A

SHORT ACCOUNT

OF THE

ORIGIN AND PRESENT STATE

OF THIS

SOCIETY.

November 4, 1815.

WITH a view to interest the Public in the success of this Institution, it is thought necessary to give the following concise statement of the nature and effects of those calamities, for the relief of which the Society was established. The facts here mentioned, it is presumed, will be amply sufficient to excite attention and induce inquiry.

It has been estimated that at least one person in fifteen is ruptured: but, among those classes of the community which are much exposed to labour, the average may be certainly fixed at one in eight or nine. The proportion, however, of sufferers from this disease, is incomparably greater in places where the situation is low and damp, the atmosphere relaxing, and especially where the daily employment of the poor requires strong exertion of the limbs. The Committee of this Institution have been credibly informed, that, in some few parishes, the proportion may be computed at even a fourth of the labouring population!

This complaint is not confined to any particular age or sex, nor is it the consequence of depraved habits or immoral behaviour: but it may arise at any period of life, either from a natural bodily defect, or from very sudden muscular action; and it can be neither foreseen nor avoided, by the wealthy or the poor. Its tendency is so alarming, that without timely aid it generally terminates by a painful and rapid dissolution in early life, or during the vigour of manhood; although, in a majorrity of cases, its fatal consequences may almost certainly be prevented by the careful application of an appropriate TRUSS or COMPRESS.

As many persons do not know that Females are liable to this heavy affliction, a comparative statement is given by Mr. BLAIR; which will show the proportion and species of herniary complaints occurring in each sex.

PROLAPSES (a class of disorders vulgarly called "a bearing down of the body") are extremely similar to ruptures, originating in a similar infirmity of the bodily frame, and usually requiring a like plan of treatment. They are not, indeed, equally common; but yet occur much more frequently than an inattentive observer might be apt to suppose, and are especially incident to the weaker sex. The sense of delicacy attached to this complaint, has the effect of concealing from public view both the number and sufferings of its victims; circumstances which could not fail, were they fully known, to produce a powerful impression on every humane and benevolent mind. Perhaps, indeed, the sufferings adverted to will not bear a minute description; and it may therefore suffice generally to observe, that, although so frequent, the distress attending these cases can scarcely be conceived, except by those individuals who have had some opportunity of knowing them, either from personal or professional experience.

Among the afflicted poor, where no means of relief have been resorted to, during the existence of ruptures and prolapses, the unhappy objects are commonly disabled from fulfilling the ordinary duties of their stations; insomuch, that in the army and navy it is an invariable rule to dismiss from the service those men who become ruptured by the violence of their exertions. How lamentable a fact is it, that many thousands of individuals, perhaps during the period of full health and activity, should drag on a most useless and miserable life, for want of either the means or the knowledge requisite to obtain relief, when that knowledge and those means can so easily be provided by their affluent neighbours!

The extreme danger of these complaints, and the great inconveniences entailed on those persons who suffer this dreadful calamity, have given rise to an innumerable host of truss-sellers, rupture-mongers, women-doctors, and ignorant impostors; so that "no disease (as the late celebrated Mr. POTT observes) has ever furnished such a constant succession of quacks as ruptures have." These pretenders are to be found in almost every city, town, and village throughout this kingdom; for, whoever can forge an iron hoop, or fabricate an elastic compress, thinks himself qualified to undertake the cure of an infirmity, the treatment of which demands as much anatomical and surgical knowledge as any disorder incident to human nature. If a greater mischief can happen to the ruptured poor than the malady with which they are visited, it is that of unhappily falling into the hands of unprincipled or ignorant truss-makers and empirics; who have no skill, but in the art of money-getting, and no idea of the curative means, but by rude mechanical pressure.

This Society will afford a more ample extension of its benefits to the army and navy, as soon as its funds shall prove adequate for that purpose; and it includes within the sphere of its bounty a description of poor sufferers (namely, persons afflicted with PROLAPSES;) who have heretofore been left unprotected and forsaken. With a reference to this two-fold object of its formation, it is named THE NEW RUPTURE SOCIETY, FOR THE RELIEF OF THE POOR OF BOTH SEXES AFFLICTED WITH HERNIARY COMPLAINTS AND PROLAPSES.

The great national importance of relieving the necessitous and afflicted class of people here alluded to, must be sufficiently obvious to every reflecting mind; and when it is distinctly made known how small a sum will be annually required for the comfort and security of so many deplorable sufferers, it is hoped no feeling spectator of such wretchedness can withhold his contribution. The New Rupture Society was instituted on the 15th of May 1804, by a respectable meeting of benevolent gentlemen, convened at the Freemasons' Tavern; and patients were admitted on the 6th of July 1805, since which time the number of persons applying for trusses has been rapidly and progressively increasing.

The yearly number of patients hitherto attended by the Surgeon of this Charity, most of whom were totally destitute of the necessary Apparatus for their personal safety, is as follows:

	1805 to 1806	No.	76
	1806 to 1807	—	252
	1807 to 1808	—	407

	1812 to 1813	—	903
	1813 to 1814	—	1009
	1814 to 1815	—	1153

The following comparative Statement, taken from Mr. BLAIR'S Register of Patients relieved by the New Rupture Society, will show the proportion and species of herniary cases occurring in each sex :

It is difficult to ascertain at what age persons are most liable to become ruptured; probably, however, during the middle period of life: but, more than two hundred and fifty of the above patients (chiefly males) were ruptured prior to their birth; about the proportion of a fifth of whom had double inguinal herniæ, and one tenth had navel ruptures. Happily, these congenital cases admitted of perfect cure, by the application of a compress during the state of infancy.

In the cases of double rupture, bubonocèle was often combined with femoral hernia. Of the above females afflicted with prolapses of the bowel, twenty had also uterine prolapses, nine were likewise ruptured, and one had a prolapse of the urinary bladder. Many of the patients having ruptures in the navel, had at the same time inguinal or femoral herniæ; and four women had also a prolapsus ani. Two men who laboured under ventral ruptures, had likewise double inguinal herniæ. Several females, having prolapses, had also herniæ, either in the navel, or on one or both sides. Eight of the men had prolapses, with inguinal ruptures. Another male subject had one inguinal and two femoral ruptures, produced by sudden bodily exertion: and, in about sixty-five of the males, hydrocèle or cirsocèle was combined with their ruptures; all which accessory cases were either cured or greatly relieved, by appropriate surgical operations.

The affairs of the New Rupture Society are managed by a Committee of Governors, consisting of a Patron, two or more Vice-Patrons, one President, several Vice-Presidents, two Joint Treasurers, all the Life Subscribers of fifteen guineas, with so many Yearly Subscribers as may be approved by a ballot of the Committee, and confirmed at the annual general meeting; among whom are included the Surgeon and Secretary for the time being, so long as they render their services gratuitously to this institution.

Life Subscribers of fifteen guineas, and contributors of not less than two guineas each per annum, are Governors of this Charity; but Subscribers of smaller sums are denominated Members.

Patients may be recommended in the following ratio, viz.

For every guinea subscribed per annum, as well as for every life subscription, two patients (whether afflicted with ruptures or prolapses) may be recommended within the year, to be provided with either single or double trusses of the best quality. Annual Subscribers of two guineas are allowed as many patients as shall require four trusses, whether single or double; and the same proportion is extended to Subscribers of larger sums.

In cases of extreme urgency and distress, the Surgeon is authorized to relieve patients who apply to him without any recommendation; but this permission must be always regulated and restricted by the state of the Society's funds. Several hundred very miserable objects are annually assisted as casual applicants, some of whom come from distant parts of the country; and by such prompt relief many valuable lives may have been preserved.

 By an order of the Governors, notice has been publicly given to parochial officers, superintendants of Hospitals, and the conductors of other charitable Institutions, that the benefits of this Society are extended to all parts of the kingdom; provided exact descriptions of the cases be sent by any Subscriber, post paid, to Mr. BLAIR, SURGEON, No. 69, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury Square. In consequence of this order, the heads of several parishes and public Institutions have subscribed to the NEW RUPTURE SOCIETY, and thus are enabled to relieve their own afflicted poor at a small yearly expense.*

All Patients who apply to the Surgeon personally, must attend at his house, with their Letters of recommendation, at nine o'clock of the morning precisely.

Donations and Subscriptions for the use of the New Rupture Society are received by the following Bankers: Messrs. HOARE, Fleet Street, Treasurers to this Institution; HANKEY and Co. Fenchurch Street; FULLER, CHATTERIS, and Co. Lombard Street; RANSOM and Co. Pall Mall; and by Mr. CRUMP, the Collector to this Society, No. 13, Judd Street, Brunswick Square; of whom may be had the printed Regulations, and a List of the Subscribers.

Speedily will be published by Mr. BLAIR, at the Request of the Governors:

DIRECTIONS for the MANAGEMENT of RUPTURES and PROLAPSES; including a familiar Description of those Maladies, and a comparative Account of more than Six Thousand Three Hundred Cases in both Sexes.

REGULATIONS.

§ I. OF THE SOCIETY.

1. THE New Rupture Society consists of one patron, two or more vice-patrons, one president, twelve or more vice-presidents, the subscribers in general, two joint-treasurers, one or more surgeons, a secretary, and a collector.

2. The governors are, the patron, vice-patrons, president, the vice-presidents, treasurers, subscribers of fifteen guineas or more at one payment, or who make up that sum in one year (computing from their first payment), subscribers of not less than two guineas per annum, and who shall have paid that sum for twenty-one days at least; with the surgeon and secretary, so long as they render their services gratuitously to this institution.

3. Annual subscribers of sums under two guineas are denominated members of the Society.

4. The right of nominating patients is vested in subscribers only, and is as follows, viz.

(a) For every annual subscription of one guinea, two patients, whether afflicted with ruptures or prolapses, may be recommended within the year, to be provided with trusses or bandages adapted to their cases.

(b) For every life subscription of fifteen guineas, or more at one payment, or which shall be made up to that sum in one year, the same number and description of patients may be recommended as for one guinea per annum.

(c) For every annual subscription of two guineas, four patients may be recommended within the year, to be provided with trusses or bandages adapted to their cases.

(d) For every larger subscription, a greater number of patients may be recommended in similar proportions.

§ II. GENERAL MEETINGS.

1. An annual general meeting shall be held at two o'clock in the afternoon precisely, on such day of the first week in April, as the committee shall appoint; when five subscribers (as at all other general meetings) shall constitute a board.

2. The patron, either of the vice-patrons, the president, any two of the vice-presidents, both the treasurers, or the monthly committee, shall have power to call a special general meeting at any other time; giving, at least, one week's notice thereof, by an advertisement in two or more of the daily papers, twice in each, specifying the reason of convening such meeting.

3. Only the special business, for which any special general meeting of the subscribers shall have been advertised and convened, can be entered upon at such meeting.

4. At the annual general meeting, twenty or more subscribers of not less than one guinea each per annum, shall be elected members of the committee for the year ensuing.

5. At the annual general meeting, a report of the committee concerning the state of the society's finances, and the number of patients relieved during the preceding year, shall be read for the information of the governors and members at large.

6. There shall be no alteration of the fundamental laws for the government of this charity, except at a general meeting; and any alterations that may be adopted, shall not be deemed valid until confirmed by a subsequent general meeting.

§ III. COMMITTEE.

1. The affairs of the New Rupture Society shall be managed by a committee, consisting of one patron, two or more vice-patrons, one president, twelve or more vice-presidents, two joint treasurers, all the life subscribers of fifteen guineas, and so many yearly subscribers (of not less than one guinea each) as may be approved by a ballot in the said committee, and confirmed at an annual general meeting; among whom shall also be included the surgeon and secretary for the time being, so long as they, or either of them, render his or their services gratuitously to this institution.

2. The committee shall meet on the last Friday in every month, or on such other day as may best suit their convenience, at seven o'clock in the afternoon precisely.

3. At all committees, any three members being present shall constitute a quorum.

4. The committee at their meetings in March, June, September, and December, previous to the transaction of any other business, shall examine and audit the accounts; and order the debts to be discharged, by drafts on the treasurers, signed by three members of the committee, and countersigned by the secretary.

5. At their monthly meeting in March, which next precedes the annual general meeting, they shall examine the surgeon's register of patients relieved during the current year, and prepare the necessary business to be laid before the annual general meeting of this society.

6. At the meeting of the committee next preceding the annual general meeting, they shall also consider of and nominate five other members to succeed an equal number, who (not being officers) are then to go out of the committee: this nomination by the committee being subject to the approbation or alteration of the annual general meeting, or of any special general meeting to be held for that purpose.

7. The committee shall have power to resolve itself, or any number of its members, into a subordinate committee for special purposes, whenever they may think it necessary.

8. One of the treasurers, or any three members of the monthly committee, may, by writing, authorize the secretary to summon a special meeting of the committee; who shall convene the same accordingly, by a circular letter addressed to each member thereof, giving at least two days previous notice.

9. All subscribers may attend the monthly meetings of the committee, and offer their opinion on any special business; but cannot vote, unless they be members of such committee.

10. The application of all dividends, with the interest of stock and securities, and such annual subscriptions as have been, or may be received, shall be under the direction of the committee, until further instructions be given by a general meeting.

§ IV. ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. At all meetings the chair shall be taken at the precise hour specified in the summons, provided a quorum be present.

2. The minutes of the preceding meeting shall then be read, and proposed by the chairman for confirmation.

3. The chairman shall permit only one person to speak at a time on any matter under discussion; and no motion shall be considered regularly under debate, until the same shall have been openly proposed and seconded. Any subscriber speaking to order, shall be first heard.

4. To prevent misunderstanding at any meeting respecting the subject of debate, the mover of a resolution shall put the same in writing, before the chairman submit it to the vote or determination of the members present.

5. The chairman at every general meeting is to see that the fair minutes of proceedings at the antecedent general meeting do correspond in all material points with the rough minutes, and to subscribe his name to the fair minutes.

§ V. ELECTIONS AND BALLOTS.

1. On every question to be decided by ballot, the governors shall be entitled to two votes each, and the members to one vote. A ballot may be demanded by any three subscribers assembled at a general meeting, as well as during the election of an officer.

2. No annual contributor of less than two guineas can be entitled to vote at elections, until he shall have subscribed twelve calendar months at least, and his or her contribution has been paid in advance for the second year; but all life-subscribers of fifteen guineas each, or subscribers making up that sum in one year, and likewise all those who pay two or more guineas per annum, shall, after having subscribed twenty-one days, be entitled to the above privilege, and be eligible to the committee.

3. Non-subscribers, and subscribers being six calendar months in arrear, shall not be entitled to vote at any election, nor any new contributor whose subscription shall not have been paid previous to the declaration of the vacancy.

4. The patron, vice-patrons, president, and vice-presidents, members of parliament, and such subscribers as have contributed fifteen guineas within one year, ladies, and subscribers who are declared by their medical attendants to be incapable from sickness of appearing personally, may appoint in writing any of the other subscribers as their proxies to vote at elections.

5. In case of any stipendiary office becoming vacant by death, resignation, neglect of duty, or any other cause, and the time for the next ensuing monthly meeting of the committee shall exceed ten days from the period at which such vacancy shall happen, one of the treasurers, or three members of the committee, within seven days next after such vacancy, shall cause a special meeting of the committee to be convened, giving at least two days previous notice; at which meeting such vacancy shall be notified upon the minutes of the committee, and taken into consideration, and the circumstances, if deemed necessary, submitted to the annual general meeting in April, or to a special general meeting convened for that purpose.

6. When any vacancy shall have been notified by the committee, such vacancy shall be reported to the ensuing annual general meeting, or to any special general meeting; and a time and place for the election of a new officer shall be appointed, to take place in not less than twenty-one days next after the time of the declaration of such vacancy by the general meeting: public notice thereof being immediately given in three of the daily papers, at least twice in each, and in any other manner the committee may think proper.

7. All contested elections shall be conducted by ballot agreeably to the following regulations, viz.

(a) At twelve o'clock at noon the chair shall be taken according to the precedence of the governors then present, and each candidate for the vacant office may depute a governor to be a scrutineer on his part.

(b) The secretary shall provide an accurate list of subscribers to the charity, with the number of votes each is entitled to give, for the use of the candidates and the chairman; also a sufficient number of each of the candidates' names, written or printed on small pieces of paper.

(c) All persons offering to vote, including proxies, shall deliver a paper, containing the name of the candidate for whom they intend to vote, into the hands of the chairman, who shall deposit the same in a box or glass to be provided for that purpose.

(d) The secretary and scrutineers shall write the name of each subscriber who votes: and if any person shall offer to ballot, whose right appears dubious, or shall be objected against by either of the scrutineers, the chairman shall indorse his name on the paper he delivers in, and lay the same aside until all the other votes shall have been taken, to be then allowed or rejected by a ballot of the qualified subscribers present.

(e) At the close of the ballot, the several lists shall be compared and adjusted before the box or glass be opened; the number of papers shall then be respectively counted, and if the whole together agree with the number of names written or printed as before mentioned, the chairman, first announcing who has the majority of votes, shall declare such person to be duly elected: all these proceedings to be transacted in the presence of the governors and members assembled.

(f) All disputes concerning elections shall be determined by a ballot of the qualified governors and members finally present.

(g) In all cases of an equality of votes, the chairman for the time being is entitled to a second or casting vote.

(h) In every case where two or more balloting tickets may happen to be folded together, they shall both or all be laid aside, and not counted in the ballot.

(i) The doors of the balloting-room shall be closed at three o'clock precisely.

(k) If any person entitled to vote be in the balloting-room at the time of closing the doors, he shall be permitted to vote immediately, although the clock may have struck three.

§ VI. OFFICERS AND SALARIES.

1. All honorary offices, held without gratuity, fee, or reward, shall be proposed and recommended by the committee to be filled up at the annual general meeting; and retained during life, unless otherwise determined by a subsequent annual general meeting, at the suggestion of the said committee.

2. No new salary, nor increase of salary or gratuity, exceeding the sum of five guineas, shall be voted to any officer who hath heretofore served this charity, or doth now, or may hereafter belong to the same, except at the annual general meeting; a recommendation to that effect having been adopted at a previous meeting of the monthly committee, and confirmed at a subsequent meeting:

the secretary, in the summons for convening this subsequent meeting, shall also have apprized the members of the committee of such recommendation.

3. The treasurers shall issue to the collector the necessary printed receipts, properly numbered, and take an acknowledgment or cheque for the same: they shall order the collector to pay into their hands the money he may have received, every month, or oftener, as the committee may think proper; and the treasurers shall discharge all drafts signed by three members of the committee, and countersigned by the secretary.

4. The treasurers shall exhibit an accurate statement of their accounts every three months to the committee; and the money remaining in their hands shall be invested in the public funds, or in other Government securities, if ordered at a general meeting, or by the monthly committee.

5. All investments of money in the public funds or other Government securities for the use of the New Rupture Society, shall be in the names of the two joint treasurers for the time being, who are to be parties to the bonds, contracts, and other pecuniary engagements of this society. Upon the death or resignation of either of them, his office shall be supplied at the next annual general meeting; but until the vacancy be filled, the continuing officer shall have full power to act for the society, or the committee may appoint a treasurer pro tempore.

6. The Surgeon shall be a member of the Royal College of Surgeons in London; and no surgeon practising pharmacy or midwifery shall be deemed eligible to this institution.

7. The surgeon is empowered to order trusses or bandages for those patients who are properly recommended by subscribers to the New Rupture Society, and also to prescribe the necessary medicines. He is likewise empowered, at the discretion and under the control of the monthly committee, to relieve casual cases of emergency, without the usual recommendation.

8. The surgeon's register of the patients shall (every quarter at least) be submitted to the inspection of the committee.

9. The secretary shall summon meetings when necessary; and shall attend all general meetings, committees, and audits, at the appointed hour, to keep accurate minutes of the proceedings, and to do such other business as the society or committee may require.

10. The collector (who is also the messenger) shall find two sureties to be approved by the committee, who shall join with him in a bond to the treasurers in a reasonable penalty for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office as collector.

11. He shall regularly collect the annual subscriptions to the charity as they become due, keep a correct list thereof, and pay the same monthly to the treasurers or their order, or oftener if the committee shall so direct.

12. He shall attend all meetings of the society and its committees, and do all such other business as shall be required by the committee or the secretary.

13. He shall be provided with a proper printed cheque receipt-book, to be approved by the treasurers; and for every subscription or donation paid for the use of this institution, he shall at the same time deliver to the donor or subscriber a printed or engraved receipt of the treasurers for the same, countersigned by himself.

o'clock in the morning, which is the only hour of business. They will also take notice, that every contributor of one guinea per annum, as well as every life-governor, subscribing fifteen guineas, is entitled to recommend only two patients in the year requiring single or double trusses; and that a similar privilege is extended, in the like proportion, to annual contributors or life-governors paying larger sums.

Rules for the Patients.

1. All patients must apply to the surgeon (as before directed) at nine o'clock in the morning.
2. No persons but those that are really indigent, and who have either a rupture or a bearing-down of their body, are admitted to receive any benefit from this institution.
3. The benefit of this charity will be extended to any part of the kingdom; provided an exact description of the case, with a proper measurement of the patient, be sent (post paid) by one of the subscribers, addressed to Mr. BLAIR.
4. Those persons whose cases require them to be visited at their own habitations, must give immediate notice to the surgeon, who will himself attend them within a moderate distance, or (if too remote) will endeavour to procure the necessary attendance as speedily as possible.
5. If they neglect to apply or send to the surgeon, for the space of ten days after the date of their recommendatory letter, he is authorized to decline relieving them.
6. They are punctually to observe the instructions given by the surgeon, or the truss-maker; and, when they shall have been relieved, must take a printed letter of thanks to the subscriber who recommended them, or forfeit all relief from this charity in future.
7. Patients who are discharged for irregular and seeking to obtain a subscriber's presentation, has induced me to signify that you have a vacant commendatory letter, and that appears to be a proper object for your humane attention.
