CONDITIONS OF SALE.

I. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer; and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so disputed to be immediately put up again and resold.

II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above Five Pounds, 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.

III. The Purchasers shall give in their Names and Places of Abode, and shall pay down 5s. in the Pound, if required, in Part Payment of the Purchase-money; in Default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased shall be immediately put up again and resold.

IV. The Lots to be taken away at the Buyer's Expense and Risk, within Three Days after the conclusion of the Sale, and the remainder of the Purchase-money to be absolutely paid on or before delivery; in default of which Messrs. Puttick and Simpson will not hold themselves responsible, if lost, stolen, damaged, or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

V. The Lots will be sold (as usual with Autographs and MSS.) with all faults and errors of description.

VI. Upon Failure of complying with the above Conditions, the money deposited in Part Payment shall be forfeited; and all Lots uncleared within the time aforesaid, shall be re-sold by public or private Sale, without further notice; and the Deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale, shall be made good by the Defaulters at this Sale, together with all charges attending the same.

This condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneers to enforce the contract made at this sale, without such resale, if they think fit.

* * * No Lots can be delivered at the time of Sale.

Gentlemen who cannot attend the Sale, may have their Commissions faithfully executed by their obedient Servants,

PUTTICK AND SIMPSON.

Auction Rooms for the sale of Literary Property, 191, Piccadilly.

Messrs. PUTTICK AND SIMPSON, in addressing Executors and others entrusted with the disposal of Libraries, and collections (however limited or extensive,) of Manuscripts, Autographs, Prints, Pictures, Music, Musical Instruments, Objects of Art and Vertu, and Works connected with Literature, and the Arts generally, would suggest a sale by Auction as the readiest and surest method of obtaining their full value; and they flatter themselves that the central situation of their premises, (near St. James's Church), their extensive connexion of more than half a century's standing, and their prompt settlement of the sale accounts in cash, are advantages that will not be unappreciated. Messrs. P. & S. will also receive small parcels of Books or other Literary Property, and insert them in occasional sales with property of a kindred description, thus giving the same advantages to the possessor of a few Lots as to the owner of a large Collection.

AUTOGRAPH LETTERS.

Friday, Feb. 28, 1851,

AT ONE O'CLOCK MOST PUNCTUALLY.

Letters autograph and signed are thus marked "A.L.s."

Letters not autograph but signed "L.s."

Documents signed "Doc. s."

- 1 ABINGTON (Frances), actress and singer b. 1735, d. 1815

Letters, 2 $\frac{1}{4}$  pages 4to. to some member of the government, soliciting an appointment that may help her to continue that decent respectability which "has marked a long life of exertion in the duties of my profession." In her autograph postscript she says that Mr. Morgan or Mr. Nepean would receive such assistance on her behalf with the utmost secrecy.

- 2 ALTINGIUS (Henricus) b. 1583, d. 1644

A.L.s. 1 page folio, in Latin, to Hermann Fankelius, pastor of the Church at Middleburgh, Hagæ, August, 1623.

Fine and scarce

- 3 BACON (Sir Nicholas) Lord Keeper, father of Lord Bacon

b. 1510, d. 1579

Treasury Warrant for the payment of £23. 6s 8d expenses to the Queen's Ambassador in Spain for bringing letters signed by Sir N. Bacon, Lord Howard of Effingham, Sir Will. Cecill, Sir F. Knolly and others. Windsor Castle,

Oct. 26, 1565

- 4 BALMERINO (Lord).

A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. to Lady — Edinb. Dec. 23, 1736.

Relating to some executorship account

- 5 BEETHOVEN (Ludovic van) musical composer b. 1770, d. 1827

A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. in French, to Mr. Broadwood, Vienne, Feb. 3, 1818. RARE, a fine and clearly written specimen;

with portrait

He returns thanks for a Piano-Forte which had been presented to him, and, alluding to the Instrument, says, "je regarderai comme un Autel, ou je deposerai les plus belles offrandes de mon esprit au divine Apollon." He promises to transmit his first composition made with its aid (les fruits de l'inspiration des premiers moments.) as a souvenir, in return for the present.

- 6 BLOOMFIELD (Robert) poet . . . . . b. 1766, d. 1823
 A.L.s. 1 page 4to. to Mr. Hill, Nov. 27, 1801. Interesting.
 "The infallible result of any inovation now made in the "Farmer's Boy," would infix in the mind of Mr. L[off] the deepest and the most inrooted dislike to me. Can you, Sir, wish to see so great a change? . . . . . or could you, without regret, have to tell your numerous Literary friends that Bloomfield now lies under the high displeasure of his friends for an ingrate, and a fool to his own reputation?" etc.
- 7 BOWLES (John) barrister and pamphleteer
 A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. Ap. 9, 1812; on the impending scarcity of corn, his pamphlet upon the subject, etc.—Also A.L.s. of Charles Matthews
- 8 BURGHLEY (William Cecil, Lord) lord treasurer
 . . . . . b. 1520, d. 1598
 Doc. s. 1 page folio, July 7, 1591, with autograph order and signature of Sir John Fortescue
- 9 BURKE (Edmund) statesman and orator . . . . . b. 1730, d. 1797
 A.L.s. 4 pages folio, closely written, Oct. 3, 1793. Scarce, a most desirable specimen
 "I confess, I would, if the matter rested with me, enter into much more distinct and avowed political connections with the Court of Rome than hitherto we have held. If we decline them, the bigotry will be on our part and not on that of his Holiness. Some mischief has happened, and much good has, I am convinced, been prevented by our unnatural alienation. . . . . With regard to Monsignor Erskine, I am certain that all his designs are formed upon the most honorable and the most benevolent public principles." He enters at great length into a defence of the Irish Catholics, particularly the priests, and claims for them equal loyalty of principles and actions with other subjects. An admirable letter.
- 10 BYNG (G . . . . .).
 A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. to the Duke of ———; on "whipping in" Voters on some important ministerial crisis.
- 11 BYRON (Gorge Gordon, Lord) poet . . . . . b. 1788, d. 1824
 A.L.s. 2 pages folio, to Lord Holland, Pisa, May 11, 1822
 Relative to the death of "Allegra," his natural daughter, which event took place on the 20th of the month preceding. "Her death, I confess, chilled my blood with horror. It was perhaps the most lively sorrow I have ever felt. With respect to the calumnies heaped upon me, I confess, though I am accustomed to all sorts of accusations, there are calumnies against which innocence itself loses courage. What! I the ———, but the subject is too painful for me to touch upon. . . . The war of "Church and State" has astonished me more than it disturbs—for I really thought "Cain" a speculative and hardy, but still a harmless production." He makes a quotation from the "Pursuits of Literature," styling it a "crazy forgotten book," etc. A fine letter.
- 12 BYRON.
 A.L.s. of Mrs. SHELLEY, 9 pages 8vo. and 4to. to J. Murray
 Information concerning Lord Byron's Poems.—The following is a concluding passage of the letter—"I have thus run through his works to show you what I think and know of the periods of their composition, and the moods of mind in which they were written."

13 BYRON.

A.L.s. of Sir EGERTON BRIDGES, 4 pages folio, closely written in 7 columns, to Joseph Haslewood, Geneva, Feb. 10, 1830

On Moore's Life of Byron. We have space only for one extract from this very excellent and sensible letter. Speaking of Lord Byron's Letters, and Moore's arrangement of them, he says, "It happens that Lord Byron's Letters have an affectation of familiarity, and joke, and slang. We constantly see him in his déshabille—in his most familiar and lowest moments, in a dirty undress! It may gratify the love of equality and degradation in a large portion of the reading multitude to see him so; but as it is the business of poetry to select the most beautiful features for accurate description, I think the same rule may safely be applied to the biographer. He is not to falsify those features; but he is not to be a Dutch painter, nor to paint after reality every sore, wound, wen, and distortion. These exposures may gratify our prurient curiosity, but they give us no wholesome instruction; they rather demoralise us." A Prologue composed by Sir Egerton Bridges for Venice Preserved, for private theatricals at Geneva, is included.

14 BYRON.

A.L.s. of the Countess GUICCIOLI, 1 page 4to. to J. Murray.
Scarce

15 BYRON.

Letters to Mr. Murray all respecting his pamphlet in answer to Medwin's "Conversations with Lord Byron"

1. Thos. Moore, Aut. note, 1 page 4to. Nov. 3, 1824; port.
2. Capt. Basil Hall, A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. Nov. 10, 1824
3. S. T. Coleridge, A.L.s. 2 pages 8vo. Nov. 5, 1824
4. Hen. Mackenzie, A.L. 1 page 8vo. Nov. 10, 1824
5. Agnes Elliot, A.L.s. 2 pages, 8vo. Nov. 6, 1824
6. Marianne Baillie, A.L.s. 3 pages 8vo.
7. B. R. Haydon, A.L.s. 1 page 4to. Nov. 7, 1824.

16 BYRONIANA.

Letters of the Hon. Aug. Leigh (three), Capt. R. Byron, J. G. Lockhart (three), W. Harness, F. W. Hulme (two), W. H. Milman, Mrs. Arntz (with poetry), James Prior, Douglas Kinnaird, Mrs. Constance Smith, (the Florence of Lord Byron) and Spencer Smith her husband; nearly all relating to Byron's works 19

17 BYRONIANA.

ELEVEN LETTERS OF THE LEADING GREEK PATRIOTS, Byron's friends, some entirely autograph, including those of Klakkos, Kanakan, Notaris, Alexophanus, Demetrius Koulis, Theotokis, Gerakiaris, Phlogaitis, and several others 1822

* * * The interesting and rare autographs in this lot cost the late proprietor 25 guineas.

18 BYRONIANA.

A volume containing printed Reviews of Moore's Edition of Byron's Works, cut from London and Provincial Newspapers

- 19 CAMPBELL (Thomas) poet b. 1777
 A.L.s 2 pages 4to. to J. Cochrane, May 27, 1821
 "May I pray you to get announced as early as possible in the newspapers a fact which has gratified my vanity not a little. I have been for a year past, unknown to myself, a member of the Royal Society of Warsaw." He sends a sketch for the paragraph.
- 20 CAMPBELL (Thomas).
 A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. to G. Dyer, June 10, 1825
 A friendly letter, speaking of his arduous labours in connection with the New Monthly, the New University project, etc.
- 21 CHARLES I. King of England b. 1600, d. 1649
 Doc. s. 1 page folio, Westm. May 24, 1828. On paper, a beautiful specimen
- 22 CHRISTIAN V. King of Denmark b. 1646, d. 1699
 L. subs. and s. 3 pages folio, to Will. III. of England, Hafniæ, Feb. 23, 1692; with seal. A fine specimen Credentials of Mr. Scheel.
- 23 CIOFANO (Hercole) latin poet, commentator on Ovid.
 A.L.s. 1 page folio to P. Vettori, Sulmona, Janv. 19, 1585, with seal. Rare
- 24 CLARKE (Edward Daniel) traveller, mineralogist b. 1769, d. 1822
 A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to T. J. Matthias, Cambridge, March 2, 1809. Scarce; a fine specimen
- 25 COLERIDGE (Samuel Taylor) poet, philosopher b. 1770, d. 1834
 A.L.s. 3 pages folio, to Geo. Dyer [Feb. 17, 1795]. An interesting specimen
 He is in great trouble as to his proposed journey to Scotland. He has payed his addresses to a young lady, who had, in his favour, rejected the advances of two other suitors, one a man of large fortune; and by her persevering attachment, had disoblged her relations to a great degree. "To leave her for two or three years would, I fear, be sacrificing her health and happiness." He has been lecturing at Bristol on politics, where "mobs and mayors, blockheads and brickbats, placards and pressgangs," are leagued against him. He is about to write to Scott, at the Telegraph Office, to know if he can get a Reporter's place. He says of Southey "he is a man of perpendicular virtue, a downright republican," etc. A capital letter.
- 26 COMPTON (Henry) Bishop of London b. 1632, d. 1713
 A.L.s. 1 page 4to. July 26, 1690. Scarce
- 27 COPLEY (G.).
 A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. to Ralph Thoresby, March 30, 1703, on some antiquities. Scarce
- 28 CORAM (Captain Thomas), founder of the Foundling Hospital b. 1668, d. 1751
 A.L.s. 1 page 4to. Jan. 16, 1737. Fine and scarce
 Respecting a grant of land to a young couple intending to settle in Georgia.

CORRESPONDENCE OF, AND RELATING TO THE REV. GEORGE CRABBE.

- 29 CRABBE (George), divine and poet b. 1754, d. 1832
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Dean of Lincoln, Grantham,
Dec. 31, 1813

He doubtless refers to his own works when he says, "I observed some books very handsomely bound amongst your collection: it seems a mark of great attention and politeness to the author, for with respect to the works themselves, I cannot perceive that they merited such distinction. He must be the more obliged to you."

- 30 CRABBE (George).
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Dean of Lincoln, Grantham,
Feb. 2, 1814

Amid his own domestic perplexities, his sympathy is extended even to the itinerant players. "The poor players, I understand, fret and strut (their fretting we cannot wonder at), to empty boxes. In spite of advertised warmth on the stage, people prefer that at their own firesides. I confess that I am not much interested in the distresses of Hamlets and Harlequins, and yet I have a little sympathy—for theirs also must be a kind of suspense: their Benefits depending upon the weather—upon what other people's depend it is not easy to say," etc.

- 31 CRABBE (George).
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Dean of Lincoln, Grantham,
May 21, 1814

"I must hasten to Trowbridge, where, while this hurrying yet not ill-natured successor of mine is urging me to be speedy in my exit. The patient and good natured minister of that place, who is engaged and much wanted in a new situation, kindly and patiently waits for me, and presses me to do all my business before I release him. It is a happiness when we find one man thus compensating by his virtues for the inconsideration of another."

- 32 CRABBE (George).
A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to the Dean of Lincoln, Trowbridge,
July 25, 1814

About his proceedings at his new Rectory.

- 33 CRABBE (George).
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to a lady, Trowbridge, Sept. 9, 1815
A familiar and friendly epistle.

- 34 CRABBE (George).
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Rev. John Crabbe, Trowbridge,
Oct. 3, 1821

"Here I have lost my character as a priest. There is an undoubted Ghost in the street going to the Turnpike. A man has related to me the knockings, &c., and how eleven people sat up and heard, &c., and "the parson" said he did not believe but it was an idle trick and no spirit at all."

35 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to the Rev. John Crabbe, Beccles, Dec. 7, 1823

"I went this morning to hear a Mr. ———, a curate for the time of Dr. Owen, and one just of Dr. Owen's sentiments. . . . There is a strange mixture of vanity or piety, weakness and good meaning, positiveness and perplexity in all their discourses. At first I was amused, then offended, now sick, and that, I suspect, is the effect upon almost all who are not satisfied with hearing—(hearing nothing beside),—that "Christ's blood cleanseth from all sin;" a doctrine which not a single person is disposed to question, but this joined with opinions, and delivered in a language which few or none are disposed to admit. . . . Is it a proof of my amendment, or proof of my infirmity, that (in the corrections and alterations of my Murray-concerns), I wrote 100 verses yesterday?"

36 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to the Rev. Geo. Crabbe, Beccles, Nov. 6, 1825

"I have been engaged by Spurzheim's new edition of his phrenology. He does not write English accurately, and, even where I understand, I cannot always agree, and this in assertions which do not immediately relate to the science, to which I lean sceptically." . . . Speaking of Calvinistic divines, he says "they are not all like Dr. Owen's Curate. This young man, only in deacon's orders, was more vehement than becomes a dignitary of the Church, and more cruel in his assertions than becomes any man. We had death on the pale horse and hell behind him, open for all who do not escape just in the narrow way this youth recommends."

37 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to the Rev. G. Crabbe, no date.

"I have a great deal of tedious though not unpleasant work before me. How a tedious work can be pleasant is somewhat of a riddle, but it is literally true. Correcting verses is pleasantly tedious," etc.

38 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Rev. G. Crabbe, Trowbridge, May 18, 1826

An interesting letter, on Religious Faith, with references to Scott, Hervey, Marshall's Mystery of Sanctification, etc.

39 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Rev. Geo. Crabbe, Trowbridge, April 19, 1827

An interesting letter on the difficulties of the Evidences of Religion, the aid of the Holy Spirit, Religious Faith, etc.

40 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. to the Rev. Geo. Crabbe, Trowbridge, Feb. 7, 1828

Very interesting. On the nature and character of Christians.

41 CRABBE (George).

Three Autograph Letters (imperfect, but interesting); and A.L.s. of his Son and Biographer, the Rev. Geo. Crabbe

- 42 CRABBE (George)
Two A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. and 3 pages 4to. both to the Dean of Lincoln 1814
- 43 CRABBE (George).
Two A.L.s. both 3 pages 4to. to the same 1814
- 44 CRABBE (George).

A.L.s. 1 page 4to. Pucklechurch, Sept 30, 1834; enclosing a drawing of his father, made by his brother John Crabbe.
The drawing is with the letter
- 50 BOWLES (William Lisle) poet.
A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to the Rev. Geo. Crabbe (son of the poet), Nov. 18, 1833
An interesting letter, containing anecdotes of the Rev. Geo. Crabbe, the poet.
- 51 SOUTHEY (Robert) poet laureate b. 1774, d. 1845
A.L.s. 1 page 8vo. Keswick, Jan. 25, 1834
"I never had the pleasure of seeing your father but once," etc.
- 52 CAMPBELL (Thomas) poet.
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. Nov. 13, 1833. Interesting
Giving an account of his interviews with the poet, in company with Tho. Moore, Ugo Foscolo, and others; the projected Poet's Club, etc.
- 53 CROKER (John Wilson).
A.L.s. 5 pages 8vo. and 4to. to J. Murray, no date Respecting Crabbe's "Borough;" with a curious passage relative to a book sent to him for review.
- 54 FORD (Rev. J.).
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. Dec. 20, 1833
Sending some Verses by Bernard Barton, on a Drawing of a Cottage at Aldborough, in which the poet spent his early days.
- 55 BAILLIE (Joanna)
A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. Hampstead, Dec. 5
With interesting recollections and anecdotes of Crabbe.
- 56 OPIE (Amelia) b. 1771
A.L.s. 1½ page 4to. Jan. 13, 1834
Regretting her inability to furnish any recollections of Crabbe for publication—"but the wreath which encircles his brow is already so full, and bright, that it wants no additional leaves, were it in my power to offer them!"
Three Autograph Letters (imperfect) and
A.L.s. of his Son and Biographer, the Rev. Geo. Crabbe

57 CRABBE.

Letters, mostly containing anecdotes of Crabbe, viz :

1. M. Callcott, A.L.s. 3 pages 8vo. Dec. 9, 1833
2. H. Gally Knight, A.L.s. 1 page 4to. Dec. 23, 1833
3. H. H. Pickersgill, A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. Dec. 14, 1833
4. Dawson Turner, two A.L.s. July and Oct. 1833
5. Dr. J. S. Duncan, A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. Dec. 11, 1833

DR. PHILIP DODDRIDGE, NEARLY ALL ADDRESSED TO HIS WIFE, AND A FEW TO HIS DAUGHTERS
1731-51

* * * These letters, extending over a period of twenty years of Dr. Doddridge's active and useful life, must be considered as highly interesting, from the record of his ministerial labours which they furnish, and from the reflections which are interspersed, as well from the spirit of warm affection which they evince, alike honourable to the man and to the Christian minister. By far the greater part of this series is unpublished, though many of the letters would appear to have been used by the Editor of the Doddridge Correspondence. Of the unpublished portion there is sufficient to form a volume, which would interest a large circle of readers, especially that section of Protestant Dissenters with which Doddridge was connected, and by whom, especially, he is held in high and deserved admiration.

- 168 SHENSTONE (William), poet b. 1714, d. 1763
A.L.s. 4 pages 4to. to Mr. Hylton, Leasowes, Oct. 25, 1753.
A fine specimen
A pleasing familiar letter, about his snuff-box, his purchase of a waist-coat, etc.
- 169 SHERIDAN (Richard Brinsley), statesman and orator
b. 1751, d. 1816
A.L.s. 1 page 4to., franked, Fetcham [Aug. 2, 1813]. A good specimen
- 170 SOMERSET (Edward Seymour, Duke of) the protector
decapitated 1552
Doc. s., 1 page folio, Greenwich, May 18, 1547. RARE.
- 171 SOUTHEY (Robert), poet laureate b. 1774, d. 1845
A.L.s. 2 pages 8vo. to G. Dyer, Keswick, July 21, 1827.
With portrait
"Whatever differences there may be in our way of thinking upon certain subjects, we both look to the same end, each labouring to promote that which in his opinion is most conducive to the general good. We both wish to see the remediable evils of society amended, and those which may be irremediable mitigated as far as mitigation is possible."
Etc.
- 172 SOUTHEY (Robert); Letters to Duppa
A.L.s. 3½ pages 4to. to Ric. Duppa, Feb. 15, 1805
* * * At the period of this correspondence Southey was publishing the Espriella Letters, purporting to be an account of English manners by a Spaniard. To this work Mr. Duppa contributed, to whom all the letters are addressed, and some allusion to his share therein is constantly made in these letters. The whole series is very interesting.
- 173 ——— A.L.s. 3 pages 4to. March 29, 1805; giving the plan of his Espriella Letters
- 174 ——— Another, 3 pages 4to. — 29, 1805; concerning the M. Angelo's poems, and speaking of Madoc, he says, "Of the ultimate character which the Poem will obtain I have no fear, and of its immediate sale as little hope."
- 175 ——— Another, 2 pages 4to. July 14, 1805; on the same subject

176 SOUTHEY (Robert) 3¼ pages 4to. Nov. 22, 1805; about his Madoc, and the reviews of it. He says, "A man who has been reviewed above fifty times, which is my case, is hardened to such things. Besides, by God's blessing, such praise or such censure as can be bespoke for five guineas a sheet, can neither help nor hurt me now. They who fling dirt at me will only dirt their own hands." etc.

This letter contains interesting reference to Jeffrey, of the Edinburgh Review; and gives an account of a day's salmon fishing with Sir W. Scott.

177 ——— Another, 2½ pages 4to. Dec. 30, 1805; on the Espriella letters, remarks on one of Opie's pictures, of which he wishes to say something civil, though he does not and cannot like the man.

178 ——— Another, 4 pages 4to. Aug. 5, 1806; on the progress of the Letters, on family ties, &c.

179 ——— Another, 3 pages 4to. August 17, 1806; on the material of the work, humorous and interesting

180 ——— Another, 3 pages 4to. Sept. 14, 1806; alluding to the impostors Brothers and Bryant, who were noticed in the Espriella Letters

STUART PAPERS

AND AUTOGRAPHS CONNECTED WITH THE HISTORY OF SCOTLAND.

181 ANGUS (Archibald, Earl of) Chancellor of Scotland, statesman and military commander d. 1557
Doc. s, 1 page folio, 1521. A good specimen, VERY RARE.

This nobleman married Margaret, widow of James IV., and Regent of Scotland. He was of the Privy Council of James V., and afterwards, in England, of the Council of Henry VIII. He commanded the Scots army against the English at the battle of Pinkiefield.

182 MORTON (James, Earl of) the Regent, b. 1530, beheaded 1581
Letter of Bail, 1 page folio, signed; EXCESSIVELY RARE, in fine condition, but the name of some person mentioned in the document has been obliterated.

* The Earl of Morton was Chancellor of Scotland in the reign of Mary, and Regent of that Kingdom, in the minority of James VI. He was one of the persons concerned in the murder of Rizio, and was afterwards appointed to treat with Elizabeth's deputies concerning the reasons for deposing Mary. He was executed for the murder of Lord Darnley, in which he was no otherwise concerned, than in being privy to that atrocious fact. Granger's Biog. Hist.

183 BEATOUN, (Cardinal David) b. 1494, assassinated 1546
Signature to a Charter, in vellum, Monastery of St. Andrews, Feb. 20, 1539. EXCESSIVELY RARE. We know of no private collection in this country containing an example, except that of Mr. Dawson Turner.

184 HAMILTON (John, 1st Marquis of).

Doc. s., "Johannes Commendatarius de Arbrothe," on vellum, 1580. VERY RARE

The unwavering attachment of this nobleman to the unhappy Mary was so appreciated by her, that one of her last acts was to transmit to him a ring (we believe, still treasured in the family), in token of her high esteem.

185 JAMES VI. of Scotland, and 1st of England.—ANNE of Denmark, his Queen.

Their signatures to a Charter of Confirmation by Queen Ann, with consent of her Royal Consort, of an obligation by Thomas Toscheach, in favour of Thomas Ged and his wife, relating to their possession of the Petty common lands, Dumferline, June 10, 1602; on vellum.

186 JAMES III., or the Chevalier de Saint George (James Edward Francis, called 'the old pretender'), [b. 1688], d. 1766
Proclamation, entitled "His most gracious Majesty's Declaration," 7½ large folio pages, signed in full at the commencement, and with his initials at the end, and with autograph remarks on the margin, in two places, "given under our sign manual and privy signet at our Court at Rome, the 23d day of December 1743, in the 43d year of our reign;" with seal, having the inscription "JACOBUS III. Rex," etc.

AN IMPORTANT HISTORICAL DOCUMENT.—The Prince professes a love and affection to his native country, neither altered nor diminished by long and remote exile, and almost forgets his own misfortunes in the consideration of the oppression and tyranny under which the country labours. He specifies the various abuses then prevalent, particularly the bribery and corruption exercised by the connivance given to irreligion and immorality, and adds on the margin, in his own hand, "The manufactures of England are visibly going to decay." His royal heart is filled with grief at this state of affairs, and his whole thought and study is to devise an effectual remedy, believing that the time is at length at hand when the Divine Mercy will terminate these misfortunes by restoring to the people him, their natural born prince. This he would desire to be done without the intervention of any foreign power; but as he has too much regard for his subjects to allow them to be exposed without the assistance of regular troops, he has obtained of "our dear brother, his most Christian Majesty," (of France,) a Force sufficient to protect and unite the true lovers of their country, and to aid their deliverance. He promises a general pardon for all offences committed against himself or his royal Father; to assemble a free parliament as soon as tranquillity will permit, wherein no corrupt influences shall be suffered to exist; to support the Church of England, as by law established, in all its rights and properties; to allow toleration to all Protestant dissenters; to maintain the Habeas Corpus Act; to refrain from unnecessary taxation; to recompense and employ men of merit and probity; and thus hopes that the native genius and honour of the nation may be soon retrieved, and the past divisions soon buried in oblivion. He engages for the preservation of the strictest discipline amongst his foreign troops, who are to be sent home as soon as the public tranquillity will allow. He arranges for the collection of supplies of money and provisions, and promises an exchange of higher rank, and the bounty of a year's pay, for all officers joining his standard. For the preservation of tranquillity, he charges the civil officers and magistrates to continue to exercise their respective offices. As he finds, to his unspeakable concern, "by a complication of circumstances," the impossibility of heading the undertaking in person, he trusts that the youth and vigour of his son the Prince of Wales may enable him to join the expedition with chief command; and failing this, he has invested the Duke of Ormond with all necessary powers and authority. He finally charges the people with their allegiance to him, and threatens the adherents to the Usurper (Geo. II.) with exclusion from the benefits of the pardon before named.

187 JAMES III., the old pretender
L.s. 2 pages 4to. Rome, Dec. 7, 1742. Fine and RARE

Speaking of the news he has received from England, he says, there "the discontents seem to run very high; but, till the Parliament meets, we shall I believe be a good dale in the dark about the resolutions of that Governmt. as to war or peace. I doubt not but the French will do their utmost to obtain the last if they can." . . . . He expresses his regret at the death of Mr. Dicconson, etc.

188 RAMSAY (Andrew Michael) called the chevalier, tutor to the children of the Pretender
b. 1686, d. 1743
A.L.s. 1½ page 4to. [to one of his pupils] St. Germain, Dec. 11, 1742. RARE

189 FORBES (Duncan) of Culloden, Lord President of the Court of Session
b. 1685, d. 1747
Doc. s. 1 page folio, Edinb. Jan. 21, 1743. RARE

It was mainly owing to the exertions of this eminent Judge that the Rebellion of '45 was prevented from spreading more widely amongst the Clans; but so ungratefully was he treated by the Government, that he was never able to obtain repayment of the money he had expended in its support.

190 ALBANY (Countess of)—ALFIERI.

Two A.L.s. of the Countess of Albany, and a declaration concerning some horses which had been seized during the revolution, the latter document being in the hand of Alfieri, and signed by the Duchess; also other documents relating to property so taken, with official orders for its restitution, signed by celebrated members of the Republican Government.

The Princess of Holberg, better known as the Countess of Albany, was married to Prince Charles Edward the young pretender, afterwards to Alfieri, the poet, and lastly to Fabre, the painter. Her property was seized during the French Revolution, but was restored to her upon her claim as an alien. The interesting documents in this lot have reference to this event.

191 STRYPE (John), ecclesiastical historian and biographer
b. 1643, d. 1747
A.L.s. 2 pages 4to. to Ralph Thoresby, Leyton, May 3, 1716. Interesting to the Autograph Collector

He acknowledges the receipt of some MSS. in aid of his Life of Whitgift, and promises to send in return an autograph letter of Calvin, "and a pretty large one, to the Duke of Somerset, in St. Edward's time," also of Peter Martyr, Martin Bucer, Paul Fagius, &c.

- 192 TASSO (Bernardo), poet, father of Torquato Tasso
