PHYSICIAN'S REPORT

TO THE

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

In compliance with the requisitions of the By-Laws of the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane, the undersigned presents to its Board of Managers his Twenty-second Annual Report. In performing this duty he has the gratification to announce, that the year just closed, which, to many at its commencement, seemed to give anticipations of unusual difficulties in the management of the institution, has terminated in a manner highly satisfactory to all. The number of its patients has been steadily increasing, its usefulness among all classes of the community has gradually extended, and by a rigid, but liberal system of economy, it has been able to meet all its expenses, without in any way lowering its scale of accommodations, or diminishing the comforts of a single patient.

The system which was adopted at the opening of the new building, has been continued without essential variation, and has realized our anticipations. Another year's experience only adds to the strength of my convictions of the great value and decided advantages of our new arrangements. What was novel in the plan and fixtures of the new building has answered the purposes intended, so effectually, that if the work was to be again done, very few changes would be made, and these would be of a comparatively unimportant character.

A vacancy among the medical officers of the hospital during a portion of the year, added materially to the labors of Dr. Jones, Assistant Physician, and of Jonathan Richards, Steward, at the Department for Males, and their efficient and cheerful performance of these increased, as of all their other duties, are worthy of special commendation.

In the early part of the summer, Dr. Edward A. Smith, who has for several years been mentioned in my reports as an efficient and valued assistant, resigned his office at the Department for Females to engage in private practice in the city of Philadelphia. His place has been supplied by the election of Dr. J. Edwards Lee, who formerly occupied the same position, and was entirely familiar with all the duties of the office. At the Department for Males, Dr. W. S. Longshore also resigned his post of Second Assistant Physician to engage in private practice. This office has not yet been filled, although the duties of the place have for sometime been satisfactorily performed by Dr. J. M. Hall. Both the gentlemen who resigned left with the best wishes of all connected with the institution.

At the date of the last report, there were 255 patients in the institution, since which 194 have been admitted, and 164 have been discharged, or died, leaving 285, being an increase of 30, under care at the close of the year.

The total number of patients in the hospital during the year was 449. The highest number at any one time was 285; the lowest was 255; and the average number under treatment during the whole period was 267.

The number of males in the hospital during the year was 232, and the number of females was 217. The highest number of males at any one time was 143, and the highest number of females was 146. The lowest number of males was 127, and of females was 126. At the beginning of the year, there were 128 males, and 127 females. At this date, there are 143 males, and 142 females. The number of males admitted during the year was 104, and the number of females 90.

Of the patients discharged during the year 1862, were—

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Cured	50	40	90
Much improve	d 4	8	12
Improved	15	18	33
Stationary	10	6	16
Died	10	3	13
Total	89	75	164

Of the patients discharged "cured," forty-two were residents of the hospital not exceeding three months; twenty-five between three and six months; twelve between six months and one year; and eleven for more than one year.

Of those discharged "much improved," two were under treatment less than three months; two between three and six months; five between six months and one year; and three for more than one year.

Of the "improved," five were under care less than three months; seven between three and six months; twelve between six months and one year; and nine for more than one year.

Of those discharged and reported "stationary," two were under care less than three months; three between three and six months; six between six months and one year; and five for a longer period than one year.

Ten males and three females have died during the year. Of these deaths, three resulted from acute mania; three from chronic mania; two from paralysis; one from organic disease (softening) of the brain; one from epilepsy; one from old age; one from disease of the heart; and one from typhoid fever, while laboring under the delirium of which, the case was admitted.

Of the patients who died, four were admitted for mania, five for melancholia, one for monomania, two for dementia, and one for delirium. Of these, four were over seventy years old, and five others, over fifty.

Of the cases who died, two were in the house less than one month; four between three and six months; three between six months and one year; two between two and three years; one between three and four years; and one for more than twelve years.

Premature Removals.—There are many points connected with the care of the insane that cannot be too frequently referred to, while public sentiment is not firmly established on true principles. Besides, as has often been remarked, the reports of hospitals have, every year, a new class added to their readers, and those who now consult them most anxiously, have probably never before had their attention directed to the subject. The premature removal of patients, by which is meant their being taken home before a proper trial of treatment, is one of the points alluded to. This results from a variety of causes, prominent among which may be placed the want of a correct understanding of the nature and generally chronic character of insanity by the friends, and the persistent importunities for removal on the part of uncured patients. When patients are fully restored, it is rare that this morbid anxiety to leave an institution—which is entirely different from the natural desire to be with one's own family—is found to exist. While some are then even anxious to remain, a considerable number who had been restless before, become perfectly willing to be governed by the opinions of their medical advisers. It is not natural that patients while believing that their minds are not affected, should desire to remain in a hospital specially intended for the treatment of that class of diseases. Recovering, and conscious of the serious character of the malady they had been suffering from, they recognize the importance of doing everything that will tend to secure to them, for the future, permanent and perfect good health. They then have no difficulty in seeing that the officers of such institutions, who receive credit only for those whom they send away, are more likely to err in recommending the too early, rather than the too tardy removal of their patients, and while in this state of mind, convalescents rarely fail to exercise a most beneficial effect on all around them.

Although it is not to be expected, as the general rule, that all who leave a hospital, even when well, should have pleasant recollections of their residence in it, still it is very safe to say, that those who are most uncomfortable in these reminiscences who seem to remember only what was most painful in their illness, and are disposed to impeach the best motives and misconstrue the most kindly intended actions, will be found to be among those who have been removed while uncured, and who, although well enough to be among their friends without danger, are still frequently laboring under delusions, and at all times, to a greater or less extent, liable to have an aggravation of their maladies. It is true, that there are a few cases, where the recovery seems complete, in which the erroneous impressions existing during their illness seem to have been too strong for the returning reason fully to eradicate, and who remain for a considerable time with confused ideas of what happened during their treatment, although not belonging to that other class, in which long periods of their disease seem to be a perfect blank. The cases referred to, however, are rare. There are a very few others too, who, impressed with the feeling which formerly was almost universal, and is still too prevalent for an enlightened age, that there was some reproach in having suffered from an attack of insanity, and that their position in society might be lowered from having had a form of sickness from which they must know that not a single person who has a brain can certainly claim exemption—and from feelings of mortified pride, rather than from conviction, persist in declaring that their minds had never been affected, and that as a consequence, every one who has had anything to do with placing them in an institution or detaining them there, had been guilty of a great wrong. Still, these classes of dissatisfied persons are very small in comparison to those whose unpleasant feelings are directly or indirectly the effect of premature removals.

Premature removals are not to be too generally attributed to the patients, for every now and then they are found to be far in advance of their friends in regard to the importance of their entering a hospital for treatment, and of their remaining there till it has been effectually tried. More accustomed to acute diseases, which run their course in a few weeks or even days, the friends of patients become uneasy and discouraged, when they find that months are passing without obvious improvement; and yet in these very cases the change may be going on, which, in a few weeks more might lead to perfect health. In this way, a patient taken out just before the favorable change was about to occur, may recover in a very short time at home, or even in some more injudicious position, and yet notwithstanding this result, the removal may have been improper, and have risked all the good that had been gained by many months of previous treatment. Conclusions adopted from studying single cases are apt to be erroneous. Single cases indeed are of little value in establishing principles, which can only be arrived at by the careful observation of large numbers. Nothing is more uncertain in the study of a case of chronic disease, than the conclusion that because particular results followed the use of a certain remedy, the whole effect was caused by it. It may have been tried just when the recovery was about to take place and had little or no agency in its production, or it might really produce the best effects in one period of a case, when it could have had no salutary influence at another. Time, even a long time, is as necessary for relieving us of some forms of sickness, as of many kinds of sorrow. Many cases of insanity seem to run a definite course, and a certain number of months are necessary for a recovery, no matter how persevering and enlightened the course of treatment may be; and yet some do occasionally recover, that are treated injudiciously and in positions that all experience goes to show are unfavorable to the restoration of mental health. These facts only tend to prove, that in a limited number of cases, the restorative powers of nature are sufficient to overcome all obstacles, but they do not tell us how many, by such a course, are deprived of all hopes of a recovery and consigned to the saddest form of permanent insanity.

It cannot be too strongly impressed on every one, that a steady perseverance in treatment in every case of insanity is of incalculable importance. Too much care cannot be exercised in the primary decision to submit a case to Hospital treatment, nor in learning where the best and most enlightened can be had, but these points being satisfactorily settled, then let no temporary discouragement, no suggestions of officious friends, no histories of wonderful recoveries by marvellous appliances, nor importunities from the patients themselves, lead to the suspension of a course deliberately adopted, till after a fair and full trial. It is not easy to indicate exactly how long a period of treatment should be insisted on, because the character of cases vary so greatly, but it is quite safe to say that although so many do regain their health within three months, no one should ever become discouraged in a recent case, without at least a year's trial. Many of the best and most permament recoveries are after this period, and our statistics prove the proportion of restorations to the whole number of cases, to be so large, that favorable results may reasonably be anticipated, where early treatment has not been neglected.

Facts, properly stated to the friends of patients, will generally satisfy them on these points; but if this course is not sufficient, it may now and then be well to assent to a temporary leave of absence for a patient. In a large majority of cases this will lead to no immediate good result, but ultimately it may, for the friends will generally discover that the patient is not well enough to be at home; they learn that the change is not producing the benefit they anticipated, and the case comes back sure that in the future there will be no further resort to experiments, but that the officers will have, what is always so important, the steady and unflinching support of the friends, in whatever course of treatment may be deemed advisable.

It becomes the officers of Hospitals for the Insane steadily to impress on the friends of patients, and themselves to remember, how difficult it is to say that any one is absolutely incurable. Every case, no matter what its character or duration, should be placed under the circumstances believed to be most favorable to secure a restoration, and should be steadily kept there. If the patients do not then recover, they will probably improve, and at any rate will not become worse from lack of proper care and treatment. It is behind the age at this day to speak of institutions for incurables. If there were no other objections to them—and there are many grave ones,—the fact that Omniscience alone can tell with certainty who are in this condition should be sufficient. Among the pleasant results of treatment in this institution within the last three years, has been the recovery of an unusual number, whose diseases, from their long continuance and discouraging character, seemed to offer but the faintest hope of a favorable change. More than one of these were placed here by their friends, not with any prospect of their being cured, but that they might have a pleasant home, be protected from unnecessary exposure, and surrounded with as many of the comforts and enjoyments of life as were compatible with their unfortunate condition. Every such case is an important lesson, and teaches more forcibly than any essay that can be written, the value of hope and a perseverance that will not yield on account of discouragements in Hospitals for the Insane, and that the arrangements of no institution can well be too good for even the most unpromising class of patients. The more serious the case, the wider the field for labor, and successful results are never more pleasant than when least anticipated. Although the practice is often exactly the reverse, still it is not the less true, that the most unfortunate and unpromising class of patients require some of the highest attributes of Christian character and the most discriminating intelligence for their proper management.

Statistical tables.—The number of cases embraced in the statistical tables of this institution is now becoming so large that many of the deductions that legitimately flow from them become curious and interesting. Without intending to enter fully on the subject at this time, reference may be made to a few facts from which erroneous conclusions are drawn every year and almost everywhere. This institution, like most others which receive a considerable portion of their cases from an agricultural district of country, shows a large number of farmers, farmers' wives, farmers' widows, and farmers' daughters among its patients—more, indeed, than of any other one class in the community. This fact being positive, surprise is at once expressed by many, and it is declared that these statistics completely overturn the popular belief that a farmer's life is a healthful one, and demonstrate that nervous diseases are most prevalent where their existence ought to be least anticipated. Then very naturally follows a variety of theories for this unexpected condition of things. Some declare that it must be attributed to the hard work of our country friends, others think it is owing to their good, strong diet, and the use of fat pork has been especially suggested, while not a few see with equal clearness that the whole trouble comes from an insufficient amount of relaxation and the want of an elevating class of amusements!

Let not those who have the privilege of living under the bright skies of the country, or who are meditating such an independent life as that of agriculture, be discouraged by these theoretical discussions. The census tables help us out of this, as out of many other difficulties, and make plain what would otherwise have appeared unaccountable. We find, as was always believed, that no life is so generally conducive to health as one that, like agriculture, gives active exercise in the open air, that none is so little likely to be troubled with nervous affections, and none so generally to be preferred for those who are constitutionally disposed to this class of infirmities.

Agricultural pursuits, healthful as they are, cannot, however, always preserve every one from the physical, and especially from the moral causes, which frequently induce insanity; but the improved general good health which results from such a life, in a large number of cases, gives the power to resist their influence much more successfully than could be done under other circumstances.

By a reference to the census returns, it will be seen that the reason for the large number of the classes referred to who are admitted into this as into many other institutions, is the great preponderance of persons engaged in agricultural pursuits in the districts of country from which patients are received. Although the number of admissions is really greater, the ratio in proportion to population is much less than of those engaged in professional life or in mercantile and many other pursuits. Without such comparisons, almost any of the tables may lead to just such erroneous inferences as those which have been specially referred to.

The following tables exhibit a carefully prepared statement of all the cases received into the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane from its opening in 1841 to the present time.

Gardens and Pleasure Grounds.—The gardens at both departments have, as usual, been very productive. It is a great advantage to have at all times an abundant supply of perfectly fresh vegetables, but in addition to this, the judicious cultivation of a large garden, the growth of the plants, and the results of scientific experiments always offer matters of interest to a large number who do not take any active part in the labor. To many, however, in the Department for Males, such occupation is esteemed a privilege, and in certain stages of some cases, nothing is more certainly remedial.

The pleasure grounds, which are naturally very pleasant, and have been made much more so by the labor of past years, are being steadily improved and new drives and walks laid out, as circumstances will permit. The amount of riding in the different vehicles used by the patients, and also of horseback riding, inside of the grounds, has been greater than heretofore, while the carriages going out on the public roads have been kept in daily use. With the class of patients received here, this form of occupation and amusement, extended as it already is, can still be much and profitably increased.

Workshops and Mechanical Department.—This department of the Hospital has not been materially changed during the year, but its importance and the great benefits that may be made to result from persistent and judicious efforts in this direction, have not been lost sight of.

EVENING ENTERTAINMENTS, INSTRUCTION AND AMUSE-MENT OF THE PATIENTS.—The seventeenth annual course of lectures and evening entertainments was completed at the usual period. The regular number of evenings of every year devoted to this purpose in the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane has now become fixed at two hundred and fifty, one-half of which are for the Department for Males and an equal number for the Department for Females, alternating, so that patients from one house can, when desired, attend at the other, as is frequently done, especially when objects of unusual interest are to be presented. These entertainments have, as heretofore, been of a diversified character, embracing lectures on a variety of subjects, exhibitions of dissolving views, with music, concerts, &c.

Most of the last course of lectures and evening entertainments was under the special charge of Drs. Smith and Jones, whose judicious efforts rendered them highly attractive. The eighteenth annual course now in progress-that portion at the Department for Males, under the care of Dr. Jones, and that at the Department for Females, of Dr. Lee,—bids fair to at least equal any that have preceded it, and novelties, as they become accessible, are constantly being introduced. A complete revision and classification of our stock of pictures has been made by Dr. Lee, and the result shows very satisfactorily the value and extent of our means of interesting the patients in this important department of the institution. We now have near one thousand pictures for our lanterns, varying in quality from the very common painted ones formerly in use, to the most beautiful products of the pencil and of the photographic art. This large stock, which has been very gradually accumulating, with other sources of supply which the kindness of friends have placed at our disposal, has enabled us to give something new at every evening of our long and unintermitted course of nine months. Commencing with the humblest kind of apparatus and illustrations, we have every year made some improvement and extension in both, till our arrangements are now about as complete as we can obtain; and a moderate sum of money every year devoted to this object, will always give it new interest and value. No intelligent inquirer, who looks carefully into this matter, can well doubt the influence of these entertainments—not simply as a means of passing a pleasant hour, or for the information imparted, but for elevating the general tone of a Hospital, and breaking up the sad dulness and gloomy monotony too apt to reign in the evening, through the wards of many institutions; -and no diminution of their number or any lowering of their character can ever be permitted, while a proper appreciation of the high mission of a Hospital for the Insane is felt by those entrusted with its management. The humblest institution in the land, by making a beginning, and faithfully expending even a small sum every year on this object, will soon have means of much value, and which, as they are increased, will be more and more appreciated by those for whose special benefit they are intended. Wherever even a very moderate number of the insane are collected together, all such means are desirable, and the proper authorities can make no more legitimate appropriation of money, than that for their provision; and the establishment, whatever its character, which is provided with the means, and has no one enough interested to undertake the necessary labor of using them is truly unfortunate. The evenings in hospitals, even of the highest order, and where every possible appliance is brought into action, are none too bright or too cheerful, but when all the more elevating means of occupation, instruction and amusement are neglected, and patients are left to their own resources, without encouragement from any one, they are dreary indeed;—and the appearance of the wards, between supper and a not too early bed-time, to a practiced eye, would perhaps give one of the best indications of the energy and efficiency of the internal administration of an institution.

All the other means of occupation and amusement often referred to in previous reports, have been kept steadily in use. The "Amusement Hall" at the Department for Females has been better furnished and has been much used. Immediately connected with it, besides various books and papers, there is now a great variety of games, including Billiards, Bagatelle, Holland Top, Chess, Backgammon, Checkers, Graces, Battledoor, Dominos, &c., besides Swings, Jumping Boards, and other contrivances under the commodious shed immediately adjoining. This Hall is kept comfortably warmed in winter by steam, and its regular use nearly every day may be attributed to the care taken by the companions to the patients, and some of the attendants to have the patients regularly resort to it. Without this interest in having means of occupation and amusement regularly used, whatever their number and variety in an institution, they gradually become neglected. There seems to be a constant tendency to permit them to become disused, and this can only be prevented by an unflinching determination on the part of the officers, that when once obtained, they shall everywhere be made use of. This must be done systematically, or before long it will not be done at all. The use of such means should be as much a part of hospital system as washing or bathing. All persons employed should be taught that it is a part, and an important part of their duties to see that the patients under their immediate care have, and use as steadily as possible, some means of occupation. When any have not the faculty of promoting this, they cannot be too soon notified that their sphere of usefulness is in some other position. An expert by simply walking through a ward, and noticing the general appearance of the patients, their dress and how they are employed, as well as how the attendants themselves are employed—making due allowance for the class under care—can commonly judge pretty fairly, not only of the condition of the patients, but also of the capacity of the attendants.

Museums and Reading Rooms.—The museums and reading rooms are kept in good order, and through the kindness of friends some additions have been made to those at each department. As there are now two at each building, we have abundant space for books, periodicals, pictures, specimens of national history, or curiosities of any kind, which our citizens may have to spare, and which they would desire to see placed where they would be carefully preserved, and could not fail to be useful.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The improvements connected with the renovation of the original building, were about completed at the close of the last year. Owing to the general condition of financial affairs, some new improvements that were contemplated at both departments, and which are very desirable, have been postponed for the present. The extension of dry walks about the grounds has been steadily prosecuted, and a number of comfortable seats have been added to those already in the groves. The only planting of trees done this year, has been a portion of those raised in our own nursery, and of which a considerable number of some varieties still remain.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.—Many friends of the institution have again afforded me the satisfaction of making acknowledgments for their kind remembrance of the Hospital and its inmates. To Mrs. Caroline Pennock we are indebted for a donation of $100 for the purchase of furniture and $60 for the purchase of books for the Department for Males; to Eliza P. Gurney for $100 for additions to the patients' libraries; to a lady of New York for $60 for the same object; to "a restored patient" for $30; to Henry C. Lea for $25; to Catharine Klingman for $10; to Mr. Taylor for $8; to Robert C. Clarke for seventy-five volumes of handsomely bound and valuable books; to Miss Eliza O. Butler for twenty volumes of very desirable books; to Mrs. W. W. Fisher for a complete set of Rees' Encyclopedia; to Miss Eastman for eleven volumes of books; to the Smithsonian Institution for a box of shells for the museum; to "a Friend of the Hospital" for a billiard table and fixtures, for the north wing of the Department for Males; to Joseph R. Evans for a second-hand Piano; to Dr. Casper W. Pennock and Mrs. Caroline Pennock for valuable furniture, two hundred and fifty volumes of books, and other articles of interest, for the Department for Males; to Uriah Hunt for twenty volumes of books; to various patients for ten dollars, towards the purchase of Billiard balls; to J. F. Eppelsheimer for a fine set of balls and pins for the Bowling Alley at the Department for Males; to Wistar Morris for a lot of Rhododendrons for the groves; to Dr. J. H. Slack for thirty-three varieties of birds' eggs, and for a plaster-cast of the head of a Gorilla, for the Museum; to an "amateur" for various articles of furniture for Amusement Hall; to Henry Morris for an iron settee; to William Struthers for two handsome marble pedestals and other evidences of interest; to Caleb Cope for engravings; to the committee of the Union Volunteer Refreshment Saloon for two handsomely framed engravings of that interesting institution; to S. Morris Waln for a second-hand piano; to Wood & Perot for ornamental articles of iron; to "a friend" for refreshments and music, for various patients' entertainments; to John Wetherill, Jr., for a barrel of unfermented cider and a barrel of apples for the patients; to W. W. Ward for a collection of copper coins; to Alexander Young for five gallons of superior whiskey for medicinal purposes; to John P. Crosby for various contributions to the means of amusement; to E. J. Davis for a white rat for the Museum; to "a lady" for one hundred fans for the patients; to F. Langenheim for four dozen photographic pictures and his continued interest in this department; to Dr. Edward A. Smith for various lectures; to Rev. W. West for two lectures; to Professor Hiram Corson for several Readings from the English Poets; to Wm. Chapin for a lecture; to Dr. J. H. Slack for an exhibition of Prestigiation; to Dr. Pliny Earle for a lecture; to Mrs. Samuel Crozer, to A. B. Durand, C. Vezin, S. Hassler, Mrs. Behrans, Mrs. Street, Miss Alexander and their friends, and the friends of C. Fauver, besides various associations, for their kindness in furnishing musical entertainments for the patients; to

F. A. Packard for hanging tablets; to Henry Seybert for engravings; to R. J. Dobbins for five loads of building stone; to C. Kelleher for hauling the same; to Mrs. Lawrence Lewis for the Illustrated London News for 1862; to Thomas Fitzgerald for a lecture and two copies of the City Item; to the proprietors of the Colonization Herald for a copy of that paper; to Wm. Welsh, McAllister & Bro., and James W. Queen & Co., for their aid in adding to the interest of our evening entertainments; and to John McAllister, Jr., for a valuable book and various engravings.

I would also make special mention of my associates in office, for their efficient and important services in carrying out the great objects of the institution, and of the teachers, supervisors, attendants and all others at both departments of the hospital, who are immediately engaged among the patients, for their many manifestations of interest in their charge and for fidelity in the performance of what are often onerous, as they always are, highly responsible duties.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.—The following statements, prepared at my request by the Stewards of the Hospital, show the usual abstract of the receipts and expenditures of the institution during the past year. In that of the Department for Females has been included the sum of $3,287 16, expended during the previous year for the repairs of the original building. Interest has also been paid to the amount of $2,334 88. The loan on which interest is now paid for the repairs at the Department for Females, amounts to $9,000. The building loan referred to last year has been paid off, or provision made for doing so. This was done through the legacy of the late John Wright, a donation from the executors of the late Josiah Dawson and by a portion of the legacy of the late Abraham Miller.

I may again refer to the importance of paying off the remaining repair loan at as early a day as possible, as the applicants for the charity of the house are always more than its resources permit it to receive, and the steadily increasing number of patients makes it important that early provision be made for furnishing the now unoccupied wards at both departments. It will be remembered that the furniture fund was obtained wholly from the collections of a committee of ladies, and should they determine to complete the work so auspiciously commenced by them, it will add to the deep gratitude now felt by every friend of the hospital for their disinterested labors; and any appeal they may make for the purpose, could hardly fail to command the liberal consideration of every benevolent citizen.

The average number of patients at the Department for Males during the year just closed, has been 133; and at the Department for Females 134. The average number of free patients at the former was 15, and at the latter 21. The amount expended on free patients at both departments in 1862, was $10,170 12.

THE NEW HOSPITAL.—The original Pennsylvania Hospital was founded in 1751—its Department for the Insane was removed to the present location in 1841—and it is nine years to-day since the first suggestion of a plan for adding to its accommodations, by erecting an entirely new hospital, and then treating the sexes in different buildings, was presented to the managers of the institution. That plan, with the necessary details, was afterwards adopted by the Board, approved by the contributors, and in due time carried forward to completion. The first stone of the building was laid on the 7th of July, 1856, and it was formally opened for the reception of patients on the 27th of October, 1859. The cost of the new hospital with all its outbuildings, the wall surrounding its grounds, all its varied and expensive fixtures of every kind, and the furniture in use, amounted to the sum of $355,907 57. This whole sum has been paid, or there are in hand abundant means for doing so, to be derived from unrealized subscriptions, and from ground rents, a portion of the legacy of the late Abraham Miller (dec'd), and by him specifically appropriated to this object.

I regard it as quite safe to say that no intelligent person can visit this establishment, in all its great extent, examine the number and variety, and learn the object of its fixtures and arrangements, without seeing quite clearly how all this money has been expended, and acknowledging that the end attained is worth all the cost. While everything like mere ornament was carefully avoided, no expense was spared in making as perfect as possible whatever was essential to the comfort of the patients, or the efficient working of the institution. The results have been abundantly satisfactory; the most costly of the fixtures have proved of the highest utility, and there is no risk in saying that, owing to the rigid system of supervision and economy adopted at the commencement, the same amount, variety, and quality of work could not be again done for less money, even with all the experience subsequently obtained.

The fact that this whole work has been provided and paid for entirely from private contributions is worthy of remembrance in our local history, and that the community may know the names of the benevolent men and women who, with such rare liberality and good feeling, supplied the entire amount required, a complete list of the contributors has now, for the first time, been made out, and is appended to this report.

It is not alone for the liberal bestowal of their means that obligations are due to this list of contributors, not alone that they have added another to the monuments of benevolence which illustrate the better character of our age and city, but because they have shown that there is amongst us that spirit which feels it a duty to take care of the afflicted, to provide for others as we would have provision made for ourselves, and encourages every one to believe that an object of unquestionable utility, properly presented to our community, will always be generously fostered.

While making a public recognition of our obligations to those who have aided in securing the completion of the work, it is only right to say that thanks are also eminently due to those not immediately connected with the institution, who served most efficiently on the collecting committee, to the benevolent ladies who so promptly secured the means for furnishing the building, to many whose names do not appear on the list of contributors, for their valuable assistance in inducing others to subscribe, and to none more than to many of the conductors of the public journals of Philadelphia, for their ready and judicious advocacy of the measure.

In this connection, reference may again be made to what we must all feel to have been so providential in reference to the time at which the new hospital was commenced and completed. Every one knows how difficult it would have been to have even started such a work since. We have already abundant evidence how great the necessity for it has proved, and how sure this need is to go on increasing. But for these enlarged accommodations, many who have been carefully treated could not have entered the institution at all. Every coming year will only manifest still more clearly the wisdom of its commencement, of its extended plan, and of finishing the whole work at once; and judging by our past experience, the time will be much less distant than is commonly anticipated when every room in its spacious wards will be occupied.

Agreeably to the conditions proposed in the first appeal to the public, wards in the new hospital have been named in honor of Abraham Miller, Josiah Dawson, John Wright, and John Livezey, each of whom gave $10,000 or more to the Building Fund; and additional free beds have also been established in consideration of the very liberal subscription, of $6,000 by John P. Crozer, and of $5,000 each by Elliot Cresson, John Farnum, Joseph Harrison, Jr., Wistar Morris, and Jasper Cope.

Conclusion.—The commencement of the twenty-second year of this institution brought with it, to many, causes of anxiety in connection with the immediate future. Its close has given us renewed cause of thankfulness and gratitude to Almighty Providence that, as in all the past, its course has been prosperous and its usefulness steadily becoming more widely extended. The advantages of the new arrangements, as the number of patients is gradually increasing, become more and more apparent, and the comfort and benefit of having abundant space for as minute a classification as we could desire, and for perfect privacy for every case where it is important, can hardly be over-estimated. Under rather unfavorable circumstances, the institution may fairly be said to have fully maintained its character, and the unfortunate condition of the country, although somewhat contracting what would have been its sphere of usefulness, has not prevented it from gradually extending its numbers, and avoiding everything that could be regarded as a retrograde movement.

Considerable as the progress already made in the treatment of the insane has been, the road for advance is still as open as ever. The work may vary, and the fruits of the labor be somewhat different, but they will not, on that account, be any the less valuable. Further progress becomes more expensive, as it is more intellectual and refining in its tendencies, and those blessed with the means and the disposition to push forward the good cause need never be at a loss for objects that will, with entire certainty, not only diffuse the blessings that flow from these institutions, but greatly elevate their character.

In this institution, from its somewhat peculiar character, these benefits flow alike to those on whom fortune seemed before to have lavished all her most cherished favors, as to those whose lives have been connected with all kinds of painful surroundings—to the useful, the gentle, and the good, as to those differently constituted to the wealthiest, as to that much larger class, who, rich as they may be in the affections of their families and the respect of their associates, can boast of little more of this world's treasures. As long as all this is remembered, and that this hospital provides for a malady that commonly cannot be successfully treated, even in the most luxurious homes, a form of disease that comes to every class and to all ranks of life, it can hardly be necessary to make extended appeals for your continued interest in its welfare, or for the sympathy and generous consideration of the community.

Subscriptions and donations will be received by any member of the Board of Managers, by John T. Lewis, Treasurer, No. 231 South Front Street, Philadelphia, or by Dr. Thomas S. Kirkbride, at the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane.

LEGACIES intended to promote the objects of this Institution should be given in its corporate name, viz: to "The Contributors to the Pennsylvania Hospital," and should specify that they are "To be devoted to extending and improving the accommodations for the insane."

Contributions of books, periodicals, pictures, engravings, curiosities for the museums, and whatever can tend to interest or occupy the patients, are always thankfully received.

Every contribution or legacy of $5000 for extending and improving the accommodations for the insane, adds one free bed to the number already in use, and, judging from past experience, will thus be the means of restoring to reason, from one to two patients in every year the Institution shall exist.

All classes of insane persons, without regard to the duration of the disease or of its curability, are admitted into this Institution. Idiots, however, it may be stated, are not received; and for the epileptic, a special agreement should be made.

Cases of Mania-à-Potu are not received into this Hospital; but into that in the city, exclusively.

Preparatory to the reception of a patient, it is necessary to arrange the rate of board, &c., with a member of the Board of Managers,† and to furnish a certificate of the patient's insanity from some respectable graduate of medicine, with a request from a near relative or friend that the individual may be received into the Institution. A full and detailed history of each case is also particularly requested.

^{*} This is the only title of this Institution, and the only proper direction for letters, &c. Other names, occasionally used, are liable to make confusion, by confounding it with another institution in the same vicinity.

[†] The names of these gentlemen will be found in the front of this Report, and their places of residence can be learned, on application at the Hospital, in Eighth Street, between Spruce and Pine, Philadelphia, where blank forms for physician's certificate, bond, questions, &c., can always be obtained.

For the payment of board, and removal of a patient when discharged, security is always required from some responsible resident of the city of Philadelphia. Payment for board is always to be made quarterly in advance; and if the patient is removed uncured, before the expiration of the first three months, and contrary to the advice and consent of the Superintending Physician, board is always required for thirteen weeks; otherwise, the charge is only for the time actually passed in the Hospital, provided that time is more than four weeks.

Large chambers and private attendants can always be supplied, if desired by the friends of the patients.

THE following are the forms for Physician's Certificate, for the application for admission, and the Bond that is to be executed before the order of admission is given.

OBLIGATION.*

In consideration of ———— being admitted as a patient into the "Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane,"

^{*} This obligation to be signed by a responsible person. The surety to be a resident of the city of Philadelphia.

established and maintained by "the Contributors to the Pennsylvania Hospital," we do jointly and severally promise to pay to the Steward of the said Hospital, or to his order, quarterly, in advance, dollars cents per week, for board, and to provide or pay for all requisite clothing and other things deemed necessary or proper for the health or comfort of said patient-to pay for all glass or furniture broken or destroyed by said patient; to remove when discharged; and if taken away uncured against the advice and consent of the Superintending Physician before the expiration of three calendar months, to pay board for thirteen weeks.*

The above preliminaries having been complied with, an order is given by a Manager, authorizing the Physician of the Institution to receive the patient.

^{*} If the patient recovers before the expiration of the period paid for, and leaves with the full approbation of the Physician, the excess is refunded, unless that time should be less than four weeks, for which period, board is always required.

The friends or relatives of persons applying for admission into the "Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane," are requested, with the assistance of the family Physician, to annex full and precise answers to as many of the following questions as apply to the case, and to forward the same to Dr. Kirkbride, either before or when the patient is brought to the Institution.

QUESTIONS.

1. What is the patient's age?

Married or single?

If children, how many?

2. Where was the patient born?

Where is — place of residence?

- 3. What has been the patient's occupation and reputed pecuniary circumstances?
- 4. When were the first symptoms of the disease manifested, and in what way?
- 5. Is this the first attack? if not, when did others occur, and what was their duration?
- 6. Does the disease appear to be increasing, decreasing, or stationary?
- 7. Is the disease variable, and are there rational intervals? if so, do they occur at regular periods?
- 8. Have any changes occurred in the condition of mind or body since the attack?
- 9. On what subjects, or in what way is derangement now manifested? Is there any permanent hallucination?
- 10. Has the patient shown any disposition to injure others? and if so, was it from sudden passion or pre-meditation?

- 11. Has suicide ever been attempted? if so, in what way? Is the propensity now active?
- 12. Is there a disposition to filthy habits, destruction of clothing, breaking glass, &c.?
- 13. What relatives, including grandparents and cousins, have been insane?
- 14. Did the patient manifest any peculiarities of temper, habits, disposition, or pursuits, before the accession of the disease?—any predominant passions, religious impressions, &c.?
- 15. Was the patient ever addicted to intemperance in the use of ardent spirits, opium, tobacco, in any form, &c.?
- 16. Has the patient been subject to any bodily disease? to epilepsy, suppressed eruptions, discharges or sores, or ever had any injury of the head?
- 17. Has restraint or confinement been employed? if so, of what kind, and how long continued?
 - 18. What is supposed to be the cause of the disease?
- 19. What treatment has been pursued for the relief of the patient? Mention particulars, and the effects.

Please state any other matter supposed to have a bearing upon the case.
