881 CARDS, EARLY PLAYING, A COMPLETE PACK OF ANCIENT PLAYING CARDS, with drawings of the same, in 2 vol. VERY RARE, old russia n. d.

J 4

* * * The ancient Cards in this volume, with others (duplicates), and the drawings in the second volume, were purchased by me out of the Collection of Dr. Stukeley; the drawings were produced by the Doctor, the 9th November 1720, to the Society of Antiquaries, observing that the Cards had been given him by Thos. Rawlinson, Esq., being two pieces of the cover of an old book, supposed to be Claudian, printed before 1500; and that there was a leaf or two of an old edition of Erasmus' Adages pasted between the layers of the Cards, which being laid stratum super stratum, composed two paste boards, and made the cover of the book. The Doctor took the pains to separate the cards, out of which I have chosen a complete pack, and, the better to preserve so singular a curiosity, have had it bound, together with the above mentioned drawings, and some modern French cards. It is observable in these ancient cards that there are no aces or queens, but instead of the latter are knights.

On the antiquity of Playing Cards see "Recherches Historiques sur les Cartes a jouer," by Bullet, who thinks they were not invented before the latter end of the fourteenth century; see also the "Idée Générale d'une complete Collection d'Estampes," M. C. T.; see MS. note by Mark Cephass Tutet, from whose Collection these two volumes came; they are particularly mentioned in Mr. Singer's admirable work on the subject, the plates therein having been engraved from this series; see p. 172, &c.

		* * * This celebrated Letter of Columbus is the first printed document relative to America; it appears to have been originally written in Spanish, and was in the same year translated into Latin by Alcander de Cosco, and printed at Rome by Eucharius Argenteus. Whether this, or the one without date, also printed at Rome, is the prior edition, seems difficult to decide, but this is much the rarer of the two.

SEVERAL OF THE PARTS ARE THE FIRST EDITIONS.

 This important Collection should not be regarded merely as a book of curiosity, on account of the number of its engravings, and its extreme rarity. These Histories of Voyages and Travels made several centuries back, in countries a large part of which are even now imperfectly known, contain, in the midst of a multitude of fabulous details, very interesting particulars and valuable information, of which they are the primitive, and in some instances the only source. De Brys' Collection is especially useful in the present day, for the purpose of instituting comparison between his narratives and those of modern travellers to the same countries; and many of his statements formerly reputed fabulous or exaggerated, have been confirmed by more recent accounts.—Bibliotheca Grenvilliana, vol. I, p. 184.

In the Harleian Collection will be found one of a later edition, printed in 1492.
- It is a MOST SPLENDID BOOK, THE VELLUM BEING UNIFORMLY PURE AND BEAUTIFUL, and formerly belonged to the Library of the Jesuits at Brussels.

- * * * "The expences incurred by the Duke of Buckingham for the researches and for the printing of these four volumes exceeded the sum of £3000. They contain Latin translations from the original Ibero-Celtic MSS. in the library at Stowe. The most important and interesting works illustrative of the history and antiquities of Ireland were selected, and these volumes embody no article ever before printed, or, it might be almost added, ever before known to the literary world, excepting, perhaps, by name. The notes abound in curious and valuable matter, and the learned translator is deservedly deemed more profoundly skilled than any other person of the present day in the language, figurative expressions, and allusions of the originals. This work must always be deemed essential to any literary collection professing to have the history of Ireland among its objects, as well as for the rich mine of curious matter contained in Dr. O'Connor's notes, as for the original texts."—*MS. * * * Mr. Dent's copy of the 3 vol. only sold for £126.; Mr. R. Willett's copy, 3 vol. on large paper, £152. 5s., and Sir M. M. Sykes' copy, 3 vol. small paper, £117. 12s.

The following Note in the neat autograph of the late HON. THOS. GRENVILLE will be found in vol. 1.

Vol. 1, 1666. 26 leaves not paged, and a plate, precede the Text, which begins at p. 1, in which the Author says he intends to preface it with "a large Introduction not yet completed, swelling to an entire Tome." The vol. ends at p. 1251, with a subjoined leaf of errata, but it is observable that this first vol. begins p. 2 with book II, the first book being reserved for the large Introduction not yet completed.

Vol. 2, 1665. 12 leaves not paged, and the same plate repeated, precede the Text of p. 1 to p. 1070, then follows Appendix, p. 1 to p. 29, after which come 71 leaves not paged, of 15 Indexes, to which is subjoined a leaf of errata.

Vol. 3, 1670. 46 leaves not paged precede the Text, which goes on from p. 1, including Appendix, to p. 1307, on the reverse of which is an Address to the Reader.

The above description of three volumes is always considered as complete

Spilsbury 4450 PRYNNE (W.) RECORDS. VOL. 4.

It has no date or title page, this being intended for the Introduction; the first leaf with signature B is not paged, but, under a woodcut ornament, begins thus: An Exact Chronological History and Full Display of Popes Intolerable Usurpations upon the antient just Rights, Liberties of the Kings, Kingdoms, Clergy, Nobility, Commons of England and Ireland. The Text begins thus: The design of this Chronological History and Display, &c. &c. The second leaf of this vol. is paged p. 1, and on the middle of p. 2 begins "The First Book;" and that this was intended as such is evident, because on reference to the first vol. it will be found that p. 2 of vol. 1 has book II, which shews that book I. was reserved for this Introduction. The paging of this vol. goes on regularly to p. 400 inclusive, which page of book I. chap. v. ends with "Coepiscopi tui et Coma."

Oldys, in his British Librarian, p. 225 and p. 227, speaking of Prynne's 80 pages of Introduction to his second vol., says "It was to supply the want of this larger Introduction, comprised in the first book of the first tome not yet completed, and over-large, to be annexed to this, as he at first designed;" but neither Oldys, nor any other Bibliographer, seems to have known that the 400 pages of this larger Introduction had been actually printed.—T. G.

The paging runs regularly from p. 1 to 128, and from 128 to 143 the pages are falsely numbered, being only 6, but the text is complete; the false numbering goes on regularly from p. 143 to the end.

This Note is also in the autograph of the Hon. Thos. Grenville.

* * THIS REMARKABLE VOLUME MAY BE CONSIDERED UNIQUE. The late Hon Mr. Grenville states "I have never seen it elsewhere, nor have I found it anywhere described. It is evidently that Introduction described by Prynne, as previously noticed in vol. 1, p. 1 and 2."

 FIRST EDITION, VERY RARE, russia extra, joints, g. l. 1623

* * * The rarity of this edition is too well known to need any comment. Ben Jonson's verses to the reader, before the title, are inlaid, the title page lined, and the top line "Mr. William" is added from another edition. With these exceptions, it is a sound and perfect copy, in very good state, $12\frac{3}{8}$ inches high, by $8\frac{1}{8}$ inches.

 THE THIRD EDITION, and unto this impression is added Seven Playes, never before printed in folio; portrait, the margin neatly mended, and the title lined.
fine, tall, sound, and perfect copy, russia extra, joints, g. l. 1664

* * * The greater part of the impression having been destroyed in the Fire of London, it is consequently almost of as great rarity as the first edition.

- 4956 SHAKESPEARE (W.) COMEDIES, Histories, and Tragedies, wants portrait, and pages 87 and 88, sheet H

* * This is the volume described by Heinecken, p. 334—349, as the FIRST EDITION, and is of EXCESSIVE RARITY. It differs however very much from the other editions both in the design of the engravings, and the manner in which they have been worked from the blocks.

There are very few copies of any of the editions of this work that are in so perfect a state as to enable one at once to decide upon the mode adopted in the working of the pages. Most of the copies known have either been mounted, or the sheets divided, pasted together, or bound up without any great degree of correctness as to their order.

The present copy however happens, most fortunately for our researches in these interesting typographical minutiae, to be in a most perfect state, and at once elucidates a point upon which the learned Heinecken appears to have been mistaken.

He states, p. 334, as we believe is very true with all the other block books, that they have so worked "que deux planches se regardent toujours, et que le revers est en blanc, ainsi il n'y rien sur la premiere et sur la derniere page"; and also at page 348, he closes the enumeration of the plates by stating that the work is composed of three gatherings of eight leaves each.

The fortunately very perfect state of the present copy shows however very clearly that the impression of the engraving occurs on the reverse of each leaf, the recto of each page being left blank, a circumstance which would preclude the possibility of their being pasted together, as we frequently find are the copies of the other editions, and also of the other block works. Again, the forty-eight leaves collate four gatherings of twelve leaves each, or six sheets, and not three of eight each.

This appears to have been the "Brienne-Laïre" copy, and is in the most desirable state of preservation.

 monde may very possibly be, and probaby is, a good deal over-coloured, and mixed up with some calumny and unfair inferences, but much, indeed most of his charges are founded in fact. That of the Duke clandestinely obtaining grants of numerous estates, which the Crown had no legal right whatever to dispose of, and otherwise dispossessing

the unfortunate proprietors during the lawless period of his first Vice-Royalty after the Restoration, is to this day universally and circumstantially known by tradition throughout the county of Kilkenny. A rental of £7,000. in the Reign of Charles I. became thus augmented to upwards of £80,000. in that of Charles II; it will not therefore excite surprise to hear that the extreme rarity and almost extinction of the "UNKINDE DESERTOR" was nearly coeval with its existence; for the Duke's family, in order to keep such secrets within the "Prison House," or at least to prevent it from walking too much abroad, purchased at any price, wherever they could find it, this obnoxious piece of evidence. At Towneley's sale in 1814, Lord Leitrim purchased one for £31. 10.; only seven copies are known.

* * * A VOLUME OF EXTREME RARITY. It was written by Dr. Madden; "a name," says Dr. Johnson, "which Ireland ought to honour." The work was scarcely finished when the author determined to destroy it. Only three copies are said to have been preserved; see Nicholls' Literary Anecdotes, vol. 2, p. 29 to 33, where this copy, from the collection of James Bindley, is particularly specified.

* * The above are the only remaining copies of this important work. "The expenses incurred by the Duke of Buckingham for the researches and the printing of these four volumes exceeded the sum of £3000. They contain translations into Latin from the original Ibero-Celtic MSS. in the Library of Stowe. The most important and interesting works, illustrative of the history and antiquities of Ireland, were selected; and these volumes embody no article ever before printed, or, it might be almost added, ever before known to the literary world, excepting perhaps by name. The notes abound in curious and valuable matter, and the learned translator is deservedly deemed more profoundly skilled than any other person of the present day in the language, figurative expressions, and allusions of the originals. This work must always be deemed essential to any collection professing to have the History of Ireland among its objects, as well for the rich mine of curious matter contained in Dr. O'Connor's notes, as for the original text."—from a MS. note in Sheffield Grace's copy.
