OBSERVATIONS ON VACCINATION.

From the different modes of applying the lancet in Inoculation, some little varieties in the appearance of the pock, and some little difference in the time of the appearances, are produced.

If the inoculation be effected by an extremely slight, superficial puncture, a small red spot is produced, which, for three or four days, will only have the appearance of the bite of some small insect. At the end of a week, there will generally be only the appearance of a small vesicle; and the pock will be a day or two later than usual in the exhibition of all its different appearances.

The pock, through all its stages, will preserve a circular form, spherical or orbicular in the beginning, but, as it acquires its full dimensions, becoming flattened, and even hollow or depressed, on its summit. At this period the pock, at its circumference, is generally considerably elevated; sometimes, even, in a small degree overhanging its basis. But it sometimes happens, that, under the characteristic inflammation, the tumified, indurated part, surrounding the pock, is almost, or altogether, as much elevated as the margin of the pock, which then resembles a circular plane or depression, on the elevated, inflamed, indurated areola.

If, on application of the lancet, any considerable incision be made, the pock, in its circumference, puts on a shape corresponding with the form of the surface of the cutis, which had been denuded, or had the cuticle separated from it in the inoculation.

In the central part of the pock a slight ulceration and formation of pus takes place; so that the continuity of cells, which constitutes the structure of the pock, instead of forming a spheroidal congeries, takes on an annular form, surrounding the drop, and sometimes more deeply-seated mass of pus in the centre, produced by the wound from the lancet, at the time of the inoculation.

Round the pock, there is, from an early period, a slight appearance of inflammation, which, on the circulation being quickened, exhibits the appearance of a throbbing, synchronous with the pulsations of the arteries producing it; but which is unaccompanied with pain: and, when about the tenth day of the inoculation, the disease is at its height, this efflorescence or erythematous inflammation, forms a distinct kind of halo, or areola, which, in Europeans, is of a red or crimson tint; but which, in Blacks and people of colour, is simply of a darker hue than their own complexions.

This characteristic induration, which is always accompanied with a degree of symptomatic fever, seems the most infallible criterion of the vaccination being complete, as it takes place whether the pock have been preserved whole, or have been ruptured during its progress; and though, after its passing away, the pock is generally converted into a firm, peculiar kind of crust or scab, of a dark brown colour, the changes of the pock beginning at its centre; yet,

—— it sometimes happens, from the matter of the pock having been freely discharged, that the characteristic crust is of a diminished size, and of a colour less intensely dark;

—— it sometimes happens that, from violence done to the pock, this crust is altogether prevented, and ulceration takes place;

—— it sometimes happens, when the vaccine effect has passed away, (the areola disappeared,) that the pock, instead of drying and hardening into any thing like the peculiar crust or scab, has the character of some previously existing eruption determined to the part, and becomes infirm, or of loose texture, light-coloured and of irregular form, like a portion of concreted pus, whereby the previous eruption is often carried off. By a discharge from the part at such a time, other complaints are sometimes removed, as the excessive intolerance of light with which weak-eyed children are tormented, discharges from the ears, &c.

Under all these different appearances, the characteristic inflammation having previously had place, the protection is complete.—J. W.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GOVERNORS

OF THE

Royal Jennerian Society,

HOLDEN AT

Bond Court, Walbrook, on Thursday, February 5, 1829,

JOINT PRESIDENT, DOCTOR LISTER,

IN THE CHAIR.

While Doctor Jenner was solicitously occupied in his researches on the Cow-pock in the dairy farms in Gloucestershire, the heretofore Physician of the Small-pox Hospital, Doctor Lister, and the late Henry Cline, his colleague in St. Thomas's Hospital, Southwark, applied the matter which he sent them to town, and were assured of its efficacy by repeated, subsequent, ineffectual efforts to produce the Small-pox on the patient to whom they had applied it.

The Minutes of the last General Court were read and approved.

The Minutes of the Board of Managers were read and confirmed.

The Annual Report was read, approved, and ordered to be printed, under the direction of the Managers.

REPORT.

It were an unpardonable breach of trust in a public Charity, to subject the objects of it, without their own consent, to the experimental application of uncertain or hazardous remedies.

The first application of Vaccination, the Great Prophylactic against the Small-pox, in our Metropolis, which now diffuses consolation to every land, was made by Doctor Lister and the late Mr. Cline, the excellent friends of Doctor Jenner in private practice. Here they had the opportunity of exciting the cheering hopes of the relatives, as they afterwards confirmed their assurance of the protection being complete, although the wondering relatives had not been able to detect any derangement of health in the subject during the process of vaccination.

This remark on the honourable conduct of medical characters holding public places of the highest possible trust, may be particularly seasonable at a time when the question of their being duly supplied with anatomical subjects in their professional pursuits, has become a matter of deliberation with the Legislature, and the public mind has become so extremely agitated on the furtive and burglarious method of obtaining them, as to attempt to lumber the burying-grounds with patent or iron coffins, for the securing the remains of their friends in the silent grave. It is important that the public should know, while their prejudices run so high against the mutilations of the remains of their friends, which royal corpses have been long subject to, that while the men filling the places in Hospitals of the highest possible trust, acquit themselves so well towards the living, the Stewards of the Hospitals take care to secure the interment of the patients who die, however importunate the medical staff and the students may be to have them sent to the anatomical theatre or dissecting table. That the medical staff of a public Hospital hold the highest possible trust in the complicated fabric of Society, will appear evident, when it is considered that the lives and health of the working part of the community constantly fall under their care. It belongs to the supporters of these charities to elect the medical officers to their important charge; and formerly, by favouritism, and the making of new subscribers, incompetent functionaries might be elected: in later times such legislative regulations have been adopted against irregular practitioners, that no combination of individuals, however numerous or wealthy, can bring in a candidate, pharmacist, surgeon, or physician, who has not passed the authorized tribunals of Pall Mall, Lincoln's Inn Fields, or of the Pharmaceutic Hall, by Doctors' Commons.

On the formation of the Royal Jennerian Society, Dr. Jenner, by letter, expressed a wish that characters, so illustrious in the profession, as the advocates of vaccination in St. Thomas's Hospital, (terming them stars of the first magnitude,) might unite in the association; and he soon saw the benign rays of professional science, to the enlightening of the world to its good, beam forth from the rising orb. The most exalted rank, the most eminent talent, the most efficient philanthropy, gathered around it at home; and the nations abroad admired and acknowledged its excellence.

A traveller through every country of Europe, the Count Lasteurie, of Paris, a great supporter, in France, of Vaccination, of the Lancasterian System of Education, and of various other philanthropic institutions, on being elected an Honorary Member, in a letter of reconnoissance to our President, the Duke of Bedford, well observed, on its general and powerful influence in the world, that its establishment had formed an era in the annals of Humanity.

Much of the last Annual Report, prepared for every Governor by the Managers, had retrospective reference to the extensive services rendered to humanity by the Institution, in different parts of the earth. The accession of new members, from various quarters, encouragingly shows that their exertions, in effecting such happy results, are duly appreciated by characters, whose names on the roll of their supporters stamp a dignity on their proceedings, and afford an encouraging example to those who yet hesitate.

In reporting progress this year, then, the Managers have simply to record numbers, and to lay before the Governors extracts of some of the acknowledgments of the multitudinous Correspondents of the Institution. They cannot, however, forego the renewal of that patriotic pleasure which they feel in reminding the Governors how high our country has always stood in the scale of nations, as cultivators of science and of all the arts of civilized life: and if, while

“ All in the dust are equal made
By Time’s devouring scythe and spade—
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet and blossom in the dust”—

According to a favourite ballad of Charles II. when in sober mood, they may also indulge themselves in a grateful renewal of their acknowledgments of the philanthropy of a late Prime Minister of our so highly elevated country.

The land we live in is peculiarly distinguished in the annals of the middle and the later ages. Previous to these, our remotest ancestry may, under the Druids, have exercised revolting rites in their gloomy forests—may have been heard of, in the civilized regions of the earth, as a nation of painted savages, only worthy of being visited by them for the sake of their traffic in tin. Tempora mutantur, et nos mutamur in illis—How the times are changed! The immortal Alfred established regulations, laying new charges on, and giving rights to, the people, which lifted them up to a more elevated station in the social compact than had ever yet been attained among the nations of antiquity, however boastful of their superiority over ‘the Barbarians.’ From England, where individual rights have ever proved the best stimuli to individual exertions, rays of science have beamed on the nations which have, till then, lain in darkness unpenetrated, through every age.

‘ Nature and Nature’s laws lay hid in night—
God said, Let Newton be! and all was light’—

SSang Pope (‘the Swan of the Thames’).

Harvey had previously discovered the course of the vital stream in the human subject.

The laws of organic life lay hid under an impenetrable veil, through every age, till first revealed by Dr. William Harvey, a native of Kent, who, in the seventeenth century, made the important discovery of the circulation of the blood; whereby the mean was first obtained of forming any thing like a rational conjecture on the economy of animal life, and whereby the economy of vegetable life has also become approachable.

Till then, all the doctrines of physiology must have been merely conjectural. The never-to-be-fathomed laws of organic life, marvellous as they appear, in our attempts to comprehend them, must, before the discovery of Harvey, notwithstanding the approaches of the Italian anatomists Cesalpinus and Columbus, and of the Spanish physician Servetus, who suffered martyrdom under the French reformer Calvin, at Geneva, have been altogether unapproachable.

‘Newton,’ says the late Dr. Lettsom, in his oration to the Medical Society of London, ‘weighed the globe in the scale of gravitation; Harvey explained to man the laws of his existence; but to Jenner was devolved the power of preserving that existence.’

When the Prime Minister of the British empire, the late EARL of LIVERPOOL, could see the carrying on the war against that enemy (the smallpox) which harassed and lessened the numbers of the human race in the countries of the old world during twelve centuries, and, by the discoveries of the Europeans, desolated, with still more certainty, the unknown regions as they opened to our view, so as to render it incumbent on Parliament to defend the people against its future unremitting attacks, he individually came forward with a liberal subscription, and very animating encouragement of our popular institution. His Lordship condescended, even, to address a pleasing and gratifying note to our worthy Registrar, Dr. Johnstone, in which his Lordship, after eulogizing the economical management of our affairs, stated, as his opinion, that no society in the country effected so much good, with limited means, as the LONDON VACCINE INSTITUTION. This, coming from so benevolent a nobleman as the late EARL of LIVERPOOL, the Managers consider as the highest praise that could be bestowed; for his Lordship spoke not from mere hearsay, but from actual experience, there being but few charitable institutions in the kingdom that have not, more or less, felt the influence of his unbounded beneficence.

To have passed silently over the afflicting event of his Lordship's demise, would have displayed an apathy unworthy of a philanthropic association. The Managers, however, can but faintly express the obligations which the Society owes to his Lordship, and, in lamenting the loss of their great patron, they only feebly echo the feelings of regret of the hundreds who have partaken of his Lordship's bounty; for to him the heavenly task was confided of acting as a husband to the widow, and as a father to the fatherless; to him the pleasure of rescuing from misery and want the latter days of the aged and unfortunate; to him the happiness of being one of the earliest and most strenuous supporters of the distribution of the Holy Scriptures to the poor; and we may add last, not least, to him the honour of being one of the primitive promoters of the blesed discovery of vaccination. For his Lordship's services in our behalf, we could not forego this occasion of offering our grateful testimonials; and we conclude with a fervent hope that other noblemen and gentlemen will follow the bright example of his Lordship, who generously subscribed 5*l.* 5*s.* per annum to our Institution, and gave a still more convincing proof of his sincerity in the cause, by devoting his valuable time to write to us, animating us in our unceasing exertions in behalf of suffering humanity.

During the last year 736 have fallen victims to the smallpox, within the Bills of Mortality.

Grateful acknowledgments of services rendered to humanity by the Society, continue to pour in from remote parts of the world, as well as from different parts of the empire.

The increased expenditures, to which the Governors so liberally contribute, they will have the pleasure to see, are well repaid by the life-saving services effected.

The Governors will doubtless commend the earnestness of their Managers, in their endeavours to obtain subscriptions for continuing the good work; and will continue to support them by their recommendations, and the influence of their names and example, as well as by the liberal continuance of their direct pecuniary contributions.

SERVICES,
DOMESTIC AND TRANSMARINE.

The Governors of the Institution will approve of the Managers still continuing to keep before their view the pleasing exhibition of the great services rendered, through their generosity, from the Capital of the Commercial World, to the most distant parts, and to the less remote regions of the earth, as well as the unceasing supplies daily afforded to medical practitioners throughout the Metropolis and the United Kingdom.

Surgeon H. Ryan, of the Royal Navy, was the bearer of Vaccine Ichor from the Institution to that remote part of the world, Botany Bay, which succeeded. In the British settlement, lying as far distant S. E. beyond our possessions in India, as is our country N. W. on this side of the land of the Hindoos, the supplies of the Society were found perfectly effective.

The following account is extracted from a Journal published in that antipodean part of our planet.

From the New South Wales Gazette of January, 1822.

We congratulate the inhabitants of these Colonies on the very recent arrival from Europe of the Vaccine Virus, transmitted by those benevolent and life-saving Societies, the Royal Jennerian and London Vaccine Institutions. Numbers of children have lately been inoculated, and the matter has taken exceedingly well. The gentlemen of the faculty in town, we are informed, are equipped with this powerful and successful preventive to the most destructive of all our maladies. We rejoice to say, that benevolence is so far extending its blessings to our sister settlements southward, and that the virus from the before-mentioned benevolent Institutions is either on its way, or about to be transmitted thither.

The Managers are still incessant in their inquiry for the departure of vessels from this Capital of the Commercial World to Foreign Nations the most stant, as well as to all the British Colonies, where they transmit Supplies of the Vaccine Ichor, for the protection of the natives from the Smallpox. They issue them for

The Services of the Institution, both at home and abroad, continue unabated.

In furtherance of the humane cause, throughout this immense Metropolis, the Managers beg leave to assure the gentlemen who apply for the matter of inoculation, that they are gratified in being able to furnish the daily supplies. They know also that their Resident Inoculator has great pleasure in effecting this very important part of his daily duties, however he may occasionally appear inattentive to themselves, or however indisposed to listen to long details from the poor mothers, presenting their greatest treasures in the world to him for protection. His apparent neglect of everything about him except the children, of which we have known upwards of 150 in one day sometime pass through his hands, his eye fixed only on them while he, thus hurried, perhaps unceremoniously or in a sort of absence, even twists to one side a mother's bonnet throwing a shade on the infant's arm, where he successively plants and gathers his vaccine roses. The Doctor, in his 'Fragments of Letters from the Mediterranean,' has so termed the vaccine pock, in diffusing its protecting influence through the Egyptian expedition. The Managers know he cannot have any higher gratification than in the prosperously forwarding the cause of vaccination; and, when he is flocked to by crowds of applicants for vaccine matter, he feels more flatteringly gratified, than by any other kind of respect or approbation that could be shown to him by his professional brethren.

Of the thousands of letters received from year to year, the appended extracts will sufficiently show the important services of the Society.

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“East Harptree, Bath, Dec. 23, 1828.

“SIR,—I have frequently troubled you by calling at your house for vaccine matter: I am now in rather a critical situation, for the smallpox has been introduced into my parish, and there are several children who have had neither the variolous nor the vaccine inoculation: send by post some fresh vaccine matter on glass, as well as on the points, and you will thereby much oblige, Sir,

“Your obedient Servant,

“JOHN N. DAVIDSON

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond court, Wallbrook, London.

“Wallingford, Berks, Feb. 1, 1828.

“SIR,—I have near me from twenty to thirty children exposed to the variolous infection. I will therefore thank you to forward, by return of post, a large supply of vaccine virus, taken on points and glasses. The above number of children are close to the smallpox, and the delay of a week will be attended with great danger.

“Your's, most sincerely,

“R. GREENING.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond court, Wallbrook.

“Magdalen Hall, Oxford, Feb. 14, 1828.

“DEAR SIR,—When I addressed you, a few days ago, in behalf of my friend Mr. Smith, who deputed me to trouble you for some of the prophylactic vaccine fluid, I was not aware that I should soon have occasion to inflict upon you the tædium of a second letter. This morning received a letter from him requesting my attendance, as early as possible, to decide upon a suspected case of smallpox in the village of Wheatley, although few men, I should imagine, are more conversant with that pestilential disease than himself. I found a little sufferer, a child not yet two years old, studded with a plentiful crop of pustules, in some parts confluent, and with a scab sufficiency malignant, conjointly with the cutaneous exhalation, to spread mortality over a whole village: The infant arrived at Wheatley, with its mother and a strolling troop of Irish, but two days back, and remains at one of those miserable lodging-houses which become the common receptacle of poor itinerants, as well the bad as the good. That I may not commit a fraud upon that time which, in some sense, may be called the property of the public, I will briefly the end of the present letter. There are, in the same lodging-house, other children, likewise foot-travellers. Is it not probable, most probable, one or other of these will proceed a few paces with the malignant aura already inhaled, and then sicken like this poor innocent? Does the evil stop here? At the same lodging-house where the second tragedy occurs, will be proffered materials for a third.—Imagination tires itself in tracing the termination of the evil, as much as in following the idea of eternity.

“THE REMEDY.—This, I fear, like most remedies, will be conventional as to the mode of application, and imperfect in its results. It will become me to propose a measure of legislation; let it be considered as a measure easily to be accomplished, whether by legislation or by the private interposition of the benevolent.

“FIRST.—Let the medical attendant report the discovery of smallpox without delay.

“SECONDLY.—Let the overseer of the parish, authorized by law, detain the children which are in the same house, and prevent their further peregrination until cured.

“THIRDLY.—Let the lodging-house (for it is a public house rendered so by the will of the proprietor) be put under quarantine regulations.

“I think it unnecessary to apologize for an intrusion which carries its own excuse along with it; besides, you, I am well aware are still sanguine enough to hope the time may come when (although in a different sense to that in which the poet used the words) the vaccinating philanthropist may triumphantly exclaim, after inserting the fluid,

“ ‘Hic murus aheneus esto.’

“Your’s truly, in haste,

“G. F. COLLIER, M.D.”

“P. S.—Please to forward as much matter as you can spare consistently with your other claims. Direct, ‘Mr. Smith, Surgeon, Wheatley.’”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond court.

“57, Fore street.

“SIR,—My father, Mr. Dalrymple of Norwich, has applied to me to furnish him with some cowpock matter, and as I know no place to which I can apply so good as your valuable institution, may I ask the favour of your sending a small quantity by my servant. Should this be in your power, I shall feel most particularly obliged.

“Your most obedient servant,

“JOHN DALRYMPLE.”

To Dr. Walker, London Vaccine Institution, Walbrook, London.

“Biggleswade, March 10, 1828.

“SIR,—The smallpox has made its appearance in the parish of Sangford, near this town, and we wish to take advantage of the terror excited thereby, to persuade every one in our power to be vaccinated. You will confer a favour upon us (by enabling us to carry the above into effect) by forwarding us as much vaccine matter as you can spare, by return of post.

“For Thomas M’Grath,

“THOMAS MACLEAR.”

To the Medical Council of the Royal Jennerian Society, Salisbury square, Fleet street, London.

“Hoarwithy, Hentland, near Hereford, March 10, 1828.

“GENTLEMEN,—Residing in a large parish in which that dreadful malady the smallpox is much prevailing, and being thoroughly convinced of the efficacy, advantage, and security which may be derived by vaccine inoculation, I take the liberty (from feelings of humanity, which I hope you will accept as my apology) of begging you to transmit to me, with the least possible delay, some vaccine matter, with which I shall be happy in spending my time in inoculating many who will thankfully receive it.

"I am, Gentlemen,

"Your most obedient humble servant,

"WILLIAM PRICE."

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond court, Walbrook, London.

"Bradnich, near Exon, Devon, March 21, 1828.

"DEAR DOCTOR,—I am sorry to be so troublesome to you, but the people in this neighbourhood are very fickle, and I cannot possibly preserve the fluid sufficiently active. Will you be kind enough to send me some fluid on points, as soon as convenient, as the smallpox has become prevalent in different parts of the county.

I remain, dear Doctor,

"Llanfair, near Welsh Pool, Montgomeryshire,

"March 21, 1828.

"SIR,—You will much oblige me by sending, per return of post, as much vaccine lymph as you possibly can spare. The smallpox has made its appearance in this neighbourhood, and several persons have applied to me to vaccinate their children, as soon as the lymph reaches here.

"Believe me, Sir, to be,

"Your's, very respectfully,

"ROBERT DAVIES, Surg.

"Hon. Mem. London Vacc. Inst."

To A. Johnstone, Esq. 52, Burr street, London.

"Market Bosworth, Leicestershire, March 22, 1828.

"SIR,—From a full impression of the great benefit which the public have derived, and still continue to derive, from such an establishment as the London Vaccine Institution, I feel anxious to become one of its honorary members. Should I be thought worthy of the honour of your diploma, I shall always endeavour to promote the interest of the society by every means in my power: any expense thereby incurred will be gladly defrayed. Please to enrol me as an annual subscriber of one guinea, from this time, to your institution.

"I am, Sir,

"Your most obedient servant,

"JOHN LEE."

*To A. Johnstone, Esq. Sub-Secretary to the Vaccine Institution, “Crowld, near Thorne, Lincolnshire, April 4, 1828.

“DEAR SIR,—I should be greatly obliged for a little fresh vaccine lymph by return of post, the smallpox having broken out at a neighbouring village, which has excited much alarm; and not being enabled to meet with any in the neighbourhood, I have taken the liberty of soliciting some from your invaluable institution, which has invariably proved such a source of benefit to mankind.

“I have the honour to be, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“T. S. OXLEY.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. Burr street, Tower hill, London.

“High street, Fareham, April 5, 1828.

“SIR,—Being in want of some vaccine lymph, and well knowing I can procure some fresh and good at your institution, I have taken the liberty of writing to request the favour of a remittance, and you will oblige, Sir,

“Your very obedient servant,

“JOHN HAYWOOD, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Salisbury court, Fleet street, London.

“Devizes, April 16, 1828.

“Sir,—I shall esteem it a favour if you will oblige me with some vaccine virus as soon as you can make it convenient, as I have a patient with natural smallpox in a village where there are many who have never had the smallpox or been vaccinated.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obliged and obedient servant,

“JOHN FOWLER.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“Droitwich, May 11, 1828.

“SIR,—Pray do me the favour to send me, per return of post, a quantity of vaccine virus on cotton. This neighbourhood is unfortunately exposed to a most virulent smallpox in consequence of a medical man, just settled, having introduced it. Many deaths have taken place, and the neighbourhood is under the greatest alarm. Your immediate compliance will much oblige

“Your's, respectfully,

“With many thanks,

“MARTIN RICKETTS.”

To the Secretary of the Vaccine Institution, Salisbury-square, Fleet-street, London.

“Hooton Pagnell, near Doncaster, May 16, 1828.

“HONOURED SIR,—Would you have the goodness to remit me, per post, a little of your genuine vaccine matter—it would oblige me much: it still continues to maintain its deserved superiority and patronage in this district. I conclude myself,

“Honoured Sir,

“Your most obedient humble Servant,

“GEORGE KENYON.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Hitchin, June 15, 1828.

“RESPECTED FRIEND,—I am again under the necessity of requesting thee to supply me with some vaccine fluid, per return of post.

“Thy friend, respectfully,

“OSWALD FOSTER.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. 52, Burr street, Tower hill, London.

“Stockport, Cheshire, July 2, 1828.

“SIR,—I shall feel myself greatly indebted to you, if you would be so kind as to send me, by return of post, some vaccine lymph. I am sorry to be so troublesome, and can assure you, Sir, that it arises from the opinion I have formed of the superior efficacy of the lymph obtained from your benevolent institution over any which I can procure.

“I have the honour to be, Sir,

“Your most obedient humble servant,

“GEORGE YOUNG GRAHAM, Surg.

“Honorary Member of the Royal

“Jennerian Society and London

“Vaccine Institution.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. 52, Burr street, Tower hill, London.

“St. John's, Newfoundland, July 12, 1828.

“SIR,—In the course of last autumn, the variolous disease was imported here from Halifax, Nova Scotia. Some of the cases terminated fatally. In unison with my brother practitioners, I began to vaccinate the children. Our stock of virus was very scanty, and with some of the children it had a good effect, with others it failed; and, owing to the prejudices of the parents, they never came forward to inspect them, or to satisfy ourselves whether it was the genuine or spurious cowpox. In some few cases which fell under my observation, of the genuine, I had the extreme pleasure of seeing verified the doctrine of the immortal Jenner. In one family, particularly under my care, consisting of three children and a female servant, I had vaccinated the three children previous to the servant coming to the house, and they had a beautiful cowpox. A few days after the girl entered service she sickened, and had a bad case of variola. I advised the parents to send the children into her bed room every day, and keep them there for an hour or two. They did so: the servant recovered, and the children never got the infection. Were it not too tedious, I could mention to you many similar cases that occurred to me in my private practice. During my studies at the University of Edinburgh, I was early taught, by my learned preceptors, the utility and benefit of the Jennerian doctrine, and I have never, since I entered on public life, and private practice, seen any cause that could shake my belief, or make me waver in opinion, relative to the benefit, the ease, and happiness, which this grand discovery has conferred upon mankind. I therefore request, Sir, that you will be pleased to consider me as an annual donor of one guinea towards the funds of the institution. I would be extremely obliged to you, if you would have the kindness to forward by every opportunity, glasses of vaccine virus to St. John's, Newfoundland, to, Sir,

“Your most obedient servant,
“J. WALSH.”

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond court, Walbrook.

“5, Gloucester place, King's road, Chelsea.

“DEAR SIR,—May I request the favour of you to send me, by the bearer, as much lymph as you can conveniently spare. That which I have procured from you has invariably been better than any I could elsewhere procure. I would not have troubled you at this time, but the smallpox is in our neighbourhood, and the inhabitants are exerting themselves to have inoculation for it performed.

“Believe me yours, most respectfully,
“A. B. BARNES.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Salisbury court, Fleet street

“COLONEL GWYNNE will thank Dr. Walker to let the bearer have sufficient matter to vaccinate a child three months old, who is now in South Wales, and it will be sent off, immediately, to Llandovery, where the infant is.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. Burr street, London.

“Clitheroe, Lancashire, Aug. 14, 1828.

“DEAR SIR,—I should esteem a supply of fresh vaccine virus from your institution a very great favour, as several cases of small-have appeared in this neighbourhood, and, from the situation I hold of Inoculator to your valuable institution, I consider it an imperative duty to protect the rising generation from that dreadful scourge.

“Believe me, dear Sir,
 “Your's, truly,
 “JAMES GARSTANG.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond court, Walbrook, London.

“Eastbourne, August 24, 1828.

SIR,—Having had an unfortunate case of natural smallpox, and the parish becoming much alarmed, I will feel very much obliged and grateful if you can send me, by return of post, if you can spare a few glasses (as it carries best) of fresh vaccine virus, directed, in a paper cover, to ‘Davies Gilbert, Esq. M. P. Eastbourne, Sussex.’

“Your most obliged,
 “JOHN RANKING.”

To Dr. Walker, Salisbury court, Fleet street, London.

“Bourne, Lincolnshire, Sept 21, 1828.

SIR,—I shall feel very much obliged by your sending me, as soon as possible, some vaccine matter. I would not have troubled you, but I have tried various other places, and cannot find any to succeed. You will find my name amongst the honourable members of 1825 or 1826. The institution, I trust, is flourishing; for no doubt can remain, with any reasonable being, of its utility. An early reply will very much oblige

“Your humble servant,
 “FLETCHER WILSON.”

Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Enfield, Middlesex, Sept. 26, 1828.

Mr. ASBURY's compliments to Dr. Walker, and will thank you for an early supply of vaccine lymph.”

Dr. Walker, 4, Salisbury-court, Fleet-street, London.

“Poole, Sept. 29, 1828.

MESSRS. BELL and SATTEN will thank Dr. Walker for a supply of vaccine lymph at his earliest convenience.

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Bracknell, Berks, Sept. 29, 1828

“MR. FREEMAN presents his compliments to Dr. Walker, who feel obliged by his favouring him with some fresh vaccine lymph on points and glasses.

To Dr. Walker, Salisbury square, Fleet street, London.

“Berkhampstead, October 3, 1828.

“SIR,—I am in very great distress, by the sudden breaking out of smallpox, and shall be greatly relieved by your having the goodness to send me some vaccine matter by return of post. A man is ill with confluent smallpox in a thick neighbourhood, and I fear many will take it. The last matter you sent was effectual, in every instance, with me and my friends, for which I am much obliged

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient humble Servant,

“R. STEEL

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Salisbury-court, Fleet-street, London.

“Presteigne, Radnorshire, Oct. 4, 1828

“SIR,—I should be particularly obliged would you send me, by return of post, some fresh vaccine matter, the smallpox having broken out here very severely.—I am, Sir,

“Your obliged servant,

“R. JONES

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Wellington, Salop, Oct. 6, 1828

“DEAR SIR,—I shall feel particularly obliged by your forwarding me, per first post, some vaccine ichor on glass and cotton. I am sorry to say smallpox is prevalent.

“Your's faithfully,

“JAMES EVETT

To Dr. Walker, Bond-coart, Walbrook, London,

“Ilkeston, near Nottingham, Oct. 11, 1828

“DEAR SIR,—I shall feel greatly obliged by your forwarding me, as soon as convenient, a little vaccine virus.

“With many thanks for your kind attention to my former requests, believe me

“Your most obedient and obliged humble servant,

“G. B. NORMAN

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“Hadlow, near Tonbridge, Kent, Oct. 15, 1828.

“SIR,—I shall deem it a particular favour, if you will send me the vaccine lymph on points. I have been disappointed in keeping up my own supply, or I would not trouble you.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient Servant,

“J. H. VINE.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“Barking, Essex, Oct. 16, 1828.

“MESSRS. COVERDALE and FINCH will be obliged to Dr. Walker, if he will have the goodness to send them some vaccine lymph at his earliest convenience. Messrs. C. and F. are happy to say they have been very fortunate with the lymph Dr. Walker has been kind enough to forward them, having vaccinated above two hundred individuals.”

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“High-street, Kingsland, Oct. 17, 1828.

“MR. HAWKES would be obliged to Dr. Walker if he could send him one or two glasses, as he has several children to vaccinate this afternoon.”

Dr. Walker, Director to the London Vaccine Institution, Walbrook, London.

“Sutton-on-Trent, Newark, Oct. 20, 1828.

“SIR,—I shall feel much obliged, if you would favour me with the vaccine lymph, not being able to procure any in my neighbourhood, and smallpox having recently been very prevalent and fatal.

“I am Sir,

“Your most obedient servant,

“J. WALKER.”

To the Inoculator of the London Vaccine Institution.

“Charlbury, Oxon, Oct. 21, 1828.

“SIR,—In consequence of the smallpox having made its appearance in the neighbourhood where I reside, I have had several applications to vaccinate a number of individuals. Not having any vaccine virus by me, I shall be extremely obliged to you, if you will supply me with some as early as you possibly can.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“GEORGE HORNEBLOW, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Burton in Thendal, Oct. 23, 1828

“DEAR SIR,—I am sorry to say the smallpox is now prevailing in this neighbourhood; therefore, to prevent the malady from increasing, I shall take it as a particular favour to be supplied with a little vaccine virus, which will very much oblige,

“Dear Sir,

“Your's, very truly,

“ROBERT ABOTSON

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Hoddesdon, Hertfordshire, Oct. 29, 1828

“MR HORLEY will feel obliged if Dr. Walker would send him a few charges of vaccine ichor, on points, by return of post. The smallpox has broken out around us, and Mr. H. is anxious to secure those who have not had it, by vaccination.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Shipdham, Norfolk, Nov. 3, 1828

“DEAR DOCTOR,—I shall feel obliged to you to return me, by post, three or four glasses of vaccine lymph, as the smallpox has made its appearance in this district.

“Your's obediently,

“HENRY HOPSON, Surg.

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“Long Sutton, near Wisbeach, Lincolnshire, Nov. 8, 1828

“SIR,—I should feel much obliged, if you would have the goodness to enclose me a little vaccine lymph, as fresh as possible, and if you have an opportunity, by return of post, as the smallpox becoming general.

“I am, Sir,

“Your's obediently,

“JOHN BAILEY, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“22, Great Alie-street, Nov. 10, 1828.

“MISS LACHLAN's compliments to Dr. Walker, and would feel obliged by his sending her sufficient vaccine ichor to vaccinate two children, as soon as convenient. Miss L. feels obliged by the Doctor's former favours.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Swansea, South Wales, Nov. 14, 1828.

“DEAR SIR,—You would do me the greatest favour, by sending me a small portion of your vaccine virus, if possible, by return of post.

“I remain, with the greatest respect,

“Your much indebted humble servant,

“D. M. OLIVER, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Stony Stratford, Buckinghamshire. Nov. 16, 1828.

“MR. CHARLES LOE will feel obliged if Dr. Walker will send him, per return of post, as plentiful a supply of vaccine lymph as he can spare, the smallpox being very prevalent in this neighbourhood, and evincing a disposition to spread.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Clunn, Shropshire, Nov. 24, 1828.

“SIR,—I will thank you to send me, per return of mail, some vaccine virus, having many of the poor to vaccinate. By so doing, you will confer upon me a favour, the smallpox being very prevalent in this neighbourhood.

“I am, Sir,

“Your's, respectfully,

“G. JENKINS.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“High Cross-street, Leicester, Nov. 25, 1828.

“SIR,—The smallpox having made its appearance in this town, within the last few days, I shall feel myself particularly obliged, if you will have the goodness to forward me a supply of vaccine virus by return of post.

“I remain, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“SAMUEL HARRIS.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. Sub-Secretary of the Vaccine Institution, Burr-street, East Smithfield, London.

“17, Rue de l'Ecu, Boulogne Sur-mer, Nov. 25, 1828.

“MY DEAR SIR,—I shall esteem it a particular favour if you will forward to me, with as little delay as possible, some vaccine virus, as we have a good deal of smallpox about, and several of my patients require to be vaccinated, but our stock of matter is extinct

I remain, my dear Sir,

“Truly your's,

“DOUGAL CAMPBELL, M.D.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Walbrook.

“Russell-place, Friday.

“DR. WALKER would truly oblige J. WILSON, Surgeon, Russell-place, Old Kent-road, by supplying him with a little vaccine virus. And J. W. would also feel obliged if the Doctor could furnish him with two or three printed papers, descriptive of the institution, as he flatters himself he might be able to apply them to its benefit, among some benevolent individuals here.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Affpuddle Vicarage, Blandford, Nov. 26, 1828.

“MR. WALDY presents his compliments to Dr. Walker, and requests the favour of some vaccine virus, to be forwarded by post, as soon as convenient, to Dr. W., and directed, ‘Rev. Richard Waldy, Affpuddle, Blandford.’”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“Witney, Oxfordshire, Nov. 26, 1828.

“SIR,—You will oblige me by transmitting to me, by return of post, a supply of recent vaccine lymph on points, as we have another visitation of the smallpox in the neighbourhood.

“I am, Sir,

“Your very obedient servant,

“J. B. SHEPPARD, Surg.”

To the Secretary of the Vaccine Institution, London.

“Stockland Vicarage, near Honiton, Nov. 27, 1828.

“SIR,—As the smallpox, I regret to say, is raging with much virulence in this neighbourhood, and has been introduced, by inoculation, into this parish, I beg to request the favour of being furnished, by the Vaccine Institution, with some points armed with cowpock matter, as early as possible, that I may be enabled to vaccinate such poor children as may need this security.

“I remain, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“JOHN W. GILL.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“ 11, Queen-square, Bristol, Nov. 27, 1828.

“ DEAR SIR,—I am under the necessity of again troubling you for a supply of virus, as my patients are not satisfied unless it is received from the fountain head.

“ Your's, very respectfully,
“ EDWIN GRANT.”

To Dr. Walker, Director of the Vaccine Institution, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“ Wellington, Salop, Dec. 2, 1828.

“ SIR,—You will much oblige me by letting the bearer have a glass of vaccine lymph, the smallpox being rather prevalent again at this place.

“ I am, Sir,
“ Your most obedient servant,
“ JOHN BEESTON.”

To Dr. Walker, London Vaccine Institution, Walbrook, London.

“ Biggleswade, Dec. 2, 1828.

“ SIR,—The smallpox has broken out in this town, and we shall, therefore, feel very much obliged by your forwarding us enough vaccine matter for six.

“ We are, Sir,
“ Your obedient servants,
“ M'GRATH and MACLEAR.”

To A. Johnstone, Esq. 52, Burr-street, Tower-hill, London.

“ Kirkby Moorside, Yorkshire, Dec. 15, 1828.

“ SIR,—When in town, in August, I received from you a diploma, and likewise a few glasses of vaccine virus.

“ From those glasses I vaccinated six children, and all of them took effectually, and from those six I obtained much fluid, and have vaccinated, successively, above 100 children.

“ Being at present in great need of fluid, I shall be particularly obliged if you will send me some glasses, by the post, as early as possible. Accept my thanks for the trouble you take, and believe me

Your's, respectfully,
“ THOMAS MITCHELSON COLE.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Romford, Dec. 17, 1828.

“MR. VIDD’S respectful compliments to Dr. Walker, would feel particularly thankful if the Doctor would favour Mr. Vidd, by the return of post, with a sufficient quantity of vaccine matter (fresh) for eight or ten patients.”

“High-street, Stockport, Cheshire, Dec. 19, 1828.

“SIR,—I have to apologize for not having acknowledged sooner the receipt of the vaccine lymph you were kind enough to send me, and which I used with the most decided success. Having a number of children at the present time requiring vaccination, I shall feel myself much obliged to you, if you would again transmit me, by return of post, some charges of vaccine lymph, and can assure you, Sir, that I shall, to the uttermost of my power, continue to promote the humane cause of vaccination in this populous neighbourhood, from the firmest conviction of its utility to mankind.

“I have the honour to be, Sir,

“Your most obedient humble servant,

“GEORGE YOUNG GRAHAM, Surgeon,

“Hon. Mem. of the Royal Jennerian So“ciety, and of the National Vaccine In“stitution.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Wallingford, Berks, Dec. 23, 1828.

“SIR,—I shall feel obliged by your forwarding me, by return of post, a quantity of fresh vaccine virus, some taken on points, and some on glass. I am, your’s, most respectfully,

“R. GREENING.”

Andrew Johnstone, Esq. 52, Burr-street, East Smithfield, London.

“Middleham, Bedale, Yorkshire, Dec. 23, 1828.

“SIR,—I shall be much obliged to you to send me immediately some fresh vaccine virus, as the smallpox has broke out in this neighbourhood. I am

“Your obedient servant,

“CHARLES LISTER, Member of the “Royal College of Surgeons, London,

“and Hon. Mem. to the London Vac-

“cine Institution.”

To A. Johnstone, Institution, Burr-street, Tower-hill, London.

“December 31, 1828.

“Mr. REYNOLDS will again feel much obliged to Mr. Johnstone, who will supply him with a small quantity of vaccine lymph. Mr. R. has vaccinated 3000 people since Mr. Johnstone first supplied him with vaccine matter.”

To the Director of the London Vaccine Institution, London.

“Chesham, Dec. 31, 1828.

“About the latter end of February, 1828, the smallpox was brought into this town by a young man, also by a travelling man some time after. From these two persons the smallpox became prevalent in the town, and as many of the inhabitants were very poor, and as neither of the doctors would vaccinate gratis, after having vaccinated three children in my own family, I had several applications, principally from the poor, to vaccinate their children. I therefore commenced vaccinating on the 9th day of March, 1828, since which time I have had 357 patients.

“One child of the name of Flexman, in whom the natural smallpox appeared about the sixth day after vaccination: this child had a considerable number of variolous-eruptions: the vaccinated arm went regularly on with the smallpox. Another child of the name of Climpson, on whom the natural smallpox appeared about the sixth day after vaccination: this child had very few variolous eruptions, except on the arms: in this case the cowpox continued its regular progress. Another, of the name of Reading, in which the smallpox appeared about the sixth day after vaccination: in this case the cowpox continued its regular progress, and the child was free of the smallpox in about five days. Two children of the name of Hill sailed for America in June, 1828; on the passage the smallpox broke out in the ship: both these children were secured from infection. I intend, if spared till the spring, to vaccinate gratis, and shall probably be under the necessity of troubling you for a supply of vaccine matter.

I am, Sir,

“Your humble servant,

“STEPHEN SHOOSMITH.”

To Dr. Walker.

“14, Bradwell-place, New North-road.

“DEAR SIR,—The smallpox is raging near my residence: will you be kind enough to send me some active virus, in order that I may preserve about twenty families from its dreadful consequences.

In haste,

“Your's very truly,

“J. BAKER, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Llanfair, near Welsh Pool, Jan. 12, 1829.

“SIR,—I shall feel very thankful if you will have the goodness to send me a good supply of vaccine lymph, as I have been requested to vaccinate several children as soon as possible in this neighbourhood.

“I have the honour, Sir, to remain,

“Your’s, most respectfully,

“ROBERT DAVIES, Surg.”

To Mr. Johnstone, Vaccine Institution, near Tower-hill, London.

“Berkeley, Gloucestershire, Jan. 14, 1829.

“SIR,—Some time ago, I was favoured with your diploma, and should be much obliged by your transmitting me, by return of post, a little virus, having a number of patients to vaccinate. In a short time I shall be in London, when I intend becoming a subscriber to your institution.

I remain, Sir,

“Your most obedient servant,

“B. J. NIND.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

“Polesworth, January 19, 1829.

“SIR,—I shall feel obliged to you for rather a plentiful supply of vaccine virus, and, if possible, by return of post, i.e. by the Chester Mail, directed for J. Bond, Surgeon, Polesworth, near Tamworth. The occasion is urgent, and therefore I trust will not be overlooked. My subscription is paid into the hands of Wilson & Co. Druggists, Snow-hill.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“J. BOND.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Salisbury-court, Fleet-street, London.

“East Hendred, near Abingdon, Jan. 20, 1829.

“SIR,—I am much in want of about a dozen points of vaccine lymph, and shall esteem it a favour, if you will forward that number to me by return of post.

“I am, SIR,

“Your obedient Servant,

“CHARLES PREBBLE, Surg.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Tenbury, Worcestershire, Jan. 28, 1828.

“SIR,—Having a few years since repeatedly applied to you for vaccine lymph, when in London, and knowing your kindness in supplying surgeons who are in want, I should esteem it a particular favour, if you would enclose me a little on glasses, and send me by post, and you will greatly oblige

“Your obedient servant,

“GEORGE WEBB, Surg.”

To the Secretary of the London Vaccine Institution, London.

“Ravenglass, near Whitehaven, Cumberland, Feb. 6, 1829.

“SIR,—At present the smallpox is raging with uncommon violence in this town: I lost two cases last night, neither inoculated with the cowpox: those children that have been vaccinated have escaped. I wish you to send a quantity of virus, to, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“PASTLETHWAITE WATSON.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Bourn, Lincolnshire, Feb. 11, 1829.

“SIR,—I should feel extremely obliged by your sending me, by return of post again, some more vaccine virus: the last was extremely good, not having failed in any one instance, much better than we can procure in the country from any institution, or I would not have troubled you.

“Your's obediently,

“GEORGE JOHN NICHOLLS.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, London.

St. Helier, Jersey, Feb. 19, 1829.

“SIR,—May I request four or five charges of vaccine virus.

“I have the honour to be, Sir,

“Your obedient humble servant,

“EDWARD THOMPSON DICKSON.”

Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Tarporley, Cheshire, Feb. 24, 1829.

“SIR—The smallpox being exceedingly prevalent in this part of the country, I shall feel particularly obliged by your sending me, as soon as possible, a large supply of recent vaccine virus: by so doing you will oblige your obedient servant,

“J. H. ROWCLIFFE, Surg.”

To Dr. Johnstone, Burr-street, Tower-hill, London.

“Market Bosworth, Leicestershire, Feb. 27, 1829.

“SIR,—I enclose my first year's subscription to your excellent institution, and beg to assure the directors how highly gratified I felt at receiving their diploma. Convinced of the efficacy of vaccination, we ought to spread its blessings around us. I have vaccinated some hundreds of persons, and have not as yet heard of a single instance of the occurrence of smallpox. In a case of confluent smallpox under my care last summer, and which proved fatal, the subject was said to have been vaccinated, but the closest examination discovered no scar that convinced me such had been the case. Upon further inquiry, I understood he had been vaccinated by a female operator; that only one vesicle rose, which, by accident or carelessness, was ruptured before arriving at maturity.

“I shall feel obliged by your sending me, at your earliest convenience, a supply of vaccine lymph; and remain, Sir,

“Your most obedient Servant,

“JOHN LEE.”

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

March 2, 1829.

“MR. EDWARD EVANS, of Worcester, will feel obliged to Dr. Walker, if he will send a sufficient quantity of vaccine lymph for six patients who require to be vaccinated.”

To Dr. Walker, 6, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“Norwich, March 8, 1829.

“DR. WALKER,—I shall be obliged by thy sending me, per return of post, a supply of vaccine lymph. Please to send it without fail, as I expect a great many children on Second Day (Monday) morning, and the smallpox is increasingly spreading in this populous city. I am, thine respectfully, “H. G. GREENWOOD, Hon. Mem.

“of the London Vaccine Institution.”

Please direct, H. Greenwood, Market-place, Norwich.

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook.

“March 10, 1829.

“Mr. LOBB, of 140, Aldersgate-street, would feel obliged by Dr. Walker's charging this lancet, and leaving some good vaccine lymph: he is surrounded at present with infants dead and dying of the smallpox.”

At the Medical Council of the Royal Jennerian Society, 14, Salisbury-square, London.

“Hentland, near Ross, Herefordshire, March 18, 1829.

“GENTLEMEN,—About this time last year, I took the liberty of requesting the favour of a little vaccine matter, which you very liberally transmitted to me; and with which I gratuitously vaccinated a number of the poor of this parish, and happily checked its then rapid progress, that direful malady, the smallpox.

“Your conferring upon me again a similar favour, at your earliest convenience, will add to the obligation already conferred upon,

“Gentlemen,

“Your respectful and obedient humble servant,

“WILLIAM PRICE.”

To Dr. Walker, Walbrook, near Cannon-street, London.

“Coggeshall, Essex, March 29, 1829.

“DEAR SIR,—I should feel much obliged to you to send me as much vaccine lymph as you can spare, as the smallpox is appearing in our neighbourhood. Send it by return of post.

“I am, your's respectfully,

“J. GODFREY.”

To Dr. Walker, M. D. Salisbury-square, Fleet-street, London.

“Wvcomb, March 29, 1829.

“Mr. DENNY must again take the liberty of troubling Dr. Walker for a fresh supply of vaccine virus, as the smallpox is now raging in the neighbourhood, and he has many patients who are so alarmed that they are fearful of waiting. Mr. D. hopes the Doctor will forward it by return of post.”

To Dr. Walker.

71, High-street, Whitechapel, March 30, 1829.

“Mr. YORK's respectful compliments to Dr. Walker, and begs leave to inform him that he has received a letter from a medical friend at Mansfield, stating that the smallpox is making great ravages in his neighbourhood, and requesting I would beg of Dr. Walker to send some vaccine lymph by this evening's post, to Mr. Paulson, Mansfield, Notts. Mr. Paulson has tried to obtain some in every direction, Nottingham, Sheffield, &c. but cannot."

Vaccine Institution.

"Apothecaries' Hall, March 31, 1829.

"GENTLEMEN,—Please to send as much recent vaccine virus as you can spare, for B. Perry, Surgeon, Andover.

"For the Apothecaries' Company.

"J. MORGAN."

Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Fleet-street, London.

"Watford, Herts, April 3, 1829.

"SIR,—I shall be glad if you will send me, by return of post, a supply of vaccine lymph, having the smallpox making ravages in this neighbourhood.

"I am, Sir,

"Your obedient servant,

"W. BIDWELL, Surgeon."

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

"St. Martin's, Stamford, April 4, 1829.

"SIR,—I should be obliged if you would forward me a supply of vaccine virus as soon as possible, as the smallpox is prevalent here, and the town is without a supply of that needful and efficacious preventative.

"I am, Sir,

"Your obliged and obedient servant,

"MARK JACKSON, Surgeon."

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

"Andover, April 8, 1829.

"Mr. PITMAN begs to thank Dr. Walker for the prompt supply of vaccine lymph which he has at all times experienced. He has requested his friend to pay his subscription of one guinea. Mr. P. is desirous to observe that his partners have vaccinated about 200 in the last year, and that no case of failure has occurred."

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook.

Walham Green, April 14, 1829.

“DEAR SIR,—I have taken the opportunity of stating to you for information of the Governors and Managers of the Vaccine Institution, that since its commencement I have vaccinated 1450, and I have no doubt but I should have a greater number of vaccine patients, had I a showing board expressing my appointment by the Governors of the Institution. I have hitherto and shall continue to encourage the practice of it.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient Servant,

“J. WINTERBOTTOM.”

Vaccine Institution.

“Apothecaries’ Hall, April 15, 1829.

“GENTLEMEN,—Please to send 4 parcels of vaccine matter, for the West Indies. Four distinct parcels are required, one for each of the 4 estates. For the Apothecaries’ Company,

“E. P. RIVETT.”

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Walbrook, London.

“April 17, 1829.

“MR COLE will thank Dr. Walker to send a supply of vaccine matter, as the smallpox is very prevalent in Ely.

“Direct, Mr. Cole, Surgeon, Ely, Cambridge.”

Vaccine Institution.

“April 18, 1829.

“GENTLEMEN,—Please to send one doz. glasses vaccine matter for exportation. For the Apothecaries’ Company.

“E. P. RIVETT.”

To Dr. Walker, Salisbury court, Fleet street, London.

“Reading, Berkshire, April 19, 1829.

“SIR,—I received from the vaccine institution this morning, two pairs of glasses of vaccine virus, and beg to offer my best thanks for the same. I am induced to make further application in consequence of having nearly 200 persons to vaccinate, that is of two parishes, where the smallpox is rapidly spreading, in consequence of an uninformed person having inoculated many poor families with smallpox.

The inhabitants, therefore, are desirous of my vaccinating all those poor families who have not already been vaccinated, and who have escaped the variolous infection. I shall esteem it a particular favour by your sending me down a further supply.

“ I have the honour to be, Sir,

“ Your's respectfully,

“ G. D. BARTHOLOMEW

To Dr. Walker, Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“ Guildford, April 19, 1829

“ DEAR DOCTOR,—I shall feel particularly obliged by your sending me, by return of post, a sufficient quantity of vaccine virus for about a dozen patients, the smallpox having shewn itself in the immediate neighbourhood.

“ I remain,

“ Your obedient servant,

“ J. E. LADBURY

To Dr. Walker, Old Bond-court, Walbrook, London.

“ Hoddesdon, April 20, 1829

“ DEAR SIR,—You will much oblige by sending me a few charges of vaccine lymph, by return of post. We have smallpox in every village round us, and are as far as ever from getting rid of the dreadful pest.

“ In haste, your's truly,

“ WILLIAM HORLEY.

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Bond court, Walbrook, London

“ Huntingdon, April 23, 1829.

“ SIR,—We have the smallpox in our neighbourhood, therefore will be much obliged to you to send us vaccine lymph, by return of post, and you will much oblige

“ Your humble servant,

“ GEORGE OAKELEY.

To Dr. Walker, Vaccine Institution, Salisbury court, Fleet street London.

“ Kent and Canterbury Hospitals, April 28, 1829.

“ SIR,—On receipt hereof you will oblige by forwarding some vaccine virus on glasses and points. Respectfully your's,

“ A. REED, House Surg.

Matthew John Tierney, Baronet, Physician Extraordinary to His Majesty, had been peculiarly happy in his decisive treatment of his Royal Patient, our Patron, in a late indisposition; that Vaccination and Society were indebted to this Author, "De Variola Vaccina," for his early and able support of their cause; and suggested the fitness of electing so eminent a character a Vice-President of the Institution.

Resolved, that Sir Matthew John Tierney, Baronet, Physician Extraordinary to His Majesty, be invited to become a Vice-President of the Royal Jennerian Society.

The Director announced a remuneration of £1000, on the part of His Majesty's Government, in consideration of services rendered to the Army, Navy, and Marines. Resolved that he take the amount, on account, towards the liquidation of the sums still due to him as recognised by this Board, April 7, 1814, and confirmed by the General Court.

The Conductors of the Royal Jennerian Society, in the earnest and cheering hope of continual support in a cause which is 'the glory of our isle,' and the solace of a warring world, prove the institution worthy of its splendid patronage, from a Government which, in fostering the best interests of the subject, renders extensive and essential services to the inhabitants of many other countries.

Resolved, that no opportunity be lost, which the Society may obtain, of continuing to extend its benefits in the service of Government, supplying the different Garrisons, the Navy and Royal Marines, with active vaccine matter with the utmost promptitude.

Resolved, that the Managers of the Royal Jennerian Society avail themselves to the utmost of the free postage to the settlements abroad, generously extended under His Majesty's Government, to the establishment, in furtherance of its humane exertions.

- Young, G. W. esq. Frederick's-pl.

Besides the multitudes protected from small-pox by the Institution, many, supposed to have been vaccinated, or fancying themselves to have had the small-pox, repair to the stations to be tested or tried by vaccination. Simpson Payne, an adult, under considerable alarm, was in this way lately assured of his safety by being found insusceptible of more than a mere local effect at the place of inserting vaccine ichor on his arm. He stated the cause of his alarm to be as follows. His uncle, Mr. G. Payne, butcher, Chesham, Bucks, who had the small-pox when young, died of the same last year. Also Mr. Gomme, carpenter, of the same place, who made the coffin for Mr. Payne, caught the disease, and had it very bad, although he had been infected by it when a lad. He however recovered.

DIRECTIONS for using the VACCINE VIRUS transmitted from the ROYAL JENNERIAN SOCIETY and LONDON VACCINE INSTITUTION, by Mr. And^w. Johnstone, from the OFFICE for supplying Vaccine Matter for the Shipping, the Colonies, and every quarter of the habitable Globe,

No. 52, BURR STREET, ST. KATHARINE'S DOCKS.

The Virus on Glasses is always carefully inclosed in several folds of thin sheet lead, to preserve it from the action of the air and to keep it as cool as possible; yet, (when not rendered effete through the length of time it may be upon the voyage and the intense heat of the climate), the vaccine ichor being hardened between the glasses, it will be necessary to dip the point of the lancet in cold water, to moisten the indurated matter, before it is applied to the arms of the patient.

On Ivory Points.—The Ivory Points are also inclosed in several folds of thin sheet lead. They are applied to the arms of the patient by perforating the cuticle with a lancet, then applying the Ivory Points to the perforated places. The moisture unavoidably exuding will sufficiently soften the matter applied.

On Threads, the mode is, to make the slightest incision of the cuticle, to lay a portion of the thread in, or over, such superficial incision, then binding it on the arm, or placing a piece of court or black sticking-plaster over the thread, which is to remain on till the virus produces the desired effect.

Crusts.—While in the smallpox vesicle, as in an ordinary blister, a single puncture lets out the contained fluid; the vaccine pock, cellular in its structure, needs many punctures, or rather breaking down by incisions, with the lancet, to obtain the guardian matter in that abundance which the daily calls on the Institutions require. The vaccine pock is similar to the vitreous humour occupying the largest portion of the chamber of the eye. It is a compages of vessels with their contained fluid. The aqueous humour of the eye escapes by a single puncture, like the virus of the variolous pock. Hence the indurated pock, the scab or crust of the vaccine pock, contains the dried matter in its cells, which, being broken down, and moistened with the wetted point of the lancet, has been found effective in hot climates when attempts to preserve the vaccine ichor in other forms have failed. The crusts or scabs we have been able to collect in this country, we learn, by letters from the West Indies, have withstood the heat of their vertical sun, and spread protection through the plantations.

From Professor Dewhurst, of King's College, London.

“DEAR SIR,—In pursuance of my promise, I have much pleasure in giving a very confirmed case of the value of vaccination, in my own person. At a very early period after my birth, I was vaccinated by Dr. Charles Mansfield Clarke, and at the age of three years, my eldest sister was seized with small-pox, which became confluent, and her death was hourly expected. This was considered as a very fair test of the vaccine power, as I was put to sleep with my sister: however, no symptom of small-pox attached to me; and at twelve years of age I was placed as an apprentice with a very eminent medical gentleman, who was decidedly an enemy to vaccination. This gentleman had two of his children, and a niece, all of whom he had inoculated) labouring under the most dreadful form of small-pox. As I boldly advocated the cause of vaccination, he compelled me to nurse these dreadful objects, I may justly say, his own impiety and wickedness. But vaccination proved successful: not the least symptom of small-pox became apparent to me—I was free. Frequently was I compelled to take virus from these innocent victims—and I have often dissected subjects who have died of small-pox, but nothing has occurred but what confirms, among thousands of other cases, that vaccination must ultimately triumph over ignorance and prejudice: and I sincerely hope I may live to see the day when the Legislature will render it a felony for any medical man to inoculate an innocent, unoffending infant with that curse of mankind, the small-pox. You are at liberty to publish or make what use of this communication you may think proper.

“I have the honour to remain,

“Your's, very faithfully,

“HENRY WILLIAM DEWHURST,

“Surgeon, Professor of Human and Comparative Anatomy.”

“October 17, 1829.

“Theatre of Anatomy, Queen Street, Golden Square.

“To Dr. WALKER, Walbrook.”

The great Prophylactic, the Vaccine Ichor, correctly passed from one human subject to another, through tens of thousands of applications of the vaccine lancet, undergoes no change, according to the testimony of our Medical Council, which embraces the greatest experience to be found in any Medical Board whatever.

The acute and correct writer of the subsequent observations, has witnessed the deterioration or loss of the Vaccine Ichor in others; but seems, in his own practice, to have exercised a discriminationis acumen which has enabled him always to seal in his patients the characteristic eschar, the indelible mark of their permanent protection.

“ *Monsieur Edward Jenner, Docteur en Medecine,

“ Zaragoza, 15 May, 1829.

“ Ayant obserbé et propagé la très admirable invention, de la vaçine que vous avez fait, et ayant été convencu tout à fait de vos idées et vos ecrits, j’e commençai dans l’année 1801, à propager la ditte vaçine dans ce Royaume d’Aragon, et dès cette époque je l’ai fait par moi-même à plusieurs milliers de personnes de toutes sortes et âges, et les effets ont été garants de ce que vous avez annoncé, sans avoir obserbé que quelques petites anomalies qui n’ont pas été d’aucune consequence, puis que les resultats ont été à mon grè.

“ Ayant lu dans un annonce Français et autre Espagnol, qu’on devait renouveler de temps en temps le fluide de la vaçine c’est à dire l’extraire de la vache pour le transmettre au genre humain, j’ai remarqué dans la suite d’années dont j’e viens de parler les mêmes resultats, et ayant continué la vaçine dans le même état je vous prie d’avoir la bonté de me dire, si la vaçine avec le temps peút perdre la vertu preservatrice de la petite verole, puis que comme j’ai deja dit la dessus, dans un si grand nombre que j’ai vaçiné par moi-même, et que j’ai annotté dans mes journeaux j’e n’ai pas remarqué un seul, qui dit été contagié des dittes petites veroles, malgré les contagions qu’il y a eu dans ce Royaume, c’est vrai que j’ai obserbé quelques eruptions, cutannées, tant dans le temps de la vaçine, comme après, mais les dittes eruptions, n’avoient pas la moindre analogie avec la petite verole, tant par sa marche rapide et autres sintomes connus par les Professeurs.

“ J’ai recueilli quelques observations particuliers de quel’que intèret que je pense publier, à fin de désabuser les ignorants qu’il y a dans ce Royaume contre la vaçine, mais aucune s’oppose au preservatif de la vaçine, avec la petite verole, j’ai aussi vu qu’elques enfants souffrir la petite verole après la vaçine, mais ceux-ci n’avoient été vaçiné par moi, mais par d’autres professeurs sans doute bien peu instruits dans son art, et par cela j’e conçu qu’ils avoient été vaçiné avec fausse vaçine, bien connue par la marche rapide, &c.

“ J’aurois bien pu faire d’autres demandes analogues mais que je n’ose pas, de peur d’en abuser trop pour la premiere fois, mais peút-être que ce ne sera pas la derniere que j’aurois l’honneur de vous faire d’autres.

“ Dans l’attente j’ai l’honneur de vous saluer

“ avec la plus grande consideration,

“ V. F. H. S.
