*"Patriotism is not enough.
I must have no hatred for anyone in my heart."*

1915

Who are we?

We are a group of nurses and other health workers within MAPW whose aims are those set out in the Association's leaflet. However, our more intimate contact with patients and our involvement with the suffering of war wounded or refugees gives us different perspectives. Our work, home and community commitments, too, present us with different needs.

What do we do?

We meet to explore and discuss topics relating to the above.

When and where do we meet?

Meetings take place approximately every two months at a venue in Central London.

How can one find out more?

Enquiries overleaf.

Topics such as the following have been presented and discussed:

1. Nursing experience with Afghan refugees in Pakistan
2. Health visitor's view of the IPPNW conference in Moscow
3. What health professionals can do about preventing war
4. The WHO document on nuclear war and the health service, and the BMA discussion document on the same theme
5. Working for Peace
6. Mothers and babies in prison
7. Greenham and the peace movement
8. Amnesty International
9. Reconciliation work in Northern Ireland
