PREFACE.

Unerring Nature learn to follow close,
For quantum sufficit is her just Dose;
Sufficient, clogs no wheels and tires no Horse,
Yet briskly drives the Blood around the Course;
And hourly adds unto its wastes, supplies,
In due proportion to what's spent and dies,
A 2 Whilst

WoH

Whilst furfeiting corrupts the purple Gore, And bankrupts Nature of her long-liv'd Store: And thus the Soul is from the Body tore Before its time.

Which, by a temperate Life, in a clean Cell, Might full a hundred Years with Comfort dwell, And drop, when ripe, as Nuts do slip the Shell.

Trust not to Constitution, 'twill decay, And twisted Strength, its Fibres wear away; Asclose wove Garments of a strong spun Thread The Woof frets out and tears away the Web: So Soul and Body tho' ne'er fo well conjoin'd,? The longer that they wear the more they grind, Then the crackt Organ must impair the Mind.) All finite Things tend to their own undoing, But Man alone's industrious to his Ruin; For what with Riot, Delicates and Wine, Turns Pioneer himself to undermine. Besides the hidden Snares laid in our way, The sudden Deaths we hear of every Day, The smoothest Paths have unseen Ambuscades, And Insecurity Security invades; For noMan knows what's the next Hour's Event, Man lives as he does die by Accident. How fost is Flesh, how brittle is a Bone! Time eats up Steel and Monuments of Stone, And from his Teeth art thou exempt alone? What Warrant hast thou that thy Body's proof Against the Anguish of an aching Tooth? How

How foon's a Fever rous'd by acute Pains?
The smallest Ails have all their Partizans;
And in intestine Wars they may divide,
And Life's Deserters list on the wrong side.
Diseases, like true Blood-hounds, seize their Dam,
And prey upon the Carkass whence they sprang.
Be always on thy Guard, watchful and wise,
Lest Death should take thee napping by Surprize.

Drunkenness and Gluttony steal Men off silently and singulatim, whereas Sword and Pestilence do it by the Lump; but then Death makes a Halt, and comes to a Cessation of Arms, but the other knows no Stop nor Intermission, but perpetually jogs on and depopulates insensibly and by Degrees; and tho' this is every Day experienc'd, yet Men are so enslav'd by Custom and a long Habit, that no Admonition will avail: So true is that Saying, That he that goes to the Tavern at first for the Love of the Company, will at last go thither for the Love of the Liquor: and therefore 'twas excelnard gave his Godson. Dr. Bay-

Pass by a Tavern-Door, my Son,
This facred Truth write on thy Heart;
'Tis easier, Company to shun,
Than at a Pint it is to part.

For one Pint draws another in,
And that Pint lights a Pipe;
And thus inth' Morn, they tap the Day,
And drink it out e'er Night:

Not dreaming of a fudden Bounce,
From Vinous Sulphurs stor'd within;
Which blows a Drunkard up at once,
When the Fire takes Life's Magazin.

An Apoplexy kills as fure
As Cannon Ball, and oft as foon;
And will no more yield to a Cure,
Than murd'ring Chain-shot from a Gun.

Why should Men dread a Cannon Bore, Yet boldly 'proach a Pottle Pot? That may fall short, shoot wide, or o'er, But Drinking is the surer Shot.

How

How many Fools about this Town,
Do quaff and laugh away their Time?
And Nightly knock each other down,
With Clarret Clubs, of No-GRAPE Wine!

Until a Dart from Bacchus Quiver,
As Solomon describeth right,
Does shoot his Tartar thro' the Liver
Then (Bonus Nocius) Sor, good Night.

Good Wine will kill as well as bad,
When drank beyond (our Nature's) Bounds;
Then Wine gives Life a mortal Stab,
And leaves her weltring in her Wounds.

Wounds! that no Physick Art can heal,
And very rarely that they feel
The Stroke, the Moment it does kill.

Many a Soul with great Difficulty lugs on a weak and worn-out Carkass to its daily Rendezvous, who perhaps for many Years has been nothing else but the Vintner's Conveniencer to carry his Liquors between the Hogshead and the Piss-Pot.

But when alas! Men come to die
Of Dropfy, Jaundice, Stone and Gout,
When the black Reckoning draws nigh,
And Life (before the Bottle)'s out:

When (low drawn) Time's upon the Tilt, Few Sands and Minutes left to run; And all our (past gone) years are spilt, And the great Work is left undone.

When restless Conscience knocks within And in Despair begins to baul, Death like a Drawer then steps in, And asketh, Gentlemen! d'ye call?

I wish that Men would, timely, think
On this great Truth in their full Bowls,
Both I and Will. of Ludgate-Hill,
And all our Friends round Pauls.

When a Man's Distempers stare him in the Face, and he is summon'd to lay down his Dust, he alas! then sees the Folly of his Ways, and what a miserable Purchase he has made with his mis-spent Time, Health and Money; and like a Malesactor at the Gallows, makes some short

Short Speech of Warning to his Companions, who give him the Hearing, and and perhaps are drunk with his own

Claret at his Funeral.

But alas! the Destruction of himself is the least Part of the Tragedy, the Mischief is struck deeper, and entails Hereditary Diseases on his innocent Posterity, to the eternal Insamy of his Name and Family; when the poor Off-spring of his wretched Carkass inherits nothing but the Schedule of his Distempers, and dwindles away a miserable Life, in Pills, Plaisters and Potions. I wish that Men may think of this, and prize and preserve a good Constitution and Stock of Health before it be too late.

I cannot better close this Epistle, than as the same Author observes the old Romans to have done, to their Friends.

Unhappy Man! that drinks his own undoing, As tho' his Business were, to pledge his Ruin. And that brave Texture his sound Parents knit, With Pipe and Pot he does unravel it. As if the Gods, in Anger gave him Wealth, To sacrifice to Bacchus, Youth and Health. Health of all earthly Blessings 'tis the best, Which most is valu'd, when 'tis least possest.

RULE of HEALTH.

The Definition.

EALTH is a free, easy, and perfect Enjoyment, of all the Faculties of Mind and Body to due Performance of the Animal Functions, without any Impediment, Pain or Molestation.

Which is thus to be attain'd.

I F twice Man's Age you would fulfil, Let Reason guide you, not your Will:

Let

Let all the Passions of the Soul

Be subject unto her Controle;

She checks all Rashness, and gives time,

To think, and re-think each Design;

Those that do thus, before they act,

'Tis rarely seen, repent the Fact:

This makes an easy, quiet Mind,

(The greatest Blessing of Mankind;)

And he that in this Bliss do's share,

Enjoys a Ray of Heaven here.

Fly all Excess, and first take Care,

Of Wine and Women to beware.

Sport, dally and tattle with 'em rarely,

And marry not a Wife too early;

Stay till you'r grown, and Joints are knit,

And you have Money got, and Wit:

For he that weds before he's wife,

Is shackled by a Fool's Advice;

Alas! then he may see his Fate,

And seel it too, when 'tis too late.

Let Supper little be, and light;

In fingle Life live pure and chafte,

Lest from your Face your NOSE you cast.

And is it not a great Disgrace,

To lose the Boltsprit of your Face?

Tho' Tears and Pray'rs may atone for th' Sin,

Yet Howling brings no NOSE again:

So never touch forbidden Fruit,

But think on NOSE, when tempted to't.

For

Till Hunger pinches, never eat;

And then, on plain, not spiced Meat.

Desist before you eat your sill,

Drink to dilute, but not to swill,

So no Ructations you will feel.

Let Supper little be, and light;

But none, makes always the best Night;

It gives sweet Sleep without a Dream,

Leaves Morning's Mouth sweet, moist and clean.

To lose the Bakeforic of your Face?

A little Breakfast you may eat,

But not so as to satisfie:

But Dinner then, you must postpone,

Till farther in the Asternoon;

HIT

For never load fresh Food upon
Your Stomach, till the former's gone;
For whatsoe'er is swallow'd thus,
Turns putrid and cadaverous:
And taking more than Nature needs,
Of most Distempers, are the Seeds.

Accustom early in your Youth

To lay Embargo on your Month;

And let no Rarities invite,

To pall and glut your Appetite:

But check it always, and give o'er,

With a Desire of eating more.

For where one dies by Inanition,

A thousand perish by Repletion.

To miss a Meal, sometimes is good,

It ventilates, and cools the Blood,

Gives Nature time to clean her Streets

From Filth and Crudities of Meats.

For too much Meat, the Bowels furr,

And Fasting's Nature's Scavenger.

When as your Stomach nauseates,

And kecks, at Smell or Sight of Meats:

By Vomit fetch away the Load

Of Phlegm and undigested Food,

And do it soon, before it dwells

So as to tinge its Tunicles;

And breed sow'r Ferment, which begets

Unsavoury Belches, and sick Fits,

And Steams, which taint the Mouth and Gums,
With feetid Smells, like ulcer'd Lungs:
And after Vomits, always use
Emollients soft, to cool and smooth;
For Reaching makes the Stomach fore,
Which Lenitives will best restore.

Abound, or stagnare, then 'tis good;

Which you may very eas'ly guess,

By heavy, stiff Unwieldiness.

Short Breath, high Pulse, & catera,

Then quickly take some Blood away:

But more especially in Stitches,

Pleuritic Pains, and pungent Twitches;

And after Vorsitz always

Then out of Hand without Delay

Take a good Quantity away.

For Purging I shall give no Rule,
But after Glutt'ny and cramming sull,
'Tis good to empty, and to cool;
Tho forc'd Evacuations are,
Such as we ought to use with Care,
Since 'tis not known, what we can spare:

* For Physick drives off with the Blood,
Some Parts of the substantial Good,
And if you'd keep the Ballance even,
Dame Nature must be led, not driven;

* Neque impune posse administrari, cum omnia præter naturam sint, ob idque naturales facultates infestent; nec possint adeo morbosas causas rescindere, quin una illis, aliquid etiam benignæ substantiæ rapiant. Galen. lib. de sectis prope sinem.

By Methods mild, and by Degrees,

We should relieve her Grievances:

As Fasting, Exercise, and Time,

And Water heals the Wounds of Wine.

But where the Fever's peracute,

It won't admit of long Dispute;

When Life's chief Fortress is attack'd,

Quickly consult, and quickly act:

For many a Life hath slipt away,

By careless trisling, and delay.

So when the Case is very urging,

Spare neither vomiting, nor purging;

Provided that your Judgment's tight,

And take the Indication right;

Ev'n then be not the only Agent,

Lest a dead Corps shou'd prove your Patient;
C 2 But

But call in Doctors of more Skill,

Who may you cure, or help you kill,

Then let it happen as it will,

You can't be found Felo de se,

If slain in learned Company.

It won't admit of long Dispute;

When struck in Years, strong Drink forbear,
Especially of Wine beware;
Old Men of Moissure want Supplies,
And Wine of all forts, heats and dries,
Twitches and Cramps, their Tartars give,
Hence they step short, and straddle stiff;
For vinous Spirits prey upon
Nutricious Juice, and vital Balm;
This makes 'em tabid, lean and thin
With loose and slabby, wrinkled Skin.
Water

Water and Whey, of Drinks are first, They cool, dilute, and quench the Thirst; And next to those is good small Beer, Not fow'r, but fmart, and brisk and clear. Not that in general I condemn, A Glass of gen'rous now and then; When you are faint, your Spirits low, Your String relax'd, 'twill bend your Bow, Brace your Drum Head, and make you tight, Wind up your Watch, and set you right: But then again the too much Use Of all strong Liquors is th' Abuse; 'Tis Liquid makes the Solids loofe, ) The Texture and whole Frame destroys, But Health lies in the Equipoise.

T

The greatest part o'th' World's content

With Adam's Ale, pure Element;

And who so strong, and does more Work,

Than doth the Water drinking Turk?

And when the Stomach's out of order,

No Cordial, like a Glass of Water;

This, this has baffled all the Slops

Of Ladies Closets, and the Shops.

As Water's best, so 'twas the first

Of Liquors, made to quench the Thirst,

Of Men, of Beasts, of Plants and Trees;

From whence they all have their Encrease:

Its Uses are too manifold,

And mary'lous great e'er to be told;

Brace your Drum Heads and make you tight,

Its Particles constituent,

Are too minute an Element.

Its Make and Texture, Crasis, Grain,

Are too stupendiously fine

For Virtuoso's to descry,

Tho' Glasses come t'assist their Eye.

Cease! then, vain Search! let that alone,

Hid, with all Essences unknown;

But be content that the Creator,

Has blest the World with so much Water.

It works itself (as being thin)

Int' all the Pores and Parts within;

Helps all Secretions in their Uses,

And sweetens sharp and sowr Juices;

Tempers hot Bile, thins viscid Phlegm,

And moderates in each Extreme;

Damps

Damps the fierce Aftus of the Blood, Abates the Fevers boyling Flood; Dilutes the Salts, melts off their Points, And acrid Particles disjoints; And is the only Liquor that Never grows eager, sharp, or flat: Give it but Motion, Room, and Air, Its Purity will ne'er impair: Experience daily fliews it true, That Water only this can do. All other Liquors made by Art, Grow rancid, vapid, four, and tart.

Chuse Water that is cool, and thin,
Such as feels smooth, and soft to th' Skin,
Looks clear, and bright, and crystalline:

Helps all Secretions in their Ules,

The

The lightest Water is the best, That is, without or Smell, or Taste: Which standing long, yields few Contents, Of Scum, or Clouds, or Sediments; Such as will lather cold with Soap, Tho' ne'er was fainted by the Pope, (As Bridget, Anne, and Winifred,) For 'tis the Water does the Feat, The Saints, the Varnish, and the Cheat; And he that has a Spring like this, Has with good Air a double Bliss.

Never give way to Sloth and Ease,

For Laz'ness is a great Disease,

And when it has Possession got,

It makes the Man a stupid Sot:

When

A Fire, except the Cold's levere;

When Sleep does first desert you, rise;

Next, wash the Gum from off your Eyes:

Cold Water pure will clear the Sight,

Comfort the Eyes, and keep them bright.

Indulge not Drowfiness, unless

It does proceed from Weariness.

'Thout some Fatigue, there's no sound Sleep,

'Tis eating without Appetite;

For those that start in Sleep, or shake,

Find small Refreshment when they wake:

And when you rise, approach not near

A Fire, except the Cold's severe;

And then, at distance take the Heat,

Because it does inhebitate;

And Sloth, and Sluggishness induce,

And spoil your natural Rest by Use.

This

This Custom, Students must avoid,

For Memory is by Heat annoy'd

And by hard Drinking, quite destroy'd.

For Reminiscence is strongest where,

The Head's serene, and cool and clear;

This Truth is seen in Regions cold,

There what they read they always hold.

But 'tis the Nature of a Wit,

Soon to invent, foon to forget;

For from the Brain that's hot and dry,

The flight Impressions quickly fly:

Whereas in moist and phlegmy Brains,

The Stamp's struck deep, and long remains.

Tho' 'tis allow'd, there are some few

That have good Wits, and Mem'ry too.

A gen'ral Rule we may go by, Is eating fuch things 'specially, As are least apt to putrefy. New Milk and Rice, Bread, Corn, and Roots, Fresh Sallets, and fresh gather'd Fruits, Sweet Butter, Oil, and well made Cheefe; For those who mostly feed on these, Live long, and gently wear away, Perceiving not their own Decay, To th'utmost Point o'th' fatal Day. Then without Pain, like Lamps expire, With the last Spark of vital Fire.
