REASONS

FOR ESTABLISHING

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL,

FOR

LUNATICS.

THE advantage accruing to the public, from hospitals in general, is sufficiently proved by their great and increasing number, and the propriety and necessity of a separate establishment for the care of lunatics, must be obvious from the nature of the accommodation and attendance which they require. In the year 1751, a few benevolent persons, having observed that the hospitals then established were not capable of receiving all the patients of this description who applied for relief, and that by the unavoidable exclusion or delay in their admission, many useful members had had been lost to society, either by the disorder gaining strength beyond the reach of medicine, or by the patients falling into the hands of persons utterly unskilled in the treatment of the disorder, or who had found their advantage in neglecting the means of cure.—That many families (in no mean circumstances) through the heavy expense attending the support of one member thus afflicted, had themselves become objects of charitable relief, and thereby doubled the load and loss to the public.—That the most fatal acts of violence on themselves, attendants, and relations, had been often consequent on the unavoidable delay of placing those afflicted with this disorder under the care of persons experienced in guarding against and preventing them. That no particular provision had at that time been made by law for the care of lunatics.—That the common parish work-houses were nowise proper for their reception, either in point of accommodation, attendance, or medical assistance, and that the joining this to any other hospital, would have deprived it of two of its principal advantages, the being under the immediate inspection and government of its own patrons and supporters, and of introducing more gentlemen of the faculty to the study and practice of this most important branch of it, they determined therefore to open a subscription for a new hospital, under the name of ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL for Lunatics, which has since enjoyed so large a portion of the patronage and

and support of the public, that the President and Governors consider it as a proof that the Institution has answered the end proposed.

The following pages contain the rules and orders of the Institution, a list of the governors and officers, with an account of the funds, &c. viz.—

Instructions

INSTRUCTIONS

For Persons applying for the Admission of Patients into St. Luke's Hospital for Lunatics.

RULES RENDERING PATIENTS INADMISSIBLE.

- I. The possession of sufficient means for decent support in a private asylum.
- II. Having been insane more than twelve calendar months.
- III. Having been discharged uncured from any other Hospital for the reception of Lunatics.
- IV. Being troubled with epileptic fits, paralysis, or in a state of idiocy.
- V. Females with child.
- VI. Requiring (from disease or debility) the separate attendance of a nurse, or the assistance of a crutch.
- VII. Being under the age of 12, or above 70 years.
- VIII. Being brought not clean, not properly clothed, and not free from infectious disease.

A Committee of Governors assemble at the Hospital, every Friday morning, at Eleven o'Clock precisely, for the purpose of receiving petitions, and for the admission of patients, &c.

Directions.—When the petition, certificates, and Governor's recommendation are properly filled up, according to the marginal directions, they must be left with the Secretary, Mr. Thomas Webster, No. 25, Queen-street, Cheapside; or at the Hospital; and the petitioner must attend the Committee,

Committee, to state particulars relative to the patient's case, which particulars proving satisfactory, the Committee will forthwith proceed to examine and admit the patient, or if not brought, will order such patient to attend for examination on the succeeding Friday.

Securities.—One day or more previous to the proposed admission of the patient, the names, business, and places of abode of two substantial housekeepers, residing within ten miles of London, must be left, in writing, for the secretary, at the hospital, both of whom must attend at ten o'clock in the morning of the day of admission, to enter into an agreement in writing, binding themselves in a penalty of one hundred pounds, to take the patient away from the hospital when required so to do, by the committee or their secretary. If the patient lives more than ten miles from London, the sureties may be housekeepers of the parish in which the lunatic dwells, provided the officiating minister of the parish certifies, in writing, to their respectability. The form of the agreement to be signed in the country, will be transmitted with the order for bringing the patient to the Hospital.

N. B. No governor of the hospital can be security for any patient.

Payment.—A payment of four pounds must be made with each patient receiving parochial relief, which sum is not returnable unless the patient dies or is discharged within one month after admission.

N. B. Every person who, through mistake, or misinformation, shall have been received into the Hospital, shall be discharged immediately, on a discovery of any of the above disqualifications.

 The committee will not sit either on Good Friday or Christmas Day, but on the Thursday previous to those days.*

Certificate to be signed by the Minister and Churchwarden, or Minister and Overseer.
