P R E F A C E .

THIS little volume must not be considered in any way as a substitute for larger and well-known Cookery Books, the standard works on the subject of cookery for many years. It is more intended for beginners who require a book to which they can instantly refer whilst preparing a dish, and which tells them in the fewest possible words the ingredients they will require in its preparation, the quantity of each ingredient, the process or processes through which it has to go before it can be mixed with the other ingredients, and the order in which these processes have to follow each other. No attempt is made to treat cooking from a scientific point of view; the object has been to provide a handy, practical, concise book, easily referred to, and in which it is not necessary to read through the whole of the recipe in order to find the particular point that requires the moment's study. The tabular system followed obviates any necessity of this kind: the young student of cookery looks down the columns, notes the nature and amount of the ingredients required, collects these round her, and then sees what has to be done with each one.

The quantities have been given as accurately as possible, and should be carefully observed; at the same time, the cook should note the taste of the individuals for whom she exercises her art, and alter the seasonings and flavouring of the dishes as she thinks expedient in order to render the food thoroughly palatable. A little experience will soon give the necessary skill for judging such matters.

The recipes given include all those usually required by English middle-class families, and to these have been added the recipes of a number of French, German, and Italian dishes, all good in their several ways, easy of preparation, and likely to be acceptable as providing a little agreeable change in the rather limited menu of the ordinary English cuisine.

More recipes are given for soups and vegetables than are usually found in English cookery books, for these two very nutritious, economical, and delicious branches of cookery are generally too much overlooked in England.

A great number of recipes are also given for "little dishes," made either from fresh meat or from such as has been already cooked. The preparation of these requires care and intelligence, but without a due exercise of these two qualities neither cooking, nor any other art, is likely to be pursued with success.

METHODS OF COOKING.

ROASTING.

ROASTING is the simplest and most generally adopted way of cooking fresh meat; it may be done in the oven, or before the fire on a spit, or suspended from a bottle-jack—most people prefer this method, as tending less to deteriorate the flavour of the meat. For a large joint the fire should be strong and even; for a smaller joint it should be brisk—in either case the length of the fire should be a little longer than that of the meat, so that the ends of the joint may be roasted equally with the centre. Large joints are improved if they are allowed to lie in the dripping pan near the fire until warmed through, before they are hung up to roast. Great care must be used in roasting meat on a spit not to run this through the best part of the joint, as the gravy escapes by the holes made by the spit—the same remark holds good with skewers: string should be used as much as possible instead of skewers, to prevent the loss of gravy.

The time generally allowed for roasting is a quarter of an hour to each pound of meat, and the joint is tender in proportion with the slowness of the roasting. There are, however, some points to be noted with regard to time that should be remembered; fresh meat takes longer to roast than does meat that has been hung for some time; young meat requires less cooking than that of older animals; and fat meat takes longer than lean meat, which should be covered with buttered paper before roasting, to prevent burning and dryness.

Small—and especially thin—joints may be put down to a brisk fire, which causes the fibres to contract and prevents the gravy from escaping. Large joints should not be put close to the fire at first, but gradually brought nearer to it, so that the heat may penetrate to the centre of the joint without scorching and burning the outside of it.

Salt may be sprinkled over the joint while it lies in the pan before the fire, or when it is partially cooked: basting should be continued the whole time the joint is before the fire. It should be sheltered from draughts while roasting, and when the steam rises from the joint it is time to take it off the spit. The outside of a well-cooked joint is well browned, but not burnt: the inside is filled with natural gravy, the juice of the meat. Some joints, such as a fillet of veal, have flour dredged over them and browned, just before taking the meat from the fire.

The cook must consult the taste of the family as to the amount of roasting that is required: veal, pork, and lamb should always be thoroughly done, but many people prefer beef and mutton rather underdone. To secure great tenderness, keep the joint at a distance from the fire, and allow half an hour to each pound of meat, and put it closer to the fire to brown it for the last half hour before serving. Roasted in this way the joint will be tender and thoroughly done.

BAKING.

The oven is now often used for roasting meat instead of cooking the joint before the open fire: to many people, however, meat cooked in this way is unpalatable, and, except for its convenience, baking cannot be recommended as a substitute for roasting.

Meat is baked in a tin dish, but raised on a stand so that it may not rest in the gravy that drips from it. To prevent it from being dried or burnt, sheets of buttered paper may be skewered over it, and potatoes or a Yorkshire pudding may be baked in the dish under the meat.

The oven is, however, exceedingly well adapted for many methods of slow cooking when regular heat is required. Stews of meat, fish, or vegetables may all be cooked in the oven, either in earthen jars or in stewpans—rice baked in this way, with a proper amount of liquid and a little meat or fish, is excellent; and stock and soup can be as well prepared in the oven as on the fire.

Many kinds of fish are nicer when baked than dressed in any other way; fresh cured hams may be covered with paste and then baked, and will be found very tender and of fine flavour—in fact, any process of cooking that is done in a closed vessel, and that requires gentle and regular heat, may be safely entrusted to the oven.

For baking pastry the oven should be moderately hot to raise the paste, but not hot enough to burn it before it is cooked through. When the pastry has been put in, the oven door must be closed, and not opened again until the paste is thoroughly set: if the heat is checked, or allowed to escape, the pastry will fall and become tough.

Raised pies require a much hotter oven than is needed for fruit tarts: it is a good plan to heat the oven by burning wood in it for an hour or so before the pie is put in. Resinous or scented wood must not, however, be used for this purpose.

Meat pies, when sufficiently browned, should be allowed to stand on the top of the oven for an hour or more, that the meat in them may become thoroughly cooked. The paste may be covered with white paper, to preserve it from blacks or dust and from burning.

Baked milky puddings, such as rice, sago, custard, etc., require a very gentle oven; but puddings of the batter kind require more heat to raise them.

Baked puddings that resemble a soufflé, and that have frothed white of eggs mixed with them the moment before they are put in the oven, require a moderate heat, and should be sent to table the instant they are taken out of the oven. A sheet of white paper placed over a pudding, when it is set and slightly browned, will preserve it from burning or from becoming too dark a colour.

Large cakes require a well-sustained heat, or they will not be baked through: when done they should be gently taken out of the moulds and put near the door of the oven to dry the surface, and then laid on their sides on a sieve to cool.

Small cakes and gingerbread must be baked in a slow oven, but light cakes, macaroons, ratafias, etc., require rather more heat. Cake tins should be well buttered, and lined with paper.

BOILING.

The time required for boiling meat varies with the size and nature of the joint, and also with the kind of meat: the method of cooking also varies slightly. Fresh meat is generally put into cold water, in the proportion of a quart of water to each pound of meat, and allowed to come gradually to the boil; the pot is then drawn aside, and the meat simmers gently until it is done. It is a good plan to place a reversed plate or dish at the bottom of the pot, to prevent the meat from resting on this and possibly adhering to it. Another way of boiling joints of fresh meat is to put them at once into boiling water, and when they have remained in it a minute to add cold water until the temperature is reduced to tepid. After this the heat is again increased, and the joint is allowed to simmer until tender. This plan is said to keep the gravy in the meat without hardening it. Large joints require from fifteen to twenty minutes boiling to each pound of meat; smaller joints take from twelve to fifteen minutes to each pound; lamb and veal take longer than mutton or beef; a chicken takes twenty minutes; a fowl thirty or forty minutes; a turkey from an hour and a half to two hours, depending on the size; rabbits require a great deal of boiling in plenty of water, nearly or quite an hour and three-quarters.

All salt meat should be soaked in cold water for at least two hours before it is required for cooking, and well washed and dried. It is put into cold water, which is allowed to come gradually to the boil, and the pot is then drawn away from the fire so that the meat can simmer gently until done. Some people consider it a good plan to let the meat boil fast for ten minutes before drawing it aside to simmer; this boiling preserves the juices, and it does not last long enough to harden the meat. The time usually allowed is a quarter of an hour to each pound of meat, but this, although sufficient for small joints, is not always enough for large ones. Bacon, for instance, takes much longer to boil than salt beef, ham, or tongue.

All boiled meat or poultry that is to be eaten hot should be taken out of the pot as soon as it is done—it will become sodden and flavourless if left too long in the water. Meat that is to be eaten cold, such as tongue or ham, should be allowed to cool in the liquor it has been boiled in; rolled tongue and pressed spice beef are, of course, exceptions, as they must be moulded while hot.

The meat should always be covered with water, although it is not desirable that there should be a great depth of water above the joint. Fast boiling will entirely spoil the meat, and render it hard, tough, and a bad colour. The scum must be taken off as it rises, but, except when skimming is necessary, the lid should be left on the pot, and the heat, which need not be great for simmering, should be even and uninterrupted.

In boiling poultry or white meats, a piece of bread without crust, and a little butter or beef suet, may be added to the water to soften it, and to keep the colour and improve the flavour of the joint.

STEAMING.

Steaming is often preferred to boiling for some kinds of food, such as potatoes, rice, vegetables, macaroni, fish, and sweet puddings. The steamer fits into the top of a saucepan made for the purpose, and any article that has no strong flavour may be boiled in the water contained in the saucepan, and which provides the steam for the steamer.

The food to be steamed is prepared as for boiling, and the lid of the saucepan must be firmly closed to prevent the escape of the steam.

Steaming is an excellent way of warming cold puddings and meat, as it entirely preserves their original flavour.

FRYING.

There are two chief points on which the success of frying depends; one is to have a sufficiency of fat to cover the articles to be fried, and the other is to have this boiling before anything is put into it. No food can be properly fried in a thin layer of warm grease; there must be plenty of it, and it must be at the right degree of heat. A deep pan is therefore necessary for frying any but very flat objects, such as soles; and an admirable plan is to put the articles to be fried into a kind of wire-work basket, which is dipped into the pan of boiling fat, and then taken out with the fried articles in it when these are cooked. If well covered with the fat, they are fried on both sides at once, and do not require turning, or any handling or touching, until they are removed from the basket.

Butter, oil, lard, dripping, and clarified suet are all used for frying; of these, lard, dripping, and clarified suet are most used in general cooking. Olive oil answers extremely well for frying fish, and, if strained and carefully kept, can be used several times. Fat, also, may be used more than once for meat, if carefully strained and kept quite fresh. Butter is generally used only in frying vegetables for stews, when it forms part of the gravy, and for light and delicate dishes. No fat that has been used for one kind of food should ever be used for any other kind, as it invariably contracts the flavour of the articles fried in it.

To test the heat of the boiling fat wait till it has left off bubbling, then dip your finger in water and shake it over the pan; if the fat crackles and sputters the heat is right, and the articles can be put in. The fat used must be perfectly fresh, clean, and free from salt, otherwise the food will be spoilt in flavour and colour.

All fried food must be carefully drained before it is sent to table; it should be so dry that it scarcely leaves a trace of grease on the cloth or paper on which it is served.

Omelets should be fried in a special enamelled pan kept for the purpose, and never used for any other kind of food. The butter in which they are fried must be boiling hot, but not brown, or it will spoil the colour of the omelet.

BROILING.

The success of broiling depends almost entirely on the brightness and clearness of the fire: there should be a steady glow at the top, without smoke or flames. Much can be done to improve the fire, if it is not clear, by sprinkling a handful of salt on it.

The gridiron should be perfectly clean and polished: gridirons with fluted bars and a receptacle for the gravy answer best. When hot the bars should be rubbed with suet or grease, to prevent the meat from sticking to them: chalk is used instead of grease for fish, and the gridiron is held in a sloping position over the fire.

No salt should be sprinkled on the meat before broiling, as it has the effect of bringing out the gravy, which falls into the fire and is wasted. The meat, if thick, must be gradually heated through by being kept at a little distance above the fire, otherwise the outside will be burnt while the inside is nearly raw: thin meat may be broiled more briskly.

Steaks, chops, and all broiled articles should be frequently turned with a pair of tongs: the holes made by a fork let the gravy out.

Meat that has been dipped in egg and bread crumbs should also be dipped in clarified butter before broiling; cutlets may be seasoned a little with pepper and salt, and then brushed over with oil or butter—they are very good cooked in this way. Fish may be wrapped in buttered paper for broiling.

STEWING.

Fresh meat for stewing may be first gently boiled in the stewpan with the vegetables and stock, and then skimmed, but sometimes the meat is put into boiling stock or water: at other times cold water or stock, sufficient only to provide the necessary gravy in either case, is poured over it. In French stews the meat and vegetables are browned in butter and flour in the stewpan, the hot stock is then added with the seasoning and other ingredients, the lid is put on and the stewpan is placed where it will have slow but well-regulated heat, until it is ready to serve. The regulation of the heat is an important point in all stews, as the flavour of the dish depends almost entirely on the care that is taken to keep it steady and even, never too fast nor too slow, for an error in either direction will destroy the flavour, and either harden the meat or leave it insufficiently cooked. Once fairly started a stew should be interfered with as little as possible; even raising the lid checks the process of cooking, and the fragrant steam that escapes is so much lost from the flavour.

Good stock or gravy is absolutely necessary to make a rich and well flavoured stew; water or thin stock can only be used for Irish stews and similar homely family dishes.

Stewing is the most economical process in cooking, as nothing is put into a stew that is not eaten, unless it is perhaps the bunch of parsley and herbs put in to flavour the gravy. No method of cooking is more easy, yet none is so often a failure, chiefly because the gravy is too thin and flavourless, and the stew is allowed to boil at a gallop, when it should simmer very gently.

When cold meat is to be served as a stew, the gravy must be first made and simmered with the vegetables, seasoning, flavouring, etc., until it is of the right consistence; any thickening it requires should be put in at the very first stage; the addition of flour towards the end of the cooking should be avoided as much as possible, as it does not mix well, and often gives the gravy a raw flavour. If it is necessary to thicken the gravy a little more, this should be done by adding a little butter kneaded with flour, or a little prepared white or brown roux. The gravy when thoroughly cooked is strained, if necessary, into another saucepan, and the meat, cut in neat slices and perfectly free from gristle and skin, is then heated in the simmering gravy, which must never be allowed to boil. Boiling will infallibly harden the meat and destroy the flavour of the stew, which should be served as soon as the meat is thoroughly hot.

Saucepans should not be used for stewing: a stewpan, with a well-fitting lid, is the only vessel fit for the purpose. Meat and vegetables that require browning before they are stewed can be fried in an ordinary stewpan, or in a deep frying pan or sauté pan.

Good stews can, however, be made by putting all the ingredients in an earthen jar with a well-fitting top, and putting this in a slow oven to stew gently till done. The lid of the stewpan or jar may be rendered air-tight by putting some flour-and-water paste over the opening, and removing this only when the stew is cooked.

BRAISING.

A braising-pan is required for this method of cooking joints, etc. This is a large or small, deep, oblong vessel of copper, with a tinned lining like a stewpan, having a very deep lid or cover, with an upright ledge all round it, to keep in the hot coals or embers that are burnt on it, to give the necessary heat above and below the article cooked.

Meat and some kinds of poultry, turkeys, fowls, game, etc., are frequently braised; slices of fat bacon are placed in the pan, and the meat is covered with more slices before it is put in. Onions, herbs, and sometimes vegetables are added; bones and trimmings of meat are put in to add richness to the gravy, a sufficient quantity of good stock is poured over it, with any seasoning that is needed, the cover is put on, hot coals are placed on this, and the pan is placed where its contents will simmer or stew very gently for two or three hours.

When the meat is done it is taken out of the pan and kept hot, and the gravy is strained into a basin; to get rid of the fat plunge the basin of gravy into cold water, and when the fat coagulates at the top take it off. Then boil the gravy quickly until it thickens, and pour it over the meat; if very thick, brush it over and put the meat in the oven for a few minutes to form a glaze.

Delicate kinds of meat are covered with a sheet of buttered paper, to save them from being burned by the fire on the lid.

GLAZING.

Glaze is a thick, but clear brown gravy, produced by the continued boiling of an ordinary good made gravy until it is reduced to a third or fourth part of the original quantity, and is about the same consistence as the best treacle—when cold it becomes a jelly. Glaze is used for brushing over made dishes, and many that are eaten cold—ham, tongue, boned turkey, etc.

When two or three coats of glaze are needed, as is sometimes the case, each coat must be allowed to cool before the next one is put on. When cold they form a thick, brown smooth jelly all over the article glazed.

LARDING.

The best fat bacon should be used for larding, and slices of this, free from lean and rind, are cut into strips of equal size and thickness. For poultry, game, and small joints the strips of bacon are two inches long and about the eighth of an inch square; when the lardoons are required for large joints, or have to be taken right through the meat, the strips are longer and nearly half an inch square.

Small lardoons on the breasts of birds, or on the upper surface of the meat, should be put in very regularly in intersecting lines, and at equal distances apart.

To insert the lardoons, secure one end in the larding needle, and take up with the point as much of the meat to be larded as will keep the strip firm; draw the needle through and the bacon with it, but leave the two ends out—these should be of the same length—and when the larding is finished the meat should resemble a cake stuck with almonds.

For larding or doubling the inside of meat, the bacon is rolled in seasoning before it is inserted: a large larding needle is used, and the strips are drawn right through the meat.

Larding is a great improvement to meat or poultry of a dry nature.

S Y R U P - M A K I N G .

The best lump sugar should be used for making syrups, candies, and caramel; coarser sugar is less easily clarified, and there is more waste in boiling it. The sugar is broken in large lumps into the preserving pan, and a pint of water is allowed to each pound of sugar for syrups, or about a third of a pint of water if the sugar is to be candied. To clarify this half the white of one egg is enough for six pounds of sugar.

Beat the white of egg to a light froth, alone first, then add it to the water and beat the two together. When well mixed pour the greater part of the water on to the sugar, and let this stand until dissolved; stir well, put the pan on the fire, and let the syrup boil for five minutes without disturbing it. Take the pan off the fire, let it stand two minutes, and then skim carefully and thoroughly. Put the pan back on the fire, and when the syrup begins to boil pour in a little of the water that was left over. Repeat the skimming until the syrup is quite clear, and then strain through muslin into a clean pan to be boiled again.

There are several degrees of boiling sugar which may be learnt most accurately by means of a syrometer, but which may be judged of with a considerable degree of correctness by the ordinary thumb and finger test.

The first stage is that of a thin syrup; if the finger is dipped in water and then in the liquid, and pressed against the thumb and quickly withdrawn, the syrup will form short threads that snap directly. Another five or ten minutes of rapid boiling will bring it to the second stage of a thick syrup, and the threads may then be drawn out to a great length without breaking. Long threads will also fall from the skimmer when this is raised.

In the next two stages the syrup forms bubbles on the surface in boiling, small at first and then large; if it is intended to make barley sugar or caramel the flavouring of lemon juice must now be added, but for candying the syrup is simply stirred until it rises in white foam almost to the top of the pan. It must now be taken out instantly and put on dishes, or it will resolve itself into a powder that will require more water and reboiling. Stirring is necessary in making barley-sugar, after the lemon juice is put in, which is at the rate of a dessert-spoonful of strained lemon-juice to three pounds of sugar. To test the barley-sugar, drop a little from the ladle or skimmer into a basin of cold water, take it out at once, and if it snaps clean and crisp between the teeth it is done, and must be taken off the fire immediately.

Caramel is the last stage of syrup making; the sugar becomes a dark yellow colour, and emits a strong odour. The pan must be drawn away from the fire, and a little water thrown into it.

In making orange-flower or cocoa-nut candy, these are thrown into the boiling syrup after it has been clarified and skimmed, and when it is very thick and white. It is then stirred until it rises in a mass, when it must be taken out immediately and laid on sheets of fine white paper.

There is no great difficulty in making syrups and candies, but they require great care and constant watching, as if left on the fire a moment too long the syrup may be entirely spoilt, and be either wasted or require re-boiling.

PRESERVING.

In preserving fruit the pan containing it should at first be subjected to gentle heat, until the sugar is melted; the heat may then be increased until the boiling point is reached. Steady, regular heat must then be continued the whole time, together with constant stirring, or the fruit will burn and the preserve be rendered uneatable.

The pots when filled must be left until they are stone cold before covering. The best way to do this is, first, to lay on the jam a round of tissue paper the exact size of the jar, and press it down. A second round of tissue paper, cut larger than the jar, is dipped on one side in beaten white of egg, laid over the top, and pressed down round the rim. The white of egg on the inner side will make the paper adhere firmly to the jar, and the top, when dry, will have the consistence of parchment.

SECTION I.—SOUPS.

1.—SOUP STOCK (Quickly made) à la Minute.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Raw beef	... 1 lb. ...	Cut into slices.
2...	Carrot	... 1 lb. ...	do.
3...	Onion	... 1 lb. ...	do.
4...	Celery	... 1 lb. ...	do.
5...	Turnip	... 1 lb. ...	do.
6...	Cloves	... 2 ...
7...	...	... ...	Mix them all in a saucepan.
8...	Water	... 1 quart ...	Pour over.
9...	Salt	... 1 pinch ...	Sprinkle over.
10...	...	... ...	Boil 15 minutes.
11...	...	... ...	Take off the fire.
12...	...	... ...	Skim while off the fire.
13...	...	... ...	Strain through a sieve.
14...	Stale bread	... ...	Cut in thin slices into the tureen.
15...	...	... ...	Pour the stock over.
16...	Chervil	... 1 handful	Chop fine and sprinkle over stock.

NOTE.—The chervil can be omitted if not liked. The meat and vegetables are eaten in France after the soup.

2.—ANOTHER QUICKLY-MADE STOCK.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Water	... 1 quart ...	Boil it.
2...	Gravy from roast meat	... $\frac{1}{4}$ pint ...	Add the gravy, and use it as stock for soups, gravies, &c.

3.—SOUP STOCK, made in an hour.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Beef, mutton, or veal	1 lb. ...	Cut into small slices, and put into a stewpan or saucepan.
2...	Carrots ...	1 or 2 ...	Cut lengthways.
3...	Turnips ...	1 or 2 ...	do.
4...	Onion ...	1... ..	Stick a clove in the onion.
5...	Burnt onion ...	1... ..	Add to colour the soup.
6...	Fat bacon ...	... ..	Cut into small pieces.
7...	... ..	... ..	Mix the whole with the meat.
8...	Water ...	$\frac{1}{2}$ pint ...	Pour over.
9...	... ..	... ..	Let all simmer over a slow fire until it begins to stick to the bottom of the stewpan or saucepan.
10...	Boiling water	1 quart ...	Pour over.
11...	Salt ...	1 pinch ...	Sprinkle over.
12...	... ..	... ..	Let all boil on a quick fire $\frac{3}{4}$ hour.
13...	... ..	... ..	Skim off the fat.
14...	... ..	... ..	Strain through a sieve or cloth.

4.—SOUP STOCK, the French Pot-au-feu.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1	Beef, or ...	4 lbs. ...	Shin, or leg of beef should be chosen, as it makes the best stock. Can be used when not too fat. For invalids most strengthening.
	Mutton, or ...	4 lbs. ...
	Veal ...	4 lbs. ...
2...	Old fowl, old pigeon, old partridge, rabbits	... ..	Are excellent added to increase the flavour.
3...	Bones from roast meat	... ..	Chopped, and thrown into the pot, add gelatine.
4...	... ..	... ..	Place the meat, which ought to be very fresh, on the chopped bones
5...	Cold water ...	1 quart to each pound of meat	at the bottom of the pot; the meat should be tied up with string. Pour over 4 hours before serving.

SOUP STOCK (continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
6...	Salt	1 handful	Add.
7...	...	...	Put the pot on the fire till it begins to boil, then draw to one side.
8...	...	...	Let it only simmer. When the water boils too fast it prevents the scum rising by coagulating the Albumen.
9...	Water	1 tea-cupful	Skim carefully. If the pot has boiled too quickly, add cold water to make the scum rise.
10...	Large carrots	3	Cut lengthways and throw into the pot.

8...	...	...	Put in the fish, and stew gently over a slow fire.
9...	...	...	When done, strain it, and put it on a hot dish.
10...	Stock	1 pint	Put on the fire, and reduce to half the quantity.
11...	Minced parsley	1 tea spoonful	Mix with the stock.
12...	...	...	Pour it over the fish and serve.

3.—COD, salted.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Cod	... ..	Let it soak in water 24 hours, changing the water several times.
2...	...	... ..	Boil in the last water.
3...	Egg sauce	.. ...	Serve separately.

4.—SALT COD, à la crème.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Cod	... ..	Prepare as in preceding receipt, skin, and take out the bones.
2...	Butter	2 oz. ...	Melt in a stewpan, but do not let it brown.
3...	Salt	... ..	Sprinkle over.
4...	Milk or cream	1 cupful	Mix in gradually, stirring with a wooden spoon.
5...	...	... ..	Put in the pieces of cod.
6...	...	... ..	Let it simmer uncovered till the sauce is thick.
7...	...	... ..	Slide the whole on to a dish that can go in the oven.
8...	Bread crumbs	... ..	Place a thick layer on the fish.
9...	Butter	1 oz. ...	Melt in a saucepan and pour over the bread.

29.—TO TRUSS A GOOSE.

1. Pick it clean.
2. Cut the feet off at the joint, and the pinion off at the first joint.
3. Cut the neck off close to the back, but leave the skin of the neck long enough to turn over the back.
4. Pull out the throat and tie a knot at the end.
5. Loosen the liver, &c., at the breast end with the middle finger, and cut it open between the vent and the rump.
6. Draw out all the entrails except the soal, and wipe out the inside with a clean cloth.
7. Beat the breast-bone flat with a rolling-pin.
8. Put a skewer into the wing and draw the legs up close.
9. Put a skewer through the middle of the legs and through the body.
10. Do the same on the other side.
11. Put another skewer in the small of the leg, tuck it close down to the sidesman and run it through.
12. Do the same on the other side.
13. Cut off the end of the vent and make a hole large enough for the passage of the rump, as by that means you will better secure the seasoning in its place.

30.—GOOSE, roasted.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Goose	...	Prepare as in preceding receipt.
2...	Sage and onion stuff- ing	...	Fill the goose, and fasten it in securely at both ends by passing the rump through a slit made in the skin, and tying the skin of the neck into the back.
3...	...	...	Roast before a nice brisk fire for 1½ hours—longer if the bird is large.
4...	...	...	Baste frequently with its own gravy.
5...	...	...	Take out the skewers.
6...	Good brown gravy	...	Pour over on a hot dish.
7...	Apple sauce	...	Serve separately.

31.—POTTED GOOSE, French receipt.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Wings and legs of roast goose	...	Cut each into 2 so as to make 8 pieces.
2...	...	...	Put them into an earthen jar.
3...	Lard	½ lb.	Melt and boil 10 minutes.
4...	Bunch of thyme and bay-leaf	...	Add to the lard to give it a flavour, and season with salt and pepper to taste.
5...	...	...	Pour the lard over the goose and let it get cold.
6...	...	...	Cover it well.
7...	...	...	This meat when warmed up is as good as fresh.

32.—TO TRUSS A DUCK.

See the receipt for trussing geese, and follow it. The only difference is that the feet must be left on, and turned close to the legs.

33.—DUCK, roasted.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Duck ...	... ..	Hang for one day, and longer if the weather permits.
2...	Sage and onion stuffing	... ..	Fill the inside.
3...	...	... ..	Put it down to a clear bright fire, and baste constantly till done.
4...	Flour ...	... ..	Just before taking from the fire dredge the bird.
5...	Butter ...	2 oz. ...	Baste with butter, to make it froth and brown.
6...	Good gravy ...	... ..	Pour round, not over.

34.—DUCK WITH TURNIPS, French receipt.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Duck ...	... ..	Dress and truss.
2...	Butter ...	2 oz. ...	Melt in a large stewpan.
3...	...	... ..	Put the duck in the butter to brown.
4...	...	... ..	Take it out and keep it warm.
5...	Flour ...	1 pinch ...	Dredge over the butter that remains in the stewpan on the fire.
6...	...	... ..	Stir it with a wooden spoon till the sauce is rather thick.
7...	Small onions	3 or 4 ...	} Add.
8...	Stock or water	1 pint ...
9...	White wine	1 wine glass at will
10...	Salt, pepper...	... ..
11...	Bay-leaf ...	... ..	} Cut into dice and add.
12...	Fat bacon ...	1 slice ...
13...	Garlic ...	$\frac{1}{2}$ clove ...
14...	Parsley and chives	... ..	} Chop fine and add.
15...	...	... ..	Put in the duck.
16...	...	... ..	Cover the stewpan.
17...	...	... ..	Let it all simmer $\frac{1}{2}$ hour.
18...	...	... ..	Take out the duck, in order to strain and take the fat off the sauce.

DUCK WITH TURNIPS, French receipt—(continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
19...	Turnips	... 4 or 5 ...	Cut into half-quarters.
20...	Butter	... 2 oz. ...	Melt in another stewpan.
21...	...	... ..	Put the pieces of turnip in the pan to brown.
22...	...	... ..	When they are browned, pour the sauce from the duck gradually over them.
23...	Powdered sugar	1 pinch ...	Sprinkle over if liked.
24...	...	... ..	Let all simmer a moment.
25...	...	... ..	Put the duck on the turnips, and let all stew $\frac{1}{4}$ hour.
26...	...	... ..	Put the duck on a hot dish, and place the turnips and onions round it.
27...	...	... ..	Pour the sauce over and serve.

35.—DUCK, stewed with peas.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Duck	... 1 ...	Dress and truss.
2...	Butter	... $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. ...	Melt in a large stewpan on a slow fire and put in the duck to brown.
3...	Salt, pepper...	To taste	Sprinkle over.
4...	...	.. ..	Brown the duck on both sides and put it on a dish to keep hot.
5...	Flour	... 1 pinch ...	Add to the butter in the pan.
6...	Stock	... 1 pint ...	Add gradually stirring all the time.
7...	...	... ..	When the sauce is well mixed and thickened put in the duck.
8...	Bacon	... Thin slices	Lay on the duck if liked.
9...	Green peas	... $1\frac{1}{2}$ pint ...	} Add to the duck.
10...	Salt, pepper...	To taste
11...	Parsley	} Tied in a bunch
12...	Chives
13...	...	... ..	Simmer gently on a slow fire and skim from time to time.
14...	...	... ..	Remove the bunch of herbs, pour the peas and sauce into a dish, place the duck on them and serve.

36.—SALMIS OF DUCK.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.

6...	...	...	Directly it has risen well, serve.
7...	Powdered sugar	...	Grate over and brown if liked.

REMARKS ON OMELETS.

The number of eggs used for an omelet should never exceed twelve, as a thick omelet is far less delicate than a smaller one. The omelet pan must be perfectly clean and never used for any other purpose. The eggs are best when beaten with a fork, but they should not be beaten for more than a minute or two, otherwise they become thin, and do not set well.

Omelets are much lighter if a few small pieces of butter are beaten up with the eggs, or added to the beaten eggs immediately before frying.

The butter in the pan must be quite hot, but not coloured, before the eggs are put in.

All kinds of vegetables, cold meat, poultry, game, fish, macaroni, etc., can be added to omelets to flavour them; they must first be broken or cut in small pieces and lightly fried in butter.

2...	Veal ...	1 lb. ...
3...	Bacon ...	1 lb. ...
4...	Salt, pepper ...	... ..	Add.
5...	Sweet herbs ...	2 or 3 tea spoonsful	Chop and add.
6...	Bread crumbs	½ lb. ...	Soak in gravy and add.
7...	Hard boiled eggs or	2 ...	If boiled, chop the yolks only, and add.
	Beaten yolks	2 ...
8...	Truffles or mushrooms	... ..	Add chopped fine, mix well together, and heat for ½ hour in a saucepan.
9...	Butter ...	2 oz. ...	Add.
10...	Gravy ...	A dessert spoonful	Add.
11...	...	... ..	Mix well, and use for stuffing fowls or turkeys.
12...	Liver of fowl	If liked ...	Boil 4 minutes, mince and pound, and add to ingredients 1 to 8.

NOTE.—This forcemeat can also be used for raised pies.

50.—FORCEMEAT BALLS, for jugged hare.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Bread crumbs	4 oz. ...	Choose stale bread and grate fine.
2...	Lemon peel ...	$\frac{1}{4}$ oz. ...	Pare thin and grate or chop very fine.
3...	Parsley, thyme	$\frac{1}{4}$ oz. ...	Chop fine.
4...	Salt, nutmeg	To taste	Add.

9...	Egg ...	1 yolk only	Beat with the fingers a little and add.
10...	...	... ..	Mix all together till quite smooth,
11...	Port wine ...	1 wine glass	Add if liked and mix well.
12...	...	... ..	Form into balls and fry in butter.

NOTE.—This forcemeat can also be used for stuffing a roasted hare, but does not then require to be made into balls and fried.

51.—QUENELLES, French forcemeat balls.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Veal ...	$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. ...	Take off all skin and fat, chop and pound.
2...	Veal kidney fat	$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. ...	Take away every particle of skin, chop, and pound with the veal to a perfectly smooth paste.
3...	Bread crumbs	$\frac{1}{4}$ lb. ...	Choose stale bread and grate fine.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
9...	Pepper, salt, nutmeg	... ..	Add.
10...	...	... ..	When well mixed and smooth, form into oblong balls with the spoon.
11...	Flour	... ..	Sprinkle on the board and roll the quenelles in.
12...	Boiling water	... ..	Have ready a large saucepan full.
13...	...	... ..	Throw in the quenelles one by one and boil for 3 minutes.
14...	...	... ..	Take them out and drain them.
15...	...	... ..	Serve in mock-turtle soup or alone with rich gravy, or dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry as croquettes.

NOTE.—Quenelles are also made of remains of cold fowl, game, or fish, and butter can be used in place of veal fat. In poaching quenelles it is well to cook one first to see that the mixture is of the right consistence. It should be light and yet firm; if it is too heavy add the beaten white of an egg, if, on the contrary, it swells in the water and is limp when taken out, add a little milk to the mixture before poaching any more.

52.—CALF'S LIVER FORCEMEAT.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Calf's liver	1 lb. ...	Cut in small pieces.

SECTION XIII.—PASTRY.

ON MAKING PASTRY.

As the heat of your oven must be regulated by what you intend to bake, the following rules should be carefully attended to:—

1. Light paste requires a moderate oven, but not too slow, as that will deprive it of the light appearance it should have, and too quick an oven will catch and burn it, without giving it time to rise.
2. Tarts that are iced require a slow oven, or the ice will be brown before the paste is properly baked.
3. Raised pies must have a quick oven, and be well closed up, or the pie will fall in at the sides; and it should have no water put in till just before you put it in the oven, or the crust will look sodden.

---

1.—CRISP PASTE FOR TARTS.

1. Mix 1 oz. of loaf sugar beaten and sifted, with 1 lb. of fine flour, and make into a stiff paste with a gill of boiling cream or milk.
2. Work 3 oz. of butter into it.
3. Roll it very thin and make your tarts or pie-crust.
4. Ice your paste by beating the white of an egg a little, and rubbing it over the paste with a feather.

---

2.—RICH PUFF PASTE.

1. Rub a pound of butter very fine into a quarter of a peck of flour.
2. Make it into a light paste with cold water, just stiff enough to work it.
3. Roll it out to the thickness of a five-shilling piece, and put a layer of butter all over it.
4. Sprinkle on a little flour, double it up, and roll it out again.
5. Double it and roll it out seven or eight times, when it will be fit for all sorts of pies and tarts that require a puff paste.

---

3.—LIGHT PASTE FOR TARTS.

1. Beat the white of an egg to a strong froth, and mix it with as much water as will make  $\frac{3}{4}$  lb. of flour into a tolerably stiff paste.
2. Roll it out very thin; lay 3 oz. of butter in thin pieces upon it and dredge it with a little more flour.
3. Roll it up tight, then roll it out again, and continue until  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. each of butter and flour be used.
4. Cut it into square pieces, and make your tarts. This will require a quicker oven than crisp paste.

4.—SUET CRUST.

1. Shred 10 oz. suet and chop fine, and mix it with 1 lb. flour, and water into a stiff paste.

5.—DRIPPING PASTE.

1. Boil the dripping in a good quantity of water for 4 or 5 minutes to take the strength off it, then use instead of butter according to the preceding receipts.

6.—AMERICAN PUFF PASTE.

1. Work  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. of butter into 1 lb. of flour until it is like sand.
2. Take 2 tea spoonful of cream of tartar, and 1 tea spoonful of carbonate of soda, rub them through a sieve and add them to the flour.
3. Add enough cold water to bind and work it smooth.
4. Roll the paste to  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch thick.
5. Spread  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. of butter over, then fold it up and roll it out again.
6. Repeat No. 5 twice till you have used 1 lb. of flour.
7. Fold and roll for the last time.

7.—PASTE FOR MEAT PIES.

1. Work 1 lb. of butter into 2 lbs. of flour, until it crumbles.
2. Add a small teaspoonful of salt.
3. Beat up the yolks of 4 eggs with half-a-pint of cold water.
4. Strain and mix with the flour to a firm paste.
5. Roll it out to the required thickness.

8.—FRENCH PUFF PASTE.

1. Put 1 lb. of flour on the paste board, and make a hole in the centre.
2. Put  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoonful of salt, and  $1\frac{1}{2}$  wine glassful of water into the hole.
3. Work the flour in with the right hand, and add another wine glassful of water gradually with the left hand.
4. Work the paste till it is quite smooth and does not stick to the board or the fingers.
5. Make the paste into a ball, and roll and flatten it with the hands.
6. Cover it with a cloth, and put it aside in a very cool place for  $\frac{1}{2}$  hour. In hot weather stand it over ice.
7. Flour the board and put the paste on it, then roll it into an oblong shape.
8. Put in the middle  $\frac{3}{4}$  lb. of firm, well washed and squeezed butter.

FRENCH PUFF PASTE—(continued).

9. In summer the butter should be kept on ice, till wanted.
10. Fold the ends of the paste over the butter, and form a square mass.
11. Flatten it again into an oblong shape, and fold it in three from the ends.
12. Let it stand 10 minutes.
13. Repeat this folding and flattening 6 times in summer, and 7 times in winter, always letting it stand 10 minutes between whiles.
14. Flour the board lightly each time.
15. After the last time of folding, let it stand 5 minutes, and it is then ready for use.

9.—GERMAN PASTE, for fruit tarts.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Flour	1½ lb.	Dry and put in a large basin.
2...	...	...	Make a hole in the middle.
3...	Yeast	3 table spoonsful	} Mix together and then work in part of the flour in the basin.
4...	Warm milk	½ pint
5...	...	...	Cover the basin, and let it stand near the fire to rise.
6...	Butter	½ lb.	Melt over the fire.
7...	Egg	1	Beat and add to the butter.
8...	Salt	A pinch	Add.
9...	...	...	Mix with the dough and knead well.
10...	Milk	...	Add a little if required in working the paste.
11...	...	...	Roll it out.
12...	Butter	...	Butter a shallow baking dish, and put the paste on it.
13...	Fruit	...	Put on a thick layer of fruit.
14...	...	...	Let the tart stand for a time.
15...	...	...	Bake in a hot oven.
16...	Powdered sugar	...	Sprinkle over and serve.

NOTE.—Cherries, plums of all kinds, and apples are the fruits usually employed for these tarts. Cherries are put on whole close together; plums are halved and stoned, and put on edgeways; apples are peeled, cored, and cut as for a tart, and also put on the paste edgeways.

10.—GERMAN PASTE, without yeast.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Flour	... 1 lb. ...	Put in a large basin.
2...	Butter	... $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. ...	Work into the flour.
3...	Powdered sugar	$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. ...	Add by degrees and work in.
4...	Eggs	... 2 ...	Beat and add, and mix well.
5...	...	... ...	Roll out the paste and use for open fruit tarts.

11.—PLAIN YEAST PASTE.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Milk	... $\frac{3}{4}$ pint ...	Make it luke-warm.
2...	Butter	... 2 oz. ...	Add.
3...	Sugar	... $\frac{1}{2}$ cupful	Add.
4...	Yeast	... 1 table spoonful	Add.
5...	Egg	... 1 ...	Add.
6...	Flour	... ...	Work flour into these until you have a good paste.
7...	...	... ...	Cover with a cloth and put it aside to rise.
8...	...	... ...	When risen roll it out thin and use for open fruit tarts.

12.—PASTE FOR CUSTARDS.

1. Rub 6 oz. of butter into  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. of flour.
2. Mix it into a paste with 2 beaten eggs and 3 table spoonsful of cream.
3. Let it stand  $\frac{1}{4}$  hour.
4. Work it up and roll it out very thin for use.

13.—TO GLAZE PASTRY.

To glaze meat pies beat up the yolk of an egg only, or the yolk and white together if a lighter colour be desired, and brush over the paste with a paste brush before baking.

14.—TO ICE PASTRY.

Moisten the paste before baking with cold water, and sprinkle finely powdered sugar over it. Another way is to take the tart from the oven when nearly baked, brush it with frothed white of egg, sprinkle sifted sugar over it and a few drops of cold water, and put it back in the oven for a minute or two to set.

15.—GAME PIE.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Game	... ..	Any kind of game can be used.
2...	...	... ..	Bone the birds, and stuff them with forcemeat.
3...	Salt	} ... ..	{ Mix together, and season the birds well with the mixture.
4...	Pepper
5...	Pounded mace
6...	Allspice
7...	Veal	A few thin slices	Season and put in the buttered mould.
8...	Forcemeat	... ..	Put a layer over the veal.
9...	...	... ..	Put in the birds, and fill up all the spaces with forcemeat.
10...	Truffles	If liked ...	Chop and add to fill the corners.
11...	Bacon or ham	Thin slices	Put over the top.
12...	Paste	... ..	Make a good paste to cover the pie.
13...	...	... ..	Wet the edges of the mould, put on the cover, and pinch the edges together.
14...	...	... ..	Decorate the top with leaves.
15...	Yolk of egg	1	Brush over the top.
16...	...	... ..	Bake in a moderate oven 4 hours.
17...	Gravy	... ..	Make a good strong gravy from the bones.
18...	...	... ..	When the pie is cooked make a hole in the top, and pour in a little gravy. It must be strong enough to form a firm jelly when cold.
19...	...	... ..	Cover the hole with a leaf of paste.
20...	...	... ..	Serve cold.

NOTE.—Mushrooms can be added, if liked, and the fleshy parts of the birds can be larded. Poultry can be used for the pie as well as game.

SECTION XIV.—PUDDINGS.

1.—PUDDINGS.

When you boil your puddings take particular care that your cloth be clean, and remember to dip it in boiling water; flour it well and give it a shake before you put your pudding into it. If it be a bread pudding, tie it loose, but tie it tight if it be a batter pudding. If you boil it in a basin, butter the basin and boil the pudding in plenty of water. Turn it often and do not cover the pan; when it is done enough take it up in the basin and let it stand a few minutes to cool. Then untie the string, wrap the cloth round the basin, lay your dish over it, and turn the pudding out.

JELLY FOR COLD MEATS—(continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
18...	Salt	...	Add if needed.
19...	...	...	Skim carefully as the scum rises.
20...	Whites of eggs	2	Beat up with a little water.
21...	...	...	Stir the boiling jelly vigorously with one hand, and pour in the whites of egg quickly with the other.
22...	Vinegar and water	...	Dip a clean white cloth in, and fasten it by the corners over a basin.

24...	...	...	When the whites of eggs are well incorporated pour the jelly slowly through the cloth.
25...	...	...	Strain 2 or 3 times, if necessary, until the jelly is quite clear.
26...	...	...	Let it get cold and serve it cut in blocks with boned turkey, or other cold meats.

17.—ASPIC FOR POULTRY.

This is made in the same way as the preceding, with the addition of a little more lemon juice. While the jelly is still liquid, truffles, mushrooms fried in butter, and preserved gherkins are arranged in layers in it, the jelly being allowed to get firm between the layers.

18.—TO CLARIFY JELLY.

Simmer the calfs' feet gently for several hours, strain the liquor through a sieve and let it get cold. When cold take off the fat and put the jelly back on the fire, adding to it the strained juice of one lemon; take off the scum when the jelly begins to boil. Beat up the whites of two or three eggs in a basin with a little water, take the jelly off the fire, stir it quickly with one hand and with the other pour in the beaten whites of egg very suddenly. Put the saucepan back on the fire at once and the moment it begins to boil pour in a glass of cold water and let it boil up again. Strain it at once through the jelly bag, and repeat this two or three times if necessary. If the jelly is not required immediately let it simmer gently on a slow fire, until it is sufficiently reduced without boiling, then pour it into an earthen jar and keep it in a cool place. It will keep good for some time.

6...	Grated nutmeg	... A little ...
7...	Lemon peel ..	... ½ lemon	} Serve cold in a glass dish.
8...	...	... ..

NOTE.—Good new milk may be substituted for the cream if this cannot be obtained.

SECTION XIX.—PRESERVES.

1.—APRICOT PRESERVE.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Apricots	... Very ripe	Peel, cut in half, and take out the stones.
2...	Sugar	... 1½ lb. to 2 lbs. of fruit	In large pieces.
3...	...	... ..	Put a layer of fruit in a large earthen pan.
4...	...	... ..	Put a layer of sugar on the fruit, and repeat alternate layers till all is used.
5...	Powdered sugar	... ..	Put a thick layer over the last layer of fruit.
6...	...	... ..	Let it stand 24 hours.
7...	Stones	... ..	Break them, and throw the kernels into hot water.
8...	Cold water	... ..	Take them out, and pour cold water over them.
9...	...	... ..	Skin, and cut them in thin slices.
10...	...	... ..	Put the apricots in the preserving pan.
11...	...	... ..	Boil for ¾ hour, stirring all the time.
12...	...	... ..	Towards the end put in the kernels, and stir well.
13...	...	... ..	When the preserve hangs in a thread from the spoon, it is done.
14...	...	... ..	Pour into the jam pots, and let it stand uncovered 24 hours.
15...	Brandy	... ..	Cover the preserve with white paper dipped in brandy.
16...	...	... ..	Tie a second paper over the top of the pots.

2.—APRICOTS, preserved whole.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Apricots	...	Choose them large and not too ripe.
2...	...	...	Open them just enough to remove the stones.
3...	...	...	Weigh them.
4...	Sugar	...	Allow 1 full pound of sugar to each pound of fruit.
5...	...	...	Put the sugar in the pan.
6...	Water	...	Put in about $\frac{1}{2}$ pint to each pound of sugar.
7...	...	...	Boil till it becomes a syrup.
8...	...	...	Put in the apricots a few at a time, as there is room in the pan.
9...	...	...	Boil rather quickly, and turn them when done on one side.
10...	...	...	When sufficiently boiled they become transparent.
11...	...	...	Take them out carefully, and put them in jars.
12...	...	...	When all are done, drain the syrup from them into the pan.
13...	...	...	Boil and reduce the syrup, and strain it into the jars.
14...	Kernels	...	Blanch and peel the kernels, and add a few to each jar.
15...	...	...	The apricots will swell as they become cool, and the syrup will form a jelly round them.

NOTE.—Peaches are preserved in the same way as apricots.

3.—CHERRY JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Cherries	6 lbs.	Choose them large and ripe.
2...	...	...	Cut off the stalks, pick out the stones with a needle, breaking the skin as little as possible.
3...	Red currants	1 lb.	String, crush, and strain the juice into a basin.

CHERRY JAM—(continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
4...	Raspberries ...	$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. ...	Crush and strain in the same way.
5...	...	...	Mix the two, and strain again into the preserving pan.
6...	...	...	Add the cherries.
7...	Sugar ...	...	Allow $\frac{3}{4}$ lb. to each pound of fruit and juice.
8...	...	...	Boil $\frac{1}{2}$ hour, stirring frequently.
9...	...	...	Take off the scum as it rises.
10...	...	...	When done, pour into pots.
11...	...	...	Let it stand till next day.
12...	Paper ...	...	Cut in rounds to fit the pots.
13...	Brandy ...	...	Dip the papers in and lay on the jam.
14...	...	...	Tie a second piece of paper over the pots.

4.—RED CURRANT JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Currants ...	4 lbs. ...	String and put in the preserving pan.
2...	Sugar ...	4 lbs. ...	Crush small and add.
3...	...	...	Boil up, and then let the fruit boil fast for 7 or 8 minutes.
4...	...	...	Cover and tie down when cold.

NOTE.—Raspberries are sometimes added to improve the flavour.

5.—CURRANT JELLY, French receipt.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Red currants	Very ripe	String them into a basin.
2...	White currants	$\frac{1}{2}$ the quantity	String and add.
3...	Raspberries ...	$\frac{1}{4}$ the quantity	Pick and add.
4...	...	...	Crush the fruit by degrees through a sieve, into a basin.

CURRANT JELLY, French receipt—(continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
5...	...	...	Put the pulp that remains in the preserving pan.
6...	Water	A few drops	Add and let the fruit swell on the fire.
7...	...	...	Strain it through a linen cloth, and add to the other juice.
8...	...	...	Weigh all the juice.
9...	Sugar	1 lb. to 1 lb.	Add to the juice the same weight.
10...	...	...	Let it stand 2 hours.
11...	...	...	Let it boil up, then skim.
12...	...	...	Boil 20 minutes longer on a moderate fire.
13...	...	...	When done pour it into pots. It should be a clear thin jelly.
14...	...	...	Cover with paper in the usual way, and keep in a dry place.

6.—BLACK CURRANT JELLY.

This is made in the same way, when it forms a clear dark jelly, or it can be made in the usual way, without straining the fruit.

7.—WHITE CURRANT JELLY.

This is made in the same way, entirely of white currants, and flavoured with a little lemon peel.

8.—GOOSEBERRY JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Gooseberries	6 lbs. ...	Cut off the tops and stalks, and boil them for 6 or 7 minutes.
2...	Sugar	4½ lbs. ...	Crush and add.
3...	...	...	Boil for ¾ hour, stirring and taking off the scum.
4...	...	...	Pour into pots and tie down when cold.

9.—GRAPE JELLY.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Black grapes	... ..	Take off the stalks and throw them into the preserving pan.
2...	...	... ..	Boil a few minutes.
3...	...	... ..	Put them on a sieve, and crush them with a spoon.
4...	...	... ..	Boil the strained juice, and stir until it is reduced one-half.
5...	...	... ..	Take off the scum.
6...	...	... ..	It is done when it jellies in cooling.
7...	...	... ..	Pour it into the pots.
8...	...	... ..	Put the pots in a very cool oven for 24 hours.
9...	...	... ..	Cover and tie down in the usual way.

NOTE.—A few ripe pears, peeled and cut in quarters, are an improvement to this preserve; they are added after No. 4 in the above receipt. Sugar, at the rate of one-third the weight of the reduced preserve, may be added; this will make it keep better, and the jelly will then need less boiling.

10.—GREENGAGE JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Greengages ...	... ..	Cut them in half and take out the stones.
2...	...	... ..	Weigh the fruit and put it in the preserving pan.
3...	Sugar	... ..	Add $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. to each pound of fruit.
4...	...	... ..	Let them boil very slowly at first, then more quickly.
5...	...	... ..	Skim carefully and stir all the time.
6...	...	... ..	Boil for $\frac{3}{4}$ hour, stirring frequently.
7...	...	... ..	Pour into the pots, and cover and tie down as usual.

NOTE.—Plum jam is made in the same way.

11.—MULBERRY JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Mulberries	...	Choose them ripe and sound.
2...	...	...	Put them in the preserving pan and simmer gently to bring out the juice.
3...	...	...	Throw them on to a hair sieve.
4...	Sugar	...	To every quart of juice that drops through, allow 3 lbs. of sugar.
5...	...	...	Put the sugar and juice on the fire and boil up.
6...	...	...	Skim, throw in the mulberries, and let them boil $\frac{1}{2}$ hour.
7...	...	...	Pour all into a basin and leave it till next day.
8...	...	...	Boil up again in the preserving pan, and see that the mulberries are not crushed.
9...	...	...	Pour into the pots and tie down as usual.

12.—ORANGE MARMALADE.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Seville oranges	...	Choose them very ripe.
2...	...	...	Put them in the preserving pan.
3...	Water	...	Add enough to cover them.
4...	...	...	Let them boil till perfectly tender.
5...	...	...	Change the water 2 or 3 times.
6...	...	...	Drain them, take off the peel, and remove the pips.
7...	...	...	Weigh the pulp and put it back in the pan.
8...	Sugar	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. to each pound of pulp	Add to the pulp.
9...	Water	1 pint	The last water the oranges were boiled in.
10...	...	...	Boil all together for 20 minutes.

ORANGE MARMALADE—(continued).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
11...	...	...	Cut the peel in thin slices and add. Boil for 10 minutes more. Pour into the pots and tie down when cold.

2...	Red currants	1 lb. ...
3...	...	...	Strain the juice through, by twisting the cloth tightly.
4...	Sugar	...	Allow $\frac{3}{4}$ lb. to each pound of juice.
5...	...	...	Put it in the preserving pan.
6...	...	...	Boil up and skim.
7...	...	...	Add the juice from the fruit.
8...	...	...	Boil 15 or 20 minutes.
9...	...	...	When done, strain through a jelly bag into the pots.
10...	...	...	Let them stand till cold, then cover and tie down in the usual way.

14.—RHUBARB JAM.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Rhubarb ...	...	Wash, wipe, peel, and cut it in small pieces.
2...	Sugar	...	The weight of the rhubarb. Put it all in the preserving pan.
3...	Lemon peel ...	1 lemon to 2 lbs. of rhubarb	Chop very fine and add.
4...	...	...	Boil slowly at first, then more quickly.
5...	...	...	Boil for $\frac{3}{4}$ hour, and stir frequently.
6...	...	...	Pour into pots, and tie down as usual.

NOTE.—Rhubarb jam can also be flavoured with almonds, sweet and bitter, mixed at the rate of one part of bitter, to three parts of sweet almonds.

15.—STRAWBERRY JAM (1).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Strawberries	6 lbs. ...	Pick and weigh.
2...	Sugar	6 lbs. ...	Boil alone until it candies on the finger.
3...	...	...	Throw in the strawberries.
4...	...	...	Let them boil up 3 times, and skim well.
5...	...	...	Pour into the pots.
6...	...	...	Let them stand till cold, then cover, and tie down in the usual way.

16.—STRAWBERRY JAM (2).

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Strawberries	...	Pick and weigh.
2...	Sugar	...	Allow $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. to each pound of fruit.
3...	...	...	Lay the fruit and sugar in alternate layers in a large earthen pan.
4...	...	...	Let them stand 24 hours.
5...	...	...	Boil in the preserving pan, and take off the scum as it rises.
6...	...	...	When done pour into the pots; let it cool, and then tie down as usual.

17.—TOMATOES, preserved.

2...	...	... ..	Break it, and put it in a copper-lined preserving pan.
3...	Water	... $\frac{1}{2}$ -pint to each pound of sugar	Pour over and stir with the skimmer while it boils, to prevent it from sticking to the pan and burning.

21.—TO CLARIFY SUGAR.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	White of egg	... ..	Beat lightly to a froth.
2...	Cold water	... ..	Add drop by drop, beating all the time.
3...	...	... ..	Mix $\frac{3}{4}$ of this with the sugar on a brisk fire.
4...	...	... ..	Take off all the scum as it rises.
5...	Cold water	... A few drops	Pour on to the boiling sugar if it rises too much.
6...	...	... ..	Add the remainder of the frothed white of egg.
7...	...	... ..	Skim again until the sugar is perfectly clear.

22.—CRYSTALLIZED CHESTNUTS, marrons glacés.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Chestnuts	... ..	Choose them large, and of good quality.
2...	...	... ..	Cut the skin with the point of a knife, but do not injure the fruit inside.
3...	Water	... ..	Throw them into cold water.
4...	...	... ..	Boil fast on a quick fire, and when tender take them off the fire, but keep them hot.
5...	Syrup	... ..	Have this ready and hot in the preserving pan.
6...	...	... ..	Peel the chestnuts, and throw them hot into the syrup.
7...	...	... ..	Take care not to break or injure them.
8...	...	... ..	Leave them till next day.
9...	...	... ..	Drain off the syrup, boil it up, and pour it over the chestnuts.
10...	...	... ..	Do this 4 days following.
11...	...	... ..	On the last day reduce and clarify the syrup.
12...	Vanilla	1 stick	Add to flavour the syrup, and take it out again.
13...	...	... ..	Dip the chestnuts in, and let the sugar crystallize on them.

23.—CRYSTALLIZED CURRANTS.

Order.	Ingredients.	Quantities.	Method.
1...	Ripe currants	... ..	Choose fine bunches.
2...	Whites of eggs	2	Beat to a froth.
3...	Water	1 wine glassful	Add and beat well.
4...	...	... ..	Dip in the bunches of currants, and lay them on a sheet of white paper.

CRYSTALLIZED CURRANTS—(continued).

NOTE.—This pickle is served with roast mutton, hare, and venison, and also with stewed meat. A little cinnamon may be added to flavour the pickle, if liked, but it should be used in very small quantities.

REMARKS ON PICKLING.

The vinegar used for pickling should be of the best kind and greatest strength, and boiled in stone jars in preference to saucepans. All vegetables and other ingredients should be thoroughly dry before they are put into the vinegar, and if this becomes thick, as is sometimes the case, it should be poured off the pickles, boiled up again and then once more poured over them. It is most important that all pickle jars should be air tight, and that when pickles are removed from the large jars to smaller ones for use, a perfectly dry wooden spoon should be used for the purpose. The pickles left in the large jar must be covered with vinegar, or they will spoil.

BROWN & POLSON'S CORN FLOUR

FOR THE NURSERY.

In ordinary cases the only suitable food for young infants is milk.

So soon, however, as some solid addition to the liquid food becomes desirable, there is nothing better for the purpose than BROWN AND POLSON'S CORN FLOUR. Its principal function is to supply heat. It also contributes to the formation of fat, so essential to life at all stages, but especially to the earlier.

FOR THE FAMILY TABLE.

In the hands of an accomplished cook there is no known limit to the variety of delicate and palatable dishes which may be produced from BROWN & POLSON'S CORN FLOUR.

It is equally susceptible of plain and simple treatment for ordinary domestic purposes, and one of its chief recommendations is the facility with which it may be prepared.

Boiled with milk, and with or without the addition of sugar and flavouring, it may be ready for the table within fifteen minutes; or, poured into a mould and cooled, it becomes, in the course of an hour, a Blanc-mange, which, served with fresh or preserved fruit, will be acceptable at any meal.

Add sultanas, raisins, marmalade, or jam of any kind, and in about the same time it is made into an excellent Baked Pudding. To which may be added:—Take care to boil with milk, when so required, for NOT LESS THAN EIGHT MINUTES.

FOR THE SICK-ROOM.

The properties of BROWN AND POLSON'S CORN FLOUR are identical with those of arrowroot, and it is in every respect equal to the costliest qualities of that article.

The uses of arrowroot in the sick room are not only matter of tradition, but of every-day experience, and there can be but few persons who are not acquainted with its uses as an important ally to medical treatment.

BROWN AND POLSON'S CORN FLOUR claims to serve the same purposes, with at least equal acceptance and at considerably less cost, and therefore offers the facility of freer use to a larger public.

It has received from medical and scientific authorities the highest testimonials to its purity and serviceableness; it is largely used in Hydropathic and other Institutions throughout the Kingdom, and its export to all foreign parts has long given it a world-wide reputation.

NOTE.—Purchasers should insist on being supplied with BROWN AND POLSON'S CORN FLOUR.

Inferior kinds, asserting fictitious claims, are being offered for the sake of extra profit.

EXTRACT FROM POSTAL TOILET LIST. PHILIP H. MASON,

Pharmaceutical Chemist, and Chemist to the Garrison,
25, HIGH STREET, GOSPORT.

The entire list (containing some eighty preparations) will be sent by return post, on the receipt of stamped address.

NOTICE.—All articles in this List admit of Postal Transit, and will be delivered free per post at the prices marked, secure from observation, and carefully packed.

The immense number of postal applications which have followed "Myra's" esteemed notices of a few of Mr. MASON'S Preparations, show that there are large numbers of ladies who, in the country, are remote from a first-class pharmacy, or who, in towns, find it inconvenient to go or send to their immediate neighbours for such articles as Hair Restorers, Cosmetics, Depilatories, Corn Plasters, and the thousand-and-one toilet requisites and medicinal remedies in daily use. The want thus shown, this List is in some measure intended to supply.

ACNE LOTION (STRACHAN'S).—Specially adapted to remove blackheads, and that greasy appearance of the skin which is a common symptom in some varieties of Acne. 3s. 3d. per case.

DANDRIFINE.—An exquisite preparation for the immediate removal of scurf or Dandriff, and for preventing its re-appearance. It is almost invariably successful, and, though it contains no grease, the hair needs no other dressing during its use. 3s. 6d. per case.

EXTRACT OF SEA WRACK (FUCUS VESICULOSUS).—The new remedy for obesity. This preparation has met with a wonderful demand. Its effects in some cases seem magical. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate constitutions. Price 3s. 3d. per case.

ASTRINGENT TOOTH POWDER.—A certain remedy for sponginess of the gums. 1s. 3d., 3s. per box.

BITARTRATE OF POTASSIUM.—This is a safe and efficient agent for the removal of tartar. Also prepared as a tooth powder. Price 1s. 4d., 3s.

BLANC DE PERLE.—This innocent and carefully-prepared cosmetique is free from the poison ordinarily used in face white. 1s. 3d., 2s. 3d. per case.

BLOOM OF ROSES.—A perfectly innocent aid to the complexion. 2s. 6d. per case.

GANTS GRAS POMADE.—A novel form of the well-known Gants Gras of the French and Italian perfumers of the last century. By its use (with soiled white kid gloves) the hands may be rendered beautifully white and soft in a few nights. 1s. 6d. per jar.

CAPTENE PAINT.—A wonderful external remedy, and instant cure for neuralgia, toothache, rheumatism, sciatica, gout, palpitation, and all local nerve pains. Although so efficacious, it does not discolour the skin. 1s. 4d., 3s. per bottle.

MAY DEW FACE WASH.—A new and valuable preparation. Its effects in improving the complexion, and softening and clearing the skin, are wonderful. 3s. per case.

SULPHUR SOAP (FOR THE HAIR).—The natural colour of the hair is due to an organic pigment, into the composition of which sulphur and iron largely enter. It is believed that in many cases grey hair is due solely to a deficiency in this natural secretion of sulphur. In such cases the sulphur may be supplied to the hair glands by occasionally washing the hair and scalp with the above soap. It is most particularly recommended that in cases of incipient greyness this should be tried before artificial colour restorers are resorted to. It is also the best soap for cleansing the hair before applying any dye or colour restorer, as it greatly quickens and enhances their action. It is also of great service for washing the skin in many cases of eruption and skin disease. 1s. 3d.

THE COLLURION.—A fluid compounded on strictly chemical and physiological principles. It accomplishes its purpose of restoring the hair to its pristine hue by its peculiar action on those vessels which secrete its colouring matter, the temporary derangement of which, caused either by accident or disease, leads to a suspension of their functions, and hence premature greyness ensues. It must be borne in mind that the action of the Collurion, being natural, is gradual, and therefore all persons using it must not expect the change to be sudden; on the contrary, it will, according to the nature of the case, take more or less time, but when once restored, an occasional application will preserve the colour to any age. An additional advantage of the Collurion over all dyes consists in its requiring no pomade or oil to be used with it, and its action on the skin, instead of being injurious, is positively beneficial. 2s. 6d. per case.

COMPLEXION PILLS.—Specially adapted to produce a healthy action of the skin and a clear complexion. If used in conjunction with certain easy rules of diet, their effect is rapid and marvellous. 1s. 3d., 2s. 10d. per box.
