PREFACE.

A great scarcity of the Ephemeris' for past years being much wanted for the use of the student, and for assisting in that useful science, a set of astronomical tables for the four following years, 1780, 1781, 1782 and 1783 are submitted, and which is intended to be regularly published down to the present time; will be found on perusal exceedingly useful to those whose inclination leads them to study Elementary Philosophy or Astrology; and without which nothing effectually can be done in the calculation of Nativities.

For the sake of brevity, in the upper columns I have inserted the declinations of the Sun and Moon; the place of the fortunate Node of the Moon, or 2, and the Latitude of Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Venus and Mercury, for every sixth day of the month.

Having published these tables for four succeeding years, and relying they will be found of great utility in the researches of this pleasing and insructive Science, induces me to get forward and prepare for the press, a compendium of tables for the residue of years, which will be printed as early as possible, the whole forming a neat and useful pocket volume.
