NOTE.

By the issue of this Supplement the former Edition of 1868 is now cancelled, the Books included in it being published in this issue, together with all additions to the Library up to present date.

"Errata to original Catalogue" has also been added, containing list of books re-catalogued under new references, and of books lost.

A Manuscript Supplement to the present Catalogue will, in future, lie on the Reading Room Table; and new books, &c., will be at once classified and entered as they are received.

The Library at present contains 5,500 volumes.

1st May, 1889.
