Hill (Oliver) The Fifth Essay of D. M. a Friend of Truth and Physick, against the Circulation of the Blood. In two Parts. The First shewing its Absurdity and Impossibility three several Ways: 1. by the Disagreement and Lameness of the Reasons its own Authors give for it; 2. by many strong Demonstrations against it; 3. by making void all the Causes they assign of this pretended Effect; and this last, by shewing, that there is no Use in Nature for such Circulation, nor any Cause efficient capable to produce it, and to cause it to exist. The Second shews the true Cause of the Motion of the Heart, and the Blood and Arteries, by that which constitutes Life, to wit, the Spirits making a Flash in the left Ventricle, and a Puff which swells the Heart at every Pulsation, and pervades and moves the Blood. 8vo. Lond. 1700–1701

——— The Fifth Essay of Nine upon several Subjects: this being against the Circulation of the Blood. In two Parts; the first being a full Refutation of that blind Hypothesis; the second shewing the Cause of the Pulse, or the Beating of the Heart and Arteries, and of the Motion descry'd in the Blood and its Vessels, by a Way more agreeable to Reason and to Nature, than that of Circulation. A second Edition of the former Work. ib. 1702

——— A Rod for the Back of Fools: in Answer to a Book of Mr. John Toland, called Christianity not mysterious; (in which Answer, Trinity in Unity is made out to Reason and Common Sense) and to the Lecture of one Dr. Joseph Brown, taken from the Author's Book against the Circulation; and to the Answer of one Mr. John Gardiner, Surgeon, to that pretended Lecture. 8vo. ib. 1702

The Preparation and Custody of Medicines, as it was the primitive Custom with the Princes and great Patrons of Physick, asserted and proved to be the proper Charge and grand Duty of every Physician successively. The new Mode of prescribing and filing Recipes with Apothecaries, manifested an imprudent Invention and pernicious Innovation, demonstrated from the treble Damage and Disadvantages that arise thence to Physician, Patient, and the Medical Science: with enforcing Arguments for a Return and general Conformity to the primitive Practice, all Objections to the contrary answered and fully cleared. 4to. ib. 1671
