Ann Ballantine Admitted Feby 3rd 1816 Tall Stout Dark Complexion Dark hair, Grey Eyes, Aged 54 Long before requiring Confinement She had been occasionally slightly affected in the same manner as at present, but in her ordinary state of health nothing peculiar was observable - The supposed cause of her first going wrong, was a Rheumatic fever, about 23 years ago - In the various attacks she has had since the exciting cause, seems always to have been the occurrence of such circumstances as in a Sane person would have simply excited some transient mental emotion, such as joy, anger &c - Her present illness seemed to have been caused by joy at hearing that She was to be allowed to reside with her daughter at Glasgow, after a confinement of nearly two years at Inchcrow - This occurred in Augt. last, since which she has been unsettled, though till of late, hopes were entertained that soothing treatment & seclusion from society would restore her - but they have been ineffectual - Two cousins of hers laboured under temporary derangement lately. but of their history nothing further is known - When well she is reserved in her manners, sober, domestic & religious in her habits, & peculiarly gentle & placid in her disposition - She never attempted any thing against herself - but more than once has threatened to use her daughter very severely, to whom in her health she was extremely affectionate and indulgent; & when violently deranged about two years ago, would have injured those around her, had she not been forcibly restrained — She does not destroy any thing intentionally, but is apt to do so in her paroxisms, simply it would appear from her hasty & violent motions — Her derangement shews itself in a complete change of her character, she becomes irrascible, forward in her manners with even a levity approaching to childishness — a constant desire for gadding about — speaks incessantly, & in her conversation she mixes a deal of good sense with unfounded assertions highly embellished narrations & ex display of superstitious fancies, she would have laughed at in her ordinary health, she is peculiarly fond of enlarging on the wealth & influence of some of her relations - forms schemes for the aggrandisement of others - speaks freely of her own matrimonial prospects, & is constantly introducing forced expressions of gratitude to God for his goodness to her, & affirmations of her own implicite reliance on his providential care. - All this is accompanied by nearly a total want of sleep, which is the first observable symptom when a paroxism threatens She is attacked nearly every two years, & her illness lasts from 5 to 7 months - She was blistered on the head & feet two years ago, but what other means were ~~[illegible]~~ used is not known - She was in the Asylum at Duck Creek for the 12 months preceding December last, was removed from it being thought well enough to reside with her daughter She is otherwise healthy -

Febry 8th on the 4th she became very violent & unmanageable - I shaved her both her hair quite close & put her in the warm bath on the 5th cont. very high On the 6th The warm bath was repeated - & two Aloetic Pills -
The Pills operated - The warm bath seemed to have great effect - Relieved her from confinement she is very much better
— 10th Continues better
— 13th Do
— 24th Continues as on the 10th
March 2nd Do

March 8th She expresses herself very harshly of her friends & Relations when absents from her but when present alters her countenance continues to simper & appear well pleased with them —

— 12th Is becoming less troublesome — 15th Continues to improve — — 20th Not quite so settled — 20th Continues as on the 20th — 20th The Pills operated — 24th Continues dull of hearing — — 28th Bowels very much relaxed — — 29th Appears rather more composed Bowels regular

May 4th I'm continually teazing the Dr & every person near her - Com= complaining that she is improperly confined & should be immediately discharged —

May 19th Allowed her to go to hear Dr. Burns preach at the Magdalen Chapel ——————
