes. Barefoot, Yes. Barefoot, No. Barefoot, Yes.

Hanwell, Mary Hanwell.

Mr. Comper, No, my Lord, I have more Evidence to give. (Call Elizabeth Sparr.) If your Lordfhip pleafes to obferve, I have already prov'd by two Witneffes, that I was actually at Mr. Barefroi's a little after Eleven; fo that if I was to reft upon that Proof, here is not the least Article of time, in which it can be fuppos'd I was employ'd in this matter. But fays Sarah Walker, the Maid, to obviate (I prefume) this Evidence of mine, our Houfe-Clock went fafter than the Town-Clock : Now to anfwer this too, I shall further prove to your Lordship, that before I came to my Lodging, I was at the Glove and Dolphin-Inn, where I had a little Account of about fix or feven Shillings, as I remember, for H rfe-keeping, which I then paid.

Mrs. Spurr, Do you remember my coming to your Houfe, and at what time ?

Spurr, The Clock flruck Eleven juft as you came into the Door.

Mr. Comper How long did I flay at the Glove? Spurr, About a quarter of Hour.

Mr. Comper, How far is it from the Glove and Delphin to Mis. Steut's House ?

Spurr, About a quarter of a Mile, or not quite fo far.

Mr. Comper Call Mary Kingitt, and George Man.

In the mean time, I would observe to your Lordship, That to go from Mrs. Stour's Houle to the place where fhe was drowned, and to return from thence to the Glave and Delphin, will take up at leaft half an Hour, as I fhall p ove; and then the matter will fland thus: Says Sarah Walker, You went about a quarter after Eleven; but our Clock went half an hour too faft : Then, according to her Accout, I went went three quarters after ten by the Town-Clock ; and if it requires, (as I fay I shall prove it does) half an hour to go to the Place where fhe was drowned, and to return from thence to the Globe-Inn, that would make it a quarter paft Eleven when I came to that Ino, by the Town-Clock, which it was not ; and if I flaid there a quarter of an Hour (which is prov'd I did) it muft be half an Hour after Eleven when I came to my Lodging, by the fame Clock, which it was not; fo that I think this matter, as to the time, is very clear : My Lord, to prove the time it requires to go from Mrs. Stour's to the Place where five drowned herfelf, and to return to the Glove, I defice Sir William Afburft may be called. Sir William Afburft, My Lord, I can't fay I walk'd as faft as I could, but I went with a Gentleman I fee here, to fatisfy myfelf about the probability of this matter; I walked as People ufually do, and I found it took up half an Hour and a Minute, when I walked with that Gentleman. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Who was with you Sir?

Sir William Afburff, Mr. Thompfon was with me, the time I mention, I walked it before with Sir The. Mr. Thompfin, My Lord, indeed it will take up a compleat half Hour. Lane.

Mr. Gemper, I defire Sir Thomas Lane may give you an account of the diffance between one place and the other.

Sir Thomas Lane, Sir William Afburff and I did walk to the Place mention'd, and we were careful to take notice of the time and it took up about 3 quarters of an Hour, according to my Obfervation; and we did not flay at all by the way, except just to look upon the Hofpital.

Mr. Comper, Now, my Lord, Mary Kingies and George Man, the Servants at the Glove are come : Pray Mrs. Kingitt do you renember my coming to the Glove and Dolphin ? Kingitt, Yes.

Mr. Comper, How long did I ftay there? Kingist, About, a quarter of an Hour. Mr. Comper, What was my Bufinefs there ? Kingitt, You came and enquir'd what you ow'd.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, What a Clock was it then ?

Kingitt, I thought it was about Eleven, our t'other Maid told it Eleven.

Mr. Jones, How came you to take notice of the time ?

Kingitt, She heard the Clock go Eleven, but I did not.

Mr. Comper. Was there any Dispute about the Account ?

Kingitt, You askt the Hoffler how that came to fland in the Book, concerning the Horfe ; for you told him you thought you had paid fome part of it, and he told you, you had not

Mr. Comper, My Lord with your Lordthip's favour, I would ask George Man a Queftion to the fame point. Do you remember my coming into the Glove and Dolphin ? Man, Yes.

Mr. Comper. How long did I flay there ?

Max, You flaid about a quarter of an Hour, as near as I can guefs.

Mr. Comper, I will now call a Witnefs to prove that this Maid Sarah Walker is not fo cautious and (Call Mrs. Mince.) careful how the Swears as I think the ought to be.

Mr. Baron Ha fed, Pray wherein has Sarah Walker faid any thing that is falle? Mr. Comper. In this: I ask'd her when the gave Evidence, Whether the wont out to fee for her Mi-ftrefs all that Night; and whether her Mittefs did not use to ftay out a Nights; and, whether the herfelf had not used to fay fo? If your Lordfhip pleases to remember, the faid no. Pray Mrs. Mints what have you heard Mrs. Stout's Maid fay concerning her Mittrefs, particularly, as to her flaying out W Night? all Night ?

Mrs. Minre, She hath faid, That her Miftrefs did not love to keep Company with Quakers ; and that the paid for her own Board and her Maids; and that when the entertain'd any body, it was at her own Charge. And the hath faid, that Mrs. Stout used to ask, who is with you Child? And the would not Charge. And the hath faid, that Mrs. Stour ufed to ask, who is with you Chi'd? And the would not tell her; and that the did entertain her Friends in the Summer-houfe, now and then, with a Bottle of Wine. And when her Mother ask'd, who was there? Her Miftrefe would fays oring it in here I fup-pofe there is none but Friends; and after the Company was gone, the ufed to make her Mother believe that fhe went to Bed, but fhe ufed to go out and take the Key with her, and fometimes fhe would go out at the Window; and fhe faid particularly one time, fhe went out at the Garden-Window, when the Garden-Door was lock'd, and that the bid her not fit up for her for the would come in at any time. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Did ever Sarah Walker tell you that Mrs. Stear had thaid out all Night?

Mrs. Mince, She hash faid the could not tell what time the came in, for the went to Bed-

Mrs. Miste, Sie nan take the could not ten what the fact the the came in, for the went to bed. Mr. Comper, Now if your Lordhip pleafe, I will prove to you, if it may be thought material, that Gurrey, at whole Houfe these Gentlemen lodg'd, fhould fay, that if I had visited Mrs. Stour none of all this had been (upon fo little an Omifion it feems did this Profecution depend) to which I give this An-fwer, my Lord, I never did once go to visit her in my Life; the knows it. Now for a Man officiously to make a new Visit in the time of the Affizes, one engag'd in Business as I was, and effecially upon to the there is a start of the Affizes. melancholy an Occasion ; I fay, for me to go officiously to fee a Woman I never had the least knowledge of, would have been thought more tirange (and juftly might have been to) than the Omiffion of that Ceremony. For my part, I cannot conceive what Mr. Garrey could mean, this being the Cafe ; by faying, that if I had vifited Mrs. Stout nothing of this had happen'd.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Mr. Comper, he is not the Profecutor, I think it is no matter what he faid.

Mr. Comper, I take it, my Lord, with humble Subm flion, it is material as he is a principal Witnefs sgainft thefe Gentlemen; and the rather, for that he now prevends, that what he did was out of Con-fcience. My Lord, I have only one thing more to fay, I know not whether it will be requisite for me or no to give fome account of myfelf, Sir William Alburft, if you pleafe. Sir William Alburft, My Lord, if I had not had a good Opinion of this Gentleman, I had not come on purpose to hear this Caufe, which has made fo great a Noife all England over.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, But what do you fay as to Mr. Comper's Reputation, for which you are call'd ?

Sir William Afourf, I always thought Mr. Comper to be a Gentleman of fi gular Humanity and I tegrity : He is an Officer in London, and as to his management of his Office, I think no Man ever perform'd it better or has a better Reputation in the Place where he lives

Sir Thomas Lone, My Lord, I came bither on purpole to own this Gentleman. and indeed he deferves to be owned by his Friends, and those that know him ; his Character is altogether untainted with us ; he has gained a good Reputation in the Bulinels wherein he is concern'd ; he has behaved himfelf in h s Office which he holds of the City of London very honeftly and well; I never knew him differer any ill Nature in his Temper, and I think he cannot be fulpested of this, or any other Ast of Barbarity. Mr. Comper, My Lord, in the next place I would call Mr. Cor, who has the Honour to force in Par-liament for the Burrough of Southwark; and has been my near Neighbour these Eight or Nine Years

If you pleafe, Mr. Cox, give an Account what Reputation and Charafter I have in that place.

Mr

Mr. Cox, My Lord, I live in Southwark, where Mr. Comper lives; I have lived by him Eight or Nine Years; I know him to be a Perfon of Integrity and Worth; all the Neighbours court his Company; I take him to have as much Honour and Honeffy as any Gentlen an whatioever; and of all Men that I know, he would be the latt Man that I though to fuch a Fact as this is. I believe nothing in the World could move him to entertain the leaft thought of fo foul a Fact

Mr. Comper, Mr. Thompson, I defire you would be pleased, to give an Account of what you know of me. Mr. Thompson, If you please, my Lord, the first Acquaintance I had with Mr Comper, was in our Childhood; I had the H mour to go to Westminster School with him: I did not renew my Acquaintance with him till about Five Yea's ago; fince that time, I have been often with him, and have several times had occafion to ask his Advice, in matters relating to his Proteffion ; and I think no Man more faithful in the Service of his Client than he is, and I am fure he is very deferving of the Effcem of any Man, and I believe he never entertained a Thought of fo foul and barbarous a Fact as this, of which he is cufed. Mr. Baron Hatfed, Mr. Marfon, you have heard the Evidence, what do you fay to it? Mr. Marfon. My Lord, our bufinefs at Hareford was this, Mr. Edit Stevens and I went down, he is Clerk accufed.

of the Papers of the King's-Bench, and Mr Regers is Steward of the King's-Bench, and it was their Duty to wait upon my Lord Chief Juffice with the Maefhal of the King's- Bench, out of Town, and on Mmday Morning we went to my Lord Chief Juffice's Houfe in Lincoln's-Inn. Fields as we used to do, and there fet out, but I being an Attorney of the Borough Court could not with any convenience go farther with them than to a place which I think is called Kingfland, a d therefore I returned to my Bufinefs in Southwark, where I attended the Court as was cufformary and neceffary for meto do, and fet forth from thence at paft Four in the Afternoon ; by the way as I remember about Waltham-treft I met one Mr. Hanks a Clergy-man of my Accquaintance, who had been likewife to attend my Lord Chief Julice to Heriford, and was returning from thence, with fome perfuation 1 prevailed with him to go back again with me to Hertford, telling him, I did not know the way, and we gallop' every Step of it becaule Night was coming on; it was about Eight a Clock when we came in Mr. Hanks and I found the Matshall, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Ragers, Mr. Ruskin, and others of the Marshall's Acquaintance at the Coffee-house; and truly when I came in I might for ought I know be in a Sweat with riding to hard as we did, but even then I was not in fuch a Sweat as the Witnefs would have it. My Lord, we went from thence to the Glove and Dolphin, and flay'd there t ll about Eleven a Clock, Mr. Regere and I had a Diffu e who fhould lie with Mr. Stevens at the now Witnefs Mr. Garro's ; at laft it was agreed between us to go to Garroy's to fee what Conve-nience he could make for us, and Mr Rathin and Mr. Hanks went with us with defign to drink a Glafs of Wine at our Lodging; but afterwards it came in Mr. Ruthin's Head, that he was to lie with the Marfhal, and for that reafon he fuid he would go back again, and accordingly he went, and Mr. Hanks with him after they had feen us into our Lodgings, and Mr. Stevens, Mr. Regers and I drank three Bottles of Wine together, Mr. Garrey our Landlord was fent to fetch it; and afterwards in jocular Conversation I believe Mr. Stevens might ask Mr. Garrey if he knew one Mrs. Sarab Stoat, and the reason why he ask'd that Queftion our Witneffes will explain ; I believe he might likewife ask what fort of Woman fhe was; and poffibly I might fay the Words, My Friend may be in with her, though I remember not I did fay any thing like it, but I fay there is a poffibility I might, becaufe I had heard file had deny'd Mr. Marfhad's Suit, and that might induce me to fay My Friend might be in with her, for all that I remember, I contels Mr. Regers ask'd me what Money I had got that Day, meaning at the Borough-Court, I anfwer'd Fifty Shillings, faith he, we have been here fpending our Money, I think you ough to treat us, or to that purpole; as for the Bundle mention'd, I had no fuch except a pair of Sleeves and a Neckcloth: As to the Evidence which goes to Words fpoken, the Witneffes have fruitful Inventions, and as they have wrefted and improved the inflances I have been particular in, fo have the reft, or otherwife forg'd them out of their own Heads. Mr. Baron Harfer, Mr. Regare what do you fay to it ? out of their own Heads.

Mr. Regers. We came down with the Ma fhal of the King's-Bench, it rain'd every flep of the Way, fo that my Spatter dafhers and Shoes were fain to be dried; and it raining fo hard we did not think Mr. Marfen would have come that Day; and therefore we provided but one Bed, though otherwife we fhould have provided two, and were to give a Crown for our Night's Lodging; we went from the Coffee-house to the Tavern, as Mr. Marson has faid, and from the Tavern the next way to our Lodging, where there was fome merry and open Difcour'e of this Gentlewoman but I never faw her in my Life, nor heard of her Name before fhe was mentioned there.

Mr. Stevens, We never fair'd from one and her, but went along with the Marshal of the King's-Bench, to Accompany my Lord Chief Juffice out of Town, as is usual.

Mr. Baron Halfell, I thought it had been ufual for him to go but half of the Way with my Lord Chief Juffice

Mr. Ragers, They generally return back after they have gone half the Way, but fome of the head Officers go throughout.

Mr. Stevens, It was the first Circuit af er the Marshall came into his Office, and that's the reason the Marfhal went the whole Wsy.

Mr. Baron Hatfell. Did not you talk of her courting Days being over? Prifoners, Not one Word of it, we abfolutely deny it. Mr. 3 Mr. Jones, Mr. Marfin, did you ride in Boots? Mr. Mr. Stevens, I never faw her.

Mr. Jones, How came your Shoes to be wet ?

Mr. Marfan, I had none. Call Mr. Heath, Mr. Hant and Mr. Foller Mr. Marfan, I had none. Call Mr. Heath, Mr. Hant and Mr. Foller Mr. Marfan, Mr. Hant, will you pleafe to sequaint my Lord and the Jury with what Difcourfe we had on Sanday Night before the Affizes at the O'd Devil Tavers at Temple-Bar?

Mr. Marfon, Yes.

Mr. Hunt, On Sunday Night I happened to be in Company with Mr. Marfar and Three or Four more of Clifford's-Iwn, and there was a Difcourfe of the Ma Ibal's attending my Lord Chief Juffice out of Town Company being known to Mr. Marfon faid It may be the Marford may require my maiting upon him too; and the whole Company being known to Mr. Marfon, and there being a Difcourfe of Mr. Marford's courties of Mrs. Stows, faith one of the Company, If you do go to Hertford pray enquire after Mr. Marford's Miftrefs, and bring us on Account of her. Mr. Jones Who was in Company? Mr. Hunt. There was Mr. Heath, Mr. Fofter, Mr. Marfon Mr. Stewen, Mr. Bewer, and Mr. Marford. Mr. Marfon, Now it was this Difcourfe that gave us occalion to talk of this Woman at Garrey's Houle, which we did openly and harmlefsly. Mr Fofter, do you remember any thing of our talking of this Gentleman on Sunday Night?

Mr. Fofter,

L 33 ]

Mr. Stevens, If you pleafe, my Lord, we will call another to this purpofe. Mr. Baron Hatfell, No, I think you need not, for it feems not material.

Then Mr. Hanks was call'd.

Mr. Hanks, I came as far as Waltham's croft to wait upon my Lord Chief Juffice, I flaid there till a-bout Four or Five a Clock, and then fet out for London, and I met with Mr. Marfan, who importun'd me to go back with him to Heriford, and accordingly I did fo, and we came in about Seven or Eight at Night, and we enquir'd after the Marfhal of the King's-Bench, and where he had fet up his Horfes, and we found him in the Coffee-houfe just by the Court, and we went and fet up our Horfes, and came again to him; from thence we went to the Glove and Delphin Tavern, these three Gentlemen and the Marshal and one Mr. Ratkin came afterwards to us; and we flaid till about Eleven at the Glove and Delphin. Mr. Marson, Do you remember how we rid?

Mr. Hanks, Yes, very hard. Mr. t aron Harfed, What time did you come into the Tavern ? Mr. Hanks, Fetween Seven and Eight as I remember.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, And did you ftay there till paft Eleven ?

Mr. Hankr, Till about Eleven, little more or lefs, we went away together, in order to drink a Glafs of Wine with them at their Lodging, but Mr Ruthin confidering that he was to drink a Glafs of Wine, and lie with the Marfhal, thought it would diffurb the Marthal, fo faith he, I wid not go in, but we faw them go into their Lodgings and return'd to the Ball, where we cat part of a Fowl, and I was never out of Mr. Marfon's Company all that time.

Mr. Marfon, When you took your leave of me, don't you remember that the Door clapt too? Mr. Hankr, I can't remember that

Mr. Marfin, Mr. Gurrey faith I never went out after I came home. Mr. Ruthin pray give an account to my Lord and the Gentlemen of the Jury of what you know of my coming to Hertford. Mr. Rutkin, My Lord, I came to wait on the Marthal of the Ring's-Bench to Hertford, and when we were come to Hertford we put up our Horfes at the Bud, and made ourfelves a little clean, we went to Church, and din'd at the Bad, and then we walk'd in and about the Court, and diverted ourfelves till about Seven a Clock, and between Seven and Eight a Clock came Mr. Marfon and Dr. Hanks to Town, and then we agreed to go to the Dolphin and Glove to drink a Glafs of Wine, the Marshai went to fee an antient Gentleman, and we went to the Dolphin and Glove and flaid there till past ten a Clock, and after the Reckoning was paid we went with them to their Lodging, with a Defign to take a Glafs of Wine, but then I confider'd I was to lie with the Marshal, and for that reason I resolv'd not to go in, but came away, and went to the Bud-Inn, and after I drank part of a Pint of Wine, and afterwards I went to the next Door to the Bull-Inn, where I lay with the Marfhal-

Mr. Jones, What time did the Gentlemen go to their Lodging ?

Mr. Rutkin, I am not politive as to that, but I believe it was about Eleven a Clock. Mr. Marfon, If your Lordship pleafes now I'll call fome Perfons to give an Account of me. Mr. Coz. Mr. Cox, I have known Mr. Marfon a long time, and had alway a good Opinion of thim, I don't be-lieve 5000 l. would tempt him to do fuch a Fact.

Mr. Marjew, Captain Wife, I defire you would pleafe to fpeak what you know of me. Mr. Comper, My Lord, becaufe thefe Gentlemen are Strangers in the Country, I think if in taking an account of any Evidence for myfelf there is any thing occurs to me that they may have a just Advantage of, I think I ought not to conceal it, for I am 25 much concern'd to juitify their Innocence as my own : The principal Witnefs against them is one Garrey, and I will prove to you, that fince he appear'd in this Court and gave his Evidence, he went out in a triumphant manner, and boafted that he by his ma-nagement had done more against these Gentlemen than all the Profecutor's Witnesses could do beside ; to add to that I have another piece of Evidence that I have been juit acquainted with. My Lord, it is the Widow Davis, Gurrey's Wife's Sifter that I would call.

the Widow Davis, Gurry's wite's Shier that I would call. Major, Lane, My Lord, I have known Mr. Marfen ever fince he was two Years old, and never faw him but a civiliz'd Man in my Life; he was well bred up among us, and I never faw him given to Debauchery in all my Life. Mr. Baron Hatfed, Where do you live? Major Lane, In Southwark, my Lord. Mr. Baron Hatfed Well, what do you fay Mrs Davis?

Major Lane, In Southwark, my Lord. Mr. Baron Hatfell Well, what do you fay Mrs Davis ? Mrs. Davis, I came to the Houfe where these Gentlemen lodg'd, I was in about half an Hour, and my Sifter ask'd me to air two or three Pair of Sheets ; when I had air'd the Sheets fhe ask'd me to go up and help to lay them on, and before I had laid them on, these Gentlemen came into the Room. Mr. Baron Hatfell, What Hour ?

Mrs. Davis, By the time of my going out again, I believe it might be about ten, or fomething better, and they drank three quarts of Wine, and they had fome Bread and Butter and Cheefe carried up, and fo they went to Fed. and after my Brother went to fetch Mr. Gape, that lay at his Houle, from Hackley's,

Mr. Comper, I only beg leave to obferve that Gurrey denied that he went for him. Mr. Baron Hatfell, Ay, but this fignifies very little whether it be true or talle.

Mis. Davis, The next day after these Gentlemen were about the Town, and the faid the did believe they were come to clear a young Man (a Minister's Son) that was tried at the Bas for robbing the Mail : I asked, why fhe thought fo, the faid the was fure of it, and I asked her how the could be fure of it, when the was never told fo? Why faid I, then do they accufe those Gentlemen, they ought rather to take up the Gentleman that was with Mrs. Stoat's maid; and the faid, if they took up Mrs. Stoat's maid they flould have never a Witnefs.

Mr. Bar. Haifell, Who was that that was talking with Mrs. Stout's maid ?

Mirs. Davis, I don't know, but the faid the did not like their Actions, and therefore the ought to have been examined who fhe was with.

Capt. Wife, I have known Mr. Marfon feveral Years, and he is a Perfon of as fair Reputation as any in the Borough.

Mr Reading, I have been acquainted with Mr. Marf # 20 Years, he lives near the Houfe where I now do ; he has a general good Charafter among his Neighbours, for a fair man in his Praftice, an honeft man man, and a man of good Converfation, Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Well Mr. Stevens, what do you fay ?

Mr. Stevens, I delire Sir Robert Auftin to give an Account of me. Sir Robert Auftin, I have known Mr. Stevens many Years ; his Brother is Captain in a neighbouring County, he is reckon'd not only an honeft man in his Practice, but has the general Character of a goolnatur'd man ; and he is fo far from being a Perfon likely to do fuch an Action, that for a younger Brother he was very well provided for ; his Father left him 1000 /. and he is Clerk of the Papers, which is reputed worth 100 1. per Ann. and is in good Practice befides. fury-man, I have known him feveral Years, and he hath the fame Reputation Sir Robert hath given

Sir John Shaw, I know Mr. Stevens, and his Brother Captain Stevens : As to this Gentleman he hath slways behav'd himfelf well in our Country, and hath the Charafter of an honeft Gentleman

Mr. Evans, I have known him thefe eight Years, and to be a very civil Perfon, and well educated, and never heard but a good Charafter of him : I have also known Mr. Marfon thefe Ten Years, and never faw any ill by him, and do believe, that he or the other would not have done fuch an ill thing to have gain'd this County.

Mr. Menlove, My Lord, Mr. Stevens was my Clerk, and behav'd himfelf very honeft with me. And fince that, I have kept a Correspondence with him, and I believe he would not do fuch a thing for all the World. Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Call fome body to fpeak for Mr. Regere, if there be any. World.

Mr. Evani, My Lord, Mr, Rogers hath a general Character in Southwark for a very honeft man.

Mr. Rogers, Pray call Mr. Lygoe.

Sir, pleafe to give my Lord and the Court an Account what you know of me. Mr. Lyger. My Lord, I have known all the 3 Gentlemen at the Bar, but particularly Mr. Regers and Mr. Stevens from their infancy; I have employ'd them both in Bufinefs feveral times, and always found them fair Practicers, and believe neither of them would be guilty of doing an ill A&.

Mr. Rogers, Call Mr. Thurlby.

Sir, Pray give the Court an Account how I behav'd my felf in your Service, Mr. Bar, Hatfell, Come Mr. Thurlby, what do you fay of Mr. Rogers ? Mr. Thurlby, My Lord, Mr. Rogers liv'd with me about eight Years, in which time I frequently truffed him with very great Sums of money; I ever found him just and faithful, and can't believe that any money could tempt him to do an Act of this kind.

Mr. Jones, My Lord, we must infist upon it, that Mr. Comper hath given a different Evidence now from what he did before the Coroner; for there he faid he never new any Distraction or Love-fit, or occasion the had to put her upon this extravagant Action. Now here he comes and would have the whole Scheme turn'd upon a Love-fit. Gall John Mafon, (who was from)

Mr. Baron Hatfell, What do you fay, Sir, to this matter? Mr. Stont, When Mr. Comper was examined before the Coroner he was ask'd, if he knew of any reafon why fhe thould do fuch a thing, and he faid, the was a very modelt Woman, and he knew no caufe why the fhould do fuch a thing asthis. John Mafen, was you by when Mr. Comper gave Evidence before the Coroner? Mafen, Yes. Mr. Stoar, What did he fay? Mafen, He faid he did not know any thing was the caufe of it, but fhe was a very modelt Perfon. Mr. Joner, Was he upon his Oath? Mafen, Yes, he was. Mr. Baron Hatfell, When did he fay this? Mafen, 'T was the fame day that fhe was found.

Mr. Jones, Was he upon his Oath? Mr. Jones, Didehey ask him any Queftion, if he knew any Perfon that fine was in love with ? Mr. Jones, Didehey ask him any Queftion, if he knew any Perfon that fine was in love with ? Mafin, He faid he knew but of oner and the Name was Marfbatt, and Mr. Marfbatt cold him that he was always repulfed by her. Mr. Stour, I defire John Archer may be ask'd the fame queftion, (who was fuern) Mr. Jones, Was you prefent with the Coroner's Inquest? Mr. Jones, Was Mr. Comper examined by them? Mr. Jones, What did he fay concerning Mrs. Stout then? Archer, Yes.

Archer, Yes, he was.

Archer, 'They ask'd him if he knew any occasion for Mrs. Stour's Death, and he faid he knew nothing of it, or of any Letters. Mr. Comper, Then I muft call over the whole Coroner's Inqueft to prove the contrary.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, Did they ask him concerning any Letters? Archer, They ask'd him if he knew of any thing that might be the Occasion of her Death. Mr. Baron Hatfell, I ask you again if they ask'd him if he knew of any Letters? Archer, My Lord, I don't remember that.

Mr. Stout, I would have call'd fome of the Coroner's Inqueft, but I was flopt in it. Juryman, We have taken Minutes of what has paffed, if your Lordship pleafe, we will withdraw. Mr. Baron Hatfell, They must make an End first.

Mr. Jones, If your Lordship please, we will call one Witness to failify one piece of their Evidence, and that is one widow Larkin. (who was foorn)

Mr. Jones Do you remember one Mr. Ruskins being at your Houfe ? Larkin, Yes. Mr. Fones, At what time did he come in ? Mr. Fones, Was the Marshal then in the House ? Larkin, Between 9 and 10 of the Clock.

Larkin, No, the Marshal did not come till an Hour after. Mr. Jones, Did he not go out afterwards ? Larkin, Not that I know of. Mr. Rutkins, I am fatisfied it was pass II when I came in. Mr. Bar Hatfell It is likely it may be true, for I believe they did not keep very good Hours at that time. Mr. Stout. I defire to call fome Witneffes to may Sifter's Reputation.

Mr. Jones, My Lord, they would call Witneffes to this Gentlewoman's Reputation; I believe the whole Town would atteft for that, that fhe was a Woman of a good Reputation; indeed they have produced forme Letters without a Name, but if they infift upon any thing against her Reputation we must call our Wincffes.

Mr. Baron Hatfell, I believe no Body difputes that the might be a virtuous Woman, and her Brains might be turn'd by her Paffion, or fome Diftemper.

Gentlemen of the Jury, you have heard a very long Evidence, I am fure that you can't expect that I should fumm it up fully; but I will take notice of some things to you, that I think are most mate-rial, and if I omit any thing that is material, I would defire Mr. Jones (that is Council for the King) and Mr. Comper, to put me in mind of it.

The Indiatment against the Prifoners at the Bar is for a very great Crime, it is for Murder, which is one of the most horrid of all Crimes : You are to confider first, what Evidence you have heard to prove it ; and the' there be no direct Proof, you are to confider what is Circumftantial. They do begin with Sarab Walker, who was Mrs. Sarab Stour's Maid ; and fhe tells you, That Mr. Comper, when he came to this Town upon Monday the 13th of March laft, came to Mrs. Stout's Houfe and din'd there, and went away about 4 of the Clock in the Afternoon ; but fhe tells you, that the Friday befor e there came a Letter from Mr. Comper's Wife to Mrs. Stout, to let her know, that Mr. Comper would come there came a Letter from Mr. Comper's Write to Mrs. Stour, to let her know, that our, Comper would come and lodge at their Houfe at Herifind at the Affizes, fo that when he came, the thought that he had intended to have done according to that Letter. She faith, that after Dinner Mr. Comper went away, and came again at 9 at Night, and there he fupp'd, he was defin'd fo to do (and indeed had been invited to Dinner alfo that Da) and the doth fay, that after Supper there was a Fire made in his Chamber (for this young Gentlewoman Mrs Stout, prefs'd him to lie at their Houfe) and the order'd the Maid to warm his Bed, and I believe, fays the, Mr. Gamper heard her fay fo, for he was nearer to her than I at that time, and he doth not deny but that he heard it; the fays, that accordingly the went up to warm the Bed, and heving flaid there a waile, the heard it is Door clap, and when the came down into the Pare Bed, and having flaid there a while, fhe heard the Door clap, and when fhe came down into the Par-lour, where fhe had left them, they were both gone, and that fhe could not tell what the meaning of it was, and they waited for her all Night, old Mrs. Stear and this Maid, and fhe did not come in all Night, nor was afterwards feen alive. But Mr. Comper was the last Perfon feen in her Company.

The other Witneffes that came afterwards fpeak concerning the finding of the Body in the River, and tell you in what Pofture it was: I shall not undertake to give you the particulars of their Evidence, but they tell you she lay on her right fide, the one Arm up even with the Surface of the Water, and her Body under the Water, but fome of her Cloaths were above the Water, particularly one fays the Ruffles of her left Arm were above the Water: You have heard alfo what the Doctors and Surgeons faid on the one fide, and the other, concerning the finding and finking of dead Bodies in the Water, but I can find no certainty in it, and I leave it to your confideration.

Another Circumstance they build on, and which feems to be material, is of her Belly being lank, and that there was no fwelling; whereas, fay they, when a Perfon is drowned, there is a great deal of Water goes in, and makes the Belly to fwell; but here was no fwelling that morning the was taken out, and no Water came out of her Mouth and Noftrils, only a little Froth there was, and her Belly was lank, but fay they on the other fide, that may very well be, for perhaps the might be choak'd immediately, so founds the was in the Water, and; fay they, you may not wonder at that, for if the went to drown herfelf, the would endeavour to be choaked as foon as the could, for those Perfons that are drowned against their own confent do fwallow a great deal of Water, but those that drown themfelves don't fwallow much Water, for they are choaked immediately by the Water going into the Wind-pipe, that we commonly call going the wrong way. The Doftors and Surgeons have talk'd a great deal to this purpose, and of the Water's going into the Lungs or the Thorax, but unlefs you have more skill in Anatomy than I, you won't be much edify'd by it, I acknowledge I never fludied Anatomy, but I per-ceive that the Doctors do differ in their Notions about these things, but as to matter of Fact, it's agreed to by all the Witneffes for the King, that her Body was lank, her Belly was thin, and there was no fign of any Water to be in it. They, on the other fide tell you, that her Stays were on, and fhe was firait-laced, and that might eccasion her Belly's being fo fmall, and hinder the Water from going in. Gentlemen, I was very much puzzled in my Thoughts, and was at a lofs to find out what inducement there could be to draw in Mr. Comper, or thefe 3 other Gentlemen, to commit fuch + horrid barbarous Murder. And on the other hand, I could not imagine what there mould be to induce this Gentlewo-man, who is a Perfon of a plentiful Fortune, and a very fober good Reputation, to defiroy herfelf. Now Gentlemen, I muft confels the Evidence that the Defendants have given by thefe Letters, if you believe them to be this Gentlewoman's Hand-writing, do feem to fortify all that Mr. Corper's Witneffes have faid concerning her being melancholy, it might be a Differmer which came upon her, and turned her Brains, virtuous Woman for all that, for it might be a Differmer which came upon her, and turned her Brains, and difcompoled her Mind, and then no wonder at her writing thus, in a manner different from the reft of the Actions of her life. Gentlemen, you are to confider and weigh the Evidence, and I will not at the Time of the laft Affizes, what there is againft them you have heard, they talk'd at their Lodging at a frange rate concerning this Mrs. Sarah Stear, faying, Her Bufinels is done, and that there was an End of her Courting-days, and that a Friend of theirs was even with her by this time. What you can make of it, that I muft leave to you, but they were very firange Expressions and you are to judge whether they were spoken in jest, as they pretend, or in earnest. There was a Cord found in the Room, and a Bundle feen there, but I know not what to make of it. As to Mrs. Stout, there was no fign of any Circle about her Neck, which, as they fay, must have been if the had been ftrangled. Some Spots there were, but it is faid poffibly those might be occasioned by rubbing against some Piles or Stakes in the River. Truly, Gentlemen, thefe 3 Men by their talking have given great caufe of Sufpicion, but whether they or Mr. Comper, are Guilty or no, that you are to determine. I am fentible I have omitted many things, but I am a little faint, and cannot repeat any more of the Evidence.

Jury, We have taken minutes, my Lord.

Mr. Bar. Hatfell, Well then Gentlemen, go together, and confider your Evidence, and I pray God direct you in giving your Verdict?

Then one was Sworn to keep the Jury ; and in about half an hour the Jury returned. Cl. of Arr. Gentlemen, are all agreed in your Verdict?

Omnes, Yes. Cl of Are, Who fhall fay for you ?

Omner, Foreman,

Cl. of Ar. Spencer Comper, Hold up thy Hand (which he did) look upon the Prifoner ; how fay you? Is he guilty of the Felony and Murder whereof he flands indicted, or not guilty ?

Foreman, Not guilty

In like manner the Jury did give their Verdict, that John Marfon, Edis Stevens, and William Rogers were not guilty.

The Examination of John Marson, taken before me shis 7th day of April, 1699.

THO being Examined where he was on Monday the 13th of March laft, faith, that he was at the Burrough of Southwark (he being an Attorney of the faid Court) till paft 4 of the Clock in the Afternoon ; and faith, that he fet out from Southwark for Hertford foon after, and came to Hertford about 8 of the Clock the fame Afternoon, and put up his Horfe at the Sign of an Inn there, and then went to the Hand and Glove, together with Godfrey Gimbart, Efq; Ellis Stevens, William Rogers, and fome others, where they flaid till about 11 of the Clock at Night, and then this Examinant went thencedirectly to the Houfe of John Gurrey, with the faid Stevens and Rogers, who lay all together in the faid Gurrey's Houfe all that Night. And being asked what he faid concerning the faid Mrs. Sarah Stout deceased, this Examinant faith, that on Sunday the 12th of March laft, this Examinant being in Company with one Mr. Thomas Marfball, and telling him that this Examinant intended the next day for Hertford with the Marshal of the King's-Bench, the faid Thomas Marshall defired this Examinant and the faid Stevens, who was then also in Company, that they would go and fee the faid Sarah Stout (his Sweet-heart) He confeffeth that he did ask the faid Gurrey if he would fhew this Examinant where the faid Stout lived, telling the faid Gurrey that his Name was Marfball, and asked him if he never heard of him before, and jocularly faid that he would go to fee her the next Morning; but doth not believe that he faid any thing that any Friend was even with the faid Sarah Stout, or to fuch like effect. And doth confess that he did the next day, upon the faid Gurrey's telling him that the faid Stout was drowned, fay, that he would keep his Word, and would fee her. And faith, that meet-ing with Mr. Cowper (who is this Examinant's Acquaintance) he believes he did talk with him concerning the faid Stout's being drowned, this Examinant having feen her Body that Morning.
