- 277 BELLAMONT (Earl of) Autograph Letter to his Son, Lord Coote, on his having petitioned the King, &c. 10s. 6d.

Morton Court, June 18, 1744

* * An interesting specimen, breathing the purest advice to his son, not to aim at too high matters, nor to think any thing too little to accept of when it cost nothing; once in place, though never so small, you may hope to rise by industry. The noble writer complains of Sir Robert Walpole having struck him off from the small pension his Lordship possessed at the death of the Queen, but for what reason he never could learn; no one had a greater love for the royal family. His Lordship, in one part states, if the Pretender should come, what with hay-makers, masons, carpenters, &c., he could raise a good troop.

- 278 BELLAMY (George Anne) the celebrated Actress, authoress of the Apology for her Life, &c. an interesting autograph letter, very scarce, 18s. - - Tuesday morn.

. Full of gossip on passing events—'Robertson has managed with great address. He is principal, chaplain, minister, historiographer, and historian; that is to say, he has 50*l.* a year, and a house certain, besides what he can make by his books. It was taken for granted that he was to resign his charge, on being appointed historiographer with 200*l.* salary, but that he will do at his leisure. It is also supposed, by his patrons, that he is to write the History of Britain in ten volumes, quarto. That also I presume (dreadful task) he will execute at his leisure.

'Honest David Home [Hume] with the heart of all others that rejoices most at the prosperity of his friends, was certainly a little hurt with this last honour conferred on Robertson. A lucky accident has given him relief. The Earl of Hertford is appointed Ambassador to France; not very capable himself, they have loaded him with an insignificant secretary, one Charles Bunbury, who, for the sake of pleasure, more than the thousand a year, solicited for the office. Hertford knew David, and some good genius prompted to ask him to go along and manage the business. It is an honourable character—he will see his friends in France, if he tires he can return when he pleases. Bunbury will probably tire first, and then David will become secretary!'

- 733 CHARLES XI. King of Sweden, Letter to William the Third, subscribed 'Majestatis Vestrae Bonus Frater Consanguineus et Amicus Carolus,' a scarce autograph, 1l. 1s. Feb. 24, 1692
- 734 CHARLES XI. King of Sweden.—Credentials of Count Oxenstierne, as Ambassador from Sweden, to King William the Third, subscribed, and having the Autographs of Hedewig Eleanora, the Queen Regent; and the Lords of her Council, Oxenstierne, Gyllenstierne, Wrede, Gylderstolpe, and Wolkenstedt, with the seal, in fine condition, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Carlberg, June 23, 1697

. Charles the Eleventh was the son of Charles Gustavus, to whom Queen Christina resigned the throne. Born in 1655, he succeeded his father in 1660. He was Mediator at the Treaty of Peace, signed at Ryswick, and died in his forty-second year, April 15, 1697.

To the autograph collector the present specimen is most desirable. Charles the Eleventh abolished the authority of the Senate, and ruled Sweden with an absolute power. Here, during the minority of Charles the Twelfth, are the Autographs of the Queen Regent and her Counsellors; and authoritatively deputing as Ambassador to England, one of the most talented statesmen Sweden ever gave birth to.

- 735 CHARLES, Landgrave of Hesse Cassel, interesting Letter in Latin, to King William the Third, a fine autograph specimen, 15s. - - - 1696

. Charles, Landgrave of Hesse Cassel, commenced his sovereignty in 1663, and was succeeded by his son Frederic, who was elected King of Sweden in 1720.

- 736 CHARLETT and PEPYS.—Autograph Letter from Dr. Charlett, Master of University College, Oxford, to the Hon. S. Pepys, with Autograph Copy of Pepys' Reply, in beautiful state, 1l. 11s. 6d. - - Nov. 26 and 30, 1700

. Most interesting specimen of these rare autographs. The Dr. writes to thank Pepys for his most excellent discourse; a most friendly letter, which can only be equalled by Pepys' reply, which from the Dr.'s illness, he concludes "I pray God hasten your recovery, but don't you catch at it too hastily, the season being unkindly for it."

- 737 CHARLEVILLE (Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, soliciting his Grace's interest for his relation Mr. Lyons, with Sir W. Parsons, for King's County Election, &c. 5s. - - - Dublin, Nov. 25, 1760

- 738 CHARLOTTE, Queen of George III. Autograph Note to T. J. Mathias, Italian Tutor to the Princesses, 18s.

Windsor, Oct. 10th, 1802

- 739 CHARLOTTE, Queen of George the Third, interesting Autograph Letter, in French, 1l. 11s. 6d. - Jan. 26th, 1811

. Forwarding a copy of the Almanac des Protestants, at the recommendation of Madame de Sevre, who has both talent and judgment. A scarce autograph.

- 740 CHARLOTTE (the late Princess). Autograph Letter to Mrs. Richardson, Bognor Rocks, with her true charitable feeling in favour of a poor helpless child, franked by the Bishop of Sarum, 1l. 11s. 6d. - - - 1810

. This pleasing memorial of the universally-lamented Princess has been so courted by the curious, that it has needfully been mended. The original frank accompanies it, and a fac-simile also.

- 741 CHARLOTTE (Princess of Wales). Autograph Letter to some Lady of Title whose name is erased, 2l. 2s. n. d.

. A most pleasing specimen of this universally-lamented Princess.

- 742 CHASTEAUNEUF (Marquis of) Autograph Letter in French, relating to the young Earl of Clerfay, 5s.

a la Haye, November 28th, 1713

- 743 CHASTILLON, Letter addressed to Mons. d'Aersens, at the Hague, 5s. 6d. Camp deuant d'Anvillers, Oct. 4, 1637

. Referring to military proceedings.

- 744 CHAWORTH (Lady Sophia) Autograph and Seal to a Letter of Attorney, for the Payment of her Annuity, 5s. Oct. 12th, 1678

- 745 CHAULNES (Charles Duke of) Autograph Letter to some illustrious person, congratulating him on his glorious return to Court, 7s. 6d. - - - Sept. 1691

. This was the second son of Honoré d'Albert, Duke of Chaulnes, who so distinguished himself at the siege of Arras; he himself made three embassies to Rome, and acquitted himself with much honour.

- 746 CHAULNES (Duke of) Autograph Letter to Dr. Lynd, at Windsor, in English, returning thanks for a book, "but indeed a Divine work is much better in the hands of the Doctor than in his own (the Duke's) for the Doctor knows something of the language, and the Duke understands not a single letter," a very interesting specimen, 10s. 6d. - Dec. 4, 1807
- 747 CHESHIRE.—Autograph Letter of Robert Brerewood, Mayor of Chester, to the Lord Treasurer, for certain Monies spent in Her Majesties Service, with Autograph of Sackville, Lord Buckhurst, the Poet, Lord High Treasurer, to a Treasury Order for payment of the same, 18s. - - 1600

- . This was the nephew of the great French general so celebrated for his victories at Trancheron, Rhetel, &c.
- 764 CHOISEUL (Etienne Francois de Choiseul de Stainville Duc de) Autograph Letter in French, to the Marquis de La Churce à Dijon, 10s. 6d. - - 22 March, 1737
- . A pleasing specimen, written in the duke's 18th year. He was afterwards much distinguished as a minister of state, and a great patron of literature.
- 765 CHOISEUL (Duc de) Letter to M. de St. Julien, 5s. Compeigne, Aug. 23, 1770
- 766 CHOLMELEY.—Warrant for delivery to Sir Richard Cholmeley, Deputy Lieutenant of our Tower of London, for the use of William de la Pole, various articles of splendid apparel, with autograph of Henry VIII., 2*l.* 2s. Manor of Windsor, Nov. 25, 1513
- . The above William de la Pole was Earl of Suffolk, and married the daughter of Sir Thomas Chaucer, and grand-daughter to the poet.
- 767 CHRISTENIUS (John) Autograph Letter, in Latin, to John Cabeliavius, at the Hague, acknowledging the receipt of a Letter by the hands of the celebrated scholar Gronovius, and referring to some Notes which he had made on Prudentius, &c. 3s. - - Daventrice, 20 Julii, 1647

768 CHOLMONDELEY (Lady Mary) Autograph to a Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, 7s. 6d. July 10, 1750

769 CHRISTIAN V. King of Denmark, Letter to King William the Third, subscribed 'Monsieur mon Frere, vostre tres affectionne Frere CHRISTIAN,' 1l. 11s. 6d.

Copenhagen, Jan. 16th, 1692

. Had received King William's letter of Oct. 27, delivered to him by Lieut.-Col. Blom, his Gentleman of the Chamber, which confirmed the news of the King's happy success in Ireland, and expresses the pleasure at the part the Danish troops sustained in that glorious affair; and to show that he was no less interested than our king, in seeing so good a body of troops maintained, had recruited them in such a manner as he hoped his majesty would feel that on all occasions, that he was more and more his majesty's very affectionate brother.

770 CHRISTIAN V. King of Denmark, Long and interesting Letter, in Latin, to King William the Third of England, being Credentials for Mr. Scheel, signed by the King, "Maj^{ties} R^e bonus frater et cognatus, Christian," a remarkably fine specimen of a rare autograph, 1l. 1s. - Hafniæ, Feb. 23rd, 1692

771 CHRISTIAN V. King of Denmark, Interesting Letter in Latin to King William the Third; a splendid Autograph Specimen, with Seal, in beautiful preservation, 1l. 1s. - 1697

. Christian the Fifth was the son of Frederic the Third, who got the crown of Denmark made hereditary in his family. He commenced his reign in 1670, and died in 1699.

772 CHRISTMAS.—Original Warrant addressed to Sir Robert Litton, Keeper of the Great Wardrobe, to deliver new Banners of our Arms, for the New Trompetts, &c. for the Holy Feast at Christmas, with splendid autograph of Henry VII., upon vellum, 1l. 1s. - Palace of Westminster, Dec. 10, 1498

773 CHURCH HISTORY.—Privy Seal Warrant for the Payment of two hundred pounds to Francis Rous, Esq., for the Support of the six Ministers sent by both Houses of Parliament to the University of Oxford, for the Maintenance of the said Ministers during their abode at the said University, with autographs of Philip Herbert, Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, Robert Cecyll, Earl of Salisbury, Philip Lord Wharton, and two autograph receipts of Francis Rous, 18s.

Dec. 28th, 1647

774 CHURCHILL (Major-General Charles) Autograph Letter to the Secretary of War, relating to Winter Quarters for the Troops, &c. 18s. - From the Camp, Brussels, Sept. 28th, 1697

. The writer was brother to the great Duke of Marlborough.

775 CLANRICARDE (Henry Smyth, Earl of) Long Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, lamenting the necessity of the Coalition, "but his confidence in his Grace's integrity is so unbounded, that I cannot harbour an idea that you would have taken such a step, had you not been convinced that by so doing you was taking the most effectual means to serve your country."—Requests his brother Colonel de Burgh may be appointed to the Bedchamber of the Prince of Wales, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. - Belmont, June 15, 1783

- 776 CIOFANI (Hercule) Celebrated Scholar, Interesting Autograph Letter in Italian, to Victorius, Editor of the works of Cicero, Aristotle, &c. a fine specimen, 18s. - 1584

. Ciofani was a native of Sulmo, and published several commentaries on Ovid, which are held in much estimation: they were printed by Aldus.

- 777 CLAN-CARTHY (Earl of) Beautiful Letter, with splendid Autograph of King Charles the First, addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in exquisite preservation, 2l. 2s. - Palace of Westminster, 15th Nov. 1628

. A most interesting and important state document, requesting the Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Ireland to assist the said Daniel Mac-Carthy, son and heir of Florence Mac-Carthy, and grand-child and heir to the late Earl of Clan-Carthy, in the recovery of his estates, castles, fishings, &c., which are fully set out, as an encouragement to this young man, he having conformed to the Protestant religion, &c. With this letter is the petition of the said Daniel Mac-Carthy to his majesty.

- 778 CLARENDON (Henry Hyde, Earl of) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1l. 1s. - 4th April, 1679

. Had spoken to many members of the House of Commons, and had endeavoured to speak with his brother Capell in his behalf—would be at the door of the House of Commons, and anything else, to show how much he was his humble servant.

Sir Robert Southwell, in a manuscript note on the back of the letter, states that he was then in trouble in Parliament.

- 779 CLARENDON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to Lord Norriss, relating to the pricking for Sheriffs for the County of Oxford. Assures his Lordship he will not bring on Persons named, unless from absolute necessity, of which your Lordship shall be the judge, for I am sure the King will be advised by you in all concerns of the County. Shall take care Mr. Bigg, of Wallingford, may be put into the Commission for Berks, &c. Mr. Burton will be with me anon, about the other Gentlemen your Lordship would have in the City and County of Oxford, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. - Nov. 1, 1681

- 780 CLARENDON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to Lord Norreys, 1l. 11s. 6d. - Whitehall, Oct. 26th, 1682

. An interesting letter to the county collector, informing his lordship the roll of sheriffs will be made up, and begging his lordship's favour to know whom you think fittest to serve the king in that office in your county. Your lordship knows his majesty depends on you for all things relating to his service there. Your lordship knows better than any body who is most to be trusted in these times, &c., therefore I shall expect your advice and directions. I am very sorry to hear the honest Sir Henry Alnut is so ill; I am sure you will have great misse of him if he should miscarry, but I hope he will do well. The diligence of the honest party have prevailed in the scrutiny, Sir W. Prichard is declared Lord Mayor Elect of London. The Privy Seal is given to the Marquis of Halifax, &c., &c.

- 781 CLARENDON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, complaining that the Warrant for his Son's Salary as Groom of the Bedchamber is not fully signed, and remonstrating on the injustice of it, &c. 10s. 6d. April 8, 1783

- 782 CLARENDON (Earl of) Long and very interesting Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, relative to the Honours which have been conferred upon him, which though he duly values them, they may be thought in some degree to have been conferred upon Lady Clarendon, whose claims his Lordship rests upon the services, &c. of the Hyde family from the Restoration, &c.—Indemnification for his own services, his Lordship leaves to Ministers and Justice.—Recommends a plan of Col. Fannings, an American Loyalist, relative to Nova Scotia; and Col. Capper to be consulted as to our Danger, Force, and Interest in the East Indies, &c. &c. scarce, 18s. April 16, 1783

. The writer was Thomas Villiers, youngest son of William second Earl of Jersey, and married Charlotte Capel, eldest daughter of Will. third Earl of Essex, by his first wife, Jane, daughter and co-heir of Henry Hyde, Earl of Clarendon and Rochester.

- 783 CLARGES (Sir Thomas) Autograph Certificate of Thomas Writtle, being Captain and Governor of Upnor Castle, in Kent, 5s. - - - 1663

- 784 CLARGES (Sir Thomas) Another Letter to the Earl of Abingdon, 7s. - - - July 5, 1684

. Respecting the city of Oxford's charter; the Duke of Ormond going to Ireland; the court of Tunbridge; the French marching to Genoa, to finish the depopulation they have already begun, &c. My Lord Clarendon desires his compliments, &c.

- 785 CLARK (Ric.) Musical Antiquarian, to F. W. Horncastle, 2s. 1841

- 786 CLARKE (Colonel George) Autograph Appointment of Nicholas Robinson, Esq. a Captain in Colonel Holt's Regiment of Marines, by command of Prince George of Denmark, Lord High Admiral, 5s. - May 21, 1703

- 787 CLARKE (Dr. Adam) Autograph Letter to Professor Porson, 1l. 5s. - - - March 16, 1808

. Asserting ignorance of the application of his friends to Porson, for his recommendations in Clarke's favour to King's College, Aberdeen—'I have such high notions of literary merit, and the academical distinctions to which it is entitled, that I could not in conscience take, or cause to be taken in my own behalf, any step to assume the one, or possess myself of the other. I must own, that to deserve even a small measure of the approbation of a man, who, I am fully satisfied, STANDS EMINENTLY AT THE HEAD OF THE REPUBLIC OF LETTERS, would be to me a very high gratification.'

- 788 CLARKE (Dr. Adam) Autograph Letter to Mr. Savage, respecting the Death of Professor Porson, 1l. 11s. 6d.

. Waiting with considerable anxiety the circumstances Savage had promised respecting Porson,—was then printing the Conversation between him and the Professor respecting the Eleusinian Stone, which he intended to distribute privately among his friends. Would wish to drop a thick veil over his failings, and only dwell on his literary character.

To the admirers of Porson, the present is a highly interesting letter.

- 789 CLARKE (Dr. Adam) Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Savage, relative to his Narrative of Porson's Death, &c. 10s. 6d.

Nov. 4, 1808

. Begs Savage's perusal of the revise, and freely to suggest any alteration he thinks necessary.

- 790 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) the Learned Traveller, very interesting Autograph Letter to T. J. Mathias, Author of the Pursuits of Literature, &c. 1l. 8s. - March, 1805

. Relating to the publication of his work on the Tomb of Alexander, in which he states, to "stop the mouths of critics he has stated the poem cited by Gibbon, was the production of a Greek author in the sixth century; those who do not notice the error will be as wise as ever, and those who do, will see the author corrected his text;" concludes his letter with stating Porson comes to dine here to-day, with drawing of himself and the professor seated in arm-chairs, the clock pointing to three, Porson all life, with a glass in his hand, calculating 165 times 165 is 27225, while the writer is yawning and quite beat.

- 791 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another Letter to Mathias, 18s. March 4, 1805

. Relating to his work on the Tomb of Alexander, &c., in which he notices Tyrwhitt, &c.

- 792 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another Letter to Mathias, at the Rev. N. Nicholls, Blundeston, Lowestoff, Suffolk, 18s.

. Informing him Porson is not at Cambridge, "so I will not consent to your tampering with so wild an animal until I have clipped his claws. Shall send a few lines to him at Oxford."

- 793 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another very interesting and long Letter to Mathias, 1l. 8s. - Trumpington, May 6, 1811

. A most interesting specimen, in which the learned writer states, "Fiott says that on the 3rd of May, 1810, Lord Byron having first classically rubbed his body with oil, swam across the Hellespont, from Europe to Asia; alas, I am grieved to add, that a leader of ours has been less successful—poor Matthews, of Trinity, the rising wonder of Alma Mater, was to have dined with me on Sunday; he came not, for he was drowned on Saturday: his loss is sincerely lamented. I have bathed frequently in the Cam, but the fate of my poor friend has totally cured me of my watery propensities, and produced almost hydrophobia," &c.; and other interesting matters.

- 794 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another interesting Letter to Mathias, 1l. 11s. 6d. - Dec. 8, 1811

. Relating to the establishment of the Bible Society, "which Dr. Marsh swears will subvert the established church. D'Oyley seems rather of his opinion, for my part I am inclined to support it, and I shall therefore attend the meeting. The Bishop of Bristol is for it, but will not attend out of delicacy, because Ely's mitre dewlaps t'other way; shall I speak at the meeting or be silent? I am quite earnest that if the circulation of the Bible can be proved to be hostile to the interests of the church, the church ought to be subverted," with other strong remarks on the subject. Notices his being much better since he left off tea and took coffee, &c.

- 795 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long Letter to Mathias, 1l. 8s. Trumpington, June 25, 1812

. A most interesting friendly epistle, in which the learned writer states he is going to Walpole to get out of the buzz of the commencement, not but that I like the busy hum of men—the gathering together of the people. "I loves life and all the joys it yields!" cries Mother Fussoch, warm from Spitalfields; but we must cut our coat according to our cloth; we had nine yesterday to dinner, and shall have ninety, if we remain for the commencement." Two pages more follow, full of quotations, proverbs, &c. which he concludes with a most laughable story of his journey to London with the Bishop of Ely and Dean Mansell; also respecting Dr. Wadsworth, &c.

- 796 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long and very interesting Letter to Mathias, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* Trumpington, Dec. 16, 1812

. Relating George Brown having spoken at the Bible Society Anniversary, upon which a report was raised that he was seized with gravity, which the writer ridicules in very singular verses, in which he introduces King George III., the Prince Regent, George D'Oyley, George Caldwell, George Dyer, George Rose, George Crabbe, George Hanger, George Prettyman, (Bp.) Is much disappointed at Mathias putting off his visit to Cambridge; hopes he will come before his lectures, as then he would not have his own brother in the house; notices Professor Monk, Mr. Favel, &c.

- 797 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long and very interesting Letter to Mathias, 1*l.* 5*s.* - Cambridge, June 28, 1814

. Relating to Mathias's publication of Gray, of which the writer states of the first publisher: "D——n his thinking; if he had been doing instead of thinking, we should not now see the most valuable book that has issued from the press since we were born, blighted by his stupid incapacity. I have no patience with him—talking to you about the price of an advertisement! was there ever any thing to equal it? What should I say if my publishers were to bother me by presuming to mention such matters? Je vous calbuter, Mons. Davies! and planting the broad part of the sole of my foot against his broader ——, send him neck and heels, sur le pavé. I humbly beseech you to heed nothing of his whining, it is impossibility of his preventing the sale of the Gray, even by his torpedo touch," &c.

- 798 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long and most friendly Letter to Mathias, 1*l.* 8*s.* - Cambridge, Sep. 6, 1814

. Describes his late illness, with a drawing of himself gasping for air, and another after his recovery, quite another body, smirking and smiling, in all respects a most esteemed bird at your service.

Il est doué d'un esprit merveilleux,

Il est de taille égale aux demy-dieux!

Ma foi!

Notices of Gray, the Bishop of Ely, and other interesting matters.

- 799 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another Letter to Mathias, 1*l.* 8*s.* Cambridge, Oct. 11, 1814

. Relating to Mathias having changed his publishers. Speaks very highly of Davies, of whom he says, abating his pomp, (owing to his Welch feelings), he is at the bottom a good and liberal man: begs that Mathias will lift himself out of Porter's torpedo paws, and cast himself into the bibliopolist's easy chair, and he will soon find the difference. Had written to D'Oyley to convey Parr's eloquent praises of his Gray to Lambeth, and to Gifford. Parr said here if it required the last guinea in his pocket he would buy the book: heard G. A. Brown order the book with his own proper ears; shall write to Jeffery, Walpole, &c. What man can do, I will do, for your most valuable work; while Britain exists, the name of Gray will shine conspicuous, for it is written in sun-beams, and with that name your own is now entwined.

- 800 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long and most interesting Auto-graph Letter to Mathias, in fine state, 18*s.* Cambridge.

. A most interesting specimen of this learned traveller and author, on various subjects.

The writer's travels are "Perhaps the most instructive and eloquent of any ever published in this country, and strongly indicative of feelings which do honour to the goodness and humanity of his heart." See Bishop Otter's life of him.

- 801 CLARKE (Dr. E. D.) Another long and most interesting Letter to Mathias, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* Cambridge, Sep. 19, 1814

. A most valuable letter respecting Mathias's edition of Gray, with transcript of a Latin poem, by Gray, omitted by Mathias, and furnished by Dr. S. Parr; it is a long letter upon the importance of the work, in which the writer conveys also Dr. Parr's opinion of it: both appear to have been enraptured with it. It is a most important literary gem.

- 802 CLARKE (J. S.) Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, 5*s.* 1806

. A most interesting literary letter.

- 803 CLAVERING (Sir Thos.) Two Autograph Letters to the Earl of Buchan, 5*s.* - - Axwell Park, 1762-3

. Thanking his lordship for his portrait, and trusting the Bath waters will effect what Harrowgate left unfinished, &c. with a most pressing invitation to Axwell Park, &c. Details an attempt upon his neighbour, am off to-morrow to our friends at Ravensworth castle for a few days, &c.

- 804 CLAYTON (Col.) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, relating to the 49 Interest, 4*s.* Dublin, June 22, 1675

- 805 CLAYTON (William) Autograph and Seal to a Letter of Attorney, for Elizabeth his Wife, to receive his annuities, 3*s.*

Feb. 29th, 1683

- 806 CLAYTON (Rev. R.) Autograph Letter, 3*s.* Adlington, 1813

- 807 CLEMENCET (Charles) Benedictine Monk, Letter to Dr. Perittiani, Librarian of the Abbey of S. Justine at Padou, on literary matters, 4*s.* - - - (1747)

. Charles Clemencet, author of L'Art de verifier les dates, Histoire Générale de l'Abbaye du Port Royal, and other works, was born at Painblanc in the diocese of Autun. He entered the congregation of S. Maur, in 1722, in his eighteenth year; and after having taught rhetoric at Pont le Voy, was called to Paris, in the monastery of the White Cloak Friars, whence this letter is dated. He died there in 1778.

- 808 CLERK (Sir George) Bart. M.P., Note, 3*s.* 6*d.* Admiralty, 1821

- 809 CLERKE (Hen.) Serjeant at Law, Autograph Receipt for 7*l.* 11*s.* his Allowance for Riding the Winter Circuit into various Counties named, with Autographs of Cecil, Earl of Salisbury, Lord High Treasurer, Sir Harry Vane, Philip Lord Wharton, Cor. Holland, and T. Hoyle, to a treasury order for payment of the same, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - - 1647

- 810 CLEVES (Mary of) Daughter of Adolphus Duke of Cleves, and third Wife of Charles Duke of Orleans, Autograph to a Warrant for the allowance of One Hundred Sols for fuel, by the Year, to Peter Fusilier, her Counsellor, 1*l.* 1*s.*

Castle of Blois, Aug. 30, 1466

. An autograph of unusual beauty and rarity. Mary of Cleves was then a widow, the Duke her husband having ceased to exist in 1465. She here speaks of her having the keeping, government, and administration of the affairs of her son Louis, afterwards Louis the Twelfth, king of France.

- 811 CLIFFORD (Martin) Master of the Charter House, Autograph Letter to Sir Henry Thompson, at Esirick, near York, in favour of Thomas Burdikin, with his Autograph also, 8*s.* 1675

- 812 CLIFFORD (Arthur) Author of the History of Tixal, Tixal Poetry, Ciffordiana, &c. Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, on literary topics, 5s. - - - 1817
- 813 CLINTON (Sir Francis) and Dame Elizabeth his Wife, Autograph to a Letter of Attorney, authorising Richard Hutton to receive the said Dame Clinton's Pension as one of the Dressers to Her Majesty, with Seals, and countersigned by R. Lascelles, 10s. 6d. - - Feb. 15, 1676
- 814 CLIVE (Hon. Henry) Autograph to a Letter to Dr. Battine, informing him by Lord Sidmouth's directions, that his case had been so fully investigated, that he does not think it proper to take any steps further therein, 3s. Whitehall, Oct. 10, 1810
- 815 CLOBERY (Sir John) Autograph and Seal to a Letter of Attorney to receive his Annuity of the Lords of the Treasury, in fine state, 7s. - - Feb. 25, 1667
- 816 CLOGHER (Bishop of).—Original Letter of Instructions to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, directing Measures to be taken that the Bishop of Clogher's affairs are not prejudiced during his further absence, nor any advantage taken of the same, the Lords of the Privy Council requiring his further attendance, than the Six Months' License granted by the Deputy Lord Lieutenant, with splendid autograph of King Charles the First, in beautiful preservation, 1l. 11s. 6d. Palace of Westminster, April 26, 1628
- 817 CLOGHER.—A most important State Letter of Instructions to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, directing Letters Patent to pass the great Seal, creating a perpetual corporation, consisting of the Dean and Chapter, with Benefices, Lands, &c. and certain privileges, with names of the Dean and Chapter for the time being, &c. Also for confirming the town of Clogher a port, with twelve Burgesses to be elected by the British for the time being, also conferring a Grant of 700 acres of land for the use of the town, and 200 acres for the support of the school, with free fisheries, warren, courts baron and leet, with numerous other lands, rights, privileges, &c. &c. with splendid autograph of King Charles the First, in beautiful preservation, 2l. 2s. Palace of Westminster, April 20, 1629
- 818 CLOTWORTHY.—Letter of Instructions to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, directing inquiry to be made for certain Debts due to the Crown, from the Executors of F. Edworth, Clerk of the Hanaper, deceased, disclosed by Sir Hugh Clotworthy, with direction to place his son's name for the first Regiment for the said Services, and upon the surrender of the Letters Patent, granted by King James, in beautiful preservation, with splendid autograph of King Charles the First, 1l. 11s. 6d. Palace of Westminster, 17th July, 1628

- 819 CLORMONT (Lord) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, soliciting his Grace's interest, &c. for his Relation Sir J. Parnell to the representation of Queen's County, 10s. 6d.

Dec. 10, 1788

- 820 CLOWES (William) Autograph Receipt for his Salary, as Surgeon to the Prince of Wales, 8s. - 1621

- 821 CNIPPINGIUS (Berchardus) Editor of the best variorum edition of Ovid, &c., interesting Autograph Letter in Latin to Isaac Gruter, 18s. - Lugd. Bat. Kal. Jun. 1670

. This letter, as illustrating Cnippingius's edition of Ovid, is of very great interest; he observes, "not altogether mad was that fabulator who said that something was to be committed to types by me. I have now under my hand a poet from Sulmo, which if I am spared, shall be brought before the public. It was formerly edited by Schrevelius my friend; but he dying, the work has fallen to me. I have therefore begun by cutting out what appeared obsolete, adding the entire notes of Heinsius, and sprinkling in some of my own, so that the stream is at last forded." Indeed, it is altogether a letter of very great interest, and a prettier memento of such a celebrated scholar will not easily be obtained.

- 822 COBBETT (William) of Political Notoriety, to the Editor of the Leeds Patriot, forwarding a list of Persons, with their addresses, to whom the next paper is to be sent, which list accompanies the Letter, 10s. 6d. - Sheffield, 1830

- 825 COBHAM (Richard Temple, Lord) Autograph Receipt for South Sea Dividend on £8622, 10s. 6d. - 1725

. "And you, brave Cobham, to the latest breath, Shall feel your ruling passion strong in death."—POPE.

- 826 COCCEIUS (John) the celebrated Theologian and Hebrew Professor, author of the "Opera Anecdota," and other Works, Autograph Letter, in Latin, to Christian Schetanus a Sterringa, 15s. - Lugduni, Dec. 2, 1666

. The autograph of this celebrated man is of great rarity. He was the founder of the sect which still bear his name, Cocceians, who believe that there will be a visible reign of Christ upon earth, by which that of Antichrist shall be abolished. The above letter relates to the privileges of the printer to an academy, requiring to know also, if he is the only person who can print things disputed in the academy, and whether they may be distributed to others besides members of the academy, &c.

- 827 COCHLÆUS (John) the celebrated Theologian and opponent of Luther, interesting Autograph Letter, in Latin, to Fabritius Capitoni, Doctor of Theology at Mentz, in fine preservation, 15s. - Franckfordiæ, May 28, 1520

- 843 COLEPEPER (Thomas Lord) Autograph Letter to Lord Fairfax, requesting a Meeting before he returned to Leeds Castle, &c. 4s. - Sept. 3, 1667

- 844 COLEPEPER (Capt.) Long Autograph Letter to Thomas Lord Culpeper, 7s. 6d. - St. Stevens', Oct. 1, 1669

. Respecting the appointment, by King Charles the Second, for the making a haven at Sandwich, to receive such ships as are distressed in the Downs. News here is none, but from Candy, which the French ambassador says is taken; and that some believe a great person, whom your lordship will not perhaps much lament, finds himself much uneasy, and may perhaps fall under some disgrace. The countess of Castlemaine is to be made a duchess; but I hear no talk of other promotions, to speak in the church phrase, which, I thank God, I hate, next to the law, the worst of any thing—fears the not gaining any success, against so many pretenders, in his own country; solicits Lord Colepeper to attempt the procuring him a coloneley in the service of the States, as he was sure he should have his Majesty's recommendation to the States-General.

- 845 COLEPEPER (John, Lord) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, for his Brother Cheney, afterwards Lord Colepeper, 7s. 6d. - 3d November, 1715

- 857 COLMAN (George) Author of the Review, or the Wags of Windsor, Letter to Mr. Fawcett, 1l. 11s. 6d. March 8, 1808

. Respecting the publication of that farce, with a preface, explaining that Lee was the original designer of the character of Caleb Quotem. 'My preface shall not be so equivocal as some country play-bills, which, in advertising Quotem to be performed by the author, lead nine idle readers out of ten, to suppose that Mr. Lee wrote the farce of the Review—'twas mine—'tis Griffinhoof's, and may be claimed by thousands.'

- 858 COLMAN (George) Song for Bannister's Budget, "The Supper of the Ghosts, or Crown'd Heads since the Conquest," the original autograph, 1l. 1s. - - 1810

Nov. 8th, 1659

. A curious document, with large seal of the Committee, evidently one of the Regicides' last efforts to raise money, it is endorsed upon the back, "Nothing done upon this."

- 871 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1*l.* 1s. - March 5, 1686-7

. Apprising Sir Robert that his son's tutor was shrewdly suspected to be inclined to popery, and that Mr. Dean found it a great discouragement to engage himself in what Sir Robert had desired.

- 872 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, Secretary of State, 1*l.* 1s. Aug. 17, 1690

. An interesting specimen of this eminent divine in favour of Sir Thomas Dumvil (who married the venerable prelate's niece, sister to Lord Lanesborough). Sir T. Dumvil held the situation of Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper, which office the writer was fearful might be taken from him by the change occasioned by the revolution, &c.

- 873 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London, Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1*l.* 1*s.*

Castle Ashby, Nov. 7, 1687

. Not sorry Sir Robert had withdrawn his son from the university, though heartily afflicted for the occasion. 'The forcing protestants abroad in Q. Mary's days, gave a leaven that has disturbed the minds of our people ever since; and I fear, should the distaste taken against sending their sons to our universities, invite our nobility and gentry to send them to foreign parts for their education, it might give them a tincture of such principles as would not suit so well with our climate. It is altogether a very interesting letter of this eminent divine.

- 874 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London, another interesting Autograph Letter to Sir R. Southwell, 1*l.* 1*s.* - 1690

. Relating to the affairs of the church and state.

- 876 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London, Autograph Letter to the Lords Justices about Dr. Payn's Commission, a fine specimen, 15*s.* - - - July 29th, 1695

. This eminent divine was one of the first struck at on the accession of James II. The first act was to remove him from being a dean of the royal chapel, which was followed by his suspension for not suspending Dr. Sharp, which the good prelate did not like to do without his being heard; this occurred on the 11th of August, 1686, when he returned to Fulham, and employed his time in charitable acts, &c. until the revolution, when the Princess Anne, afterwards queen, flew to his house in the night, her husband having gone over to the Prince of Orange, attended by the Lady Churchill and Lady Berkley, when my Lord Bishop, the Earl of Dorset, and about forty horsemen, conducted her directly and safely to Nottingham, where the Earl of Devonshire was in arms, and gave her a guard of two hundred men, with whom his lordship accompanied her to Oxford to meet her husband and the Prince of Orange, who restored the good bishop immediately on his arriving to the throne. His lordship had the honour of marrying the Princesses Mary and Anne, both of whom came to the throne. He consecrated Bishop Burnet and several others, crowned King William III., and after having spent a life devoted to charitable and good acts, he breathed his last at Fulham, in the 81st year of his age, having been a bishop nearly forty years.

- 877 COMPTON (Rt. Hon. Spencer) Speaker of the House of Commons, Autograph Receipt for 500*l.* for her Majesty's Pensions and Bounties, a fine bold specimen, 8*s.* 7th May, 1712

. The noble writer was third son of James third Earl of Northampton, by Mary Noel daughter of Viscount Camden, and was elevated to the peerage, as Earl of Wilmington in 1714.

- 878 CONDE (The Great).—Autograph Letter, in French, of Louis de Bourbon, Prince of Condé, to the Duchess de St. Simon, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - - 1666

. An interesting specimen requesting the papers which empowered the writer and the Lord Chancellor to treat with the Irish, to be sent to them as necessary for their justification, &c.

- 884 CONINGSBY (Viscount) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edward Southwell, 10s. 6d. - London, May 3, 1705

. An interesting specimen of this scarce autograph, requesting the secretary to stay any license being granted to his son to stay behind his regiment; requests he will inform him, if ever he expects to see him more, to lay aside all thoughts so dishonourable, &c. With this is an autograph letter from Judge Coote to Mr. Secretary, requesting leave of absence for Capt. Coningsby to England, to reconcile himself with his father, dated April 1st, 1709.

- 885 CONST (Francis) the late Chief Magistrate, a most interesting Letter to T. Hill, Esq. giving an Account of the late Sir Thomas Laurence's, the unrivalled Portrait Painter, having first taken to the Stage, and made his first Appearance on the 20th of August, 1784, as Algernon Sydney, in Dr. Strafford's memorable Play of Lord Russell; his Father played the Earl of Bedford. Sir Thomas was then fifteen years of age, he appeared again also at Drury Lane in Philaster, when the celebrated Mrs. Jordan played Bellario, &c. 1l. 1s. 1830

- 886 CONSTABLE (Sir Robert) Privy Council Warrant directing the Payment of certain Monies to the Baronet for his Entertainment of the Troops of Horse and Foot during the late threatened Invasion, with Autographs of Sackville, Lord Buckhurst, G. Cary, Lord Hunsdon, Roger, Lord North, the Earl of Nottingham, Lord High Admiral, Sir Robert Cecill, and Sir John Fortescue, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Sept. 10th, 1703

- 890 CONWAY AND KILLALTAGH (Lord) Autograph Letter to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, expediting a Letter of His Majesty, in fine preservation, a scarce autograph, 1*l.* 1*s.*

Greenwich, 25th May, 1629

- 891 CONWAY (Rt. Hon. General) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, in reply to an application for the Deputy Adjutant General for Scotland, Office for Lord Elphinstone, which Office he long has been under positive Engagement to Major Ross, an Officer of Singular Merit, and believes Lord Elphinstone, who indeed is out of the Army, can have no title to be his Competitor; if Civil pretensions are to set aside the Opinions and Engagements of the Commanders of his Majesty's Forces, it will be an absolute impracticability in attempting to support the Discipline of the Army. A very spirited Letter, 10*s.* 6*d.* - - - 27th July, 1783

. With copy of his Grace's Letter to the General.

- 892 CONYBEARE (Rev. J.) Autograph Note, respecting some Books, 2*s.* - - - Oxford, 17th May.

- 893 CONYNGHAM (Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Halifax, 5*s.* - - - April 9th, 1761

. A fine specimen, soliciting intelligence from the continent. "Having a hundred thousand pounds in the public funds, and war or peace very precarious, early intelligence relative to either, may be of great moment to me," &c.

- 894 COOKE (Edw.) Long and very interesting Autograph Letter to Lord Norriss, afterwards Earl of Abingdon. This important letter is written on "with speede," and is franked by Lord Powlett, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - - London, Jan. 29th, 1677

. Relating the particulars that occurred at the Archbishop of Canterbury's dinner, with the toast proposed by the Duke of Monmouth, Lord Garret, the Lord's Chancellor, Treasurer, &c.; forwards the king's speech to the parliament, which was applauded; with Hume's particulars relating to Lord Arundel, eldest son of the Duke of Norfolk, being received as eldest Baron; the King has released three out of four of the Tower Lords; Lord Berkshire delivered the Duke of Buckingham's petition, &c. which his Grace wished to be allowed to read in his place, not at the bar, which was overruled; commitment of Lord Pembroke to the tower, &c.; all things go according to my Lady Derby's heart's content. A long and curious history of the times.

- 895 COOKE (W.) Author of the Elements of Dramatic Criticism, &c. two Letters to Isaac Reed, on a visit to Dr. Farmer, at Cambridge, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - - 1782-3

- 914 CORKE AND ORRERY (John Boyle, Earl of) Autograph Letter to Rev. Mr. Duncombe, signed Orrery, 1l. 1s.

Marston House, 5th Dec. 1753

. Duncombe's communications very acceptable; very glad any of the earl's productions had afforded him amusement. "Richardson draws tears from every eye. It is impossible to take up his works without quitting the thoughts of every thing else, and travelling with him wherever he pleases." Observations on the episcopal palaces at Croydon and Fulham, as beautiful places.

- 915 CORKE AND ORRERY (Earl of) another Autograph Letter to Rev. Mr. Duncombe, signed Cork, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Marston House, 19th Dec. 1753

. A long and most interesting letter. The author of the verses from Frome, in Somersetshire, was Doctor Bowden, a physician, then publishing a volume of poems, by subscription. "He has no poetical flights in his manner or conversation, very inoffensive, has no enemies, many friends, and lived in the house with Mrs. Rowe, when his house belonged to his father, who was a dissenting teacher, and much respected by that excellent lady." "Mr. Hoare is one of the most valuable, generous, sweet-natured men in the world. His seat in Wiltshire, by his exquisite taste, appears to me the finest place in England." Lord Dungannon, the earl's son, married Susanna, the da. of Henry Hoare, of Stourhead, and this marriage is warmly eulogized by the earl. Alludes to his early acquaintance with poor Tom Southerne, the dramatist,—“How years snatch away from us our friends! The best comfort is, they must snatch us from ourselves at last.” The earl died Nov. 22, 1762.

945 COX (Sir Richard) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, with the autographs of the eight Irish judges affixed, 10*s.* 6*d.*

Dublin, Feb. 6, 1696-7

. An interesting document, soliciting Sir Robert's assistance at this juncture, when all things seem disposed to give us the benefit of the grace intended us by his Majesty, in his order touching an additional salary of 200*l.* per annum for each of us; and 'tis certain that it will turn to his Majesty's honour and profit, to have his servants in our station supported in some measure suitable to their character, &c. The allowance is far short of the necessary disbursements in going circuits, &c.

- 946 Cox (Sir Richard) Lord Chancellor and Historian of Ireland, Autograph Letter to Sir John Stanley, relative to the Proceedings at Cork Assizes against Persons for inlisting for the Pretender; drinking to King James, with result of the Trials, Sentences, &c. &c. 10s. 6d. Corke, March 14, 1713
- 947 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, on the Prorogation of Parliament, inviting him to Ireland, &c. 5s. 6d. Kilkenny, March 3, 1743-4
- 948 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 8s. - 1743-4

* * An interesting letter, relative to the privilege of parliament. States "no one enjoys liberty and property but M.P. Dr. Alcock is here courting—Kitty will surrender, if you or Mrs. Southwell will send a certificate. Lord Molesworth will soon be married to Molly Usher; a pretty girl you may be sure. The parsons of Ossory must suffer for it (loss of a suit with Lord Barry,) by my retrenching a dish and a bottle every day till I bring it up," &c. &c.

- 949 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 12s. Kilkenny, Sep. 10, 1746

* * A most interesting friendly letter: describes his only dear motherless child with feelings of great affection. Had been visiting with Col. O'Bryen and his family seven weeks. "Found my child all we can wish; he is lovely and lively, &c.; is not eight months old until Sunday, yet the sight of him throws me into great distress, and I never shall see him without it. Has received Southwell's picture, which is in all points a good one; wish he could say as much for one that came with it, which is neither well painted, nor in any respect equal to the person for whom it was drawn," (his late lady).

- 950 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 1l. 1s. ib. Dec. 1746

* * A beautiful letter. 'It gave me great pleasure to hear my dear friend and all belonging to him were well and happy at Kingsweston,' &c. 'I once thought that no man could be unhappy who had health, station, fortune, and friends; but in the midst of all of them I am really wretched, &c. My lovely child promises all I can wish, &c. What distress does it give me to hear him call mamma as plain as I can, &c. You and yours have my prayers and best wishes,' &c.

- 951 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edward Southwell, 2l. 2s. ib. Dec. 13th, 1746

* * A most delightful friendly letter from this eminent Divine, accompanied by a drawing for a handsome monument to his wife's memory by Scheemakers; also an inscription for it in the Prelate's autograph. Has desired the artist to wait upon his friend Southwell, whom he has requested to select the design; is willing to give two hundred and forty pounds, &c. Pray let me know what you hear of Lord Kildare's match with the Duke of Richmond's daughter, &c. On the back of the drawing is Scheemaker's receipt for 100l. in part for the monument.

- 952 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, another Autograph Letter to Hon. Edward Southwell, 6s. 6d. Kilkenny, July 10th, 1749

* * Thanks to Mrs. Southwell for her intelligence from Westminster—'all the return I can make is to tell her, Coxy (his son) looked charmingly yesterday in his coat and breeches: abstracted from our friendship, those who have but one child must feel for each other.'

- 953 Cox (Michael) Bishop of Ossory, Autograph Letter to the Honourable Edward Southwell, a friendly epistle, 5s. 6d. Kilkenny, Sept. 20th, 1749

- 954 Cox (Michael) Archbishop of Cashel, Autograph Letter to the Hon. Mrs. Southwell, in reply to her Letter informing him her late husband, the Hon. Edward Southwell, M.P. for Bristol, had bequeathed him a legacy, 9s. Cashel, May 10, 1755

. A most interesting letter. The generous-minded Prelate observes, 'Whoever lives long pays a heavy tax in out-living his friends. I have a very sensible share in your late loss. It must give any man credit and pleasure to have it known Mr. Southwell was his friend.' The archbishop dwells in raptures on Mrs. Southwell's only son. 'My dear friend had one very great blessing in leaving such a guardian for his son. I could die with comfort, had I not lost mine.'

- 955 Cox (Michael) Archbishop of Cashel, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Mrs. Southwell, an interesting specimen of this scarce autograph, 6s. - - 1756

- 975 CRONENBERG (Charlotte Eleanor, Countess of) Supplicatory Letter to King William the Third, for the obtaining the Intercession of his Majesty with the Emperor of Germany, 1l. 8s. - - Vienna, Aug. 10, 1701

. This most supplicating appeal of a widowed noble lady is a singularly interesting attestation of the generally accredited belief of the love of justice and truth as inherent in King William the Third. It is a most distressing statement of her wrongs. She describes herself as 'une pauvre veuffe Comtesse de l'empire, de la religion reformée,' &c.; that her husband's lands in Bohemia were become matter of litigation between her husband's family and herself, the former having possession, and retaining them from her. Prays for the king's powerful intercessions to the emperor, that she may have an end to her solicitations.

- 1010 DALRYMPLE.—Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - Newhailes, Oct. 31, 1780
- * * * A most interesting specimen of this learned lawyer; in one part he states, "The plan (for a Society of Antiquarians) which your lordship proposes, is very laudable, but it can hardly be executed in the present state of men's minds. I every day see Regiam Majestatem quoted in the version of the profoundly ignorant Skene, as if that book had been written in the Scotch language of James VI.; and if lawyers find themselves easy and contented with knowing nothing of the old law of Scotland, what hope is there that individuals not connected with the science of law, can do any thing of moment? I have written books large enough, but if the sale of them had been confined to Scotland, the expense of printing would not have been defrayed."
- 1011 DALRYMPLE (Sir John) Autograph Letter of eight pages folio, closely written, to Robert Foulis the celebrated Printer, relative to the publication of Hamilton's Poems, also relative to some Busts, various Pictures, begs he will retrench his Scheme instead of extending it as to his projected Academy, for there are not "five of your countrymen who would give ten pounds to save him from the Gallows, or his Academia from the flames, very few of them would give one Farthing for the Fine Arts or for you, therefore sell off all the Superfluities, the Devil without cloven feet and a tail is worse than one with both, and this truth you will find if you launch out," &c. with much other interesting matter upon the Fine Arts and Literature, &c. 10s. 6d. Edinburgh, 1 Dec. 1757

- 1101 DOPPING (Anthony) Bishop of Meath, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, Secretary of State, at the camp, 1*l.* 1s.
Dublin, July 24, 1690

* * A long and most interesting letter, relating to the dreadful state of the sick and wounded soldiers in Ireland, of which care should be taken to prevent infection ; and for a general fast to be appointed every Friday during the wars, to be ordered by his majesty's proclamation, and letters to the primate and bishop of Meath. The letter is written with true Christian feeling : in one part the worthy prelate says, 'I know of some charitable Protestants in this city, that would send them (the soldiers) relief, and others could be persuaded to it, (if his majesty would think fit to give way to the proposal) and indeed, as I am concerned to see those who have delivered us, perish for want, so I think it is the least we can do for them that have exposed their lives for our safety : the bodies of the sick being thus cared for, 'tis fit that some care should be taken for the souls of the sound and healthy ; and that may be done by ordering them to attend prayers,' &c.

- 1102 DOPPING (Anth.) Bishop of Meath, and Simon Digby, Bishop of Limerick, Autographs to a Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, recommending the Dean of Kilkenny, a worthy person, to some of the vacant preferments, 10s. 6d. Aug. 9, 1690

- 1103 DOPPING (Anthony) Bishop of Meath, Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, Secretary of State, at the camp, 1*l.* 1*s.* - Dublin, Aug. 7, 1690

. Very interesting; expressive of his sorrow for his brother Ossory's relapse; but earnestly entreats Southwell to prevent all hasty proceedings against him; he is a right honest man, and a high royalist; and you may rest assured, that as he continues stedfast to the late king, from whom he received so many disobligations, and such slender protection, he will be much more so to his majesty, when his judgment is convinced. In order to this, he solicits a copy of his letter, that he may answer his scruples respecting the oaths, &c., as he is ready to hear reason better than his own. It would be cruelty to suspend or deprive him, until you find him incorrigible. I have some hopes to work upon him, without putting his majesty to the expense of severe remedies. A most charitable and powerful appeal for his brother divine, and interesting in a legal point of view, as to the power and method of deprivation in ecclesiastical offices. The remaining portion is an interesting account of the seizure of horses, and provisions, and other afflictions of a war.

- 1104 DOPPING (Anthony) Bishop of Meath, another very interesting Autograph Letter from this pious Prelate to Sir Robert Southwell, at the Camp, 1*l.* 1*s.* Dublin, Aug. 23rd, 1690

. The first page of this letter relates to the Bishop of Ossory, regretting he had not heard from him, and upon his being suspended in a legal way, lest his majesty fall into the same error as the late king in the matter of the Bishop of London; and the clamour will be greater in this case, if done by a person who came to rescue us from arbitrary proceedings; with other interesting matter. The worthy Divine appears to have left no means untried to convince his brother prelate of his error, and to save him from being deprived of his bishoprick. His description of the fervency of the people in celebrating the fast, and their sensibility that their own safety depends upon God's blessing, together with his wishes that his majesty would less expose his person, are written with true feelings of a Christian, and a heart that can feel for others.

- 1105 DOPPING (Anthony) Bishop of Meath, another Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, in favour of Dr. Foy, for one of the vacant Bishopricks, 7*s.* - Dublin, Oct. 4th, 1690

. An interesting letter; his recommendation is written with modesty, and grounded upon the truest of principles. His laborious preaching has given real proofs of his zeal to his religion, by defending it in the pulpit, and suffering for it; besides, he was a man of talent, courage, prudence, and sobriety.

- 1193 ELDON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to J. Wright, Esq. relative to his Lordship's Speech in the House of Peers, 18s. 1829

. This distinguished and highly-gifted personage owes his elevation to the same source whence the illustrious names of Bacon, Hyde, Somers, Erskine, and others, almost innumerable, have sprung into importance, viz. the profession of the law; and no matter what difference may exist regarding his lordship's political course, it is admitted, with one accord, that his name will go down to posterity amongst the most eminent of his legal predecessors. He filled the offices of solicitor-general, attorney-general, and lord chief justice of the court of common pleas; and in 1799 he was appointed lord high chancellor of England, in which exalted station he continued, with the interruption of fourteen months only, until 1827, when he resigned the seals. His lordship died 13th Jan. 1838, in the eighty-seventh year of his age.

- 1241 ERSKINE (Hen.) Another Letter to his Brother, the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - Annandale, Sept. 1, 1817

. A most interesting letter, in which the writer states "it is the first he has written for more than three months; thanks be to God I am happily recovering, though slowly, and gathering strength." Poor man! he appears to have flattered himself, for on the back it is endorsed by the earl, as being "the last letter written to me by my most dear and excellent brother, concerning whom I can truly say with Cicero, 'Mibi quidem frater meus quanquam nunc ereptus vivit tamen semperque vivet: virtutem enim amavi illius fratris, quæ extincta non est nec mihi soli versatur ante oculos, qui illam semper in manibus habui, sed etiam posteris erit clara et insignis. Equidem ex omnibus rebus, quas mihi aut fortuna aut natura tribuit, nihil habeo, quod cum amicitia fratris mei possim comparare.'"

The writer, who was so much distinguished for the amiability of his private character, the profundity of his legal knowledge, and the brilliancy of his wit, was called to the Scottish Bar in 1768, and soon attained that first-rate practice so justly the meed of his transcendent talents. He died on the eighth of the following month to which this last letter is dated.

. Sir Robert's brother Deering, now on his way to Ireland, a journey which the Bishop had prescribed to him, when he was in hazard of making an unhappy disposal of himself. That ruin the Bishop hoped was avoided, and he further hoped he would be so wise to keep himself from the like hazards. The allusion is to Daniel Derling, and the person likely to be his ruin was the sister of Sir John Percival, afterwards Lord Egmont. They were soon afterwards married, notwithstanding the opposition on all sides. Promises of improvement in Sir Thos. Southwell's conduct; wishes to Sir Robert, of renovated health, by his purposed sojourn at Astroy, &c.

- 1328 FELL, Two Autograph Letters to Lord Norris and Rev. Mr. Moore, endeavouring to arrange some differences between Mr. Thomas Whorwood and Lord Norris, respecting some pecuniary affairs, in which the good Bishop says, 'the withdrawing the suite the last assize was itself a worthy and christian action,—I hope it will be a service to my Lord, if an amicable end may be made,'—'my motive is the zeal which I have for your Lordship's honour,' &c. 1l. 1s.

13th July.

- 1329 FELL, Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Abingdon, 15s. - - - Oct. 24th.

. Having received his lordship's instructions, shall take the first opportunity to pursue them. In affairs of this nature, 'tis seldom advantageous to be pressing, and therefore I shall move by trisurable steps, and if the first distant proposal be received, will accordingly go forward; so that if things fail of succeeding, no reflection may fall upon the lady or her friends. I am exceedingly glad to hear that your brother is in the way of recovery. My Lord Norreys is, I thank God, very well, as is the whole college; so that you will have no cause to be solicitous concerning him, though affrightful stories are every day raised concerning the sickness of this place, &c.

- 1330 FENNOR (Sir Gregory) Autograph Receipt for his Salary as Equerrie to his Majesty, with Privy Council Order for payment of the same, with Autographs of Sir Stephen Glynne, Sir Francis Rous, Sir W. Ashhurst, Cor. Holland, and T. Hoyle, 18s. - - - 1645

Nov. 16th, 1675

- 1332 FENTON (Sir Will.) and Sir R. Everard.—Long and beautifully written Letter, with splendid Autograph of King Charles the First, addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in exquisite preservation, 2l. 2s.

From the Court at Southwick, 16th Aug. 1628

. A most interesting letter, directing a lease to be prepared for leasing to the crown the iron mines and ore upon the mountains of Glanconagh, in the territory of Glangibbon in Ireland, from Sir W. Fenton for ninety-nine years; also directions to treat with Sir R. Everard for his share of the said mines, with instructions, in case of his being refractory, to forward the letters patent granted by Queen Elizabeth to Sir Patrick Murray of a White Knight, and the surrender, &c. &c.

- 1333 FENTON (Richard) Author of the Tour through Pembroke-shire, Autograph Letter to George Chalmers, relative to his Letter in the Herald on the Papers discovered by him relating to Shakspeare, of which he writes in the highest terms, and expresses his intention of publication, a long and most curious letter, endorsed by Chalmers "Fenton's Fictions,"

Haverford West, March 2nd, 1796

- 1334 FENWICK (Lieutenant) Governor of Macroome in Ireland during the Wars. Petition of the Widow of the above Officer for the arrears of pay due to her late Husband as Lieutenant, which had been stopped during the time he was Governor of Macroome. Autograph certificate of Sir Richard Cox, as Governor of Cork; Autograph certificate of Colonel Frederick Hamilton; and the (favourable) autograph report of Lord Coningsby to the Lords Justices, &c. 12s. 1699

- 1335 FENWICK (Nicholas) Autograph to a Letter of Attorney, authorizing Edward Johnson, Gent., to receive certain Monies from the Exchequer, 5s. - 22nd Oct. 1763

- 1336 FERGUSON (Anne) Autograph Letter to her Brother, General Murray, 7s. - Edinburgh, April 15, 1764

. Solicits, in the name of the Lord Marischal, certain American seeds: "he means them as a present to the King of Prussia, who is a constant correspondent of his, and, by his letters to my lord, it would appear, as great a gardener as a warrior." An allusion to Frederick the Great, which renders this highly-interesting letter of double value.

This lady was the daughter of Alexander Murray, fourth Lord Elibank, and wife of James Ferguson, Esq., one of the lords of session in North Britain.

- 1337 FERGUSON (Patrick) Nephew of General Murray, two Letters to the General, 7s. 6d. - Edinb. 1764, Paris, 1766

. In the last, regrets that he should be absent from England at the moment of the General's arrival from America, but was desirous of employing some intermediate time at Paris, "as a young soldier may here, in a few months, render himself master of the military language of the world, learn to ride, dance, and fence, with an ease, adroitness, and gentility, unknown almost in England; study the theory of fortification and other branches of military mathematics, and, by returning through Flanders, have an opportunity of making observations on the practice. He may also get some insight into the establishment, discipline, and arms of the troops of the great military government of Europe."

- 1338 FERNLEY.—Letter of Instructions to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, directing a surrender to be accepted of certain Rectories in Ireland, held by Lease from the Crown, by P. Fernley, and that a new Lease be prepared and corrected to pass the Great Seal for the said P. Fernley, with splendid autograph of King Charles the First, in beautiful preservation, 1l. 8s. Palace of Westminster, 22d Feb. 1628
- 1339 FERRERS (Robert Shirley, Earl) Long and curious Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, proposing a Tax upon Old Bachelors, Dogs, &c., in lieu of some obnoxious Taxes in the Bill now before the House, &c.; registering of Seamen, encouragement of Fisheries, &c. &c., which the noble writer states his respect for the Cavendish Family only induced him to undertake, &c., 18s. - 17th June, 1783
- . This nobleman married Catherine, daughter of Rowland Cotton, Esq., of Etwall, co. Derby.
- 1340 FETHERSTON (Sir Harry) Autograph Note, 3s. - 1823
- 1341 FETHERSTONHAUGH (J. H.) Autograph Letter to Dr. Battine, 3s. - - - 1823
- 1342 FIELD (Baron) Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, relating to some Extracts and Notices relating to Edward III., which accompany the letter, 4s. 2, Garden Court, Temple, Jan. 18, 1813
- 1343 FIELDING (Major General) and Sir Thomas Skipwith, a most violent insulting and indecent Letter, endorsed upon the back, Major-General Fielding's Letter to Sir Thomas Skipwith, by the usual hand in which the state papers which have recently been sacrificed, and dated, 1l. 1s. - 1705
- . It is almost impossible to suppose the above is autograph from its coarseness, however great the provocation and excitement; it appears to be founded upon Sir Thomas Skipwith having written to the Duchess of Cleveland.
- 1344 FIELDING (Lady Mary) Autograph to a Power of Attorney, 4s. - - - 2nd Nov. 1782
- . This lady was the daughter of Sir John Bruce Cotton, Bt., of Connington, co. Huntingdon.
- 1345 FIELDING (William, Viscount) Major-General in the Army, Father of the present Earl of Denbigh, autograph letter to Mr. Croasdaile, 4s. - - 1794
- . The noble writer married the daughter of Thomas Jelf Powis, Esq., of Berwick House, Salop.
- 1346 FIELDING (Copley) Autograph Letter, forwarding some Drawings of Barnard Castle, with Notice of the same, and the Waverley Novels, 5s. - - 1830
- . A pleasing and very interesting specimen of this artist.
- 1347 FIENNES (Nathaniel, Lord).—Privy Council Warrant for the Payment of his Lordship's Fees, as Keeper of the Privy Seal, with Autographs of Sir Bulstrode Whitelock and Sir Thomas Widdrington, Speaker of Cromwell's Parliament, 18s. - - - 1659

- 1348 FIFE (James Duff, Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - Fife House, 1802

- 1350 FINCH (Sir Nathaniel) Autograph Receipt for his Salary as Serjeant at Law, with Privy Council Warrant for the Payment thereof, with autographs of Algernon, Earl of Northumberland, Philip, Lord Wharton, Sir Hen. Mildmay, &c. 18s. - - - 1647

- 1351 FINCH (John) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 5s. Windsor, June 3rd, 1664

. A friendly letter to Sir Robert, who, in his reply, on the back, styles him dear Jack. The writer was Solicitor and Attorney-General, and afterwards Lord Chancellor.

- 1352 FINCH (John) Another Interesting Friendly Letter to Sir Robert, dated Bath, where the writer had gone for the benefit of his health, &c. 5s. - Bath, July 3rd, 1682

- 1353 FINCH (John) Another Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 7s. Ferns, July 13th, 1682

. A friendly epistle, in which the writer says, he is sorry for Mr. Mead; thanks God for his safe protection of himself to this place, but his condition is weaker and weaker every day, inasmuch as it is now time for me to desire the last act of friendship from you, which is your prayers. I pray God bless you and yours, and grant us all a happy meeting in heaven, where we shall never part. Take it under my hand that I have lived and died your faithful friend.

- 1354 FINCH (Heneage) long and most interesting Autograph Letter to his Nephew, Sir Robert Southwell, relative to the Settlement Bill for Ireland, which the writer had just finished with much labour, &c., reverts to and explains various Clauses, and those which bear hard upon persons though just, particularly Sir Theophilus Jones, but states a Law trick left by which he may evade it, by Conveyance to the King for a time, and Reconveyance to himself again; the alteration of Sir James Shaw's Clause was very just, and it was very hard that a private Warrant should command otherwise, &c. his case is very severe, &c.; notices the proceedings of his Brother with the Grand Duke at Florence, &c. and much other matter, in which is noticed Sir P. Warwick, the Lord Chancellor, Lord Treasurer; had spoken to the Archbishop of Canterbury in favour of Dr. Price being Bishop of Bangor; thanks him for the News of the Fleet. The action was brave though unfortunate, but you have left us all in great doubt which Mr. Montague and Mr. Wyndham we are to mourn for, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. - Surrenden, 25th Aug. 1665

. The noble writer was successively Solicitor and Attorney-general, and Lord Chancellor, and was created Baron Finch and Earl of Nottingham. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Harvey, of London.

- 1355 FINCH (Sarah) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 10s. 6d. - - - Ferns, Nov. 4, 1682

. Informing Sir Robert her dear husband in his last will desired him to accept of a small legacy, in testimony of the honour and respect he bore him, &c. which Sir Robert accepts. "The last letter I had from my dear friend, your husband, had so many marks of death upon it, that I have been afraid to write, &c. It was a friendship of about thirty years, without interruption or one false step. He was a cordial man, valiant and firm to his principles, &c. By his death I lose one of those pillars unto whom I had in my will left the care of my son. I see by your letter he was pleased in his will to remember me with a legacy. Madam, I do most gratefully receive this information from you, and am very proud that in his most serious thoughts he had remembrance of our friendship: I do by this letter acknowledge the receipt of that legacy, and hereby discharge his executors for the same,—and now my request is, that you will please to accept a ring of that value, to be worn by you in memory of that true friendship which so long lasted between your husband and myself," &c. &c. A long and interesting (copy in Sir Robert's autograph of his) reply.

- 1356 Finch (Heneage) Solicitor-General, second son of the preceding, Autograph Letter to the Earl of Sunderland, a fine specimen of a scarce autograph, 10s. 6d.

. An interesting letter. The writer's house had been damaged by fire, and the present is a reply to the Earl of Sunderland, who had offered the use of his house at Acton. "I thanke God we have yet house room left: the great house is standing, onely a little damaged, and we have a good deal of room in the out-houses, &c. where we are lodged very well; and though we have the melancholy prospect of the ruins, yet we are extremely pleased that none of our company lye under the rubbish, which is a great mercy, considering how sudden and surprizing the fire was to us," &c.

- 1357 FINCH (Heneage) Autograph Letter of Attorney for the Receipt of his Salary as Solicitor-General, 10s. 6d. 1683

. The noble writer was appointed solicitor-general 13th Jan. 1678; from which office he was removed by James II. 1686; and was subsequently the principal of those eminent advocates who defended the seven bishops. He was afterwards created Earl of Aylesford. His lordship married the daughter of Sir John Banks, Bart. of Aylesford.

- 1358 FINCH (Heneage) Autograph Letter to Sir John Evelyn, respecting an Election for the County of Kent, to which he had been solicited to stand with Sir F. Vincent, &c. 7s.

- 1402 Fox, another Autograph Letter to Hon. W. Blathwaite, 1l. 8s. Chiswick, June 15th, 1697

. A long and interesting letter, relating to the state of the treasury, army, &c. in one part of which the writer most feelingly writes the gratification he feels at finding his Majesty is growing more favourable towards these great persons that do so entirely depend upon him for their right, that they are starving, but are comforted by the hopes given out. "I wish it was come, that I might not see wet eyes so often at my lodgings," &c.

- 1403 Fox, another Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, 1l. 8s. Whitehall, 28th May, 1697

. An interesting letter, thanking the secretary for the news of his Majesty's good health, &c.; has not mentioned the allowances of 3242l. being convinced that until we can come at the malt tickets it cannot be done, &c. Laments the king not giving leave to relieve the Duchess of Grafton and those of her rank, who are indeed miserable; and I often enquire for the Petty family, who are well; and I wish them and you a continuance of health, &c.

- 1404 Fox, another Autograph Letter to the Hon. W. Blathwaite, relative to the Affairs of State, the Army, &c. an interesting specimen, 18s. - - - 1699

. The writer was son of W. Fox, Esq. of Farley, in Wiltshire, a man of considerable talent, architect of his own fortune, and founder of the noble houses of Ilchester and Holland. Lord Clarendon, in his History of the Rebellion, says that he was entertained by Lord Percy, then Lord Chamberlain, at Paris, about the year 1652, and continued in his Majesty's service until the Restoration, after which he filled the offices of Clerk of the Green Cloth, Paymaster of the Forces, and in 1680 was constituted one of the Lords of the Treasury, the latter two held under James II. Nor was he affected by the Revolution, for having concurred in voting the throne vacant, he was appointed a third time Commissioner of the Treasury, which office he held until he retired from public affairs in 1701. His two sons, by his second marriage, became English peers, Stephen, Earl of Ilchester, and Henry, Lord Holland. Grammont, in his Memoirs, calls him one of the richest and most regular men in England; he lived to the advanced age of eighty-nine.

- 1410 Fox (Rt. Hon. Charles James) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, wishing to know what Answer to give to Mr. Lawrence Coxe's Application for a Baronetage, "certainly not a promise, for I believe nothing would be so improper," &c. 15s. - 13th June, 1783

- 1411 Fox, Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, informing his Grace of the Arrival of the Duke of Manchester's Dispatches, and of the French Minister's pretensions to wait for a Dutch Courier, before he signs the Definitive Treaty; has dispatched Instructions to the Duke to press seriously for the Signature, any further delay will excite his suspicions, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d.

Wimbledon, 24th August, 1783

- 1412 Fox, Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, requesting his Grace, if Lord Ashburton is dead, to see the King, and immediately give Derby the Duchy, that I may tell Sir James Lowther it is given, and prevent any conversation upon a subject so awkward, &c. 1l. 1s.

Wimbledon, 25th August, 1783

- 1413 Fox, Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, informing his Grace of the Death of Sir John Shelley, and begs if either or both his places are worth Lord Edward's (his Grace's brother) acceptance, that he will not have any foolish scruples about giving him them. It is not reasonable that your Brother should suffer for delicacies which have no foundation whatever, 1l. 8s. - 18th September, 1783

- 1414 Fox, Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, suggesting an alteration in the King's forthcoming Speech, respecting the Alarming Outrages, &c. 1l. 1s.

- 1417 Fox, Another Autograph Letter, declines O'Brien's invitation—'I shall not go to town till the slave trade comes on, and then, as Mrs. A[rmitage] has some little jobs to do, I think your house is rather too far out of our beat,' &c. franked, 15s.

March 25, 1798

- 1418 Fox, Another Autograph Letter, sends verses for O'Brien to copy—'I think we shall certainly go on our tour, and except for that purpose, it is impossible for us to quit home any more this summer,' franked, 8s. 6d. S. Anne's Hill, Aug. 23, 1799

- 1419 Fox, another Autograph Letter, 'very ready to declare, or to swear, that I know nothing of O'Brien's having a Pension of a Thousand Pounds a year, by his, Mr. Fox's means, or any other, and that he firmly believed he had no such thing,' franked by J. Hare, 12s. S. Anne's Hill, Oct. 31, 1799

- 1420 Fox, another Autograph Letter, 15s.

St. Anne's Hill, Dec. 13, 1799

. Much flattered by his Royal Highness [King George IV.] having named him as a member of ——— Club, yet declines having his name in the list, 'as it is so seldom that he resides in London.'

- 1421 Fox, another Autograph Letter to his Brother, Lieut.-Gen. Fox, franked, 1l. 1s. St. Anne's Hill, Jan. 18, 1804

- 1422 Fox, another Autograph Letter, relative to the Election of Allan Lord Gardner, and himself, for Westminster, and the impropriety of Representatives proposing to Constituents—'It should be a meeting of the inhabitants, and we, the Members, (who, by the way, are neither of us inhabitants,) should only appear for the purpose of obeying the commands of our Constituents,' 18s. - - (1804)

- 1423 Fox, another Autograph Letter, respecting the exhibition of his Letter at the Cocoa Tree, 1l. 8s.

St. Anne's Hill, Wednesday.

. Had made no mistake about the particular letter, and the part he had alluded to as being wholly improper to be seen, was that part relative to Fitzpatrick—'It was very unfortunate that MC. MAHON made a use of my letter so much more extensive than you intended he should, but you have not explained exactly by what means it came to be left at the Cocoa Tree, even for Houston's inspection,' &c.

- 1424 Fox, another Autograph Letter, relative to some application, by Fox, to the Duke of Northumberland, in favour of O'Brien, for the place late held by Richardson, then deceased, but with little hopes of success—'because I am persuaded, that if the D. of N. meant to consult me upon this occasion, he would have done it before now.' Tells O'Brien—'The more you boast of former fortitude, the more you are bound to keep up the character,' &c. 10s. 6d.

Saturday night, undated.

- 1425 Fox, another Autograph Letter, deferring the presenting some Addresses to the King, in consequence of the putting off the Levee; instructions for O'Brien's conduct in the affair, so that Fox might not be hurried back from his Trip, &c., two closely-written pages, 12s. Clarges Street, Sunday, (1804)

- 1426 Fox, another Autograph Letter relative to some Communication he had received the day before; expected to find O'Brien at Covent Garden Theatre, but failing in that, deferred it, and so forgot it: hopes it does not convey a threat of Invasion, 12s.

* * * The Roscius had attracted Fox to witness his performances, of which he says, 'I like the boy, in most parts of Romeo, very much indeed.'

- 1427 Fox, another Autograph Letter—'My writ is to be moved to-morrow, that is, if there is a ballot, if not, God knows when. Tell every member you see, to go down to the ballot to-morrow. It is Midx., but it is supposed to be all settled,' 15s.

Thursday, 6 o'Clock.

- 1428 Fox, another Autograph Letter to a Nobleman, respecting the Westminster Election, 1l. 1s. Covent Garden, Friday.

* * * 'I am informed your Lordship's agent has done little or nothing in our favour. Perhaps it is not even now too late to speak to him to exert himself. There is one Richardson, in Long Acre, who will not come unless he has a message from you, &c. They are beating us by to-day's poll near seventy.'

- 1429 Fox.—Dennis O'Brien's Draft of Notice to Charles Brown- ing, Esq., High Bailiff of Westminster, and to Mr. Gran- ville, his Carpenter, for reasons which are fully stated, that —'under all these circumstances Mr. Fox will not be answer- able for any useless waste of money, in expending three hundred pounds for the hustings.'—Autograph Letter of Charles James Fox, entirely approving of O'Brien's notice, assuring him—'I have no inclination to be robbed,' 18s.

Feb. 11, 1806

- 1430 Fox, another Autograph Letter, as Minister of State, to O'Brien, relative to the Westminster Election, and other Matters, 1l. 11s. 6d. Downing-street, March 6, 1806

* * * Will appoint a time to see Lord Milford for half an hour—'You need not tell him so, but there are at the least twenty claimants for Peerages, whom I should prefer to him.' Thanks O'Brien for his patience in what relates to himself—'be assured it will not be the worse for you, and if I have it in my power, (which I still doubt,) much better. What a fool that Wishart must be!'

- 1431 Fox, another Autograph Letter, Vexed to the quick by O'Brien's indifference about the place of Deputy Paymaster, entreats him to accept it; it is impossible for W. H[ough] to have the place, 1l. 1s. Downing-street, Friday.

. Informs him of his illness, and requests him to forward the letters to the Duchess of Gordon, in which he had broke the affair to her Grace as gently as possible.

- 1556 GORDON, Another Letter to his cousin, Bryan Fairfax, 10s. 6d.
Genoua, Feb. 8, 1743

. Expressing his thanks for the many great kindnesses shown to his family. "Although you are a distant relation of mine in comparison of a good many others, yet I have received infinitely more friendship from you than from all the rest together. I assure you I shall always acknowledge how much I am obliged to you, and I have a greater regard for you alone than for them all—they have never given themselves the least trouble or concern about me since I left England; and if it had not been for my Lady Duchess, my brother, and yourself, I should not have been known. I shall never ask my English relations any favour, because I think they have used me very ill. I hope you and your brother Ferdinando live with as good health as you do in mutual friendship, without which all the riches and grandeur on earth signifies nothing. There are various reports of the confederate fleet coming out of Toulon, but very few English believe it; our fleet is superior to them, and will be infinitely more so when Admiral Martin joins us," &c. His lordship was third son of Alex. second Duke of Gordon, and Henrietta, his duchess. He died in 1754.

- 1557 GORDON (George) of the Admiralty Office, Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 4s. - 1703

- 1558 GORDON (Henrietta, Duchess of) interesting Note to her cousin, Bryan Fairfax, requesting an appointment for Mr. R. Abercromby, son of Sir James, 8s. 6d.

Gordon Castle, May 22, (1740)

- 1559 GORDON.—Another Letter to the same, concerning her sons, one of whom, Lewis, was then going to sea, to assist in "humbling the insolent Spaniards," &c. 15s.

Preston Hall, July 14, 1740

. An interesting letter, in which her Grace states,—“All the great patriots of this kingdom have had several meetings at the palace of Dalkeith and Edinburgh, but this day are all dispersed to their several country seats, and the Duke of Buccleugh begins his journey towards London to-morrow. Much concerned for her eldest son's illness; he was going to Lord Aberdeen's to drink goat whey. As I have many letters to write on account of the honest sailor, you will excuse all blunders.”

Her Grace was the daughter of Charles 3rd Earl of Peterborough and Monmouth, and wife of Alexander, 2nd Duke of Gordon.

- 1560 GORDON (Lord Adam) Autograph Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d. - Preston Hall, Jan. 11, 1774

. ‘Lairds in Scotland are like lairds elsewhere, some better and some worse. Self-interest goes far, wherever I have been; but, I believe, gentlemen in our line, (the army) act generally a more disinterested part, than in any other I know—I mean by sea and land.’

- 1561 GORDON (Lord Adam) Another Letter to General Murray, franked by A. Drummond, 7s. 6d.

Drummond Castle, July 4, 1774

. Tendering services, and wishes the General all happiness in Minorca. The Duchess of Atholl presents best compliments. His lordship, who was fourth son of Alexander 2nd duke of Gordon, was a general in the army, and commander-in-chief of the forces in Scotland. He married Jane, daughter of John Drummond, Esq., and widow of James, second Duke of Atholl.

- 1562 GORDON (J. W.) Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, 5s. 6d. - Horse Guards, May 4, 1808

articles named, 1*l.* 8s. - - 1513

- 1579 GOWER (Lord) Autograph Letter to Col. Wm. Congreve, Brother to the Poet, 1*l.* 1s. - London, March 6, 1745

. Relating to his lordship's regiment, in which the noble writer expresses the deepest interest; trusts his majesty's merciful conduct to them for the late disturbances will have a good effect; is surprised that none of the officers have mentioned it in their letters; particulars relating to Mr. Chetwynd having leave of absence; wishes to know if Capt. Mainwaring has the same good opinion of Mr. Townsend still—if so, shall promote him, and other very interesting matters.

- 1580 GOWER (Lord) Another Autograph Letter to Col. Congreve,
1*l.* 8s. - - March 29th, 1746

. A most interesting letter, relating to the mutiny in the regiments under his command at Chester; his majesty's great lenity and goodness not meeting with proper gratitude, strict discipline must be supported, and proper examples made; expresses his disgust at their ungrateful behaviour. His lordship takes every pains and care to endeavour to lead them to a sense of their duty; informs the Colonel of various regiments ordered for Cheshire and Warwickshire, to quell any mutiny; begs his thanks to Mr. Whitwick, an excellent magistrate, and other gentlemen, for their services on this trying occasion; trusts Fryer will be found out and punished.

- 1581 GOWER (Countess Dowager) Autograph Letter to Col. Congreve, 1*l.* 1s. - Bill Hill, 1st Sept. 1774

- 1592 GRANBY (John Manners, Marquess of) Autograph to a Warrant for the payment of certain monies for the support of the Prisoners of War, 10s. 6d.

Warburg Camp, Oct. 4, 1760

. The noble writer was at this period Commander in Chief of the British forces serving under Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick in Germany, where he distinguished himself by the greatest judgment and intrepidity. His lordship was the eldest son of John third Duke of Rutland, and married Lady Frances Seymour, daughter of Charles, sixth Duke of Somerset.

- 1593 GRANDISON.—Original Warrant addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Deputy of Ireland, to pay to Lord Oliver St. John, Viscount Grandison, his Pension granted by King James, and his full fee as High Treasurer of the Kingdom of Ireland, &c., most beautifully written, and in exquisite preservation, with splendid autograph of King Charles the First, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Palace of Westminster, Dec. 20, 1628

- 1594 GRANTHAM (Henrietta, Countess of) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, Secretary of State, a fine specimen, 7s. - - - 1703

. The writer was sister to the Duke of Ormond, and married Henry of Nassau, son of the valiant Marshal Auverquerque, who was created Earl of Grantham in 1698, Lord Chamberlain to Queen Caroline, &c.

- 1595 GRANVILLE (Leveson Gower, Viscount) Autograph Note to Lord Gwydir, appointing W. Turner, Esq. his Page-Attendant at the Coronation of George IV., 2s. 6d. July, 1821

- 1596 GRATTAN (T. C.) Poet, &c., Autograph Letter to T. Hill, Esq., relative to his Publications, is anxious to hear the fate of his friend Hyde's Comedy, the progress of the Author of Sayings and Doings, &c. 10s. 6d. - 1825

- 1597 GRAVES (M.) Autograph Letter to Shenstone, the Poet, on the recovery of her brother and his friends, 10s. 6d. 1740

- 1598 GRAY (Francis Gray, present Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 7s. 6d. Kinfaun's Castle, June 5, 1826

. Soliciting his lordship's support at the ensuing election of the representatives of the Scottish peerage.

- 1599 GREEN (J.) Bishop of Lincoln, Autograph Certificate for a Clergyman to receive the benefit of Queen Anne's Bounty, 3s.

- 1600 GREG (H.) Autograph Letter to Secretary Blathwaite, relating to Foreign Affairs, 3s. - Copenhagen, 1698

. The writer was British Envoy to the Court of Denmark.

- 1601 GREGORY XIII. (Pope) Letter to the Archbishop of the Church of Narbonne, with autograph of Cardinal Antony Buccapadulius, on vellum, 10s. 6d. - 1583

- 1602 GREGORY (Jo.) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 5s. Edinb. Nov. 29, 1766

. Informing his lordship the University of Edinburgh had done themselves the honour of conferring a degree of M.D. upon his lordship, the patron of learning and science; informs him also that Dr. Robertson will return him the thanks of the University for your valuable present, &c.

- 1603 GREGORY (Dan.) Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, relating to the Chichely Pedigree, as connected with the Families of Digges, Aucher, &c. 4s. - Dec. 29, 1808

- 1604 GREGORY (Dr. Olinthus) Author of several Works on Mathematics, Astronomy, Mechanics, &c. Autograph Letter to Dr. Patrick Kelly, relating to Kelly's Supplement to his Universal Cambist, the Occultation of Herschel, &c. 4s.

Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, Aug. 23rd, 1824

- 1605 GRENVILLE (Lord George) Autograph Letter to Horace Walpole, on the Melancholy State of the Country, returning a Paper, &c. 1l. 1s. - May 13th, 1757

- 1606 GRENVILLE (Richard) Earl Temple, Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 1l. 1s. Pall Mall, March 29th, 1768

. A pleasing specimen of a very scarce autograph, acknowledging the receipt of his lordship's letters, and applauding the generous spirit they breathe; no doubt all elections ought to be free, I heartily wish they were. Notices the Middlesex election, which finished yesterday; state of the poll, &c. Wilkes returned by a large majority; a general illumination took place last night.

- 1607 GRENVILLE (Bevil) Three Interesting Autograph Letters to Sir Robert Southwell, respecting his election and successful return for the Borough of Plymouth, in Devonshire, and respecting other elections, &c. The Letters are dated from the Royal Citadel, at Plymouth, and Trelawny, 2*l.* 2*s.* 1685

. The writer was son to the Marquis of Bath, and named after his ancestor, who fell so gloriously at the battle of Lansdown Hill; he was appointed Governor of Jamaica, and died in his return from thence in 1709. He appears to have been a devoted loyalist, and, with his family, much devoted to the service of Sir Robert and the king's party. Expresses much pleasure at the two young lords being returned for the County of Devonshire; can with much confidence affirm his brother has re-established again the old loyalty at Trelawny, as it appeared in former times, and put the government in such hands as will give satisfaction to his majesty. In another letter the writer says, "I think I may with confidence say, Sir Robert will not be forgot by Lord Bath when he enters upon the electors with his countrymen," &c.

- 1608 GRENVILLE (William Wyndham, Lord) Autograph for the payment of a special Messenger's Bill, for travelling post to Windsor, &c. 7*s.* - - April 23, 1791

- 1609 GRENVILLE (William Wyndham, Lord) Autograph Letter, with portrait, 10*s.* 6*d.* - - Cleveland Row, Monday.

. A friendly letter, thanking his lordship for the communication. Duigenan's letter is like his book, full of good sense and reason, mixed up with violence and prejudice. There seems, as far as I can judge, a very general opinion in Ireland that this measure will be carried next year; and there, as elsewhere, an expectation of victory is one of the most important means towards obtaining it.

The noble writer was elected Chancellor of Oxford, in opposition to the late Duke of Beaufort, and Lord Eldon, in the most severe contest Oxford ever experienced. His lordship was high steward of Bristol, &c.

- 1610 GREVILL (Sir Fulke) afterwards Lord Brooke, Autograph Receipt for his Wages as Gentleman Pensioner to his Majesty, due from the King, with the Original Warrant for the Payment of the same, with autographs of Sir John Glynne, Sir Hen. Mildmay, Sir Francis Rous, and T. Hoyle, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - - - 1645

- 1620 GROSVENOR (Richard, Earl) Autograph Letter to Mr. Weatherby, Clerk of the Newmarket Course, nominating certain Horses to run for the Craven Stakes, Handicap, &c. franked, 5*s.* - - Cheltenham, Aug. 20, 1798
- 1621 GROSVENOR (Earl) now Marquis of Westminster, Autograph Note to Mr. Andrews, franked, 10*s.* 6*d.* - 1828
- 1622 GUILFORD (Francis North, first Earl of) Autograph Note to Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, of Lee Priory, with Lord and Lady Willoughby's Compliments also, on a card, 3*s.* Dec. 12.
- 1623 GUILFORD (Earl of) Autograph Letter to Mrs. Barrett, of Lee Priory, 7*s.* 6*d.* - - - 1769

. A friendly letter and pleasing specimen.

- 1624 GUILFORD (Earl of) Autograph Letter to T. Barrett, of Lee Priory, 5*s.* - - March 26, 1773

. A friendly pleasing specimen, informing him his "interest at Dover is very trifling, but you have my hearty good wishes, and if I can be of use to you, it will give me great pleasure;" the writer died in 1790.

- 1625 GUILFORD (Frederick North, second Earl of) Autograph Letter to Mr. Williams, in reply to his solicitation for the Office of Judge to the Cinque Ports in favour of Dr. Battine, 7*s.* 6*d.*
Nov. 13, 1791

. An interesting specimen, in which his lordship states the impossibility of his complying with his friend's wish, "Dr. Lawrence having a prior claim, who was disappointed of the Professorship of Law at Oxford by an event which, though most fortunate for the nation at large, was rather unfavourable to his advancement," &c.

- 1626 GUILFORD (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Dr. Battine, 5*s.* - - - Nov. 14, 1791

. A pleasing specimen, in reply to the doctor's solicitation for the appointment of Judge to the Cinque Ports.

- 1627 GUILFORD (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to T. Barrett,
Esq. Lee Priory, franked, 7s. 6d. - 1791

. A friendly letter.

- 1628 GUILFORD (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to T. Barrett, Esq. of Lee Priory, 5s. - - - no date.

. A pleasing specimen, introducing Mr. Cholmondeley. This nobleman was installed a Knight of the Garter, and filled the highest official situations, between the years 1759 and 1783, under the well-known designation of LORD NORTH, being Prime Minister of Great Britain within that period. He died in 1792.

- 1629 GUILFORD (George Augustus North, third Earl of) Autograph
Letter to Thomas Barrett, Esq. 7s. 6d.

Waldershare, Oct. 3, 1793

. Requesting permission to bring Mr. Sullivan and Lady Harriet to Lee, having heard so much of its beauties from common fame, &c. The noble writer was eldest son of Lord North, the Prime Minister, and died April 20, 1802.

- 1630 GUILFORD (Susan, Countess Dowager of) Autograph Letter to Mr. Walsh, 3s. - - - July 17, 1818

. This lady was the daughter of Thomas Coutts, Esq. the late opulent banker, and wife of George Augustus, third Earl of Guilford.

- 1631 GUILFORD (Frederick North, fifth Earl of) Chancellor of the University of the Ionian Islands, etc. Autograph Letter to Mr. Walsh, 3s. - Corfu, Jan. 15th, 1824

. The Earl will be long remembered for his vast collection of manuscripts brought to this country.

- 1632 GUISCARD (Marquis of).—Letter from the Lords Justices of Ireland, with the AUTOGRAPHS OF SIR CONSTANTINE PHIPPS, LORD CHANCELLOR OF IRELAND, AND LIEUT. GENERAL IN-GOLDSBY, relating to the Marquis of Guiscard's attempt upon Mr. Harley, and enclosing the copy of a Letter (which is also here) which he had written to Capt. Dumeny two days before he committed that villainous act, in which "are some expressions which mention some more terrible revolution to be than any has yet ever happened, with other dark insinuations," &c. &c. accompanied with an Autograph Letter of Guiscard's to the Duke of Ormonde in 1703, a most interesting article, 1l. 11s. 6d. Dublin Castle, March 20th, 1711

. The Marquis de Guiscard was one of the Commanders in the English fleet, which was destined to make a descent in France, and assist the rebels of the Cevennes. He was arrested on suspicion of corresponding with France, March 10, 1711, and when brought before the council, he attempted to stab the members, and wounded Lord Harley with a pen-knife. He died in prison on March 28th.

- 1633 GULSTON (Miss Elizabeth) Three very interesting Autograph
Letters to the Earl of Buchan, 5s.

Burwood Park and Bath, 1809

. Respecting some early MSS. relating to the Stewart family of Hampshire, which were rescued by her from the fire: an old woman having the care of the old family mansion for fourteen years complained of the difficulty she had found in lighting the fires with the great quantity of old parchments, from their being so old and so hard; her collection for a new edition of Grammont's Memoirs, also relating a wonderful cure she had received under an eminent surgeon at Bristol, after all the town faculty had given her up.

- 1634 GUTHRIE (Matthew) A long and very interesting Letter, addressed to the elder Colman, 18s.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12, 1775

* * Remits some musical pipes, used by the Russian shepherds in illustration of the engravings inserted by Colman in his translation of Terence's Comedies. "I wish from my heart I had the learned Dr. Burney's technical pen, to give you a description of both the vocal and instrumental parts." To a musical antiquary this letter will afford much information of importance.

Dr. Guthrie was counsellor of the court of the Empress Catherine of Russia, and physician of the corps of noble cadets at Petersburg, where he died in 1807.

- 1635 GUY (Hen.) Autograph Letter to Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Howard, directing the payment of certain Monies out of the Exchequer, including 300*l.* for the Duchess of Cleveland's children, and 500*l.* to himself for his Majesty's secret service, 8s. 6d.

- 1654 HALIFAX (Samuel) Bishop of Gloucester, Interesting Autograph Letter, 10s. 6d. - Warsop, Oct. 2, 1782

. Relative to some pamphlet, explaining the whole mystery of the transaction between Vernor and Hunter, which was so partially represented in Hunter's publication and the Gent.'s Magazine. "The Dean of York told me, that Lord Shelburne had written to Mr. Wyvill, assuring him of his support of the York Association; a support the Dean does not give the least credit to, as both he and his brother-in-law, F. Montagu, speak in the most unequivocal way of the duplicity of the Premier. However, the fact being true, is curious, and the knowledge of it, when made public, as it must soon be, must, I think, greatly lessen the credit and dignity of a Minister, that can be mean enough to seek to curry favour with a set of men whose principles are avowedly republican, and whose practices have been not only rebellious."

- 1655 HALIFAX (Samuel), Bishop of Gloucester, Autograph and Official Seal to a Letter of License for the Ordination of W. Barker Daniel, author of the Rural Sports, 7s. 6d.
March 12, 1786

1782 HENRY (Prince).—Autograph of Charles the First, when Prince of Wales, to an order for the repayment of Four Hundred Pounds to Sir James Fullerton, Administrator, to Prince Henry, the said sum having been paid by mistake by the Receiver-General of North Wales into the Treasury on account of Prince Charles, an interesting document upon vellum, 1l. 11s. 6d. - - 1618

1783 HENRY II. King of France, Autograph to Letters Patent for the payment to John Foucalt, Valet of the Wardrobe, of Two Hundred and Twenty-five Livres Tournois, independent of his Wages, in recompence for his good and agreeable Services, 1l. 11s. 6d.

S. Germain-en-laye, June 10, 1547

. On the reverse is the autograph quittance of the said John Foucalt, dated Nov. 15, 1547.

1784 HENRY II. KING OF FRANCE, Autograph to a Letter, addressed to the Provost of Merchants at Paris, relative to Monies to be advanced for the Fortifications of Paris, countersigned by his Secretary, De Laubespine, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Vanluysant, 27th March, 1559

. Henry the Second was the son of Francis the First; he married Catherine de Medicis, only daughter of Lorenzo de Medicis, Duke of Urbino. He was wounded in a tournament by the Earl of Montgomery, June 30th, 1559, and died from its effects on the 10th of the following month. He was succeeded by his son Francis the Second, who married Mary Stuart, Queen of Scotland.

1785 HENRY of Valois, King of Poland, afterwards King Henry the Third of France, Autograph to a Free Pass for Francis Rousseau, otherwise called Jarrie, Courier in Ordinary of our Brother Charles the Ninth, King of France, 2l. 2s.

Cracow, June 10, 1574

. A very treasurable document in the portefeuille of any autograph collector. Henry of Valois, Duke of Anjou, upon the death of Sigismund the Second, King of Poland, was elected by the nobles to be their King, May 9, 1573, and crowned at Cracow, Feb. 15, 1574. Charles the Ninth, of France, died unexpectedly, May 30, in the same year, and it has never been satisfactorily accounted for, by what means Henry the Third had been apprised of the demise of his brother, but upon the news thereof, brought to all appearance by this Rousseau, he fled secretly to Paris, and assumed the reins of the government of France. The present document proves him to have been at Cracow on the 10th of June; and as it possibly has reference to his flight, perhaps furnishes the date of his departure hence.

Any collector wishing to form a series of Autographs of Polish Monarchs, will never meet with a more attractive specimen, to say nothing of its rarity,—the monarch of a few brief months! Nor will he obtain one that can confer greater distinction upon his collections than the present.

1786 HENRY III., KING OF FRANCE, Autograph to a Letter to the Provost of Merchants at Paris, relative to the Revenue, 1l. 11s. 6d. - Paris, 13th May, 1586

1787 HENRY III., King of France, Another Autograph to an official document, in fine state, 10s. 6d. - 1587

- 1788 HENRY III., KING OF FRANCE, Autograph to an Order to the Treasurer of the Household, in Favour of James Morsais, Jeweller of Paris, upon vellum, 1l. 1s. Paris, 8th April, 1588

. These are all fine specimens of this monarch's autograph. Henry the Third was the younger brother of Francis the Second. He was assassinated at St. Cloud, in August, 1589, by the infamous James Clement, a Dominican friar.

- 1789 HENRY IV., as King of Navarre, Governor of Poictou, &c., Autograph to a Warrant for the Payment to the Sieur de la Tremouille, of Monies expended by him in the purchase of Gunpowder, during the Siege of Tournant, &c. which he had taken, after it had endured many assaults from his Cannon, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. - Rochelle, Dec. 8, 1588

. The autograph of this monarch, before his accession as King Henry the Fourth of France, is very difficult of acquisition. It is rarely found, even in large collections.

- 1790 HENRY IV., KING OF FRANCE, Autograph to a Warrant to Francis Hotman, and Balthasar Gobelin, Treasurers of the Exchequer, to pay to the Sieur de Brisacier, his Secretary, Fifty-five Crowns, 18s. - Paris, Sept. 30th, 1594

. These are great names in history. Hotman was the son of one of the greatest civilians France has at any time produced. The celebrated Gobelin tapestry has given perpetuity to the other; and the son, or grandson, of the Secretary, figures ostensibly in the mention made of him in Grammont's Memoirs.

- 1791 HENRY IV., Another Autograph to a Warrant for the Payment of Two Thousand and Fifty-five Crowns, to the Sieur de Puchairie, Governor of the City of Angiers, 15s. Angiers, March 21, 1598

- 1792 HENRY IV., Another Autograph to an Order for the Furnishing some Tapestry, on vellum, 15s. - 1601

- 1793 HEPBURN (Baron Buchan) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 7s. - Smeaton, April 22d, 1798

. An interesting letter relating to Forsyth's mode of medicating decayed and diseased trees, training, pruning fruit-trees, &c. Also relating to methods for clearing trees of vermin, superfluous chilling moisture, a wash for the vermin, and much other very interesting matter relating to the management of fruit-trees, gardens, &c. A most desirable article for the horticulturist.

- 1794 HERALDRY.—Autograph of King Henry VII. to a Warrant to deliver unto Garter Richmond and Norroy King at Armes, Wyndesore Herauld, and Rouge Dragon Poursevant, and to every of them, a Coat of Armes, 1l. 1s.

Palace of Westminster, Dec. 17, 1498

- 1795 HERALDRY.—Autograph of King Henry VII. to a Warrant to Sir Andrew Wyndesor, to deliver to Hams, one of our pursuivants, a coat of our arms, 1l. 1s.

Manor of Richmond, March 22, 1505

- 1796 HERALDRY.—Original Warrant addressed to Sir Andrew Wyndesor, Keeper of the Great Wardrobe, for the delivery of the Royal Arms upon Damask and Sarsnet, &c. with autograph of King Henry VIII. in fine preservation, 1l. 1s.

Manor of Richmond, 24th Jan. 1513

- 1797 HERALDRY.—Warrant for Ordering Sir Andrew Windsor to provide for our Wars this next year two rich Banners of our Arms embroidered upon Damask, eight smaller Banners of our Arms, twelve Banners of St. George, &c. &c. with autograph of King Henry VIII., 2l. 2s.

Castle of Windsor, 31st Nov. 1513

 An interesting record of heraldry, including full details of the heralds' tabards, pennons, and other paraphernalia of martial display.

- 1798 HERALDRY.—Warrant for delivering to Rouge-Croix, Pursuivant at Arms, a gown of Camlet, guarded with black velvet; a doublet of black velvet, and a (myllen) bonnet of scarlet, &c. with autograph of King Henry VIII., 1l. 8s.

Castle of Windsor, Dec. 8th, 1513

 A curious document, illustrative of the heralds' costume when in attendance on the court.

- 1799 HERBERT (Henry Lord) Autograph Letter, addressed "To my noble and worthy brother, Sir Edward Hoby, Kt." 2l. 2s.

Ragland Castle, 10 Aug. 1606

 A beautiful specimen, both as to expression and condition, expressive of the delight the writer feels at the prospect of a visit from his brother and sister, in order to induce which he not only states, "I will doe my uttermost endeavour to fassion the waies soe as her cotch mai better pass; if these lines maie not serve to entreat, or your own promises work that effect with you, as that wee maie enjoy your presence, I doubt not but upon the lest doubt of it, my wife will send a Welch herauld to somon you to appere beefore her upon paine of displeasure; your young masters, if they could speak, would write you Welch letters, and Ned taketh it very unkindly you forbear that title to him which you are pleased to afford to his younger brother; you shall receive from her, that is both Mr. and Mrs. of the game, I dare undertake as good a buck as any shee commandeth," &c. A long and very delightful specimen.

This nobleman, who was afterwards created Marquess of Worcester, took a decided part in favour of Charles I., and maintained his castle of Ragland with a garrison of 800 men, without levying any contributions upon the country, from 1642 to 1646, and only surrendered it, eventually, to Sir Thomas Fairfax, on most honourable conditions. This castle was amongst the last places in England from whose battlements the royal banner bade defiance to treason. His lordship died in 1646.

- 1800 HERBERT (Lady Anne) Autograph Letter, addressed "To my noble and best beloved Brother Sir Edward Hoby, Knight." Sealed with floss silk, 2l. 2s. - ib. 15th Sep. 1606

 A most desirable and beautiful specimen, in which the fair writer states, "I acknowledge myselfe so infinitely behowlding unto you for your kindness in coming so ill a journey, and dispensing with all defects heere, as if I should write 10,000 letters, I could not fully express the thankes which is yeelded you for it, both from my lord and myselfe; we receyving all the comfort, and you thereby sustayning penance, both corporall and pecuniarye, the debte therefore remayning wholly on our side, who, knowing ourselves unable to discharge it, doe vowe continually to paye you for it, the interest of perpetuall affection and acknowledgement," &c. Send a buck from Lord Carroe; enquiries if my lady of Bedford is comming, if so, request Sir Edw. to tell Lord Carroe he shall be most welcome, &c., "because I imagine that he will not venture upon so ill wayes, unless the company of a fayre lady may make the journey seeme easye unto him," &c. "Little Ned often remembers you, being like his parents," &c.

This lady was daughter of John, Lord Russell, and wife of Henry, Lord Herbert, afterwards Marquess of Worcester.

- 1801 HERBERT (Edward, Lord) the Poet, Autograph Receipt for his Weekly Allowance, in fine state, very rare, 2l. 2s. 1645

. Autographs of this distinguished poet and warrior are very rare; he was descended from a younger brother of William, first Earl of Pembroke, and created Baron Herbert of Cherbury, in the county of Salop; he died in 1648, and his poems were published by Henry Herbert, in 1665, and his life, written by himself, by Horace Walpole, at Strawberry Hill.

- 1802 HERBERT (Henry) Autograph Letter to Thomas Fauconbridge, Esq., requesting him to pay his Uncle, Matthew Herbert, his Allowance, when he pays other Parliament Men, during his absence from Town, by command of the House, to the Scotts Army, for the occasions of his Wife and Children, whom he should leave in London during his absence, with Matthew Herbert's Autograph Receipt for the said pay, 10s. 6d. - - - Aug. 16, 1645

- 1803 HERBERT (Katherine Lady) of Cherbury, Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, 10s. 6d.

22nd Dec. 1783

* * This nobleman was lord-lieutenant and custos-rotulorum of the county of Warwick, a knight of the order of the garter, viceroy of Ireland, and lord-chamberlain of the household. His lordship married the daughter of Charles, second Duke of Grafton. He was created, 29th June, 1793, Earl of Yarmouth and Marquess of Hertford, and died 14th June, 1794.

- 1812 HERVEY (John) Ancestor of the Earl of Bristol, Autograph Receipt for certain Monies for her Majestie's use, as Treasurer of her Household, a fine specimen, 15s.

Dec. 30th, 1678

* * This gentleman enjoyed the friendship of Robert Sidney, second Earl of Leicester, and sojourned with that accomplished nobleman during his embassy at the French court. Concurring heartily in the restoration of Charles II., he was appointed treasurer of the household to Queen Katherine. Burnet says, he was one whom the king loved personally, and yet upon a great occasion he voted against that which the king desired, so the king chid him severely for it; next day he voted as the king wished, which the king noticed, and said, "You were not against me to-day;" to which he answered, "No, Sir, I was against my conscience to-day." He was a great encourager of literature.

- 1813 HERVEY (Hon. Thomas) second son of John Hervey, Earl of Bristol, Autograph Letter to Hopefull, at White's, 10s. 6d.

Nov. 1769

* * Desires Hopefull, not knowing his real name, to buy him a lottery ticket. He adds,—“When Mr. Hervey was himself an electioneer, which, in its consequences, cost him every thing that is dear and valuable to a man in this world, no body ever promised him his vote without being thanked for it. If Hopefull is displeased at his being addressed under the style and title of one of those contemptible and detestable creatures called kings, Mr. Hervey will forgive him.”

- 1814 HERVEY (Lord John Augustus) Beautiful long and interesting Autograph Letter to Peter Magra, Esq. describing the Proceedings of the British Army at Quebec, with his Lordship's Opinion of the Country, &c. Notices Admiral Lord Gambier, 1l. 1s. - - Quebec, 1776

* * The noble writer was captain in the royal navy, and married Miss Drummond of Quebec, by whom he had an only daughter, who married the present Lord Seaford, whose eldest son is now Lord Howard de Walden.

- 1815 HESKETH (Roger) High Sheriff for the County Palatine of Lancaster, Autograph to a Letter of Attorney for receiving certain Monies paid to Bryan Holme, T. Woodman, and others, for the prosecution of certain Felons who had robbed the said Holme and Woodman, 5s. - April 18th, 1740

- 1873 HOME (Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, in reply to his Lordship's Application for his Vote as Representative Peer of Scotland, 5s. - Hirsel, July 23, 1782

. A most spirited letter on the carelessness of the peers to assert their dignity, which until they do his lordship is determined to attend none of their meetings or proceedings, accompanied with a copy of Lord Buchan's letters to the peers and to Lord Shelburne.

- 1874 HOOD (Admiral Sir Samuel) Autograph to a Certificate of the Services of Capt. John Knight, of the Barfleur, under his Flag, 10s. 6d. - - 13th May, 1781

. The above brave commander received the thanks of the Parliament for his gallant conduct in the West Indies, as an admiral in the engagement with the French fleet under Count de Grasse, who was defeated and taken prisoner in 1782, and created a peer of Great Britain the same year, by the title of Viscount Hood, of Whitley, in the county of Warwick.

- 1875 HOPNER (Capt.) Autograph Note to T. Stodart, 5s.

. A most pleasing specimen of this eminent artist, informing him he had received the Prince of Wales's commands to show him his picture. The remainder of the note is highly complimentary of the talent of his brother artist.

- 1876 HOPSON (Admiral Thomas) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq. giving particulars of John de Bart's sailing out from Dunkirk; shall follow him as long as our provisions will last, &c. &c. fine specimen of a very rare autograph, 1l. 1s. - - Aug. 1694

- 1877 HORNE (George) afterwards Bp. of Norwich, a long and interesting Autograph Letter to Dr. Wilkins, author of the Concilia, &c. 12s. - - Tuesday Evening.

. A most interesting specimen, replete with biblical research, and notices of Warburton, Watson, Hutchinson, Bates, and other eminent writers. Recommends the doctor to read the Essay towards a natural History of the Bible, which will amply reward his pains, with observations on the Principia of Hutchinson, &c. Wishes him joy of his knight-errantry in saving Mrs. Fairfax—pretty circumstance.

- 1880 HOTHAM (George) Autograph Letter to his Royal Highness the late Duke of York, 18s. Chislehurst, Jan. 15, 1778

. Relative to the news from America. Notices the receipt of a letter from his royal highness the Prince of Wales, fears entertained for the health of lady George Germain, wishes the Prince to address an answer to Prince Charles's letter in his own composition. The writer expresses his opinion that the months between October and June are best passed in London. The writer was a General-officer in the army.

- 1881 HOTHAM (Lord) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, a most friendly Letter of Congratulation on his Grace being appointed Prime Minister, 18s. Dorchester, 15th March, 1783

- 1882 HOTHAM (Lord) Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, informing his Grace he had just received a Letter from Lord Sydney, requesting his attendance at the Queen's House, at Seven o'clock, to deliver up the Great Seal. "It was my pride to receive it by your Grace's goodness to me ; it is not less my pride to resign it, when you have ceased to be the Minister. I did not think I was reserved for this triumph, for so I must and shall ever consider this passage in my Life," &c. 18s. - 23rd Dec. 1783

. The noble writer was descended from Sir John Hotham, governor of Hull, who being discovered to hold a correspondence with the royal party, was tried and beheaded on Tower Hill, with his eldest son. "He was master," says Lord Clarendon, "of a noble fortune in land, and rich in money, of a very ancient family, and well allied."

- 1883 HOTHAM (Lt.-Col. George) Long Autograph Friendly Letter to Col. Burton, in which are noticed several Persons, consents to be Deputy-Steward for Beverly Races, &c. 5s.

Beverly, 1796

. The writer married, first, the daughter of Roger Gee, Esq. of Bishop Burton, and secondly, Miss Best.

The following beautiful series of Letters from Dr. Hough, Bishop of Worcester, formerly Bishop of Oxford, and Lichfield and Coventry, also President of Magdalen College, to Col. William Congreve of Stretton, in Staffordshire, Brother to the Poet, are truly worthy of being printed.

- 1884 HOUGH (John) Bishop of Worcester, A most beautiful Autograph Letter to Capt. Congreve, two pages closely and beautifully written, 1l. 11s. 6d. - 7th April, 1729

. A truly friendly epistle. The Captain was at this period serving in Ireland, and there was a prospect of his return to his seat in Staffordshire, which appears to have given fresh vigour to the good prelate, who states, "his friend will count the days till he sees you ; and I who love him heartily, and am impatient to have him in right order, shall do so too, for I really believe nothing is more likely to contribute to it than your company." Alluding to their mutual friend Byreh, who had returned from Bath, the writer states, somewhat better, and he hopes with God's blessing, the warm sun, and exercise, will rouse his spirits, &c. Notice of the report of the Captain's marriage, and the severity of the winter, which must have been felt in Ireland ; his improvements at Hartlebury, &c. &c.

- 1885 HOUGH (Bishop) Another Autograph Letter to Capt. W. Congreve, two close and beautifully written pages, 1l. 11s. 6d.

. A most friendly letter, rejoicing that he is got well to town, and made some progress in his business, "which I shall dayly pray God to bless with expedition and success. Mr. Ward no doubt has good reasons for beginning in the House of Lords," alluding to the private bill to enable Capt. Congreve to sell his Staffordshire estate. Also relating to a benefaction to Worcester College, which the worthy writer hopes to obtain for a younger brother of the Captain. Notice of the death of Mr. Chetwind, whose character was such as will make any body troubled for the loss of him. His children are infants, and by frugality and good management, the estate, with God's blessing, may be cleared, and they provided for in a reasonable time ; thinks the crown will do somewhat towards it, and, all things considered, how happy a providence is it that he dyed at home, rather than on the sea, or at Barbadoes, with all his family about him, &c. &c.

1886 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most pleasing and beautifully written Letter of three pages to the same, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*

. Relating to the progress of Captain Congreve's business through the Parliament, notices the slowness of lawyers in every thing which passes through their hands; they seem to have a pleasure in keeping their clients in dependence, almost equal to what they feel in their fees, and will no more quicken their pace to gratify his impatience, than a cook will do to hasten your dinner; both know you must wait, and you submit because you cannot help it, &c. Major Folliott has been in this neighbourhood about ten days. He is really a sensible well-bred gentleman, and much your friend: I believe his kins-woman cannot hold out long, &c. You have certainly done right in sending your brother to the most eminent college in Oxford (Christ Church), and to which young people of quality chiefly resort; for the fortune of an hopeful, promising youth, is half made when he is set in a full light, &c. &c.

1887 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautifully written Autograph Letter to the same, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*

29*th* March, 1732

. Congratulating the Captain upon his good success in the House of Lords, with his bill for the sale of his estate; doubts not but it will pass as easily in St. Stephen's Chapel, &c. Your friends have occasion now only to employ their good wishes that you may meet with a purchaser who has judgment, sense, and a full purse, and one that may truly estimate the real value of your house and estate. I heartily wish the young gentleman, your brother, a safe and easy voyage to Grand Cairo, with health and prosperity in all his affairs, &c. Sir Hans Sloane will certainly think himself obliged by his offer of receiving his commands; and perhaps he may not lose his labour, for the doctor is a man of great humanity, and probably will furnish him with such directions as may help to guard him against the malignant air, for he is a man of experience, and has felt their ill influence; trust the Captain will not spend more time in town than necessary to the dispatch of his business, for all your acquaintance in the country will be impatient to see you among them, &c.

1888 HOUGH (Bishop) Another long and most beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*

10*th* March, 1734

. Relative to the progress of his bill through parliament, to empower the sale of the family estate, the delay of which annoys the good prelate, who advises the Captain not to give further attention to it at present, but to let it rest until parliament are less engaged with foreign negociations, &c. when he can resume it, in saying which, "you plainly discover that I have an eye to my own interest, and would draw you out of town in hope of seeing you here: I confess it freely, but will not allow it weakens my advice, which has other arguments strong enough to back it. Country air and exercise are requisite for your health: I wish you do not feel that you want them. You will have the fields open, and almost to yourself, for our lords, knights, and burgesses, are busied elsewhere. You will be delighted in seeing the spring disclose itself on every side, and receiving those wholesome effluvia which the plants and opening blossoms breathe in plenty, your ears will be saluted from every bush, your eyes from every flower, and it will not be long before your palate will be entertained. These pleasures plead for us, we have in a manner the monopoly of them, and I am mistaken if your taste is not suited to them; yet an impartial man cannot deny but that the place where you are had advantages peculiar to itself, and such as are very engaging. Let it only be remembered that they are attended with more noise and bustle than ours, they put the spirits in a hurry, they waste and dissipate them; whereas we enjoy our blessings in repose, and they offer themselves without charge or trouble; the birds tune their voices, and have none of Faranelli's expectations, as the tulips will soon display themselves, and shew us more fine colours than the ladies at a ball. I have set out our temptations before you, and I hope they will have their force," &c.

1889 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautifully written Autograph

Letter to the same, 1*l.* 8*s.* - 8*th April*, 1732

. Relative to a Mr. Conolly, who according to the account you give of his person and circumstances, may offer himself to any lady in England, being every way qualified to make her happy; and Miss Bosvil is one whose character and fortune will, I believe, answer his expectations; but to deal plainly (as an honest man ought to do), I must beg leave to tell you, that I cannot be instrumental in making them better known to each other, for a young gentleman whose happiness and welfare I am heartily concerned for, has his eye upon the lady, and as far as it becomes me to meddle in such an affair, I have promised to serve him, which when I receive some particular instructions, I will endeavour to make good my word, &c.

1890 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautifully written Autograph

Letter to the same, 1*l.* 1*s.* - 30*th March*, 1734

. A most friendly epistle upon the Captain's being about to purchase his uncle's post, as Colonel of the Guards, for £2000; trusts his Majesty will please to fix him in it, (had written to Sir Thomas Lyttleton) where (without a compliment) you are qualified to distinguish yourself, and to let the world see that the king's favour has been rightly placed, &c. &c.

1891 HOUGH (Bishop) Another beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - May 9*th*, 1734

. Further particulars relating to his succession to the post of his uncle as Col. of the Guards, to effect which the worthy prelate is very desirous, as he cannot reconcile himself to his continuance on the Irish establishment; you have a reasonable expectation of a company there, but your friends here desire to see you settled among them, &c. If the Primate received you coolly upon the mention of your brother, I shall not be at all displeased, for I think with regret of his going out of England. He is really an hopeful young gentleman, able to subsist decently as he is, and to prosecute those studies to which his genius leads him. His fellowship of All Souls is a reputable post, &c.

same, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - 23*d Oct.* 1734

. A most friendly letter to the Captain, then attending the sick bed of Mrs. Harwood, at Shrewsbury, whose affection to the Congreve family the worthy writer states has endeared her to all; your sister is to be pitied, as well as beloved, and you justify the character of your own good nature in your tender regard to both; but when you find yourself at liberty to visit other friends, you shall not be more welcome to any place than to Hartlebury. The papers inform us that eight regiments are to be called out of Ireland, and fixed upon the English establishment. I hope yours is one of them, and we please ourselves in thinking that whether you obtain the remove you meditate or not, you will at least be under no obligation to cross the channel any more, &c.

1893 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautifully written and pleasing Autograph Letter to the same, 1*l.* 1*s.* 9*th Dec.* 1734

. A most friendly epistle upon the death of a relative whose will had disappointed the family; congratulates him upon the success of his brother at Christ Church College, Oxford, in obtaining Bishop Fell's benefaction, which though of no great value, but creditable to have it, for the candidates undergo a public examination, and seldom, if ever, succeed without apparent merit; had told the Bishop of London that the young gentleman apprehends himself to owe the dean's favour entirely to his lordship's countenance, and had given him his own thanks in such terms as to bespeak the continuance of his patronage, &c.

Hartlebury, June 4, 1736

. Relating to a fit person on whom to confer the church at Stratford, which the worthy divine is desirous of being given to some person of more than ordinary talents, for he states his fear that neither learning nor good morals will be sufficient to secure his quiet in a place where people are so much at odds among themselves.

1895 HOUGH (Bishop) Another of these most exquisite Autograph Letters to the same, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* 24*th* April, 1738

. Expressive of the pleasure it gave him to hear from him, which relieved him from the perplexity of thinking how it might fare with him across the water; rejoiced to hear of his safety, and heartily glad you found the good Lord Primate and his chaplain in health; I am very confident his grace will see him handsomely settled before he parts with him, &c. Lord Herbert, who has been much out of order during the last two years, is now dead. Ribbesford is the jointure house, with a thousand pounds per annum to the dowager lady, but as it stands low I fear I shall not have so good a neighbour. I suspect you will not relish the news, that a great fall of trees is, by order of chancery, appointed in Shrawley woods; the sportsmen grumble, but no other way could be thought on to make provision for the late Mr. Vernon's two daughters, who by the settlement of the estate, were incapable of having portions charged upon it. The young heir is now in his fifteenth year, sprightly and hopeful, but I think his mother is in the right to endeavour that his sisters may not be left entirely to his discretion. Lady Bellamont's foolish marriage, and death soon after it, has been sufficiently published by the news writers. By a will she has considered her children with more kindness than she shewed to them in her life time, but the husband disputes it, &c. &c.

1896 HOUGH (Bishop) Another long and most beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, then on his Journey to Minorca, with Brigadier Pagett's Regiment, 1*l.* 5*s.* - May 17, 1738

. Thankful for his letter of intelligence of his safe passage from Ireland, and pray God to protect him in the remaining course of his travels, and that the station he has chosen may exceed his expectations in the influence that the air may have upon his health, which of late years has been much affected; but honour is your tenderest care, and the world cannot but observe that you seek occasion to show it in the service of your country at no small peril, when you might without censure have rested quietly at home. I hope his Majesty will be fully informed of this circumstance, for nothing can more sensibly touch the spirit of a brave prince, &c.

1897 HOUGH (Bishop) Another beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, 1*l.* 1*s.* - May 22, 1738

. Another most friendly epistle on learning the soldier is delayed some short time for recruits; trust that some of the populous towns in Worcestershire, where trade does not flourish as it has done formerly, will furnish them, in order that Hartlebury may claim to be his head quarters; will speak to Sir Thomas Lyttleton. Miss Bosvil now owns her marriage, and I hope will be happy in it, for the young gentleman has the character of good sense, and good breeding, which are qualities that give the greatest security a lady can have of being well used, &c.

1898 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, franked, 1*l.* 1*s.* Hartlebury, May 31, 1738

. Informing him he had written to Sir Thomas Lyttleton at the Admiralty-board, who, the worthy writer was confident, would serve him, &c.; Lady Clarke complains bitterly of the vale of Evesham, she gives you her best service. We pray God to protect you in your voyage, and bless you in every circumstance of life, &c.

1899 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautiful Autograph Farewell Letter to the same, on his Embarkation for Minorca, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - July, 1738

. Since the time is come that we must of necessity part with you, I am heartily glad to hear it will be under the guard of a sensible well-bred gentleman, as well as a brave commander; his conversation will be more valuable than all the other accommodations he can give you; nor will any thing so effectually abate fatigue, or shorten the distance of a remote port. I am a little suspicious that you military men will wish to meet with a Spaniard in your way, but I, whom you know to be always peaceably disposed, shall make it my prayer that the heavens may favour you in the whole course of your voyage, and nothing fall out to interrupt the pleasure of it. I must now take a very serious leave of you, for in all probability it will be the last; God, I hope, will protect and prosper you in every particular, and that he may give you honour abroad, and restore you to your country again in health, but I must not expect to be in the number of those who rejoice at your return, the many, the very many years that have already passed over my head, allow me to look but a few days further in life; perhaps the last is very near; however, whilst I live I shall not cease to be warmly concerned for my friends, and therefore I take it very kindly that you promise to let me hear from you as opportunity offers; I also promise to be punctual in correspondence so long as I am able, and when I fail, you may conclude I am either out of the world, or altogether insignificant in it, &c.

1900 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most exquisitely-written Autograph Letter to the same, in Minorca, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Hartlebury, Jan. 29, 1738-9

. A most delightful letter, expressive of the pleasure it gave him to learn of the favourable voyage he had experienced, and that he had reason to expect the air would be beneficial to his health; prays God he may continue to improve in health and ease, till both become habitual in bringing home those blessings that are most intimately felt, you will return to England happier in yourself, and more welcome to your friends, than if you came loaded with Spanish pistoles. Trusts the elements will be as favourable in restoring you to your country as they were in carrying you to the service of it; to talk of seeing you again would look like dotage in one who is near entering into his eighty-ninth year; but old age hitherto has, by the blessing of God, sat light upon me; it is not yet a burden; and if I can bear it till your arrival, without being impaired in my understanding, I shall have a pleasure, the expectation whereof I dare not now indulge, nor did I so much as dream of it at our parting. The King is at St. James's, and the Prince at the Square, and though people talk of their coming nearer together, it is what one cannot report with any degree of certainty, &c. &c.

1901 HOUGH (Bishop) Another most beautiful Autograph Letter to the same, a delightful specimen, 18s.

. The above series of letters may safely be pronounced matchless; the beauty of the writing and the exquisite composition cannot be exceeded even in the autograph of a young man, much more in that of one so nearly approaching to the age of ninety. They are patterns for the correspondent, and for a warmth of friendship seldom if ever exceeded.

The writer was son of John Hough, citizen of London, and of Margaret his wife, daughter of John Byrche, of Learcroft, in the county of Stafford, Esq.; was educated at Magd. College, Oxford, and elected President thereof on the 15th of April, 1687, in opposition to the mandate of King James II., which caused a great sensation at the time, which was one of the forerunners of the revolution the following year. He was consecrated Bishop of Oxford the 11th May, 1690; translated to Lichfield and Coventry, 5th Aug. 1699, and from thence to Worcester, 28th Sept. 1717. He was born April 12th, 1651, and died May 8th, 1743, in the 93rd year of his age.

"See Hough, superior to a tyrant's doom, Smile at the menace of the slave of Rome."

1902 HOWARD (Sir Robert) Autograph Receipt for 735l. 6s. 10d., received by him of Sir Thomas Fanshawe, his Majestie's Coroner and Attorney, being the fines paid by divers persons in the Court of King's Bench, n fine preservation, 7s.

Nov. 20, 1672

- 1903 HOWARD (William Lord) of Effingham, her Majestie's Chamberlain, and Sir Francis Knowles, Vice-Chamberlain, Autographs to a certificate, 10s. 6d. - July, 1558

. Fine bold specimens. Lord Howard of Effingham, was employed by Henry VIII. and Edward VI. in numerous confidential missions to foreign courts; amongst others, to the Czar of Muscovy, in 1553, (being the first embassy from England to the Russian empire.) His lordship married 1st, Katharine sister of John Broughton, Esq. and 2ndly, Margaret, daughter of Sir Thomas Grammage, of Coity, co. Glamorgan. He died Jan. 21, 1573.

- 1904 HOWARD (Charles Lord) afterwards Earl of Nottingham, Lord High Admiral, Admirals B. Gonson, Sir John Hawkins, and Henry Palmer's, Autographs to an Account of the Ordynarye Charges of her Majestie's Navy at Chatham, Deptford, Portsmouth, and Woolwich, 1l. 8s. 1594

. This nobleman was commander-in chief of the fleet fitted out to oppose the Spanish Armada in 1588. His services in the total destruction of that powerful armament, are well known. His lordship died Dec. 14, 1624, at the advanced age of 87.

- 1905 HOWARDE (Sir Charles) Autograph Receipt for his Annuity, a fine bold specimen, 5s. - Feb. 18, 1629
 1906 HOWARD (William) and Cecil Howard's Autographs to an Order for payment of Monies, 5s. - Sept. 1, 1663
 1907 HOWARD (Sir Robert) Autograph to an Assignment of Edw. Russell, Esq. of an Annuity unto James Jeffreys, with his Autograph also, 5s. - Oct. 26, 1693
 1908 HOWARD (Francis) first Earl of Effingham, Autograph Love Letter to Anne, Sister of Robert Bristow, Esq. (afterwards Lady Effingham), 10s. 6d. - (1728)
 1909 HOWARD (H.) the Artist, Autograph Letter to J. Constable, Esq. 7s. 6d. - June 17, 1830

. A most interesting letter, relating to the right of the Royal Academy to the palette of Sir Joshua Reynolds, claimed by the executors of Sir Thomas Lawrence, as left him by the will of Sir George Beaumont.

- 1910 HOWE (Admiral Lord) Autograph Letter, 15s. Fort Edward, 23rd August.
 1911 HOWE (James) Autograph Letter to Lord Buchan, 5s. Edinburgh, May 28, 1807

. A pleasing specimen of this artist, whom his lordship calls on the back "A second Stubbs in embryo, whom I greatly regard, on account of his professional merit, and more for his gratitude, so seldom to be found."

- 1912 HUGHES (Owen) Autograph Letter to his Cousin, John Griffith, Esq., a friendly epistle, 5s. Beaumarès, March 24th, 1675
 1913 HUGHES (John) Editor of Spencer, Autograph Receipt for his Dividend on South Sea Stock, 5s. - Feb. 17, 1721-2
 1914 HULL (Thomas) Autograph Letter, and Song for a British Grenadier, two verses of which were cancelled, 5s. 1780
 1915 HUME (Sir Alex.) Autograph Letter of Attorney, authorizing John Bowmaker to receive his Annuity, with seal, 7s. 6d. Feb. 22, 1675

- 1916 HUME (Sir John) Official Letter of State, with SPLENDID AUTOGRAPH OF KING CHARLES THE FIRST, addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with Petition of Sir John Hume, one of the undertakers of the Plantation in Ireland, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* Palace of Westminster, April 11, 1628

. An interesting article, relating to a dispute between Sir John Hume, the archbishop of Cashel, Sir W. Cole, and others, respecting some lands granted by king James to the said Sir J. Hume; the petition prays the lord lieutenant may be requested to attend to his case, and that he may be permitted to have the old Surveys to prove his right, both of which, in his majesty's letter, are most graciously granted.

- 1917 HUME (Joseph) M.P., Autograph Letter to Mr. Wright, relative to the Navy Promotions, and his Speech on Irish Tythes, &c. 15*s.* - - - 1823
- 1918 HUMPHREYS (Humphrey) afterwards Bishop of Bangor and Hereford, Autograph Letter to Sir William Williams, Bt. 10*s.* 6*d.* - - - Bangor, Nov. 30, 1687

. Relating to the arms of Alice Dalton in an old picture at Penryn; also relating to Lord Lumley's pedigree, and various other armorial bearings, which he was in search of, &c.

- 1919 HUMPHREYS (Humphrey) Bishop of Bangor, Autograph and Seal to a Certificate for the Ordination of Robert Humphreys, together with his Autograph Declaration of the said R. Humphrey, and various Inhabitants of the Parish of Llanfechell, in the County of Anglesea, in fine state, 10*s.* 6*d.* June 25, 1691

- 1920 HUNSDON (Henry Carey Lord) Nephew to Queen Anne Boleyn, Autograph to an Exchequer Order for the payment of the Salary of Van Osterwick, Musician to her Majesty, 10*s.* 6*d.* - - - 1585

- 1921 HUNSDON (Lord) Lord Chamberlaine, and Roger Lord North, Treasurer of her Majesty's Household, Autographs and Seals to a Certificate for Captain Laurence Dutton, one of the Messenger's resident at her Majesty's Court, 18*s.* 1591

- 1929 HUNTER (Rev. Christopher) Autograph Letter to Isaac Reed, 7s. 6d. - - Gayton, Aug. 7th, 1796

. A pressing invitation to Gayton. Cannot promise anything beyond a pure atmosphere; but begs to add, lest he should suspect him of feasting him camelion-like, that I have some ducks in the yard ready to be roasted in your service, a study well stored with black letter, and other ancient lore; would mention a few, but fears he may blunt the edge of your curiosity. The Vice Chancellor of Cambridge had visited him; he did not give so good an account of Dr. Farmer's health, as all but the friends of the New Shakspeare MSS. wish to hear; with other interesting matter.

- 1930 HUNTER, another Letter to Reed, on various interesting subjects, 5s. - - Gayton, 1797

- 1931 HUNTER (Mrs.) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Mrs. Damer and Lord Frederick Campbell, thanking them for the late Lord Orford's kind remembrance, in fine state, 5s.

. A fine specimen of this very rare autograph. The noble writer was second son of Francis, second Earl of Huntingdon, and brother to the beautiful Lady Mary Hastings, whom the Emperor of Russia solicited in marriage of Queen Elizabeth. He married Dorothy, daughter and co-heir of Sir John Port, of Etwal, county of Derby, who brought him Dale Abbey in the said county.

- 1933 HUNTINGDON (Francis Hastings, Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Rt. Hon. Hans Stanley, 8s.

. Written during the Grafton administration, and relates to the opposition against the ministerial bill, respecting the dividend of the East India proprietors. He adds, 'Whenever the sessions end, I imagine the King will fulfil his promise; and when that is decided, you shall see me directly. I have the more reason to believe I shall succeed, as I think the King will not put a viscount over my head. The duke of Grafton acquits himself with great weight and dignity. The duke of Richmond is very troublesome, and full as tiresome.'

- 1934 HUNTINGDON (Francis, Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Lord Cardross, afterwards Earl of Buchan, 5s. Feb. 28, 1763

. A pleasing specimen, in reply to his lordship, on a report that the earl was destined to be lord-lieutenant of Ireland, &c.

- 1935 HUNTINGDONSHIRE.—Autograph of Gilbert Millington, to a Paper for adding the great Tythes of St. Ives to the Stipend of the Minister, the said Tythes being sequestered, in consequence of Thomas Audley being in actual War against the Parliament, 5s. - - 1645

- 1941 HUTCHINSON, Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Savage, 10s. 6d. - Barnard Castle, March 10, 1794

. Had given up his manuscript of the History of Durham to the publisher, for one hundred copies of the first and second sort of paper, which copies he disposed of to his own subscribers.

Requests a list of the incumbents in the Howdenshire churches, to follow the names given by Burton; 'also a drawing of the controverted monument of Skirlau or Kirkham: I might find a slight sketch, but dare not cut from it, for that hydra of criticism, Gough, that defiles the Gent.'s Mag. The Duke of Northumberland, since he engaged Brand, locks up every thing—no access now to the House-book.'

Alludes to Mr. Constable's repeated offers to him of Dale's papers, respecting Holderness—'dare you undertake the compiling, with my help? you are young, and may labour at it hard.'

2010 JENKINS (Sir Leoline) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1l. 1s. - Nimeguen, March 1, 1676

. An interesting specimen upon affairs of state respecting the prince of Orange, &c. Could tell tragical things of the ruins and desolations that the war works in this country, but you are none of those wanton people that need be instructed by such representations, not to throw away so blessed a jewel as the peace we have. I beseech you to speak part of my gratulations to my most noble friend Sir Edward Deering, &c.

2011 JENKINS (Sir Leoline) Another most interesting Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1l. 4s. - ib. 7th May, 1677

. A most affectionate epistle on the death of Sir Robert's father, whom the writer styles as our excellent father. It is a loss to the king and the public effectively greater than to you. I know you will hardly allow this, yet I assure myself that the duty of a son and the resignation of a Christian, have been perfectly reconciled in that preparation of mind wherewith you have received this arrest; followed by an eulogium of his character, as a servant to his majesty and friend to the public; written evidently with sincerity.

2012 JENKINS (Sir Leoline) Another Autograph Letter to Lord Norris, afterwards Earl of Abingdon, complimenting him on the zeal displayed in his Majestie's service, 'and I hope it will come to y^e knowledge of posterity as it does to me, that it was a serious truth and no compliment, that Mr. Justice Raymond spoke, when he sayd that such a Lord Lieutenant, such a Sheriff, and such a Grand Jury, would keep y^e King's Crown fast upon his head,' an interesting specimen, 1l. 1s. - Whitehall, July 26, 1681

ib. 26th April, 1809

- 2084 KENT (Duke of) Another Letter to the Earl of Buchan,
1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - Kensington Palace, Jan. 22, 1811

. A long letter of six pages, relative to his royal brothers: the trial the Prince of Wales had encountered in the last three months, during the progress of the Regency Bill, &c., and the Duke of York's resuming the office of commander-in-chief, with remarks upon his royal highness' resignation; very interesting, and highly important.

- 2085 KENT (Duke of) Another Interesting Letter of five pages, franked, 1l. 11s. 6d. Kensington Palace, Feb. 18, 1811

. With remarks on the conduct of his royal brother as regent. "The affectionate regard, both for the public and private feelings of the king, which the prince has universally displayed, must administer that confidence and approbation to the mind of his majesty, which are so well calculated to remove the prejudices and obstacles that have heretofore apparently prevented his sharing in the administration of public affairs," &c.; also recommending to his lordship's kindness Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, in the warmest manner, "convinced (although from family circumstances severely the sport of fortune) that they possess most amiable qualities." His royal highness expresses himself most deeply interested in their welfare, "from the generous and hospitable treatment I experienced under their roof in Geneva," &c.

- 2086 KENT (Duke of) Another Interesting Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - ib. April 24, 1811

. A most interesting and pleasing specimen, acknowledging the safe receipt of a cameo, sent to his royal sister by the Earl of Buchan, which etiquette prevented her royal highness from doing herself. Thanks his lordship for his "affectionate compliments upon the advancement of my revered father in his convalescence, which I trust in Providence will eventually lead to his entire recovery," and other interesting matters.

- 2087 KENT (Duke of) Another Interesting Letter to the Earl of Buchan, five pages, franked, 1l. 11s. 6d.
Kensington Palace, Dec. 5, 1811

. A most desirable specimen, relative to his royal highness's public conduct, and expressions of great friendship for his lordship and Lady Buchan, written in the manly style of an upright statesman, and of a perfectly accomplished gentleman.

- 2088 KENT (Duke of) Another Letter to the Earl of Buchan,
1*l.* 1*s.* - - Kensington Palace, 1812

Heralds' Office, Oct. 13, 1688

. Acknowledging the receipt of some gratuity, and expressing his readiness to be employed as soon as the collections are ready. The writer was the author of a valuable little book, entitled "Natural and Political Observations and Conclusions upon the State and Condition of England, 1696."

- 2113 KING (Gregory) Another Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq.
Secretary at War, 12s. Heralds' Office, July 18, 1701

 Respecting the Garter, George, &c. for the Elector of Hanover, which he had received from the jewel house, and which he observes are inferior to those hitherto sent to foreign princes, with particulars of the diamonds, about 200 in number, to be used upon the occasion, which are about half the value they used to be, and which he thought it his duty to notice in the absence of the Earl of Macclesfield, in order that his Majesty's pleasure may be signified thereon.

- 2114 KING (Dr. John) of Ireland, Autograph Letter in Latin to Sir Robert Southwell, written while on his Travels, 4s.

Bologna, 1660

- 2115 KING (William) Bishop of Derry, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, informing him of his arrival at Bath, from whence he could not proceed for want of horses, to Bristol, but will be over by the morning coach to Bristol, from whence he requests Sir R. to convey him to Kingsweston, 10s. 6d.

Bath, Aug. 20, 1698

- 2116 KING, Another long Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, in favour of Lord Kingston, who was disinherited by his father, but was then trying to recover the Munster Estate, belonging to his mother, to which Sir William Fenton and Southwell's father were Trustees, 10s. 6d.

Dublin, March 1, 1698-9

 An interesting letter, as it details the proceedings by King James, in 1689, to seize Lord Kingston's estate.

- 2117 KING, Another Autograph Letter to his Grace the Duke of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, complimentary upon his Grace's appointment as Lord Lieut. &c., and informing his Grace of his Majesty's pleasure to appoint him to the Archbishopric of Dublin, which he begged to lay before his Grace; which appointment, though not so much to his advantage in some respects, yet it will enable him to attend his Grace in the Government, &c. a long and interesting letter, 10s. 6d. - Dublin, March 6, 1702-3

 This is probably the last letter written by this eminent prelate as Bishop of Derry.

- 2118 KING (William) as Archbishop of Dublin, Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Southwell, very interesting, but a little damaged, 6s. - Dublin, Aug. 29, 1704

- 2119 KING, Another long Autograph Letter of three folio pages, to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, relative to the proceedings of the Commons House in Ireland; the failure of the Irish Bank Bill; the Miscarriage in England of the Bill for Pious Uses in Ireland, and other interesting subjects, 10s. 6d.

Dublin, Jan. 9, 1721

- 2120 KING, Another long and interesting Letter of four folio pages to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, relative to the impoverished condition of the Royal Hospital, Dublin, and the manner by which it had been deprived of £500 per annum since the Revolution, &c. &c. 12s. - Dublin, June 6, 1721

- 2121 KING, Another long and interesting Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, a fine specimen, 8s. Dublin, Dec. 26, 1723

. Respecting a bill transmitted for pious uses, "the case of it is this, we have an act here for maintenance and execution of pious uses, which was plainly designed to enable archbishops and bishops to receive in trust all donations for pious uses, and oblige them to execute these trusts, and this act has been construed of force to that purpose," &c.

The writer was the author of "The State of the Protestants in Ireland, under King James's Government."

- 2122 KING (William, Lord) Autograph Receipt for his Annuity, in fine state, 5s. - Aug. 13th, 1759

. This nobleman died unmarried, 16th April, 1767, when the peerage descended to his brother Thomas, ancestor of Earl Lovelace.

- 2123 KING (Thomas) the celebrated Actor, Autograph Letter to Dr. Hall, on his return from Bristol, relative to the Ramble, &c. with his portrait, 18s. - July 29th, 1769

- 2124 KING (Thomas) Another long and most interesting Autograph Letter to David Garrick, VERY RARE, 1l. 11s. 6d. 1778

- 2125 KING (Mr.) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Mrs. Damer, acknowledging the receipt of a copy of the Description of Strawberry Hill, agreeable to the kind remembrance of the late Earl of Orford, 5s. - Mansfield Street, 1797

- 2126 KING (Sir Richard) Autograph Letter, 3s. - 1820

- 2127 KINGSTON (Dr. Richard) long Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, beautifully written, 12s.

Westminster, July 14th, 1699

. Soliciting his arrears of pension; in which the writer states he has served his majesty faithfully above seven years, in a private capacity, without the least objection to his conduct, as appears by the certificates of three Secretaries of State, until I was made use of by the immediate command of the government, as a witness in three several trials, which had their effect, and was only paid a pension of five pounds per week by Lord Lucas, until within these two years and a half, which amounts to about six hundred pounds, which have been continually promised, &c. &c.—See under Lucas in this catalogue.

- 2128 KINGSTON (Margaret of Dorchester, Duchess of) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, 5s.

April, 1717

- 2129 KINNAIRD (Charles, Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, requesting his Lordship to attend a Meeting of the Scottish Nobility, with a view of trying to obtain for their order certain advantages granted by the Union of Ireland to the Peerage of that Kingdom, 6s. Edinburgh, Oct. 7, 1806

- 2130 KINNARD (Douglas) Autograph Note, 3s. - 1822

. A long and interesting letter relating to Lord Ossory's speech in the House of Lords, which was highly applauded in Dublin:—"I reflected upon some passages in this kingdom in the years 1646 and 1647, which I send you the transcript of, to descant upon it, but if you will call upon Dr. Floyd, who was compiling a narrative of the affairs of Ireland," (whom his lordship had furnished with some materials for that purpose,) "he will communicate them to you. As this relation relates only to the breach of the first peace, it will be necessary you should inspect the book published by Peter Walsh concerning the last; and besides, the good doctor can, I think, furnish you with the answer written at Cologne to the libel published at Paris about that time, by the titular bishop of Fernes (Nicholas French), but if he cannot, I am sure my Lord Clarendon can, and you will find in Peter Walsh's book several papers which passed between my lord and the Popish clergy, which will doubtless give great satisfaction," with other curious matter relating to passing of patents, remembrances to his noble friend Sir Edw. Dering, &c. A most curious historical letter, of the greatest interest to the Irish collector.

- 2167 LATIMER (Sir Thomas Osborne, Viscount) Autograph to a Treasury Warrant for the payment of 1000*l.* to John Wilmot, the witty Earl of Rochester, for his Pension as one of the Gentlemen of his Majestie's Bed-chamber, in fine state, 10s. 6d. - Jan. 22nd, 1673

- 2260 LINCOLN (Bishop of) Another Letter to Dr. Battine, franked, 15s. - - - 1807
- 2261 LINCOLN (Bishop of) Another Autograph Letter to Dr. Battine, 10s. 6d. - - - 1815

. The above learned prelate was translated to Winchester in 1820; his Elements of Christian Theology will be an everlasting monument to his memory. The above are pleasing memorials of so powerful a writer in the cause of Christianity.

- 2262 LINDLEY (Robt.) Violoncellist, Note to F. H. Horncastle, 3s. 1839
- 2263 LINDSAY (Thomas) Bishop of Killaloe, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, in fine state, 15s. Sept. 22, 1698

. An interesting, though distressing letter, relating to church property. The Rev. Prelate writes, that the society (of the Ulster Plantation) have seized and sold property of the Bishop of Derry to the amount of eight hundred pounds per annum, on which the reverend prelate justly observes, 'and who shall be secure in this state shortly, will be very uncertain, as the case now stands.'

- 2264 LINDSAY, Another Autograph Letter to the Secretary of State, 10s. 6d. - - - July 17, 1707

. An interesting specimen, relating to the Test Act, secret service money to Mr. Dawson and others, &c.

- 2265 LINDSAY, Another Letter to Rt. Hon. Edward Southwell, 15s. Dubl. July 19, 1707

. Detailing the proceedings in the Irish House of Commons upon the Test Clause—'They are like to break all to pieces in the House of Commons about money matters; for after Broderick and his party had promised the government a year and three quarters, besides paying off the debts, it being now found that there is no debt, they pretend only to give a year and a quarter, upon which, I hear, his excellency [the Earl of Pembroke] is much disgusted, as he had refused two years from our friends, only to oblige these gentlemen.'

- 2266 LINDSAY, Another Letter to the Rt. Hon. Edward Southwell, 12s. - - - Feb. 8th, 1710-11

. Relating to the celebration of the Queen's birth-day, acquittal of Campbell, the Presbyterian bookseller, for publishing a libel on the Queen, court, &c. &c

- 2267 LINDSAY, Another very interesting Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, Secretary of State for Ireland, 1*l.* 1*s.*
Dublin, Oct. 7th, 1707

* * * Relating to the Test Act. Thanks of the convocation to her majesty for all the good clauses to the security of the Church, prevention of the further growth of Popery. 'This bill never appeared in print, if he could darkly hint the reason should feel obliged.' Account of an Episcopal meeting at Aberdeen of 3000 people, 500 of whom had Common Prayer books. The Presbyterians all turned Jacobites, and that in their pulpits desire the people to read the Histories of Bruce and Wallace, those noble patriots, who freed you from the oppression of the English, &c.

- 2268 LINDSAY, Another most important Autograph Letter, of nine pages, closely written, to the Duke of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* Dublin, Nov. 23rd, 1710

* * * A most interesting account of the Trial of two Students, for taking the Truncheon out of the hand of King William's statue, with the sentence that they 'should, upon the Wednesday following, stand half an hour before the statue, with a tablet upon their breasts, expressing the crime for which they stood there, suffer half a year's imprisonment, and pay a fine of 100*l.* each.' The Rev. Prelate states the sentence to be cruel, and the effects of party spirit, and compares it with the trial of a person named Burgess, for saying if the Queen should invade his right he would cut her throat, of which trial the Bishop gives a long account, and draws also a comparison of the University of Cambridge being satisfied with the expulsion of Whiston for blasphemy and heresy, &c. &c.

- 2269 LINDSAY, Another Autograph Letter, as Archbishop of Armagh, to Mr. Secretary Southwell, 1*l.* 1*s.* Jan. 26, 1713

* * * Relating to the patent for making Primate Boyle Lord Almoner of Ireland, and forwarding a letter to be laid before Lord Bolingbroke. Informs him the Aldermen of Dublin had refused to come to an election upon the Lord Mayor's nomination, and the six Seniors and Sheriffs refusing to act at the Quarter Sessions, they are put off, &c. &c.

- 2270 LINLEY (Thomas) Autograph Note, forwarding a Play to the Lord Chamberlain to be licensed, 3*s.* April 10th, 1786

- 2280 LIVERPOOL, Another Autograph Note to George Chalmers, Esq. thanking him for his Chronological List of Works on East India Affairs, in fine state, 10*s.* 6*d.* - Feb. 1*st*, 1813
- 2281 LIVERPOOL, Another Autograph Note to the same, thanking him for Books, 8*s.* - - - 1814
- 2282 LIVERPOOL, Another Autograph Letter to the same, thanking him for a Turtle, in fine state, 7*s.*

. The above are most pleasing specimens of this illustrious statesman, who was born the 7th of June, 1770; married first the daughter of the Earl of Bristol; and secondly, the daughter of Charles Chester, Esq., niece of Lord Bagot; and died Dec. 1828.

- 2283 LIVINGSTON (Viscount) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relating to the Scottish Peerage, 5*s.*
Dumfries, April 6th, 1780

. A fine specimen of a rare autograph.

- 2284 LIVINGSTON (Lady) Autograph Note to the Earl of Middlesex, soliciting the Payment of her Annuity, with his Lordship's Autograph Order for the Payment of half of it, to bear her Ladyship's Expenses to the Queen of Bohemia, 10*s.* 6*d.*
17th May, 1623
- 2285 LOCKEY (Thomas) of Oxford, Autograph Letter, in Latin, to Constantine Huygens, in Verse and Prose, 5*s.*

. An interesting letter of well-phrased compliment. In it the writer professes his unwillingness to write verses after those very elegant ones he had just received, but had ventured at last to send them. The following occur in them,

'WOLSEII laceras ædes, præruptaque saxa
Carminibus certas ædificare tuis,
Et cum magnificis dicasses omnia verbis,
Si qua tamen lateant, hæc meliora putas.'

- 2286 LLOYD (Edw.) Author of the Archæologia Britannica, interesting Autograph Letter to Bishop Humphreys, relative to his forthcoming Publications, Welsh Pedigrees, Inscriptions, with copy of one, which the writer supposes to be a Prince of the name of Cadvan, &c. 18s.

Oxford, March 29th, 1697

- 2287 LLOYD (Edw.) Autograph Copies of Five interesting Letters to Mr. Lloyd, containing materials for his Archæologia Britannica, Lithopylacii Britanni Ichnographia, and British Dictionary, 2l. 2s. - - 1698-1702

* * * These letters contain considerable literary and scientific anecdote, and refer to Lhuyd's travels in Ireland and Scotland, showing the manner in which he travelled with assistants, &c. His name as a philologist and natural historian remains unimpeached, so that every inedited manuscript respecting him may be deemed desirable and interesting. In one he puts some queries whether marine fossils are mock shells formed in the earth. The Giant's Causeway, a place he reckons well worth his journey, whatever he met with besides. Enquiries relative to some fossil deer-horns found in Brecknockshire. The letter of Jan. 29, 1700, describes his travels in the Highlands of Scotland. Praises, in glowing terms, the civilities of the Highlanders. Inscriptions on Adrian's Wall, now called Greem's Dyke—had seen the Museum Balfourianum at Edinburgh, kindly received by Sir Robert Sibbald, and their industrious botanist, Mr. James Sutherland. Description of the large tumulus, or barrow, at New Grange, near Drogheda. Inscriptions on the early Irish crosses of the year 534, on the tomb of Gethus, King of the Picts, &c. The letter dated Galloway, July 8, 1700, states, 'as for animals, I have met with nothing I had not seen in England, excepting eagles, and a sort of plover.' The Philosophical Society at Oxford is, in that of May 22, 1702, spoken of as dissolved. Communicates some book, with alterations, 'to old Flaherty, who, unless it comes franked, will, I fear, be scarce able to pay postage.' Such was the extreme poverty of the Irish Historian.

- 2344 LUCAS (Lord) Lieutenant Governor of the Tower of London, Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, rare, 1l. 1s. Tower, July 14, 1699

. An interesting specimen, written in compassion of Dr. Kingston, who had been employed by the government in the secret service, (whose person having once been exposed in court to give evidence, was no longer fit for that service,) who, with a wife and nine children, was destitute for want of the arrears of his pension (see Kingston.) Prays the secretary to lay his petition before the King, &c.

- 2345 LUCAS (Lord) Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary
Blathwaite, 1*l.* 1*s.* - Tower, Aug. 25, 1699

. Another most praiseworthy letter, thanking the secretary for his letter, but is forced to be troublesome again, on behalf of the poor gentleman Doctor Kingston. Had given the letter to Mr. Secretary Lowndes, who had read it to the Lords of the Treasury; but they have done nothing in it, nor will, without a positive order. 'I humbly beg the King would order it, or else it will not be done; his circumstances are such, that if not helped spedely, he and his numerous family must perish for want, and that would be a hard case after such service,' &c.

- 2346 LUCAS (Lord) Another Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, thanking him for his Favours, in the case of the poor Dr. Kingston. There is no way but the King's positive order for to pay me so much money for secret services, which was the way it was done formerly; if this can be done, it will make a miserable Family easy, and add to the many Favours you have placed upon me, &c., 1*l.* 1*s.* Tower, Sept. 12th, 1699

. These letters of Lord Lucas, while governor of the Tower of London, are truly worthy the descendant of that pattern of loyalty who so nobly defended Colchester during its siege by the Parliament's army.

Court at Southwick, Aug. 13, 1628

- 2381 MACDONALD (Lady Margaret) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 4s. 6d. - - Nov. 25, 1768

. Relating to a portrait of her ladyship's son, whom his lordship describes as his accomplished young countryman, cut off in early blossom. Her ladyship was the daughter of Alexander Montgomerie, ninth earl of Eglinton, wife of Sir Alexander Macdonald, of Slate, and mother of the first Lord Macdonald.

- 2382 MACDONALD (Alex. first Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relating to the Volunteer Corps in Scotland, 5s.

. "I am not surprised that your lordship should take umbrage at the neglect with which the Caledonian Band is treated, and that the blood of your magnanimous progenitors should swell in your indignant veins with tumultuary fervour," &c.

- 2383 MACDONALD (Lord) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 5s. 6d. - - Sept. 30, 1784

. An interesting letter, relating to the fisheries of the Hebrides, &c. The noble writer proposes that the landholders should meet government half way, in order to make the services to the inhabitants general, with other interesting hints as to planting, building, smuggling, &c. His lordship's remembrances to Lady Buchan are very humorous. His lordship married the eldest daughter of Godfrey Bosville, Esq. of Gunthwaite, co. York, and grand-daughter maternally of Sir Wm. Wentworth, Bart. of Bretton.

- 2384 M'KELL (D.) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 4s. Guy Park, New York, Oct. 31, 1787

. Forwarding a vegetable for trial which grows wild in the woods of America, which the writer thinks will be found of service to spin with cotton, silk, or wool: if found to answer it may be cultivated to any extent. Sends his lordship notice of a large ancient horn found at Tioha, 7 feet long, and 22 inches round, which is presumed to be only half its entire length, &c.

- 2411 MALONE (Edmond) Autograph Letter to Isaac Reed, 6s. 6d.
Nov. 4.

. Requests a portrait of poor Seward, who, as he wrote verses sometimes, must place his print among his poets' heads. "It is not, however, I think, so like as it might easily have been." Various queries respecting Sir John Germaine, who marr. the Duchess of Norfolk in 1705—suspects he died in 1720, leaving his second wife, the famous Lady Betty Germaine, a good estate, &c.

- 2412 MANCHESTER (Edward Montagu, Earl of) Autograph Letter, as Lord Chamberlain, to Sir Edward Griffin, informing him Mr. Catton was appointed one of his Majesty's Harbingers, to take lodgings, according to his Majesty's command, for the Servants of the Princess Royal, and desiring that the Payments are made regularly, as the People and Servants are very clamorous, 15s. Hampton Court, 7 June, 1662

. The noble writer refused to sanction the murder of King Charles, and retired from parliament until the Restoration, in which he assisted, and at the meeting of peers voted for it, and was deputed by the lords as their speaker, to congratulate the King upon his return to his capital; a duty which the Earl eloquently fulfilled, at Whitehall, 29th May, 1660, concluding his address in these words:—"Great King, give me leave to speak the confidence, as well as the desires of the peers of England; be you the powerful defender of the Protestant faith, the just asserter and maintainer of the laws and liberties of your subjects, so shall judgment run down like a river, and justice like a mighty stream; and God, the God of your mercy, who hath so miraculously preserved you, will establish your throne in righteousness and in peace."

- 2413 MANCHESTER (Charles Montagu, Earl of) Autograph Letter to Mr. Montague, 15s. - Venice, Dec. 20, 1697

. An interesting letter, commencing with an account of his journey, the deep snow, &c., had at last fixed upon a house, though at a great price, nearly six hundred pounds for three months, had received his lady's letter, with an account of the king's entry, &c. The French ambassador hath been very forward in sending me a compliment, &c. Notice of Lord Portland's journey for France, Lord Lexington, trusts his embassy will meet the king's approbation, &c. Lords Anglesey and North, &c. are here. This nobleman, opposing the measure of James II., was one of the first who espoused the cause of the Prince of Orange, and he took an active part in the campaign of Ireland, being present at the battle of the Boyne and the subsequently unsuccessful siege of Limerick. In 1696 his lordship was appointed ambassador-extraordinary to the republic of Venice. He was afterwards created Duke of Manchester, and died 20th Jan. 1721-2.

- 2414 MANCHESTER (George Montagu, Duke of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, 12s. - Dec. 6th, 1776

. Informs his grace the Duchess of Northumberland died last night, which will cause a vacancy in Westminster. Wishes to know if any friend of our own side will offer, &c. &c.; if not, Capt. Luttrell would be ready. Speaks of strong support, if determined on immediately, &c.

- 2415 MANCHESTER (Duke of) Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, relative to his Negotiation in Paris, which gave him great pleasure to find his endeavours met with public approbation; his Proceedings under the late Ministry were much fettered, &c.; had sent letters of recommendation to all the Officers at Strasburgh for Mr. Byng's Son and Major Carnecross; solicits an Appointment for a Friend, and other particulars, &c. 15s. - Paris, 26th Aug. 1783

- 2417 MANCHESTER (Duke of) Another long Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, detailing the particulars of the heavy Expenses which his Grace found he should have to encounter in Paris, and requesting they may be laid before his Majesty, in order that he may make as respectable an appearance as the Ambassadors from other great Courts do in Paris, &c. 15s. - Paris, 10th May, 1783
- 2418 MANCHESTER (Duke of) Another long and interesting Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, headed by his Grace, private, relative to the Death of Mr. Maddison, and the Appointment of his Successor, which the noble writer wished to have been appointed in England, without any reference to him, not from any ostentation, but with a view to be consistent, the Gentlemen named by your Grace, I know no objection to except Mr. Gibbon (the Historian) which arises from his own creation. In the book he published he likened the present King of France to Arcadius or Honorius, the expression he used was offensive, and by some means the passage was shewed the King, who was so much hurt at it, that I am told when Mr. Gibbon was removed from the board of trade, the King remembered it and expressed satisfaction at his removal, &c. further states the King may have forgot it, but if he had not his reception would be cold, &c. recommends Mr. Walpole's son, which would oblige him and Lord Camden, &c. &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. - Paris, 11th Sept. 1783
- 2419 MANCHESTER (Duke of) Another long and most interesting Autograph Letter of five closely written pages, relative to his Negotiation with the various powers assembled in Paris, also relative to the Abuses in the Government of the East-India Affairs at home, and the crying Corruptions and Violences abroad, which have brought a disgrace upon our Country and call for an immediate and radical cure, the Reform must be real, and must be carried through, &c. and much other interesting matter on the subject, written in answer to an offer of going out as Governor of India, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d. Paris, 30th Sept. 1783
- 2420 MANCHESTER (Duke of) Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, informing his Grace the new Ministers had accepted office only conditionally to feel their ground, a very weak basis, 15s. - 20th Dec. 1783

. The noble writer married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir James Dashwood, of Kirtlington, in the county of Oxford, of whom he speaks in the highest terms in the above letter, and whose health appears the only objection against his accepting the governorship of India; his grace died the 2nd Sept. 1788.

- 2421 MANCHESTER (Duchess of) Autograph Note to the Duke of Portland, in favour of "a very honest and worthy creature with a large family," 5s. 6d. Huntly Lodge, 17th Oct. 1808

. The writer was daughter of Alexander Duke of Gordon.

- 2423 MANDER (Roger) Letter to Simon Ockley, to induce him to come to Oxford as a Teacher of the Oriental Tongues, strongly recommended by the Bishop of Bath and Wells, highly interesting, 10s. 6d. Baliol College, Dec. 29, 1701

. " 'Tis true here is no endowed place, but Dr. Abendana, who is lately dead, got a good livelihood by teaching lads Hebrew, &c., and I am persuaded, in a little time, something may be found out for the encouragement of both teacher and learners of that language."

- 2424 MANDEVILLE (Henry Montagu, Viscount) afterwards Earl of Manchester, Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Pye, directing him to strike three Tallies for Mr. Jacobs for the Bills of Import, &c. 10s. 6d. - - 1620

- 2425 MANDEVILLE (Viscount) Another Autograph to a Treasury Warrant for the Payment of 500*l.* to William Anes, for his care in advancing his Majesty's Revenue in the Importation of Tobacco, a beautiful specimen, 10s. 6d. May 1st, 1621

- 2426 MANDEVILLE (Viscount) Another Autograph to a Warrant for the Payment of 300*l.* to Paulo Marco, for his Diet as Polish Ambassador, 7s. 6d. - Whitehall, June 9th, 1621

. The noble writer was distinguished as a parliamentary orator. He represented the city of London, was appointed lord chief justice of the court of King's Bench in 1620, constituted lord high treasurer and elevated to the peerage as Viscount Mandeville the same year, and created Earl of Manchester in 1626. His lordship married Catherine, daughter of Sir William Spencer of Yarnton, in Oxfordshire, third son of Sir John Spencer of Althorp.

- 2427 MANLEY (Vice-Admiral) Letter, 3s. 6d. Braziers, July 15, 1822

- 2477 MARSH (Narcissus) Archbishop of Armagh, Lord Primate of Ireland, Autograph Letter to the Duke of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 1l. 1s.

Dublin, 13th Nov. 1711

. A most extraordinary state letter, in which the Primate states, 'When we signed the representation to her Majesty the other night, it was so long put off, that we were forced to sit up almost all night to do it; and at that time it was suggested some things were contained in it, that might be interpreted to encroach on her Majesty's prerogative, and therefore it would be advisable before signing it, to have the opinion of counsel upon that point. But the bishops apprehending no such danger, and suspecting the objection was made to defer the signing of it that night, &c. they resolved then to proceed. Howsoever, least there should be any thing therein offensive to her Majesty, I declare that I designed no such thing, and do protest against, &c. Wherefore I throw myself at her Majesty's feet, beseeching her pardon, and submitting to her will and pleasure, if in any thing I have offended, &c.; I humbly beg your grace, favour and protection in this case,' &c.

- 2478 MARY I., QUEEN OF ENGLAND, Autograph and Seal to a Treasury Warrant, ordering the payment of 2000l. to Matthew Colthurst, appointed Treasurer of the Wars against the Rebels, with his Receipts for the same, of Richard Stonley, in fine state, 4l. 4s. Palace of Westminster, Jan. 31st, 1552

. A most desirable specimen of this very rare autograph, signed 'Marye the Queene.'

- 2479 MARY II., QUEEN OF ENGLAND, Autograph to a Treasury Order for the payment of 3795l. to Josiah Ordway, Gentleman, by way of Gratuity for pains and charges in the advancing several sums of Money for our service, with autographs also of Sidney Lord Godolphin, Richard Hampden, Esq., Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Stephen Fox, in fine state, 1l. 5s.

- 2502 MAULE (Henry) Bishop of Dromore, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edward Southwell, 6s.
Maherlin, Sept. 5, 1732

. An interesting, candid, friendly epistle, in reply to Mr. Southwell's solicitation for a clergyman of another diocese. In one part the worthy prelate says, 'I found here, unprovided for, nine curates, good men and true; one of them grown grey in the service, having toiled thirty-five years in the church, and yet not above a forty-pounder. What can I say then? What can I do for this deserving man of another diocese? I am sure my friend will not think it can be done suddenly,' &c. 'Yet as the old heart-of-oak prelate of his own diocese is to be with me, attack him I will, and likewise his premier, on Mr. Lanergan's account.'

- 2503 MAULE (Henry) Bishop of Dromore, Another Autograph Letter to the Rev. Mr. Lanergan, 6s.

Maherlin, July 14th, 1735

. Another interesting letter of this eminent prelate, in the cause of charity, to the clergyman for whom he had promised to attack his brother prelates in the above letter; soliciting in behalf of a poor widow, who has fallen into decay, and deserves the relief of a place in Mr. Southwell's alms-house, at Down. When I tell you the poor woman refreshed mine and my relations' spirits one night with clean straw and warm stirabout, when we fled there after the breach of Dromore, I need not plead more to induce your regard for this poor woman. Informs him nineteen of the English bishops have subscribed to the charter. Lords Blundel and Shelburn have sent in fifty pounds each, many of the absentee nobility have come in, &c.

- 2504 MAULE (Hen. W.) Autograph Letter to J. Perry, Editor of the Morning Chronicle, relative to Politics and to the difference between the Duke of Northumberland and the Duke of York, 15s. - - 1813

- 2525 MELVILL (Gen. Robt.) Another Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - - - ib. Oct. 14, 1788

. An interesting letter, relating to the Celtic, Biscayan, Armoric, or Welsh, and Gaelic languages. The general appears to have been very desirous of establishing a professorship for teaching the Celtic in Edinburgh, and concludes with an apology for the body of the letter not being his own hand, from the weakness of his sight, owing to his having been blown up in the attack of a French post at Guadaloupe; an interesting memorial of the sufferings of a brave officer. The subscription and signature are in his autograph.

- 2526 MELVILL (Gen. Robt.) Another Letter to the Earl of Buchan, on the study of the Celtic Language, &c. 6s. - ib. Oct. 25, 1788

. These letters are very interesting to the Scottish antiquary, as well as philologist and autograph collector.

- 2527 MELVILL (Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, on the publication of manuscripts relating to the antiquities of Scotland, &c. 7s. - - May 12, 1789

. Endorsed by the Earl of Buchan, "The worthy General Melvill, for his kindness to his poor countrymen at London, his Botanical Institution in the West Indies, his Classical Naval Tactics, has deserved to be honourably recorded." His lordship appears to have been a very zealous advocate for the cause of literature in general, and for the publication of the early Scottish history in particular.

- 2528 MENNIS (Sir John) the Poet, John Viscount Brouncker, and Thomas Middleton, Autographs as Commissioners of the Navy, for the payment of certain Monies for Stores, &c. in fine state, 1l. 1s. - - Feb. 29, 1667 2533 METHUEN (John) Four Autograph Letters, beautifully written, to the Duke of Ormond, and to Mr. Blathwayte, Secretary at War, detailing the movements of the French fleet, also relating to his appointment as one of the Commissioners of Trade, and other interesting matters, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Lisbon, May to August, 1696

*. * The writer was, in the reigns of King William III. and Queen Anne, successively chancellor of Ireland and ambassador to Portugal; and was the framer of that celebrated treaty for the mutual interchange of port wine and woollen manufactures, which has subsisted till within a few years.

2534 METHUEN (Sir Paul) Beautiful Autograph Letter to the Hon. Bryan Fairfax, in exquisite preservation, 10s. 6d.

Bath, May 26, 1740

*. * Flatters himself that the king got safe to Holland, without meeting with a damned home-blowing easterly wind, that sprung up again here yesterday morning. Remarks on Mr. Paris's sale of pictures; is delighted at Lord Burlington's good luck in buying two such pretty pictures, so cheap, &c.

Sir Paul Methuen, son of the preceding, was a much-esteemed minister of Queen Anne, and of King George I., one of the secretaries of state, envoy to various states, ambassador to Madrid, and comptroller of the household; and was trusted and regarded as a man of the highest honour and uncompromising integrity. He possessed distinguished taste in the fine arts, and formed a very extensive collection of pictures during his residence in Italy, and other courts.

2535 MEUX (T.) Autograph Note to T. Hill, wishing him to call upon him, and inquiring if he will accompany him to hear the Hon. Baptist Noel, the celebrated Preacher, brother to Lord Barham, of whom the writer speaks in the highest terms, 7s.

Sunday, July 15th.

- 2556 MIDDLETON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to King Charles II.
1*l.* 5*s.* - - Lintz, March 22nd, 1681

. A long and very interesting letter. His lordship was at this period ambassador to the court at Vienna, and states he had not ventured to trouble his majesty from hence; still expecting your commands to enter upon the business, when your majesty shall be pleased to judge the conjuncture proper for it. Having entirely devoted my whole life to your majesty's service, shall at all times, and in all places or employments, most willingly attend it; and the only reason he wished to be recalled was, that without supplies he could not subsist, —states to his majesty that his lordship had no means of his own, his pension in Scotland having been stopped from his not choosing to engage in any cabals or factions, but to live with a dutiful submission to your will, and ever ready to lay down his life for his majesty's service, &c. Solicits his arrears, upwards of 1400*l.* &c.

- 2557 MIDDLETON (Earl of) Autograph Letter to his Lady, a beautiful specimen, 1*l.* 1*s.* - - 1702

. A long and very interesting letter, of four closely written pages, requesting his lady to entreat the queen's permission to retire from court and all public employment for the remainder of his life. Hopes the queen will have the charity to consent, whereby her majesty will reward him more than by all the glittering titles men contend for. His lordship gives a complete and very serious view of the life of a courtier, pregnant with vice and enmity. In one part he, most Christian-like, says,—‘I thank God I have heartily forgiven my enemies —abandoning all for the only thing necessary, is the surest and safest way of working out my own salvation, in contributing to that of others,’ &c.

- 2558 MIDDLETON (Conyers) Letter in Italian to Professor Gori at Florence, 18*s.* - Rome, March 18, 1723-4

. Apologizes for not answering his first letter, having received it in the time of the carnival. It relates to antiquities, and is a very desirable specimen of a scarce autograph, in beautiful condition.

- 2559 MIDDLETON.—Letter, signed by Lord Chancellor Midleton, to Edward Southwell, Esq., stating that Lord Kinsale had exhibited his Bill against Southwell, in the High Court of Chancery, 7*s.* 6*d.* - Dublin, Oct. 1724

. Viscount Midleton, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, was the famous Alan Brodrick. No man was more distinguished in Ireland in his day.

- 2560 MILD MAY (Sir Walter) Autograph to a Treasury Order for the Payment of Robert Petre his Salary for making out the Warrants for the said Office, a fine specimen, 10*s.* 6*d.*
July 8th, 1572

. The writer was principal councillor, chancellor and treasurer to Queen Elizabeth, married the sister of Sir Francis Walsingham, and died 11th May, 1589, leaving two sons, Sir Antony and Sir Humphrey; the daughter of the former married Francis Fane, Earl of Westmorland.

- 2561 MILD MAY (Sir Henry) Autograph Receipt for his Salary as Master of his Majesty's Jewel House, witnessed by John Powell, in fine state, 10*s.* 6*d.* - May 13th, 1648
2562 MILD MAY (Sir Henry) Another Autograph Receipt for his Fees out of the Exchequer, 10*s.* 6*d.* - 1648
2563 MILD MAY (Sir Henry) Another Autograph Receipt for his Salary as Master of the Jewel House to King Charles I., in fine state, 10*s.* 6*d.* - - Oct. 4th, 1652

- 2564 MILD MAY (Sir Ant.) Autograph Letter to Sir John Stanhope, a long and interesting specimen, in fine preservation, 10s. 6d.
Paris, March 6th, 1596

. Notices his having written letters to the Earl of Essex, which he is desirous of knowing how they were received, relating to the stoppage of the passages in the cantons, and the people coming from Italy; states he would not wish her majesty to scribe with the Queen of Spain, but of the Protestant cantons he writes in favour of. Notices the taking of Amiens by the Spaniards; trusts her majesty will take pity on him, and allow him to return home and sleep at peace with his forefathers, from this dangerous place, &c. &c. The writer was ambassador to the court of France at this period. He married the daughter of Sir Henry Sherington, of Lacock, in Wiltshire.

- 2565 MILES (Dr. H.) Letter to Mr. David Wilson, Edinburgh,
6s. 6d. Tooting, Feb. 4, 1747-8

. Relates to Bp. Pearson's Exposition on the Creed, which was re-published about this period; and the possibility of certain manuscripts remaining in the possession of Lady Brand. "I am satisfied that were the writings of this excellent person better known, bad as the world is, they would not lie on hand." The paucity of subscriptions is thus accounted for: "I am sensible the great numbers of sermons that have been published, and are publishing by subscription, must be one great hinderance." It is altogether an interesting literary letter.

- 2566 MILLARD (Rev. Charles) Autograph Letter to the Bishop of Norwich, relative to his Fees, as Chaplain to his Lordship,
3s. April 26, 1811

- 2567 MILLER (Will.) Autograph Letter to the Editors of the Monthly Mirror, with Autograph Poem, entitled Wolfenstein
 Castle, 5s. (1798)

- 2568 MILLES (Jer.) Author of the Inscriptiones Antiquæ, Autograph Letter to T. Barrett, Esq., Lee Priory, 5s.
May 29, 1773

. Relative to the gold seal of Edmund Crouchback, son of Henry III., with notices of Mr. Pegge's remarks upon it, &c. Also inquiries respecting another curious piece formerly in the collection of Mr. Barrett's father, which the writer trusts he will oblige the Society of Antiquarians with a sight of, &c. An interesting letter to the antiquarian.

- 2569 MILLINGEN (James) F. A. S. Autograph Note to Taylor
 Combe, Esq., respecting some Books, 3s. May 12, 1817

- 2570 MINSTRELS.—Autograph of King Henry VIII. to a Warrant for delivering to Baltazar Robert, one of our Minstrels, three yards and a half of scarlet for a cloak, and three yards of black velvet for the bordering of the same, 1l. 5s.

Castle of Windsor, Nov. 7, 1513

- 2571 MINSTRELS.—Autograph of King Henry VIII. to a Warrant for delivering to "Blind Dick," William Kechyn, and Thomas Evans, our Minstrels, a gown each of tawney, furred with black Irish lamb, doublet of black damask, lined with white fustian; a coat of freis [frieze] lined with white cotton, two shirts of white "draught werke," one pair of tawney hose, and one bonnet, "price forty pence the bonett," 1l. 8s.

Castle of Windsor, Dec. 5, 1513

. These notices of the Royal Minstrels are of great interest.

- 2572 MINT (Royal).—Account of Charles Anthony, the King's Graver of the Mynte, for Making and Graving of Seales and Vignette for Queen Elizabeth and the King's Majesty, upon his first coming to the Crowne, a Great Seal for the Realme of England, &c., from May 22nd, 1600, until 30th Sept. 1609, a curious and interesting paper, in fine preservation, with autograph of Francis Goston, auditor, 10s. 6d.

Nov. 21st, 1621

- 2573 MISSON (Jacques) Autograph Letter, in French, to Sir Robt. Southwell, 7s. - Badminton, Oct. 17, 1687

 Transmitting some work on Rhetoric which Sir Robert had desired to see, thanking him for his letters, &c. Characters of some persons who had applied to be hired as servants for Sir Robert, &c. My Lord Duke of Ormond had gone to London to wait on the King.

A postscript adds, 'Sir, I present my most humble service to you, and to your son, ARTHUR SOMERSET.' This was the young Lord Somerset, to whom Misson was tutor.

- 2574 MISSON (Jacques) Another Autograph Letter, in French, to Sir Robt. Southwell, 5s. Badminton, Nov. 2, 1687

 Relative to some writings on Syllogisms, Logic, &c. Notices of the arrival of Lord Thomond; departure of the Duke of Ormond for London, &c.

- 2576 MITCHELSON (Capt. James) Letter to General Murray, 5s. Edinb. May 9, 1761

 Thanking the general for the interest he has taken in his affairs. Describes the situation of the general's friends in Scotland; the names of the sixteen Peers elected for the ensuing Parliament, &c.

- 2577 MITFORD (Miss) celebrated Authoress, signature from a letter, 3s.

- 2578 MOLESWORTH (Lady Mary) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, with Autograph of Will. Hill, Esq. 5s. 6d. - - - 2nd Jan. 1716

- 2579 MOLESWORTH (Dr. Coote) Autograph Letter to Col. Congreve, 10s. 6d. - - - Chichester, April 30, 1764

 A most beautiful letter of thanks to the Colonel and his lady for their kind assistance during their late sufferings; the letter has a note on the back in the Colonel's autograph, relating to the sad misfortune by fire at his sister-in-law's, lady Molesworth, who perished in the flames with her brother, two daughters, and four others of her family. The Doctor and his lady were saved by throwing themselves out of a window.

- 2580 MOLLESON (Alex.) Autograph Letter to the Editor of the Monthly Mirror, with copy of verses written by him on seeing a venerable tree, in Glasgow College Garden, fall, 15s. 1799

- 2581 MONCK (George) Duke of Albemarle, Autograph Letter to Colonel Alured, in fine preservation, VERY RARE, 2l. 2s.

March 15, 1659

- 2582 MONCKTON (Sir Robert) Governor of New York, Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d. New York, March 22, 1761

. 'They say there are as great preparations for war in England as ever. Martinico and the Mississippi are talked of; and that some of us are to have a share in them.' An admirable letter, depicting the state of parties in England at this period.

- 2583 MONMOUTH (Duke of).—Treasury Order for the Payment of 3000*l.* to the Duke of Monmouth, Master of his Majesty's Horse, for extraordinary Provision of Coaches, &c. for the Service of the King and Queen, *with autographs of Arthur Capel, Earl of Essex, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Sir J. Ernle, and Sidney afterwards Lord Godolphin; the Duke of Monmouth was beheaded in 1685, 1*l.* 1s.* - 1679

- 2584 MONMOUTH (Charles Mordaunt, Earl of) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, 1*l.* 1s. Newcastle, June 9, 1689

. An interesting letter of this eminent nobleman, relating to his regiment, which his lordship states after coming from Oxford, was the best in England, although when the King saw it, it was one of the worst, from the drafts sent out of it to the Duke of Marlborough, and others forced into huts with those that had the small-pox upon them; all the clothes his lordship had kept in town, that they should not be spoiled, so that the King has reason to like them, &c.; in order to put them in good condition, his lordship wishes they may be removed to Salisbury, which Lord Roscommon's regiment had just left. Requests Mr. Secretary to inform the General of the promise that they may have the arms left at Portsmouth by the Irish, in exchange for those they have, which are of a different bore, and not fit for service, &c.

- 2585 MONMOUTH (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Blathwaite, by express, with enclosures, an interesting specimen, 12s. - - March 24, 1689

. The noble writer, known better as the great Earl of Peterborough, having succeeded his uncle Henry in 1697, is a name that will live for ever in the pages of naval and military history. In 1705 he was sent to Spain as Commander-in-Chief of the English forces, and Joint-Admiral of the fleet, with the brave Sir Cloudesley Shovel. His Lordship took Barcelona with a very small army, and drove the Duke of Anjou, with the French army of 25,000 men, out of Spain; his own forces never amounted to 10,000 men. Many other extraordinary proofs of his great valour, prudence, and conduct in military affairs, are recorded in the pages of English history.

- 2586 MONMOUTH (Earl of).—Autographs of Sir John Lowther, afterwards Viscount Lonsdale, R. Hampden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stephen Fox, and T. Pelham, to an Order for the payment of certain monies to the Earl of Monmouth in right of his Lady, on her Annuity as one of the Maids of Honour to her Majesty, the now Queen Dowager, &c. 8s. 6d. 17th April, 1690

- 2587 MONRO (Lieut. Col.) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq. 12s. - - Edinburgh, Oct. 14, 1689

. Desiring Blathwaite's assistance to speak to his Majesty for an order for ships for despatching down clothes and arms for the second battalion of their Majesties' royal regiment of foot, now levied in Scotland, and under his command, &c. 'I doe really think if I had clothes and arms, I can show as good a battalion of young fellows and good bodies of men, as has been leavied in this place these several years by past, and not a man amongst them all but volunteers, though I might have made a great parte of the battalion with prisoners who are lying here in goales,' &c. &c.

- 2588 MONSON (Sir William) and Margaret Countess Dowager of Nottingham's Autographs to a Receipt for the Annuity granted to the said Countess, fine specimens, 7s. 6d.

- 2589 MONTAGU (Ralph Earl of, and afterwards Duke of) Two highly interesting Autograph Letters to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, beautiful and most desirable specimens, 3l. 3s.

July and Aug. 1696

. These important letters implore Blathwaite's assistance with his Majesty, to whom the Duke had written to reprieve one White, sentenced to death for clipping and coining. His Grace states the convict to be a seal cutter, and a very ingenious man, formerly a very intimate friend of one Mr. Strode, one of the most material witnesses for my Lord of Bath to the deede, by which he claims the Duke of Albemarle's estates contrarye to his will. The convict having been very instrumental in discovering the makeing of the seale, and several other matters, to induce the judges and jurye not to find the deede a good deede, which has so incensed my Lord Bath's agents, that in malice and revenge they have set up this accusation, and the said Strode appeared against him as having made coins in Strode's own house, &c. His Grace also states, that if the poor man is spared until his Majesty's return, his Grace dare be answerable to satisfye his Majesty of the maliciousnesse of the prosecution, and various other particulars.

- 2590 MONTAGU (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq., desiring his Majesty's leave of absence for Capt. Pujolas to accompany his Grace's son to Holland, 8s.

June 4, 1698

- 2591 MONTAGU (Earl of) Another Letter to Mr. Blathwaite, a beautiful specimen of a very scarce autograph, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Aug. 2nd, 1698

. Recommendatory of Mr. Cleyton, a very honest gentleman, and true to the government. The noble writer married, first, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Wriothesley, Earl of Southampton, widow of Joceline Percy, Earl of Northumberland; and secondly, Elizabeth, daughter of H. Cavendish, Duke of Newcastle, widow of the Duke of Albemarle.

- 2592 MONTAGU (George Brudenell, Duke of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, informing his Grace that he will be in Town in time to attend Parliament, but in case of any unforeseen accident encloses his Proxy, which he can give to Lord Onslow or Lord Waldegrave, 10s. 6d.

Cowdray, 8th Dec. 1783

- 2593 MONTAGU (Lord Charles) Autograph Letter to his Brother the Duke of Manchester, relative to his Regiment being likely to be broke up, and his desire to go to the East-Indies, for which Service he could raise a Battalion, wishes a Recommendation to Lord Cornwallis, who is going out as Governor; or a Government in the West-Indies, is willing to undergo any hardship or fatigue in any climate; shall send his Son to Germany; gives directions for the Sale of a Living in Berkshire, and the Produce to be given to Lady Herbert for the Education of his Daughter, &c. &c. 10s. 6d.

New-York, 12th April, 1783

- 2594 MONTAGU (Lady Barbara) Two Autograph Letters to S. Richardson, with replies, relative to some Chronological, Historical, and Geographical Cards, 8s.

Bath Easton, Feb. 21 and 26, 1759

. In one of her ladyship's letters, she requests a hundred sets down to try their fate at Bristol.

- 2595 MONTAGU (Mrs.) Autograph Note to the Proprietors of the Monthly Mirror, relative to the publishing her Portrait in that Work, 10s. 6d. - - - 1798

. The writer was the celebrated actress Miss Ray, the subject of Croft's Love and Madness.

- 2596 MONTAGU (Basil) Editor of the last Edition of Lord Bacon's Works, and Author of various Treatises, Autograph Note to the Proprietors of the Monthly Mirror, thanking them for some proof impressions of the Medallion of Mrs. Montagu, his Mother, 7s. - - - 1798

- 2597 MONTAGU (Basil) Another Autograph Note to ditto, relative to their publishing the Memoirs of Mrs. Montagu, formerly Miss Ray, the celebrated Actress, 10s. 6d. - 1798

- 2598 MONTAGU (Basil) Another Autograph Note to J. Perry, 3s. n.d.

- 2599 MONTAGU (Mrs.) Wife to the above eminent Barrister and Author, long and interesting Autograph Letter to J. Perry, Editor of the Morning Chronicle, with Paragraph for the Chronicle upon an Afflicting Circumstance, 10s. 6d. 1814

- 2600 MONTAGU (Mrs.) Another most interesting Autograph Letter to the same, on the Death of his Wife, 10s. 6d. 1815

- 2601 MONTUCCI (Ant.) Autograph Letter to the Editor of the Monthly Mirror, relative to his Works, 3s. - 1801

- 2602 MONTGOMERY (Jas.) the Poet, long and interesting Autograph Letter, relative to his Poems, and to a Bibliographical Article of his forthcoming, &c. &c. 1l. 1s. - 1806

- 2603 MONTGOMERIE (Hugh Lord) Autograph and Seal to a Letter to Sir Vincent Skinner, directing payment of the Keepers of the Forests of Blackmore and Pens, 7s. 6d. Feb. 14, 1607

. The noble writer obtained a charter in 1611, settling this earldom upon the Seton family, ancestors of the Earl of Eglinton, who assumed the name of Montgomerie.

- 2604 MONTGOMERIE (Alexander Lord, afterwards Earl of Eglinton) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Secretary at War, 12s.

Berwicke, Sept. 14, 1687

. A curious and interesting letter to the county collector, relating to the difference between the town and the soldiers, the former having trusted the privates, notwithstanding the proclamation to the contrary, and refused to give a general discharge until paid, &c.

- 2605 MONTGOMERIE (Lord) Another Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq. Secretary at War, 1l. 1s. Hull, Sept. 12th, 1688

. An interesting letter at this important period of English history. In it the writer states, had received the king's orders, which shall be obeyed. Particulars relating to Captain Wolseley. 'I am concerned he should be guilty of so high a misdemeanor, had the relation from the Mayor of Scarborough his own mouth, &c. Have very severe dealing at Hull,' &c. &c.

- 2606 MONTGOMERIE (Lord) Another interesting Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, 1l. 1s. Hull, Sept. 29th, 1688

. Relating to the army then at Hull and its neighbourhood, with its movements, preparation for defence of the town, &c. &c. 'I am confident we shall make a most vigorous defence. I dare answer for all those under my command, that they shall cheerfully spill their blood in his majesty's service; the same character, in justice, I must give the Scotch battalion,' &c. &c.

- 2607 MOORE (Sir W.) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, relating to the alarming Indisposition of his Wife, Lady Catherine Moore, Niece to Sir Robert, 3s.

Rosse, Jan. 21st, 1684

- 2608 MOORE (Major Robert) Long and interesting Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell. 'Sorry Mr. Pelham should be surprised or wonder at my unwillingness to pay the money ordered, which rather than do I shall give up my majority to them that honoured me with it, and never let it be said I have dishonoured the character by submitting to so unprecedented a hardship,' 6s. Gibraltar, Oct. 29, 1729

. A spirited and well-written letter. The writer observes, in conclusion, 'It's very true we keep the peace here, and at Seville, but such a peace I never yet saw. We are still closely blockaded, and God alone knows when we shall have port liberty.'

- 2609 MOORE (Major Robert) Another Autograph Letter to Edward Southwell, enclosing a Plan of the Trench or Works the Spaniards are casting up at their lines of huts. What it may turn out to at last none but Mons. Patine can tell; but they certainly use lime and stone in the work, which shows they intend it to last. Please to communicate the plan to none but your friends, for I know not what handle may be made, should it be known I sent over such a thing at this time,' an interesting letter, 6s. Gibraltar, Nov. 28, 1730

- 2610 MOORE (Dr. John) Autograph Letter to Rev. Edw. Bentham, Brother of the Ely Historian, respecting the delay he has occasioned to his Warrant being prepared, which the Duke of Marlborough thinks unreasonable, and intends communicating his opinion on the subject to Mr. Grenville, 7s. 6d.

Salt Hill, May, 1768

- 2611 MOORE, Another Autograph Letter to Lord Bateman, informing him of the progress of Lord Robert during their Tour on the Continent, &c. 6s. Brussels, Aug. 8th, 1766

- 2612 MOORE, Another Autograph Letter to Lord Bateman, a friendly letter, 5s. - - - (1766)

- 2613 MOORE, Another Letter of four pages, when Bishop of Bangor, to Rev. Edw. Bentham, relating to the Bill, restraining the Americans in the Fishery, which was passed in the House of Lords without Debate; notices also the illness of Bishop Markham's Children, &c. 10s. 6d. - March 20, 1775

- 2614 MOORE, Another Letter of four pages, to the same, relating to the Ordination of a Student of Christ Church, also concerning Lord Radnor's Protest, on the First Reading of the Manchester Playhouse Bill, &c. 10s. 6d. May 15, 1775

2615 MOORE, Another Letter to Rev. Edw. Bentham, a pleasing specimen, 4s. - - July 26th, 1771

2616 MOORE, Another Autograph Letter, as Archbishop of Canterbury, to the Earl of Buchan, 12s. London, April 19, 1783

. In answer to his lordship's application for an expected vacancy in Bishop Warner's exhibitions, to which the learned prelate states he can have no claim until he was confirmed, when he should be happy in giving an early proof of his respect to the earl, &c. The above autograph is probably unique, being signed J. Cantuar. Elect. before his installation.

2617 MOORE, Another Autograph and Seal, to a Petition to the Lord High Almoner, in favour of E. Morris, 5s. Feb. 2, 1789

. The preceding are all pleasing specimens to the autograph collector. The writer, who was Dean of Canterbury, was elected Bishop of Bangor in 1774, and translated to Canterbury in 1783.

2618 MOORE (George) Autograph Letter to the Editor of the Monthly Mirror, with poem, entitled, The Negro, 5s. 1801

2619 MOORE (Thos.) the Poet, Autograph Letter to Lady Holland, a pleasing specimen, 10s. 6d. - Wednesday.

2620 MOORE (Thomas) Another long and most interesting Autograph Letter to William Lynch, Esq., thanking him for a copy of his book, and in reply to some observations upon the productions of the writer, 1l. 1s.

Sloperton, May 7th, 1835

. A most interesting specimen of this highly-gifted poet, in which he says, "You seem to be apprehensive that my telling some historical truths to my countrymen may injure my reputation with them, but I have too high an opinion of them to sympathize with you in that alarm."

2621 MORDAUNT (Col. Harry) Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, complaining of his Officers taking too great liberties in absenting themselves from their posts, but being too good-natured to be at the head of a regiment of foot is the reason of it; requests an order may be sent privately to him to prevent it, 6s. - - Jan. 1, 1694

. The writer of this letter was brother to the famous Charles Earl of Peterborough.

2622 MORDAUNT (General Sir John) Long and Interesting Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d. - Bevis Mount, July 7th.

. Glad to hear of the General's desire to return home; parliamentary manœuvre to secure the colonelcy of an old regiment; "this winter will, in all events, produce a peace. Both nations are out of breath, and out of cash, and seem equally weary of the war. Do not let that Will o' the Wisp, ambition, keep you longer from your friends. What's life without indulging in happiness?"

2623 MORDAUNT (Sir John) Another Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d. - - March 22nd, 1764

. Begs to assure him that he had done every thing in his power to serve his relation, "but delays in ministers are the natural consequences of party squabbles, and half their time is taken up in preventing their antagonists from getting possession of their places. 'Tis impossible to conceive how high party rages at present; and if strangers were to judge of this nation by the daily papers and pamphlets, they would think every man in this island was a knave or a fool. The parliament rises at Easter. I groan at losing so much of the spring in town, but am become a pupil of Candide's philosophy, and conclude, tout est pour le mieux."

2624 MORDANT (Lestrange) of Little Massingham, Norfolk, Autograph to a Power of Attorney to receive Fifty Pounds, lent by him to his Majesty, 10s. 6d. - 1608

2625 MORE (Jacob) Landscape Painter, long Autograph Letter to his Sister, Mrs. Simpson, 7s. 6d. Rome, Dec. 28th, 1790

. Informs her he had been very fortunate in finding some capital pictures of great masters; had purchased some very fine, including the original picture of Belisarius, by Vandyke, a copy of which is in the Duke of Devonshire's collection; it is a wonderful picture; it was painted for the family of Nunez, &c. Mentions others of Raphael; had let the Earl of Bristol have one of St. Lawrence for 100 guineas, &c. An interesting letter to the admirer of the fine arts.

2626 MORICE (Sir Will.) Receipt for 462*l.* One Quarter's Rent due from Daniel O'Neale, Farmer of the Post Office, in fine state, 5s. - - July 15th, 1664

2627 MORLAND (Sir Samuel) Author of the History of the Evangelical Churches in Piedmont, &c. Autograph to a Blank Form, dated and signed, a beautiful specimen to insert in his History, upon the same size paper, very clean, 1*l.* 1s. 1672

2628 MORLAND (Sir Sam.) Two other Autographs, upon blank paper, dated, with the word Received and the Sum, being his Pension as Mathematical Master, in fine state, a most beautiful specimen to accompany his portrait by Lombart, 1*l.* 8s. - - - 1673

2629 MORLAND (Sir Sam.) Another Autograph Receipt for his Annuity out of the Tenths of the Clergy of the County of Lincoln, in fine state, 10s. 6d. - Jan. 18th, 1676

2630 MORLAND (Sir Sam.) Another Autograph Receipt for Seven Hundred Pounds, in consideration of his good Services to his Majesty, in fine state, 15s. - March 27th, 1682

2631 MORLAND (Sir Sam.) Another Autograph to an Exchequer Receipt for 150*l.* out of the Tenths of the Clergy, 1*l.* 1s. 1695

. The writer "was Master of Mechanics to King Charles II. and a man of considerable celebrity in his day," author of the History of the Evangelical Churches in the Valleys of Piedmont, which he undertook at the request of Archbishop Usher. He published other works.

2632 MORLAND (George) the celebrated Artist, curious Autograph Letter to his Mother, 1*l.* 1s. Margate, Dec. 20, 1785

2633 MORRIS (D. E.) Proprietor of the Haymarket Theatre, Autograph Letter to T. Hill, Esq. 5s. - 1824

2634 MORRISON (Dr.) Autograph Note, presenting a copy of his small Work on the Chinese Language, 5s. Sept. 15, 1825

2635 MORTIMER (Capt.) Letter to Mr. Blathwayte, had received his order to continue where he is till further orders, 'which is obeyde; but request when wee remove from hence our marches will not be soe long, for itt will kill the poore horses,' 5s. - Shaftesbury, Aug. 12, 1690

2636 MORTON (Thos.) celebrated Dramatist, Autograph Letter to T. Hill, 5s.

- 2637 MORTON (George Douglas, Earl of) Letter to H. F. Grobecker, Page of the Back Stairs to her late Majesty Queen Charlotte, ordering his attendance in full dress, black, at the Interment of her late most excellent Majesty, of blessed memory, in the Royal Chapel of S. George, within the Castle of Windsor, 3s. 6d. - Nov. 28, 1818
- 2638 MORTON (George Sholto Douglas, Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, soliciting his Lordship's Vote at the Election for Representative Peers of Scotland, 5s. Dalmahoy, March 3, 1828
- 2639 MOSCHELES (J.) celebrated Musician, Autograph Note, 3s. 1838
- 2640 MOSTIN (Capt. William) Privy Council Order for the payment of certain Monies to relieve the said Captain Mostin from the Gatehouse, Westminster, for his Services, with autographs of Lord Chancellor Egerton, Robert Devereux, Earl of Essex, beheaded in 1600, Roger Lord North, Sir William, afterwards Lord Knollys, Sir Robert Cecil, and Sir J. Fortescue, with Note at the bottom, entirely in the autograph of Sackville Lord Buckhurst, the Poet, 1l. 1s. - 1598
- 2641 MOSTYN (General) Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d. Clumber, Nov. 11, 1774
- * * * Regrets that he has not the opportunity of drinking a glass of wine with the General previous to his setting out for Minorca. Recommends certain officers to his notice, their qualities, &c. "As to the scabby sheep, the paper will not hold them." Sets him on his guard against the little dirty cabals who are named, "and the greatest of all the rascals that creep upon the earth, Mr. Judge Sutherland." A curious specimen of undisguised sincerity and friendship.
- 2642 MOUNT EDGCUMBE (George Viscount, and afterwards Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, requesting his Grace will honour him with the Appointment of the Receiver of the Land-Tax for Cornwall, a nomination his family has been indulged with for many years, 10s. 6d. Brussels, 18th Nov, 1783
- 2643 MOUNT EDGCUMBE (Richard Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, in favour of a person to fill the Office of Collector at Falmouth, on the suspension of Mr. Pellew, &c. 5s. - Mount Edgcumbe, 21st Nov. 1808
- 2644 MOUNTNEY (R.) Editor of Demosthenes, three Autograph Letters addressed to Mr. Westley, at Dover, to the Postmaster of Dover, and to the Rev. Mr. Byrch, 7s. 6d. Nov. 1737
- * * * The above letters relate to Mr. Westley, who was evidently in an unsound state of mind. The letter to him intreats him to be composed, with every friendly feeling towards him; regretting their inability to come to him, but stating Mr. G. Dodd and Whaley will immediately; the one to the postmaster solicits his attention to Mr. Westley, until they arrive, stating the unsound state of his mind, and their fears for his life. The one to Mr. Byrch is thanking him for his christian feeling towards their unhappy friend, and for his letter conveying the melancholy news of his death.
- 2645 MOUNTNORRIS (George Annesley, Earl of) Author of Travels in the East, &c. Autograph Letter relative to Mr. Salt's Work on Egypt, 5s. - March 9, 1821

- 2646 MOYLE (Sir Walter) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Secretary at War, relative to the surveying and letting the Estate of Blathwaite's Nephew, in Devonshire, to whom he was left guardian, &c. likewise concerning his sister, recently left a widow, 3s. - Plymouth, March 31, 1694
- 2647 MULGRAVE (John Sheffield, Earl of) afterwards Marquis and Duke of Normanby, and Duke of Buckingham, THE POET, Autograph Receipt for 500*l.* of Dr. John Twisden, and others, Farmers of his Majesty's Alum Works, 1*l.* 11s. 6d. 1676
- 2648 MULGRAVE (Constantine John Phipps, Lord) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, reminding his Grace of his Former Application for a Majority for his brother, Captain Phipps, and expressive of his surprise it had not been attended with success before this, &c. 10s. 6d. 5th August, 1783
- 2649 MULGRAVE (Lord) Another Autograph Letter of five closely-written pages, to the same, relative to the Promotion of his brother, Capt. Phipps, in which the noble writer details his Services under General Eliott, in the Defence of Gibraltar, &c. as pretensions to his claim in preference to young men who have not seen Service, &c. 10s. 6d. 11th Aug. 1783
- . The noble writer was a captain in the navy, in which capacity he made an effort to discover a north-east passage. His Lordship held several high official situations.
- 2650 MULGRAVE (Henry Phipps, Earl of) Autograph Note to Dr. Battine, thanking him for his Communication, &c. 7s. Admiralty, 11th Feb. 1808
- 2651 MULGRAVE (Earl of) Another Autograph Note to the Duke of Portland, recommending Mr. Netherton, of the Cheque Office, Plymouth, for the situation of Clerk of the Survey, at Woolwich, 5s. - Admiralty, 18th Nov. 1808
- . The noble writer was a general officer in the army, colonel of the 31st regiment of foot, governor of Scarborough, and lord-lieutenant and custodorum of the East Riding in the county of York.
- 2652 MUNDEN (J. S.) the Celebrated Comedian, Letter to S. Price, Esq., in reply to an offer of Engagement for Drury Lane, a very pleasing specimen, most properly declining, after the very strong and decided manner in which he took leave of his Friends, 18s. - - - 1826
- 2653 MUNSTER (Frederic Christian, Bishop of) Autograph Letter in Latin to King William the Third, being the credentials of an Ambassador, in fine condition, 10s. 6d. - 1700
- 2654 MURPHY (D. Brownell) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, franked, 7s. 6d. - May 14th, 1805
- . A long and interesting letter, informing his lordship "the Duchess of Devonshire had honoured him much with her commands, and commissioned him to copy two of her most favourite pictures at Chiswick—she is truly elegant and accomplished."
- 2655 MURRAY (General James) Governor of Quebec, &c., Autograph Order to Geo. Ross, Esq., to replace certain books left with him by Major Spittal, 'the books I have received are of the best editions,' 5s. Quebec, Sept. 13, 1763

- 2656 MURRAY (General James) Autograph Letter to Lieut. Gen. Harvey, 10s. 6d. - March 14th, 1774

. An interesting autograph. The brave general was second in command to the gallant Wolfe, at the taking of Quebec, and on the fall of Wolfe, assumed the head. He became governor of Quebec and Minorca.

The whole of the Murray letters (as follow) are of great interest to the Scotch or American collector, as containing much interesting matter respecting parties in Scotland, and the progress of the British army in America.

- 2657 MURRAY.—Account of Fees paid in passing a Commission, appointing General Murray Governor of Quebec, 4s.

. A curious document. The fees are nearly FOUR HUNDRED POUNDS.

- 2658 MURRAY (C.) Autograph Letter to her Husband, General Murray, couched in most affectionate terms, 5s. 1763

- 2659 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. Geo.) Letter to his Brother, General Murray, 7s. 6d. - Luffness, Oct. 19, 1757

. Relative to the failure of the expedition against Rochfort. Had Boscawen commanded, he would have considered every difficulty, and undertaken nothing he thought improbable. They say here, Anson was not consulted; I hope it is not so; I have heard him speak of the demolishing of Rochfort as a thing very easy.

- 2660 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother, 7s. 6d. - Luffness, Oct. 22, 1759

. Congratulatory of his glorious behaviour at Quebec, and deploring the circumstance their mother had not survived to have witnessed the plaudits so deservedly bestowed on her son.

- 2661 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother, 10s. 6d. - Luffness, May 24, 1760

. A long and interesting letter, of eight pages, relative to the disturbances in Edinburgh, which Lord Elibank and his friends, the presbyterian ministers, had excited about the militia scheme, when the judges gave it out as the right of petitioning being against law.

- 2662 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother, 7s. 6d. - Luffness, July 12, 1760

. Eulogising the general for his bravery at Quebec.—“Your letter will ever be esteemed the most masterly production of the kind to be met with in the annals of England, and as long as true taste is prevalent, it will be the standard by which the letters of military men will be tried. Wolfe’s letter was much admired, but far short of yours, tho’ I think you had some hand in it.” Here are allusions to Smollett, as the author of the Monitors, in this letter.

- 2663 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother, 10s. 6d. - Luffness, Feb. 7, 1762

. Six pages in length, chiefly relating to the Duke of Hamilton’s discovery of the imposture of the presumed heirs of the Douglas title and estates.

- 2664 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother. General Murray, 5s. - Luffness, Oct. 8, 1763

. An interesting letter.

- 2665 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother, 5s. 1765

. Hon. George Murray was post-captain Nov. 3, 1740; created an admiral, May 25, 1765; attended Lord Anson in his voyage round the world, and succeeded his brother as Lord Elibank, Aug. 3, 1778.

- 2666 MURRAY (Admiral Hon. G.) Another Letter to his Brother,
7s. 6d. - - Luffness, Dec. 3, 1764

. The general, supposing his brother envious of his good fortune, and to have instigated his wife not to pursue her voyage to America, had expressed his resentment, which this letter fully rebuts.—“I had not received yours, by Mills, so did not know by what a slippery tenure I held your friendship. Had I been Lord Elibank, (which I might have been in spite of my demerits,) I would not have sought for a pretence for a German quarrel with you, nor would I have ridiculed you for your disappointments, had your circumstances and situation been as narrow as mine. I never pretended to any merit, but that of bearing my misfortunes like a man.”

- 2667 MURRAY (Gideon) Letter to his brother, General Murray, an interesting letter, 5s. Gainsborough, May 29, 1759

- 2668 MURRAY (Gideon) Eight Letters to his Brother, General Murray, 1l. 11s. 6d. - - 1761-7

. Interesting, as affording an insight into the manœuvres by which the Murrays rose into place and preferment, by their connection with Drummond, Archbishop of York, and Lord Mansfield, who was a Murray. In the letter of July, 1761, Gideon Murray speaks of the gift of the prebend of Durham, and begs the direction of the reply to be forwarded to his brother-in-law, Major Montolieu's in Albemarle Street, “for Doctor Murray, which I now am.” In that of April, 1762, he speaks of the “pretty living” of Carlton, near Bawtry, being given to him in place of Gainsborough, by the Archbishop of York. The letters, some of which are twelve pages in length, have many curious anecdotes of persons and transactions under the Bute administration, and exhibit the baneful and overwhelming influence of Scottish aggrandisement in all places of profit and trust. Solicitation and family connexion, not merit, from these letters, appear to have done every thing; the secret working of the appointments in the settlement of the Canada affairs, are here matter of history.

- 2669 MURRAY.—Letter from James Johnstone to his Uncle, General Murray, 5s. - - 1761

- 2670 MURRAY.—Thirteen Letters of various Members of the Murray Family, Sir Charles Saunders, &c. to General Murray, Governor of Quebec, 1l. 11s. 6d. - 1761-76

- 2671 MURRAY (Hon. Alex.) Five Letters to his Brother, General Murray, 12s. - - 1762-4

. Congratulatory on his conduct as Governor of Quebec, the writer having, in Paris, received an infinity of civilities upon his account: “continue the same course, and you may depend upon being immortalised not only in France, but over the whole universe.”

- 2672 MURRAY (Mary) Three Letters to her Brother, General Murray, 10s. 6d. - - 1763-4

. Happy to hear of the General's being appointed Governor of Canada, but expresses regret it may occasion his remaining longer abroad than she may live. Nothing to be heard of here but the affair of the Douglasses. In the letter of 1764, she recommends as a servant a person whose father and mother died in the forty-six. From this and other expressions, the Murrays are clearly shown to have been deeply implicated in that rebellion.

- 2673 MURRAY (Walter) Three Letters to General Murray, 10s. 6d. 1763-6

2674 MURRAY.—Letter from William Johnstone to G. Ross, Esq. 5s.
Edinburgh, Dec. 2, 1765

2675 MURRAY (Robt.) Autograph Letter to General Murray, 7s. 6d.
Edinburgh, Sept. 5, 1767

 Solicitation to know whether the General intended to visit his relatives in Scotland or not, that the writer might delay a purposed journey, and not have the mortification of missing him; and apprising all friends were well. "Elibank, tho' complaining, looks as well, and is in as high spirits, as ever I saw him."

2676 MURRAY.—An interesting Letter from Lord Elibank to his Brother, General Murray, a scarce autograph, 7s.
Balleneries, May 11th, 1778

2677 MURRAY (Alex.) afterwards Lord Elibank, Son of Dr. Gideon Murray, Letter to his Uncle, General Murray, 5s.
Nov. 16, 1778

 Apprising him of full particulars of the last illness and death of Doctor Gideon Murray. Dr. Murray was a prebendary of Durham, and rector of Carlton, near Worksop, Nottinghamshire. To the county historian, this is an interesting letter.

2678 MURRAY (David) Son of Dr. Gideon Murray, Letter to his Uncle, General Murray, 5s. - June 2, 1779

 Congratulating the General on his recent appointment, as Governor of Minorca, and exhibiting his views of future life, &c.

2679 MURRAY (Richd.) Three Letters to General Murray, 10s. 6d.
Quebec, 1778-9

 Detailing some interesting notices of the state of Canada.

2680 MURRAY (Sir Richd.) of Blackbarony, Memorial to the King, describing his condition, and soliciting a Pension, to support himself and family, 5s.

2681 MURRAY (Lord John) Autograph Note to Colonel Christie, 10s. 6d.

2682 MURRAY (Lord George) Autograph Letter to Capt. Laroche, of his Majesty's Ship the Surprise, kindly endeavouring to learn some account of a seaman for an anxious mother, 5s.
Hunton, near Maidstone, Nov. 10, 1800

2683 MURRAY (Hon. Mrs. E.) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, relative to her son, 5s. - Feb. 2, 1808

2684 MURRAY (Doctor Peter) the well-known Philanthropist and Geological Writer, long and interesting Autograph Letter to the Editor of the Leeds Patriot, relative to the Representation of the People, remarks on the Difference between Mobocracy and Aristocracy, the Middle Classes, &c. in which are noticed Sir Thomas Slingsby, Sir William Ingilby, &c. 1l. 8s. - - - 1831

2685 MURRAY, Another long and very important Political Letter to the same, with Remarks on the singularly dark and clouded period of our History, with Enquiry as to the Course the House of Lords would take, and his Majesty, as to his increasing the Peers or Commons, &c. a very singular letter, 1l. 11s. 6d. - - - 1831

- 2686 MURRAY, Another long and interesting Autograph Letter to the same, relative to the Factory Bill for protecting Infants, &c. 18s. - - Scarborough, 1832
- 2687 MURRAY, Another long and interesting Autograph Letter to the same, relative to the Catholic Question, &c. in which Lord Goodrich is mentioned, &c. 18s. - - n. d.
- 2688 MUSCOVY (Czar of) Latin Translation of a Letter from Peter the First to King William III. of England, with copy of King William's Reply, in the Autograph of W. Blathwaite, Secretary of War, 5s. - May 12, 1701

. A long and very interesting letter, entirely autograph, in reply to several which had followed him during his travels. Criticises the modern fashions, on which he is very severe, particularly against the French and Italians; begs Southwell will write him in a plain straightforward way, hates flattery. Account of his travels; states some friend of Southwell's had run away with the Pope's jewels, with which he is now living in splendour, and his effigie was burnt: went from Dunkerke with the Lady Abbess of Gaunt, &c. Am glad you have made yourself fine before you left Paris, as that will help you to a good place in the English court, and the sight of the Queen, for that is the grand vertu of a courtier. With much other interesting matter.

- 2781 NORFOLK (Henry Howard, seventh Duke of) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 8s. July 15th, 1690

. Informing Southwell of Mr. Aldworth, one of the verderers of Windsor Forest, holding the place of King's Remembrancer in Ireland, whose office required his attendance; to which his Grace requested he might have a deputy, without prejudice to his interest there, that he might be permitted to stay here, for he is the only verderer, (since my Lord Stirling's illness,) that attends the Forest Courts; besides, he is versed in matters of this nature, and very ready upon all occasions to punish offenders; and this being a season that more particular care ought to be had of his Majesty's game, I have desired to stay until his Majesty's pleasure be known, &c.

- 2782 NORFOLK (Duke of) Autograph Letter to Lady Picks, 7s. 6*d.* Nov. 13th, 1699

. A fine specimen, in which the noble writer states, "If your ladyship believes the gentleman will come, upon your sending him word that he shall find all things as he expects, I would beg the favour that you do so, and that he would set out presently, and not fail to bring the gentlewoman with him, but if he will not stir till the money be deposited, pray, madam, desire he will send word where he would have it, for as one side he will wish it may be safe for him, if all goes well, I must expect it will be left where I may have security for it, if we fail," &c.

- 2783 NORFOLK (Duchess of) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, M.P. for Bristol, 7s. Arundel Castle, Jan. 6, 1736

2835 NOTTINGHAM (Daniel Finch, Earl of) A most important and highly valuable Autograph Letter as Secretary of State, to Sir Robert Southwell, on Affairs of State, 18s.

Whitehall, 26th June, 1690

. Among other interesting matter, the noble writer expresses his anxiety to learn the good success of his majesty in Ireland, and states his hopes of very speedily sending good news of the success of the fleet over the French; this was the unfortunate engagement off Beachy Head, by Admiral Lord Torrington.

2836 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, requesting him to explain, should the King observe that the whole of the Privy Council had not signed the enclosed Letter, that it was not that any of them disagreed, but that Sir John Lowther was not well, and two other hands wanting; could not stay to subscribe it, &c. 12s. - Whitehall, 7th July, 1690

2837 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robt. Southwell, entirely Autograph, 1l. 1s.

Whitehall, July 14th, 1690

. Relates to the unfortunate engagement of the fleet off Beachy Head; approaching trial of Lord Torrington for the failure; regrets Lord Dursley is going to print his letter,—it is hanging Lord Torrington in effigie before he is tried. Surely there was no necessity to print what I wrote to himself; it vexes me not a little, to have my hasty scribble the subject of every alehouse talk; if it would contribute any thing to the union of the two nations, I should be satisfied. The Commissioners of Enquiry are just gone to the fleet.

2838 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another long and interesting Letter of four pages to the King, then with the Army in Ireland, relating to a Treaty with the States and the King of Denmark, and other important topics, a fine specimen, 2l. 2s.

Whitehall, Aug. 19th, 1690

. Endorsed by Sir Robert Southwell, 'To the king from the Earl of Nottingham, by express, which his majesty gave me at Waterford, 2 Sept. 1690.'

2839 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. W. Blathwaite, relating to her Majesty's Troops, 18s.

Whitehall, Nov. 14, 1702

2840 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another interesting Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, acquainting him of her Majesty's having determined the Duke of Ormond's Lieutenancy of Ireland, with Reasons for it, and her having appointed the Earl of Pembroke his Successor, to whom the Noble Writer is anxious Sir Robert should remain as Secretary, &c. 1l. 1s.

Burley, 14th April, 1707

2841 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Edw. Southwell, Esq. 18s. - Burley, Dec. 4, 1721

. Relating to the will of Sadler, who had bequeathed money to be laid out for charitable uses, but which a Mr. Tailor, of Bristol, had appropriated to himself.

2842 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Receipt to the Lord Fitzharding, for 731*l.*, 5*s.* - 3*d* Dec. 1702

2843 NOTTINGHAM (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to Edw. Southwell, Esq., giving instructions respecting the recovery of some Money which a person named Taler (of Bristol), had appropriated to himself; explains some points connected with Lord B.'s Marriage, &c.; and in allusion to some ministerial deaths, adds, "In so great and sudden a mortality of Privy Councillors, 'tis very happy that the number of that assembly is so great that these will scarce be mist, or if there were occasion to repair this loss, it may soon and easily be done in this fruitful age of statesmen," an interesting letter, 18*s.* - Burley, Jan. 27*th*, 172½

Castle of Nottingham, Aug. 12, 1511

. Connected with the history of Nottingham Castle, destroyed by fire a few years since, this warrant is an interesting particular. The instructions are more detailed, but the required brevity of these notices precludes further extract. The king was here at this date, and doubtless ordered their restoration from their decayed appearance.

Feb. 27*th*, 1667

2846 NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.—Certificate of the Chapter of the Collegiate Church of the blessed Virgin Mary of Southwell, in the County of Notts, that Charles Grant, B.A., is Schoolmaster of the Free Grammar School of Southwell, and hath so continued for the last year past, the Petitions therefore pray he may receive such Stipend as belongeth unto him, with autographs of Gilbert Benet, Prebendary, Francis Leek, Canon and Ed. Dix, Prebend, with Warrant for the payment thereof; 10*s.* 6*d.* - - Oct. 15*th*, 1668

2847 NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.—Autograph Letter from Major Cartwright to the Duke of Portland, relative to his Canvass for Nottingham, on the Death of the Earl of Lincoln; encloses his Printed Address to the Freeholders, which accompanies the Letter, 7*s.* 6*d.* - Hull, 31*st* Oct. 1778

2848 NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.—Cartwright (Major) Another Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, requesting to know his Grace's Sentiments, and informing him that a few of his Friends meet at Carlton, 5*s.* Hull, Nov. 1, 1778

- 2849 NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.—Another long and most spirited Letter from the Major to his Grace, on his having supported Mr. Meadows in preference to him, and thereby lost him the Election, which his Grace had stated to be on the ground of Family Alliances, but the Writer states himself to be nearer allied to his Grace and the Duchess, than Mr. Meadows, but he should never think of looking into his Pedigree for a Seat in Parliament, &c. &c. a very important letter, 1l. 1s.

Hull, Dec. 8, 1778

- 2850 NOVELLO (V.) Celebrated Musician, Autograph Letter, 3s.

1840

- 2851 OASTLER (Richard) Long and very violent Autograph Letter to the Editor of the Leeds Patriot, relative to the Factory Bill, Mr. Baines the Member for Leeds, and others, 18s.

Culverley, 1831

- 2852 OASTLER, Another very singular Letter to the same, on the Political Position of the Country, &c. couched in very strong terms, 1l. 1s. - - -

Fixby Hall, 1832

- 2853 OASTLER, Another very singular Letter relative to the result of the Leeds Election, 18s. - - -

1832

- 2854 OASTLER, Another long Letter to the same, relative to the Factory Bill, Leeds Election, &c. with remarks on Baines, &c. 10s. 6d. - - -

1832

- 2855 OASTLER, Another long Letter to the same, relative to the Poor Laws, &c. 10s. 6d. - - -

1832

- 2856 OASTLER, Another long and most violent Letter to the same, relative to the Factory Bill, Meeting of the Operatives, and their future intentions, with Remarks on various leading Members of the House of Commons, the Mill Owners, &c. 1l. 1s. - - -

1833

* * The writer appears to have been a great advocate for the poor, and violent opponent to the oppressors of them; one of the above letters is signed "Richard R." being well known in the north as King Richard.

- 2857 OATES (Titus) Autograph Attestation upon Oath, that one Mr. Bacchus, an Usher in Merchant Taylor's School, said in St. James's Park, after the Trial of Sir George Wakeman, "there goes Oates the perjured rogue," with his signature, a bold specimen, scarce, 2l. 2s. -

May 18, 1681

- 2858 O'BRIEN (Sir Donat) Autograph Letter to Mr. Southwell, expressive of his thanks for all his favours to him, against the unjust designs contrived against him and his sons, and congratulating him on his arrival in Ireland, &c. 4s.

Dromeland, June 14, 1703

- 2859 OCKLEY (Simon) Letter to Bishop Wake, rare, 10s. 6d.

Swansey, Sept. 4, 1713

* * A most interesting specimen of this oriental scholar—replete with grateful acknowledgements—"I hope I shall have reason, as long as I live, to bless that providence which directed me to ask advice of your lordship at a time in which my spirits were so depressed with my calamities, that I was within a hair's breadth of the grave."

2860 O'BEIRNE (Hon. T. L.) Bishop of Meath, Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, relative to the objectionable passages in Mr. Glen's Pamphlet, &c. 5s. May 29, 1807

2861 OGILVIE (W.) Five long and interesting Autograph Letters to Lord Cardross, 15s. - Aberdeen, 1764-6

. The writer was professor in King's College, Aberdeen, and the first person who gave a regular series of practical lectures on natural history. The above interesting letters relate to various subjects of natural history, literature, &c. Speaking of the neglect shown to a person's merits named, he says, "Nothing has occurred for a long time so interesting to the feelings of all who know how to sympathize with injured merit; it is a finer subject for an ode, than ever Pindar had; but our age has no poet." Speaks highly of Lightfoot's Flora Scotica, and Forbes' Narrative of Capt. Cook's Voyage, as containing much curious matter, not to be found in the Captain's own account, &c. Notices of Dr. Walker, Ramsey, Reed, Blaire, Lord Kaimes, and many other learned characters from the north. On the back is an interesting notice of the professor in the Autograph of Lord Buchan.

2862 OGLETHORPE (Col. Sir T.) Autograph Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq. 7s. - Rochester, Sept. 11, 1688

. Relating to the position of the forces to repel the invasion of the Dutch; —Capt. Fox to come to Stroud, and Capt. Mannering to Maidstone, &c. I am glad that all is like to pass so well over. My opinion is, that Milton and those creeks that lie open to the east swell, is a gap to enter at to destroy the stores at this place and some ships.

2863 OLDISWORTH (Jo.) Autograph Letter to Mr. Sewell of Cornhill, 5s. - Nortonville, Aug. 30, 1798

. Respecting seventeen autograph letters of Bp. Warburton, from 1763 to 1769, addressed to Rev. — Sparks, chaplain to the bishop, and many years master of the Grammar School at Gloucester, for which Mr. Oldisworth required twenty pounds.

In one, dated Prior Park, Jan. 9, 1769, the bishop writes—'I hear you have had an earthquake lately; they are good awakening things. One at Westminster might rouse the constitution, which, though it never sleeps, sometimes slumbers. We have been long lost to the voice of God; the voice of nature may possibly restore us to our senses.'

2864 OLYPHANT (Lord) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, scarce, 5s. - Perth, April 2, 1780

. A long and interesting letter relative to the Scotch Peerage, its power with the prime minister, &c.

2865 OMEARA (Barry E.) Author of various works relating to Napoleon, &c. Autograph Letter to T. Hill, Esq. 5s.

2866 ONSLOW (Sir Ric.) Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir William St. Quintin, Edward Wortley, Esq., and the Earl of Hallifax, Autographs to an Order for the Payment of certain Monies to Major Aikman, 8s. 6d. - Sept. 15, 1715

- 2881 ORMONDE, Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - Dublin, May 3, 1679

. Respecting the formation of the council of Ireland.—“It will be impossible to dispatch the business of the council here with so few as are designed to be of it.” Had received the king's instructions by Mr. Secretary Coventry, to send a list of the privy council, with his opinion what officers ought always successively to be of it—“but I am not commanded to give any character of persons, and I am glad I am not.”

- 2882 ORMONDE, Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Clarendon, 2*l.* 2*s.* - - - ib. 3 Nov. 1684

. A fine and interesting specimen, in which the noble writer states, the subject of his lordship's letter is, in his opinion, as tender for me to write upon as it was for you; and I can only say, I am very much concerned for the construction that may be made by those that are not well acquainted with either of us upon this occasion, which is continued to a great length on the subject of his grace retiring from the deputy lord-lieutenancy of Ireland. A most important historical document.

- 2883 ORMONDE, Another most interesting Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 2*l.* 2*s.* St. James's Square, Feb. 2*nd*, 1685-6

. Written in answer to Sir Robert's condolence for the loss of his son, the Earl of Arran. His Grace observes,—“It is an undeserved blessing to me, that so many good men condole my last losse with me, who have bin much lesse sensible than I ought to have been of the lyke calamitys befallen others, and at least I have not been sensible in the right way, &c. I hope God will give me grace to do it now, &c. In about ten days I shall go to Cornbury, and hope you will come over to that fine country, &c. &c.”

- 2889 ORMONDE, Another Autograph Letter to the same, 1l. 1s.

* * * A fine and interesting specimen.

- 2890 ORMONDE, Another Autograph Letter to the Rt. Hon. Edw. Southwell, 1l. 5s. - Kilkenny, Sept. 6, 1711

* * * Hopes soon to be in Dublin. "Pray make all the enquiry you can of what our enemies are doing, and their malicious designs. Would have Southwell to write to all friends, to muster at the first meeting of Parliament," &c. Report on the condition the duke found the regiments in at Kilkenny, &c.

- 2891 ORMONDE, Another Autograph Letter to the Rt. Hon. Edw. Southwell, 1l. 5s. - Ghent, Sept. 9, 1712

* * * Wonders at the will of Lord Rivers [town]. Poor Lord Barrimore has reason to be surprised. "Who is like to have the Ordnance I know not: I am obliged to those who wish it me." Supposes Southwell hears no more about the duke's re-appointment to the lord-lieutenancy of Ireland; he himself did not. "Douay makes a very good defence, but can't hold out long—it has much longer than was expected. Quesnoy is the next siege, and will not be very long in taking." Encloses report on Lord Bellew's petition; desires Southwell's giving it to Lord Bolingbroke, &c.

- 2892 ORMONDE.—Autograph Letter of Lady Amelia Butler to Sir Robert Southwell, relative to certain Lands assigned for her portion, an interesting specimen, 15s. - July 13th, 1690

- 2895 ORRERY (Roger Boyle, Earl of) Long Letter, entirely Autograph, to Sir Robert Southwell, a fine specimen, and most important Letter, 2l. 2s. Castle Martyr, April 2, 1678

* * * An interesting specimen, on the troublesome times—in one part his lordship observes, 'I love my religion, my king, and my country; I doubt Wednesday was a hot debate, the whole house divided itself into a committee to consider the danger our religion is in by the growth of Popery, for this is a topic which repeatedly is the mother of high debates. Such is the malice and artifice of the devil, that what ought to unite men does more divide them.' His lordship was an accomplished statesman, poet, and dramatist.

2896 ORRERY (Roger Boyle, Earl of) The Poet and Dramatist, Articles of Impeachment against him in Parliament, Manuscript of the time, 5s. - - 1669

2897 ORRERY (Earl of) Another Letter of three closely-written pages, folio, to Sir Robert Southwell, on the Death of his Mother, 2l. 2s. - - 8th July, 1678

. The first page of this truly interesting letter is devoted to condoling Sir Robert in a serious and very friendly manner for the loss of his worthy mother. The remainder treats upon the state of the country, dissatisfaction of the Scotch regiments, execution of some Jesuits, who, his lordship says he admires should declare against the laws of king killing. Particulars relating to Maundy Thursday, and refers Sir Robert to the Lateran Council, &c. &c.

- 2994 PEPYS, Another most interesting and highly valuable Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 2l. 2s.

Dec. 18th, 1686

. The candid writer in his letter to Sir Robert, (then out of office,) 'but you are at leisure (which I still grudge you, and lament the king for,) to sit and censure the best and worst of what you hear from this end of the world, and in your good humour mislead yourself to a partial judging of all that can be but strained to the advantage of a poor honest man that has been well broken,' &c. This letter was sent to Sir Robert by his son Edward, who was then going to Oxford, respecting which the writer says, "I like very well, if he stay not too long, for I am grown very cold towards our University breeding, though a good tutor may do much," &c. He calls the son Sir Robert's little self; whatever you do, he prays God to bless him, for he is your own son quite through, and my friend. Speaks also very highly of Mr. Blathwaite, whose progress fully justified the character here given by the learned Secretary.

- 2995 PEPYS, Another Autograph Letter, 1l. 8s.

- 3031 PHIPPS (Sir Constantine) Lord Chancellor of Ireland, Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 1l. 11s. 6d.
Dublin, April 14, 1712

* * * 'The hopes you give of the Duke of Ormond's continuance in the government of Ireland, are extremely welcome, and gave new life to our friends; and if it holds true, will be a great mortification to our enemies.' The writer states as to the city affair, 'you and the ministry are masters of it, if Government exercise their power, &c. &c. The citizens that are friends to the church and the monarchy will in their turns be Lord Mayors; but if the government be not at liberty to exercise it, then will the Recorder's Whig party reject any churchman, &c. &c., and no man that is a churchman, or a friend to the constitution, will have the least authority in it; and whether it is proper the city should be in such hands, her Majesty and the ministry are the best judges,' &c.

- 3032 PHIPPS, Another Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 1l. 1s. - - Dublin, May 7th, 1712

. An interesting specimen, acknowledging the receipt of a letter from my Lord Keeper, and one from Lord Dartmouth, signifying her Majesty's pleasure as to the city, &c.; which commands shall be obeyed, &c.; though I must tell you our friends are much concerned, &c.; desires the inclosed to be forwarded to Flanders, and Mr. Matthew's letter into my Lord Duke of Ormond's packet, &c. &c.

Ludlow, Feb. 11, 1600

. Detailing particulars of a disturbance between John Collins and Griffith Evans, which Broughton's man-servant, Francis Evans, brother to Griffith, endeavoured to quell, by parting the belligerents, but Griffith, fixed in getting his revenge, grew desperate, and with his rapier pierced Collins through the body, near his heart, so that he died. Broughton's man, Francis, having no weapon, and no further implicated in the matter than as a peace-maker, flies to London, and is pursued by young Blunden [Blundell?] to apprehend him there; one Thomas Butler was also making himself over busy in amassing evidence against innocent Francis. The object of the writer is, by showing a long and clear statement of facts, to induce Broughton's adoption of his man's rescue, when the matter should come before the council.

. Two very interesting documents, relating to the scale of creatures, embodying the opinions of Sir Matthew Hale, Sir William Petty, Sir Robert Southwell, and Mr. Grew; the latter wishes Sir Robert to finish the subject, and print it in the Royal Society's transactions, omitting the matter upon religion, on the being and existence of God, &c. Sir Robert says in his reply, he has reason to quarrel with his compliment in thinking me capable to advance and perfect that essay of his (Sir W. Petty) which wanted his further thoughts. So he shall easily close with him, in having an extract printed in the transactions, but with retrenchment with the paragraph touching religion, and what else may look obsolete. As to the fixed stars, &c., when he arrives in town, he shall be happy to read in your company those paragraphs of God, &c.

- 3291 ROYAL LIBRARIES.—Treasury Warrant for the Payment of 119l. 11s. 3 $\frac{1}{4}$. to Claudius Amyand, Esq., Keeper of his Majestie's Libraries, with autographs of John Stuart, Earl of Bute, Sir T. Dashwood and Lord North, 5s. May, 1762

Barbadoes, July 23, 1696

* * * In answer to some accusations which some persons in that colony had transmitted to the king and council, of which Russell was wholly ignorant—"I must needs say I cannot imagine what the complaints are they make against me, nor who they are that make them. I doe assure you I have behaved myself here with that integritie, that my owne conscience does not accuse me of any crime or misdemeanour that I have committed. I wish those persons here would have bin so faire with me, as to have lett me seen what they wrote, and lett me have sent my owne justification with it, that the king and the lords of the Comitty might have heard them boath together; or that I had had coppyes of them sent me hither to have answered.' Hopes not to be condemned unheard, nor credit given to accusations, till they have his answers.

3363 SCHOMBERG AND LEINSTER (Meinhardt Duke of) Letter to W. Blathwaite, Esq. Secretary at War, requesting Capt. Geo. Brooke, who was broke by Tyrconnel in Ireland, may be put on the List of Half-pay of Horse, for he has served me several years as my Aid-de-Camp, and am very well satisfied with his behaviour, 1l. 1s. - - June 23rd, 1698

3364 SCHLEGEL (A. W.) Translator of Shakspeare into German, and Author of several celebrated works, autograph note, 7s. 6d. - - - 1823

3365 SCOTS GUARDS.—Interesting Autograph Letter of Major General Mackay to Mr. Blathwaite, relative to the quartering of the Royal Scots Guards in Oxford, &c. &c. 8s. 6d.
Oxford, Jan. 5th, 1689

3366 SCOTS GUARDS.—Autograph Letter of Col. A. Maitland to Blathwaite, 18s. - Bernam, Feb. 8, 1696

. Apprising Blathwaite the Royal Scots Foot Guards was then complete, 'and I dare assure you, it will serve his majesty faithfully, wherever he has service for it.' Hears his majesty is to make some promotions—'You know my pretensions for Brigadier, and I do depend upon your favour to put the King in mind of me.'

3367 SCOTS GUARDS.—Autograph Letter of Col. G. Macartney to Mr. Blathwaite, Secretary of War, 12s. July 21st, 1696

. Praying, according to memorial of the second battalion of Scots Guards, that his majesty would continue to the officers of that regiment the same allowance they had in Flanders, 'because of our ill circumstances of being distinguished from his other Guards; and that his majesty would favour that battalion of guards with the advance of money, 'that they may be constantly in condition for his service, with readiness suitable to our inclinations.'

3368 SCOTS GUARDS.—Two Autograph Letters of Capt. Samuel Vincent, of the Nonsuch, 18s. Leith Road, Nov. 1696

. Intimating their arrival with the Scots officers, for the recruits of the Scots Guards, for Flanders. The second acknowledges the order of the Lords of the Admiralty, for his proceeding to the Nore.

3369 SCOTS GUARDS.—Two Letters of Col. G. Macartney to Mr. Blathwaite, 1l. 1s.
Edinburgh, Dec. 19, 1696, and Jan. 7, 1696-7

. Respecting the recruits of the two battalions, which, by these letters, it appears the king had ordered to be shipped for Flanders. In the second, he writes—'Since I have undertaken to recruit us, I would gladly see it finished, yet would not upon any account whatever be absent at the embarking the battalion: begs that the time of transportation may not be published, lest some loose fellows desert us.'

3370 SCOTS GUARDS.—Three Autograph Letters of Col. Sir Thomas Livingston to Blathwaite, respecting Recruits of the Scots Guards for Flanders, 2l. 2s.
Edinburgh, Jan. 21, 1696, to Feb. 18, 1696-7

. In the first, Sir Thomas says, 'The recruits designed for Flanders suffer very much by the boisterous weather and contrary winds, which still continue. They have been on board since the beginning of the month; yesterday they set sail, but were forced to an anchor againe.'

The letter of the 25th states, that the troops sailed from Kirkaldie Bay on the 23d. Col. Buchan's application for monies for the transporting the dragoons to recruit the two Scots regiments in Flanders.

In that of Feb. 18th, it appears that one of the vessels had been taken by a French privateer—'It was not the ship the George, that was driven from her anchor out of the road here, but another. That ship is returned here, with 350 men, who are taken on shore, and the men put into the castles, and carefully looked after, they have suffered extraordinary much, some of them are dead, and several of them sick.'

- 3371 SCOTT (Robt.) Citizen of London and Stationer, Autograph Receipt for 300*l.* in satisfaction for 336 volumes, containing about 700 Books, a Catalogue of which was annexed to a Bill of Sale made by him to his Majesty, in fine state, 10*s.* 6*d.*
Oct. 2nd, 1682

* * An interesting memorial, of the splendid library, formed by King Charles II. and of the Royal patronage of literature. Scott was the most eminent book-seller of his day, and the first who sold books by auction.

Bath Easton, 1760

- 3373 SCOTT (George Lewis) Autograph Letter to Lord Cardross, rare, 12*s.* - Excise Office, Dec. 22nd, 1766

* * The writer was preceptor to King George III. and afterwards became a commissioner of the excise. An interesting specimen, in which the learned writer expresses his regret to see Lords Chatham and Northampton such martyrs to the gout; notices a conversation he had with his majesty on music, which ended in favour of Handel, in preference to the modern composers; his majesty is so obliging that it is a great pity to see him meet with things to vex him, yet I flatter myself with the hopes that Lord Chatham will be able to lay a foundation for more happiness.

- 3374 SCOTT (Rev. James) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relative to the Literary Society at Perth, with Preliminary Discourse and Plan, &c. of the Institution, 10*s.* 6*d.*

- 3390 SELKIRK (Charles Douglas, Earl of) Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, 7s. Hague, Nov. 10th, 1699

. A fine specimen of a scarce autograph; had written also to Mr. Secretary Vernon, for his majesty's command, which his lordship trusts will be to return, &c.

- 3391 SELKIRK (Dunbar Hamilton, Earl of) Long and interesting Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relating to the Election of the Representative Peers of Scotland, 7s.

St. Mary's Isle, 13th Sept. 1780

. The above letter is endorsed by the Earl of Buchan: "I considered the Scottish peerage elections as the only fair occasion offered to raise a spirit among the higher orders of men, in Scotland, in favour of a free government. I did not wish to sit in a farcical House of Peers; what I did, I did only to raise a spirit of liberty."

- 3392 SELKIRK (Earl of) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relating to the Scottish Peerage; the Chancellor's Opinion that an Annual Court should be held, &c. very interesting, 5s. - London, June 4, 1788

- 3407 SHAFTESBURY PLOT.—A long Autograph Letter from Reason Mellish, Esq. to the Earl of Sunderland, 12s.
July 24th, 1682

. An interesting letter respecting the papers found in Lord Shaftesbury's closet, about which there is so much noise and addresses, &c., and which the writer observes ought to be looked upon by all good subjects as the projects of a most devilish and treasonable design against the government, and he trusts will be acknowledged so by every individual person that shall serve upon the inquest. Requests his lordship's advice how to act in case an address should be moved at the assizes, fearing it may meet with opposition, as the Duke of Newcastle attempted such a thing last assizes; but not meeting with the sanction of the whole inquest, it came to nothing; and various other matters. Also thanks his lordship for a fat buck. The earl fled to Holland, and died there the succeeding January.

. Count Solmes was constituted commander-in-chief of the forces in Ireland, June 27th, 1690, upon the King's return to England. His military prowess is frequently recorded in the annals of the wars in Ireland and Flanders, under King William the Third.

- 3506 SOMERSET (Edmund de Beaufort, Duke of) Regent of France, Autograph to a Document upon Vellum, respecting certain Sums of Money paid to Corf Poursuivant of Arms, and other Heralds of England, &c. addressed to Thomas Pelleine, Viscount Caen, in fine preservation, an autograph of excessive rarity, 2l. 2s. - Caen, June 3rd, 1450

. The writer was the son of John de Beaufort, eldest natural son of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster.

- 3507 SOMERSET (Edmund Tudor, Duke of).—A Warrant to the Keeper of the Great Wardrobe, for the Delivery to John Fligh, of certain Articles named, for the Christening of our Son, the Lord Edmund, also for the Payment of the Wages of the Bed-maker and her Men, with splendid autograph of Henry VII. upon vellum, an interesting and curious historical document in fine preservation, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Manor of Greenwich, 25 Feb. 1498

- 3508 SOMERSET (Charles Seymour, Duke of) Autograph Receipt to a Debenture, countersigned by Lord Halifax, 7s. 6d.

May 9th, 1712

- 3509 SOMERSET (Charles Seymour, Duke of) Another Autograph Receipt for 4000l. to defray the Expences of his Majesty's Stables, 10s. 6d. - - 31st Aug. 1716

. The noble writer was Master of the Horse. His Grace married Elizabeth, sole daughter and heiress of Josceline, Earl of Northumberland.

- 3510 SOMERSET (Elizabeth, Duchess of) Autograph Receipt for her Annuity of 2000l. per annum, a fine bold specimen, 10s. 6d.

Aug. 8th, 1712

. The noble writer was sole daughter and heir of Josceline, Earl of Northumberland, who married first, Henry Cavendish, Earl of Ogle; secondly, Thomas Thynne, Esq. who was shot in Pall Mall, by Count Coningsmark, by whom her ladyship had no issue; but upon her third marriage with the Duke of Somerset, her grace had Algernon, the renowned Earl of Northumberland, also two other sons and three daughters.

- 3511 SOMERSET (Frances Thynne, Duchess of) Autograph Letter to Sir William Bunbury, 1l. 1s. Percy Lodge, Sept. 22, 1751

. A beautiful and very pleasing specimen of a scarce autograph; the writer was daughter to Henry Thynne, only son of Viscount Weymouth.

- 3512 SOMERSET (Duchess of).—A copy of a most interesting Letter from Shenstone, the Poet, to her Grace, in her Grace's autograph, forwarding one of his Poems in Manuscript, which was intended for a much larger Poem, but thrown into its present form after the Rebellion, with Remarks upon her Grace's retired Life, &c. 1l. 1s. - 1753

- 3513 SOMERSET (Charlotte, Duchess of) Autograph Letter giving Instructions for the Printing of some Letters, 5s. (1810)

. The writer was daughter of the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon.

- 3514 SOMERSET (Lord Arthur) Two Autograph Letters to Sir Robt. Southwell, acknowledging the Receipt, by the Bristol Carrier, of his kind present of King Arthur, and respecting some Horses, &c. 18s. Badminton, April 10 and 17, 1697

- 3515 SOMERSET (Lord Arthur) Two other Autograph Letters to Sir Robt. Southwell, respecting a Gunsmith lately gone to Bristol to complete some work he had undertaken for some of the neighbouring Gentlemen, &c., and requesting Sir Robert's assistance to get him to finish a favourite Pair of Pistols, &c. 1l. 1s. - Badminton, April 19 and 26, 1697

. Lord Somerset appears to have directed his solicitor, Mr. Ramsay of Bristol, to proceed against Wornel the gunsmith, for the pistols, who informs him he was under the protection of the lord chamberlain. His lordship states, he is certain Lord Dorset is too much a man of honour to suffer his name to be made use of to prevent the recovery. The second letter states Lord Dorset's decision to have had the desired effect of producing the pistols.

- 3516 SOMERSET (Lord Charles) Letter to the Rev. Charles Aldrich, Christ Church College, Oxford, 1l. 11s. 6d.

Florence, Sept. 24, 1709

. A long and interesting letter, in which his lordship gives an account of his travels, the company he has met with, particularly Lord Raby, the Queen's Ambassador at Prussia, who has travelled through these countries incognito, under the name of Mr. York; but being taken very ill at Rome, was obliged to discover himself. Met also your friend Salvin, he may be an excellent Grecian, and very good at collating MSS., but I think he is the worst company and the worst poet that ever I met with; he did nothing but pester me with his own poetical compositions, none of which can stand in competition with those you sent me of the learned Bentley. Account of the effects of the climate upon his lordship's health, &c.; had been very ill. I have been extremely obliged to the Great Duke in my illness; he is one of the best princes in the world. Very handsome entertainments, never without a merry bowl; I was forced, sore against my will, to be a dissenting brother, and refrain from the good creature, &c. &c.

- 3517 SOMERSET (Lord Charles) Another Letter to the same, 1l. 1s. Rome, no date.

. An interesting letter, congratulating the Rev. Mr. Aldrich (afterwards Dean of Christ Church) upon his promotion in the church. 'It is not a small pleasure that I hope to enjoy in making a visit, now and then, to the parsonage; and now let me give you a piece of advice,—that since you have got one living from the Bishop of Rochester, never let the Bishop of Winchester alone, till he has given you another. As soon as I came to this place, I took care of having the Vatican Library designed, and I think, very well done. I have not yet the music the Dean would have, but if it be to be got, I shan't fail,' &c. &c.

- 3518 SOMERSETSHIRE.—Warrant for the Payment of certain Monies for the Fine of a Lease of certain Lands in Wynborne, in the County of Somersetshire, in Queen Mary's time, with autographs of W. Paulet, Marquis of Winchester, Sir Richard Sackville, and Sir Walter Mildmay, 18s. - 1559

3532 SOMNER (William) the Historian, Autograph Letter to Sir William Dugdale, 12s. - Canterbury, April 11, 1662

. An interesting letter, thanking Sir W. Dugdale for some of his works; notices of Spelman, Sir E. Bish, &c.

3533 SONDES (Lady Catherine) Autograph Letter to the Hon. Edw. Southwell, 8s. - Rockingham, 1732

. An interesting letter. The writer was mother-in-law of Edw. Southwell, Esq., and wife of Edward Viscount Sodes.

3534 SONDES (Lewis Monson, Lord) Autograph Letter to T. Barrett, Esq., of Lee Priory, scarce, 7s. 6d.

Lees Court, March 23rd, 1773

. A pleasing friendly specimen, offering him his lordship's interest for the Dover election. The noble writer, Lewis Watson, first Lord Sodes, was second son of John Lord Monson; his lordship represented the County of Kent, and was created Baron Sodes of Lees Court, Kent; married the daughter of the Rt. Hon. H. Pelham, brother to the Duke of Newcastle.

3535 SOUTHAMPTON (Thomas Wriothesley, Earl of) and Anthony Lord Ashley's Autographs to a Treasury Order for ten thousand pounds to be paid to Sir Edw. Griffin, Treasurer of his Majestie's Household, also the Autograph of Sir Robert Pye, 7s. - - - 1661

3536 SOUTHAMPTON (Earl of) Another Autograph to a Treasury Order for the Payment of 2000*l.* to T. Bushell, for his Majestie's service, 10s. 6d.

Southampton House, 6th May, 1663

3537 SOUTHAMPTON (Earl of) Another Autograph to a Warrant for the Recovery of 150*l.* Tenths due from the late Bishop of Exeter, with Instructions for the Payment of Sir Ralph Freeman's Arrears of Salary with the same, 7s. 6d.

ib. 28th June, 1664

- 3538 SOUTHAMPTON (Earl of) Another Autograph to a Letter to Sir Robert Long, relative to Lady Fisher's Annuity, also relative to the Pensions of the Grooms of his Majesty, who were anxious to change the payment from the Exchequer to the Cofferer, it being very unnatural, as it made the expence of the Household appear very great, in fine state, 10s. 6d. - - - Sept. 12th, 1664
- 3539 SOUTHAMPTON (Earl of) Another Autograph to a Letter to Sir Robert Long, desiring him to draw an Order for three Months advance for the Entertainment, &c. of Sir Gilbert Talbot, his Majesty's Resident with the King of Denmark, 10s. 6d. - - - July 24th, 1665

- 3541 SOUTHEY, Another Long Autograph Letter to Mr. Rumney Brough, relative to his Brother, Captain Southey, his publications, the Westmorland Election, Catholic Question, against whom he had fought a Short Battle, &c. a most interesting and desirable specimen, in fine state, 1l. 5s. Keswick, May 14th, 1826
- 3542 SOUTHWELL (Sir Robert) Autograph Letter to Lord John Roberts, Privy Seal, afterwards Earl of Radnor and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 5s. Portsmouth, Jan. 2, 1665
- . A long letter of compliments, soliciting his lordship's patronage, &c. on his introduction to public life, &c.
- 3543 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Another Autograph Letter to Admiral Sir J. Kempthorne, 7s. - Lisbon, April 9th, 1667
- . Relating to the repairs of the Cambridge, which lost her mast, &c. in the late engagement. Trusts to obtain a mast from the king's stores; hopes to enjoy the admiral's good company to dinner to-morrow, informs him of the sailing of the Mary Rose, in compliance with his orders, and with them the Swedish lord and Mr. Coventry; speaks highly in favour of Mr. Legge, afterwards Lord Dartmouth, &c.
- 3544 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Another Autograph Letter to Admiral Sir J. Kempthorne, 8s. - Lisbon, April 19th, 1667
- . Acknowledging the receipt of the Admiral's letter, and had given instructions to the ships accordingly; he has had his share of thunder here, and shall be glad to see them all well under sail; they accuse you of having taken sixteen prizes, requests all the crosses, reliques, parchments, letters, &c., may be taken out of the prizes, and sent on shore to him, that the priests may not join in the clamour, and other interesting particulars.
- 3545 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Another Autograph Letter to James Butler, first Duke of Ormonde, 1l. 1s. Kingsweston, 27th Sept., 1683

. A most pleasing and beautiful specimen, congratulating his Grace upon the birth of his first grandson, in the most kind and expressive manner. To the noble families of Ormonde or Somerset, a most desirable document. Sir Robert also acknowledges the receipt of his Grace's papers, which he will endeavour to put in order.

- 3546 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Two other Autograph Letters, while Envoy to Lisbon, addressed to his uncle, Sir Heneage Finch, afterwards Earl of Nottingham, 12s.

Lisbon, Jan. 1 and 2, 1667-8

. Respecting the conduct of Lord Sandwich, the English ambassador, who, after Southwell had arranged all the negociations with Spain, arrived at the last conjuncture, and took all the merit to himself, treating Southwell as a mere cypher. Entreats Finch's obtaining a reversal of any order which his lordship may obtain from Whitehall, for having Southwell at his obedience, "and make a gummet of me, as at Madrid;" but if that matter is found impossible, then for Finch to declare, "in Southwell's name, that he would not continue an hour longer in the place, it being ridiculous for him to bear a character, and yet to signify nothing."

- 3547 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Another Autograph Letter to Sir Leonline Jenkins, Secretary of State, 7s. Berlin, Oct. 2, 1680

. Autograph copy of a valuable state letter of eight folio pages, displaying the ambitious views of the court of Brandenburg at this period. Sir Robert was at this period envoy at Berlin, and the present letter is replete with his despair at obtaining any thing there for the honour of England, &c.

- 3548 SOUTHWELL (Sir Rob.) Autograph Draft of Letter, as President of the Royal Society, to Dr. Bidloo, acknowledging the receipt of his Books, and stating, that the Royal Society did not wish to pronounce any judgment in Matters of Dispute between Learned Men, it being a bar to the discovery of new lights, &c., 5s. April 27, 1700

- 3549 SOUTHWELL (Edward) Autograph copy of his Letter to Colonel Fletcher, Governor of New York, 8s. Dec. 26, 1695

. Acknowledging the receipt of several letters,—states it is a melancholy thing for friends to be at such a distance, and their letters intercepted by privateers, &c. &c.—parliamentary intelligence, council of trade, &c. &c.—admires his great success in keeping the five nations so steady, &c.—account of the king's glorious campaign, taking of Namur in view of the French army, &c.—clipping of the coin grown to a miserable state. A long and interesting letter of a man of business.

- 3550 SOUTHWELL (Edward) M.P. for Bristol, a most kind and endearing Autograph Letter to his wife, franked, 15s. 1738

. Addressed to her as his 'dearest life,' and evidently written on the anniversary of their wedding-day,—'nine happy years married.' His wife was the daughter of Edward Viscount Sondes, by whom the barony of Clifford passed into the Southwell family.

- 3551 SOWERBY (James) The celebrated Botanist, Autograph Letter to General Sir J. Watson Green, 10s. 6d. 1805

- 3552 SPARKE (Bowyer Edward) Bishop of Ely, Autograph to a License for Richard Stephenson, Vicar of Witchford, to be absent from his Benefice for two years, 4s. April 10, 1813

- 3553 SPARROW (W.) the Poet, Autograph Letter to the Rev. T. Maurice, relative to his having attempted to defend Mr. Mason's pretensions to the character of a Legitimate Poet, illustrated with extracts from Greek Poets, &c. 10s. 6d. 1780

- 3554 SPOTTISWOOD (John Laird of) Letter to the Earl of Buchan, respecting the Manuscripts, Charter, &c. relating to Canonby Priory, 5s. Spottiswoode, Sept. 30, 1789

- 3555 SPENCER (Lord Robert) Bill of his Expenses as Ambassador to and from the Duke of Wurtemberg, describing every particular most fully, with autographs of his Lordship and Sir Robert Cecil, afterwards Earl of Salisbury, 18s. 1603

. The noble writer, Sir Robert Spencer, was elevated to the peerage 21st of July, 1603. The reply of this noble to the Earl of Arundel, in a debate upon the royal prerogative, in 1621, evinces great spirit. "My Lord," said Howard, "when these things were doing, your ancestors were keeping sheep." "When my ancestors were keeping sheep," replied Spencer, "your Lordship's ancestors were plotting treason." This excited such irritation at the moment, that Arundel, as the aggressor, was committed to the Tower; but soon after, acknowledging his fault, was discharged. It is an interesting document to many noble families, his Lordship having been ancestor of the present Duke of Marlborough and Lord Spencer.

- 3556 SPENCER (George John Spencer, late Earl) as Viscount Althorp, Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, in favour of Mr. Ledlie, a Gentleman with whom his Lordship had been some time acquainted, from his holding a Commission of Captain in the Northamptonshire Militia, and in every respect worthy his Grace's protection, 18s.

. The writer succeeded his father the following October 31st. So early a specimen of this eminent statesman and book-collector is of rare occurrence.

- 3557 SPENCER (Lord Charles) afterwards Duke of Marlborough, Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, declining his Grace's offer of Gold Stick, &c., but expressing his regret for his Grace's situation, &c. with Autograph Letter from the Rt. Hon. C. J. Fox, returning Lord Charles's Letter, and recommending the offer of the Pensioners, &c.; also relating to Lord Hinchbrook, &c. 1l. 11s. 6d.

April 24th and 25th, 1783

- 3558 SQUIRE (Samuel) Dean of Bristol and Bishop of St. David's, Autograph Letter to the unfortunate Dr. Dodd, a fine specimen of a very uncommon Autograph, 1l. 5s.

Dean Street, Jan. 20, 1762

. A long and interesting letter of advice, valuable in the biography of an individual whose melancholy fate excited universal sympathy. The bishop writes,—"I am sensible of your labours, and wish ways could be found out to make your situation more easy and agreeable to you; but is it not next to the actual enjoyment of preferment to be generally thought to deserve it? It is not in mortals to command success. A quiet, patient, and tranquil spirit will lead you at last to your wishes; you are too feeling of the great truths of our religion not to wait the time appointed by Providence for your future ease." Notices also the translation of the bishop of Carlisle to the See of London, &c. &c.

- 3559 STAFFORDSHIRE.—Autograph Receipt of William Bradley, for Ten Pounds received of John Offley, Esq. High Sheriff of the County of Stafford, for the Apprehension of Humfrey Ellis, a Felon, 5s. - - Nov. 20th, 1650

- 3561 STAMFORD (George Harry Grey, Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Duke of Portland, 1l. 1s. - Envil, Dec. 6, 1775

. Had just received the chancellor's summons to attend the trial of the Duchess of Kingston; begs to know if it will be necessary for his lordship to send an excuse, as he did not mean to attend; have sent you to Welbeck half a piece of red cloth, the same as my hunting coat, &c. The noble writer succeeded also to the earldom of Warrington in 1796.

- 3562 STANHOPE (Lady Elizabeth) Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, 5s. - Bradby, Aug. 17, 1688

. A complimentary letter in return for certain civilities, &c. &c.

- 3563 STANHOPE (Lady Elizabeth) Another Autograph Letter to Sir Robert Southwell, at Kingsweston, near Bristol, 5s. ib. Oct. 31st, 1688

. A pleasing specimen of a friendly letter, including her father's kind wishes for Sir Robert's company, &c.

- 3564 STANHOPE (Colonel James, afterwards Earl) Two interesting Autograph Letters to W. Blathwaite, Esq. Secretary at War, relating to the raising his regiment, agreeable to his Majesty's commands; in one of them the Colonel is fearful of a mutiny, in consequence of his men not having received pay during their voyage, &c.; these letters are accompanied with his petition to have a respite of 160l. taken off his regiment, his Lieutenant having deserted with it, and a treasury order for the same, signed by Mr. Secretary Lowndes, &c. 10s. 6d. 1703

- 3565 STANHOPE, Another Autograph Letter to Admiral Norris, commanding him, by His Majesty's Order, to protect the Ships belonging to Lubeck, from the insults of the Swedes, 4s. - Hanover, July 28, 1716

- 3566 STANHOPE, Another Autograph Letter to Admiral Sir John Norris, 7s. - Hanover, Sept. 4, 1716

. Acknowledging the receipt of the Admiral's letter, and the correspondence with Count Guldenlew; is desired to acquaint him that his Majesty very much approves of his conduct in not saluting the Danish Admiral; which, as the Admiral observes, would be giving up a point never yet insisted on by them.

- 3567 STANHOPE, Another Autograph Letter to Mons. Solenthal, in French, 10s. 6d. Hampton Court, Oct. 3rd, 1718

. The writer having distinguished himself as an enterprising military officer, was appointed commander-in-chief of the British forces in Spain, in 1708, and obtained considerable renown by the reduction of the celebrated port of Mahon, in the island of Minorca. He was subsequently secretary of state, first lord of the Treasury, and chancellor of the Exchequer. He was created Earl of Stanhope, 14th April, 1718, and died Feb. 5, 1720-1.

- 3568 STANHOPE (Chas.) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, 5s. 6d. - 31st Oct. 1724

. The writer was the fourth son of the Earl of Chesterfield.

- 3569 STANHOPE (Sir William) Letter to Lord Ligonier, entreating his good offices for the son of a man who had obliged him, by letting him have the land he wanted. 'Your answer, when we meet next Tuesday at Lord Temple's,' 3s. March 8, 1760

22nd April, 1763

3571 STANHOPE (Charles, Earl of) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, relating to the Royal Society, his Lordship's Treatise on Music, &c. &c. 5s. - - April 2nd, 1806

3572 STANHOPE (Earl) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 5s. - - May 16th, 1808

. Relative to his lordship's new improved plan of stereotype printing, also respecting his worthy father's MS. papers, &c.

3573 STANHOPE (Earl) Another long Letter addressed to Mr. Thos. Pellatt and Mr. John Wilks, 10s. 6d.
Berners Street, May 29, 1811

. Thanking them for their approbation of his conduct in opposing Lord Sidmouth's Bill. "Stimulated by those principles of justice which have uniformly actuated my conduct, I shall continue to defend the unalienable rights of human nature, with respect to private judgment in matters of religion. And as a member of parliament, I never shall condescend to solicit from any set of men in power, as a favour, that which I ever shall hold, ought to be enjoyed by every man, as the most valuable right which he has received from that BEING INFINITELY HIGH, by whom he was created, and by whose providence he is hourly preserved."

3574 STANHOPE (Earl) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 5s. - - Aug. 20, 1812

. An interesting letter relating an invention of the noble writer's for multiplying prints, &c.

3575 STANHOPE (Earl) Another Autograph Letter to Colin M'Laurin, Esq. Advocate, 4s. - - Aug. 7, 1814

. Relating to a new edition of professor Mac Laurin's Works. A long and very interesting letter, in which the noble writer advocates strongly for its being stereotyped, &c.

3576 STANHOPE (Earl) Another Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, 5s. - - July 12, 1815

. Relating to the improvement of the poor laws; his lordship recommends to reduce into one act, all the laws relative to the poor, &c.

3577 STANISLAUS I. King of Poland, Autograph Letter to some Colonel, in French, 1l. 8s. - Wessenbourg, 1728

. Written during his exile, he was recalled to the throne in 1733. A friendly letter signed Stanislaus Roy.

Eltham, April 26, 1514

. Sir Edward Stanley, third Earl of Derby, to which title he succeeded in 1521, and died in 1524. To his descendants, this will be doubtless an interesting document.

- 3579 STANLEY (Col. Sir John) Autograph Letter to Mr. Blathwaite, 7s. - - Whitehall, May 7, 1697

* * * Informs him, the Lord Chamberlain being informed by the under house-keeper of Kensington, that it was the King's pleasure that none of his servants should lodge themselves, or keep the keys of their own lodgings in the palace, during his Majesty's absence; not having received any directions from the King therein before his departure, requests to know his Majesty's pleasure, &c.

- 3580 STANYAN (Abr.) Autograph Letter to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, 5s. - - Venice, March 25, 1698

* * * The writer was secretary to the English ambassador, and states his lordship's dissatisfaction with the court; informs him the republic had presented his lordship and him with a gold chain and a medal each; notices the illness of Mr. Montagu, desires his services to Lady Manchester, &c.

as Assignee of Edward Russell, Treasurer of the Navy, 5s.

Feb. 3, 1689

- 3589 STEPHENS (Edward) Two long and interesting Autograph Letters to Sir Robert Southwell, relative to the Study of the Law, and various other points, in which are noticed several eminent Persons of this period; the Writer states "that I have now in the press, and almost finished, another work of an old friend Sir M. H. (ale) from the Godfather, and have given it the name of a Discourse concerning the Knowledge of God, and of Ourselves; I have some thought of printing before it a short Dedication to the Duke of Brandenburge, wherein I would return that honour to himself, which he hath done to our truly honourable author after his Death," &c. 15s. - - Dec. and March, 1687-8
- 3590 STEPHENSON (Rowland) the Banker, Autograph Letter, 2s. 1823

- 3596 STEUART DENHAM (Sir James) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 5s. - Edinburgh, Sept. 30, 1779

. An interesting letter of five closely-written pages, principally relating to the duty of whiskey stills, malt, &c.

- 3597 STEWART (James) Autograph Letter to Francis I. King of France, acknowledges the Receipt of Letters by the Sieur de la Brasse, mentions the arrival of some Artillery, which he had been pleased to order for Scotland, states the expense which had been incurred in consequence of its bad condition, and on account of some ships which himself and M. de la Mailleraye had detained, to make the said voyage, (to Scotland) in fine condition, 1l. 11s. 6d. July 14, (1543)

. This letter is not dated, but is doubtless of the year mentioned. James Stewart was a retainer of Matthew Earl of Lennox, and supported the French interest in Scotland. Sir Walter Scott thought him to be Sir James Stewart, of Cardonnell, but this is doubtful, as he subscribes himself a subject of the King of France.

The letter relates to an interesting period of Scottish history.

3598 STEVENSON (J. Hall) Autograph Letter to Mr. Dodsley the Bookseller, introducing Mr. Thompson, &c. a scarce literary autograph, 7s. - Skelton Castle, March 4, 1764

 An important state document, empowering Capt. George Stewart to raise two hundred men in the Kingdom of Ireland, for the service of the King of Denmark, and in case of his not being able to obtain the number of volunteers, all prisoners in the several gaols, not delinquents for capital offences, are to be given over to the said Capt. Stewart, and to give him power to take up any idle and vagrant persons, to supply the number he shall want, and to give orders for the said Capt. Stewart to sail with them from any of the ports, &c.

3600 STEWART (Sir John) beautifully written Letter, with splendid Autograph of King Charles the First, addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in exquisite preservation, 2l. 12s. 6d. Palace of Westminster, June 27, 1628

 A most interesting and important state document, directing the castle and lands of Mageuelin, Lettergull and Cashell, the rectory of Taghoyham and other lands in the county of Donnegall, the property of Sir John Stewart, to be delivered to Mr. T. Holmes, the agent of the Duke of Lenox and the Earl of March, for their use, the said Sir John Stewart being convicted of high crimes, and now in prison in Scotland, and at our mercy for his life, also directing search to be made for one young servant to the said Sir John Stewart, supposed to be gone to Ireland with various papers and property, &c. &c.

3601 STEWART (Admiral Keith) Autograph Letter to Admiral Goodall, 5s. - - June 8th, 1792

 A pleasing friendly epistle.

Donegal, off Spithead, Dec. 13, 1802

- 3610 STRYPE (John) the Ecclesiastical Historian and Biographer, Autograph Letter to Ralph Thoresby, the Leeds Historian, 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* - - Low Layton, July 12.

. A very long, important, and highly interesting letter, relating to Bishop Matthew's relation of the Conference at Hampton Court, on Lay Baptism, which will serve for a good piece of standing history of those matters, and also for a vindication of the Dean of Chester, Dr. Barlow, &c. Hopes he omitted very few of the autographs of those men of note, &c. The worthy writer thanks God they are now out of fear of the rebels, those enemies of literature, &c.; thanks for the account of the lady skilled in the holy language, &c. Particulars relating to his Life of Archbishop Whitgift, Stow's London, and other works then in hand, &c., a most desirable article.

- 3611 STRYPE (J.) Another Autograph Letter to Ralph Thoresby, the Leeds Historian, 2*l.* 2*s.* - Layton, May 13th.

. A most valuable, interesting, and long letter from this eminent writer, relative to his life of Archbishop Grindall, which the writer trusts will be acceptable to such enquirers after the state of our excellent reformation, and the holy men that were employed in it; mentions his intention also of publishing the Life of Archbishop Parker, Grindal, &c., if spared; also notices of Bps. Césins, Nicolson, Dr. Jackson, the trial of Dr. Sacheverel, Stubbes, who lost his right hand, and other interesting matter. In one part, the Rev. writer says, "Sir, though I love autographs as well as Mr. Thoresby, yet I cannot deny so good a friend, nor refuse to contribute to such a repository as yours," and therefore send him Bps. Jewel, Parker, Grindal, Cox, Barlow, Skory, Sandys, Merick, and others of Queen Elizabeth's reign, who subscribed their names to the oath of supremacy.

- 3644 SURREY (Earl of) Autograph Letter, of four pages, to the Duke of Portland, scarce, 15s. Lancaster, Feb. 22, 1780

. Had "desired Lord Cavendish to inform his Grace that the petitions in Lancashire were likely to be very numerous and well signed, since which I have the mortification of a damp at Whitehaven; but whether the vapour arises out of the coal pits, or the great national corruption, I cannot as yet ascertain." Particulars relating to a petition in Westmoreland, Lord Thanet, Sir J. Lowther, and Mr. Wilson, &c. by the manner of Parson Lowther, Mr. Burn, &c. convince any one it is not Sir J. Lowther's wish. Also particulars relating to the county of Cumberland: Mr. Bradyl has a prospect of certain success at Lancaster, against Sir G. Warren. Particulars, also, relating to the county of Derby, in the Cavendish interest, Lord Hamilton, &c.

- 3680 SYDNEY.—Letter to Henry Viscount Sydney, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, afterwards Earl of Leicester, relative to the Accounts of Captain Godfrey Richards, of the Royal Artillery in Ireland, with Autographs of Sir Henry Goodrick, Sir John Carleton, Thomas Littleton, and Sir C. Musgrave, 10s. 6d. - Ordnance Office, March 10th, 1695
- 3681 SYDNEY (Lady Elizabeth) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies out of the Exchequer, 10s. 6d. 7th April, 1720
- 3682 SYDNEY (T. Townshend, Baron) Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, informing the Earl he had presented the Address from Linlithgow to his Majesty on the Restoration of his Health, &c. an interesting specimen, 5s. March 31, 1789
- 3683 SYDNEY (J. T. Townshend, Viscount and Baron) Autograph Letter, 8s. - - - Frognal, Aug. 3, 1800

. Thanking a lady for her condolence to him for the loss of the most indulgent and affectionate father. His lordship also promises to intercede with Mr. Pitt in behalf of the lady addressed.

- 3684 SYKES (Sir M. Masterman) Autograph Letter to Sir Egerton
Brydges, 3s. - Sledmere, June 26th, 1814

. An interesting specimen of this collector.

- 3685 SYMES (Lestrange) Comptroller of the Tents and Revells of his late Majesty Charles II., Autograph and Seal to a Letter of Attorney to William Fisher, to receive his Salary for the said Office, 7s. 6d. - Aug. 2nd, 1687

- 3686 SYMMONS (Charles) Editor of Milton, Autograph Letter, likewise one of his Sons, 7s. - Chiswick, 1825-6

- 3687 SYNGE (Edward) Bishop of Corke, Autograph Letter to Sir
Robert Southwell, a long and most interesting letter, 1l. 1s.
Cork, Sept. 6th, 1664

. Relating to Sir Robert's intended marriage with the daughter of Sir Edward Dering, for which the good prelate appears to have used his utmost exertions to soften down Sir Robert's father's objections, and which eventually he did; and no wonder, for though he writes with sincerity even in this letter to the son (who it appears had made love against his father's will,) he speaks of the Dering family with the highest encomium, and no doubt with great sincerity.

- 3688 SYNGE, Another long and very interesting Letter to R.
Southwell, Esq. with seal, in fine preservation, 15s.
Cork, Jan. 10th, 1664

. Relating to Southwell's approaching marriage with Lady Betty Dering, of Surrenden.

- 3689 SYNGE, Another Letter to the same, congratulating Southwell on his Marriage, Particulars relating to the Will of Sir John Fitz-Edmund Gerald, &c. 15s. - Feb. 24th, 1664

- 3690 SYNGE, Another Autograph Letter to Robert Southwell, Esq.
Clerk to his Majesty's Privy Council, 8s.
Dublin, March 15th, 1664

. Relating to the revenues of the see of Cork, and other bishoprics in Ireland; requesting Sir Robert to get the king's letters patent passed, confirming £200 per annum to the see of Cork, &c.; fearing the opposition of the forty-nine officers, impels him to secrecy, &c. This letter is signed Edw. Laonensis.

- 3691 SYNGE (Edward) Bishop of Ferns, Autograph Letter to Hon.
Edward Southwell, 7s. - Dublin, April 15th, 1740

. Relating to Mr. Preston, whom the reverend prelate appears to have wished to serve as far as he could do so conscientiously, but not wishing to go beyond his duty, as the father of his diocese.

- 3692 TALBOT (Sir Will.).—A long and most beautifully written Letter, with splendid Autograph of King Charles the First, addressed to Viscount Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in exquisite preservation, 2l. 2s.

Palace of Westminster, 4th June, 1628

. A most interesting state document, directing letters patent to be passed to Sir William Talbot, for his faithful services, and for his encouragement hereafter, granting the towns, hamlets, lands, &c., of Leynaghton, Bolygortagh, and Newton, in the county of Meath, and Bolybegg, alias Little Boyles, in the county of Kildare, with confirmation of former grants, by King James, likewise to pass grants for all other manors, lands, tenements, tithes, hereditaments, courts, liberties, privileges, &c., within the realm of Ireland, with or without surrender, &c., free from all fines, &c.

3693 TALBOT (Sir John) Autograph Receipt for his Salary as Trustee for the Sale of his Majesty's Fee-farm Rents, &c. 5s. - - June 7th, 1671

3694 TALBOT (Sir John) Interesting Autograph Letter to the Hon. W. Blathwaite, 10s. 6d. - Chichester, Aug. 1688

3695 TALBOT (C.) Duke of Shrewsbury, Autograph Letter to the Secretary of War, with rough Draft of the Secretary's Reply, 15s. - - July 30th, 1697

. Relating to the Earl of Manchester's embassy to Venice; requests he may be allowed a secretary, also relative to grants of lands in Ireland; placing the militia of Plymouth under Major-General Trelawny, &c.

3696 TAMBURINI (A.) The celebrated Singer, Autograph Letter in Italian, to F. Horncastle, in which is noticed the Duke of Wellington, 10s. 6d. - - 1840

3697 TANKERVILLE (Charles Bennet, Earl of) Autograph Letter, expressing his readiness to comply with the terms proposed for the purchase of some Wharfs, 5s.

Walton, Aug. 18th, 1788

. The earl died Dec. 10, 1822, and was succeeded by his son, Charles Augustus, the present earl.

3698 TANNER (T. M.) Autograph Letter to Dr. Wilkins, author of the Concilia, &c. 5s. - Westminster, Jan. 10, 1743

. Informs him the Archbishop of Canterbury had received a letter, which his grace presumed was for himself, but, being without direction, desired him to inquire. Notices the serious illness of his wife; also that of the Bishop of Lincoln, in a deep jaundice. No new Bishop of St. David yet fixed on. Mr. Potter is almost inconsolable for the loss of his wife; notwithstanding the ill-natured part of the world, I am well assured they were perfectly happy, and very fond of each other.

3699 TANNER (T. M.) Another Autograph Letter to Dr. Wilkins, 4s. - - Lambeth, Aug. 5th, 1745

. Informing him of his intention to visit him next week at Hadleigh, Suffolk. Franked by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Potter.

3700 TASSO (Bernardo) Father of the Poet, interesting Letter, in Italian, to Sig. Speron Speroni, a fine specimen of a scarce autograph, 18s.

3701 TASSO (Bernardo) Another Letter to Speron Speroni, 2l. 12s. 6d. - - Venice, Aug. 19, 1559

. A highly interesting letter, in which Tasso professes to submit to the judgment of his friend, in certain amendments which he had proposed in the Amadigi. In conclusion, he condoles with Speroni on the recent decease of his wife.

Attached is Speroni's autograph draught of his reply to Tasso, in which he praises the Amadigi, as superior to the Orlando Furioso of Ariosto. The Amadigi, a Spanish Romance, was produced at the press of Giolito, at Venice, 1560, 4to.

Bernardo Tasso, the father of Torquato Tasso, was secretary to Ferrand de Sanseverino, Prince of Salerno, and involved in the denouncement as a traitor, with the prince and his adherents, by the Emperor Charles the Fifth. These letters appear to be written during the period of his banishment, and are highly valuable, as material for his biography. In 1563, he became principal secretary at the Court of Mantua, and, in 1569, Governor of Ostiglia, on the Po, where he died.

- 3702 TAYLOR (William) A long and interesting Letter to Lord de Clifford, relative to the extreme dread of the consequences which the Embargo Act, then about to pass, had occasioned in Ireland, and especially of the Ruin of the Southern Parts, a very well-written and important letter, evidently penned by a man of considerable talent, 7s. Limerick, Jan. 4, 1740
- 3703 TAYLOR (J.) Autograph Letter to Mr. Bellamy, relative to his Communications relative to Colman for the Monthly Mirror, 7s. (1796)

- 3706 TAYLOR (Sir H.) Autograph to a Letter to Sir Egerton Brydges, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, respecting his Son, who is noted for the Purchase of a Commission, and his Royal Highness will be glad when it may be in his power to bring him forward, &c., 5s. Feb. 5, 1825
- 3707 TAYLOR (Chas.) Comedian, Autograph Letter to F. Horncastle, relative to his Catches, &c., 4s. 1833
- 3708 TEBBE (William, Serjeant of the Vestry) Warrant for the payment (for Syngyng Brede, Frankincense, &c., spent in our Chapel by the space of two Years) of Forty Shillings to him, with the Autograph of Henry VII., in fine preservation, 1l. 1s. Greenwich, April 4th, 1497
- 3709 TEMPLE (Sir John) Master of the Rolls in Ireland, long Autograph Letter to the Countess of Leicester, 1l. 11s. 6d. Batersee, Feb. 4, 1638

. A most interesting letter, on a variety of topics, but more particularly respecting Mr. Secretary Coke, whose situation the writer seems to have been particularly anxious that the Earl of Leicester should obtain. "He (Mr. Coke) speaks how happy he should be in retired life, and by the discourses that have been used to him, though my Lord of Leicester was never named, yet they have been so carried, and such general impressions laid in him, as he hath very lately, even of himselfe, wished with all his heart, that his Lp. had his place." Mr. Germain about to be sent into France by the king.—Somewhat the matter, for the French Ambassador was sent for sodainly, &c. &c.

- 3710 TEMPLE (Sir John) Another long Autograph Letter to the Earl of Leicester, 1l. 1s. Dublin, 7th Sept. 1644

. A most interesting letter; principally on the state of Ireland at that period. Sir John writes, "I much fear least you should be still abused concerning this kingdom; it hath always bin in the fate of it yett to suffar through those who only respect themselves and aime at private ends!"

- 3711 TEMPLE (Col. James) Autograph Receipt for certain Monies for the payment of the Garrison at Tilbury Fort, under his command, 18s. 1648
- 3712 TEMPLE (Lady M.) Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, respecting some goods wanting in the inventory of her ladyship's house, which appears to have been owing to the carelessness of Col. Lawson's servants, 7s. 6d. Oct. 14, 1699

3713 TEMPLETOWN (J. H. Upton, Viscount) Autograph Letter to Admiral Sir Adam Drummond, 7s. - Tuesday.

3714 TENISON (Thomas) Archbishop of Canterbury, Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, a fine and interesting specimen of a scarce autograph, 1l. 1s. June 12, 1699

. Acknowledges the receipt of a letter from Lord Galloway, with one enclosed for his Majesty, relating to the death of Dr. Brown, the provost of Trinity College, Dublin, whom his Grace pronounces a worthy man; relates also, the various applications and recommendations from persons named, including the Archbishop of Dublin, Lords Justices, &c. &c. The Duke of Ormond is earnest for Dr. Hall, the Vice-provost; his Grace points out some by name, all of whom are good men; his Grace says he has always thought it reasonable to go with the Lords Justices, and names various clergymen of whom his Grace has heard well, and others who have published good books, &c. &c. His Grace concludes his letter, 'pray give my very best duty to the King, and very good master, in whom may God alwayes gloryfy.'

3715 TENISON (Archbishop) Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, 1l. 1s. - June 27, 1699

. Acknowledging the receipt of the Secretary's letter, informing him Mr. P. Brown was appointed Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, &c.; great heats have arisen during the contest, &c.; certain it is that animosities there are high, &c. &c.

3716 TENISON (Archbishop) Another Letter to Mr. Secretary Blathwaite, 1l. 11s. 6d. - Lambeth, August 4, 1699

. A most important letter in matters of church history, containing a long account for the information of his Majesty, of the sentence of deprivation, &c. of Thomas Watson, Bishop of St. David's, and Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, for simony, aggravated with divers other evil practices, particularly that of having certified with his hand and seal that divers persons ordained by him, (no less than fifteen at one time) had taken all the oaths by law required, whereas none had taken any oath at all, and refusing the secretary to swear them at all, &c. &c.

3717 TENISON (Archbishop) Another Autograph Letter to Sir C. Hedges, Secretary of State, 1l. 1s. March 24, 1704-5

. An interesting specimen, informing him of his illness, which confined him to the house, and requesting him to make "his excuse to the good queen for my absence; as soon as it is safe for me, I will wait upon her," &c.

3718 TENNYSON (Rt. Hon. C.) Autograph Letter to Mr. Wright, relative to his Speeches on the Duke of Clarence's Annuity, and the Spring Gun Bill, 5s. - - 1829

. A most interesting letter, informing his lordship of his printing an account of Northumberland, written in the Icelandic language, to which are added, some curious particulars of Ireland, from the tenth century, a collection of original records concerning the Orkney Islands, &c., never before published, &c.

- 3757 THORKELIN (Professor) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - Lond. July 7th, 1789

. An interesting specimen of this learned northern scholar, written during his visit to England relating to the slave trade, against which the writer had published an essay—"I agree perfectly with you, that a traffic so unnatural ought to be abolished for the honour of mankind in general, and of those in particular who profess themselves Christians. May Heaven obviate this evil, and find out some remedy against it. The only thing I can think of, is to send some virtuous preachers to the kingdom of Africa, who shall teach the inhabitants the laws of nature, and the sacred truth of our Gospel." Trusts his lordship received the Icelandic fragment of English, Scotch, and Irish History, &c.

- 3758 THORKELIN (Professor) Another long and very interesting Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 7s. 6d. Feb. 23rd, 1791

. A most grateful letter to the earl for his many acts of kindness, not only to himself but to the cause of literature in general; notices the entreaties of his friends for him to remain in England, and their kind offer of a place in the British Museum, that immense hive of literature, which his gratitude to Denmark prevented him accepting, was then returning by command of the king of Denmark to be placed at the head of the state paper office of that country, where he trusts to be able to obtain an account of the early intercourse between Scandinavia and North Britain, &c.

- 3759 THORKELIN (Professor) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 15s. - Copenhagen, Nov. 1, 1791

. Informing his lordship the "Royal Icelandic Society had taken the liberty of enrolling his name amongst its brightest ornaments, whose active benevolence is incessantly occupied in your favourite pursuits, of promoting the happiness of man without respect to birth, religion, or country; forwards the diploma with the liveliest sentiments of that high esteem, which the northern muses entertain for you, on account of that generous protection which you have given to their kindred in the west, and the wise measures which you have adopted, in order to spread the universal blessing throughout your native country. I heartily rejoice at seeing once more the mutual intercourse established between Caledonia and Thule, for this reason I have already engaged to show the near relation in which the colony of Iceland stood formerly with the Scots," and other interesting matter relative to Dempster, the early state of Brittany, Denmark, &c.

- 3760 THORKELIN (Professor) Another Autograph Letter to the Earl of Buchan, 10s. 6d. - ib. July 28, 1792

. Informing his lordship the royal society of sciences at Throndem in Norway, had chosen his lordship a member, for the active love and zeal with which you animate, nurse, and cherish learning, &c.

- 3761 THORKELIN (Professor) Another Autograph Letter to Mr. Feldborg, 10s. 6d. - - ib. 1810

. An interesting specimen of this learned northern writer, desiring him to inform the Earl of Buchan that he was still alive, though his library, manuscripts, pictures, prints, natural and artificial curiosities, were all lost in the dreadful bombardment of Copenhagen by the English in 1807, and promises a copy of the original deed, which contains the examination of the earl of Bothwell, taken prisoner at Bergen, in Norway, after his flight from Scotland, &c.

"This excellent scholar resided some time in London and Scotland, on a mission from the prince of Denmark. On his return to Copenhagen he was appointed keeper of the registers in Norway and Denmark, during which period he published many learned works, including some curious historical pieces relating to Great Britain."

- 3764 THORNTON (Bonnell) Another Autograph Letter, apparently to Colman, 10s. 6d. April 22, 1768

. The writer thus concludes the letter—'Excuse this scribble-scrabble, for my head (I must not say turns round) is full, almost to running over, in bumping to Wilkes and liberty for ever—let the last, last for ever. The letter is a covert commendation of George Steevens, the Commentator upon Shakspeare. Qu. Was George Colman the writer of the Literary Notices in the Gent's Mag. under the signature of X.? for such, from this letter, it might be inferred he was. It is an admirable letter for Shakspearian illustration.

. Claiming two small parcels of land at Downe Patrick, belonging to the See of Downe, which Southwell had included in his survey, for the purpose of procuring an Act of Parliament for the sale of that estate. An interesting and important letter, both as to its general consequence, and its manly diction.

- 3914 WALKINGTON, Another Autograph Letter to John Povey, Esq. at his house in the Pel-Mal, London, 15s.

Dublin, Dec. 19, 1713

. Acquainting him of the dispute between the council and the City of Dublin, and by the same party in the Commons, which has shown itself in several severe resolutions against our good Lord Chancellor. Addresses to her Majesty on the differences between the two houses, which may produce very bad consequences, &c. The vote against the Chancellor was carried by twenty-six majority; the only accusation brought against him, is his adherence to the constitution and zeal for the Queen's prerogative. The Rev. Prelate observes, he cannot see how a parliament is to be continued in Ireland, unless better members be chosen, &c. &c.

- 3915 WALKINGTON.—Another Autograph Letter to John Povey, Esq. 10s. 6d. - - Dublin, Dec. 5, 1713

- 3971 WATSON (Rev. Thomas) Long and beautiful Autograph Letter to Lady Mary Vere, 12s. - Dec. 4, 1652

* * A letter consoling Lady Mary Vere, upon her solicitude for the illness of Mr. Brewer, a minister, then lying sick at his father's house at Cheusford. Reminds her ladyship—'Madam, how should we rejoice, that we have but a little way home. As Dr. Taylor, that blessed martyr, sayd, we shall soon be out of the Valley of Teares, upon the Mountains of Spices,' etc.

LADY MARY VERE, a woman as exemplary for her piety as her husband was for his valour, was descended, by the father's side, from the Tracys of Toddington in Gloucestershire. She marr. first, Mr. William Hoby, and, secondly, Sir Horace Vere, afterwards Baron of Tilbury, by whom she had five daughters, one of whom married into the noble family of Holles, and is thus connected to the ancestry of his grace the Duke of Newcastle. Upon the death of the Duchess of Dorset, the parliament committed to her care the children of Charles the First, James, Duke of York, afterwards James the Second; the Duke of Gloucester, and the Princess Elizabeth. Archbishop Usher, in a letter to her, in 1628, in a very elevated strain, tells her, 'If I have insight in things of this nature, or have any judgment to discern of spirits, I have clearly beheld engraven in your soul, the image and superscription of my God.' Clark states her decease to have occurred Dec. 25, 1671, in the ninety-first year of her age.

. Expresses how happy he shall be with his company to dinner on the following Wednesday, and then 'to the fair at Brading, in the afternoon, if the weather permits. Desires to acknowledge the favour of a brace of delicate trout, the flavour of which exceeded even that of his landlord's verses, who is certainly TAM Mercurio quam Marte.'

- 4025 WILKIE (William) Professor of Philosophy in the University of St. Andrews, and Author of the Epigoniad, &c. Letter to Dr. James Lind, 5s.

. Expresses his unhappiness:—"It is a misfortune arising from the very frame of our minds, that past pleasures are remembered with regret: they endear to us the memory of the persons with whom we enjoyed them, but make the places disagreeable in the highest degree. This makes me like St. Andrew's the better, that there is nothing in it to put me in mind of the friends which I have lost."

- 4026 WILKINS (Dr. David) Editor of the Concilia, Letter to Simon Ockley, 10s. 6d. - Lambeth, Feb. 8, 1717-18

P. S.; the Dukes of Devonshire, Dorset, and Marlborough; Earls of Romney and Orford, and Charles Montague, afterwards Marquis of Halifax, 2l. 12s. 6d. Whitehall, Aug. 12, 1698

. A most interesting historical document. Their lordships first assure his majesty that they have done all in their power to hasten away the squadron bound to the Straits. The Treasury have paid the seamen, so that they will sail in a fortnight. Sending a list of the ships, and expressing their doubts that the French fleet in the Mediterranean is much superior to them, which being a matter of general consequence, they humbly submit it to your majesty, whether it may not be necessary that Mr. Aylmer's squadron be strengthened, not only by some more of your majesty's ships from hence, but with a squadron of the States, who are equally concerned. Their lordships also beg to apprise his majesty that no orders are given to the admiral in case of accident, nor any instructions what men and commander shall be drafted for the West Indies, &c. After which follows a spirited remonstrance upon the current report, that the French troops abroad had not been disbanded, as promised last session, but still kept up, and who they are informed are intended for Ireland, which occasions much uneasiness here, and such discourses as are very much to your majesty's disservice,—this we fear may have a very ill influence upon the success of the next sessions of parliament, &c.

- 4039 WILLIAM III.—Autograph Letter of Francis Blundell, inclosing a Transcript of an Anonymous Disclosure of the Intended Assassination of King William the Third, and hinting the Means to avoid 'this Horrid Design,' a curious document, 7s.
